GOP Names Delegates In Allegan

ALLEGAN — Allegan county Republicans named 19 delegates and 19 alternates to the June 16-17 state convention, approved resolutions urging the state GOP to refrain from endorsing future "census candidates" in primary elections and put out the welcome mat for Wallace conservatives at their biennial convention in the Griswold Auditorium Thursday night.

The resolution regarding census candidates was an obvious reference to 1970 when the Michigan GOP's state central committee united in endorsing Mrs. George Romney as a senatorial candidate to oppose Sen. Phillip Hart.

The resolutions committee report also welcomed "all conservatives" into the county's Republican organization — an obvious reaction to the large vote garnered by Gov. George Wallace in the May 16 preferential primary.

The convention elected four at-large delegates and alternates and 15 delegates from districts to represent the county at the state GOP convention in Detroit.

County Chairman Mrs. Eleanor Olsson, of Holland, will lead the delegation. Other at-large delegates include Ellis Wykstra, Martin; Neil Ellinger, Wayland; and Sam Moorhead, of Fennville. Alternates are Russell Boeve, Holland; Rudy Brookhuis, Holland; and Joe Armstrong, of Allegan.

Delegates and alternates elected during district caucuses included John Vogelzang, Mrs. George Wise, Russell Huyser, Eugene Tunesik, Thomas Wich, James Edwards, John Watts, Gail Totzke, Leonard Vanderkolk, Nicholas Prins, Kenneth Rynbrandt, James Kos, Loren Joostberens, Cleon Duryea, Meredith Hazelrigg, James Boyce, Howard Strand, Robert Weddle, Lindsey Dugan, Mrs. Margaret Dugan, Ronald Layton, Amolyn Ross, Fred Edger-ton, Lynn Jensen, Emelda Andringa, Jim Sluiter, James W. Parker, Mrs. James Farnsworth, Arthur Popp and Alice Colegrove.

State Representative James Farnsworth of Plainwell, keynote speaker, urged Republicans to take a positive approach to the issues of the day, underlining the many areas in which Republican administration in Lansing and Washington has been working for progress.

Arrest Of Pair Clears Robbery

A second man was arrested Tuesday in connection with Sunday's armed robbery of the M-21 One Stop service station and Ottawa County sheriff's detectives and Holland Police said the arrest of the two also cleared six breaks at homes in Ottawa county.

Arrested and arraigned Tuesday on a charge of armed robbery in Holland District Court was Marvin Amsink, 19, of 22 East Ninth St. He demanded examination to the charge and bond was set at $5,000. He requested a court appointed attorney and was remanded to the Ottawa county jail.

Amsink's arrest followed the Monday night arrest of Tom Morris, 21, of 249 Maple St., Zeeland, who waived examination in district court Tuesday to a charge of aiding and abetting in an armed robbery. He was released on his own recognizance bond.

In a joint statement detectives for the sheriff's department and the Holland police department said the pair also was charged in connection with break-ins of homes in Blendon and Olive townships early Saturday night, hours before the service station robbery.

Amsink demanded examination on two counts of breaking and entering and bond was set at $2,500 each. Morris waived examination to one count of breaking and entering.

In the armed robbery, police said one of the holdup men allegedly pressed a knife to the throat of the attendant, Herman Van Haisma, 51, of Zeeland, and took $79.01 from the cash register. Van Haisma was not harmed. No knife was recovered.

Hemline Drops After Five to the Ankle

Daytimes the fashionable woman is keeping her hemlines moderate, but after five the hemline drops at least to the ankle and perhaps all the way to the floor. It isn't necessarily a dress-up, gown-type look.

The casual air is elegant these days in separates—long skirts, perhaps, in fabrics such as black jersey, combined with bright, patterned shirts. Lone strings of tinkling chains can add a further bright touch.

School Board Hears Report On Program

A report on a bi-lingual program in three elementary schools was presented to the Holland Board of Education at its regular meeting Monday night in the high school library.

The report on the second semester work of 13 bi-lingual teacher aides in Washington, Lincoln and Federal schools was presented by Mrs. Rachel Calderon, director of the federally funded program. The school district is seeking renewal of the funding for the full 1972-1973 school year.

"An instant culture such as we are living under — instant breakfast, instant replay, instant money through credit cards, instant communication through television, we lose heart and give up on life because our ideals are not immediately realized."

"The liberal arts are desperately needed today. The liberal arts see things in historical perspective and not in terms of instant culture. Not only is your Alma Mater a liberal arts college which means that it focuses the emphasis on understanding, but also a church-related college. We live in a time when it is very difficult to see what Christianity may be expected to contribute to our troubled world. A basic question for us as Christians is, 'How honestly have we put ourselves in the place of another?'"

"Whenever human relationships break down, that breakdown, if thoroughly analyzed, practically always implies the failure on someone's part to put himself in the place of another. By being church-related, Hope College has invited you to develop the imagination so that you can partake of the character of Christ."

The answer to the growing number of people who ask, "Do we still need the church?" according to Dr. Vander Lugt is "yes." He told the graduates of the class of 1972 that it was his wish that the two qualities that Hope College tried to develop, understanding and imagination, may continue to grow.

Dean Morrette L. Rider, Academic Dean, awarded the prizes. Chancellor Vander Lugt and Dean Rider awarded degrees and certificates to the Class of 1972. Honorary degrees were given to John Edward Buteyn, Doctor of Divinity; Vander Lugt, Doctor of Humane Letters and Gordon J. Van Wylen, Doctor of Letters.

The Rev. William Hillemonds, College Chaplain, gave the invocation and the benediction and the Brass Ensemble with Robert Ritsma played the processional and recessional.

THE BIRDS ARE COMING BACK

There is reason for rejoicing. Bird watchers tell us that birds are coming back to Michigan in significant numbers. Fact of the matter is, the bird watchers tell us, that anyone who has been at all alert must have noted that the number of robins has certainly increased.

Why are the birds coming back? Really we don't know. But there are some guesses. One may be that the discontinuance of the use of DDT has been an influence for good. DDT kills insects, and birds live on insects. Now that insects are more plentiful, there are more birds.

Another theory is that DDT was harmful to the reproduction system of the birds and the crop of young had been drastically cut.

Another reason given is that the rather mild spring we have had in Michigan has been an invitation to the birds to migrate farther north and Michigan has reaped a harvest of birds.

It is a little difficult at this stage to pinpoint the reason we have an increase in birds this spring, but their presence is enough to tell us that all the dire predictions of ecologists haven't materialized. And those of us who love the beauties of nature will enjoy the presence of the birds. Getting all the rationale may be important, but it could also tarnish the simple joys.

Meeting God
Through the Scriptures
II Timothy 3:14-17;
Psalm 119:9-18
By C. P. Dame

Many people do not read the Bible enough and know little about its contents. It is hoped that this lesson will move many to read the Bible more faithfully than ever. Keep in mind that the Bible tells how to find salvation and how to live a Christian life pleasing to God.

I. The Bible must be taught and the best place to teach it is in the home. Timothy's mother and grandmother had taught him in the home and later on as a young man Paul had instructed him and so Timothy knew the Old Testament which foretold the coming of Jesus Christ. Paul told Timothy to continue in the things which he had learned and to remember his teachers. Highly favored are children who are taught the truths of God's book in their homes by believing parents. Today the Bible is taught in a variety of ways.

II. The Bible is inspired by God and this makes it a singular book. Paul tells about the fourfold function of the Bible. It is, according to Paul "useful for teaching the faith, and correcting error, for resetting the direction of a man's life and training him in good living." (Phillips). Everyone constantly needs this ministry.

Paul said that the Bible was written "that he man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto all good works." In these days of much education these words sound modern. The truths of the Bible, if accepted, train people for Christian service and make lives more useful. The Bible is as useful today as it was in Timothy's time.

III. The Bible gives guidance to those who seek it. Psalm 119 is composed of 176 verses and all but three refer to God's Word which is called ordinances, way judgments, precepts, statutes, commandments, testimonies, law and word. The writer loved God's law and resolved to keep it.

The question, "Wherewithal shall a young man cleanse his way?" is as important today as ever, for temptations to the way are numerous since this is an age in which sex, drugs and pleasures of all kinds play a big role in life. The church has the task to supplement the teaching of the home with the truths of the Bible in an interesting, up-to-date manner, applying it to the life of this day.

The church needs members and leaders who are devoted to the Bible and live it and teach it to the young of this affluent age who need divine wisdom as they face a world full of problems and temptations and opportunities to either go astray or to grow to Christian maturity.

Holland Native Is Battle Creek's Only Policewoman

BATTLE CREEK — Marylou Zuiderveen recently became Battle Creek's only policewoman. After completing seven weeks of police training last month at the top of her male-dominated class, she was sworn into the Battle Creek force and assigned to the Youth Division.

Mrs. Zuiderveen, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Jay Tinkholt, 85 East 29th St., Holland, is a 1963 graduate of Holland Christian High School and a 1967 graduate of Calvin College.

Having lived in Comstock and Vinegrove, Ky., and Rheinmain, Germany, she and her husband, John, moved last August to Battle Creek. She had been teaching English in each town, and not being able to find a teaching position in Battle Creek, she remembered a juvenile delinquency course she took at Western Michigan University after graduating from Calvin and applied at her local police department.

After many tests and interviews she was hired and served in an apprenticeship for seven weeks. She then commuted to the Michigan Law Enforcement Training Council School in Kalamazoo for seven weeks, participating in all the book work and physical work along with the men.

Mrs. Zuiderveen does not wear a uniform for her work with juvenile delinquents, runaways, drug users, shoplifters and persons involved in sex-related crimes. Most of her time is spent in juvenile court, schools and visiting parents.

Honor Society Inducts 44 At Holland High

Holland High's chapter of the National Honor Society held its spring induction ceremony at 7:30 p.m. May 24 in the west unit commons area.

Kirk Zingle, club president and master of ceremonies for the evening, introduced brief speeches stressing the value of the four qualities needed for entrance into the society. David Chamness spoke on scholarship; Kevin Counihan, leadership; Judy Kammeraad, character; and Melissa Hakken, service.

The Rev. Ernest W. Freund, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, was guest speaker and discussed young people's role in our nation's future.

The inductees read the National Honor Society pledge, led by secretary Mavis Van Oostenburg, and were then awarded pins by Fred S. Berisch, principal.

The selection of club members has undergone a change in that all members are inducted in their junior year of high school instead of half of the members being installed at the end of their junior year and half at the beginning of their senior year. However, because the latter procedure was followed last year, 19 seniors, who were chosen last fall, were initiated in this ceremony with the 25 entering juniors.

Seniors inducted were Victor Amaya, Sara Bamboorough, Richard Beeson, Susan Boers, Julie Boeve, David Brownson, Ricki Johnson, Janice Klinge, Rita Koning, Jefferson Livense, Roy Moeller, Barbara Mouw, Michael Nienhuis, Cheryl Peterson, Karen Petroeje, Christian Simpson, Paul Timmer, Bette Winter and Nancy Woodwyk.

New junior members are LuAnn Athey, Lori Backsvort, Kathleen Brower, James Brownson, Jeanne Colenbrander, Margaret Derks, Susan Dow, Thomas Ferman, Marisol Fernandez, Sara Fredrickson, Noe Garza, Timothy Harrington, Mark Kail, Carol Klomparsens, Debra Kragt, Stuart MacKenzie, Mary McKnight, Dorothea Megow, Susan Plakke, Debra Rowan, Lori Sloothaak, Jack Strabbing, Paul White, Laurie Williams and Richard Wood.

A reception honoring the new members followed the ceremony with Carol Cook, Mary Townsend and Pam Walcott assisting. Mrs. Russell Vrieling and Miss Virginia DeWitt are the National Honor Society sponsors.

County Treasurer Den Herder Retires

GRAND HAVEN—Fred Den Herder, who has seen the Ottawa county budget climb from about $300,000 after the depression years to the present $3½ million in his 34 years as treasurer, Wednesday announced he planned to retire.

Den Herder, 66, said he would not seek re-election on the Republican ticket when his term of office expires at the end of this year. He was first elected treasurer in 1938 and prior to that served as deputy treasurer more than five years.

A resident of Crookery Township, Den Herder said he planned to enjoy some travel, hunting and fishing with his wife, Dorothy, his two children and one grandchild.

A veteran of three years in the Armed Forces during World War II, Den Herder served as deputy treasurer under his father, John H. Den Herder, from 1933 until 1936.

When he took office January, 1939 as county treasurer, Den Herder received an annual salary of $2,500. There were about four or five persons working in the treasurer's office at that time compared with the 10 in the office today.

Fred Den Herder

Den Herder said over the years the biggest increases in the county budget have been in the areas of welfare and the county health and mental health departments.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK IN DOWNTOWN HOLLAND

Bank Open House Marks 100 Years of Fine Service

First National Bank, 100 years old this year, celebrated its centennial by holding open house Monday and Tuesday from 7 to 9 p.m.

The modern establishment located in downtown Holland at Eighth St. and Central Ave. had a humble beginning in 1872 as Holland City Bank. In 1892 it became Holland City State Bank. Around the turn of the century First State Bank started in Holland.

In 1936, these two banks merged into Holland State Bank, taking over the First National Bank facility on the present site. In 1946 it became First National Bank of Holland.

In the 1936 merger, Henry S. Maentz of Allegan became president, a position he still holds today.

Tours showed visitors the operations of a modern banking facility which underwent a modernization program about a year ago. Bank employees will serve as guides of the teller area, private offices, bookkeeping department and computer department. Refreshments will be served.

The 1930 bank holiday that spelled the end for many banks was actually the beginning for Maentz. He applied for and received an appointment as an examiner for the Michigan State Banking Department and for nearly six years received a liberal education in banking, both good and bad.

It was in 1936 that directors of Holland's First State Bank, seeking a new president, called Maentz to fill the job, and out of this came the merger with Holland City State Bank with Maentz as president.

At the close of business in 1936, assets of the merged banks totaled $3,400,000. Today, assets are $36,000,000.

A firm believer that success in business carries with it a responsibility to the community, Maentz has played a leading role in civic affairs, mainly the Chamber of Commerce, United Fund, Red Cross, Tulip Time, Windmill Island and the Board of Public Works.

Retiring from the BPW last year after 20 years of service, Maentz was recognized for his leadership in expansions to the generating station, an interconnection with Consumers Power Co., dredging of a deep water channel to Lake Michigan, conversion of boilers to dual gas and oil units, development of a water supply facility with Lake Michigan as source of supply, negotiations of a contract to sell water to the city of Zeeland during ing off-peak hours, a proposal to sell water to Holland and Park townships, and the construction of a modern waste treatment plant.

Maentz since 1927 has been married to the former Margaret Stegeman of Allegan. They have two sons, Henry J., a vice president of the bank, and Tom, a manufacturer's representative in Detroit. There are five grandchildren.

Maentz admits to operating his bank conservatively. "Our policy has always been to maintain a highly liquid bank. In fact, at the end of 1971, we had 404 per cent of our assets in cash or federal funds and 43 per cent in loans. We have always had a very conservative investment policy, but we feel we are highly progressive in customer services, especially computer accounting," he said.

Other officers of the bank are Henry Maentz Jr., Corinne Pool, Donald J. Thomas, Jack Westrate and Wayne Wyckoff, all vice presidents; Althea Raffenaud, auditor. Assistant cashiers are Eleanor Brink, Margaret Landauer, Caroline Schaap, Leonard Van Houten and Arthur Worthey.

Along with Maentz, directors are Carl C. Andreasen, William Beebe, Wayne Fitzgerald, Henry

Geerds, Gerald Kramer, Henry Maentz Jr., Thomas S. Maentz, Seymour Padnos, Corinne Pool, Donald J. Thomas and H. J. Thomas.

Takes Refuge on Roof

A 61-year-old Holland woman, surprised by an intruder who broke into her house at about 1:30 a.m. today and frightened her in her bedroom, spent four hours on the roof of her house where she had taken refuge.

Holland police said Mrs. Clara Vining, 180 East Ninth St., was admitted to Holland Hospital for observation only. She was not physically harmed by the intruder.

Officers said they received a call at 5:58 a.m. Saturday from an employee at Hope College who reported a woman was on the porch of the house on Ninth St. Officers found Mrs. Vining in bedclothing and wrapped in a blanket.

Police said they were looking for a man about 35 to 40 years old with cuts on the arms. Officers said the intruder apparently cut himself while breaking glass to enter the house. A trail of blood was found in the house leading from the broken glass.

Police said Mrs. Vining was asleep in her second floor bedroom when the intruder broke into the house through a rear door. The man went upstairs to Mrs. Vining's bedroom and opened the door. Mrs. Vining was awakened and saw a man with a flashlight standing in the doorway. She turned on a bedside light and the intruder announced he was from the Internal Revenue Service and that Mrs. Vining had failed to pay her income tax and faced possible jailing.

Police said the intruder fled the house. Mrs. Vining crawled through a window with a blanket and onto the roof of a porch where she remained until rescued by police at 6 a.m.

Officers said the intruder fled with $60 from Mrs. Vining's purse.

Police Lt. Marty Hardenberg said the subject was described as a black male about 35 to 40 years old, 5-foot-9 and weighing about 190 pounds. He wore short black hair and was of stocky build wearing a dark blue shirt and dark blue pants. Hardenberg said the subject was last reported seen by a service station attendant along East Eighth St. near the railroad station at about 6:30 a.m. Saturday.
