School Board Adopts Resolution On Annexation

Teaching Staff For Coming Year Almost Completed

The Board of Education Monday night unanimously adopted a joint resolution with City Council endorsing the proposed annexation plan as introduced some months ago by a 32-member annexation study committee.

It was the same resolution which City Council adopted June 5. This resolution was run verbatim in the June 6 issue of the Holland Evening Sentinel.

Particular attention was called Wednesday night to a proposed vote Dec. 1, 1957, and to reports by special school and city-township committees to be compiled by July 15. Following these reports, the Board of Education will adopt new policy statements on tuition students.

James Hallan of the teachers' committee reported that the teaching staff for the coming year is nearly complete. Needed yet are a half-day kindergarten teacher for Thomas Jefferson School and four or five secondary teachers including a music teacher, a commercial teacher and a junior high mathematics and French teacher. A director of vocational education also is sought to replace Robert Slocum who has asked for a two-year leave of absence to work in similar work on Okinawa under the direction of Michigan State University.

On recommendation of the buildings and grounds committee, the board okayed an allocation of $10,000 for capital outlay the coming year in the city's recreation program. City Council previously allocated a like sum for this purpose.

The board adopted a resolution offering a compromise settlement of $500 to Veterans Administration settling a claim of $1,591.32 which VA maintains was overpaid to the Holland school system from the year 1946 to 1952. First claims for this amount were filed in 1954, and during the last three years considerable correspondence has been exchanged.

Secretary Lester J. Kuyper has informed boards of sending districts that it is estimated tuition for the coming year per non-resident high school student will be about $270, of which the sending district will pay $150 and the state reimbursing the district $120.

The board approved a wage schedule for custodians providing a $200 pay increase for the coming year. The new schedule starts at $3,600 with increments of $100 a year for seven years. An additional $200 is paid if the custodian has a certificate and has taken eight MSU courses. The board okayed a $6,500 salary for the buildings and grounds superintendent.

Three-week vacations were okayed for custodians who have given 10 years or more faithful service. Sick leave for custodians will be the same as other school personnel.

Supt. Walter Scott reported work is progressing on budget study and a special meeting of the board will be called soon to take final action. Calims for the month totaled $106,888.30 of which $89,652.61 was earmarked for payroll.

Dr. Kuyper reported on a personal visit to the fourth-year German class in Jefferson School and said he had been much impressed by the youngsters' knowledge and use of the foreign language. He presented reports on both the German and Spanish classes in lower grades.

President Wendell A. Miles presided at the meeting which lasted just under two hours. All members were present with the exception of Bernard Arendshorst. Miles gave the invocation.

Several Appear On Opening Day In Circuit Court

Local Woman Pleads Guilty to Reduced Charge, Draws Fine

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Several persons were arraigned on the opening day of the June term of Circuit Court Monday in Grand Haven.

Mrs. Sally Rotman, 21, of 458 West 21st St., Holland, charged with assault with a dangerous weapon, waived the reading of the information and Prosecutor James W. Bussard said he had no objection to reducing the charge in view of the fact that preliminary investigation indicated the charge grew out of a family quarrel in which Mrs. Rotman and her husband participated, and that justice does not require under the circumstances that Mrs. Rotman have a felony charge against her record and her husband nothing.

Mrs. Rotman then pleaded guilty to the included offense of simple assault and was sentenced by Judge Raymond L. Smith to pay $50 fine and costs. The charge grew out of a case Feb. 23 in which Mrs. Rotman allegedly assaulted her husband, Vernon, with a chair leg.

Carl Nemeth, 40, Hastings, pleaded not guilty to a charge of grand larceny involving money and checks of $100 or more taken from Glenwood Dodgson in Holland. Trial was set July 23 at 9 a.m. Nemeth currently is on probation out of Barry county on a similar offense.

Judge Smith denied a petition on restoration of operator's license for Joseph Korneelje, Jr., 42, East Main St., Zeeland. The judge said if Korneelje could quit drinking for one year he will be happy to renew the license, but for the present all that can be done is to keep the petition open. Korneelje told the court he already has quit drinking for three months, hence has only nine months to go. Records revealed the man had 11 drunk and disorderly counts and three drunk driving charges against him from 1937 to 1952. Since then, he had a drunk driving count against him in 1953.

Steve Sabo, Grand Haven, whose operator's license has been suspended for 18 months, was granted a permit for working purposes only, provided he furnishes financial responsibility and sign a pledge refraining from drinking. Sabo, whose license was suspended for two years Aug. 15, 1955, informed the court in his petition that he works for a construction firm which necessitates traveling to many locations.

Shirley Gardner Cushman, 22, charged with cohabitation, was placed on probation for 18 months and Judge Smith said he expects her and her husband to live with in the law, behave themselves and live respectably. Her companion, Roland Cushman, 26, pleaded guilty to a similar offense last April 23 and was placed on probation two years and required to pay $100 fine May 3.

Irene Faltinowski, 40, Muskegon, who pleaded guilty May 7 to a charge of breaking and entering, was placed on probation for two years and ordered to pay $50 costs on a monthly basis. The court noted she has had an alcohol problem in her life. She will pay no oversight fees but must abstain from the use of liquor. She allegedly broke into the Horace Brown garage building April 27 and took a tractor battery.

The court postponed the Arthur C. Yost trial until next term and set the Jason Kraak trial June 25 and the Herschel Mulling trial July 11. Yost is charged with practicing land surveying without being registered (alleged offense Oct. 29, 1955). Kraak faces an assault charge and Mulling is charged with attempted extortion.

Injunction Restrains Building of Gas Station

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Circuit Judge Raymond L. Smith has signed a temporary injunction restraining Henry Meyers of Grand Rapids from erecting a gasoline station across from the high school in the village of Coopersville. It is alleged the building is within 200 feet. The village is seeking a permanent injunction.

Jenison Youth Hurt in Water Skiing Accident

A Jenison youth escaped serious injury Tuesday night when he let go of the tow line while water skiing in Lake Macatawa near Wright's boat docks and slammed into shore.

David Diepenhorst, 18, Jenison, was treated at Holland Hospital for severe shock and body bruises and released. The boat was operated by Kenneth Sterk, 19, Jenison. The youth was knocked unconscious by the impact when he hit the sandy beach. His skis dug into the sand and stopped. Diepenhorst sailed over the top of them and landed in a heap.

Coast Guardsmen administered oxygen and artificial respiration to the youth until an ambulance arrived.

Ottawa County deputies also were at the scene. Three conflicting reports of the accident to the Coast Guard delayed their arrival for a few minutes.

Boatswains Mate First Class Walter Sears said that when reports of accidents or assistance calls are telephoned to the station he is sure and give an accurate description of the location.

Sears and deputies said the area where Diepenhorst was water skiing is restricted. A large sign on the beach at the spot where the accident occurred warns against water skiing. Sears said.

Sears said there are only certain areas in Lake Macatawa open to water skiing and that an investigation is underway into Tuesday night's accident pending possible prosecution.

Serne Outlines Pine Ave. Paving

Pine Ave. from Seventh St. to River Ave., which was once the bed of the Black River, is being paved with two inches of asphalt 24 feet wide. City Engineer Laverne Serne said Friday.

He said the next step in the project will be laying a gravel base and said it is hoped the paving will be completed by the end of the month.

The Black River once occupied much of that area. Serne pointed out, and lumber barges used to unload to the east of the present road.

The street was last "paved" several years ago when a seal coat, a dust-controlling surface designed for light traffic, was put on. The asphalt will be considerably more durable, Serne said. No curbs or gutters are included in the present paving plans.

Serne said the resurfacing program around the city is moving ahead satisfactorily and 22nd St. and Columbia Ave. will be widened around Prospect Park beginning Monday. The paving program is also progressing, with all curbs and gutters finished and gravel bases being laid.

HOUSE MOVING TIME — A six-room brick house was only a few feet from being settled on its new foundation on 11th St., between Fairbanks and Columbia Aves. Wednesday when disaster struck. A huge cable attached to the front of the house and lashed around a tree across the street snapped. The house rolled backwards into the foundation hole, bounced off the rear portion, and then the walls came tumbling down. The entire rear wall (top) collapsed in a pile of bricks. The bottom picture shows the side of the house with part of the wall gone and the front porch partially ripped away. Owner Ben Lubbers said he had recently purchased the home and it had been moved from its original site near 15th St. and Columbia Ave. He estimated the loss at between $3,500 and $4,000. The moving job was being done by Sam McCoy of Grand Rapids. Fortunately no one was injured. Workmen had been under the house minutes before adjusting several of the huge beams. (Sentinel photos)

Maybe Sale of Car Will Pay His Fine

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — James W. Deal, 30, route 2, Nunica, pleaded guilty to two counts when he was arraigned Monday night before Justice Eva Workman.

If the $104.90 fine is not paid, he will serve an additional 35 days, but he hopes to raise the money by selling his car. His license was revoked March 23, 1955, after a drunk driving charge.

A flash fire flared up following the explosion. The pair were picked up unharmed by a small boat from Easters. The Coast Guard put out the fire and towed the boat back to shore.

The interior of the 18-foot boat was gutted. Damage was estimated at $1,500.

Catherine Lepo, 45, of 309 Maple Ave., was taken to Holland Hospital where she was treated for leg injuries and then released.

City crews immediately began removing the sidewalk running the full length of the store. Workmen said the sidewalk was only a few inches thick and virtually unsupported.

The area underneath the walk had been used as a storage room but had been sealed off. Only a few steel beams supported the thin cement. Other supporting wooden beams had crumbled to dust leaving a huge hollow area under the walk.

Arraignment Postponed To Allow Detector Test

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Circuit Judge Raymond L. Smith Monday postponed arraignment of Delbert Mumby, 28, route 1, Orleans, and Duncan Tucker, 21, Ionia, charged with larceny from a motor vehicle, to allow time for the pair to submit to a lie detector test.

The pair waived examination in Justice Lawrence De Witt's court Monday morning and then appeared in Circuit Court Monday afternoon. Both told the court substantiating stories to the effect they were borrowing the tire in question, not stealing it as was alleged in the complaints against the pair by Undersheriff Harris Neuma.

The pair allegedly had taken a tire from the trunk of a car belonging to Hildebrandt Start which was parked at a tavern in Nunica, June 9.

Trends Point To More Migrant Labor in County

Seasonal Influx of 4,000 Migrants Poses Scores of Problems

Migrant Labor in Ottawa County" was approached from five different angles in a panel discussion Tuesday night in an Allendale township hall of the Ottawa County Health Council.

Steven Mead of Grand Haven served as moderator for the discussion which featured presentations by Richard Machiele, Ottawa agriculture agent; Henry Willis of the Michigan Employment Security Commission; John Wyman, Ottawa County health department; Jennie Kaufman, Ottawa county school superintendent; and Neela De Groot, Ottawa county Department of Social Welfare.

Machiele spoke of the changing trends in agriculture in Ottawa county the last decade. "Agricultural economy here is dependent on migrant help. The county farmers with an average farm of 75 acres cannot meet standards on dairying and poultry and turns to a cash crop. This involves harvesting and migrant labor."

Machiele said in the last 10 years 1,000 acres of blueberries have become productive and another 500 are in process. Since an acre needs five workers, this means a work force of 5,000 persons, of whom one-half to three-quarters are provided locally. This brings in 1,500 to 2,000 migrant workers on blueberries alone. Machiele estimated another 3,000 acres in pickles involving 750 helpers plus 1,000 Texas Mexicans; 500 acres in strawberries in which 80 percent is local help and 600 to 700 additional. He figured celery and onions involve another 200 migrant workers for a total need figure of 4,000 additional workers during the season. He said this does not take in fruit in the northeast section (Chester township).

Machiele felt the need for migrant labor will become even more intensified as more farmers turn to cash crops and more and more turn to part-time industrial labor. Of the 3,400 farmers in Ottawa county, Machiele figured 2,000 are in part-time industry, and the trend is for more and more migrant help.

Henry Willis of the employment service said Michigan ranks third in the nation just behind Texas and California in uses of migrant workers. He explained improvements in the national program whereby migrant workers are routed into various sections and general standards required in housing conditions. He said the government has far more control on the Mexican National program which involves specific work contracts, health examinations and other controls not required of the migrating American worker. He said there is no need for any "Grapes of Wrath" situations in the migrant program today.

Miss Kaufman, county school superintendent, said so long as Ottawa county employs the adults in harvesting, the children must be cared for too in the way of education, and of the 16,000 children enrolled in county schools last year, there were 1,168 transfers from September to May. These children came from 23 states and one foreign country.

She said there is little stability in such children and often their reaction to school is negative, but the local leaders must feel their responsibilities toward these American children and try to teach the right attitudes so that they can become good American citizens.

Sanitarian Wyman said the influx of migrants, particularly those who remain in the community, poses economic, social and cultural problems. He said industries providing housing usually have adequate housing, but that about 65 percent in other situations would not meet requirements because of limitations in sewage and improper wells. He said requirements do not call for flush toilets in all sections. In some cases where such facilities were available, migrants did not know how to use them. Yet with all the problems, there have been few cases of enteric diseases. He said education is most important to raise standards.

Miss De Groot said the welfare department is concerned more with the transients who "come on their own" than the migrant workers who usually have assignments. She described some welfare problems with families particularly from Kentucky and Arkansas and said it was not fair to the taxpayers to provide too much in the way of temporary support.

During the discussion period, the problem was posed on the migrant workers who buy a car (on time, of course) and then cannot obtain an operator's license because of illiteracy or language barriers. There was no ready answer to this problem, not to enforcement of the financial responsibility act.

Sgt. Jack Jones Speaks to Rotary

Sgt. Jack Jones of the Air Defense Headquarters, Grand Rapids, was guest speaker for Rotary at their noon luncheon Thursday.

Introduced by Miss Mary McLean, superintendent of the local Ground Observer Corps, Sgt. Jones spoke on the GOC and how it operates.

According to Jones, there are 800 posts in the Grand Rapids area, with about 60 in operation. The GOC is interested in getting the Holland area organized and in operation.

Many volunteers are needed, he said, as it requires two people to operate two hours per week. The GOC operates for tornado alerts as well as air-craft detection. In spite of the huge radar network, it can still be penetrated, as radar is effective only above 5000 feet. Human eyes and ears are needed for lower altitudes, he said.

Two air force films were shown, "The Dangerous Mile," showing Ground Observer Corps in action, and "The Battle of North America," a simulated attack on the U. S., and our defense against it. Sgt. Jones said that anyone interested in joining the Ground Observer Corps should contact Miss Mary McLean, or Winton Gibbons, Chief of the Holland area GOC.

Public School Custodians Keep Busy During Summer Months

Edward Prins, Superintendent of Building and Grounds announced that the summer months for the Public School custodians will find him busy.

He will open up the boilers for inspection, clean furniture and walls, mop, wax and make general repairs of curtains, chairs and windows as well as maintaining the grounds and play areas.

They will work at this until school opens on September 5.

Along with the increase in student enrollment and teachers the custodial staff has also doubled in the last 20 years.

The school custodians today work in the community in many ways. For many years the once-a-month PTA meet was the only night scheduled in a month; but now the school custodians work covers as many as 20 nights of activity per month.

Many worth while activities such as church service, Boy Scouts father and son nights, church group recreation, and adult evening classes are a part of the custodial coverage.

The Holland school custodians have taken an active part in inservice training in order to better the service rendered. Some have taken as many as 13 MSU maintenance courses.

All the school boiler rooms are now being painted and the pipes color coded.

Lincoln School is scheduled for painting on the inside and outside. At Jefferson, new playground equipment has been purchased and will be installed by the maintenance crew. Washington School playground will be extended and swings moved to the eastward.

This summer a football field for seventh graders will be begun and cared for at Jefferson. There will be summer play school in all the grade schools, basketball in Junior and Senior High and Sport School at the athletic field. Traffic court and other meetings are scheduled throughout the summer.

This summer a number of the custodians will spend two days studying new methods of cleaning, care of mechanical facilities and public relations.

VFW Nips Wierda To Stay Unbeaten In City League

The VFW, defending City League Softball champions, remained the only unbeaten team in the league today following a 2-1 victory over Wierda Upholstery Friday night at Van Tongeren field.

Barber Ford's came through with a 3-1 win over Mobilgas Dealers in the nightcap.

Lum Veldman, regarded as one of the best softball flingers in Western Michigan, received the call for the Vets and as usual, responded. He gave up just three hits.

But it was his bat that helped produce the victory. With the game knotted 1-1 in the bottom of the fifth, Lee Veldman singled, stole second and took third on Lum's single. The centerfielder had trouble retrieving the ball and Lee scored what proved to be the winning run.

Lee Veldman scored the first VFW run in the third. He singled to left; stole second, got to third on a passed ball and came home on an error by losing pitcher Ron Lamar.

Wierda tied up the game in the top of the fifth. Lou Borgman was hit by a pitched ball. He stole second and was driven home by Lamar's single.

Ron Wetherbee, Ted Bos and Lamar each hit safely for the losers as Veldman fanned nine. Lee Veldman paced the Vets with two hits and Jay Hoffman, Lum Veldman, Al Glupker and Jerry Kok each had one hit in the seven-hit attack.

Two unearned runs in the top of the sixth inning broke up a 1-1 tie and gave Ford's the victory.

Wayne Hop led off the sixth with a single, took second on an error, was advanced to third on Cal Bosman's single and scored on an error by the catcher. Bob Hop was safe on a fielder's choice, moved to second on Bosman's hit, took third on the error and came home on an error by the right fielder.

Mobilgas took a 1-0 lead in the third. Jerry Prince singled, took second following an error on the hit, made third on an infield out and scored on Rollie Frens' single. Bob Hop walked in the fourth, took second on an error, moved to third on a Bosman hit and home on an error.

Prince, Frens and Karl Essenberg hit safely off Wayne Hop while Glen Ebels, How Schutt, Wayne Hop, Ned Frenks, Bosman and Vern Hop each had a base hit for Ford's.

Between 350 and 400 persons gathered in the lobby of Durfee Hall on Hope Campus after commencement exercises for Holland High School Thursday night for a reception for Mr. and Mrs. J.J. Riemersma. Mr. Riemersma is retiring this year after 42 years with the Holland public schools, some 38 of which he spent as principal of Holland High School.

Members of the Board of Education and their wives together with Supt. and Mrs. Walter W. Scott were in the reception line, and at times the line of well wishers extended to the street.

There was no program at the reception, but the expressions of appreciation were much in keeping with the spirit that was evident at commencement exercises, teachers' banquets and other recent functions at which Mr. Riemersma's contributions to the educational world and in civic and church circles were recognized.

The Board of Education's tribute in the 1957 commencement program reads in part:

"As principal of our high school, he manifested a personal and genuine interest in each teacher on his staff and gave them wholehearted support in all areas of their work. Order and discipline saturated with a sincere regard for the welfare of all became the prevailing tone among faculty and students. He conceived a plan for student government in high school... and it became a model other schools in the state used. He wanted high standards of conduct in school and wherever Holland High's teams or students would go. Throughout the years some 7,000 students felt the impact of his personality on their lives. The ideals of his life centered in Jesus Christ; these ideals he coveted for each student."

Present for Thursday's reception were two "foster sons" of the Riemersmas, Dr. Clinton R. Harrison, who has a private practice in Baltimore as well as being on the staff of Johns Hopkins Hospital, and Dr. Timothy Stone Harrison, who is on the staff at Massachusetts General Hospital at Boston, had lived with the Riemersmas for several years while their father, Dr. Paul Harrison was in Arabia. Their older brother, Paul, a physicist in the research department of the Glenn Martin Aircraft Co. in Baltimore, had left Thursday for Libya, Africa, and could not be present.

Grandstanding...

By Randy Vande Water

George Zuverink perked up the Holland hot-stove league Monday morning as baseball followers bargained him with questions.

Zuverink, who has already won six games for the sixth place Orioles and is in a good position to compile his best won-lost mark, made his first stop at one of Holland's "corner drugstores" and kietzed.

The questions were sailed at the righthander almost as fast as the fast ball he has thrown past 14 batters this season.

Asked what pitches are working best, Zuverink responded that his sinker, the famed Zuverink zinker, and his slider are proving the toughest to hit.

"My sinker has been getting a lot of them. It sinks and then ripples slightly up," Zuverink said, "and the slider is really working for me this year. It's breaking quicker and with a good angle. I got Walt Droppo on it the other night."

"My forkball has been going okay and Ron Northey went down on that one Friday. My stuff was breaking better against the White Sox Friday than Sunday. It seemed the ball, especially my slider, just hung up inside Sunday and the guys were driving it down to Keli."

"What's the story on Keli?" someone asked. Zuverink verified the "near skull fracture" the veteran third baseman received Sunday when he stepped into the ball and caught it on the forehead. Zuverink reported he just missed "receiving a Herb Score" when talking about players getting hit. "Bob Cerv of the Kansas City Athletics" rifled one back at the mound last week and it zoomed just a couple inches over my head."

A White Sox fan asked if Chicago could stay on top? "They are awfully fast and they really run but they don't have a lot of hitting. I'm going to have to go along with the Yanks. They have the seasoned players and will get the hitting," Zuverink said.

Asked about his own ball club,

Zuverink replied, "We're not the fastest team and our outfielders are no gazelles but we're playing better defensively. We are in sixth now and with a few more breaks on this road trip, we could move into fifth."

Zuverink continued to relate some of the situations he has been in this season. He has appeared 21 times in compiling 6-2 mark. George had a 7-6 record in 1956.

One time against the Yanks, Zuverink was called in to pitch to Bill Skowron, who had a 3-2 count on him and men on second and third with one out. He fired one pitch and got Skowron to line to short for a double play.

Another time he fanned Ted Williams on a ball that had the Boston slugger dizzy trying to follow its path.

Talking about his seven-inning stinging in Detroit last month which he won in the 13th, Zuverink chuckled when he said, "I didn't think I had a chance in that one with Keli and (Wayne) Causey out with injuries and everyone of those Tigers able to hit the long ball. But I just kept throwing it in there."

Quoted earlier as saying he was "tired" from working a lot, Zuverink reported that "Richards" hates to see a pitcher get two or three outside ones on a batter and when this starts happening, I'm looking for the nod. Lately he has been calling on me sooner, the sixth or seventh inning. If it gets any earlier in the game, I'll be starting, Zuverink quipped.

Zuverink felt the Tigers were stronger in pitching this year with five starters but said, "Tighe is going to get in trouble if he keeps using starters as relievers. It's a long season."

That brought up the perennial question about trades. Well, Detroit wants me and they've tried to get me. They offered Richards Earl Torgeson (Detroit first baseman) but Richards isn't interested. Possibly I might go in a trade for (Bill) Tuttle but I don't think the Tigers are ready to give him up."

Library Adventures

—Arnold Mulder

It isn't often that a book by a world famous author remains unpublished for more than a century. That has happened to a volume of 88 pages by Herman Melville, author of "Moby-Dick."

In 1849, just before he began work on "Moby-Dick," the book that some critics have called America's greatest novel, Melville made a journey to England and Germany for several months to gather material for future writings. On that trip he kept a diary, which has been published by the Harvard University Press under the title, "Journal of 1849."

The book remained unpublished all these years because it was in the private possession of the Melville family. At long last Melville's granddaughter, Eleanor Melville Metcalf, undertook the job of editing it for publication.

How big a job that was is shown by the fact that the 88 pages of the text are followed by 87 pages of notes, to make clear all the casual references he traveler jotted down in his notes. Melville did not intend the book or publication; he merely jotted down a record of his comings and goings in England and Germany, the people he met and talked with, the meals he ate, the lodgings he occupied, the publishers he consulted. In short, the kind of things an average traveler might note down each night before turning in.

He did not bother to be correct in his spelling or diction, or even in his grammar. The notes were meant merely to refresh his memory later when he consulted them for material for future books. His granddaughter editor compares sections from books like "Moby-Dick" with rough passages in the notebook, showing how great literature often has its inception in the life and experiences of the author.

Incidentally, Herman Melville should be of special interest to people of Dutch descent, although Mrs. Metcalf quite naturally does not refer to this fact. By descent Melville was half-Hollander; he was connected by direct line, through his mother Maria Gansevoort, with the Hollanders of the Hudson River valley migration. Also incidentally, Walt Whitman was another such half-Hollander. Those two are the most famous writers of Dutch descent that America has produced.

When he went on his journey to England and Germany, Melville was far more famous than he was a decade later, even though "Moby-Dick" was still unwritten at that time. He had published a best seller called "Typee" and had followed it with another called "Omoo." There had been other books, such as "Redburn" and still another called "White Jacket" was ready for the publisher.

Melville's fame as a highly successful novelist gave him ready entree to many of the greatest homes in England. The British of those days were eager to welcome a man who appeared to be a coming great American novelist.

On his return home (this is not referred to by Mrs. Metcalf), he wrote his greatest book, "Moby-Dick," and also one of America's greatest of all time. But the American people refused to accept it and they killed it by neglect. Long before the Civil War opened Melville had been almost completely forgotten. He lived neglected until 1891. It was not until 1920 that America re-discovered his greatness. Today he is classed with the half dozen great writers America has produced.

VACATION ANT-HILL

The Preacher-author of the Book of Proverbs in the Old Testament enjoins his readers "to go to the ant, thou sluggard," for the purpose of getting wisdom from observing her ways.

Have you ever sprawled upon the ground in some area where for some reason apparently known only to themselves ants infest the real estate and watched them in their normal operations? If you have, you are sure to have wondered whether the Preacher-author was really as wise as he has been given credit for being.

Within any area of a couple of square feet the ants scurry about,
helter-skelter, up and down, back and forth, with no apparent rhyme or reason, hurrying as if they were running to a fire, colliding with one another, running three feet in one direction, then running three feet
or more in the opposite direction, without having done anything, getting nowhere.

To the philosopher curmudgeon
it appears that millions of the people of today have taken the Preacher-author's advice, that they have observed the ways of the ant and are imitating it under the illusion that they have gained wisdom.

Especially in the average summer vacation period that is now getting into its stride. If it were possible to get somewhere far above the earth where the whole panorama could be seen at a glance by the observer gifted with far and wide vision the activities of the ant world would be sure to find a human duplication.

Millions of human beings, mostly in automobiles, scurrying about the landscape; vacationers from Florida rushing madly to Michigan, and citizens of Michigan rushing just as madly to Florida; California cars infesting the highways
of the Atlantic seaboard states,
and cars with the license plates
of a eastern states clogging up
the traffic on western highways;
all of them rushing up and down,
back and forth, upgrade and down;
hurrying and agonizing in a mad
endeavor to avoid even a half hour of tranquility—such are the human ants that that philosopher somewhere up in the sky would see with growing wonder.

Perhaps he would guess that there is after all some pattern and design in all that mad activity,
that those millions of men, women, and children are getting health and renewed vigor out of it, or at least think they do, which amounts to much the same thing.
And on second thought, when you sprawl upon the ground and observe the mad rushings about of a colony of ants, perhaps you will come to the conclusion that the Preacher-author of Proverbs knew better what he was talking about
than you may at first have imagined. Doubtless there is design in that ant irrelevance of activity.
"Go to the ant, thou sluggard!"
may after all be pretty good advice.

I Can Get Away With It

Acts 5: 1-11

by Darrell Franken

Arrests are made, trials are conducted, jail cells are opened and closed but some still think "they can get away with it." No, you can't get away with it. Lots of people think they can, but police continually reveal the stupidity of people who, "did not get away with it."

Adam and Eve

When Eve plucked the apple
from the "tree of the knowledge of good and evil," she was doing something she thought would not hurt herself or others. It was just an apple, and she was just a human. But, God was displeased.
His commandment had been broken.
At this point God's justice outshone his love, and he taught her that one cannot disobey God's law and "get away with it."

Cain

Here is a person who thought he could get away with murder.
Jealousy and resentment had been fostered and corrupted Cain. His brother Abel was blessed by God
because of his faithfulness to God.
Cain became hostile to this. Instead of patterning his life after the Godly life of his brother he became angry and slew him. He didn't get away with it because God had witnessed it, and a grieved conscience was his punishment.

Jacob

Jacob thought he could deceive his father, Isaac, and obtain the birthright that belonged to his brother Esau. He got away with it but he paid an awful price for
it. He had to flee from home to save his life, and was gone 20 years before he could meet his brother on friendly terms. Sometimes, "getting away with something isn't worth the cost."

Pharaoh

When the Children of Israel
wanted to leave Egypt, Pharaoh
went back on his word ten times.
Ten times he said they could leave and ten times he said no. But on the tenth time, he and his whole army were drowned in their chase through the Red Sea. He didn't get away with going back on his word.

Samson

Sometimes a man of seemingly high character thinks he can play along with sin and wrong doing and quit when he desires. Samson tried this. He played with the temptress Delilah long enough until he fell into her snare. Then God and friends left him. He didn't get away with playing the Don Juan in a land of sin.

Anna and Sapphira

They sold their property in order to show others how much they were giving to the Lord. But they deceived themselves and God when they only gave a part of it and declared they were giving it all.
Both died immediately as a result of their treachery. "They didn't get away with it."

What sins are you trying to
"get away with"?

Joseph a Favorite Son

Genesis 37: 3-8; 23-24, 28, 31-34

by C. P. Dame

(Based on copyrighted outlines produced by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U. S. A. and used by permission.)
In our day many booklets and books are appearing dealing with family life and tensions and problems. A home should be a place of happiness but too often it is a place of troubles and tensions and tragedies. This lesson teaches us truths which modern families
need to master.

I. Family troubles have a cause.
They are usually caused by the members of the family. This was true of the tensions in the family of Jacob. The father was to blame in part. He loved Joseph more than all his children. He showed his love by giving him a coat of many colors—a coat or robe with long sleeves. There were several reasons why Jacob loved Joseph so much. He was the son of Rachel,
the only woman Jacob really loved. Besides this, Jacob and Joseph had things in common.
And Joseph was obedient to his father. It was however unwise for Jacob to show his love for Joseph in such a glaring fashion.

Jacob came from a home which was marred by a division and favoritism—the father loved one son and the mother loved the other one and now Jacob repeated the blunder his parents made and showed fondness for one son.

The older brothers were envious
of Joseph. They too were to blame.
They knew why Jacob loved Joseph much and they could have excused their father who saw that Joseph resembled Rachel and he could not forget. The affection which Jacob bestowed upon Joseph was in reality bestowed on the memory of his beloved Rachel.

Joseph also contributed something to the tensions in the family.
He reported some of the evil things which his brothers did, to his father. He became a "tattle-tale." And Joseph blundered in telling the family about his dreams
which foretold how his family would all bow down to him. His brothers "hated him more for his dreams and for his words." Joseph would have done more wisely if he had kept those dreams to himself. The father, the older brothers, and the younger brother, all contributed something to the family difficulties.

II. Members of a family can be cruel to each other. The father sent Joseph to Schemech to see how the brothers were getting along. Thoughtlessly the father sent Joseph into a trap. When the brothers saw Joseph coming in that hated long coat they plotted
to get rid of him. Two brothers, Reuben and Judah, prevailed upon the others not to kill Joseph but to spare his life. The brothers followed Reuben's plan and threw him into an empty cistern, and then they sat down to eat and they let Joseph look on with hungry eyes.

Unexpectedly an opportunity was offered to the brothers to get rid of Joseph without shedding of blood and at the same time getting some money for themselves
—they sold him to some passing merchants. This was done when Reuben was gone. He had planned to rescue his brother from the cistern. When he returned the cistern was empty and he felt sad
but he could do nothing to change
the situation.

The brothers had to tell something to their father. They killed a goat and took the robe of Joseph and dipped it in its blood and when they came home they told Jacob that they had found the robe which the father recognized.
Jacob was stricken with grief. The sons and daughters came to comfort him but all to no avail. The sons could not tell the truth without betraying themselves and so they undoubtedly must have felt uncomfortable when they saw the anguish of their father.

If the members of this family had shown sympathy for each other and had been more understanding and forgiving how much trouble they would have saved themselves! Members of families should be considerate of each other.

City Urges Compliance
With Rubbish Rules

City officials have launched on a program for stricter enforcement of rubbish regulations in the community.

One of the greatest problems is people hauling rubbish to the dump
in uncovered vehicles, allowing it to fall on the street. Police have been asked to assist in bringing about compliance with the rules regarding hauling of rubbish.

People are also warned that it is against city regulations to burn garbage in their yards in anything except an approved incinerator. Residents are to either bury their garbage or keep it in covered cans and have it picked up by rubbish haulers.

Iraq's oil field is said to be the largest single oil field in the world.

Three Rescued
When Boat Sinks

SAUGATUCK (Special) — Three

persons were pulled to safety from the Saugatuck Channel Tuesday night after their motorboat crashed into the south pier and sank.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sligh III 206 East 28th St., were pulled to safety by a Holland Bell Telephone
Co. employee, Dale Brower, 533
East 16th St., who was fishing on the north pier.

Brower said that he and his wife had been fishing from their boat but went to the piers instead because the water was too choppy.
He said he saw the motorboat make a sweeping curve into the channel and somehow struck the south pier headon. Two occupants were knocked from the boat into the water.

The third person jumped overboard when the boat started sinking. Brower immediately got into his boat and pulled along side Mrs.
Sligh who was calling for help in the middle of the channel.

Brower pulled Mrs. Sligh aboard and then helped her husband aboard. A second person helped the third person into a boat near the south pier.

The 16-foot inboard speedboat went to the bottom near the middle of the channel. Efforts to raise it were underway today.

The occupants were not injured.

nearby golf course said they heard a fisherman calling for help in the lake. Law enforcement officers of the state police, sheriff's department and Grand Haven police searched for the boat and dragged for several hours.

About the same time in the same area a youth identified only as being 19-years-old and from Marne got into trouble while swimming across the lake and was pulled to safety when his shouts of help
were heard.

Three Spring Lake boys
Douglas Pickett, 13, James Spencer, 14, and Jerry Kramer, said they helped the Marne youth out of the water twice when he failed in two attempts to swim across the lake.

Dime Will Give
3 Hours Parking

Three city parking lots now allow three hours parking for a dime
but it will cost you fifteen cents
if you have only nickels.

The lots are behind Brower's
Furniture Co., at the rear of Mills'
Ice Cream store and at Seventh
St. and College.

The meters were also adjusted
Tuesday to allow them to receive pennies and will give 12 minutes
time for each penny.

The new rates went into effect several weeks ago. Previously the meters allowed two hours parking for a dime and would not accept pennies at all.

A change was made in the meters
Tuesday to accept pennies. City Manager Herb Holt said the time clock hand does not move as far on the three hour meters as on a one hour meter when a penny is inserted.

Motorists have been complaining they were being short changed on the time. Holt suggested they check the dial to see if the hand indicates one-half of the dial.

Holland Minister Vice President Of General Synod

Dr. Marion de Velder, pastor of Hope Reformed Church of Holland, was elected vice president of the General Synod of the Reformed Church in America at the opening session of Synod at Buck Hill Falls, Pa., Thursday afternoon.

The Rev. Howard Schade, pastor of First Reformed Church of Nyack, N. Y., was elected president. He had served as vice president the past year under Dr. George Mennenga of Holland. Dr. Mennenga, of Western Theological Seminary, was elected Synod president just a year ago after having served as vice president.

The consistory of Hope Church,

Dr. Marion de Velder

of which Bruce G. Van Leuwen is clerk, today wired congratulations to Dr. de Velder. Dr. de Velder currently is considering a call to become executive secretary of the Board of Domestic Missions of the Reformed Church as successor to Dr. Richard Vanden Berg, formerly of Zeeland.

Dr. de Velder is a graduate of Central College in Pella, Ia., and of New Brunswick Seminary, New Brunswick, N. J. He served the Reformed Church of Churchville, Pa., from 1937 to 1939 and came to Holland in 1939 to become pastor of Hope Church.

He is a member of the executive committee of the Board of Education of the denomination and a member of the board of trustees of Central College. He also is a member of the committee on the World Council of Churches and served as director of the United Advance campaign from 1946 to 1949.

Rev. Schade, the new president, is a graduate of Hope College and New Brunswick Seminary. He served churches in Coxsackie, Tappan and Tarrytown, N. Y., before going to Nyack.

Dr. Mennenga, retiring president, is presiding at most sessions of General Synod, which lasts about six days.

General Synod last year convened in Holland with Hope College and Western Theological Seminary as joint hosts. The session here was associated with the "year of dedication" for the new seminary headquarters.

Seminary Chapel Setting For Carey-Smith Nuptials

The Chapel of Western Theological Seminary was the setting for the Saturday afternoon wedding of Miss Julie May Smith, daughter of Judge and Mrs. Raymond L. Smith and Thomas A. Carey son of Mr. and Mrs. George Schumack.

The Rev. John O. Hagans performed the double ring ceremony before a setting of ferns, palms, bouquets of white daisies and white stock and candelabra.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in her floor length gown of silk taffeta fashioned with a deep neckline delicately cuffed and accented with leaf sprays of sequins and seed pearls. The fitted bodice had long tapering sleeves. The full bouffant skirt extended into a chapel train. Her French illusion veil was held in place by a Juliet cap of lace. She carried a white Bible topped by white daisies and white feathered carnations.

Attending her sister as maid of honor, Miss Phyllis Smith wore a white organdy dress with a two-tone pink sash terminating in a back bow. She wore matching pink daisies in her hair. She carried a natural straw basket with pink, white and blue daisies.

The bridesmaids wore pink organdy dresses styled similar to the maid of honor's. They carried baskets of daisies in the same tones. Circlets of daisies were used as headbands.

Miss Sonja Bouwman, Miss Alice Hadley of Fremont, Ind., sorority sister of the bride, and Miss Ruth Smith, sister of the bride, attended her as bridesmaids, with Diane Willits, niece of the groom, as flower girl. She wore a pink organdy dress and carried a white basket filled with rose petals. Paul Willits, nephew of the groom, wore a white palm beach suit for his duties as ringbearer.

The groom asked Andrew Spyke, Jr. to assist him as best man. Ushers were Ronald Boeve, James De Vries and Richard Orquist of Muskegon.

Roger Rietberg, organist, played the traditional wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Miss Ann De Pree, sorority sister of the bride.

The bride's mother wore a blue print voile dress with decollete neckline, white accessories and a large white leghorn hat. Her corsage was a white orchid. Mrs. Schumack wore a beige lace dress with beige accessories and lace matching hat. Her rust colored orchid corsage completed the ensemble.

The reception for 200 guests was held in the Commons Room of the Seminary with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Willits, Jr., brother-in-law and sister of the groom serving as master and mistress of ceremonies. Miss Barbara Klomprens and Miss Linda Bouwman were in charge of gifts; Miss Jayne Scully, the guest book and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Helder presided at the punch bowl. Mrs. Anthony Bouwman and a group of Horizon Girls served. They included the Misses Sandra Boeve, Sally Niles, Janice Veen, Joan Ten Cate, Karen Andreesen, Nancy Nienhuis, Junia Dalman, Barbara Walvoord, Wanda Baker and Mary Jane Campau. Aunts of the couple poured.

For their wedding trip to Northern Michigan and Canada, the bride wore a beige ransilk two-piece dress with cherry red sash and short jacket, beige accessories and cherry red corsage matching the sash.

The bride was graduated from Holland High School, attended Michigan State University and is now attending Hope College. The groom was also graduated from Holland High School and Hope College and has been teaching in Grandville. In the fall he will teach in Holland Junior High School.

The couple will be at home at 93 West 15th St. after June 17.

Pre-nuptial showers were given for the new Mrs. Carey by Mrs. Harold DeVries and Mrs. George Moeke, Sr.; Mrs. Paul Willits, Jr. in Grand Rapids; Miss Hadley in East Lansing and by the Horizon group with Mrs. Bouwman, Miss Judy Ward and Miss Sonja Bouwman.

Five-Run Eighth Inning Uprising Provides Sullivan's With 10-5 Win

Five runs in the eighth inning broke a 5-5 contest wide open and supplied the margin for Grand Rapids Sullivan's 10-5 victory over H. E. Morse at Riverview Park Thursday night.

Four hits, including a triple, two walks and an error, provided the damage.

Holland, again paced by Dave Woodcock's bat, started strong and punched home four runs in the second inning to take a commanding lead. Woodcock poled his second homer in as many games in the frame with Whitey Witteveen, who had singled, on base.

John Adams singled and was worked around the bases from the third run along with Merle Human, who tallied the fourth run, and became a baserunner after being safe on an error. The runs wiped out the 1-0 second inning Sullivan lead.

Morse increased his margin to 5-1 in the third as Con Eckstrom drew a walk and scored on two errors by Frank Breen, Sullivan's pitcher. But then came the draught. Morse couldn't buy a run the rest of the game off Woody Schultz, Sullivan's reliever, who scattered three hits.

Sullivan's tied the score in the fifth inning with four hits, all singles and a fielder's choice.

John Holmlund started for Morse and pitched until the eighth when he was relieved by Lefty Westenbrook. Westenbrook faced one man, who singled and gave way to Carl Reimink who finished up.

Holland made six hits with woodcock and Whitey Witteveen each getting two. Woodcock's other hit was a double in the fifth. Witteveen cracked two singles. Adams and Norm Witteveen got the other safeties.

Line score:

Sullivan's 010 040 050—10 13 2
Holland 041 000 000—5 6 2

Batteries: Breen, Schultz (3) and Black; Holmlund, Westenbrook (1), Reimink (8) and Woodcock.

Three Injured In Two-Car Crash

An expectant Grand Rapids mother was among three persons injured Saturday at 5:45 p.m. in a two-car crash on M-21 at the State St. crossroad, south of Zeeland.

Mrs. Harriett Reiffer, 33, Grand Rapids, was taken to Blodgett Hospital in Grand Rapids, where she is being held for observation. She received possible rib fractures, and facial cuts and bruises.

Karl William Fortuin, 74, Kalamazoo, and his wife, Henning, 75, were both hospitalized in Zeeland Hospital. They each suffered fractured left shoulders and severe head lacerations.

Ottawa County deputies said Fortuin apparently failed to stop for the stop sign in the middle of the four-lane boulevard highway and was struck broadside by the westbound car driven by Stafford Reiffer, Jr., 36, Grand Rapids.

The Fortuins were both knocked from their car to the pavement. Their out of control vehicle continued down the highway and finally landed in a ditch nearly 100 feet from the point of impact. Both cars were extensively damaged, deputies said.

Damage Set at $300

Ottawa County deputies Thursday estimated damage at $300 to two cars which collided at the intersection of Lakewood Blvd and River Ave. They identified the drivers as William Miller, 44, of 160 West Ninth St. and Garrett De Young, 71, of 1470 Lakewood Blvd.

SCHOOL'S OUT, SUN'S OUT—Young fry last week gave the wading pool at Fairbanks Park its first real workout of the year and the combination of warm weather, sunshine and no more school lured bathing suits out of winter storage. Rough and tumble frolicking on the part of the boys and more ladylike cooling off by the girls was typical all week as youngsters began vacations. The boys in the foreground are having some fun with the hose that provides water for the pool. Another pool is nearly completed near this one.

Work Begun on New Edifice for Niekerk Church

Work on excavating for a new church to replace the old Niekerk Christian Reformed Church which was destroyed by fire March 17 was under way today following ground breaking ceremonies Tuesday night in which virtually the entire congregation participated.

Plans call for a new church in modern gothic design of brick and concrete construction to be built on almost the exact site of the old church. The new church will have slightly larger seating capacity than the old church, new plans to accommodate 350.

Plans also call for a full basement including a large assembly room, six classrooms, modern kitchen and rest room facilities. Jacques Kocker, Holland architect formerly of Chicago, is church architect. Construction contract was let to Maynard Vander Wal of Jenison. Cost of the new building is estimated at $90,000 to $100,000.

The Rev. John Beebe, church pastor, presided at ground-breaking ceremonies Tuesday night, speaking briefly on the new church. Clarence Brower, chairman of the building committee, turned over the first spadeful of ground, and Gerald Den Bleeker, consistory vice president, offered prayer. The congregation sang "The Church's One Foundation," "My Faith Looks Up to Thee" and "Faith of Our Fathers" with cornet accompaniment by Ronald Kapenga and Jay Wedeven.

A fund drive was carried on recently in which members pledged $19,000.

Since the fire March 17, the church has been meeting in Van Raalte School at 16th and 12th, just a half mile north of the Niekerk site.

The 90-year-old frame building was destroyed in a blaze believed started by an overheated furnace. Replacement cost at that time was estimated at $75,000. The parsonage nearby valued at $27,000 was saved. With the blaze visible for 20 miles, the Sunday night fire caused a traffic problem and deputies were hard pressed to keep fire lanes open.

Summer Reading Slated At Library for Children

Holland Public Library's summer reading program got underway Monday and will continue to August 31, Mrs. Hazel Hayes, local librarian said today.

In order to give every child in the city and surrounding area a chance to participate in the reading program, Mrs. Hayes said that a new system has been initiated whereby children who are unable to come to the city library will be able to get library books from local public schools, each of which will be open one day a week for an hour and a half.

At this time there also will be a free reading and story hour period conducted by Mrs. Mildred Alexander, elementary school librarian. A librarian from the Public Library will be at these schools to sign up children for the summer reading program as well as provide books.

The Public Library is open every day from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. with the exception of Saturday when it closes at 6 p.m. Books may be checked out at any time.

However, a special schedule has been arranged for the school stations as follows: Mondays, Longfellow, June 17 and 24 and July 8 and 15; Tuesdays, Thomas Jefferson school, June 18 and 25 and July 9 and 16; Wednesdays, Van Raalte school, June 19 and 26 and July 10 and 17 and Thursdays, Lincoln school, June 20 and 27 and July 11 and 18. These sessions are held from 1:30 to 3 p.m. in the libraries of the various schools. Children living outside of the city limits are required to pay a 25 cent fee for the summer.

In expressing her gratitude to the various schools for their cooperation in this summer project, Mrs. Hayes said that many more children will be able to take advantage of the reading program.

"Modern American Explorers" is the theme for this year's program and a unique system has been initiated in keeping track of the books read by the children.

As soon as the child joins up for the summer program he is given a large map of the United States outlined. For every book read a state sticker will be placed on the map. Ten books must be read to receive a Reading Certificate. These first ten must contain information about ten states and must be within the child's grade level. After that a sticker will be given for every other book read. Oral reports are to be given of the first ten books only.

All children who have completed 10 books or more at the close of the summer will be guests at a party to be staged at Kollen Park on Sept. 7.

GE Employment Now Over 700 In Local Plant

Since its beginning over two years ago, the local operation of the General Electric Company has increased employment to over 700 workers. During this period of growth a number of local persons have been advanced to supervisory positions.
