All Stores in Zeeland Close, Even the Chains

HOLLAND MERCHANTS STAY OPEN; ZEELAND MERCHANTS CLOSE FOR HALF-HOLIDAY

At the last merchants' meeting, Holland merchants, after a long debate on whether to close during the summer for a half-holiday once each week, decided not to close, holding that since this was a resort town they should be on hand at all times to accommodate this class of trade. The sentiment in Holland on the question was rather evenly divided between closing and keeping open, but the decision finally was for keeping open, after ten years of summer closing.

Zeeland merchants, on the other hand, have decided to close every Wednesday afternoon, beginning next Wednesday, June 19, but will remain open every Tuesday and Saturday evening. This will do away with the old custom made by some local merchants that when Holland closes citizens go to Zeeland to make needed purchases. By the same token Zeelanders can now come to Holland when Zeeland closes.

Anyway, according to an announcement printed in the Zeeland Record, the following Zeeland business places will close and by the looks of the list it seems 100 per cent. Here they are, including the chain stores: The Quality Furniture Shop, John Oosting, Shoe Store, Shoe Store, Lookers, Plumbing Shop, C. Thomas Store, Bareman & Wagenaar, Jacob Lokers, Burt L. Post, Jeweler, Ed Dykema, Tallor, M. C. Ver Hage, H. Vander Ploeg, G. J. Boone & Company, Bert Wiersma, Charles Telgenhof, Peter De Witt, Home Grocery & Market, G. Kuiper, Roy Keppel, The Great A. & P. Tea Co., F. Boonstra Mercantile Co., Mrs. G. Warren, George Van Rhee, M. J. De Haan, William Nykamp, Style Hat Shoppe, Dekker Jewelry Store, Derks & Butler, Wm. De Pree Co., Ted & Ed Clothing Co., Nies Shoe Store, James Derks, Tailor, Van der Stoep, Peter D. De Pree, E. J. Mac Dermid, Geo. Kamps Electric Shop.

ST. LOUIS LADY GOES INTO ECSTASIES OVER HOLLAND'S PARK

Miss Harriet Thompson of St. Louis, Missouri, happened to stray into Holland last year for the first time, and she was so taken up with its beauty and cleanliness, its proximity to Lake Michigan and Macatawa Park, that she couldn't refrain from coming again, and now she is to spend her entire summer here.

Centennial Park in the heart of the city surpasses anything she has yet seen, and she is loud in her praises of this city and its surroundings.

She had heard that there was to be a "Tulip Time" in Holland, but failed to arrive in time. She has no doubt that Holland can show an unusual variety of fine tulips, but she stated she did see one flower here that had not yet been "shown in Missouri," namely the petunia.

She stated that she had seen some very fine beds here, and since they are so easy to cultivate, she intends to introduce them in her own city.

Anyway, Holland has in Miss Thompson, a real booster.

HOLLAND HAS LITTLE TROUBLE WITH GYPSIES

Chief Van Ry and his men waste very little time on the fortune telling gypsies, with the women dressed in variegated colors. Two bands were escorted over the city limits toward Grand Haven and there at least a few were easy, one man having his pocket picked of $9 and the other of $5.

They were taken before Justice Burr, who fined two of them $14.70 and they were compelled to pay back the money to the men from whom it was stolen. They maintain their innocence and claim they had no money. One of the women, however, had around her neck a necklace made of $20 and $10 gold pieces and the judge offered to give them 30 days in jail. They soon shelled out the "long green."

CHILDREN PLAY HOUSE AT ZEELAND START BLAZE

A small blaze at the home of Peter Brower on Lincoln street called out the Zeeland fire department at about six-thirty o'clock Monday evening. The fire was extinguished soon enough after the fire ladders arrived on the job.

The blaze had started in an old chicken coop which the neighborhood children had been using as a playhouse. In their play they had gone to the extent of building a fire and this soon got beyond their control. The destruction of their playhouse was a natural consequence.

Then, too, there was a jam in the street where automobiles, had stalled or parked, which prevented the ready passage of the fire truck. Apparently at Zeeland folks are the same as at Holland or anywhere else, when it comes to fires and fire trucks.

Lake Michigan Shore Route About Ready

TENNESSEE BEACH HIGHWAY PAYING DUE FOR TRAFFIC AROUND JUNE 20

The Tennessee Beach road which has been completed in the south end of the county near the Getz Farm will be opened for traffic about June 21 according to Carl Bowen, engineer. Contractor Olsen is now working on the road skirting the cemetery and fair grounds at Holland and is making the same rapid progress he did on the first job. The repair job at Lloyd's Bayou is receiving favorable comment. Motorists, long used to tipping to one side on this stretch, are agreeably surprised at the improvement. The road is raised so it is out of the water and free from bumps. Mr. Bowen said today he was not certain how long it would last but is fairly certain a gradual drop will result in but few broken places.

He has been engaged on a road nine miles east of Zeeland. Traffic is so heavy the surveyors have difficulty working against the heavy dust.

The county roads are being gradually widened and resurfaced. Mr. Bowen said the road upon which the serious accident occurred Sunday is a frequent one but quite narrow but he failed to understand how an accident of the kind occurred.

OTTAWA OFFICERS LET GO NEARLY 1000 GALLONS OF "GOOD FEEL"

State police at Grand Haven dumped out liquor in various forms that has been accumulating ever since last fall. In this time the state troopers have confiscated liquor being transported through Grand Haven to Detroit, Muskegon and other cities.

The dumped liquor consisted of nine gallons of grain alcohol, one hundred and fifty-two gallons of monshine whisky, one hundred gallons of mash, three hundred and sixty-six gallons of wine, one hundred and twenty-two gallons of home brew beer, one hundred gallons of apple cider that had turned hard and a pint of gin. Two stills were destroyed. The fish in Grand River had a "jamboree" over the week end, no doubt.

News Items Taken From the Files of Holland City News Fifty, Twenty-five and Fifteen Years Ago Today

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

It becomes our solemn duty to chronicle the death of M. Hoogerster, editor of De Grondwet. The last moments of his life afford a tragic scene in the death chamber since a severe thunder storm was raging and lightning struck a house next door as the editor of only 45 years passed on. Dr. McCulloch stated the bolt struck with a terrific crash as he entered the sickroom where the family had gathered. A blinding flash and a gasp from the dying man and the grim reaper had done its work. The funeral was held from Third Reformed church, Rev. Uiterwijk officiating. Peace to his ashes. The paper of which he was the editor appeared on Tuesday dressed in mourning. L. Mulder, the proprietor, has made no arrangement for a new editor up to this writing.

Gee's Holland Band has made arrangements for a trip to Saugatuck to give a concert in the evening. They will go by rail to New Richmond and take the new side-wheel steamer from there down the Kalamazoo river to their destination. All who want to go, can do so at a reasonable price, 85 cents on railroad and boat, the round trip. The band leaves at noon Thursday and returns on the noon express Friday. The railroad has given the band a reduced rate for buying a number of tickets at once. Note: What a difference it cuts down distance. Today one can go to and from Saugatuck within an hour without exceeding the speed limit. But the side wheel steamer trip on the Kalamazoo must have been a wonderful trip.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO TODAY

The Eagles state convention is to be held in Holland June 15 and will remain in session 4 days. The parade is to be a large one with seven bands in the line up. The Home Decorating Co. of Chicago is to put on the downtown trim. At least 1000 men will be in line on the day of the parade.

Miss E. Bush became the bride of Benj. Dalman. Rev. J. Van Zomerem officiating. Miss Dora Blom was wed to John Harmon. Rev. John Van Pusem officiating. Miss Dena Rotman and Albert Koper were married. Rev. P. A. Hoekstra officiating.

FISHERMEN CAUGHT ON BREAKWATER DURING SQUALL

A dozen fishermen who had walked from the lighthouse piers over the low piling to the breakwater were caught by the squall on Lake Michigan Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock and in a short time waves were washing over the cribs, drenching the people who had huddled together in fear.

The life savers at the coastguard station attempted to make the breakwater but could make no headway through the current that came rushing through the channel into Black Lake.

Within ten minutes water had raised nearly two feet between the piers, the wind rushing the water in a veritable tidal wave into Black Lake. The Coast Guards were trying desperately until the Landman boat going with the current came along.

The Landman Boat Livery with its power boat succeeded in taking off the fishermen.

The incident brings back to mind the terrible tragedy of 23 years ago when four pier workers lost their lives during one of the most severe squalls that turned into the storm of all-time duration, while building the same breakwater on which the

Hold Banquet With Guests Of Honor Missing

AIRPLANE FLEET MISSES HOLLAND; ONLY FEW STRAGGLERS APPEARED

Several thousand Holland folks were disappointed Tuesday night when they waited for hours in wind and rain at the airport north of the city, hoping to see the large fleet of airplanes swoop in at 3 o'clock when they were scheduled to arrive. At least 500 automobiles loaded to capacity parked around the landing place but when darkness began to creep over the landscape and knowing that no airman could possibly see the airport from above, since it is not equipped with searchlights, motorists reluctantly drove back home.

Those who know the stormwinds from Lake Michigan knew at 3 o'clock in the afternoon that the 40-odd airplanes would fall to come to Holland. Shortly after 3 o'clock a long windrow cloud extending as far as the eye could see north and south, rolled in from Lake Michigan carrying with it a terrific wind that would have been disastrous to many of the planes had these been in the air at that time. Just about that moment the fleet of 46 planes were making for Battle Creek and Kalamazoo.

Officials of the Szekeley Airplane company of Holland who saw the storm clouds come in kept wives busy to places where the planes were supposed to be, warning them of impending danger and telling them of the sudden windstorm followed by lightning and thunder passing over Holland at that time.

The Holland company also had a plane in the fleet called the "Flying Dutchman," driven by an able aviator, Mr. Peabody, and naturally Mr. Szekeley was much concerned about the storm. It is now known that many of the planes were in the air at that time and came to earth as quickly as possible wherever they could find a place suitable to land. The planes were scattered pretty well over lower Western Michigan.

Several hours after the storm the planes began to collect again and passed over Grand Rapids the next morning, where a banquet was given in honor of the flyers.

Apparently the fleet gave Holland the cold shoulder in spite of the fact that a very elaborate chicken dinner had been prepared for them at the Holland Country Club the night before, under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce, and the flyers missed out on a real spread and genuine hospitality.

With the exception of three planes, at least that was all that flew over the city, the rest of the 46 cut out Holland, continuing on their course northward, although a few minutes of flying due west would have given Holland folks the privilege of at least seeing the fleet pass over in the sky.

It is understood that Grand Haven fared about as well as Holland, only a few stragglers, seven or eight, making the stop.

Governor and Mrs. Green participated in at least part of the trip although they did not fly over this city.

According to the Grand Rapids paper the governor said when he landed at Grand Rapids: "The legendary man who rode on the wings of the wind never had a ride at all. He should have had a ride in a Ford tri-motor plane. I sat beside him and thought about my family and hoped for the best."

"Many of us believe there are very many of us realizing it when we make real progress. We are talking about passenger and freight service by air. We are talking about a time when we won't have to build roads and pay a gasoline tax. We will go by air, but we won't believe it until it is right at our door."

"The big factor in this success is men, but with everything else necessary to success, we must have the people back of it. The everyday man must have an idea of the importance of the whole thing, and this tour helps him to understand this progress."

Anyway Holland was ready for the flyers and the Holland hosts congregated at the Country Club but it proved to be a banquet without guests, but the local men were good sports, held the banquet anyway, quickly naming G. J. Diekema toastmaster, who tactfully called on several speakers, including his own son, Major Willis Diekema, who served overseas and flew over the German lines in Uncle Sam's air division.

Jack Whittaker, vice-president of the Szekeley corporation, also an air expert, was called on, as well as Dick Borer, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

O. B. Szekeley also spoke on his first experiences in the building of aircrafts.

Charles Gross, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce worked diligently in arranging for the airmen's spread.

Everyone felt sorry for Mr. Szekeley, who was proud of the fact that he had succeeded in his arrangements to have the fleet come to Holland, which was not at first the intention. But the Holland rian, although successful in his efforts, couldn't control the elements and the Holland aggregation who had gathered around the festive board gave Mr. Szekeley a rising vote of thanks, commending him on his efforts and wishing him better luck in the future.

Rev. John Lanting has accepted the call extended to him by the Immanuel church (undenominational) holding services in the Woman's Literary club. Rev. Lanting will be installed next Tuesday evening by Dr. M. R. De Haan and Rev. A. H. Waalkes of Grand Rapids, and Rev. D. Veldman of this city. Rev. Fox, of Zeeland, Meets Death In Strange Place

WANDERS OFF THE BEATEN PATH AND DIES IN CLUMP OF WOODS

The disappearance early Tuesday of William Fox, 65, resident of Zeeland all his life, was solved in the afternoon when his body was found by a searching party in VanHallen grove, just outside of Zeeland. Fox arrived at his place of employment about 6:30 a. m., going directly from his home a mile east of the city. After inquiring about the time, he said he was going for a walk. He was last seen shortly after 7 o'clock about a block from the factory.

Upon finding of the body, Chief of Police Ryngaert called Coroner VandeWade from Holland, who stated death was due to apoplexy.

Looking back, those familiar with conditions realize that Mr. Fox had been suffering ill health for several days past, but especially on the night before his death, when he appeared very restless, which may have slightly deranged him and caused his early departure to the factory.

After starting on his walk on leaving the Dutch Woodcraft Co., he walked up Zeeland's main street where he met Mr. Hendricks and greeted him in his usual manner. Mr. Hendricks left him at the corner of Main and Centennial streets, paying no further attention to him.

From this point it is probable that Mr. Fox walked north on Centennial Street until he reached Legion Ball Field. Then, the supposition is that he started east on his way home and reached the woods and sat down to rest or recover from a bad spell. The course he took to return home had often been taken by himself and others living in that vicinity in order to avoid the Pere Marquette Railway and the "cross-log" cut, fit to be used only in dry weather.

It is believed that Fox suffered from apoplexy during the night but the stroke was slight and affected his mind only slightly; that at various times during the morning his condition became worse and that while strolling on Centennial Street he decided to go home by that route, and while on the way he became seriously ill, and sat down by the tree. This is borne out from the fact that his umbrella was found about 200 feet from the place where his body was found. Then, too, the course Fox followed during the last few moments showed that he had not followed a straight course and was going in a wrong direction to reach his home, indicating that he was wandering.

The remains were left where they were found until Coroner Vande Water of Holland had decided that no inquest would be necessary, when the body was removed to the Langeland Funeral Home.

Mr. Fox was a lifelong resident of Zeeland and was the son of the late Roelof Fox. He spent his boyhood days in Zeeland and upon his marriage he settled on a farm on the Fairview road, just north of the Pere Marquette Railroad. He attained the age

REFORM OUR BUILD- ING CODES

It is said on good authority that in a large percentage of American cities the building codes in effect are, from the standpoint of fire prevention, obsolete.

In this modern age we have a better knowledge of how to build fire-resistant buildings and likewise we have more possible causes of fire. The least that can be done is to demand the best, possible construction.

An astonishingly large part of our half-billion-dollar yearly fire loss is the result of defective chimneys and flues and wiring, all causes that are easily remedied. It is poor business to save a few dollars on construction and risk losing thousands through conflagration.

One of the outstanding reasons for the low per capita fire loss in European cities is their rigorous building codes. In this America is behind the rest of the world. It is a sad indictment that thousands of lives and millions of dollars are destroyed each year, when care and slight additional expense could do much to prevent it.

Holland Scouts Prominent at Grand Haven

GRAND COURT OF HONOR FOR OTTAWA AND ALLEGAN COUNTIES SUCCESSFUL

The Grand Court of Honor of the Boy Scouts of Allegan and Ottawa counties was successfully staged at Grand Haven Saturday by 400 boys, with Holland and Ze-land scouts playing a very important part.

Attorney General Wilbur M.
Brucker, called on to take the place of Gov. Fred W. Green, who could not make the trip, officiated at the ceremony in the afternoon. There were 125 Scouts present with badges in recognition of the advancement they had made during the past year. In his talk he told the boys that the state recognized the Boy Scout movement as one of the most powerful instruments for the building of manhood. He gave many practical examples which held the interest of the large audience.

E. H. Babcock, Grand Haven,
chairman of the court committee, presided. Besides those who actually advanced in rank, whose names were published Saturday, recognition was paid to those who made some progress by earning merit badges and also those who joined during the past year.

Joseph Rhea, of Holland, spoke to the merit badge Scouts and B.
P. Sherwood, of Grand Haven, to the new scouts. Rev. Henry Schippers of the First Reformed Church of Grand Haven pronounced the invocation. Mayor Bruno Peter, of Grand Haven, delivered a short address of welcome. Chester L. Beach, of Holland, congratulated the Scouts on their advancement and complimented the boys on their wonderful work and deserving merit. William H. Lott, Mayor Peter Henry Stegeman, of Hudsonville, and William Hutton, were others who assisted at the reception.

The morning was devoted to contests. These were managed by Stephen Mead, assisted by Rev.
Meengs, and the judging committee composed of O. T. Schubert, of Grand Haven, Joseph Rhea, of Holland, Jacob Braak, of Spring Lake, Geo. Caball, of Zeeland, and Rev. D. A. McPhie, of Coopersville.
The parade was headed by the Junior High School Band, which was their first appearance alone in formal parade. Massed colors of the various troops followed and then the Sea Scouts, trim in their white uniforms, marched in the order of their ratings for the month of May.

On entering the field the procession was reviewed by Attorney General Brucker and members of the court staff. The parade and inspection was conducted under the direction of Andrew Hyma of Holland.

Certificates evidencing the winning of these contests were presented by O. T. Schubert. Permanent trophies in the form of pen-nants will be ordered and presented to the various troops at their troop meetings.

The most important award was that of the advancement banner given to each troop that had 40 per cent of its scouts advance in rank. The troops qualifying were Troop 6, Holland First Reformed Church; Troop 7, Holland Third Reformed Church; Troop 12, Holland
Trinity Reformed Church; Troop
14, Spring Lake; Troop 21, Zeeland
Exchange Club; and Troop 23,
Grand Haven First Reformed Church.

Demonstrations put on by north Ottawa troops were:

terian Church—tent pitching, first aid, flag relay, water boiling and fireman's carry.

Troop 4, Coopersville—tent

Fred Zigterman; recording secretary, J. A. Ver Hage of Zeeland; tions are that the future will be successful.

The meeting was preceded by an indoor baseball game in which the Zeeland members defeated those from Holland by a score of 11-10.
Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the meeting.

RATHER GLOOMY FOR FRUIT IN OTTAWA

The fruit disease outlook is very gloomy at present. Indications point to bad apple scab infections, cherry leaf spot and peach leaf curl is the worst. This year ever experienced. Spraying apples just ahead of rains with 2 1/2 gallons of lime sulphur to 100 gallons of water should control scab. Spraying cherries with the same spray as above control leaf spot. No spray is effective for peach leaf curl at this time.

Definitely placing the responsibility of appreciation upon our student body, both Rev. William Bancroft Hill, D.D., Litt.D., and Rev. Malcolm James MacLeod, D.D., spent most of their allotted time at the Memorial Chapel dedication last week expounding for our benefit the place that Hope College deserves in our respective estimations. With illustration after

WINDOW OF CLASS OF 1926

Illustration of convincing oratory and intellect, this duet of nation- ally and internationally known reli- gious leaders laid before us the reasons why our school's aims and standards are to be revered.

"If Hope College stands as a witness to the belief that religion without education is a peril, this chapel, the most beautiful and commanding of buildings, is witness to another equally important belief, which is that education without religion is a failure and a menace," said Rev. Wm. B. Hill, as he proceeded with a scholarly delivery of his address upon the theme of "Religion and Education."

"Our public schools and state universities bid us bring our sons and daughters, promising that they shall sit at the feet of the great teachers of all ages. But when, in the midst of all this study, do they meet with Him who was the most vital influence in all history? Thus is there gradually developed a class of people who are indifferent or opposed to Christianity mainly because they are wholly ignorant of it."

Thus spoke this widely-observant student of religious education, holding to his contention that the genuine college will ever offer a generous schedule of religious instruction, blending it with every phase of the campus life. In this manner would the proper influence be brought to bear upon the vital moral character of student bodies.
Education is spiritual, as well as intellectual, was his message.

"So likewise of the matter of required attendance upon Chapel services—much debated today, he continued, touching upon a point that interested every Hope-ian. "Why all this outcry against chapel? As a matter of fact there can be no compulsion. The student who does not like it may go away.
The door of his jail is always open." With this climax of argument, Rev. Hill finished his address.
Since the occasion of the evening was a chapel dedication, he dwelt mainly upon the thought that chapel attendance is a most fertile field of study and education.

Rev. Malcolm MacLeod scored favor with his audience in the second address of the evening when he attacked the current tendency to "find God in the great out-of-doors" on Sunday morning—when one should be in church. "In place of the alleged-praises upon the lips of such a 'worshiper,' there is usually a cigar instead, was his impression. Rev. MacLeod adhered to the theme of "What Does the Church of God Stand For?" His valuable dissertation upon the deepest value of a chapel such as this Memorial Chapel will no doubt continue to affect the thought of his audience for some time. Evidences of it are still to be heard about the campus.

"A temple is a place set apart," he said. "It evidences the higher life of man; it is the spot where mortal creatures can find their God, and commune with the Holy Spirit.
The man who says that he finds God everywhere usually ends up by finding him nowhere." The main theme of this talk was the derivation of the word "Temple," which means "a place cut off," where we worship among spiritually-minded surroundings.

One of the most dramatic moments of the evening ensued when Rev. MacLeod declared that he did not know of any institution in America that had done a greater service than Hope College. "It has graduated 1,387 students in the past 62 years, and of these 335 have become ministers, 114 missionaries, and 49 minister's wives" was his proud announcement.

With such moments, rich with fruit for the attentive hearer, passed the long-awaited evening of our chapel dedication. Every possible bit of seating room was occupied, as has been the case at successive meetings in the new building. The meeting of Synod during this past week has drawn many noted men to our campus, and it is this that makes Hope College a busy spot during these closing days of study. Rev. Wm. Bancroft Hill is at present Professor of Bible at Yassar College, Poughkeepsie, N. Y. Rev. Malcolm Mac-Leod comes from the Collegiate Reformed Church of St. Nicholas,
New York city.

The ship Fred W. Green, carrying

ing job in Holland, arrived in Hol-

HAMILTON

Raymond Dangremont of this village and Gertrude Boes of Holland were united in marriage last week Thursday at the parsonage of the American Reformed church. They were attended by Milton Dangremont and Hazel Beebrower. Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple left on a trip to Niagara Falls, New York City, Washington, D. C., and other places. Upon their return they will locate in Grand Rapids where Mr. Dangremont will take up office work for the Goodrich Transit Co.

Mrs. B. Voorhorst and son Chester, visited at the home of Prof. and Mrs. Arthur Kaechele at Allegan last Sunday.

Jake Eding delivered 5 new Ford cars last Saturday. It is fortunate that the price of the Ford is not amenable to law of demand and supply, for if such were the case, the Ford would be a high priced car.

Herman Brower, prominent banker of this village, is delegate from this community to the General Synod of the Reformed Church which convenes this year at Holland. A large number of Hamilton folks are taking advantage of the opportunity to hear some of the greatest speakers of the denomination.

The Federals of Holland and the local nine crossed bats last Friday evening in a loosely played game, which ended in an 8 to 6 victory for the locals. Contrary to their usual custom the Tigers started the game by easily retiring the Federals in their half of the inning and then proceeding to swat the ball to every corner of the field. Every man as he came to the plate drove the ball into deep field to climax the affair. Bud Ten Brink lined one over the fence for a home run. It appeared that the umpire whose sympathy was with the opposing team, was unable to endure the slaughter and determined to help the victims. After the runners were home he called Ten Brink out for missing the bases by stepping over them and deliberately called out two others to finish the inning. He succeeded in stopping so quickly and effectively that the crowd was dazed. However, when he began to call the Hollanders safe in reckless way, he was plainly informed that he was not supposed to do the playing for the team and another "ump" was injected. It was enough, however, to spoil the game and from the second inning the old pep and good spirit of rivalry which always characterizes the games played here, especially with Holland teams, was lacking. Battery for the Federals, Boerman and Siegers. Rich Wentzel pitched a splendid game for the locals but received poor support.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Tubergen, Mrs. Headke and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Lindy and family of Grand Rapids, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Eding last Sunday.

Little Joyce Sale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Sale, is recovering from serious illness as a result of pneumonia.

Mr. Lucasse, the shoe-man, is busy unpacking a shipment of shoes with which, he says, he expects to improve the understanding of the local folks.

Prof. Stanley Bolks of Purdue University is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Bolks, for a few days before going to Ann Arbor for the summer. Prof. Bolks expects to obtain his degree at the State University before returning to work at Purdue.

Elta Borgman and Mildred Strabbing were in Kalamazoo last week visiting friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Nieboer motored to Holland last week Thursday evening to attend the wedding of Ben Dirks and Marie Tyma.

Henry Verhulst and family of Graftschap attended the services at the First Reformed church last Sunday. Mr. Verhulst formerly operated the Hamilton shoe shop.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Slotman visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Slotman last Sunday.

The Farm Bureau Garage is nearing completion. It is expected that the new building will be occupied during the latter part of this week. Hamilton will then be able to boast of two very fine garages. Some of the north end folks are disappointed that both are located in the extreme south. This is only a matter of point of view, however, for, as one of the optimists from the north suggests, "They need two garages there."

Bud Ray of Kalamazoo is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Louis Koele for several days.

General Synod Closes Sessions Tuesday Noon

MANY MATTERS OF IMPORTANCE TRANSACTED DURING LAST EIGHT DAYS

Church Union, One of the Big Questions, Has Been Delayed for Possibly a Year or More

General Synod of the Reformed Church in America has been meeting in Holland under the best auspices. In the first place the weather could not have been more ideal—in fact it is unusual the brand that Holland has received since last week Wednesday when delegates began to arrive. Sunshine practically every day—not too hot and not too cold, but just comfortable. The dedication of Hope Memorial Chapel, the crowning feature in the week's program, also proved an unequalled success in every way. Furthermore, taking the word of scores of delegates "Holland hospitality was unsurpassed."

It would be impossible to give in detail all the talks, speeches and exercises during the past week when it is considered that at church sessions, meetings and banquets at civic clubs and in other public places there were a score or more of wonderful discourses given during the week, and several important topics were discussed by outstanding figures in the Reformed Church. However, space forbids covering all of these but the News will endeavor to give a general review of the big things that General Synod gave consideration to.

In the first place on Thursday, the opening day, Dr. Dan Poling, pastor of Marble Collegiate church, New York City, was elected president of the one hundred and twenty-third regular session of the general synod. Dr. Albertus Pieters of the Western Theological Seminary was unanimously elected vice-president.

Dr. W. J. Venekarsen and Dr. W. T. Demarest escorted Mr. Poling to the president's chair.

In Dr. Poling the synod has a president who is known as one of the greatest religious leaders in our country. As the editor of the Christian Herald, his is a household name in thousands of homes. As the leader of the Christian Endeavor societies he is idolized by thousands of America's finest youths.

On Friday the matter of church union came up. The proposal carries with it a merging between the Presbyterian Church and the Reformed Church in America.

The fact-finding committee in its report favored the merger but asked that the facts be submitted to the general synod's permanent committee on closer relations with other denominations and that final action be deferred until the 1930 synod session.

Dr. Robert E. Speer, authorized representative of the Presbyterian denomination, urged acceptance of the proposed union in an eloquent address made before the report was read.

Dr. Speer, no doubt one of the greatest men of God in America, delivered possibly the greatest address of his long and useful life. That address may be memorable in church history. The power of his message may weld the two denominations, surely not this year, maybe not next year, but in years to come the two denominations will continue to draw closer and closer into the light and toward the spiritual glow of God's Speer.

Dr. Dan Poling, as president of synod, introduced Dr. Speer with these words, "In all the Christian world the name of Dr. Speer is a banner and a sign. Wherever Dr. Speer is present there is light. Wherever Dr. Speer's voice is raised, eternal tones are heard."

"Never have I been on a nobler and holier errand," began Dr. Speer, "and never have I had a greater responsibility or felt a greater honor bestowed, than that I should represent my churches to the end that two great and historic churches may be one; two churches, the same in creed, the same in spirit, the same in great traditions and all by the grace of God, should be one for the glory of God and in the interest of his kingdom."

The action of the general synod of the Presbyterian Church, meeting in St. Paul, was referred to Dr. Speer. Through Dr. Speer the general assembly sent the general synod of the Reformed Church cordial greetings.

Dr. Speer reviewed over two hundred years of the history of the two denominations. He stated that for the two hundred years there had been continued efforts toward union. Sometimes the advances were made by one denomination and sometimes by another. He declared that in the early days of the Reformed Churches in 1742 the mother church in The Netherlands through the classes of Amsterdam had urged her daughter churches to unite under the same roof with the Presbyterians.

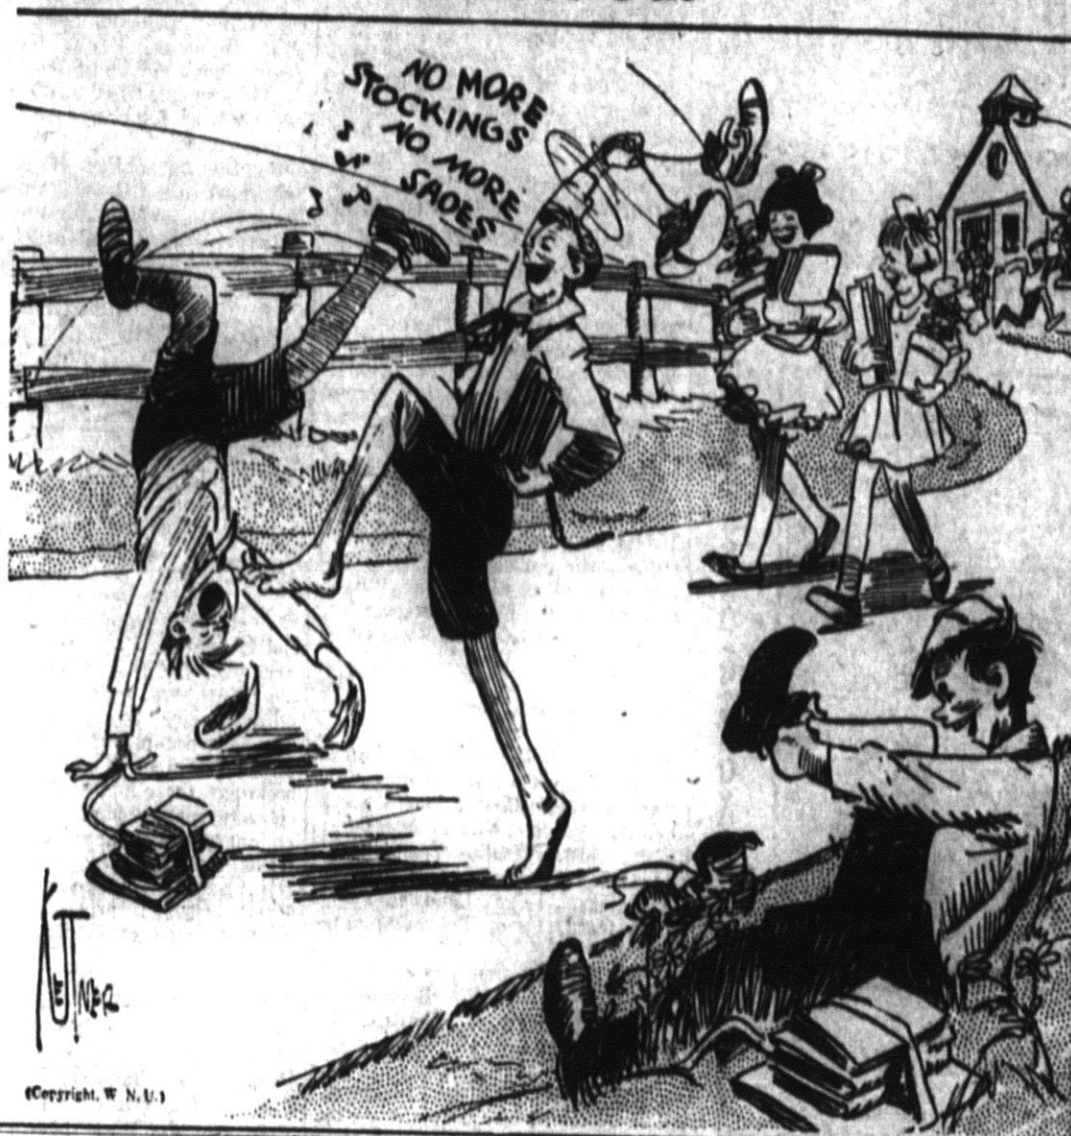

"The Presbyterian assembly is in earnest in the matter," said Dr. Speer, "it is not a call of the past, nor of the present; it is a deeper call. It is the call of the will of God."

Dr. Speer dispelled the bugaboo of liberalism into thin air. He put all his heart into the fact that there is no hope of union except on the fact of redemption and the supernatural of the New Testament and then, "there is no authority except the word of God and no liberties save what God sanctions in his revelation."

The reason that prevented union for years—namely the matter of trusts, property encumbrances and disparity of denomination spirit be overruled. "As for property encumbrances, let no little material obstacle thwart a great move toward God's fuller operation in the hearts of men through an effective church."

Dr. Livingstone, a great preacher in the Reformed Church over 100 years ago, was quoted by Dr. Speer as having written that some day a genius would arise to unite the Reformed and Presbyterians into one grand church. "That genius has not yet arisen," added Dr. Speer, "but in this day with the need of united efforts on the mission field, of a united action and a united apologetic to resist the forces of sin and death from crowding in upon us what must our fathers be thinking as they look upon their sons today when by union God would be better served and honored."

Elder William L. Brower of New York City expressed his disfavor for organic union on the basis of three reasons: "Guarding what has been committed to the Reformed Church in America, the Reformed Church in America not a candidate for the hymenal altar, and organic union regarded as not conducive to the welfare and extension of the kingdom."

The fact-finding committee then presented its report. It was read by Rev. James E. Hoffman of Hasbrouck Heights, the chairman of the fact-finding committee. Dr. Harry Noble of Jersey City, N. J., being ill.

The report read: After careful and prayerful deliberation with the above facts before us, your commission looks with favor upon union with the Presbyterian church in the United States of America. Your commission recommends, however, that no definite steps be taken in this direction without substantial unanimity of all sections of our church.

Your commission further recommends that all the facts we have compiled be referred to general synod's permanent committee on closer relations with other denominations and that this committee be instructed:

- 1.—To carry on further study of the situation.
- 2.—To confer with the representatives of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America.
- 3.—To present the facts to our churches.
- 4.—To report back to the 1930 session of general synod.

Before President Poling began to speak on church union he called Vice-President Pieters to the chair. He said in short that "the union should be consummated because God wills it, Christ prayed for it, and world redemption waits on its consummation."

The question was left open for discussion. Elder William L. Brower of New York City, Rev. A. L. Wamsley of New York City and Rev. A. Pieters of Western seminary delivered brief addresses.

It would appear that synod is not wildly excited over the question, but apparently those who favor the merger as well as those who would oppose it, are resolved to face the issue in cool deliberation. It is even hard to discern how individual members stand on the matter. A judicial mood has settled on all. Each in the synod appears to have taken a vow to approach the case with an open mind.

Those who favor a merger, and openly admit it, maintain dignified restraint. Those who in their present mind would vote against it, are as non-committal as judges on the bench. No group of churchmen flung issue and be more controlled and composed.

Saturday, Dr. Malcolm J. McLeod, the president of last year's synod gave a stirring address. In short, he said "The church is not having an easy time of it these days. For one thing it is an age of hurry, and hurry is the enemy of meditation and growth. Hurry is fatal to spiritual development. It is the deadly enemy of prayer. There was no hurry in the life of Jesus."

The former synod president suggested a motto for this age, "Anywhere But Home."

He marked the fact that the church is in danger because it is not fully consecrated. "The bridge party often usurps the one evening in the heart of the week dedicated to prayer and devotional culture."

It was reported by Dr. McLeod that there are 724 churches in the Reformed denomination. There are 87,182 families identified with the church, and 8,861 joined the church in confession of faith. By letter from other churches 4,510 were received.

The gifts of the denomination run into millions of dollars. For denominational purposes $1,283,694 were given out, and for congregational purpose $4,146,096.

H. E. Langland, well known Muskegon manufacturer, was elected by the synod to represent the church on the American Bible society to succeed the late Eben E. Olcott of New York City.

Hope college was presented a Bible for the new memorial chapel by Dr. L. B. Chamberlain in behalf of the American Bible society. President E. D. Dimment accepted the gift in behalf of the college. Dr. Poling also was presented a new Bible by the society.

The great work of the Bible society is doing was brought to the attention of the synod through Dr. E. J. Blekkink, the venerable professor of Western Theological seminary. Dr. Blekkink said, "The American Bible society was organized by the Christian forces of the land and has been maintained through the 113 years as the instrument for the translation, production and distribution of the Scriptures at home and abroad. Twenty-eight denominations officially recognize this society as their agency for the supply of Scriptures."

The program Saturday morning was devoted to reports of various committees and addresses by Rev. L. B. Chamberlain, secretary of the American Bible society; Rev. Harry L. Bowley, secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance and a representative of the Gideons; and a representative was to be devoted to a recreation trip to the State park and the Getz farm, followed by a dinner in Hope church.

Holy communion was celebrated Sunday morning in the Memorial chapel. Rev. T. W. Davidson, pastor of Hope church presiding and Vice President A. Pieters conducting the service. Rev. S. M. Zwemer of Cairo, Egypt and Rev. D. A. Poling spoke at a public meeting Sunday evening also in the new chapel.

The dedication of Hope's new $300,000 Memorial chapel Friday evening marked the most significant epoch in Hope's history and was the leading feature of the 1929 session of the general synod.

Opponents of the proposed union of the Reformed church with the Presbyterian church would make the Reformed Church in America, daughter of the mother church in The Netherlands, "a crabbled old maid, preaching spiritual birth control." Dr. Samuel M. Zwemer, prominent missionary and Reformed church leader, said in an interview given during the week.

Dr. Zwemer said that early in the day in an address at Holland he had already attacked the stand of William Brower, elder from New York City, who contends that the Reformed Church in America, as a daughter of the mother church in The Netherlands, should not "enter the marriage state notwithstanding the blandishments of her suitors."

"An intensive spiritual life," Dr. Zwemer said in defending the union, "depends on an extensive vision and an enlarged heart full of sympathy and love."

Dr. Zwemer pleads for a large heart. "Extended sympathy as that of Bunyan's Greatheart makes the heart large," he says. "The greatness of Jesus is a loving heart."

Quoting Isaiah: "Thy heart shall fear and be enlarged," Dr. Zwemer added: "Only he whose heart is large can run ahead of the crowd. The blind walk slowly, they grope. The true Christian sees distant, he sees far, he sees the invisible, he sees the future."

"Christ," said Dr. Zwemer, "calls us friends. If we are all His friends, why not friends with each other?"

The secret of Christianity, the Reformed leader declared, is to hold principles without prejudice to have convictions without fanaticism, to be "true to Our Lord, but also to His Holy Catholic Church in all the world."

The committee of synod to make further investigation in the way of union has been appointed. Dr. Malcolm J. McLeod, president of the former synod, is chairman of this committee, and the following ministers have been appointed to assist him: Dr. H. W. Noble, Rev. James E. Hoffman, Rev. F. R. Clec, Rev. A. M. Van Duine, Rev. Robert Searle, Rev. Jacob Van Ess, Rev. H. A. Vruwink, Dr. William Bancroft Hill, Dr. John A. Dykstra, Dr.

PEACH LEAF CURL

The peach leaf-curl situation is very serious in Michigan this year, says Allegan County Farm Agent, Helm.

Weather conditions have been very favorable for growers to neglect their dormant spray for peaches and the development of the leaf-curl fungus has been very extensive this spring. There are a great many unsprayed orchards (nearly 75% of all orchards) in which peach leaf-curl will cause 75 to 100 per cent of the first leaves to drop before the first of July.

This will no doubt lower the vitality of many trees to a point where they will be unable to withstand another cold winter. Allegan county fruit growers therefore, are urged to take immediate action to restore some of this lost vitality by using 2 or 3 pounds of nitrate of soda per tree and by keeping the orchard free of weeds at least until about the middle of July. The fertilizer application should be made immediately in order to avoid delayed maturing of the trees this fall.

MRS. VAN SLOOTEN WAIVES HEARING ON MURDER COURT

Mrs. Wilma Van Slooten, of Holland, age 29, who shot and killed her husband, Lewis Van Slooten, at their farm home near North Blenden, May 17, waived examination Friday afternoon in justice court on a charge of murder. She was held to the September term of circuit court. Bail of $5,000, furnished when Mrs. Van Slooten first was arraigned, May 20, was continued. She had demanded examination when first taken into custody, but Friday her attorney filed notice of waiver and the case will not be heard until September in circuit court, Grand Haven.

General Synod has had among its enrolment Rev. Orville E. Fisher of South Long Island, New York, who is a chaplain in the United States army in Iowa. The chaplain is wearing an army uniform, something quite unusual for a synod gathering but is demanded by the government.

Two Murder Cases on Next Court Docket

Robert Best Held First Degree Murder Charles Treats Case

Robert Best, colored man who is alleged to have shot Charles Treats, another colored man, on May 24 in a Pere Marquette box car, must answer to first degree murder, according to the charge lodged against him by Prosecutor Lokker and the sheriff's department in justice court before C. E. Burr at Grand Haven.

Best showed no emotion when the charge was read to him and the justice explained he could stand mute, demand an examination or waive the latter. He said he did not understand it all but wanted to prove he was not guilty. On consideration he decided to ask for an examination. A tentative date was set by the justice for June 17, which may be changed later by the prosecutor.

Best has steadily maintained his innocence in the shooting case, and has not varied his story under an official grilling, at the inquest, today, although there was little outside of the formalities of the arraignment.

Robert Dove, who claims to have been Treats' partner, is being held in the county jail as a material witness. He has not been able to furnish bonds for his appearance at the trial in September and has been obliged to stay. This, he claims, is a great hardship as he has a wife and child to support.

The three colored boys burning rides on the same freight, who were brought to jail the night of the shooting from Waverly, Holland, are still held. The sheriff has grilled them separately and the prosecutor will interview them later. They all maintain they knew nothing of the shooting and were in the rear end of the 50-car freight train as it was going through Grand Haven for Holland.

The examination of Wilma Van Slooten, who shot her husband at their farm home in Blenden Township, will not be held. She has waived examination until her trial comes off in September. She has been arrested on a first degree murder charge and will claim she acted in self defense, say attorneys.

The September term of circuit court in Ottawa county promises to be an important one with two murder cases on the docket.

EARL KNUTSON, OF HOLLAND, GIVEN GENERAL CHARGE OF G. R. PLAYGROUNDS

Grand Rapids playground activities will be carried on as usual this summer and the season will open June 24, the date set for the opening of the swimming pools, according to Miss Inez Kennedy of the recreation office.

Earl R. Knutson, a former Holland High grad, coach of Harrison High school, will be general supervisor under L. Henry Gork, municipal landscape architect. Mr. Knutson is the son-in-law of Attorney Arthur Van Duren.

AN OTTAWA COUNTY COW THAT HAS FAMOUS CHICAGO "BOSSEY" BEAT

A farmer from Forest Grove, by the name of Albert Vander Wall, has a cow that has the Chicago cow of Mrs. O'Leary beaten when it comes to using her hind legs although she didn't kick over a lantern that burned a big city, her back end extremities have been brought into play often. It takes an expert to milk her and this person is severely punished for his efforts. The cow may be milked, however, but only after the milker has suffered bruises and sometimes lost a full pail of milk.

VanderWall studied the situation from all angles and finally decided to hobble both hind legs of the cow. He did so and sat down to milk with a feeling of relief. The farmer thought he had the vexing question solved, but the bovine took a notion to wobble, lost her balance and fell on him, causing painful injuries which will keep VanderWall out of the stable for several days.

GIVE $50,000 TO PERPETUATE SAUGATUCK SCHOOL

Through the generosity of Eames MacVeagh the summer school of painting at Saugatuck has been provided with $50,000 toward an endowment fund to perpetuate the organization.

MacVeagh is one of the original friends of the foundation. He believes this school should be a permanent center of culture in the midwest and with Thomas Eddy Talmadge and others has been active in its support.

Each year he visits the "Ox Bow" and is convinced this site, with its 52 acres of beautiful surroundings is especially adapted for an art colony fostering painting out of doors.

ALLEGAN BOY 4-LETTER MAN

Burrell H. Tripp, son of former Mayor and Mrs. G. H. Tripp of Allegan and the only four-letter man at his alma mater this year, was graduated this week from Haverford College, Haverford, Pa. He received nine letters in football, baseball, basketball and track by the end of his junior year and probably would have increased that number to 12 but for a serious injury he suffered in a football game last fall, preventing his further participation in athletics. He was elected class secretary and then class president and in his senior year was made permanent class president. He held numerous offices in various campus organizations.

Arie Voss was arrested on a disorderly charge and also sentenced to 90 days in jail this afternoon.

Mrs. Bessie Severance, Miss Helen Henderson and Mrs. Mary Crook drove to Ann Arbor Friday.

Lesson for June 16

JUDAH TAKEN CAPTIVE

LESSON TEXT—II Kings 24:1-21.
GOLDEN TEXT—Righteousness exalteth a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people.
PRIMARY TOPIC—A Nation That Forgot God.
JUNIOR TOPIC—A Nation That Forgot God.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Paying the Price of Sinning.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—National Accountability to God.

Zedekiah was made king of Judah by the king of Babylon (II Kings 24:17), but in spite of this kindness and the word of the Lord spoken to him by Jeremiah (Jer. 34:17, 18, cf. Jer. 32:33), he rebelled against the king of Babylon. He relied upon the help of Egypt, but all that Egypt could do was to cause temporary interruption of the siege of Jerusalem.

1. The Siege of Jerusalem (vv. 1-3).

It began on the tenth day of the tenth month of the ninth year of Zedekiah's reign and lasted about eighteen months. The tenth month, according to our December, January, as their calendar year began about the middle of March. The reason the exact time is given is that this was to be an event of great importance to the Jews in their exile.

2. The method (v. 1). Nebuchadnezzar came with a large army and encamped against Jerusalem and built forts against it round about. It is thought that siege walls were built around the city, shutting it in. On the tops of these walls forts were built from which missiles of destruction could be hurled by engines of war against the city. With the city thus shut in, its fall was only a question of time.

3. The famine (v. 3). Gelkies says, "It was speedily followed, as is always the case, with an outbreak of pestilence. Food was well-nigh gone. There had been no bread. Mothers were at last driven to murder and eat their children. The richest citizens were reduced to searching for scraps in the dung hills." It is estimated that one-third of the people of Jerusalem died of starvation.

4. Zedekiah's Flight and Fate (vv. 4-7).

1. "The city was broken up" (v. 4). The Chaldeans had succeeded in making an opening in the wall so large that they could make their way into the city in spite of all that the Hebrews could do. Resistance was carried on to the bitter end.

2. Zedekiah's flight (v. 4). The king, with his men of war, fled by night toward the plain. His object no doubt was to cross the Jordan at Jericho and hide in the mountains east of the river.

3. Zedekiah's fate (vv. 5-7). (1) He was overtaken in the plains of Jericho (v. 5). When his flight was discovered, the Chaldean army pursued and captured him. (2) He was brought to the king of Babylon at Riblah (v. 6), a town north of Damascus. It was the king's headquarters from which he directed his armies against Tyre and Jerusalem. Zedekiah was tried as a criminal before Nebuchadnezzar. (3) His fate (v. 7). His sons were slain in his sight; his eyes were put out; he was bound with fetters of brass and he carried him to Babylon where he remained prisoner until the day of his death (Jer. 52:11).

4. Jerusalem Destroyed (vv. 8-10). The dismantling of the city was delayed a month, perhaps awaiting instructions from Nebuchadnezzar, who was at Riblah. The work of destruction was executed by the officer next in rank to the king.

1. They burnt the house of the Lord (v. 9). This was the sacred temple built by Solomon, with additions and modifications. Before burning it was despoiled of all its sacred contents.

2. Burnt the king's house (v. 9). This was doubtless the palace built by Solomon.

Don't Let Your Community Make the Same Mistake

Within recent years many communities have made the mistake of paving their roads and streets at what they considered a "bargain price." The taxpayers thought they would save thousands of dollars. In many instances the maintenance has not only wiped out the hoped for saving, but has exceeded original cost. And in many cases also it has been necessary to build entirely new pavements—of permanent construction.

There are communities, however, which know the cheapest is not always the best. Many of these also built roads and streets several years ago. And they built for permanence with concrete.

These concrete pavements, built in accordance with approved standards of construction, are in as good condition today as when they were built.

Which of these communities will yours be?

After adopting the resolution commending Mr. Hoover for his plea for respect for the laws of the land and also for his expression of the conviction of the place of God in the history and development of the republic, the general synod directed that a copy be sent to the White House.

The resolution expressed also a renewal of determination to teach with zeal the principles of patriotism and a loyal obedience and allegiance to the Constitution and all the laws of the land and to oppose every attempt to nullify these laws.

Rev. Thomas W. Davidson of Holland presented a report on the Kellogg peace pact and a supplementary speech by Rev. S. C. Benny Benson of Brooklyn. Mr. Davidson stressed the point that the church should adopt a constructive program for peace in line with the principles of Christ.

Rev. Harry L. Bowlby, secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance, delivered an address on Sabbath observance. "The Christian sabbath," he said, "keeps the churches in all communions together. It's the grandest day in the history of the church. Keep the churches well filled and we'll find it the best safeguard for a lawless America."

Rev. Henry C. Jacobs spoke in the interest of the board of publication. This board deals with the problems of the young. This year this board celebrates its diamond jubilee.

"Since its establishment by the general synod of 1854, said the Rev. Jacobs, "it has aimed to guide the character building of youth by printed literature that might feed our children with the bread of life."

This year the enrollment of our Bible schools, of those reported, is 141,678.

Rev. Henry A. Vruwink of the historic Madison Avenue church of Albany, N. Y., drew great applause when speaking in the interest of home evangelism. He said, "We made no bid for numbers; we wished for no stamped, but the united efforts of the churches not only wrought a more united Protestantism in Albany, but also won a goodly harvest for all churches."

Dr. William Bancroft Hill, formerly president of Vassar college, reported for the professorate committee. He pleaded for more compact and businesslike reports in the synod. He endeavored to make his report short and concise—a model. He announced that the following superintendents were nominated for Western Theological seminary: Rev. J. Kuite, Rev. Johan Schmidt, Rev. J. Lumkes, Rev. F. Lubbers, Rev. A. Laman, Rev. B. D. Meerys and Rev. Lucas Roeve.

Dr. W. H. S. Demarest reported for the New Brunswick seminary and Dr. Albertus Pieters reported for the Western Theological seminary.

Dr. J. Wesseling, president of Central college, Pella, Ia., gave a very able and thorough report as chairman on the committee of foreign missions. His report was supplemented with addresses by F. M. Potter, Dr. William J. Chamberlain and Dr. W. J. Van Kersen.

Rev. Henry Lockwood of New York city is attending synod in his capacity as stated clerk, which office he has held for 22 years.

Rev. Josias Meulendyk of Rochester, N. Y., is one of the veteran ministers attending synod. He recently celebrated the eightieth anniversary of his birthday and was ordained a minister 53 years ago.

Rev. B. T. Vander Woode is attending synod from the Pacific coast. He serves the Reformed church at Oak Harbor, Wash. More articles than ever before were sent to foreign fields. Nearly 500 names were added to the baby roll. Three names were placed on the memorial membership roll. The names of 48 women were added to the life membership roll of the woman's board.

Rev. S. M. Zwemer of Cairo, Egypt, and Mrs. Ida Scudder of India were speakers at a public meeting on behalf of foreign missions Monday evening in Hope memorial chapel. Mrs. Scudder is one of several generations of Dr. John Scudder, who founded the Arocl mission more than a century ago.

In speaking on the ministerial pension fund, President Poling jokingly remarked that if this synod lasted much longer he might become a candidate himself. Mr. Poling has been in constant demand as a speaker.

The report of the board of publication and Bible school work was presented by Rev. H. C. Jacobs of Pella, Ia., and supplemented with speeches by Rev. O. M. Voorhees and Rev. Abram Duryee, both of New York city. This board was established 75 years ago and is the only agency in the denomination that deals with the children of the church by carrying the evangelistic note in literature.

The business department showed total sales for the year of $88,217.30. The hymnal of the Reformed church was placed in 24 new churches, with sales of 3,889 copies, making a total of 29,377 copies sold to 211 churches since published. A total of $9,809.51 was received from 494 churches, 112 Bible schools and 19 miscellaneous organizations.

Dr. W. H. S. Demarest presented the report on New Brunswick Theological seminary, of which he is president, and Dr. Albertus Pieters followed with a report on Western Theological seminary. Mr. Demarest congratulated Hope college on the completion of its splendid memorial chapel and recommended that synod grant Western seminary the right to become an incorporated institution under the laws of the state of Michigan.

Mr. Pieters in his report pleaded for an enlarged school of theology, extension lectures and a larger library to meet the needs of a circulating library for ministry in this section. He also spoke with praise of the work of Rev. E. J. Blekkink, now emeritus professor; the work of Rev. John R. Mulder, who joined the faculty a year ago, and the career of Rev. John E. Kuizenga as president of the institution.

Members nominated for the board of superintendents of Western seminary are: Revs. John Kuite, John Schmidt, J. W. Lumke, F. Lubbers, A. T. Laman, R. D. Moens, W. De Nakas, Lucas Roeve and H. Hueneman.

Reports on the Christian Intelligencer and Mission Field were presented by Rev. James Boyd Hunter; English preaching at The Hague, the Netherlands, by Rev. W. R. Hart of Jersey City, N. J.; on educational work among the blind by Rev. L. B. Chamberlain of New York city, and on the Near East by Rev. Abram Duryee of New York city.

Rev. E. J. Blekkink of Holland presented the annual report of the American Bible society, which for its fourth year exceeded the production of each preceding year. In 1928 there were printed 11,032,494 volumes and in the 113 years of its service 205,096,251 volumes. The distribution is carried on by 4,163 workers. The Bible now is circulated in 319 languages. In the United States 3,800,000 volumes were circulated through home agencies, exclusive of probably 2,000,000 more by publishers and organizations. In China 4,674,123 volumes and in Japan 881,343 volumes were distributed and the Philippines report the largest circulation in 14 years. The income from all sources was $1,077,097.46 of which $212,193.81 came from the churches in America.

A resolution was introduced that the last Sunday in June be designated as loyalty Sunday and that this day be made the occasion for "making clear that in refusing to patronize illicit dealers in alcoholic beverages we are going to the very heart of patriotism, for we thus stand by the government of the United States in its avowed, its legally declarative purpose to be free from liquor domination and to uphold the right of free people by constitutional processes and to assert its will and make it effective."

Dr. Victor Blekkink reported for the committee on education. This year the board of education was privileged to celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of its service to the church and Dr. Victor Blekkink pronounced this year the best in the board's entire history. The board supplies funds for 91 college students, who would otherwise not have the resources to get an education. Eighty-five of these students contemplate entering the ministry. The total receipts of the board were $137,487.25. Gifts for the regular funds of education have increased by $1,976.98, and the gifts for educational institutions show an increase of $1,371.18.

The sixty-third fiscal year of the work of Hope college closed March 31, 1929. The religious situation upon the campus has been most satisfactory to those in immediate charge of this phase of the work and "who are best qualified to measure conditions. It was reported that there was a reasonable type of Christian living on the campus which is most conducive to normal life and growth."

President Edward D. Dimment was given a great tribute. "In this high hour in the life of Hope college your committee on education pays tribute to the inspiring leadership and co-operation of the president of Hope college and all associated with him in the erection of this magnificent temple of worship."

Gerrit J. Diekmann and C. W. McLean were re-elected trustees of Hope college and C. J. Den Herder and Rev. Edgar Kovv were appointed to fill the vacancies created by the death of A. La Huie of Zeeland and Dr. Isaac W. Cowen of Weekawken, N. J. Rev. Victor Blekkink reported that the outstanding achievement of the board of education during the past year has been the raising of the centenary endowment fund. The goal set was a minimum of $100,000, the income of which to be paid in equal portion, Hope college and Central college. Of that sum $86,343.21 was raised. Delegates in the synod pledged nearly $6,000, in addition to this.

The following were elected as members of the board of education for the usual term: Rev. Albertus Brook, Rev. W. H. S. Demarest, Rev. William MacNeil, Rev. J. Wesseling, John F. Berry, J. Wilson Gordon, Clifford A. Morton and

Rev. James Wayer of Holland, in behalf of committee on judicial business, praised the Boy Scout organizations. On a resolution asking for the appointment by synod of two or more members to serve as representatives on the advisory committee on Boy Scout relations among Protestant churches, Rev. James Wayer said:

The Boy Scout movement has captured the heart of the boy. It has found a large place among the boyhood of our churches. Its ideals are excellent. We need the highest type, the Christian type, of leadership for the boys at that particular age in which the Scout movement proposes to take them in its care. But the Scout organization must become a definite part of the program of our churches for the boys. It is not intended to supplant the week-day class, but to supplement them, and to link the boyhood more firmly to the church by tying it over a critical period in life.

Dr. T. W. Davidson of Hope Church, Holland, and Elder George Tiffany were elected the denomination's representative in behalf of Boy Scouts.

The forty-sixth annual report of the woman's board of domestic missions was submitted at the woman's session in Third Reformed church Tuesday. The report showed total receipts of $186,161.98, total value of land, buildings and equipment of $231,258.95 and total gifts by young women's organizations of $24,457.71.

The board's field includes stations in Oklahoma, Kentucky, Nebraska, New Mexico, Mexico, and Japanese and Italian missions in the home field. The roster lists about 75 missionaries and 34 student missionaries. Twenty-seven life members were enrolled.

The officers include: President, Mrs. Edgar Tilton, Jr., of New York city; general secretary, Miss Ruth B. Rule. Mrs. C. V. R. Gilmore of Holland is listed as one of the vice-presidents, and the honorary vice-president include Mrs. M. Kohn, Mrs. H. Rogers of Holland; Mrs. C. Donker of Grand Rapids, and Mrs. Henry Langeand of Muskegon. In the membership of the board are included Mrs. G. H. Dubbink, Mrs. C. V. R. Gilmore, Miss Hannah G. Hoeke and Mrs. George E. Kollen, all of Holland. Honorary members include Mr. D. Tans of Vriesland.

The board of domestic missions in its ninety-eighth annual report to general synod shows total receipts of $458,453.99, which include the missionary, church building, legacy and investment funds, and the woman's board of domestic missions.

The field of activity includes work in 16 states, Canada, Virgin Islands, Canal Zone and Mexico, touching more than 200 communities.

New mission stations have been fostered at centers in 24 climes in the past decade. Two hundred churches were aided during the

HISTORY OF HOPE SHOWS SPIRIT OF FIRST SETTLERS

From Hope College Anchor.

The dedication of the Memorial Chapel of Hope College marks another epoch in the development of that institution. It is therefore fitting that in the Memorial Edition of THE ANCHOR, we should briefly review the history of the college and its founders.

The history of Hope College is an integral unit of that of the city of Holland. However, after the first years the college and city history have branched.

Hope College is the enactment of the dream of those men and women of pioneer days, the realization of their lofty ideals, the fulfillment of their prophecy.

But who were these Pilgrim Fathers of the West, and why is Hope College a denominational school and a Christian institution? The answer to these questions takes us back to the second quarter of the nineteenth century, to the land of Rembrandt and of William the Silent. It was that unhappy period in the history of the Netherlands when it dropped down to the low water mark of its national decline, politically, economically and religiously. Space forbids here to tell the story of the tyranny of the State Church and the struggle for religious liberty. As a penalty for advocating the right of freedom in religion and denying authority to the State to interfere, seven ministers were punished by expulsion from the State Church. This proved the beginning of a new church denomination. Thousands voluntarily left the State Church to join the movement. When the Government could no longer stem the popular tide, it became more lenient, and endeavored to regulate it, and even offered a conditional support from the national treasury. But a subsidy they would not accept—they would not jeopardize their religious independence by accepting a bribe.

For a complete emancipation there appeared to be no way open for them except voluntary exile. Cape Colony to the southward and Java in the East Indies were in turn considered and rejected. In the meantime their far cry for help had reached New Netherlands across the sea, and was heard by men like De Witt, Wyckoff and Garretson. Based upon ample and reliable information, the leaders became convinced that America offered, in ample measure, what had been the burden of their search—fertile soil and freedom; and America was selected.

Now the campaign for colonization was on, meetings were held in various cities of the Kingdom. Only people who had religious convictions were interested—only such were wanted. Emigration by families and as individuals was discouraged—for they feared dispersion. Church societies with their chosen pastors and leaders took ship and moved as a unit from the old world to the land of promise in the new.

Such were the antecedents of the people who were destined to lay the foundations of Hope College. They were not fortune-hunters. They were not emigrants. They were colonists. Said Reverend James Remy in 1847 in a report to the Synod of the Reformed Church in America, commenting on the concerted influx of population from Holland, "This movement will not lose on the score of its moral grandeur by comparison with any associated act of emigration in the history of our country."

It will now appear with clearness why Hope College is a denominational school, Christian in its character. There is an unbroken chain leading from Hope College of today back to the persecution of William I. Persecution led to separation from the State Church; separation in turn was the direct occasion of concerted colonization and the planting of a denominational school of higher learning in the new world. Without such a school there could not be a trained and learned ministry; and without a learned ministry, loyal to its tenets and doctrines, the Church would lack the means of perpetuating itself.

On October 2, 1846, was taken the first concerted step that was to lead to the settlement of Holland, Michigan, and that was, therefore, ultimately to determine the geographical location of Hope College. On that date a party of pilgrims under the leadership of Reverend A. C. Van Raalte left the port of Rotterdam in the sailing vessel, South-erner, reaching New York City November 17. The definite location of the new colony had not been determined, although there seemed to them to be much in favor of the state of Wisconsin. Michigan had not been considered. Westward they traveled, stopping successively at Albany, Buffalo, and Detroit. At each of those places, from state emigration officials, from public men including Governors and Ex-President Martin Van Buren, and, especially, from clergymen of note in the Reformed Churches, Van Raalte collected extensive and valuable information. On December 16, the party reached Detroit. But it was winter now, lake travel to Milwaukee was closed, and, to their dismay, the party was compelled to pass the winter at Detroit. Not so the leader. He at once proceeded to study the civil, religious and educational outlook of Michigan, and the conditions pleased him. He looked for fertile, uncultivated territory, not too far from markets and water transportation, and his attention was called to the western part of the state. After a personal inspection of this region, in the heart of winter, Van Raalte came to the momentous decision to plant his colony on Black Lake, in Ottawa County, on the east shore of Lake Michigan.

Other bands of pilgrims followed in rapid succession, locating new agricultural centers at varying distances from the Van Raalte colony. It is said that in August 1848, the total number of colonists had reached four thousand. But there were no schools, there were no teachers. And yet the Hollanders had the first common schools in Europe. These people had come here Americanized, and to insist upon Christian training. But how could they, without schools and competent teachers? Besides, that first generation of boys and girls were needed to help build homes and make a living. Hard work and meager education—that was the price they had to pay as their contribution to make this colony possible.

The first official body of any recognized authority in the colony was the "Classis," consisting of representatives from the local churches. Questions of importance, civil and ecclesiastical, were considered, and, by its decisions, determined. Projects and enterprises touching the public welfare were encouraged. At their first meeting, held in 1848, Van Raalte urged the importance of organizing into school districts under the public school system of the state. Again, in another meeting, the burden of the session was this thesis, "That the character, outlook and prosperity of a people are dependent upon its education," and that, therefore, the Church is culpably neglectful of its most sacred duty, if the Christian training of her young people is neglected.

In 1848 overtures were received from the Synod of the Reformed Church in America to attend its meetings, but, owing to distance and expense, the invitation was not immediately accepted. The following year, Synod sent a delegate in the person of Dr. I. N. Wyckoff to lay this matter before the colonists; and after careful consideration the first steps were taken that were to cement the union that was to bind the Holland Colony of the West to the Reformed Church in America.

This union at once gave a new impetus to the revival of the educational spirit. With high hopes and sacred promise these idealists had left European conditions behind them; and yet, for these four years, under the deadweight of poverty and depressing conditions, they had been unable to take the first step to establish a Christian school to train their children for American citizenship and for the service of man and God.

Now Synod proposed the establishment of an institution of high order for classical and theological instruction. Dr. John Garretson, Secretary of the Board of Domestic Missions, after a personal visit, drew up a plan for such a school. Subscriptions were at once opened and the suggestion made "that five acres of land shall be procured by gift or otherwise, to be located in the town of Holland for the use and purpose of an Academy, and as soon as funds can be obtained for that purpose, suitable buildings shall be erected on said land."

Under the above arrangement, Walter C. Taylor, then an elder in the Reformed Church of Geneva, N.Y., and proprietor of a flourishing institution there, having been appointed to take charge of the school, began his work in October, 1851.

When Mr. Taylor entered on his work, the only school in the place, was the ordinary district school; and of this, as his report shows, he now took charge. It was a combination district school and seminary. Here he organized his first Latin class; and the report of his work was prepared for the General Synod. To that first report was appended a statement by Dr. A. C. Van Raalte containing this appealing, weighty, prophetic sentence, "This is my ANCHOR OF HOPE for this people in the future." It was this notable sentence, as simple as it was felicitous, which gave the name "Hope College," and led to the selection of the Anchor as its official seal.

At this early date the question of language was a baffling one. The purity of the noble mother tongue was sadly marred by its admixture with the vulgar colloquial and the faulty English of the backwoods; while yet it was evident that for years to come the pulpit must be served by the mother tongue. In 1852 therefore, with the consent and encouragement of Principal Taylor, the Classis of Holland extended a call to Professor A. Brummelkamp, an accomplished preacher and teacher of Kampen, Netherlands, to take charge of the Holland language in the new Academy. This call was declined, and the effort to Hollandize the Academy abandoned.

In a meeting of Classis in April, 1853, it was pointed out by Dr. Van Raalte that the new institution would sooner or later need better accommodations, that continued use of the district school was not justifiable, and that, in the nature of the case, a church school must have its own property and financial foundation. He offered, therefore, to donate the east ten lots—five acres of ground—in Block L. To the founder of the colony, therefore, the leader in all civic progress and the soul of the educational movement, belongs the added honor of giving to the new school a location and a home. According to Minutes of Classis, so highly was that, to show their appreciation, this first gift of real estates prized members of a church ten miles out, offered their services to come down and clear the new school grounds of superfluous timber. There was no money—all knew that. So the Classis made this solemn appeal to every Christian man in the colony. "Cannot a man set aside, for this sacred interest, a thousand staves or a cord of bark, and a farmer ten bushels of corn or of potatoes or a little pork and butter, and a laborer a couple-of-days' wages?" And they did! Heroic times and heroic men these were—Days of poverty and privation, "the day of small things?" Yes. But also days of courage and faith and thanksgiving—even of enthusiasm!

And for what all this sacrifice?

In the public utterances of their intrepid leader we find the ringing answer, "Lest this people sink into ignorance," "Lest our children become the fag-end of society," ["Opdat dit volk niet in onbeduidendheid vervalle," "Opdat ons nageslacht niet ten staarte worde."] They wanted a Christian school to prepare, in a general way, for high grade American citizenship and the intelligent development of Christian character; but, more specifically, they wanted a school to serve the three-fold purpose—to equip competent teachers, to train ministers, and to prepare missionaries for the foreign field.

Up to 1857 the school remained without a building, but the accession of students from the distance made the need a pressing one. At its meeting in June, Synod, therefore, recommended Dr. Van Raalte to the liberality of the Eastern Churches in his efforts to collect funds for the erection of an adequate edifice. The money for the building—aggregating $12,000—were chiefly collected by Dr. Van Raalte, at three separate tours made for the purpose. The work of construction was personally directed by the Principal, Reverend John Van Vleck—and the building is today justly known as Van Vleck Hall. It is indeed not a striking edifice now; but will the assertion seem absurd, that when first constructed, Van Vleck Hall and the old First Church were two of the most imposing structures in Western Michigan? It was now observed that the future opening of one of the streets would materially impair the property, and Dr. Van Raalte collected money for the purchase of two entire blocks, and further secured the legal authority to close the intervening street. The premises, thus increased from five to sixteen acres, located in the heart of the city, constitute the present campus of Hope College whose natural beauty is probably unexcelled by that of any college in the state.

Interesting is the story that discloses the relation between Hope College and the Reformed Church in America. Since 1848 the annual Minutes of Synod are never silent on this matter. It is the relation of mother and daughter—mutual, interested, appreciative, loyal. For sixty-eight years the best minds and hearts of the Church, both clergy and laymen, have given liberally of their means and best thought for the welfare and encouragement of this Christian College. The relationship began with domestic missionary work, under the secretaryship of Dr. Garretson, in establishing the pioneer school. In 1853 it rose to a new stage, when the care of the school was by Synod assigned to its Board of Education. In the meantime the school served as a feeder to Rutgers College—its graduates entering undergraduate classes in the Eastern School of the Church. But ere long the school, now known as Holland Academy, grew in numbers and importance until it involved a degree of responsibility it was unreasonable to expect the Board of Education longer to bear alone, when in 1863 Synod formally assumed the burden of its support and control.

Here then closes the record of those pre-college days, when the first Freshman Class was organized, at the time of whose graduation the school, under the leadership of Dr. Phelps, was incorporated as Hope College.

From this time forward the development of the college has been steady.

In the year 1869, the Theological Department was adopted by the Synod, and named "Western Theological Seminary." However in 1877 there began a seven year period during which the activities of the Theological Department were suspended.

In 1876, a brick printing office for the weekly newspaper, "De Hope," which was begun in 1866, was built. The building served for a long time, and during 1926 was completely renovated, and in 1927 was put into service for class rooms. It is now known as the "Columbia Avenue" Building.

In 1886 the General Synod erected a residence for the president on the Campus.

The following year, in June, saw the first issue of the undergraduate publication, THE ANCHOR. At that time, and for some time afterwards the paper appeared as a monthly, and was devoted more to the literary productions of the students, and less to news than is now possible.

June, 1894 marked the dedication of Winants Chapel and Graves Library. The chapel building, as such, will now be superseded by the Memorial Chapel, but will do service, it is believed, in providing larger reading-room space and for an assembly room.

In this year also the Maria L. Ackerman Hoyt Observatory was given to the college by Miss Emilie S. Cales.

At this time a period of great building began for in the four years following 1903 three of the main buildings were dedicated. The first of these, Van Raalte Hall, was dedicated in September 1903. This was followed by the erection of Carnegie Gymnasium. This building was formally dedicated June 1906. The following June marked the dedication of the women's dormitory, Voorhees Hall.

In 1926, the building known as the "Grammar School," which was at that time used as a Hall for the Melphone, and Fraternal societies was moved from its original location, onto a site facing Columbia Avenue. This building has been deserted for the past year, and was razed recently.

The fall of 1928 marked the advent of two fraternity houses, which while not on the campus are controlled by the college. The Knickerbockers are renting the building formerly occupied by the Holland Hospital. The Fraternal Society owns its house on the corner of Columbia Avenue and Tenth Street.

The speaker reminded us of Ruskin's "Seven Lamps of Architecture." According to Ruskin, sacrifice is the offering of precious things simply because they are precious. When one sacrifices he sets apart and consecrates regardless of exterior circumstances.

The best argument that can be given for ministerial relief, maintained Dr. Zwemer, is the sacrifice of the clergy. Response to a divine call has invariably entailed sacrifice. Moses rejected Egyptian riches. Paul counted all things loss for the knowledge of Christ. A similar element has pervaded the non-Christian religions. Buddha gave up wealth to found his faith. Excavations show that the Chaldeans gave their best, including human life, as a sacrifice to the gods.

The Church of Christ, said the speaker, has no just excuse for not adequately supporting its servants. The term charity is shamefully misapplied to the program of Jesus. Christ gave the cup of sacrifice for all to drink of. The clergy has partaken by giving its life, the laity must do so by giving its means.

Dr. Zwemer in glowing terms eulogized the glorious past of Hope College, and uttered the assuring prayer that the lamp of sacrifice may burn in the hearts of its sons and daughters of the future.

Poling Adresses Capacity Audience In Chapel Sunday

DR. PIETERS PRESIDES AT COMMUNION SERVICE.

Speaking before a packed house of clergymen and laymen, Dr. Daniel Poling spoke on the "Calling of the Minister," at eleven o'clock Sunday morning. He took for his text the sixth verse of the third chapter of second Corinthians, which reads: "Who also made us able ministers of the New Testament; not of the letter, but of the spirit; for the letter killeth, but the spirit giveth life."

He dwelt at length on the preparation of Paul, the author of these words, and showed his transition from an Hebrew scribe to a minister of the spirit. In eloquent language he announced his belief that prophetic utterances are not out of place in today's life. The world needs present-day Amos and Isaiahs, who fearlessly proclaim the truth with all its beauty.

Dr. Poling showed clearly that being a minister of life, for it was Christ who said, "I come that ye might have life, and that ye might have it more abundantly." The Christian ministry is all comprehensive and all comprehensible. It includes life and all of life. It's mission is to make new men and women, who may in turn constitute a new world. What is the means for this accomplishment? The answer is emphatically, "Evangelism."

Dr. Davidson, pastor of Hope church, was in charge of the service. The communion service, held immediately after the regular service, was in charge of the Vice-President elect of General Synod, Dr. A. Pieters.

DELPHI GIRLS GIVEN LUNCH BY ALUMNAE

The Delphi society was entertained at a luncheon at the Warm Friend Tavern by its alumnae Saturday afternoon, June 8th. Mrs. Hager, the president of the alumnae association, presided. Dean Durfee was Delphi's guest of honor. After a few introductory remarks the Delphians responded to the roll call by rising so all might be come acquainted.

Miss Florence Walvoord, a missionary from Japan, who is home on a furlough, extended a welcome to the group from the land which she represents.

The rare privilege of hearing again Cornelia Netting, who has recently returned from Berea College, Kentucky, where she is teaching music was enjoyed. She sang two selections entitled, "The Brown Bird Singing," by Ward, and "Love Is a Merchant," by Carew. Especially delightful was a southern ballad which she sang unaccompanied as an encore.

Alumna Sarah Lacey and Delphian Mable Essenburgh played piano duets. Delphi's musical talent was again displayed in the last number, a vocal solo by Miss Martha Barkema. She sang "Friend o' Mine," by Sanderson, and "The Swallow," by Colven.
