Uniform Traffic Control Advanced For Juveniles

Prosecutor Bussard
Explains Juvenile's
Rights in Program

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — A new program for uniform traffic control for juveniles was fully explained at a meeting of justices of the peace and other enforcement officials Wednesday night in the supervisor's room of the court house. The meeting was called by Prosecutor James W. Bussard.

It was made clear that all juveniles under 17 cited for traffic violations must appear in juvenile court, not in justice or municipal courts which has sometimes been the case in the past. Juvenile court may recall operator's licenses if records warrant such action. Such licenses are sent to the secretary of state's office in Lansing with a recommendation for suspension for a given period, and it is rare that the state office does not concur with the recommendation. In some instances, if state records show even more violations, the suspension period may be increased.

It was brought out that too much interest has often been shown in the juvenile's rights and protection rather than the responsibility he has toward the rest of the people. In one case, after a juvenile's license had been suspended, he wrote the secretary of state's office that he had lost his license, and after he received a duplicate he boasted of it to the officers. Such defects would not occur under the new system since the secretary of state's office would be informed of all suspensions.

One justice asked whether the age on a juvenile's license should be accepted as fact, and was advised that parents must swear to the facts when they accompany juveniles in obtaining licenses. Consequently parents are responsible if the age listed is not correct.

Probate court has exclusive jurisdiction of juvenile offenders. The court feels the young people are not to be treated as criminals and is working on a program for rehabilitation for traffic violators. All records in this department are kept strictly confidential.

Officials attending besides the prosecutor and four justices of the peace were Probate Judge Frederick T. Miles, Avery Baker who is in charge of the juvenile division, and Milan Clark, drivers' license administrator from the secretary of state's office. Baker has been named traffic referee for juvenile court.

Three Ottawa County officers also attended.

Orders Sidewalks Laid in Zeeland

Included were both sides of West Central Ave., and Jefferson St. from Main to Central Sts. The Central Ave. project will include more than 3,600 feet and Jefferson St. about 1,240 feet.

Council took action because the area is much traveled by children going to school. Up until now, the youngsters were forced to walk in the streets.

City Superintendent Leon W. Sears said notices ordering installation would be sent to property owners beginning about June 21.

Sears also reported that the Lawrence St. park rest rooms will be completed this week, and the fence up soon. Progress on the new 500,000 gallon water tank was reported, and Sears said steel work is complete. The tower is currently being painted.

Mayor Pro-Tem Sid Schaap presided in the absence of Mayor Robert S. De Bruyn who is still on vacation.

Mrs. Jeanette Kremer and her grandson, John Sullivan, have arrived from Alice, Tex., to spend the summer at her cottage on West 32nd St. in Jensen Park.

Sergeant Urges Drivers to Watch Out in Summer

Points to Increased
Travel and Figures
That Emphasize Danger

"Slow down and live longer. Drive too fast and die that much sooner."

That's the message to Holland area drivers from Sgt. Milton Swingle, commanding officer of the Grand Haven State Police post, in pointing out that June, July and August are the months when speed, the No. 1 public enemy on highways, takes its greatest toll.

Michigan law enforcement agencies are now cooperating in a statewide campaign to make motorists more speed conscious.

"Last year 45 per cent of traffic violations reported in fatal accidents were for speeding or driving too fast for conditions," Swingle said. "Safety appeals are meant for all. If drivers will gear their speed to existing conditions, such as traffic and weather, it will definitely cut down the number of fatalities."

In 1953 there were more than 1,900 persons killed and nearly 53,000 injured in 184,000 accidents in Michigan. This was an increase over 1952 of nine per cent in deaths, 18 per cent in injuries and 15 per cent in accidents.

Ran-off-roadway accidents, the type most commonly attributed to driving too fast for conditions, accounted for 435 deaths.

Motor vehicle travel in Michigan during the summer months will jump from the daily average of 71 to 80 million miles.

"This means greater exposure to accidents," Sgt. Swingle said. "State law does not set a specific speed limit, but it does require that speeds be no greater than conditions justify. In other words, be sensible and use good judgment at the wheel. Avoid that accident. It's possible."

Hamilton Scouts To Mark Birthday At Event Monday

Troop 33 Organized
Just 10 Years Ago;
Achievements Cited

HAMILTON Mich. (Special) — Parents, friends and Boy Scouts are invited to a potluck supper and Court of Honor by troop 33 of Hamilton next Monday evening at Hamilton.

The event will be in the form of a birthday party as it was 10 years ago on April 3 that a group of Holland men under leadership of then Commissioner W.H. Vande Water, organized the Hamilton troop.

At that time Jesse Kool was asked to be scoutmaster. He was to serve until such time as a regular scoutmaster could be appointed. To date, Kool is still scoutmaster. Ed Jansen was his first assistant scoutmaster. There were eight boys in the original troop and seven more joined the troop to make 15 in a short time.

Troop meetings were held in Kool's basement for four and one half years, when plans were made to erect a log cabin. This was done under direction of the troop committee and friends of scouting in Hamilton.

Fred Billett, present member of the troop committee and one of the original members of the committee, sparked the log cabin idea. Billett is also a member of the executive board of the Grand Valley Council and vice chairman of the Chippewa district. The cabin was completed in 1948.

There have been 64 boys registered as scouts in the life of troop 33. During the 10-year period, 16 scouts or former scouts have been in the armed services.

The troop also has an enviable advancement record. They have had five advancements to first class, 11 scouts have attained star rank, seven life scouts and four have achieved the Eagle scout award.

Holland Christian Netters Repeat as State Champions

Dykema-Teerman Combination Wins Crown in Doubles

Holland Christian's tennis squad took its second straight state class B championship, Saturday afternoon, at Kalamazoo's Stowe tennis stadium. The victory was achieved in thrilling fashion after the Maroons had battled 17 other B eliminations two weeks ago.

In addition to capturing the team trophy, the Dutch, also for the second straight year, won the state doubles crown. Paul Dykema and Jim Teerman repeated last year's doubles triumph by stopping the same East Grand Rapids doubles combination in this year's finals. The singles trophy went to Bill Hoffmeyer of Battle Creek Lakeview, who whipped Jerome Dobson of Bloomfield Hills Cranbrook school in the finals.

Coch Clare Pott's Christian netters took the title with 6½ points, followed by East Grand Rapids with 5½, Kalamazoo State High with 4½, Battle Creek Lakeview, 3½, Cranbrook, 3½, Adrian, 2, Trenton, ½, and Manistee, ½. All other participants failed to garner any points.

In class A, Hamtramck ran off with the title for the sixth straight year. Their closest competitor was Mt. Clemens. Following Mt. Clemens came Kalamazoo Central, Monroe, Owosso, Holland with 2½ points, Midland, Wyandotte Roosevelt and Bay City Central. The class C crown was shared by four schools, Galesburg Augusta, Grand Rapids Lee, Grosse Pointe Detroit University school and Kalamazoo St. Augustine.

Christian's victory was strictly a team effort with all of the five man squad contributing points. However, it was the stellar work of the Dykema-Teerman combination that provided the clincher.

Going into Saturday's semi and finals play, the Maroons were given a fair chance to the State High for the title, but were not conceded much of a chance to win it outright. However, in the semi-finals, State High's top seeded Larry Little, was toppled by Dobson and their remaining doubles team was bumped out by the East Grand Rapids No. 1 seeded team, thus eliminating State High from title contention.

The turn of events put the pressure squarely on Christian's doubles team. If they won their semi-final doubles match it would mean that the outcome of the doubles finals between East and Christian would decide the state crown. The local duo made short work of the semi-final match by disposing of Fred Woodby and David Smith of Adrian, 6-2, 6-0.

Then came the final pressure-packed final between the locals and Glen Young-David Berles of East Grand Rapids. Last year the locals stopped the East duo, 6-0, 6-0. In this year's finale the Christian boys did it almost as convincingly, as they stopped the East team, 6-2, 6-3. The locals trailed 3-0 in the second set before rallying to take the next six games and the match.

Other members of the Christian tennis squad who were eliminated on Friday were Rich Sharda, Norm Lokker and Warren Boer. Holland High's lone entry left in Saturday's semis was Henry Vischer who had moved past two tough foes on Friday to gain the semi berth. He drew a tough assignment, however, in William Petruik, the top seeded player who later went on to win the crown. Vischer turned in some of his best tennis of the year before bowing, 6-2, 6-4. In fact Vischer was leading 4-0 in the second set before the Hamtramck boy was able to stem the tide and go on to win.

Other members of the Holland High squad who were eliminated on Friday were Paul Mack, Bill Japenga, David Bosch and Phil Boersma.

SAUGATUCK (Special)—Amid the whistles and bells of pleasure craft, the shouts of proud Saugatuck and Douglas residents and the tooting of the Fennville, high school band, The "Island Queen" slid down the ways into the Kalamazoo River here Saturday.

It was Saugatuck's first ship launching in decades and the resort center that was once widely known as a shipbuilding town, pulled it off in fine style.

The Island Queen is a 55-foot stern wheeler destined for excursion service between Saugatuck and New Richmond, 12 miles up the river. It was built almost single-handed by Dick Hoffman on a design by University of Michigan Naval architects who sought to incorporate old-fashioned riverboat styling on a modern, safe hull.

Fifty-five feet long and powered by a diesel, it will draw only 11 inches with a capacity load of 60 passengers.

Miss Kathleen Kindred, of 321 Leicester Road, Kalamazoo, Ill., was sponsor of the craft, presenting Captain Hoffman with a flag for the ship before christening her with the traditional ribbon-bedecked champagne bottle. Fifty pounds of tallow greased the ways and the band played "Anchors Aweigh" and "Floating Down the River as the Island Queen took to the water.

A brief ceremony which preceded the launching included talks by State Sen. Edward Hutchinson, of Fennville; Lynn McCray, of the Chamber of Commerce, and Everard Thomas, of Douglas, all of whom praised Hoffman for his efforts.

Also on the platform for the launching were two old-time lake captains, Leonard "Cappy" Britton and Henry Randall, both of whom expressed pleasure at once more seeing a ship launching in Saugatuck.

After the launching it was towed to the Saugatuck Marine boat yard for installation of a diesel engine, controls, seats and other items.

POLICE SEEK ACCIDENT DRIVER—Power to a large area Lakewood Blvd. and near Division St. was knocked out for several hours early Saturday when a car sheared a power pole off at the base. Neighbors who heard the crash and officers who arrived minutes later found no one in the car. Measurements taken by police indicate the eastbound car went off the right shoulder of the road, came back on, shot across the road, hit the pole, ended up 129 feet from the road in the middle of a field. Distance to where the motorist first left the road to where he finally stopped was 290 feet.

Deputy Nelson Lucas said Frank Kamphuis, 18, of route 2, told him a friend had borrowed the car without permission just prior to the accident. The '48 model car was judged a total loss by police who said the car collided headon with the power pole (left center) flanked by several trees. Streaks of light at left are caused by headlights registering during the time exposure. At 11:30 Saturday, however, Louis Uildriks, 20, of 640 Lincoln Ave., came into the police station and admitted he was the driver of the car. He said he was "scared" and left the scene.

GOTA CANAL — Top photo shows a birdseye view of a series of seven locks on the picturesque Gota Canal in Sweden. A three-day cruise affords the visitor a glimpse of the Swedish countryside and its people.

Many persons who were born in Sweden taken the trip when they come home to visit. Bottom photo shows a cruise steamer passing through the locks. Notice the close clearance on both sides of the steamer.

Visitor to Scandinavian Countries Finds Language Difficult to Master

By Bill Butler
GOTABORG, Sweden — We like the Scandinavian countries very much and we like the people even though their languages are difficult to understand. One of the bankers in Gotaborg gave us a booklet that has many words and short sentences that have been a great help in making our way around.

We had dinner at Tradgardsfoeningen. This is a lovely park and in the middle of the park is a big restaurant where hundreds of people can sit and enjoy the flowers as they eat. There was a small fee to enter the garden and that is why everything was so beautiful and neatly landscaped. There were some of the largest tulips I have ever seen. There were also pansies, and many flowering trees.

On the other side of the street was a city park without a fence around it and you could see where people had missed the wire baskets when disposing of the usual debris. I suppose if one must pay a small amount to keep enough people employed to keep the parks beautiful, then this is the way to do the job.

There are the usual ice cream and fruit vendors on the streets. This seems to be the way the people get their fruit, as there are not many fruits or salads served at the meals unless you ask for them.

In Sweden they do not include gratuity on the bill as they did in Denmark. All the guide books say that 12½ percent is the correct amount to tip. One can, however, receive a lot of extra service for one of our American pieces of money.

In checking out of the hotel we found that we were supposed to tip both men on the hotel desk. This is called a tip for the keeper of the keys.

Laundry service is good but expensive, I suppose that is because we Americans must have one-day service. At any rate one can get clothes washed properly in the Scandinavian countries, and that's something.

ENROUTE ABOARD THE GOTA CANAL STEAMER WILHELM THAM, May 27 — The 600-mile trip from Gotaborg to Stockholm Sweden, is one of varied landscapes and scenes. This trip is often taken by people of Swedish descent who migrated to other parts of the world and are visiting their native land for the first time in many years.

As Thursday, May 27, was a national holiday in Sweden we found that there were a great many people taking the three-day cruise. This is the second cruise of the new season and for that reason also the steamer was crowded.

The Gota Canal Steamer Wilhelm Tham, a coal burning vessel, was built in 1912. She is 93 feet long and 20 feet wide and requires 91 feet of water. These steamers are built with very little clearance and to navigate them requires a great deal of skill and experience. In some places there is less than 1 foot clearance on both sides of the steamer. In others the branches at the sides of the canal branch the ship as we passed.

Captain Gosta Pepa has been around the world with the Johnson Line six times. He was in California in 1916. The Captain has made 1,400 trips through the Gota Canal. In the winter he works for the Swedish Railroads after taking two months vacation in Europe after the Gota Canal season in the early part of September.

The crew of the Wilhelm Tham numbers 18—the captain, first mate, two engineers, two firemen, five boys as deck hands, and seven women in the galley and dining room.

As we travel through the Swedish countryside we notice that the sun comes up at three in the morning and is still light until 10 at night. In a few weeks this country will be the land of the midnight sun and it will be light all night.

The Swedish countryside is rolling and beautiful on both sides of the canal. There is much virgin timber and our route takes us past little inviting islands, some of which no one has ever explored. There are fish too, and every so often we see one jumping. The boat is going too fast to make fishing interesting.

Along the Gota Canal are series of locks that move the canal ships and barges up and down the canal. In some places the drop is nearly 100 feet and in others a mere 15. Most of the lock gates are hand operated and it is not unusual to see a farm woman helping her husband open or close the lock gates. These locks are much smaller than those at the "Soo". In fact three or four canal steamers, such as the Wilhelm Tham, could be easily accommodated in one of the "Soo" locks.

Tour of Garden Climaxes Children's Study Course

Children of the Special Education rooms of Washington School were entertained Monday afternoon at the tea house of Mrs. Leonard Stalkamp, South Shore Dr.

The afternoon climaxed a course in horticultural therapy, sponsored by Holland Tulip Garden Club throughout this year in the two special education rooms. Mrs. Stalkamp, Mrs. Carl Cook and Mrs. L. Harris have been conducting the course which featured several horticultural experiments and projects.

In one project, the children raised seedlings of tomatoes, marigolds and zinnias. They also made a small greenhouse in which they rooted cuttings of French pussy willows.

They were taught the Japanese method of flower arrangement using sprigs of yew for foliage with a single large tulip

Holland's Windmill Chorus, complete with Dutch costumes, will appear in competition with 21 other such organizations Friday at Constitution Hall in Washington D. C. in the first SPEBSQSA sponsored international contest.

Choruses from throughout the nation and Canada will compete, including units from El Paso, Tex., San Diego, Calif., Eugene, Ore., St. Petersburg, Fla., Montreal and Toronto, Iowa, Missouri and New York State.

The Washington chapter which will play host to the visiting barbershoppers is an exceptionally active unit and will enter a chorus in competition.

The field of 22 will be pared down to finals Friday night and the first five will record for Decca Records Saturday.

Holland's chorus, under direction of Francis Hodgeboom, will sing two numbers, "Way Down South" and "Breeze You Blew My Gai Away."

The local chorus will make several guest appearances while in the capital.

Winning chorus will appear as guests at the big Saturday night program when quartets will be competing.

This is the society's first international contest. Last year at Detroit there were 15 units competing at a convention chorus contest, but it wasn't really an international contest.

The Holland unit is currently district champion, which includes all of Michigan.

Forty-one of the 47 members of the chorus left Holland by chartered bus for Washington at 8 p.m. Wednesday. They will go straight through to Washington and be quartered at the Annapolis Hotel. They will leave Washington Saturday night after the contest and be home Sunday evening.

Each chorus has from 40 to 50 men. Expenses for trips to Washington from such far away places as San Diego were made possible through community efforts, Chambers of Commerce and businessmen.

HOLDING BACK NATURE

The time has passed when America rejoices over the prodigality of nature, as was once the habit.
Today Uncle Sam, faced by what is called a "bumper crop" of wheat or anything else, is likely to develop stomach ulcers; a frown appears upon his brow; perhaps he scratches his head in desperation.

What in the world is he going to do with the surplus that will be added to the other surpluses of other years straining at the seams of the bins he has built to store them? Who is going to take them off his hands?

The spring report of the department of agriculture shows that a wheat crop of 930 million bushels seems assured for this year. The domestic and export needs this year will amount to only 880 million bushels, leaving Uncle Sam stuck with some 50 million bushels in addition to the other millions he already finds himself burdened with. What to do with this surplus?

That would be relatively simple if wheat were the only crop that is multiplying like the little animals in "Pigs Is Pigs." Recently the government hinted at a plan to sell millions upon millions upon millions of pounds of butter to foreign countries at a cost substantially below that charged the American housewife. The mere hint roused a storm of protest.

But what can poor harassed
Uncle Sam do? Selling that butter to the American families at a reduction would destroy the market for the dairy farmers, and the butter was acquired in the first place purely in support of that market. The alternative to selling it at a reduction to Europe, perhaps including Russia, would be dumping it in some desert or swamp, and then it might create a health problem.

And so with all the other surpluses, especially those that involve perishable goods. Just what is Uncle Sam going to do with them? No one has come up with a satisfactory answer. The need for support to our farm economy is obvious. The urgency in the line of finding some way to deal with nature's too great prodigality is just as obvious.

A hundred years ago an American philosopher won fame by declaring that that man was the best citizen who could make two blades of grass grow where only one grew before. Would that philosopher be considered even passably wise today? Will it get to a point when a twentieth century philosopher will win fame by advising his countrymen to learn how to make only one blade grow where two have grown hitherto?

Looks all wrong and topsy-turvy,
but who can tell?

Amos Denounces Intemperance
Amos 2:11,12; 4:1,2; 6:1-7
By Henry Geerlings

The second lesson upon the prophesies of Amos brings forcefully to our attention some of the consequences of intemperance. Last week we learned that messages of doom were prominent in the utterances of the prophet, and today we have more explicit information concerning the reasons why coming judgment was pronounced. It is plain that during the outwardly peaceful and prosperous reign of Jereboam the second the nation was becoming rotten at the core.

Our lesson gives us a picture of luxury and revelry on the part of the upper classes, and at the same time of grievous suffering on the part of the poor who were the victims of gross injustice. Thus there was a gulf between the two classes of society—the upper crust and the lower crust—such as is not conducive to the welfare of any state.

This is one of our periodical intemperance lessons although the sin of intemperance is mentioned only incidentally in the lesson text.
Intemperance is a great evil, but there are others equally great. No drunkard shall inherit the kingdom of God; yet it is possible for a man to practice total abstinence and still be lost. If sin does not manifest itself in intemperance, it will find other ways of expression. The new birth and the power of the Holy Spirit will enable us to break the power of evil habit and make it possible for us to live victoriously.

Two classes of people are mentioned whom the Lord had chosen and whom they sought to persuade to disobedience. The first were those whom God had called to be His prophets. They would doubtlessly have responded to the call of God, but others told them not to obey.

We wonder if in some cases it was the parents who prevented their sons from obeying God. We know it to be a fact that in our day it is not altogether uncommon for parents to keep their children from entering into Christian work.
There are young people who would have gone to the mission field if their parents had not discouraged them and persuaded them to take up more remunerative work in the homeland. It is dangerous to put obstacles in the pathway of those whom God has chosen.

The awful conditions existing in Israel did not begin suddenly and break out without warning. The figure king of Bashan is used to set forth the condition of the rich people. The pasture of Bashan was exceedingly rich, and the cattle there were noted for their sleekness and fatness. The figure was transferred to the rich people whom Amos addressed, and whom he charged with certain specific sins. One of their great sins was the oppression of the poor. It seems natural for those who have an abundance of this world's goods to seek to satisfy their greed more and more by forcing labor and substance from those not so fortunately situated.

There are rich men who gained their wealth honestly, but there are also those whose riches consist of ill gotten gain. They have used dishonesty and oppressive measures. They have deprived others of what rightly belonged to them, and have enriched themselves.
Men still think that money is power, and as soon as they have a little money they think that they can do anything they please. Such men were present in the days of Amos, and such men are present among us today.

It was not an easy matter to face and denounce such people, yet to them the Lord sent the prophet with a message of warning. God would have been perfectly just in destroying them suddenly but His justice is always tempered with mercy. A drastic order is given to the people. It calls for immediate action. The demand is to seek the good, love the good, do the good. This is the direct opposite of what they had been doing. Their progress must be Godward and away from their corrupt life. The principle of repentance is advocated. It was not to be a pretense. To encourage obedience the outcome or reward was promised. This had two phases—The Lord would be with them and He would be gracious.
These were special blessings Israel very much wanted. Amos showed the one way of procuring them.

This was God speaking. Some tried to bluff their way into His favor and to deceive the people.
They made a show of religious-ness, but God refused to be deceived. He would not approve their hypocritical worship.

Feasts and assemblies and offerings and special music. These were not a substitute for sincere worship and could not cover up a series of social injustices. What does this mean for us? For one thing, that occasional good deeds are not enough. We cannot allot time, using so much in doing good and the rest of it practicing injustice. A life that honors Christ must have the constancy of an unflin-ing, mighty mountain stream, always dependable and always ministering as it can.

Smith of Holland starts shooting. The young lad recently completed 13 qualifying rounds of shooting to win his "expert"

Local Youth Receives
National Recognition

A young Holland marksman has distinguished himself in national circles by winning the second highest award in American Junior shooting—the expert rifleman medal awarded by the National Rifle Association.

He is 15-year-old Owen Jack Smith of 362 West 24th St., a tenth grade student at Holland High.

Shooting several hundred targets in the last few months the new expert marksman fired his way through 13 lower NRA qualifications to achieve his new high rating. With one more set of targets to fire, the new expert will have his rating to distinguished rifleman, the select top rating for junior shooters in the nation.

He currently is an expert and a member of the Holland Rifle Club. Smith did his shooting each Tuesday evening at Pines Service Station range on East Eighth St., and the targets were sent to NBA.
He is the only expert rifleman in the Holland club with a junior rating. The Junior division includes youths up to 18 years of age.

Jack started shooting with his father, Thomas, when he was 14 years of age. His father also is a member of the Holland Rifle Club.
In the keen competition, Jack uses a .22 caliber target rifle, club gun. He shoots on the 50-foot range using peep sights. The center of the target is about two inches in diameter. Young Jack hopes to shoot with the Holland Rifle Club's adult team when he gets the distinguished rifleman award.

He doesn't take lessons but just goes down to the range and shoots. As expected, he hunts often.

Jack has been a Sentinel newsboy for the last two years.

Receives Bruises
When Hit by Auto

Six-year-old Michael Slagh of 152 East 17th St., was treated for minor bruises by a local physician yesterday afternoon after he was hit by a car on 16th St.
near Columbia Ave.

Driver of the car, Darrell Day, 17, of 272 East 16th St., heading west on 16th St., said the boy darted in front of his car. Witnesses in an eastbound car collaborated Day's story.

STOCKHOLM SLUSSEN—Stockholm, largest city in Sweden, has a modern traffic system to handle the deluge of traffic. Here's a good example of the Swedish city's solution to the traffic problem. It's similar to the cloverleaf construction used in many large American cities to keep cars moving. Stockholm also boasts of a new subway system.

Stockholm Consists of 'Old Town'
And Modern, Up-to-Date Section

By Bill Butler
STOCKHOLM, Sweden, May 31—
As the Gota Canal steamer, the Wilhelm Tham, rounded the bend
we got our first glimpse of Stockholm, the largest city in Sweden and about 700 years old.

Population of Stockholm is about 700,000. We arrived at the dock in the central part of old Stockholm at 7 p.m. after a night of locking through more than 25 locks. On our arrival we were greeted by Mr.
and Mrs. Gunnar Heimburger. We could see them as the ship approached the dock.

Mrs. Heimburger is the former Colombe Bosch of Holland, daughter of Mrs. Nicodemus Bosch. She visited in Holland a couple of years ago.

The people of Stockholm talk of "Old Town" and modern Stockholm. The "Old Town" dates back to medieval times. The old walls have crumbled but the narrow stone-paved streets, with many buildings, remain. Many of the streets in the "Old Town" are so narrow that the smallest car cannot drive through them. In this part of Stockholm many of the buildings of historical interest are located. The Great Church, oldest in Stockholm, the Royal Palace and many others are located here.

Modern Stockholm is the city of today. Sweden has long been acclaimed for its architectural achievements. Waterways are spanned by modern bridges of concrete and steel. Subways are modern and more are being constructed.
Some new construction is evident.
Building costs are considered high.
A great deal of Stockholm is built on rock formation, we noticed that they were wrecking some of the old buildings that were located on solid rock.

One of the wonders of Stockholm is the new subway or underground, as they call it. The subway system is not yet complete and construction is continuing. Cars are American manufacture similar to New York and Chicago trains. They are painted a pleasing light green and contain all the modern features for riding comfort. The fare is about 10 cents for a quick, pleasant trip to many points in the city.

Traffic in Sweden runs on the left side of the street with the majority of automobiles equipped with left hand drive. There are not many traffic lights, but there are many traffic signs and one-way streets. There are speed limits.

Insurance rates are high and Sweden requires all drivers to carry insurance on the other person before they are allowed to have a license. License plates remain with the car for the life of the automobile while in the country.

There are a large number of automobiles that are built in Europe and they are quite high priced.
In Stockholm we noticed more American cars than in other parts of Sweden. Parking meters are not in evidence, but it is difficult to get a place to park your car in downtown Stockholm.

To facilitate cleaning of streets and snow removal, cars are parked on different sides of the street on odd and even dates of the month so that one side of the street is unobstructed and is cleaned each day.

There is an acute shortage of garages so that many people leave their cars outdoors. Some of them with canvas or plastic covers that are used instead of garages.

Small Examination
Scheduled June 15

ALLEGAN, Michigan—Municipal Judge Ervin L. Andrews Monday set June 15 as date for examination of Dr. Kenneth B. Small, 31, on charges that he murdered
his wife's alleged lover.

At the same time, Allegan County Prosecutor Dwight M. Cheever said
Dr. Small, a Detroit dentist, probably will go on trial for murder in Allegan Circuit Court during the week of July 20, depending on the schedule of Judge Raymond L.
Smith of Holland.

Small has admitted shooting Jules Lack, 45, New York millionaire, in a luxurious summer home on Lake Michigan May 29. He is expected to invoke the "unwritten law" as his defense, contending that Lack was trying to break up his marriage with his attractive wife, Edith, 30, who witnessed the shooting with other guests.

Miles Also Is Part-Time Guard

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.—
Republican economies have turned at least one U. S. district attorney into a part-time prisoner guard, according to U. S. Attorney Wendell Miles of Holland.

Miles was telling a friend Tuesday of a recent trip he made to Washington to confer with Justice Department officials.

"You know," he said, "They've clamped down on us on trips to Washington. The only way a U.S. attorney can travel from his home to Washington at government expense is when the Justice Department at Washington asks him to come to the capital for conferences."

"I had 22 cases I wanted to talk over with the boys in Washington but no one asked me to come down.
The only way I could make the trip was at my own expense. Then one day Judge (Raymond W.) Starr sentenced a teenager to a term in the National Training School for Boys at Washington."

"I saw my chance. I asked the U.S. marshal's office if I could accompany the boy as a guard and that's how I got to Washington," Miles said.

Another marshal accompanied him because prisoners always travel with two guards, Miles said.

Telegrams Flood George Zuverink

According to local Western Union officials, George Zuverink was flooded with telegrams of congratulations Saturday after his masterful three-hit pitching job against the mighty Boston Red Sox.

Announcer Van Patrick let it be known just where George was staying in Boston and local persons took the cue and sent telegrams. Van Patrick said Sunday George was bewildered by the flood of wires and couldn't quite figure out how everyone knew where to send them. The announcer didn't put him wise.

Zuverink, in going the route, walked just two men and struck out one. He retired the last 12 batters he faced. The only Boston hits were by Jim Piersall, Harry Agganis and Ellis Kinder.

George forced the great Ted Williams to hit into a double play in the first time up and retired him the next three times he faced him during the game.

Besides his outstanding mound job, George had one of 13 Detroit hits and scored one run.

Mrs. Robert Paul Schneider

Robert Paul Schneider Weds Ruth Marie Fraser

At 8 p.m. Saturday evening, First Presbyterian Church of Clinton, S. C., was the scene of the lovely wedding of Miss Ruth Marie Fraser of Clinton and Robert Paul Schneider of Holland and Key West, Fla. Their parents are Dr. and Mrs. T. Layton Fraser of Clinton and Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Schneider, South Shore, Dr., Holland.

The impressive double ring ceremony was performed by Dr. Fraser, father of the bride, assisted by Dr. George Bellinger, dean of Presbyterian College. The sanctuary was enhanced by magnolia blossoms and foliage and cathedral candles in floor candelabra.

Preceding the ceremony a program of wedding music was presented by Mrs. J. Ferdinand Jacobs, organist, and soloists, Miss Ellen M. Fraser, sister of the bride, and Hugh H. Fraser, cousin of the bride. Miss Fraser sang "The Pledge" and Mr. Fraser sang "Oh Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Ervin Schneider of Holland, father of the groom, served as best man. Olin S. Fraser of Hinesville, Ga., Harry B. Fraser, Jr., of Abbeville, South Carolina, Donald A. Fraser, Jr., of Decatur, Ga., and Charles E. Fraser of Augusta, Ga., were ushers. Groomsmen, Wallace W. Boyd of Clinton served as junior groomsmen, and Master William Shumaker of Pawtucket, R. I., nephew of the groom, was ring bearer.

Miss Ellen Fraser served as her sister's maid of honor. Her dress was of pastel yellow tulle over moire taffeta. It was fashioned with fitted bodice softly draped at the upper edge, with neck strap and back bows of black velvet and a bouffant floor-length skirt with matching stole. She carried an arm bouquet of mixed summer flowers tied with pastel green ribbon.

Mrs. Harry B. Fraser, Jr., of Abbeville, S. C., was senior bridesmaid. Miss Anne Fraser, sister of the bride, served as junior bridesmaid. Their dresses were pastel green tulle over taffeta, similar to that of the honor attendant. They carried arm bouquets of mixed summer flowers tied with pastel yellow ribbon. Little Miss Claire Fraser of Hinesville, Ga., cousin of the bride, served as flower girl. She wore a dress of pastel green tulle over taffeta and carried an old fashioned nosegay of asters in mixed colors.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely gown of white mechin lace and tulle over duchess satin. The bodice was fitted, having a yoke of bridal illusion and long fitted lace sleeves ending in points at the hands. The bouffant tulle and satin skirt, which extended into a cathedral length train, was appliqued with lace below the waistline. She wore a Juliet cap of lace trimmed with orange blossoms, and a fingertip veil of bridal illusion. Her only ornament was a single strand of pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses and phalaenopsis orchids with sprays of stephanotis.

Mrs. Fraser, mother of the bride, wore black lace over soft, ice blue taffeta, with white accessories and a corsage of phalaenopsis orchids. Mrs. Schneider wore a dress of dusty-rose lace over taffeta, with matching accessories and a corsage of cymbidium orchids.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Schneider of Holland; Mrs. M. E. Schneider of Detroit, grandmother of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. Archie Calbi of Pontiac; Mrs. W. M. Shumaker and William M. Shumaker, Jr., of Pawtucket, R. I.; and Mr. and Mrs. Brunner, Cleveland, Ohio. Also visiting were Major General and Mrs. J. B. Fraser, Misses Mary and Adelaide Fraser, Mr. and Mrs. Olin S. Fraser, Olin S. Fraser, Jr., and Miss Claire Fraser, of Hinesville, Ga.; the Rev. and Mrs. Harry B. Fraser Sr., of Greenwood S. C.; Lee Fraser of Abbeville, S. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Donald A. Fraser, Jr., of Decatur, Ga.; and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Fraser of Atlanta, Ga.

Three Requests Turned Down

The Planning Commission Thursday night denied three requests for zoning changes and tabled a fourth for possible later action.

Action of the commission will be forwarded to City Council.

Tabled for further study was a request to extend the commercial zone 70 feet west on the south side of 13th St. near Maple Ave. The application was from Hollis Brouwer for construction of a new building.

After much study the group turned down a request to rezone portions of 30th and 31st Sts. near Maple Ave. Also denied was a request to rezone the south side of 31st St. between Michigan and Maple Aves. The applications asked rezoning from present class B residential to commercial.

The commission voted no change be made on a request to rezone from class B to commercial the northeast corner of Lincoln Ave. and Ninth St., until such time as the rezoning plan for the entire city has been completed.

Junior Rotarians Air Swimming Pool Proposal

Fourteen Junior Rotarians from Holland and Holland Christian High Schools presented the program at Thursday's noon luncheon of Holland Rotary Club at the Warm Friend Tavern. Senior students David Vander Ploeg and Blaine Timmer were co-chairman of the event which featured a panel discussion on the subject "Holland Should Have a Swimming Pool."

Moderator Roger Garvelink presented the panel of Junior Rotarians who enumerated several reasons in support of the proposal. Phil Boersma, speaking on the cost of the pool, commented that the amount per family over a 13 year period would be small. Lewis Stegink cited the fact that only half of the students can swim. Besides providing an excellent form of recreation, it would help to reduce the high drowning rate each year due to one's inability to swim.

Comparing the expected rate which could be charged for the swimming privilege with other forms of recreation, such as the movies and golf, Richard Den Uyl said, "It would be a cheap form of recreation. The price of admission," he added, "would take care of maintenance."

Lester Overway suggested that clubs, school groups and Red Cross Swim Classes would make use of the pool. "More people can use the swimming pool per hour than can participate in any other form of recreation," he said. "The young people of Holland want to swim and dive," said Edward Van Eenennaam, "which they often can not do in Lake Michigan because of undertow, high winds and the limited season." Tom Ragains contended that swimming provides good recreation for all ages.

Discussion followed the panel's presentation and Rotarians instructed its Board of Directors to go on record that Rotary favors the building of an indoor pool in connection with the Civic Center.

Preceding the panel discussion Blaine Timmer gave a short, humorous talk entitled "Rambles by Timmer." A clarinet quartet composed of Ted Du Mez, Dale Topp, Paul Brat and Richard Hertel with John Baker accompanying, played a merley of western tunes arranged by Topp and called "From Mountain and Valley." Garvelink gave the invocation and Boersma introduced the visiting Rotarians.

Randall C. Bosch announced that Gerald Boeve had been selected as Rotary's representative to Wolverine Boys State at Michigan State College.

Next week George Speake will present "Sermons from Science."

Let's Plant Beauty! Garden Needs Good Foundation Just Like House

A garden needs a good foundation just as surely as does a house. John Van Zoeren explains how he built the foundation which yields a succession of luxuriant bloom from early spring to late fall.

Where shrubbery and flowers were to border their property on east, south, and west sides, three large loads of manure were spread, then 28 loads of mushroom compost, to be covered with five more large loads of old, well decayed manure. This produced a soil of good texture which holds moisture well, is friable, and easy for roots to penetrate. Mr. Van Zoeren figures there is plenty of nitrogen to last for a while so he adds 0-20-20 each year.

The borders are thickly planted. Annals fill the space left vacant by the passing of spring flowers. Many times during the season truck loads of debris from plants which have been cut back are carted out. So the soil must be kept rich to support new growth. Correct feeding has given new life to a gnarled old sweet cherry tree which is a point of interest of the rear lawn. Fifty pounds of balanced commercial fertilizer put into 12-inch deep holes sunk around the perimeter of the tree restored it to a healthy vigor and beauty.

Iris are the current feature of this garden. You will find many new varieties there, a lovely pink, delicate buff and mauve shades, a deep mahogany, the clear blue of the up-standing Great Lakes, and large frilled yellows. Oriental poppies and day lilies are also in bloom, to be followed by peonies and roses. There are edgings of pansies and violas. You will notice there are no shade trees to rob the back garden of moisture, fertility, and sunshine.

You will find many interesting plants not often seen as Mrs. Van Zoeren seeks new materials to try each year, and she is happy to point these out to visitors to their garden. There are a new rapid growing bittersweet climber, a lace vine, and yellow trumpet vine. There are fern leaf spirea, oak leaf hydrangea, gold drop shrub, moss roses, cimicifuga, fritularia, gooseberry shrub, and a purple leaf smoke tree. Taxus yew, rhododendron, mountain laurel, and fern form a good north side foundation planting. A new chrysanthemum is one of the many mums grown for fall bloom.

It will be worth while to watch for each month's changing picture, and you may be sure September's growth will be as lush as June's because the foundation is so well made.

Locals Show Lot Of Zip as Boeve, Kempker Hurl Win

Holland's peppery Flying Dutchmen stepped off their season on the right foot Monday night at Riverview Park by turning back Allegan 3-0 in a well-played ball game that lasted just one hour and 45 minutes.

The rejuvenated locals, under management of Russ Wolrding, scored in the sixth and eighth innings while Jim Boeve and Jack Kempker shared mound duties and limited the visitors to just five hits.

Boeve went a full five innings, allowed four hits, struck out five and walked just one. Kempker hurled the last four innings and allowed just one hit, struck out five and walked three. Holland didn't commit an error.

The locals scored their first run in the sixth when speedy Ron Fortney came all around on an inside the park home run. The locals counted their other two in the eighth on a fielder's choice and a triple by Willey Witteveen along with a double by Lou Humbert.

Allegan was charged with two errors in the game. Walt Boettcher did the hurling chores for the visitors and allowed seven hits, struck out five and walked two.

Boettcher was the leading hitter for Allegan with two out of four.

Holland's leading hitters were Fortney with two out of four and Witteveen with the same count. Other Holland hits were by Humbert, Dick Plagenhoef and Dick Ykes.

Holland's lineup included: Ron Boeve behind the plate, Witteveen at first, Bill Sandahl at second, Bob Van Dyke at third, Fortney at shortstop, J. Shindle and Ykes in left field, Humbert in center and Plagenhoef in right.

Wolrding has ordered more practice for his team this week before the locals open Southwest Michigan League play June 14.

The Dutchmen showed a lot of hustle and pep in Monday's game and it looks as though Wolrding has injected a good deal of zip into the team.

Legal Problems Of Parking Lot In Allegan Studied

ALLEGAN (Special) — Tabling a proposal for plans and specifications for the proposed off-street parking area, Allegan's city council Monday night instructed City Attorney Rex Orton and Manager P. H. Beauvais to make a thorough check of possible legal problems in acquiring necessary property.

Council agreed that the investigation should be made before the city enters into a contract for engineering services which will cost five percent of the total project, or $10,000 in case the project is postponed.

Davenport Company, Grand Rapids engineers, made the proposal to the council Monday night.

Another highlight of Monday night's session was a resolution by Francis Hanson recognizing the community service of ex-Mayor Walter Kyes who recently resigned to accept a state highway department post after seven years on the council.

Low bidders were determined and contracts awarded in two city projects. The D. E. Taylor Co., Elkhardt, Ind., was low bidder on repairs to the State St. bridge. Their bid totaled $4,250. Taylor told council he could start work within two weeks. The firm recently completed repairs to the Otsego city bridge which collapsed beneath a truck several months ago.

The H. J. Compton company, with a bid of $1,099.50, was awarded a contract for construction of the Davis St. sanitary sewer.

The Sinclair Oil company, with a bid of 16.4 cents per gallon, was awarded the contract for supply gasoline to the city during the fiscal year starting July 1. The Sinclair bid provided for adjustments if wholesale prices fall below current levels.

Sheriff Debunks Report on Small

ALLEGAN, Mich. (UP) — Allegan County Sheriff William Runkel said today that there is "nothing to" reports that prisoners in the county jail have protested that Dr. Kenneth B. Small is getting "preferential treatment."

"There's nothing to it at all and Dr. Small is not getting preferential treatment," Runkel said.

Dr. Small, 31, Detroit dentist, is being held in jail pending trial on charges that he murdered Jules Lack, 45, New York millionaire, who he charged with trying to break up his home.

Runkel said that Small is one of the most popular prisoners in the jail because he has been sharing pies, cakes and cookies that he has received from many friends, relatives and well-wishers with other inmates.

"Sure, he has a private cell but there's a man right next to him who has a cell to himself, too," Runkel said. "There's nothing unusual in that. And the prisoners, as far as I know, have not held any kind of a protest meeting or anything like that. I should know, shouldn't I?"

Lightning Crews From All Over U.S. Will Be at MBYC

Final plans for one of the outstanding sailing events on Lake Macatawa this summer are rapidly taking shape.

The Sears Cup races are scheduled at Macatawa Bay Yacht Club beginning Aug. 30 and will include competition from throughout the nation. This year marks the second time since the Sears award became a truly national prize that the event has been held on a fresh water lake. It usually is held on some east coast site.

Symbolic of the junior national sailing championship, the Sears award is open to boys and girls who are members of recognized yacht clubs between 15 and 18 years of age.

Eight crews of three youngsters each will compete in the 19-foot Lightning class sloops of the host Macatawa Bay Club for the Sears finals.

Sectional eliminations will be conducted among crews from 22 member associations of the union from all sections of the country except the Pacific coast, to determine the finalists.

First placed in competition in 1921, the Sears award became a truly national prize years later when it was officially decided to the North American Yacht Racing Union, which has since conducted the event.

To enter a crew, local associations must notify the corresponding secretary of NAYRU on or before the date of the beginning of the finals in each event. All entrants must be able to swim at least 50 yards.

The number of races in the final series will correspond to the number of crews competing.

Youths who come to MBYC for the event will use local Lightnings for the Sears competition, inasmuch as they will be coming from all points in the country and it is impracticable for them to haul boats such distances.

Robert N. Bavier, Jr., is corresponding secretary of the NAYRU with headquarters at 37 West 44th St., New York 36, N.Y.

Seeley-Kennedy Exams Are Postponed Again

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Municipal Judge Louis H. Osterhaus today granted another postponement for the examination of Ronald V. Kennedy and G. Palmer Seeley of Grand Rapids, charged with cheating and defrauding the state of Michigan out of $600.

The examination, which was scheduled for June 8, was granted on request of Perry Maynard, assistant attorney general, who advised the court that Kennedy's attorney, Nuel Donley, has had a setback in his physical condition, plus the fact that Maynard will be busy in other places for several weeks.

Maynard also requested Prosecutor James W. Bussard not to have Seeley picked up since Maynard may use Seeley as a witness against Kennedy. Bussard, however, feels Seeley will not be a good witness in this particular case and does not desire to use him as such.

The two defendants, both ousted employees of the State Highway Commission, are involved in several land transactions in their former work in the right-of-way division.

Brother and Sister Set New Record on Fractures

If the pluck and courage by a local brother-and-sister team in "battling" fractures could be marketed and put into bottles, the world would be a happier place.

Between them, Mrs. Josephine Antas and her brother, Joe Knoll, hold a record that no one—but no one—would ever voluntarily try to equal or better.

Last Sept. 30 Mrs. Antas was struck by a runaway car at Legion golf course and received a badly fractured right leg, compound fracture of the left arm, a fractured right hand and some assorted injuries including a black eye. She never quite got around to count all her fractures.

On May 2, Joe Knoll was a passenger in a car that crashed into a barricade near Charlevoix and he ended up with compound fractures of both legs, two crushed feet, a pelvic fracture, two broken ribs, an elbow injury, forehead lacerations and a few internal injuries. He hasn't counted all his fractures either, but he's way ahead of his sister.

Joe was flown home in an ambulance plane Wednesday from Charlevoix. Both legs are in casts and many fractures have not been set, but he's happy that the ribs are healed, the pelvis okay and the other injuries healed. He's even betting his sister that he'll be able to get around on crutches better than she could because he'll have the full use of both hands and arms.

For Mrs. Antas is walking today, although limping badly. First speculations were that she might have to be hospitalized six months or a year, but she left the hospital after 10 weeks and in about three months was able to get around. For the past month or more she has been working. She drives a car, scorns a cane, but is still pretty careful how she moves.

She spent most of Friday at St. Mary's Hospital in Grand Rapids and had a long pin removed from her left arm. She still has a pin in her right leg and this pin will probably be removed later this summer.

After a long month in Charlevoix Hospital, Joe was perhaps happiest of all to see his sister and to note the progress she had made in that month. There's nothing like good understanding between fracture victims.

Joe is glad to be back in Holland for a lot of reasons. His wife and four children are here, so are his parents and nearly all of his six sisters. He also has two brothers. That will make for a lot of visitors.

Joe expected to go to his home soon to 193 Elm Lane (two miles north of Holland) but his doctor is keeping him in Holland Hospital for a time. He is slated for several visits to surgery before he is through.

Joe's room in Holland Hospital Friday was jokingly called the leg fracture room. His companion in the other bed also sported two leg casts. Arthur Welch, 70, ended up with two broken legs when a car backing into a downtown parking space jumped the curb on May 26.

"There's not a whole leg in this room except for the nurses and visitors," one quipped.

Volleyballs

It's newcomer time in Holland again, and the city hostess has made the following calls on new arrivals during May:

Mr. and Mrs. L. Siebesma and their four children, two boys and two girls ranging in ages from 4 to 11, have arrived here from the Netherlands and are living at 272 East Eighth St. Mr. Siebesma is a baker at Triumph Bakery.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lininger, Jr., and their two children, have arrived from Geneva, N.Y., and are living at 66 East 12th St. Mr. Lininger is an economics instructor at Hope College.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell W. Gilbert and three sons of Muskegon have purchased a home at 821 West 24th St. Mr. Gilbert is employed by Sears Roebuck.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Flannigan of Battle Creek are living at 50 East Eighth St. Their children are grown. Mr. Flannigan is counselor of the music division of Charles Scribner's Sons.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Combs and young daughter of Battle Creek have purchased a home at 216 Dartmouth Ave. Mr. Combs is office manager at DeNooyer's Chevrolet Garage.

We keep hearing new versions of the old expressions "30" meaning the end.

Latest one is some chitchat from United Press quoting Ross Johnson, retired chief operator of the United Press in Chicago. Ross said it all began when an operator once said on the Morse, "30" at the end of his page, meaning that it was time for a breather after 30 lines of copy.

As for "73's", we still define that as "best wishes" or a friendly farewell.

A local merchant received a note from a Fort Wayne visitor to Tulip Time admiring the African violets he had had on display in his window. He obligingly wrote the woman the name of the variety and where the plants could be obtained.

Simon Den Uyl who has been touring Europe with a group of Detroit Chamber of Commerce members dropped us a line that he had visited General and Mrs. W. H. Arnold in Austria. The Arnolds are long time summer residents at Macatawa, and currently Lt. Gen. Arnold is the new commander of U.S. forces in Austria.

Gen. Arnold has been quite successful in his new command, and according to newspaper writers the morale has risen sharply in Austria. For instance, he avoids all conspicuous military display and has banned all motorcycle escorts. He encourages the American GI's to wear civilian clothes as much as possible.

The Austrians have an idea that airplane flights can cure whooping cough in children and Arnold arranged for ailing Austrian tots to be taken up on routine training hops by artillery, spotter planes. Some kids were cured, some were not. But the British thought the idea good enough to imitate in their zone.

Arnold also did away with that old Army tool, the brushoff in letters. He gets about 150 letters a month from inquiring civilians, and dictates and personally signs his own reply to each one. "It takes time, but the word gets around and it pays off," he said.

As for criticisms, he expects it. "If I had a lot of foreign soldiers in my home town, I wouldn't like them no matter how much money they spent," he said. "I'd try to pick flaws in everything they did. Well, Europeans act the same. Your job is to eliminate those flaws."

The general's energetic wife Lib is as active as ever. She is president of the "Salzburg Women's Club" and is active in all the charities carried out by wives of officers living there.

Gambling: Something that when a man gets too fond of, his wife also may gamble.

Pathetic: A horse fly sitting on a truck radiator.

Egotism: What is displayed by the young man who thinks nothing in the world is good enough for her but himself.

Inch: What if you give some people you'll wish you'd given them a foot instead.
