GR. BOY KILLED AS CAR UPSETS NEAR HOLLAND

Three En Route to Beach
to Fish Are Thrown
From Auto

Victim Suffers Fractured Neck; No Inquest to
Be Held

A Sunday fishing expedition to Ottawa beach ended in tragedy about 7:30 a.m. Sunday when a Grand Rapids youth was killed when the driver of a 1930 roadster, in which three young men were riding, lost control of the car at the fork of the short cut road one fourth mile east of US-31.

Victim of the accident was Andrew Karsten, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Karsten, 2439 Gezon Blvd., SW. He died approximately 15 minutes later of a broken neck and severely crushed chest.

Driver of the car was Albert Piedenga, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Piedenga, 2704 West Ave., SW., and the third occupant of the car was Kenneth Morsac, 16, 1516 Colorado Ave., SE.

Morsac was seated in the middle and Karsten was seated on the right side of Morsac. Upon arriving at the fork in the road, Piedenga sought to take the left one but was informed by one of the boys that it was the wrong road.

According to investigators of the sheriff's department, Piedenga swerved to take the right fork but apparently there was too much speed for the car started to skid. The vehicle continued to the opposite side of the pavement of the right fork, hit a slight rise just beyond the road shoulder, overturned on its left side and then righted itself. Karsten was thrown about seven feet to the right of the car while Piedenga and Morsac were thrown to the left of the car. The car was badly damaged.

One of the two boys went to the home of a nearby resident and asked for assistance. Karsten was carried into the home. He sought vainly to say something and died before an ambulance arrived.

Piedenga and Morsac were taken to Holland hospital but did not require treatment.

Karsten's body was taken to Dykstra's funeral home and later was removed to the Zaagman funeral home in Grand Rapids.

Gilbert Vande Water, county coroner, said his verdict would be accidental death and that no inquest would be held.

PLACE DOCK IN BOARD'S HANDS

Common council Wednesday afternoon authorized the board of park and cemetery commissioners to supervise and maintain the new dock at Kollen park.

Aldermen took this action by accepting the report of its committee on public buildings and property. Ald. Herman Mooi, committee chairman, reported that since the dock was constructed about a year ago no action had ever been taken by council to turn it over to the park and cemetery board.

He pointed out that matters concerning the dock had been handled by his committee but as the dock is located in a public park the committee felt that the park and cemetery board have jurisdiction.

His motion to approve the report was seconded by Ald. Albert V. Faasen. Ald. Bruce Raymond inquired about maintaining a life-guard at the park to which Mooi agreed. City Clerk Oscar Peterson advised council the police and fire board had instructed Police Chief Jacob Van Hoff to arrange for a life-guard.

Recalling a recent near drowning at the park, Ald. Cornelius Kalkman, Sr., maintained that life preservers and a life-guard should be stationed at the park.

BOARD WARNED ON INDUCTION DELAY

The local selective service board is in receipt of a telegram from Col. E. M. Rosencrans, state selective service director, which advises that postponement of induction of selectees over 27 years of age "is an arbitrary favoritism to such selectees."

"Such action is entirely unwarranted," he said.

LOCAL GUARD WEDS, LEAVES

Stevens and Two Others
Are Called to Duty
in East

Gerald E. Stevens, Holland coast guard, and Lorraine Waite of North Park, suburb of Grand Rapids, were married last Thursday when the former received orders to report for duty at the naval training station at Norfolk, Va., leaving Grand Haven at 1 a.m. Friday.

The couple had applied for a marriage license earlier in the afternoon but after Stevens received his orders, they called upon Judge John Dalton of Kent probate court to waive the five-day requirement. The judge opened his office in the county building, issued the necessary waiver and then accepted an invitation to perform the ceremony. The wedding took place at 9:45 p.m. in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Matice, 500 Norwood Ave., SE.

The wedding date had originally been set for June 18, Wednesday.

Capt. Charles Bontekoe, officer in charge of the Holland coast guard station, said Friday that three additional coast guardmen have been called for duty in the east.

Besides Stevens, they are John W. Van Ingen, surferman, and Merrill B. Ankeny, seaman, first class.

The three reported to the commander of the Chicago district at 10 a.m. Friday.

South Haven, Mich., June 19—City officials of this resort town fear there will be a shortage of coast guardmen for the summer bathing season.

Seven coast guards recently were transferred from South Haven, leaving only a three-man crew to patrol this Lake Michigan area with the assistance of the St. Joseph post.

Mayor W. G. Packard said he planned to write congressmen in Washington asking a clarification of the coast guard transfer and suggesting that new recruits be sent immediately to fill out the patrol.

He said he also was asking cooperation of Holland, Grand Haven, St. Joseph and other lake-coast communities for added protection.

(A similar condition exists at the Holland coast guard station, it was reported today. With recent transfers of coast guardmen to the eastern seaboard, the local crew has been reduced to seven, five of whom are seamen, second class, leaving only Capt. Charles Bontekoe and his motor machinist mate, first class, as experienced coast guardmen. No word has been received here on whether recruits will be sent here to bring the crew to its full quota. The Holland Chamber of Commerce said no request had been received so far from Mayor Packard, asking the city's cooperation in a request for added protection.)

JOHN EILANDER, LEADER IN TWP., DIES OF STROKE

Supervisor Once Served
as Clerk, Treasurer
in Community

Treasurer of Township Is Appointed to Succeed
Late Official

John Eilander, 47, Holland township supervisor, died suddenly about 3:10 p.m. Monday in his home, route 2, Holland, after suffering a stroke of paralysis in the forenoon.

When Mr. Eilander arose about 8 a.m. Monday, he complained of a pain above his left eye. After eating a hearty breakfast, he went for a walk about the yard and returned to the house. His physician had been called in the meantime.

He was stricken ill shortly the doctor arrived, the stroke affecting his right side. He had suffered rheumatism the past several years.

For the past 20 years, he served as township treasurer, clerk and supervisor. He held the treasurer's post on various occasions under an old law which provided that a treasurer could remain in office only for one two-year term, then could be elected again after a lapse of a term.

Mr. Eilander was first elected township clerk in 1926 when his father, the late Charles Eilander, declined the office to accept the position as janitor at the Holland State bank. Charles Eilander served as township clerk for about 10 years.

In April, 1938, when Albert Hyman declined to seek reelection as supervisor, Mr. Eilander became a candidate and was elected. He was reelected at succeeding township elections and held various committee appointments on the county board of supervisors.

He was born in Holland township April 21, 1894, to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eilander, and was a member of the Central Avenue Christian Reformed church. His father died 14 months ago.

Survivors are the mother, Mrs. Charles Eilander; three brothers, Peter of Jackson and George and Leonard Eilander of Holland; and one sister, Mrs. William Topp of Clinton, N. J.

Holland township board at a meeting Tuesday night in the office of the clerk, Walter Vander Haar, appointed John H. Helder, route 5, Holland, as township supervisor to serve out the unexpired term of Mr. Eilander.

Mr. Helder has been serving as Holland township treasurer the past five years.

The board appointed Chris Van Lier, route 3, Holland, as township treasurer to serve out Mr. Helder's unexpired term. Mr. Van Lier is a retired school teacher and has never held public office before.

Because the county board of supervisors meets Monday in Grand Haven, the township board found itself facing the problem of appointing Mr. Eilander's successor without delay so that the new appointee could qualify himself in time to serve on the county board.

Production Share Is Set in County for Next Six Months

Mrs. J. E. Holmes, executive secretary of the Ottawa County Red Cross chapter, has received the chapter's war relief production quota for the six months from June 1, 1941, to Jan. 1, 1942.

She said the work will be divided between the two production rooms which are maintained by the chapter. Mrs. Holmes is urging continued support of the production work for she feels that many women will become lax because of the summer months.

The production quota follows: Hospital pajamas, 300; bed shirts, 144; women's wadded shirts, 407; girls' wadded dresses, 600; layettes, 200; toddlers' packs, 120; men's sweaters, 96; women's sweaters 192; children's sweaters, 480; children's knitted suits, 150; mittens (men's and women's), 200; mufflers, 250; men's socks, 260; women's shawls, 144.

Mrs. Holmes pointed out that the government appropriated $50,000,000 a year ago to purchase materials for relief work and she anticipates this will be the last free materials to be received for some time. ## FOURTH OF C.G. ON EAST DUTY

Stations Having Curtailed Staffs Located Near Full Units

About 175 men or one-fourth of the Chicago coast guard district's complement of 700 men have been sent to the eastern seaboard or orders from Washington, according to word received here.

One contingent of more than 50 left for New York Friday and about 125 others were transferred two weeks ago.

Commander G. W. MacLane of Chicago said the orders were so arranged that stations with reduced complements are located near stations which are fully manned. Holland, Grand Haven and South Haven stations, now with small complements, are near the St. Joseph station which has a complete staff.

In event of emergency, boats and crews can be shifted by water or overland route to danger points, he said.

Surfmen Adrian O'Beck, Eugene Juliano and Louis Skiba of Grand Haven's station left last Thursday night for Chicago with indications that they would be sent to the east coast.

Dutch Silver Spoons Are Prized by Local Woman

Commemorate Wedding of Princess Juliana and Prince Bernhard

A dainty collection of Dutch silver spoons, two of which bear pictures of Princess Juliana and Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands, is the prized possession of Mrs. Walter Smith, 93 East 22nd St. The souvenir spoons, sent her by her sister in Amsterdam, commemorate the wedding of the royal couple on Jan. 7, 1937, and the birth of their first child. The latter also has a pxy-like picture of the baby on the tip of its handle.

The royal crown forms the end of the handle, which is also decorated with a small replica of the Dutch fighting lion and an orange tree. Surprisingly tiny, all the spoons in Mrs. Smith's collection are from 4 to 5 inches in length and have delicate handles only an eighth of an inch wide except for the elaborate decorations at the tip. The bowls of the spoons are undecorated and are much smaller than regular teaspoons.

"We never used these spoons for eating, but only to stir with," Mrs. Smith said. "Every member of the family had an individual spoon with its handle." For eating, the Dutch use a larger spoon similar to the standard American teaspoon. Mrs. Smith also has a set of tiny cake forks and egg spoons which look more like dolls' silver to the practical-minded American.

She related an amusing experience she had shortly after she came to this country 10 years ago. A friend had asked her to put the silver on the dinner table and in reply to the query, "But where are your teaspoons?" said, "Well, right in front of your nose!" To Mrs. Smith the standard American teaspoon seemed like a soup spoon, and it was hard for her to become accustomed to the undainty American silverware. Her friends laughingly dubbed the Dutch teaspoons "baby spoons."

One particularly interesting spoon in the collection is a little shorter than the others and the tip of its handle boasts a tiny pair of windmill arms that actually revolve. The remainder of the spoons belong to a flower set with different kinds of flowers decorating the handles bearing their Dutch names. Among those represented are the anemone, iris, rose, petunia, aster, carnation, two violets, the "kievitbloem" or guinea-hen flower, the "imgriet," and the "campanula." Another bears a design of oak leaves and acorns.

Mrs. Smith, born in Amsterdam, came to this country with the late G. J. Diekema, ambassador to the Netherlands, 10 years ago. Her sister and three brothers still reside in The Netherlands. She and her sister correspond regularly. She also has a foster sister living in that country. Mrs. Smith received her citizenship papers in this country last year the same week of the German invasion of her native land. She would almost prefer to be there to share her relatives' suffering than to sit here and worry about them, she says.

While in Amsterdam, Mrs. Smith saw Princess Juliana often. She remembers vividly the day when she and all the other school children in the country were treated to rusk decorated with little orange candies on the date of Juliana's birth in 1909. The princess often wore a fancy white bonnet as she played in the parks with her nurse. Each year Mrs. Smith saw the large birthday parade in honor of the queen.

She also has many striking pictures of all members of the royal family sent her by her sister. When people here first referred to Juliana as being "homey," Mrs. Smith became greatly annoyed, but says the pictures of her published in America do not do her justice. One of her many books the "Oranje Album" contains a large colored picture of Juliana and her husband.

Juliana, she says, has much of her father's good nature. In seeing the princess at the convocation Tuesday, Mrs. Smith was sorry to note that she had aged considerably and had lost the jolly smile so characteristic of her carefree girlhood. "She used to be much more attractive," said Mrs. Smith.

CYCLIST, HIT BY CAR, IMPROVED

Zeeland, June 19—Improvement was reported today in the condition of Jason Petroelje, 13, 317 Ottawa St., who is confined to Thomas G. Huizenga Memorial hospital due to a fractured right leg.

Petroelje was injured last Thursday about 2:15 p.m. when he was struck by an automobile driven by Richard Van Dyke, 50 route 2, Holland, on M-21, three and one-half miles east of Holland.

The sheriff's department said Van Dyke was driving east on M-21 behind three boys on bicycles. The other two youths were Glenn Heyboer, 13, 222 Ottawa, and Eldon Zuverink, 14, 114 North State St.

Ahead of the three boys was another car. Van Dyke, according to the sheriff's department, sought to pass the three boys on the bicycles but was presented from doing so by a car approaching from the opposite direction. He drove to the right and hit Petroelje, dragging him for some distance before the car was stopped.

Queen Wilhelmina has much "spunk" according to Mrs. Smith. Other pictures show the queen and Juliana in white mourning dress after the death of Prince Henry. "Wilhelmina was the boss in that family," she said. Prince Henry often encouraged his helpers with a friendly "slap on the back" unusual for royalty. Juliana has inherited this democratic, "of-the-people" quality.

Dutch school children as early as the fourth grade begin to learn English, French and German, said Mrs. Smith. One desiring a bank position is often required to know four or five languages.

Mrs. Smith also has a tiny hand-painted snuff box given her by her mother. They were used either for powder or mints.

By Order of the Common Council.

HUNT STRESSES VALUE OF FREE SCHOOLS OF U.S.

More Than Three Hundred Hear Educator Speak at C. of C. Meet

The value of a free system of public education to the welfare of the nation was discussed Thursday, June 12, by Herold C. Hunt, superintendent of public schools at Kansas City, Mo., in an address delivered to members of the Holland Chamber of Commerce in Holland armory.

Mr. Hunt divided his talk into three parts, the appreciation which he holds for the city of Holland, the Chamber of Commerce as an asset to the community and finally, his scheduled topic. More than 300 persons, including Chamber of Commerce members with their wives as guests, attended the banquet.

Deeming it appropriate that a school superintendent should talk on education, Mr. Hunt, who received his education in Holland as a boy, contended that "education is very important because it is one of the nation's greatest business enterprises."

He revealed that 30,000,000 students are enrolled in the nation's schools and are being taught by more than 1,000,000 teachers at an annual expenditure of about two billion dollars.

By the maintenance of a system of free public education, he said, the Republican form of government, motivated with its Democratic principles, perpetuates itself.

"Wherever you have good schools, you will find high ideals of economic welfare. Good education also provides common cultures, common ideas and good living bound together by one universal language."

"A Chamber of Commerce must show its appreciation of its school system," he said. "The job is yours as members of a community for the development of your community."

"Education is no longer along the lines of selective progress. As a Chamber of Commerce, you have the responsibility for a program of good schools. It is your individual responsibility that good schools are maintained."

He pointed out that each individual owes a Chamber of Commerce three obligations. Cooperation is essential to an organization for a member perpetuates its membership, he said. The second obligation, he stated, lies in the virtue of the individual's craft and the third is the need of service to every community.

He recalled many instances which had occurred to him during his early life in Holland. He was accompanied here Thursday night from Grand Rapids by his father, also a former Holland resident.

He recalled his school days with Supt. E. E. Fell, Mayor Henry Geerlings and Miss Lida Rogers. He told how the student council sent a cable to congratulate to J. J. Riemersma who was in France at the time he was named high school principal in 1919.

Dr. Hunt said he made his last public appearance in Holland when the class of 1919 was graduated and on that occasion he was soloist on the commencement program.

He told how he obtained magazines from Jacob Fris, then sold them about the city, one of his customers being E. P. Stephan, present Chamber of Commerce secretary-manager, who at that time was with the James A. Brouwer furniture store. Dr. Hunt recalled working for the former Union Telephone Co., the Model Drug store, Holland Furniture Co., then mentioned his schools days with his twin sister in the local schools.

During the dinner, instrumental music was provided by Dean Mokma's string trio. The program opened with the singing of "Star Spangled Banner." Dr. Simon L. Blocker of Holland, newly-elected president of general synod of the Reformed Church in America, delivered the invocation.

Following the dinner which was served by women of Trinity Reformed church, community singing was led by William J. Brouwer with Willis A. Diekema as pianist.

As presiding officer, President Clarence L. Jalving introduced three new residents of the community, Chester S. Walz, new manager of the Warm Friend tavern; Kenneth Kemp, new manager of the Holland Precision parts, and F. R. Lough, new manager of the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. in Holland.

In reviewing Chamber of Commerce work since the last membership banquet, Mr. Jalving paid high tribute to Mr. Stephan "who has the interest of our city at heart."

He contended that the city's problems while of importance to Holland are insignificant in comparison with national problems. Mr. Jalving expressed opinion that "we are being attacked" when three-fourths of the population are under domination of dictators and free enterprise and free trade are being destroyed throughout the world.

Referring to the rising national debt, Mr. Jalving said it would be necessary "to pay the bill" through taxation or by inflationary means. He stated that when the present war is ended, the nation will be faced with a bankrupt world.

Mr. Jalving introduced Dick Boser who served as toastmaster. Miss Barbara Peterson of Grand Rapids, with Jack Fry as accompanist, sang three numbers. At the close of Dr. Hunt's talk, the audience sang "God Bless America."

The showing of a motion picture travelogue concluded the program.

Referring to United States' aid to Britain and to his second conviction, he stated, "We're betting on the right horse." He also referred to England as the only nation besides our own that "pula ideals above its ambitions," and said that "those who are in the right always eventually win."

THE REAL JEFFERSON

The newspapers have been printing a picture of how the Jefferson memorial in Washington looks today. This beautiful building to the memory of the author of the Declaration of Independence is gradually reaching completion; it will be ready for dedication in the spring of 1943, the two hundredth anniversary of Jefferson's birth.
In a country where imposing memorials are sometimes built for public characters who did not deserve them (as note for instance the memorial to Harding in Marion, Ohio), the Jefferson memorial is singularly inevitable, for Jefferson was unquestionably one of the half dozen greatest men that America has given to the world.

Not because he was the founder of the Democratic party; Jefferson would almost certainly repudiate
many of the things that party stands for today. Nor because he supplied the words for the Declaration of Independence; eloquent though those words are,
they were but the incarnation in language of ideas that were current in many places at that time,
notably in France.

Jefferson was supremely great for a much more simple and a much more human reason. He believed that the average citizen,
even the citizen with little or no formal education, has enough
common sense to vote intelligently.

What is there so wonderful about that? Any stump speaker
today will tell you the same thing.
But while the stump speakers will tell you this, most of them don't really believe it. Jefferson was unique in that he actually believed it, and acted on it, in a day when almost nobody else among the so-called higher classes believed it. Hamilton did not, neither did John Adams; neither did even Washington. They all thought it was dangerous to put much faith in the untrained masses; only intellectual aristocrats could be dependent upon to rule the nation.

Jefferson put all his eggs in the one basket of faith in the common man. He was of course often disappointed in individual common men; they often proved unworthy of self-government, even as they do today. But he clung stubbornly to the idea that over a long period of time common men will show good sense in the government of the nation.

That idea has become the heart of American democracy. Andrew Jackson was devoted to it; later
Lincoln based his political philosophy on it. Grover Cleveland was committed to it, and many others have subscribed to it. Today it is easy to adopt this philosophy, although many do so merely because it is the fashion. For a man like Jefferson it was hard, because he was himself an aristocrat, and almost no one else believed in it.

That's the main reason why a magnificent memorial is now being erected in Washington in his honor.

THE CHURCH INVITES YOU

It is well said, "In union there is strength." This holds true of movements in behalf of righteousness and human betterment. In its importance and in its numbers the Church surpasses any other organization. A united front on the part of the Church has a tremendous influence for good.

No one would want to live in a community without a church; unconsciously all people recognize its value and importance. It is not fair that such a large majority in every community let the work of the church be done often by the women working hard while the men are otherwise engaged. The whole family needs to have a part in the work of the Church. Why not accept the invitation and go to church next Sunday?

First Jerusalem Conference on World Missions

Acts 15:6-21

By Henry Goerlings

Some plants need support, others do not. The long and elaborate system of rules which had prevailed in the Jewish faith had no assumed in the eyes of many devout Jews a position of importance out of all proportion to their value.
There are plants that do not need to be propped up by little sticks.
Perhaps it will never be possible to lay down a standard that will apply to everybody but the mistake these Jews made, who were insisting upon observations and Jewish laws, was that they considered the framework of religion of first importance. They were wrong. Fortunately Paul and Barnabas and even Peter in time came to see that the heart of religion
was not a matter of observing external rites.

Many centuries ago the great Augustine found himself dealing with the same question of external observances. In a moment of spiritual insight he said, "Love God with all your mind and heart and soul and strength and then do what you like." The more one thinks about that saying the more one recognizes in it what all true spiritual prophets have felt, that religion is a thing of the spirit and is not to be measured by the measuring rod of formal observances.
It must have been in very much the same spirit that the prophet Isaiah uttered his protest against ritualism.

There was need of a conference at this time. There was a very decided difference of opinion
among the early Christians as to whether it was wise, whether indeed it was God's will, that Gentiles should be allowed in the church.

Many of the Christians felt that Gentiles should become Jews
before being admitted to the privileges of the gospel. It is easy to understand this attitude because for hundreds of years the continuance of the Jewish religion had required the exclusion of all foreigners with their heathen, immoral and idolatrous customs. After all, the first members of the Christian church were all Jews.
The three thousand converts at Pentecost were all Jews. Nevertheless against this attitude was the firm position taken by Jesus that His temple was to be a house of prayer for all peoples.

Conferees have their value. It is much easier for us to see eye to eye when we gather around a table, than it is by sending messages back and forth or by correspondence. Sometimes it has happened we have not been able to agree on the truth because we have refused to come together. We do not have to meet in Jerusalem as did those religious giants of old. This reminds one of the men who declined to meet a person of another religious opinion because he said that if he met him he would agree with him. We wonder what Paul would have thought if he had been confronted with something like two hundred denominations, such as we have today in our own country.

No doubt there are more divisions in the Christian church than there ought to be. Sometimes individuals are prejudiced or ambitious and the result is the establishment of another church. Doctrine is very important. It was important in Paul's day, and yet serious and threatening differences were ironed out and the unity of the church preserved. The harmony that is achieved in matters of doctrine and life through a willingness to surrender the truth is not worth having. We can be strong and still have respect for the opinions of others, strong and yet seriously attempt to reconcile differences. Peace is a good thing but the price to pay for it may come too high. The existence of different denominations is not entirely wrong if we can assume that back of each one there lay an honest search for the truth as it is in Christ. That is the criterion. If someone wishes to get glory for himself and feels compelled to effect a division among God's people, he will have to bear the consequences in his own person. In the founding of new churches and the multiplying of denominations
we are forced to see very often how human men have been. But to search for the truth, and to use
all the light available in the search,
and to stand for it when it is found, that is the duty of every one.

This early council held in Jerusalem was truly democratic. Each element was given full opportunity to present its arguments. Those present, like James, felt free to present their views as the result of their listening to the discussion.
They finally came to a free, voluntary and unanimous conclusion.
The wrinkles were ironed out and the differences overcome. Traditional rites did not suffer and Christian liberty was fully justified.
In the present day we have ample organization and every opportunity in conference, synod and national assembly to discuss and determine amicably every question concerning custom, practice and obligation.

Out of our many divisions and differences we may look hopefully forward toward the day when the kingdoms of this earth shall become the kingdom of our God.
When all divisions of the church
hear the music of the heavenly home, and feel the power of one Lord, one hope, one work, they can leave their differences and join in the one anthem of the re-

Class Makes Gift to Hope College

Meeting at the Holland Country club for their 15th anniversary reunion luncheon Tuesday noon, the Hope college class of 1926 voted to present the college with a substantial gift and made plans to issue a bulletin of news to members of the class unable to attend the reunion.

Twenty-seven attended the luncheon which was arranged by the Holland group, with the Misses Adelaide and Geraldine Dijkhuizen serving as chairmen. Mrs. Kenneth DePree served as secretary. The majority of those absent had sent letters containing news and greetings.

It was disclosed at the meeting that in spite of the gifts of two tennis courts and a Hope chapel window at the time of graduation, a considerable amount of money remained in the treasury, being profits from a pageant presented in 1926 by the class. It was voted to make a gift of $1,000 to the college, and George Damon and Randall Bosch were appointed to confer with President Wynand Wichers in regard to how the money is to be used for the new science building.

SYNOD SESSION AT GRD. RAPIDS NEARING CLOSE

New Pension System for Ministers Is Working Smoothly

Christian Reformed church synod is expected to wind up its business the latter part of this week at Calvin seminary, Grand Rapids, where the delegates first convened a week ago.

Synod resumed sessions Monday after a week-end layoff with all delegates present. This is a thoroughly deliberative body and hence moves more slowly than ordinary conventions.

A few hours were set aside to hear representatives of various organizations, Bethesda sanatorium, the AFYMS (an organization of young men in the denomination which has societies in all of its six Holland churches), the American Tract society and the Reformed Church in America. The first three causes were recommended for moral and financial support and the latter church, represented by Dr. L. Greenway, was heartily received as a fraternal delegate.

The synod had the privilege of having ten of its missionaries, hailing from its mission fields in Africa, China, the Indians in New Mexico, and South America present. They addressed synod briefly on their work.

Much work was accomplished in connection with the following branches:

1. A system of numbering reports was adopted to facilitate the work.

2. The granting of honorable emigration of the Rev. W. P. Van Wyk was approved. This minister will take up residence in Holland after July 1.

3. The pension system of the church is now working smoothly. This is a new venture. Until recently the ministers of the church were wholly supported by the church when disabled; now they contribute 3 per cent of their salary to this fund.

4. A committee will study the matter of returning to biennial synods and report on its advisability on the synod of 1942. There is general dissatisfaction with the present practice of meeting every year.

5. Synod instructed its officers to draw up a communication to the president of the United States in regard to the institution of a seven-day week in the interest of national defense and to transmit it in synod's name to the president.

6. The Rev. L. J. Lamberts again was chosen as editor-in-chief of the denomination's Sunday school publications.

7. The C.L.A. was again recommended to the churches for moral and financial support.

Evenings as usual are devoted to the preparation of advice by various committees, some of which meet far into the night to discuss important matters which come before synod.

On Tuesday synod passed many important decisions regarding home mission work of the denomination. The sum of $47,500 was granted to 93 small and needy churches to help them in the support of their ministers. The denomination will take care of the spiritual needs of the young men in the country's training by means of an emergency fund.

Various ministers are to be asked to do this work.

The church, through its home missions committee, will extend the scope of bringing the gospel to the unchurched in the larger centers of the country. Detroit, Whitnville, Mass., and Denver, Colo., were mentioned. Synod also decided to change the membership of its Home Mission from a "centralized committee" to one composed of one representative from each of its 18 classes plus three members-at-large. This change will go into effect in July, 1942, and will bring the work closer to the membership of the church.

MARK HOPE'S ANNIVERSARY

A special convocation commemorating the 75th anniversary of the founding of Hope college was held in Hope Memorial chapel on Tuesday.

Delegates from 125 colleges and universities participated in the academic procession and were guests at an institutional luncheon at the Warm Friend tavern at noon.

Speaking at the special convocation on Tuesday, the Rev. W. H. S. Demarest, said, "Hope college is of noble descent. Seventy-five years ago it was born of people distinguished in the old and new worlds, a people of churches and universities."

He traced the history of the college's origin and progress from its founding by Dr. A. C. Van Raalte as the Holland academy to the present time and the erection of the new Science building. "From the first the look was on to a college and on to theology," he said, in describing the early efforts in organizing the pioneer church and early educational ventures.

Giving the highlights of each president's administration, Rev. Demarest told the outstanding achievements of the presidents, Dr. Philip Phelps, Rev. Giles Mander, and Rev. Henry T. Pyle.

RED CROSS NOW CONTACT AGENT IN THIS COUNTY

Ottawa Chapter Will Aid in Ties Between Home and Soldier

Plans for the development of the military and naval welfare service in Ottawa county were discussed by board of directors of the Ottawa County Red Cross chapter at a meeting here Monday night.

The Red Cross has been designated by the government as the medium of communication between the men in the armed forces and their families at home. It is the board's plans to have a home service committee with representatives from each township to aid in this work.

At the present time, this welfare service consists of filling out home conditions and dependency reports upon request of the government but it is anticipated that emergency welfare reports will be included in subsequent work.

At Monday's meeting, directors elected Miss Madge Bresnahan of Grand Haven as first vice-chairman to replace Homer Fisher of Grand Haven who resigned recently from the board. Mrs. J. Veneklasen of Zeeland presided.

Reports were submitted by delegates to the various conventions. Miss Beth Marcus and Miss Jennie Kaufman reported on the Junior Red Cross convention in Washington, D. C., in April and Mrs. J. E. Holmes of Spring Lake, executive secretary, reported on the national convention in Washington and an executive secretaries' meeting she attended in St. Louis, Mo., in May.

The directors made plans for the coming summer water safety program. Ed Damsen of Holland was named water safety director for the southern half of Ottawa county.

Eugene Roth of Grand Haven, Hope college freshman during the past year, was named to a similar post for the north half of the county. At the present time Mr. Roth is attending a Red Cross aquatic school at Culver Military Academy.

If the response warrants it, additional instructors will be employed by the board. Classes in lifesaving also are being planned.

Mrs. R. L. Schlect reported on the home nursing project and announced an institute for nurses interested in this work will be held in Holland Tuesday and Wednesday, July 1 and 2.

Wichers and Mrs. Catherine Van Duren, the latter an honorary member of the board, all of Holland, L. D. Ford of Grand Haven, Mrs. L. Bloomberg of Hudsonville, Mrs. Russell Wolbrink of Allendale, and Mrs. Louise De Kleine of Jamestown.

YNTEMA CITES SCIENCE NEED

President Wynand Wichers presided at an informal meeting of Hope college alumni and friends in Hope Memorial chapel Tuesday afternoon at which Dr. Leonard F. Yntema, professor of chemistry at St. Louis University, St. Louis, Mo., was the featured speaker.

"There is an obvious need for more objective thinking," Dr. Yntema said in presenting his paper on "The Place of Science in a Christian College." A laboratory course in one of the sciences is one of the best ways to teach a student that objective thinking, he added. Pointing out that the two-fold function of the college is to provide cultural enrichment for the student's life and to prepare him for further study or entrance into his life's work, he said, "The ability to think for himself is the true hallmark of the educated man."

"A liberal education aids in developing the positive attributes of man. The student should see that all his studies are parts of the living organism of truth. A liberal arts college is not a technical school, but a worthy faculty in and out of class can be great influences in carrying out the aims of liberal education."

Dr. Yntema stressed the fact that all college students today should know some science to be able to read intelligently and to understand present day inventions and surroundings. "Many once technical terms have become a part of the vernacular," he said.

"The three threads running through the fabric of man's mind are his relationship to God, to his fellows, and to the physical universe, or theology, humanities and natural sciences," he stated. "All three are related and interdependent, and each has its place in Christian education."

Dr. Yntema also brought out the fact that a large number of Hope graduates have distinguished themselves in the fields of science, dentistry, the professions and medicine.

Alumni participating in an informal discussion on the subject led by Dr. Wichers were Dr. Thomas De Vries of Purdue university, Dr. John E. Kulzenga of Princeton Theological seminary, Dr. Walter Van Saun of Hope college, Dr. Irwin J. Lubbers, president of Central college; Dr. Hessel Yntema of the University of Michigan, Dr. Frederick Yonkman of Wayne university, Dr. E. J. Blekkink, and many others.

Robert Cavanaugh, accompanied by Mrs. W. Curtis Snow, sang "The Pilgrim's Song," at the beginning of the program.

WOULD LICENSE BICYCLES HERE UNDER STATUTE

Board Is Unable to Agree on Recommendation to Council

Ald. Bruce Raymond, chairman of common council's ordinance committee, served notice at the Wednesday afternoon meeting of council that an ordinance to license bicycles will be introduced soon.

The Holland Junior Chamber of Commerce, which has endorsed the plan, filed a communication with council yesterday asking passage of an ordinance to help control bicycle traffic in Holland. Signed by President Melvin Van Tatenhove, the communication pointed out that the organization wanted to support Police Chief Jacob Van Hoff in his request to the police and fire board for an ordinance.

Unable to agree on the merits of an ordinance to license bicycles in Holland, the board of police and fire commissioners Monday afternoon referred the matter to its personnel committee and Police Chief Jacob Van Hoff for further consideration.

Ald. Bruce Raymond, chairman of common council's ordinance committee, and council's public safety committee, which consists of John Menken, chairman, Ben Steffens and Raymond, appeared before the board with a request for a recommendation from that body. Raymond stated that the matter primarily had been referred to his committee.

The board first considered recommending to council the passage of such an ordinance but there was a difference of opinions among board members relative to the licensing of bicycles. Final action was to refer it to the personnel committee composed of Commissioners John Donnelly, James Borri and Herman Prins together with Chief Van Hoff.

Chief Van Hoff pointed out that the only way to enforce a bicycle ordinance was to license the bicycles. He urged the board to give such an ordinance a tryout for a year and if it did not meet with success, then the ordinance could be repealed. He said the police department could adequately enforce the ordinance.

After Fred Kamferbeek pointed out that the licensing of bicycles would be "just another tax," Donnelly suggested that the plates be given to all owners under 16 years of age.

Raymond informed board members that representatives of a firm had conferred with various council members. This group proposed to furnish a booklet made up of pictures, a letter from the mayor and the ordinance. A booklet would be given to each bicycle owner when he applied for a license plate.

The fee for such a plate, he said, would amount to 25 cents a year. The licensee would then take the plates to a bicycle shop for installation and a check of the bicycle to see that it was in good shape. The shop would make recommendations to parents and police department as to needed repairs.

A complete list of those to whom the plates had been issued would be kept at police headquarters. Raymond pointed out this would enable the police department to check on stolen bicycles and also to curb violations. He said that such a plan in other cities had not only reduced the number of bicycle accidents but also had resulted in fewer bicycles being stolen. He said the firm offered to sell the city 1-200 sets of plates and booklets for $265 and by selling them for 25 cents each there would be little cost to the city.

After explaining plans for the improvement of the No. 1 engine house on West Eighth St. to make room for the new pumper truck, Peter Elzinga, local designer, was instructed by the board to receive sealed bids by not later than next Monday night.

He pointed out that the largest expenditure will be the purchase of an overhanging door, either electrically or manually operated, for which bids will be received separately on both types.

Mr. Elzinga said it would not be necessary to rebuild the tower but that it could be improved with paint. He reported it would be necessary to remove the bottom portion of the tower which is of brick construction to the top of the first floor to provide room for the truck.

Contending that at some future date the city may decide to build a station in the south section of the city, Elzinga recommended that no great amount of money be spent in improving the No. 1 engine house.

CEREMONIES AT SITE OF SCIENCE HALL ARE HELD

180 Thousand Raised Thus Far in Campaign for Hope Fund

"It has been the result of a great deal of planning, thinking, and now two years of good hard work. Into a building of this kind goes much of sacrifice and prayer," President Wynand Wichers said at "New Building" exercises at the site of the new Science building on 10th St. following the commencement Wednesday night.

Reporting on the progress of the campaign he announced that approximately $180,000 in cash and pledges, a sum which would a little more than provide the necessary funds for the building and its equipment, was now available. However, an additional $75,000 is still needed for endowment and other purposes, he pointed out.

Dr. Wichers presided at the dedicatory service and introduced Dr. Henry D. Terkeurst, vice-president of the board of trustees, who spoke of the dreams of Dr. A. C. Van Raalte for education in this colony. "Surely tonight his dream, his prayer, his hope has been fulfilled," he said.

Recalling the day when Van Raalte hall was dedicated and the celebration held then, Dr. Terkeurst looked forward to the day when the science building would be ready for use. "It behooves us then, reverently, to dedicate this building to the high service of God. We too, want to do our bit for His glory."

Dr. Wichers recognized the services of Dr. Samuel M. Zwemer and Rev. Anthony Luidens in concluding the eastern campaign. Rev. Luidens, responding briefly, reported that the eastern churches had contributed a total of $80,000 during the course of the campaign. As a slogan he suggested the one used on posters in their work, "The gospel of Christ and the light of learning, give us the world's anchor of Hope."

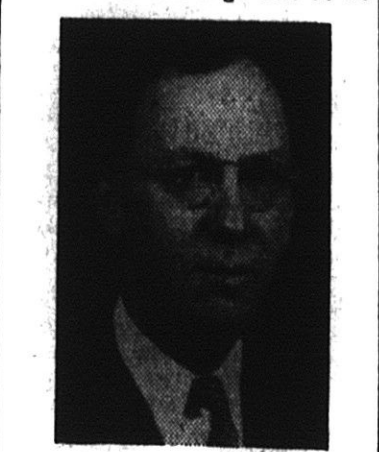

The Rev. William Pyle of Overisel, director of the campaign in the western churches, also spoke. "As the past has been great, so the future will be great," he said. Dr. John A. Dykstra, pastor of Central Reformed church in Grand Rapids and president of the college board of trustees, pronounced the invocation and benediction.

Selections by the Hope college trombone quartet included a chorale and "Finlandia."

Electric and Water Rates Receive Council Approval

Public Works Board Sets Two Changes Here in New Schedule

Electric and water rates which are to be in effect for the ensuing year were approved by common council Wednesday night upon recommendation of the board of public works.

The works board approved the rates at its meeting Monday night.

Changes have been made only in the city and suburban commercial and industrial lighting rates, the board advised. These rates were formerly based on the use of the active connected load but will now be similar to the system used in residence lighting, that of the straight block system.

The new rates for city commercial and industrial lighting follow: First 30 kilowatt hours used per month, 5 cents; next 70 kilowatt hours used per month, 4 cents; next 2,000 kilowatt hours, 3 cents; all over 2,100 kilowatts, two cents.

Rates for suburban commercial and industrial lighting follow: First 30 kilowatt hours used per month, 7 cents; next 70 kilowatt hours, 4.5 cents; next 2,000 kilowatt hours, 3 cents; all over 2,100 kilowatt hours, 2 cents.

For city users, there will be a minimum charge of $1 while the minimum charge for suburban users will be $1.25. In each instance, there will be a 10 per cent discount for the prompt payment of a bill.

The new rates become effective with July billings, the board reported. The board recommended that no changes be made in the prevailing rates for city residence lighting, transient lighting, city street lighting, optional rates, city general power, city optional power, large industrial power, breakdown or auxiliary power, suburban residence lighting, suburban power, suburban hateries, general water, municipal power, private fire protection, and suburban general water.

The rates were approved upon motion of Ald. Bruce Raymond, supported by Ald. Herman Mooi.

COUNCIL VOTES NOVELTIES OFF OF TREE PLATS

City Inspector Wiersma Requested to Enforce Ordinance

Enforcement of a local ordinance which prohibits the display of merchandise on tree plats or on sidewalks in front of places of business was ordered Wednesday afternoon by common council with City Inspector Ben Wiersma to be the enforcing officer.

The matter was placed before the aldermen by Ald. Bruce Raymond. At a recent council meeting enforcement of the ordinance was considered but action was delayed until after the Tulip Time festival when it had been brought out that many dealers in novelties who have been displaying them on tree plats in front of their places of business had purchased large supplies for the festival trade.

City Inspector Wiersma said he had "thrown the thing in the police department's lap" after the mayor and others had granted dealers the privilege on previous occasions to exhibit their merchandise in this manner.

Ald. Albert V. Faassen pointed out that the city attorney had given an interpretation of the ordinance when the matter came before council previously.

Mayor Geerlings suggested that council request the police department to enforce the ordinance but aldermen accepted the motion of Ald. John Menken, supported by Ald. Frank Smith, that the city inspector be the enforcing officer.

Council approved the board of public works action Monday night in authorizing the superintendent to have bodies built for two new pickup trucks and the two-ton line truck. Baker Hauling Co. of Cleveland, O., submitted the low bid of $1,800.50.

Common council accepted an invitation from the Holland Softball association to attend the season's first game Friday night in Riverview park.

Claims against the city totaling $6,014.55 were approved for payment. Other claims also approved follow: Hospital, $1,595.35; library, $252.58; police and fire (police $1,638.26, fire $2,018.84); $3,657.10; park and cemetery (park $859.07, cemetery $644.30); $1,503.37; board of public works operating account (payroll $4,687.98, claims $5,710.21), $10,398.19.

Council approved the construction of water mains on an assessment basis in River Ave. from 28th to 30th Sts. and in 30th St. from River Ave. to a point located at about in the middle of the block between College and Columbia Ave. Wednesdays meeting had been set as the time for hearing any objections but none was filed.

The city clerk was authorized to contact various firms concerning the possibility of making a survey here in regard to a new sewage disposal plant for Holland.

Coveted Trophies Won at All-College Sing

The Sorosis and Emersonian societies of Hope college now claim the title of "Champion Warblers" on the campus as a result of capturing the coveted trophies at the All-College Sing in Hope Memorial Chapel Saturday evening. Sorosites were also victors last year when the Sing was originated. The sorority cup is donated by Mrs. W. J. Fenton and this year Alcor senior girls' honor society, donated another cup to be awarded hereafter to the winning fraternity.

According to the contest rules which require the singing of one classical number besides the society song, Sorosites wearing pastel formal sang "Liebestraum" by Liszt under the direction of Carolyn Kremers and accompanied by Barbara Polensbee. A novel effect was created when the entire chapel was "blackened out" except for the director's electrical baton during the second stanza of the Sorosis song. Mary Jane Raffenaud sang the solo part with humming accompaniment by the remainder of the sorority.

Emersonians, dressed alike in white coats and dark trousers, sang "When Day is Done" by Katscher and the "Emersonian Song" directed by Albert Shiphorst and accompanied by Edward De Young. Theirs is the honor of being the first to win the fraternity trophy donated by Alcor girls.

Honorable mention or second place went to the Delphi and Cosmopolitan societies. Delphians sang "Intermezzo" by Provost with solo parts sung by Gertrude Bolema and their own composition "The Blue and Gold of Delphi." The group directed by Mary Bolema was accompanied by Marjorie Emery. Cosmopolitans sang "The Lost Chord" by Sullivan and their fraternity song. An octet taking special parts were contrasting white coats and Clinton Harrison sang the solo. They were directed by August Van Eerden and accompanied by Mary Bolema.

Knickerbockers sang the negro spiritual "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot" and their fraternity song accompanied by Robert Spaulding. Donald Van Dyke sang solo parts. A medley of "Marching Along Together" by Pola and Steininger, and "Anchors Away" by Zimmerman, with James Riecke, director, singing the solo "America I Love You," was presented by members of the Fraternity society.
