Professor of Chemistry, Hope College

Living in an era frequently described as the "scientific age," we are all aware of the great impact of science upon our world today. We read that, under the watchful eye of the trained research chemist, science is providing man with better things for more complete living, and at the same time, a longer, and healthier life with increased leisure in which to enjoy them. Death cheating chemicals such as penicillin and the sulfa drugs, synthetic vitamins and hormones, and new anesthetics and disinfectants are serving miraculously to save and prolong life and banish disease. Synthetic fertilizers, insecticides which deal sudden death to ravaging pests, chemical agents which not only increase the quality, size and vitamin content of fruits and vegetables but may even grow new and delicious species, soil-less gardens where nutritious vegetables grow in trays of water and chemicals—all these are assuring a more abundant supply of wholesome food. Man's versatile new servants, the plastics, are replacing food, ivory, amber, bone, gems, porcelain and many metals in thousands of uses.

Radical improvements in automobile and aircraft design have been made possible by the production of high super fuels and synthetic rubber, and by startling developments in the manufacture and fabrication of light alloys, plastic and plywood. New types of glass are replacing cork, steel and silk in thermal and electrical insulation, in life-savers and lifeboats, in surgical sutures and in fireproof textiles. New and improved synthetic fibers have already put the silk-worm on relief as they are threatening to do to the sheep and are even now challenging the reign of King Cotton. Almost daily some new chemical triumph is announced—the harnessing of nuclear energy, synthetic quinine from coal tar, a superior wool-like fiber from milk, or a plastic from petroleum that is as tough as steel but only about one-third as heavy. Constantly, man is gaining control over his environment as well as increasing his independence of it.

On the other hand, there are those who are certain that this "scientific age" has plunged us into the lowest depths of mortality and the bottomless pits of despair. Nuclear fission has no meaning but the atomic bomb and destruction, television shows only that which is immoral and degrading, foods are too refined and are the causes of many of our new illnesses, this greater leisure makes us weak and susceptible, we spend our money rather than saving, too many young people in the colleges will leave none to act as laborers, scientific methods applied to agriculture are supplying more produce than can be utilized and is bringing chaos to the farm market.

Somewhere must lie a reasonable and sane viewpoint of science and its relationship to the happiness of mankind. In a recent address it was pointed out, that it is clearly the duty of the scientists as citizens to see that science is used for the benefit of mankind. For, of what use is science if man does not survive? There then lies the challenge, to discuss how far science has already contributed to human betterment, how far it has provided fresh problems, dangers and difficulties; and to suggest ways in which all who are concerned with science can help as citizens, to make sure that its results in fact are beneficial.

As citizens, therefore, for scientists as a group, confess to no superior wisdom of virtue, and except for their special field, are just as likely as others to be misled, the basic principle of scientific work is rigid integrity of thought, making use of experimental evidence and pursuing it wherever it may lead. Man is universally interested in the scientific method and is not limited by race, class or religion. Good will and integrity are essential to scientific progress and its successful use for the benefit of mankind.

The common phrase, "this scientific age," is all to apt to suggest, with no justification at all, that science can replace the older motives of human conduct. Certainly, life has been greatly altered by the applications of scientific discovery and invention for a small percentage of the world's population. Only the future can tell how it will affect all of mankind. Improving man's living by the use of scientific development is one of the highest ideals, but to believe that it can be achieved by scientific methods alone, without a moral basis, is radical error.

The struggle between new knowledge and traditional belief is as old as the history of man. Again and again an effort has been made to forbid the use of scientific knowledge. Paracelsus was stoned when he proposed to cure illness by the use of chemicals; Lavoisier was sent to the guillotine when he proposed a scientific approach to the problems during the French Revolution. The views of Darwin and Spencer may be wrong, but we should discuss not only the scientific facts themselves but their consequences in human affairs.

Scientific discovery which has aroused the public conscience and stressed the ethical problems involved was made recently in the field of nuclear chemistry. Scientific groups throughout the world are debating its consequences. The ultimate service of nuclear chemistry to mankind may be very great, perhaps, essential if civilization is to continue when our conventional sources of power decrease, and the beneficial uses of nuclear chemistry to medicine and industry multiply daily, but, nuclear fission has also made possible the destruction of many millions of lives and the accumulated moral and material treasures of civilization. Conscience may tell the scientist to have no part of this work. That is the easy way out, for there are many interesting things to do. But this does not solve the problem.

From the standpoint of principle, we know the historic and unique contribution of science to international good will has been in sharing knowledge regardless of race or country, and the chief satisfaction of scientific work, the requirement of its fruitful development, is frank and free discussion. Every possible effort, therefore should be made toward international agreement on sharing scientific and technical knowledge and controlling nuclear weapons; but this, like peace itself, is the concern of every citizen, not only of the scientific people. It is difficult to get international agreement in quite simple (Continued on Page 7)

Bern is a third generation Hopeite. His father, Dr. Seine B. De Pree, was graduated in 1899, and his grandfather, Rev. James De Pree, was a member of Hope's second graduating class, 1867. Bern was born in Sioux Center, Iowa, and was graduated from the high school there in 1925. Following his graduation from Hope he was employed at the Peoples State Bank from 1929 to 1945. In 1945 he accepted the position of office manager and assistant secretary-treasurer of the Holland Color and Chemical Company. He resigned in 1949 to accept the position of secretary-treasurer of the Milwaukee Hospital Association of Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific Railroad Lines West, at Seattle, Washington.

Bern has always been active in civic work. His activities reached their peak in 1948 when he became Mayor of Holland.

Mrs. De Pree is the former Gladys Huizinga '30. They have three daughters: Judith, 15; Jean, 13 and Joan, 7.

Myron A. Leenhouts '31

"Mike" was born in Williamson, New York, had high school training in Ontario, New York, and after receiving his AB degree from Hope in 1931, began teaching the deaf in Rochester, N.Y. He received his masters degree in 1938 from Gallaudet College, Washington, D.C. (only college for Deaf in the world) and returned to Rochester School for Deaf as Principal 1938-44. He became principal and administrative assistant at California School for the Deaf, Berkeley, in 1944. He is married to Mildred King.

Ballots Must Be Mailed by Dec. 1

According to the constitution of the Alumni Association of Hope College one director at large must be elected each year by a vote of the entire membership. The directors at large were originally chosen from areas where a great many Hopeites are found but not sufficiently centralized for the organization of Hope College clubs.

Quoting from section 1 of Article IV of the constitution: "Directors at large—

Three directors at large to be elected for terms of three years and in such manner that no two terms expire in the same year. The three directors shall be elected by ballots issued through the Alumni Magazine in time to enable them to take office at the June meeting of the Board."

We receive many letters asking the question relative to who is eligible to vote. The constitution states that any graduate or former student of Hope College or anyone who has been or is affiliated with Hope College may consider themselves a member of the association.

This year the term of office of Willard De Groot from the western area expires. He is a candidate for re-election along with candidates Bernard J. De Pree and Myron A. Leenhouts whose biographies appear on this page.

Ballots must show a postmark date not later than Dec. 1, 1953 to count in this election and the board of directors hope that the response will be immediate.

IN SERVICE

MRS. JOHN K. WINTER ELECTED PRESIDENT HOLLAND CITY SCHOOL BOARD

Sadie Grace Masselink Winter '31 was signally honored in July when she was elected president of the Board of Education of the City of Holland. This board of 8 members includes seven Hope graduates in its membership. The eighth member, Mr. Ernest Hartman, is a graduate of one MIAA college, Albion, and on the Board of Trustees of another, Adrian College. The three colleges have much in common, being MIAA schools and all being members of the Michigan Colleges Foundation, Albion College just recently joining this group.

The seven Hope graduates on the Holland board besides Sadie Grace, are Margaret Anderson De Pree '26, who is beginning her third year as secretary of the group; Vernon Ten Cate '27, Lester Kuyp­per '28, Alvin Cook '31, Wendell Miles '38 and James Hallan '39.

Mrs. Winter, a native of Zeeland, Michigan, received her Masters degree in Education from Northwestern University in 1932. She has been active in Holland civic organizations since 1933. She has served the Junior Welfare League as president and was active in its organization; was president of the Woman's Literary Club for two years; was, just last year, president of one of the Holland Auxiliary groups during its organization; has been active in Cub Scout work, the AAUW, and is currently president of the Women's Auxiliary to the Ottawa County Medical Society.

Mrs. Winter is starting her sixth year as a member of the Holland Board, an elective office. During her tenure she has been a member of the Schools Committee and of the Teachers Committee. Her sympathies have been with maintaining a staff of highly qualified teachers, and the development of an up-to-date curriculum, the two projects she believes will do most for the ultimate goal—the development of boys and girls into well-rounded, useful citizens.

The Holland School Board is renowned for its achievements which are the result of the dedication of the individual members to the children of Holland. Mrs. Winter said that the goal of the board during her presidency will be the expansion of the physical properties of the school system to meet the emergency occasioned by the increased enrollment.

Sadie Grace is married to John K. Winter '30, prominent Holland physician and surgeon, and has two sons, John, 15, and Jim, 10.

*1943. Robert Chard has accepted a position to teach in Holland High School this year.

DENVER REPORTING

George De Roos '29, Reporting

Hopeites in the Mile High City of Denver and environs got together March 6, 1953, at the First Reformed Church for an evening of remembering and renewing and making new acquaintances.

The meeting was arranged by Mrs. J. A. Klaaren '21 and Mrs. Neal Roos '52, Rev. Klaaren '18, who is in charge of organizing new churches, acted as chairman and led in devotions. Since this was our first get-together, each one told what activities he or she was engaged in, also the family status was brought up to date. Rev. Menning reported 4 BB or four baby boys. After all present had reported, Mrs. Klaaren read a letter of greetings from our President, Dr. Lubbers. Machinery was set in motion for the organization of a Hope Chapter in the Rocky Mountains in the near future. Temporary officers were elected:—Mrs. J. A. Klaaren as President, and George De Roos as Secretary and custodian of the piggy bank. A suggestion was made to pass the hat to supply the treasurer with some operating capital. After an acrimonious debate on whether to use a Western or a Homburg, the Homburg won out.

A spirited song session followed with Miss Marian Vand Bunte '44 at the piano, after which we retired to the basement for refreshments and a social hour. Mrs. Menning did the pouring and Mrs. Klaaren and Mrs. Roos were the hostesses. There were 30 present. All seemed to have enjoyed the evening, even the non-graduates admitting they hadn't been bored. As the hour grew late, the group dispersed having been refreshed and instilled with a burning desire to do more for their alma mater in the future.

*1932. Harry A. Friesema is the newly appointed Vice Chairman of the State Committee of the Save the Children Federation in Michigan. The Federation, with a fine record of service to needy children over a period of twenty-one years, has throughout the United States as in Michigan, earned growing respect for its ideals and the constructive character of the service which it has rendered in war-torn countries overseas and in America. The most recent work of the Federation has been in Korea to which, among other services, a million pounds of clothing have been sent.

*1945. Army Capt. Lester I. Nienhuis has recently been assigned to the Army and Navy Hospital at Hot Springs, Arkansas. Capt. Nienhuis, chief of the hospital's general surgical section, has been assigned to the University of Michigan since his return to the U.S. from duty in Korea. He was commissioned a first lieutenant in the Medical Corps in February, 1949. He is a member of the Society of Military Surgeons and a candidate member of the American College of Surgeons. He, his wife and daughter live at 401 Mountain Ave., Hot Springs, Ark.

*1942. Gordon D. Albers has resigned as Special Agent in the Federal Bureau of Investigation to accept employment with the George A. Hormel Co., at the main plant and general office in Austin, Minnesota. Address: 707 Harmon Avenue, Austin.

Three Hope college alumni, all members of the graduating class of June, 1953, have presented two beautiful wood carvings of the Crest of the Reformed Church in America and that of the Great Seal of the United States to their alma mater.

The three young graduates are Anne and Ruth E. Ver Meulen of Grand Rapids, and Kathleen Ver Meulen of Racine, Wisconsin. Anne is the daughter of James M. Ver Meulen '26. Ruth is the daughter of Dr. William B. Ver Meulen and Kathleen is the daughter of John W. Ver Meulen '24. The three girls are cousins.

The carvings were created especially for the Hope College Chapel, by the famed Carving Studios of the American Seating Co. in Grand Rapids, Michigan. The Emblem of the Reformed Church and the Great Seal of the United States required many days of study, verifying and checking to determine the authenticity of heraldic details and to ascertain the original color scheme.

A preliminary carving of each was made by the company's master carver, Joseph Wolters, from the carefully-corrected, full-size color renderings. The final carvings were executed by Mr. Wolters from designs by Mr. B. J. Tonning and the installation was in charge of Mr. T. R. Combs. Mr. Earl Vande Poele, graduate of Hope, class '35, was in general charge of the project. All are members of the American Seating Company staff.

The final carvings, now affixed permanently, one on each side of the chancel arch in Hope Memorial Chapel, are exquisitely carved from solid walnut, with a perfection of carving skill seldom, if ever equalled. Long considered an art in itself, the medium of wood carving dully polychromed and gold-leaved, adds an aura of depth and meaning to each symbol, and brings to life the spirit of the historic champions of religious and political liberty, forever emblazoned on the memories of all who cherish freedom.

COOPERATION, NOT CONFLICT

matters, where no secrecy is involved, but we must keep on trying.

Much scientific and technical advance has led to unexpected dangers and difficulties. Without our present knowledge of bacteriology and preventive medicine, large armies could never be kept in the field, and land war on the recent scale would be impossible; is medical science, therefore, to be blamed for twentieth century war? The indiscriminate use of insecticides, by upsetting the balance in nature, can quickly do more harm than good. Radio communication may be used for spreading lies and disorder as well as the truth and good will. Developments in microbiology, in many ways beneficial, may be used in the future for biological warfare, with effects at present unpredictable. The list need not be multiplied, all are aware that every new benefit mankind provides also its own dangers, either as unexpected consequences or by deliberate misuse. Science is not alone in this: liberty may lead to license, religion can be used to inflame passions, laws can be exploited to protect wrongdoing. If scientists feel called upon to examine their consciences, so much the better; but they need not think that in this they are exceptional.

All knowledge, not only that of the natural world, can be used for evil as well as good; and in all ages there continue to be people who think that its fruit should be forbidden. Does the future welfare, therefore, of mankind depend upon a refusal of science and a more intensive study of the Sermon on the Mount? There are those who think that more and more of science and its applications alone can bring prosperity and happiness to men. Both of these extreme views seem to me to be wrong—the second is certainly more perilous than the first and more likely to be accepted. Cooperation is required, not conflict: for science can be used to express and apply the principles of ethics, and those principles themselves can guide the behavior of scientific men.

There is then really no special problem which scientific men, as distinct from other people, have to meet; unless it be to be convinced humbly that they are just like others in having moral issues to face. It is true that integrity of thought is the absolute condition of the work of the scientist, and that judgments of value must never be allowed to deflect his judgments of fact. But in this he is not unique. It is true that scientific research has opened up the possibility of unprecedented good, or unlimited harm, for mankind; but the use that is made of it depends on the moral judgments of the whole community of men. It is totally impossible now to reverse the process of discovery; it will certainly go on. To help to guide its use aright is not a scientific problem, but the honorable and compelling duty of a good citizen.

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

September 15, 1963

Fellow Alumni:

Last June I had the thrill of returning to our Hope campus as representative of the Albany Hope College Club. Frankly, I was amazed at the strides made and the terrific name Hope students are making for themselves. A Hope student had just won the Hearst Newspapers National Tournament of Grantors after eliminating 50,000 college orators. In sports, Hope had just clinched the All-Sports trophy, NIAA's most coveted prize. In music, the finest honors in scholarship a ranking of 5th among all the colleges and universities of the nation, both large and small, Honors for students in practically every field represented at Hope.

I had a good chance to reminisce with fellow alumni, talk with members of the administration and the faculty—liked to get to know many of the students.

I wonder if we all appreciate what these youngsters are doing—the staggering responsibility they are facing, and the vigor and seriousness with which they are facing it. They are a fine, sound lot. They make me very proud of them and of Hope. Many of you have come back. Those of you who have not, let me assure you that the spirit is the same, the students are full of it, and that they, as well as you, my fellow alumni, are planting the name HOPE in the highest places.

These young people—and Hope College—deserve our help and encouragement. They want our guidance and our prayers. Their days are full and stimulating. They are doing their job, and doing it well.

Come back to Hope and see for yourself! And bring your children. Many of our finest students today are second, third and fourth-generation Hopeites. Let's not forget that Hope is still tops in the product it turns out. We have a right to be proud.

Cordially yours,

Clinton S. Cole '26

From a letter by Alice Van Oostenbrugge Albers '35...

"Dear Marian:

We certainly enjoyed our European tour, especially the Coronation and the interest- ing meetings at Amsterdam, where about seven hundred ear, nose and throat doctors from all over the world convened for the fifth International Congress of Otothorlaryn- gology. Even the iron curtain was thrown a bit to allow several militaristic Austrian medics to come.

Don's paper was about a unusual cystic tumor of the neck and its origin, called Branchiogenic Cystadenoma. One of the best presentations was by Dr. Negus, a British surgeon who has a new method of recon- structing the esophagus after removal of a can.

"The cleanliness and industriousness of the Dutch was most amazing, especially the new housing projects in Rotterdam and the decla- ration of land from the Zuider Zee. Our girls rate the glass domed canal boats in Amsterdam as super.

"The Coronation procession was a stupen- dous, coordinated spectacle that is unequalled in its magnificence and unmatched for its devotion by the multitude of subjects from far flung lands.

"My best, however, was too great be- tween the resplendent pageantry and our poorly clad taxi driver in his ancient hack with broken windows and leaking roof. They certainly have an unusual combination with their weakening aristocracy and a growing socialist state.

Sincerely,

The Albers.

"I also noted the absence of the army packet and fatigue trousers. Apparently Ray Martin and the rest of the OLD Vets have made an exodus. Seriously, thanks very much for the wonderful magazine. It is great to hear from the old Gang.

"Down here they call me Jeff Lane, you used to know me as: Emmie Mannace.

"Who pumped the barrel organ at Tulip Time this year?"

Don and Elouise Boynton ’41 Bosch, writing from Amarah, Iraq.

Today as the shouts of a passing wedding died away, the thought came to me "the beginning of another Moslem home." But when you discover that there is no word in the Arabic language for home, then you wonder at the vastness of their need for Christ, the only One coming to this world who has raised women to what God meant them to be.

"The Moslems say of man and woman, "knowledge is his, ignorance is hers, the firmament and the light are his, darkness and the dung- geon are hers. Let these facts be revealed, hers to obey blindly. His is everything that is, and she is an insignificant part of that every- thing. Mohammedan law, custom and the example of the Prophet himself have set the level with the beasts of burden. We Chris- tians realize that no nation rises above the level of its women. This puts new light on the importance of the work we do.

For these Arab countries can be raised if their women are given their rightful posi- tion. Dr. Samuel Zwemmer said of Moslem women, "as a babe she is unwelcome; as a child unloved; as a wife unloved; as a mother unloved; in old age, uncares for; and when her miserable, dark and dreary life is ended, she is unburrayed by those she has served. With the women so repressed, naturally, this general ignorance causes un- happiness, and makes the women suspicious and unreasonable. When we talk with the mothers in our women's meetings we often try and give them the full meaning of what a home is. Over and over we repeat, not just the building makes a home. We seek to lead them to realize their importance and the part they play, for it is pictured in their house. When you see, this takes years, for they know only submission. Our work is to build "life upon line, pre- cept upon precept, teaching the women that there is a higher and better life for them. In fact we must attempt to first bring about the creation of the desire for better things as far as most of them are concerned. During a special family week we emphasized the Christian family relationships, in an at- tempt to show them what a Christian home is like. Though the men are not interested in educating their women, many of numbers of women are greater larger all the time of those who can read, and with reading comes en- lightenment. Though the work with the women may seem hopeless it is very reward- ing. It is true there are those who attend our meetings and take home pictures and tell the Bible stories they hear to family and friends. They sing the hymns in their homes and some of them pray with their families. Please pray with us for their release from their empty, meaningless lives, that they might enter into the joy of the fullness of Christ's love. A letter just received from Cornelia Dahlenburg, one of our Missionary nurses in Hofuf, Interior Arabia, reports that there in Hofuf there is 100% illiteracy among the women.

Sincerely,

Bonnie, Paul, David, Don and Eloise Bosch '41
