It is well worth while for any person to carefully read the address given by Hon. C. Van Loo of Zeeland, at Allegan Memorial day, which is printed nearly in full in this number of the Gazette, not only for the sake of the thoughts expressed but for style of expression. The address as a whole is much above the average of such speeches in all respects, and is said to have been even more impressive in delivery than it is in print. Mr. Van Loo fell into neither the error of uncharitableness toward the south nor the offense of condoning the wrong and wickedness of its leaders. —Allegan Gazette.

The last game of the Holland High school baseball team for the year of 1904 will be played on the grounds corner of Seventeenth and River streets Saturday afternoon at 3 p. m. The Allegan team will uphold the other end of the argument and the game will be a good one. Allegan is fast and the Holland victory over South Haven shows that the locals too have speed claims that cannot be ignored. The game will be in the nature of a benefit and a good attendance is desired in order that the boys may have an opportunity to break somewhere near even on the season's expenditures.

Charles DeBruin, the 13 year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman DeBruin 169 West Eighth street, was drowned last Saturday forenoon, his body being recovered just before dinner. De Bruin was fishing in the boom of C. L. King & Co. About 15 minutes before his absence was noticed, some boys who were near where he was fishing but who were not in a position to see him, heard him shout. They thought he was speaking to some of his companions and paid no attention to his call. Likely he was shouting for help. Soon employees of C. L. King & Co. found a fish pole and a hat floating in the water. They previously had seen DeBruin sitting on a pile fishing and thinking he had fallen in the bay, started a search. The body was found about 20 minutes after the drowning and vigorous efforts were made to restore animation by artificial respiration, Chas. Heindel, of the Hienz Co. and others leading in the work until the arrival of the physician. But all efforts were fruitless. The drowned lad's arm was broken a short time ago and was in bandages. Probably if it were not for this he might have been able to save himself. Besides his parents four sisters and three brothers survive. The funeral services were held Monday.

The Western Theological Seminary has been enriched to the extent of $260 by the General Synod. Grand Rapids Herald: Henry C. Post returned from Holland with words of praise for the musicians and musical conditions in that city, and particularly for the interest and patronage shown by Hope College. The college is encouraging the cultivation of musical art in the most practical manner. There are several large recitation rooms in Van Raalte hall devoted to music teaching. Mr. Post has a fine Chickering grand piano for his classes, where he devotes two days of the week. In this class are several pupils of great talent. Musical interests in Holland are concentrated. They center in the college. The college is planning to develop this way, and the outlook is certainly bright. Mr. Post will continue his teaching in Holland during the summer, and next fall another concert will be given by the musical faculty.

REIGN OF TERROR IN THE FAR WEST

LABOR TROUBLES IN CRIPPLE CREEK DISTRICT RESULT IN WHOLESALE BLOODSHED.

Infernal Machine Exploded at Independence, Col.—Thirteen Men Are Killed—Two Slain in a Bloody Riot at Victor.

Denver, Col., June 7.—A reign of terror, brought on by a diabolical dynamiting plot, followed by rioting and an assault upon the militia, exists in the Cripple Creek mining district. Armed men through the streets, and conflicts are of hourly occurrence. Militiamen are marching hither and thither, making arrests by wholesale. A number of union miners have been placed in the military bull pen and others are being gathered in at frequent intervals. City and county officials have been compelled to resign their offices because of their reputed sympathy. As near as can be estimated 15 are dead and a score or more injured as a result of the events leading up to the conditions above described.
Beginning with Monday morning, when an infernal machine, set under the station platform at Findley, on the line of the Florence & Cripple Creek railroad, was touched off and 13 nonunion men who were waiting for a train were killed and others horribly mangled, events followed thick and fast. They culminated in a riot at a mass-meeting where bullets flew and at least two were killed and a number injured.

Bodies Torn to Fragments.
Fragments of bodies were hurled through space for several hundred feet and later were picked up still quivering. Some of the bodies dropped into the pit made by the explosion, but heads, hands, ears, legs, arms and trunks were strewn about on all sides. Pieces of flesh were found on buildings 500 feet away.

The Infernal Machine.
The infernal machine with which the diabolical work was done consisted of a quantity of dynamite, estimated at 100 to 300 pounds, a loaded revolver and a long, slender steel wire attached to the trigger. The revolver was fastened so that the pulling of the trigger would not draw it away. The wire ran under the station to the cribbing of the Delmonico property, about 400 feet away, where its end was fastened to a rung of a chair. The dynamite was placed close to the muzzle of the revolver which was discharged by pulling the wire when the engineer blew his whistle. The ball from the revolver exploded the dynamite.

Attack on Miners' Hall.
Later a company of military was marching past union headquarters pursuing their search for union miners, they were fired upon, according to reports, from armed men concealed in union hall. The soldiers stormed the building and from last accounts at least four unionists were shot and wounded. The remainder fled, precipitately, blood streaming from the wounds of the injured. The soldiers, who were unhurt, pursued and arrested a number of the fleeing men and continued far into the night to scour the country in search of men supposed to have been in the hall at the time of the assault.

Cause of the Outbreak.
Monday's outbreak had its inception in the strike of the members of the Western Federation of Miners something over a year ago, when 4,000 men quit work for the purpose, primarily of enforcing an eight-hour day. This action so incensed the mine owners that they declared war on unionism and the breach has grown wider with the passage of time. Much lawlessness has prevailed in the strike-stricken districts and unionists have been brought to trial on numerous charges. They were invariably acquitted, however.

No Further Outbreak.
Cripple Creek, Col., June 8.—Under the regime of hundreds of deputy sheriffs and about 150 militiamen, receiving their orders from Edward Bell, a wealthy mine owner, who succeeded Sheriff Robertson, when he resigned under threats of lynching Monday, this gold mining district passed a comparatively peaceful day. Throughout the day deputies and soldiers searched the hills for union miners, and the sum total of the day's arrests was 19. This swelled the number of men confined in the bull pen to considerably over 200, and 24 of them were placed aboard a special train and deported from the district. A guard of deputies rode out of the district with them. The men were residents of the following towns of the district: Cripple Creek, 3; Victor, 3; Independence, 12; Goldfield, 3; Anaconda, 2; Altman, 1. They were all active unionists and served as leaders in the strike now pending.

All of the injured by the explosion of dynamite at Independence and the rioting at Victor are reported doing well. No definite clue, it is understood, has been obtained through the bloodhounds which were placed on the trail of the persons who placed the infernal machine under the station at Independence. While the tension is tightly drawn and the whole district has taken sides in the bitter feeling existing between the Mine Owners' association and the unionists, it is thought that a clash will be averted for the reason that most, if not all, of the union leaders are in duress. The streets of this city are being constantly patrolled by deputies and soldiers.

FARM FIELDS AND GARDEN

THE COTTON BOLL WORM.

Very Injurious Last Year—Identical With Corn and Tomato Worm.

As early as 1841 the bollworm was found in the cotton fields around Tallahassee, Fla., where in the course of a few years it became quite destructive. Its ravages in Texas during the past two or three years stamps it as second only to the Mexican weevil as an enemy of cotton. The accompanying map indicates the area most seriously

AREA RAVAGED BY BOLLWORM IN 1903.

Injured in Texas. Damage was especially felt in some of the north Texas counties, as Fannin, Lamar, Delta, Hunt, Hopkins, Kaufman and Van Zandt, and also in the central Texas counties—Navarro, Henderson, Limestone, Falls, Bell and Robertson—the loss in each of these counties being variously estimated at from 20 to 60 per cent of the crop.

According to the estimate of Professor or Mally, bollworm injury in Texas in 1902 amounted to approximately $4,750,000, and the area most seriously ravaged coincides rather closely with that injured in 1903. It may also be said that the shaded portion of the map marks approximately the area of greatest corn production, and the simple rotation of corn with cotton, so largely practiced, has undoubtedly contributed to the seriousness of the bollworm situation at the present time.

The bollworm occurs throughout most of the United States and is reported from many localities in Central and South America and the West Indies. It is recorded from various countries of Europe and the orient and from Hawaii.

The bollworm is practically omnivorous. In the United States it is destructive principally to corn, cotton, tomatoes and various garden crops. The combined annual loss from this species in this and foreign countries must be very great and easily places the bollworm among the foremost injurious insects of the world.

BOLL OPENED TO SHOW WORM WITHIN.

Bollworm injury to cotton squares is quite characteristic. The usual effect is to cause them to "flare" and drop. Injury to the boll is also easily recognized. A circular hole is eaten into the boll, usually near its base, of sufficient size to admit the body of the larva. The worm may simply penetrate the boll, leaving it for another, or may eat quite to the interior and devour more or less of its contents, as shown in the second figure—a worm at work in a boll.

The Stand of Corn.

While any general rule for all parts of the country is manifestly impossible, about 11,000 stalks per acre seem to be the latest conclusion as to the best stand of corn, for some regions at least. In its extensive tests of many years the Illinois experiment station got the largest yield of sound, merchantable corn from this number of plants. The same has proved a good rule in Ohio. This is on the basis of drills forty-two inches apart, with one kernel every foot in the drill. In Wisconsin with the small dent corn rows forty-four inches apart, with hills fifteen inches in the row and two stalks to a hill, have given large yields.

News and Notes.

Potato culture is proving very profitable in the Black Hills of South Dakota. The potatoes are shipped to Kansas City, Lincoln and Omaha as well as supplied to local markets.

Iowa hogs are affected with a strange disease, causing the teeth of the upper jaw to become loose, so that the hogs cannot eat corn, which results in starvation and death.

Louisiana Purchase Boy is the first Jersey calf born in the dairy barn of the world's fair at St. Louis.

Canada has a unique institution in its "seed fairs," at which farmers become acquainted with and buy new or choice varieties. One thousand bushels sold was the record of a recent fair.

Missouri has made a jump forward in strawberry culture and expects this season to grow its biggest crop, the acreage having been largely increased, as farmers have seen the good returns from the industry.

It Is a Mistaken Idea
To give too much time to the selection of a Piano; this time could better be spent in selecting a dealer. It should not be hard to size him up by the very appearance of things; for instance, if he be disposed to depreciate his competitor, its pretty strong evidence he hasn't much to offer for himself. One may well have reason to be suspicious of a dealer who promises very much more than is promised by other dealers in a like business. Select the dealer right and the good piano follows. RUSSIAN SHOTS STRIKE GUNBOAT

JAPANESE VESSEL IS DAMAGED
IN RECONNOISSANCE OFF
PORT ARTHUR.

ONE SAILOR KILLED AND TWO WOUNDED

Czar's Troops Retake Saimatsza—Minor Engagements Reported—St. Petersburg Awaits Battle Between Kuropatkin and Kuroki.

Tokio, June 8.—Four Japanese gunboats which made a close reconnaissance of Port Arthur harbor at midnight on June 6 for the purpose of examining the entrance, were exposed to a severe cannonade. Gunboat No. 4 was hit eight times and sustained some damage. One of her sailors was killed and two others were wounded.

Russians Retake Saimatsza. Liaoyang, June 8.—The rumor that the Russian squadron has sailed out of Port Arthur remains unconfirmed here.

Unimportant engagements continue to take place on the Fengwangcheng road, between the Motien mountains and the Japanese positions. They are principally between Japanese cavalry and the Russian advance posts. The reports that the Russians had retaken Saimatsza, which the Japanese had previously occupied, are confirmed. Skirmishes are occurring in the neighborhood of Pulantien (about 40 miles north of Port Adams).

The Japanese, lacking good cavalry, are adopting the system of using infantry supports in their reconnoissances. The Cossacks rarely attack without finding such supports.

Believe Important Battle Is Pending.

St. Petersburg, June 8.—The reports of sorties from and attacks on Port Arthur coming in from foreign sources, arouse the liveliest interest here. The government, not having means of communication with the fortress, accepts them with reserve. The authorities generally believe that the reported march of events in the front of Port Arthur is a little too rapid.

The tension over the situation at the theater of war is manifestly increasing. The general staff is becoming more reticent, and the public is convinced that an important battle which may decide the fate of the campaign is impending. The outpost engagements between the main armies of Gens. Kuropatkin and Kuroki have suddenly ceased. Such a lull frequently occurs after two armies have been for some time in touch, and just before they are ready to strike. Kuroki has not yet moved, according to the latest advices, but is drawing in his skirmishers, as if preparing to do so. Developments on the lower part of the Liaoting peninsula may determine when and where the two armies will come in collision. Kuropatkin has elaborately fortified his position at Liaoyang, in anticipation of a possible forward movement on the part of Kuroki, and the army landed at Takushan. But Kuroki's failure to assume the aggressive, and the approach of the rainy season, which would stop operations, as well as the pressure to impede Gen. Oku's army, may have been determining factors in dispatching a force southward, the strength of which is as much a mystery as ever. The Japanese apparently are not averse to this advance, having already withdrawn before it to below Wafandian. If Kuroki should now push in behind this force across the head of the Liaoting peninsula, Kuropatkin, in the opinion of military experts, with nothing to fear on his flank, is certain to come down from the north and a decisive battle might occur in the neighborhood of Halcheng.

Funeral of Correspondent.

Newchwang, June 8.—The funeral of Lewis Etzel, correspondent of the London Daily Telegraph, took place here Wednesday afternoon. Etzel was killed while on a junk between Shwantaitze and Erdiko by some Chinese soldiers on another vessel, who were searching for pirates. The junk at the time was ten miles out at sea. Immediately after realizing the mistake they had made the soldiers sailed away, and have not been seen since. United States Consul Miller held an inquest at Shwantaitze Tuesday, at which the Chinese Gen. Lu acknowledged that Etzel was killed by his soldiers. Ernest Brindle, of the London Daily Mail, who was along with Etzel when he was shot, testified that their junk was unchallenged by the soldiers, and was fired upon in spite of the fact that the two foreigners were plainly visible at a distance of less than 100 yards. At least 150 shots were fired at the correspondents' junk, which did not reply.

The Oregon Election.

Portland, Ore., June 8.—Returns from Monday's election are coming in slowly, but the republican victory is growing hourly, majorities for Blinger Herrman and J. N. Williamson, the republican congressional candidates from the First and Second districts, increasing. At republican headquarters it is said that the republican majority will exceed 20,000, overreaching the most sanguine expectations of the party leaders.

TO GRANT DEMANDS OF THE BANDITS

SULTAN'S REPLY ON RELEASE OF THE MOROCCO CAPTIVES
REACHES TANGIER.

COMPLIES WITH ONE OF THE CONDITIONS

Appoints New Governor of Tangier as Requested by Outlaw—Washington Government Has No Intention of Seizing Coaling Station.

Tangier, Morocco, June 8.—The sultan's letter in reply to the diplomatic representations made in regard to the kidnapping of Messrs. Perdicaris and Varley arrived here Wednesday afternoon. It is said by a person in the sultan's confidence that the sultan has given orders to grant all of the conditions demanded by Raisuli, the bandit leader, in order to expedite the release of the captives.

The sultan, in his letter, appoints Herid El Barrada to be governor of Tangier, which step was included among Raisuli's demands. Barrada was a member of the council of Mohammed El Torres, the representative of the sultan here, and formerly was governor of Masagan.

The authorities here assert that the raid made Tuesday by armed Anjere tribesmen on the home of an Englishman here, during which they obtained several rifles, was only a common robbery and had no political significance.

Will Not Seize Coaling Station.

Washington, June 8.—The rumor which is agitating certain European newspapers to the effect that the United States government intends permanently to possess itself of a coaling station on the Moroccan coast as an incident to the settlement of the Perdicaris affair, is regarded officially here as a jest; there never was and is not now the slightest intent on the part of this government of making any such demands. Moreover, it is stated that it is not contemplated by this government to seize even temporarily any Moroccan port and custom house in connection with the Perdicaris case.

Commits Murder, Then Surrenders.

Albany, N. Y., June 8.—At an early hour Wednesday morning Richard E. Preusser, of the broker firm of R. E. Preusser & Co., 432 Broadway, this city, shot and instantly killed Miles B. McDonnell, a traveling man, of Boston, in the latter's room, on the second floor of the Ten Eyck hotel. Preusser then quietly walked down the stairs and gave himself up to the police. His friends claim his mind is affected.

Accidentally Killed.

Santa Fe, N. M., June 8.—J. B. Ashcroft, of Fruitland, a bishop of the Mormon church and manager of the cooperative store at Fruitland, was accidentally killed while blasting rock in the construction of an irrigating ditch for the Navajo Indians near Fruitland. He was knocked off a cliff by falling rock, death resulting instantly.

Six Drowned.

Muskogee, I. T., June 8.—Alfred Lee and his five children were drowned while trying to cross backwater in a small stream near the Arkansas river. Lee and the children were in a wagon which was turned over in 15 feet of water. The six bodies were recovered.

Crime of an Actor.

New York, June 8.—Morris Finkel, an actor of this city, shot his wife at Vailsburg, N. J., and then shot and killed himself. Mrs. Finkel is so dangerously wounded that she may die. The cause of the shooting is not known.

Nine Deaths Due to Flood.

Mamers, France, June 8.—Torrential rains flooded the watercourses Tuesday evening, causing the collapse of several houses. Nine bodies were recovered and several persons are missing.

TRAIN ROBBERS AT WORK

FIVE MASKED MEN ENGINEER
HOLDUP IN COLORADO.

Dynamite Express Car, But They Are Forced to Flee Before Obtaining All the Valuables.

Denver, Col., June 8.—Denver & Rio Grande passenger train No. 5, west bound from Denver, was held up by five masked men three miles west of Parachute, a small fruit station midway between Grand Junction and Glenwood Springs, early Wednesday morning.

One sealed bag containing specie was taken from the express safe, which was dynamited. The express car was badly wrecked by dynamite, but the robbers were forced to take to the mountains before they could gather up the valuables in the car.

Sheriff W. G. Struthers and Deputy Sheriff D. M. Hardy, of Grand Junction, immediately took up the trail of the robbers with a posse of farmers and ranchers, who were quickly summoned from the vicinity of Grand Junction.

Sheriff Frank Adams, with another posse from Glenwood Springs, also scoured the surrounding country.

The scene of the robbery was but 600 yards from the flow of the Grand river, and it is believed that the robbers had a boat hidden in the Grand, and that they used this to cross the river, destroying it after they had crossed.

The robbers who held up the Rio Grande train at Unaweep a year ago escaped in a similar manner. Sheriff Struthers believes that the robbers escaped on horseback after crossing the Grand.

LIBERTY BELL AT ST. LOUIS.

Thousands of School Children Greet Historic Relic of the Revolution on Its Arrival.

St. Louis, June 8.—The historic Liberty bell arrived from Philadelphia Wednesday in response to the petition of 90,000 public school children, of this city, and will remain in the Pennsylvania building until the close of the world's fair.

Mayor John Weaver, of Philadelphia, and other city officials who accompanied the bell were escorted to their hotel, where they were called upon by Mayor Wells, President Francis, of the exposition, and other city and exposition officials.

The entire party then proceeded to the Union station, where the bell had been placed on a specially prepared float, and, accompanied by a squad of mounted police and a long line of military organizations, the famous old bell was taken to the exposition, where formal exercises were carried out.

The gates had been thrown open to the school children of the city, and the day had been proclaimed a holiday by Mayor Wells. It is estimated that over 50,000 school children formed a portion of the immense throngs that greeted the bell when it entered the grounds. The ceremonies were held in the Plaza of St. Louis.

Held as a Witness.

New York, June 8.—Justice Clarke, of the supreme court, Wednesday denied the writ of habeas corpus for the release of Mrs. Nan Patterson, who is held in connection with the mysterious shooting of Caesar Young, the well-known book-maker and turfman. Mrs. Patterson was remanded to the Tombs prison. Nominally she is held as a witness under $5,000 bail, but District Attorney Jerome has intended that, in case of her release, either on bail or by any other means, she will be immediately rearrested.

Breaker Burned.

Hazleton, Pa., June 8.—The No. 4 breaker of the Lehigh & Wilkesbarre Coal company, at Audenreid, was burned early Wednesday. Eight hundred men and boys are thrown out of employment. The loss will amount to about $100,000. The fire was caused by the explosion of a can of oil.

Coalyard Burned.

Chicago, June 8.—Fire Wednesday afternoon destroyed the Crescent Coal company's yards at Leavitt street and Milwaukee avenue, causing a total loss estimated at $250,000.

Dr. Miles' Nervine Made
My Nerves Strong.

"For many years I suffered from terrible headaches and pains at the base of the brain, and finally got so bad that I was overcome with nervous prostration. I had frequent dizzy spells and was so weak and exhausted that I could take but little food. The best physicians told me I could not live; that I would die of paralysis, as my father and grandfather had. I remained a helpless invalid for three years, when I heard of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and began using it. That winter I felt better than I had before in many years, and I have not been troubled with those dreadful headaches since I first used Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. My appetite is good and my nerves are strong."—Mrs. N. M. Bucknell, 2929 Oakland Ave., Minneapolis, Minn.

"For many years I suffered from nervous prostration, and could not direct my household affairs, nor have any cares. My stomach was very weak, headaches very severe, and I was so nervous that there was not a night in years that I slept over one hour at a time. We spent hundreds of dollars for doctors and medicine. I was taken to Chicago and treated by specialists, but received no benefit at all. Finally I heard of Dr. Miles' Nervine and began its use. I was surprised that it helped me so quickly, and great was my joy to find, after using seven bottles, that I had fully recovered my health."—Mrs. W. A. Thompson, Duluth, Minn.

Very Pleasant—For Hope

It is very pleasant when you are away from home to hear the institutions of your city mentioned in terms of praise. Nothing is so satisfying than to learn that far from the confines of home has spread reports of the high standing of interests that concern the welfare of your place of residence. A gentleman from Holland was in a city in a distant part of the state not long ago and the conversation turned to educational institutions. Among others Hope College was mentioned, and it was astonishing for the stranger to learn of the warm spot that Hope occupies in the hearts of those who were of the party. He discovered that it is the opinion of those who in that city lead in educational work that Hope is one of the best places in the country for the student looking for a chance to engage in hard, consistent work for a training that will fit him mentally for life's great battles. Some of the reasons advanced in substantiation of arguments favorable to Hope were: The personnel of the faculty, the fame of some of them having spread widely; the fact that it is large enough to give students advantages obtained in the largest institutions, and small enough to give the students the incalculable advantages they obtain where students can come in close contact with professors and president and thus be trained according to adaptability to certain branches; and the excellent spirit prevailing at Hope. And not the least pleasing of the incidents of the evenings conversation was that one of the young men present announced that he expected to be numbered among the students of Hope the next school year.

Rev. G. H. Dubbink Elected to Chair of Theology

Rev. G. H. Dubbink, pastor of the Third Reformed church for nine years, was elected by the General Synod in session at Grand Rapids last Friday to succeed Dr. E. Winter to the chair of systematic theology in the Western Theological seminary. The resignation of Dr. Winter was accepted at the preceding synod to take effect in May, 1904.

Rev. Dubbink was graduated from Hope College in 1892 and from the Western Theological seminary in 1895, and immediately took up the pastorate at Third church. He has been very successful and though receiving flattering calls from other cities has remained here. To his new position he brings the deep learning, the mental development and the sound judgment that is necessary for its exacting and important duties and his presence on the faculty will be greatly valued by every part of the country where is located a congregation of the Reformed church in America. People in Holland have learned to know of the talent, sincerity and zeal of Mr. Dubbink, and knowing these things have learned to place a high value upon his worth as a citizen and his standing as a churchman. With one voice citizens praise the selection made by the Synod.

Rev. Dubbink was installed as pastor of the Third Reformed church June 1, 1895, and during the nine years of his pastorate has made warm friends of his congregation, friends who while they greatly regret his departure from them will rejoice that he has been called to a wider field, a field where his opportunities for doing good are increased.

Rev. Dubbink will be installed in his new position at the opening of the seminary year next fall. At the installation Rev. Jas. F. Zwemer, president of the Synod will preside; Rev. H. J. Veldman, of Milwaukee, will deliver the sermon; and the charge to the professor will be made by Rev. Peter Lepeltak, formerly pastor at Overisel.

At the session last Friday the report on the state of religion was made by Dr. C. D. Wells. The report showed 5,337 admissions to the church on confession of faith and 3,253 on letters from other churches. The total membership in the church is 115,249, a gain of 1,750. There are 650 churches, a gain of 17; 706 ministers, a gain of 83; 61,786 families, a gain of 923. The benevolent contributions for denominational purposes during the year were $291,902, and for other purposes, $96,261.

The Rev. John W. Brink, speaking as a representative of the Grand Rapids Christian Reformed churches, championed the union of the two churches, expressing regret that this had not been brought about before. His words were greeted with liberal applause. He also urged consultation and, if possible, unity of action in regard to changes in the creed and liturgy.

The report of the committee of the board of foreign missions showed a total of $142,474 for all missionary objects. The church has 23 stations, 251 outstations, 95 missionaries, 32 native ordained missionaries, 542 native helpers, 36 churches in the foreign field, 4,933 communicants and the native contributions amount to $8,388.

At Tuesday's session Dr. J. W. Beardslee read the report of the committee on the board of publication, Rev. J. T. Bergen spoke on domestic missions; and Prof. John M. Vander Meulen spoke on the work in Oklahoma.

Synod Royally Entertained

Holland's welcome to the General Synod Saturday was all that could be desired and it is safe to say that every member of that body as well as others who were parties to the welcome extended will cherish for many a long day pleasant and grateful memories of this city and of its educational institutions.

The visitors arrived in town at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, and if they had an idle moment from then until five o'clock in the evening they are not discoverable, for every second teemed with interesting and entertaining occupation.

Headed by Dr. G. J. Kollen and Hon. G. J. Diekema the delegates went from the depot to Winants Chapel where the preliminary exercises were held and the formal words of welcome spoken. Dr. Kollen presided here and his opening address was of an inspiring character. Never was the president of the college more eloquent and never did his remarks reach a more appreciative audience. Referring to the Reformed church and the college he said in part:

"This is a day of great rejoicing, we cannot but with gratitude remember how God has led us. It was as late as 1840 that the first immigrants settled in these wild forests. But they came to do and to be something. And they felt that they could be nothing without higher christian education. And we are thankful that these people became connected with the Reformed church in America and its synod. This church has always aided and supported this institution in every possible way, spiritually, educationally and financially. It has in all given this college about $100,000. And what have we now to show for it? $500,000 is the estimated worth of grounds, buildings and equipments of Hope college. We have graduated 700 young men and women from the preparatory department, 332 from the college and 123 young men from the seminary. Our representatives make our influence felt not only through the east and west of the United States, but also in India, Arabia, Africa, China and Japan. Therefore we welcome you most heartily to this college, which could not have existed and flourished without your aid and support."

After the address of the president, Dr. J. W. Beardslee, Dean of the Seminary, extended welcome in behalf of the Seminary and Henry Geerlings spoke words of hearty greeting in behalf of the city. Brief addresses were made by Rev. James F. Zwemer, the newly elected president of the synod and Rev. J. E. Fagg, the vice president. Music was furnished by the Choral Union led by Prof. J. B. Nykerk.

At the conclusion of the exercises in the chapel the visitors were shown the several college buildings and the Western Theological Seminary. They were profuse in their praise and those who had not before had the privilege of viewing the college and seminary marveled at the remarkable development shown by these institutions.

Luncheon was served in Van Raalte Memorial hall where Mr. Diekema presided as toastmaster and where witty and eloquent speeches were made as follows: "The Pioneers," Dr. E. C. Oggel; "Our Ancestors," Dr. W. J. Leggette; "The Reformed Church," Dr. F. J. Berg; "The Women of the Church," Dr. I. W. Gowan; "Our Educational Possibilities," Prof. J. M. VanderMeulen.

At three o'clock a boat ride was taken on Macatawa Bay, the steamer returning to Holland at 5 o'clock where a special car was in waiting to convey the delegates to Grand Rapids.

General Items

There are no bank failures in China. There was a failure some years ago and the government chopped off the head of the president, vice-president, cashier, assistant cashier, the stenographer, and the office boy and piled them up in the back room along with a lot of other securities. Since that time bank failures have not been heard of in China.

The discovery of a London physician is claimed to have increased the safe depth for diving and cussion work from 100 to 200 feet. The simple remedy is slow restoration of normal conditions, the evil and fatal results having been traced to the sudden removal of the excessive atmospheric pressure.

"What's the excitement in the side show?" asked the ticket taker at the big tent of the barker. "One of the newspapers published a criticism of the attractions," explained the barker. Now they're all reading the article, and the fat lady is withering in scorn, the living skeleton is all swelled up with pride, the rubber man is afraid the boss will bounce him, the armless wonder says he'd like to get his hands on the man who wrote the thing, the legless wonder has been kicking all day and the tattooed man is the picture of wrath.—Judge

A Thoughtful Partner

A prominent lawyer in a Western city once went East to transact some business. On arriving at his destination he found that he had forgotten the name of the firm he had to see.

After spending some time in useless efforts to remember, he at last decided to telegraph home to his partner for the necessary information.

In answer he received the following telegram:

"Your business is with Smith & Jones. Your name is Brown."

If I could write in softly-measured strain
The thoughts that fit betimes within my brain,
And I could grave them as with iron pen
Deep down within the secret hearts of men,
They might perchance bear fruitage there
And grow unto some good. Ah; that it might be so!
If I could sing as some have sung of old
Like silver lute-strings strung on frames of gold,
And burning words in melody impress
Upon a heart sin-burdened to excess
Till words and melody take root and grow
Unto its good. Ah; that it might be so!
If I could speak with an entrancing tongue,
Could fire the aged, and subdue the young,
Bring light to eyes that have been dimmed
With tears, And to the mourner bring back happier years;
If in their hearts my words would live and grow
It might do good. Ah; that it might be so!
But since I cannot wield a mighty pen,
Nor sing entrancing to the hearts of men;
Nor can my tongue like liquid silver flow;
What then? Is there no good that I may do?
Use but the talent that God gave, and know
You can do good. He speaks; it must be so.

THE DEACON'S DEFECTION

By KENNETT HARRIS

(Copyright, 1904, by Daily Story Pub. Co.)

JIMSONVILLE was a ferment of excitement. This was somewhat unusual for Jimsonville, because things had a way of not happening there. Uncle Billy Stebbens could remember the time when the Second Baptist church steeple blew down and "come within ten rods of mashing" Lave Walker's youngest inter the ground," and a circus visited Freedomburg in '72, and Freedomburg was less than five miles from Jimsonville. Of course, there were elections and occasional dog fights, but in the main the town's normal condition was far from frenzied. It took the appearance of Jack the Kisser to work the inhabitants to that pitch.

Belle Jackson was the first victim. Belle was a particularly plump and kissable girl and her report of the outrage to which she had been subjected occasioned no surprise. She was returning from Wilkines with a tin pail of milk one evening about dark when a man met her—"a tall man, dressed in dark clothes, kind of middle aged, with a red beard and fair complexion." This person, without offering any explanations or excuse for his unconventional behavior, placed his arm around the young woman's waist and imprinted a fervent salute upon her ruby lips. She was afraid to struggle for fear of spilling the milk and before she could recover from her surprise the man had disappeared.

Miss Caroline Gansing, the dressmaker, was kissed a night or two later. It was almost dark when this happened, which, some of the women said, accounted for it. In consequence of the darkness Miss Gansing could not give a very good description of her assailant, but she was sure that he was tall. "You didn't have to stoop then?" inquired Mrs. Cal Stevens, to whom the dressmaker was relating the story of the rude assault. But Cal Stevens' wife always did have a mean tongue.

Rhoda Wilkins was the next. She was going along the same road traversed by Belle Jackson when the kisser embraced her with the same dexterity and in the same ardent manner he had shown on the two previous occasions. It began to grow serious. Mrs. Payne, who never thought that the kisser would have the boldness to attack a married woman, and in this belief ventured the dangerous highway, found out her mistake. She was kissed too, and three other married women were obliged to submit to the same indignity within two weeks. "Lisha Payne got out his shotgun and lay in wait the best part of one night and other exasperated husbands and swains watched for the osculatory maniac, but in vain. For a time, at least, Jack the Kisser seemed to have disappeared.

Mrs. Malachi Blevins was one of the few who had escaped the terrible embraces of the mysterious unknown. She remarked that she would like to see the color of the hair of any two-legged man who would dare to kiss her. She did not intend the remark to be taken literally. In spite of her immunity, however, Deacon Malachi showed perhaps as much excitement and indignation as any man in town.

"I'd jest like ter ketch a holt of him," he said to Mrs. Plimpsey. "I'm a law abidin' man an' a man o' peace, but such doin's is scan'lous, an' I'd be apt to make an example of him."

Mrs. Plimpsey was a widow, black-eyed and buxom and of a cheerful disposition. She tenanted one of the deacon's two houses and he had stopped in like a good landlord, to see if there was anything that needed fixing around the place. He had found the widow perched on a stepladder, washing the parlor window, and she said that if he'd excuse her she'd just go right on with her work, as she could talk to him just as well. The deacon couldn't hardly help noticing that she had a mighty shapely ankle. He approved of plaids, although he was, of course, too modest a man to say so.

"Gracious!" exclaimed Mrs. Plimpsey. "I never saw you so fierce, deacon. I sh'd think, though, that if people didn't want to get kissed they might keep away from the Wilkines lane, evenin's."

"Well," said the deacon, "they might, mebbe, but I don't reckon they go 'ceptin' out of a harmless female curiosity, an' they've a right to go. I don't blame 'em. But this Jack, he orter be rid on a white oak rail. The idee, that a good lookin' woman can't go where she dum pleases, an' feel safe!"

The widow smiled. "You don't need to hold that ladder, deacon," she said. "I guess its safe now," she continued. "Anyways I've promised to go over to Wilkines myself this evenin'."

"No!" exclaimed the deacon, "don't you do it, Mis' Plimpsey."

"I'll take chances," said the widow, giving him a coquettish glance, "I guess there ain't nobody'd want to kiss me."

"Come down off'n that there ladder a minit," said the deacon, with a flushing face.

"I'm not through yet," said Mrs. Plimpsey, calmly, "an' I tink I see Mis' Blevins startin' out of her front gate. Maybe she's lookin' for you."

The deacon started and hastily picked up his hat.

"I reckon it's time I was goin'," he said. "If you don't mind, let me myself out o' the back door. He had reached the parlor door, when he turned back.

"You're jokin' about goin' through that lane this evenin', ain't you?" he asked.

"No," she answered, "I don't think I'll be bothered. Yet, it is Mis' Blevins an' she's a comin' here."

The deacon bolted.

When Mrs. Plimpsey suddenly felt herself in the sudden clasp of a pair of strong arms in the gloom of the Wilkines lane that evening, she possibly regretted that she had not heeded the deacon's advice, but at all events she retained her self-possession. Recognizing the futility of resistance she meekly surrendered her lips to the spoiler, but just as he drew away for breath she made a sudden snatch at the red beard that was pressing her peachy cheek. It came off in her hand and Jack the Kisser, starting back, disclosed beneath his slouched hat, the countenance of Deacon Malachi Blevins—and a rueful countenance it was, too.

"Deacon!" said Mrs. Plimpsey, reproachfully. "Can this be you?"

The deacon hung his head.

"What do you suppose Mrs. Blevins will say when I tell her this?" demanded the widow, sternly.

"You ain't goin' to tell her, are you?" asked the deacon, imploringly. "Say you won't. You don't know what she is or you wouldn't. I don't believe I'll ever have done this if it hadn't been for her. She's jest blue vit'rol an' cold plizen, is Mis' Blevins. She's helt me down and made life a misery every time I looked cross-eyed at a woman, an' I allus liked wimmen, in an inncent way. Between her an' sustainin' a reputation I've be'n a to'able miserable man, an' lately I got des'p'it, an' kicked over the traces. You wouldn't tell her—Bessy?"

"I think you ought to be ashamed of yourself," said Mrs. Plimpsey, "I think I ought to tell. I declare I'm afraid of you."

"You don't need to be."

"I am. If I don't tell will you be have yourself and not go round kissing young girls again?"

"Honest, I never will—Bessy," said the deacon.

"I kind of had an idea it was you," said the widow presently, "—but I'd never have believed you had the spunk."

RUSSIAN FACTORY NURSERY

How Peasant Children Are Cared For While Their Parents Are at Work

—Strong Force for Good.

Interesting is the study of working people in a great Russian factory told in Social Service by Vladimir F. Gneiss, a Russian electrical engineer. He tells how the great mills were founded in 1722 by Peter the Great, and how they have grown larger and larger from that time until now, when 14,000 people are employed. Among the interesting things which the writer tells concerning efforts made for the benefit of working people in this factory, he says, regarding the nursery:

"When the parents go to work they are compelled to leave the care of their children to nurses, chiefly old women or little girls. Such care consequently causes many cases of sickness among children. In consideration of this and in order to provide for the proper care of the children of the peasant parents, the company has established a nursery where every child brought in is washed, clothed in clean clothes and fed. This establishment, besides being a direct force for good, has also the advantage that it establishes among the mothers proper principles for caring for their children."

Helpless Invalid For Three Years.

Dr. Miles' Nerve Made My Nerves Strong.

"For many years I suffered from terrible headaches and pains at the base of the brain, and finally got so bad that I was overcome with nervous prostration. I had frequent dizzy spells and was so weak and exhausted that I could take but little food. The best physicians told me I could not live; that I would die of paralysis, as my father and grandfather had. I remained a helpless invalid for three years, when I heard of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve and began using it. That winter I felt better than I had before in many years, and I have not been troubled with those dreadful headaches since I first used Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve. My appetite is good and my nerves are strong."—Mrs. N. M. Bucknell, 2929 Oakland Ave., Minneapolis, Minn.

"For many years I suffered from nervous prostration, and could not direct my household affairs, nor have any cares. My stomach was very weak, headaches very severe, and I was so nervous that there was not a night in years that I slept over one hour at a time. We spent hundreds of dollars for doctors and medicine. I was taken to Chicago and treated by specialists, but received no benefit at all. Finally I heard of Dr. Miles' Nerve and began its use. I was surprised that it helped me so quickly, and great was my joy to find, after using seven bottles, that I had fully recovered my health."—Mrs. W. A. Thompson, Duluth, Minn.

FRUIT AND FLOWERS

IN A DUTCH GARDEN.

The "Yellow Bed" and Some of the Bright Blossoms in It.

The Dutch garden is to be filled with annuals for the most part, at least this first year. Many good annuals that we have not hitherto had room for are to be grown here. One of the four square, large center beds is to be devoted to orange and yellow flowers. In this letter I would like to describe some annuals which are not quite so common as those one generally sees in flower gardens.

The yellow bed is to have an edging of eschscholtzia or California poppy. This is a very common annual, to be sure, but it has many merits which commend it for a somewhat dry and sunny spot. To obtain the best plants of these they should be sown as early as possible. Perhaps it is not generally known that there are several species of eschscholtzia, all well worth planting. Besides Eschscholtzia californica there is E. crocea, which is, I believe, a distinct species. Its variety called Mandarin is a very fine kind, forming a compact plant which bears rich, reddish orange flowers in profusion. Then there are the double forms of Eschscholtzia crocea, which are exceedingly attractive. Another variety called Satin Blush is a good sort and has large, saucer shaped blossoms which are silvery white, tinged outside with rose. Eschscholtzia revel in hot sunshine and bloom continuously from July until late in the fall.

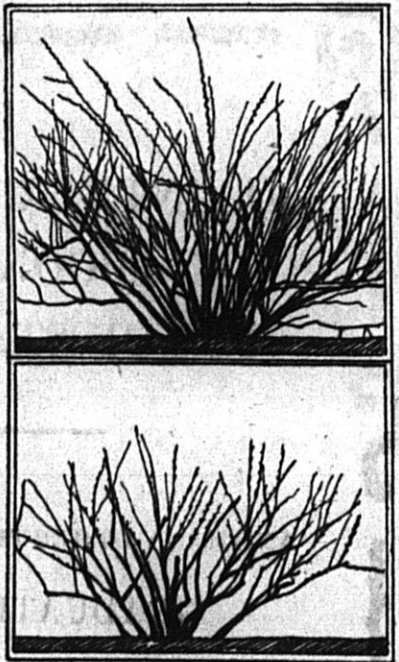

Some lantanas of cream, orange and sulphur yellow shades are under way for this yellow bed. Lantanas are very useful for the fall garden and are easily raised from seed or cuttings. They can be started in February under glass, planted out in warm weather, lifted in the fall and kept during the winter in the greenhouse. They are noteworthy from the fact that they bloom nine months of the year. The dwarf sorts are the ones we prefer for this bed. The tall ones are effective when grown as single specimens, making good sized bushes, with showy flowers of many odd hues. The objection to the dwarf species known as Latana selowiana is the unpleasant smell of its pretty flowers.—Gardening.

THE GOOSEBERRY BUSH.

The New Wood and the Old—What and Where to Cut.

Gooseberry fruit is produced from lateral buds on one-year-old wood and also on short spurs on wood two or more years old. The same spur may produce fruit for three or four years if the strength of the bush is maintained by proper fertilizing and pruning. The first two crops from a given spur are, however, usually the best.

The new wood which is produced in a gooseberry bush each season appears as new branches arising from buds on the previous year's growth of the canes already present or as new shoots arising from the crown of the bush. The new branches on the old canes will produce fruit from their lateral buds the year following the one in which they develop. The new shoots from the crown will become fruiting canes when two years old if allowed to grow. The new branches on a comparatively young cane are much stronger than those on an old cane. As soon as a cane shows signs of weakening it should be removed and a new shoot left to develop into a cane to take its place. If the bush is in normal condition, the number of young shoots left should be just equal to the number of old canes removed.

A symmetrically pruned gooseberry bush will consist of from six to a dozen or so canes of all ages from one to about five years, and there will be approximately an equal number of canes of each age.

In addition to the cutting away of old canes and superfluous young shoots the young wood on the old canes that are left is thinned out and headed in. The branches which are left are shortened back to from eight to twelve inches. A new shoot which is to be left to develop into a cane should be headed back to a height of from sixteen to twenty inches, says an American Agriculturist writer, whose plan of pruning is given above.

Bananas Growing More Popular. The popularity of the banana is evidently growing in England, where it is said that in the past two years the consumption has risen from 1,500,000 to 3,500,000 bunches a year.

FATTENING ARTIFICIALLY.

Some of the Methods of Stuffing Poultry With Food in France.

It is in France where the gastronomic art is carried to the highest point that artificial methods of fattening poultry to meet epicurean tastes have been most developed. The ordinary method is to shut the birds in a shed the floor of which is thickly covered with straw, with troughs for food and water round the sides. The birds are free to move about, but they are close enough together to cause an appreciable rise in the temperature of the place. They are fed with substances which are easily digested, so that the stomach is spared as much work as possible. To give them an appetite their food is varied considerably, and they are allowed nothing but salt water to drink. Three times a day boluses are administered in the FEEDING A GOOSE THROUGH A FUNNEL. Form of long sticks of force meat, which are pushed down the gullet of the fowl. Immediately after each meal the bird is made to drink.

Stuffing is not always done by hand. Sometimes a funnel filled with maize is employed. It is introduced into the bird's throat, and by the aid of a short stick the grains are pushed into the crop.

In Paris at the large poultry market the method in vogue is still more primitive and seems anything but appetizing to the poultry lover. There it is the operator himself who fills his mouth from the trough of semilliquid paste and then injects it into the bird's gullet.

In the wholesale industry fattening cages are used, the appearance of which is decidedly singular. The cage is a circular structure, the walls of which are divided into a number of square boxes, each of them just large enough to hold a goose. The birds' heads are turned outward and often the whole cage turned on an axle, so that each bird fronts the operator in turn.

Biddy's Queer Brood.

Out in the Smoky Hollow section of Great Bend township, Pa., a party of snow bound traveling men were swapping yarns about animals one day in early March, says a correspondent of the New York Press. After several pretty stiff stories had been told the hotel clerk woke up. "Bill Sullivan of this township," said he, "has a hen that has just hatched out a queer brood. She was forever sitting on something, trying to hatch out doorknobs, horse shoes and the like, and so Bill thought he'd cure her of the habit. He had some rattlesnake eggs that he found last summer and had put away in cotton, intending to hatch them out in hot sand in June.

"He put these eggs under the hen about three weeks ago, and in just 14 days the crisis came. One morning there was an awful howl d'ye do in the henhouse, and Bill went out to investigate. "You may not believe it, but there was that darned old hen hopping up and down in a fearful state of mind, running up to look into her nest and then running away again with wings outstretched and cackling a demand for an explanation. She flew at Bill as though she intended to peck his eyes out, but he beat her off and then took a look in the nest. "There were seven little rattlesnakes, each about four inches long, squirming about in it. For one whole day that hen refused to return to the nest, but on the next day she went back to it, and she had evidently made up her mind to rear that brood and make the best of it.

"Boys," said Pete Bowles solemnly, "we've just about got time to catch that way freight."

And they fled out.

Care of Houses.

Poultry houses should be thoroughly renovated once, better twice, a year. If you wish, brighten the walls by a thorough application of good hot white wash to which a little carbolic acid has been added. If you don't like white wash, use some good wood preservative and paint the whole interior of the house with it. If you have earthen or sand floors, which are the best, dig them up and cart off the upper four inches of dirt and replace with new fresh earth or sand. If you have wood or cement floors, cleanse them thoroughly and whitewash or mop them over with some cheap nonpoisonous disinfectant. Then cover them when dry with a few inches of sand or earth.—Dr. Woods.

Waste in Dressing Poultry. One of the little things not taken into account as it should be is the per cent of waste in dressing poultry. It makes a great difference in killing 100 birds, weighing in the market 400 pounds, whether they lose 20 or 30 per cent of their gross weight while passing from the block to the commission dealer or marketman. This largely rests on the form of bird, and is a strong argument why, in selecting breeding stock for poultry making, the size, and especially the shape, of the birds must be considered. The less the waste in dressing the greater the profit in growing.—Maine Farmer.

A Helping Hand

Is Gladly Extended by a Holland Citizen.

There are many enthusiastic citizens in Holland prepared to tell their experience for the public good. Testimony from such a source is the best of evidence, and will prove a "helping hand" to scores of readers. Read the following statement:

John Kloosterman, two miles of Zeeland, says: "For ten or twelve years I looked in vain for some medicine to free me from distressing kidney complaint. I suffered at intervals during that period with aching pains through the loins, twinges up and down the muscles of my back, irregular and unnatural condition of the kidney secretions and frequent attacks of dizziness. My son, John Kloosterman, a tailor, 133 East Eighth St., Holland, noticed Doan's Kidney Pills advertised in the Holland papers and highly recommended by people who had used them. Thinking they might help me he procured a supply at J. O. Doeburg's drug store and sent them out to me. I noticed shortly after I commenced the treatment that it was doing me good and as I continued my condition improved. In my estimation Doan's Kidney Pills are by far the best remedy on the market.

Delegates from 17 states are attending the sessions of the knights, while nine states are represented at the sessions of the ladies.

In his biennial report, Great Commander N. S. Boynton, of the K. of T. M., called attention to the great growth of the order, which now has a total of 126,500 members, 119,000 of whom are in Michigan. He recommended the appointment of a committee on claims, so that death claims may be more quickly adjusted, and declared he did not believe that the great camp should even seriously consider the proposition to move the headquarters of the order from Port Huron to one of the other Michigan cities which are candidates for the location. He stated that it is proposed to raise the rates of the order after October 1, 1904, as follows:

Twenty cents per thousand between the ages of 40 and 45; 25 cents between 45 and 48, and 50 cents between 48 and 51, and also to make an additional increase of 25 cents on an extra thousand of insurance over the rates charged for the first thousand.

Great Record Keeper A. M. Slay's report showed a total number of deaths during the term of 1,340, and a total amount of death claims paid by the great financier during the term of $1,663,719. The total amount paid in death claims since the organization of the order is $7,533,599.

The report of Great Lady Record Keeper Emma E. Bower, made at the sessions of the great hive, shows that there were 1,699 hives in existence December 1, 1903, a gain of 71 for the past two years. The total net increase of membership for the two years was 11,683.

WANTS GRAY FOR LEADER.

Delaware Democracy to Present His Name for the Presidential Nomination.

Dover, Del., June 8.—Contrary to the expressed wish of Judge George Gray, the Delaware democratic state convention by a unanimous vote on Tuesday instructed its delegates to the St. Louis convention to present the name of Judge Gray to the convention as the choice of the Delaware democracy for president and to work for his nomination. This action was taken after one of the most stormy conventions ever held in the state. The leader of the opposition to the Gray resolution was former United States Senator Richard R. Kenney, who was opposed to the word "instruct." He offered a resolution that the delegates be "requested" to place Judge Gray's name before the national convention.

The fight between the Gray and the anti-Gray factions became so bitter that the former paid no attention to Judge Gray's letter, in which he asked that the delegates be not instructed. They fought to defeat Kenney and would not listen to anything that his supporters offered.

Judge Gray knew nothing of the action of the convention until informed by reporters. In reply to a question as to whether the action of the convention would change his attitude, he said: "I have not changed my attitude at all. I am not a candidate for president. The instructions were against my expressed wishes."

Four Years' War Ended.

Mexico City, June 8.—President Diaz has issued a formal decree announcing the end of the Maya war in the Yucatan peninsula, after four years duration. The war cost many lives, as the climate is unhealthy for troops from the tablelands. Many of the Mayas are now peacefully at work on plantations and have settled down to a civilized course of life. The president's decree annuls the decrees of war and reestablishes civil authority. The conclusion of the war gives general satisfaction and a new territory of great fertility is now open to settlement.

Will Not Prosecute.

Washington, June 8.—The government Wednesday nolle prossed the two remaining indictments against Harrison J. Barrett, former law clerk of the post-office department, growing out of the postal investigation. The action was taken by United States District Attorney Beach before Judge Gould, of the district criminal court. The indictments charged Barrett with bribery in accepting an $800 fee as the attorney of an Alabama bond investment company while he was a government employee.

Narrow Escapes in Collision.

Bloomington, Ill., June 8.—A collision between two Big Four and Wabash trains occurred early Wednesday morning at Danville, Ill., but no one was seriously injured. Two engines were badly damaged, and the property loss is heavy. The crews escaped by jumping. There were several narrow escapes.

Democrat Refuses to Run.

Cleveland, O., June 8.—Augustus Zehring, recently nominated by the anti-Johnson democrats of the Twenty-first district for congress, has issued a statement in which he declines absolutely to stand as the nominee, and unequivocally indorses the candidacy of Congressman Theodore E. Burton, republican.

FOURTEEN LIVES LOST.

Big Distillery Plant at Peoria, Ill., Burns with Awful Results—Loss About $1,300,000.

Peoria, Ill., June 6.—Instead of ten dead, as first reported, it is now known that 14 men lost their lives in the fire and explosion at Corning's distillery Saturday afternoon, which caused a property loss of $1,300,000. Eight bodies were recovered from the ruins Sunday, four of which were identified. Those identified are: George Gebhardt, Peter Lettemeyer, Thomas E. Montgomery, Samuel Parsons. Elmer Hagen died at the hospital.

The list of unidentified dead and missing is as follows: Ernest Brown, Milton Crowl, William Finley, Jr., John Hobaker, Frank Knoll, Louis Sax, Alec Powell, John Unsee, Joseph Zimmerman. Of the eight bodies taken from the ruins, only four of them were recognized and these only by means of particles of clothing, watches, knives and other pieces of metal. The search is being continued, the fire having been extinguished and the workmen are now able to handle the debris. Six persons were injured.

The Corning distillery was the second largest establishment of the kind in the country. The property destroyed comprises a large warehouse, 11 stories high, made largely of corrugated iron, in which was stored 30,000 barrels of high-proof spirits, the cistern and fermenting departments, each in a three-story brick building, and the cattle sheds, containing 3,000 head of cattle, all of which were burned to death. Only the cookers are left, of the entire plant.

Peoria, Ill., June 8.—One more body, that of Joseph Zimmerman, was taken from the ruins of the Corning distillery Tuesday morning. The remains were found in a part of the building where the fire was most fierce, and there was not enough of the body left to make a hand-ful. Identification was made possible by the fact that Zimmerman's watch was only partly destroyed, and that his hammer and lamp, with which he had been searching for leaks in the barrels, and which some claim was responsible for the disaster, were also found.

CROP CONDITIONS.

Corn in Need of Cultivation—The Transplanting of Tobacco Is Nearing Completion.

Washington, June 8.—The weather bureau's weekly summary of crop conditions is as follows:

While too cool for best results in portions of the lake region and in the Missouri valley and northern Rocky mountain districts, with excessive moisture and lack of sunshine in the central Mississippi and lower Missouri valleys, the week, as a whole, has been very favorable in the districts east of the Rocky mountains.

Over the western portions of the corn belt the growth of corn has been checked by lack of warmth and sunshine, and it is much in lack of cultivation, while in the central and eastern districts planting and replanting have been delayed by rain.

Winter wheat has suffered somewhat from heavy rains in portions of Oklahoma and Missouri; elsewhere, this crop has advanced favorably, but the outlook over the eastern portion of the winter wheat belt continues unpromising.

Oats have made vigorous growth throughout the central valleys and middle Atlantic states, and a general improvement in the condition of this crop is indicated in nearly all districts.

The week has been exceptionally favorable for transplanting tobacco and this work has advanced satisfactorily, having been completed in Tennessee and North Carolina, and about three-fourths finished in Kentucky and Virginia.

In the extreme northern states there is an encouraging outlook for apples, but in the central Mississippi and Ohio valleys and middle Atlantic states, the prospects appear to be somewhat impaired by extensive dropping. In the southern states a good crop of peaches is indicated.

THE ARKANSAS FLOODS.

Damage to Cotton and Corn Is Irreparable—Much Live Stock Drowned.

Little Rock, Ark., June 8.—Cessation of rain brought some comfort to the flood stricken localities along the Arkansas river. Reports of irreparable damage to cotton and corn crops in the lowlands multiply and the result will be disastrous, because it is now too late for replanting. Thousands of acres of rich bottom lands are under water. Much live stock has been drowned. No report of any loss of life has been received. Much of the property losses are due to caving banks along the river, where some of the finest plantations are located.

Brother and Sister Drowned.

Ashland, Wis., June 7.—Louis Larson, aged 16 years, and his sister Nellie, aged 14, were drowned near Mellen while boat riding in Meter lake. In some unknown manner the girl accidentally fell overboard and her brother jumped in after her, but she threw her arms around him and dragged him down, both drowning in sight of many people on shore.

Took Many Ballots.

Gallatin, Mo., June 4.—J. W. Sullinger, of King City, Mo., was nominated for congress by the democrats of the Third district Friday. The nomination was made on the one hundred and forty-fifth ballot.

Library Opened.

Springfield, Ill., June 8.—The $75,000 library given to the city of Springfield by Andrew Carnegie was formally opened Tuesday night. United States Senator Cullom delivered an address.

REBELS LAY DOWN ARMS.

United States Naval Officer and Vice Consul Secure Peace for Santo Domingo.

Peurto Plata, San Domingo, June 4.—The good offices of the United States have brought about peace in the Dominican republic. Commander Dillingham, aided by the American vice consul, invited Gov. Cespedes, representing the government, and Gen. Rodriguez, chief of the revolutionists, to a conference on board the United States cruiser Detroit. They accepted, and terms of peace were agreed upon. The government agrees to give the insurgents life and liberty and to pay their debts. On their part they agree to lay down their arms and recognize President Morales' government.

Washington, June 6.—President Roosevelt is greatly pleased over the result in Santo Domingo, as the intolerable situation, if continued, would have made it necessary for the United States to interfere and establish a protectorate over the island in order to protect American and foreign interests.

Gov. Dockery Stops Bull Fight in St. Louis—Angry Spectators Fire the Building.

St. Louis, June 6.—Incensed over their failure to see a "genuine Spanish bull fight," which Gov. Dockery had ordered stopped, a riot was started in an arena near the world's fair grounds Sunday evening by a crowd of 2,500 men and boys who were unable to get their money back, and the building was burned to the ground. The price of admission charged was one dollar. Four men were placed under arrest by the authorities of St. Louis county, charged with the destruction of the property. The crowd, thinking these men were connected with the show, made an attempt to mob them and in their encounter with the deputy sheriffs a number were roughly handled and some received scalp wounds. The building is said to have cost $2,500. It is a total loss, with no insurance, it is reported.

Correlled South Haven at Last

Capt. Hadden led his team to victory against the fast South Haven team on the local grounds last Saturday. The Holland boys with the famous St. Joe line up are playing great ball and Saturdays game together with the great game at St. Joseph places them among the foremost. Hitherto South Haven has been undefeated in any athletic contest held with the Holland boys, winning on the gridiron, in basket ball games and on the diamond.

The game was close and exciting up to the eighth inning, the score standing 4 to 2 in favor of Holland when the locals came to bat in their half of the eighth. Hadden was the first man up and found Sandborn, the South Haven pitcher, for a two bagger. This followed by three hits, a sacrifice and an error netted five more runs for Holland. It was during this inning that the rooting of the Holland crowd took effect, rattling Sandborn and encouraging the Holland players. The South Haven boys could do nothing in their half of the ninth and the game ended with the score 9 to 2 in favor of Holland.

Vandenberg for Holland showed fine form, allowing but four hits and striking out eight of the South Haven batters. Misner on second starred in a running backward catch, robbing Porter of South Haven of a hit.

The All Stars are threatened with defeat. Henry Fris is manager of a nine that will meet the Stars a week from next Saturday at Jenison Park and the Holland boys will have to go some to win. The pitcher of the well known Hyde Park team has been signed by Fris also an American Association short stop. It certainly looks threatening for the All Stars but they say Fris's name will be but a memory when they get through with his bunch.
