New Library Agreement Is Approved

City Council Wednesday night approved a proposed agreement in which Herrick Public Library will furnish library services for a one-year period to residents in Ottawa and Allegan counties without legal access to a public library for a fee of $1 per family unit.

This program involves the Holland Library Board and the Allegan and Ottawa County Library Boards. In return for the library services, the counties will pay to the city the penal fine monies received in 1964.

This involves approximately $18,000 from Ottawa county. The amount from Allegan county has not been determined.

The Ottawa county agreement provides further that the city will furnish a collection of books to the city of Hudsonville and to Jamestown township.

This program of expanded services for Herrick Public Library has been under study by the Library Board for several months.

Council adopted two recommendations from the Holland Planning Commission on zoning ordinance amendments. One calls for rezoning certain areas in the south and west portions of the city from agricultural to A-O one-family residential. This action was recommended in view of the site of the new Christian High School.

The other recommendation calls for changes in the requirements of lot width, lot area and sideyards in A-O one-family residential areas. This was recommended because of the accessibility of water services in the areas.

Also approved was a city manager's recommendation to allocate up to $1,000 from the capital improvement fund to hire the services of Architects Kammeraad and Stroop to plan additional recreational facilities in local parks.

The program calls for service buildings at the city tennis courts and at Maplewood recreation grounds, a picnic shelter at Kollen Park, and a study of the grandstand at Riverview Park with a view to providing interim stadium facilities there. The Maplewood service building will be given priority.

A communication from the Board of Public Works protested Council action pertaining to connection charges for water and sewer customers outside the corporate limits. The communication pointed out:

1. Agreements have already been made with several of these customers for service in good faith.

2. Retroactive charge has some doubtful legal status.

3. Such action should be initiated by the board under the charter with Council having the authority to approve or disapprove. It is felt this action should be reviewed for a more equitable solution.

The communication was received and filed.

A letter from the consistory of Faith Christian Reformed Church expressed disappointment over Council's decision to open Windmill Island on Sunday, pointing out this may lead to Holland's becoming a wide open town on Sunday. This communication also was received and filed.

Mayor Nelson Bosman presided at the meeting which lasted about an hour and a quarter. Councilmen Henry Steffens and Eugene Vande Vusse were absent. The invocation was given by Dr. Jacob T. Hoogstra of Prospect Park Christian Reformed Church.

Hired for elementary positions are Mrs. Jennie Dyksterhouse of Holland who has had 40 years of teaching experience, 19 years with Federal School; Mrs. Eileen Van't Kerkhoff, who has had four years of teaching experience, and Miss Virginia E. Reed, a 1965 graduate of the University of Michigan.

Mrs. Dyksterhouse is a graduate of Western Michigan University and Mrs. Van't Kerkhoff is a graduate of Central College. Mrs. Van't Kerkhoff will teach half days. She formerly taught two years at Montello Park.

Hired for secondary school positions are Harvey J. Meyer who will teach senior high vocal music; Constance Thiel who will teach junior high German, and Janet Grace Howe who will teach senior high German. Meyer, who has had eight years' teaching experience, holds B.M. and M.M. degrees from Oberlin Conservatory.

Miss Thiel has just received an A.B. degree from the Flint College of the University of Michigan this year. Miss Howe is a graduate of Western Michigan University and has had two years of experience.

With the hiring of these six teachers, only four teaching openings remain in the school system. One is for junior high vocal music, another for junior high girls' physical education, and two elementary openings.

The board took under consideration a communication from John F. Donnelly, secretary of the Holland Council for Inter-School Cooperation, recommending an adult education program for the community, starting in the fall of 1965 with a small but coordinated program which could be the first step in an expanded program.

The communication also recommends that a committee be appointed to study a long range program of adult education, possibly five years, including the possibility of a community college. It also recommends that a part-time person be hired to coordinate the work of the council in fostering adult education. It is the intent of the Inter-School Council that the program be made self-supporting.

The annual report of the Holland High School Library as compiled by Librarian Lucille Donovan revealed a total number of volumes at the close of school as 9,193.

The report revealed that 14 students worked six hours each week for a total of 84 hours. Total circulation the first semester was 8,357 and the second semester 10,799, for a total annual circulation of 19,156. The library subscribes to 65 periodicals.

The board approved several recommendations of the buildings and grounds committee. One was approving a bid of the Westshore Construction Co. of Zeeland for blacktopping and drainage at the Holland Heights playground and a small amount of blacktopping at Lakeview School. Another was a bid for asphalt tile of $359 by Superior Tile Co. for the floor for the electronics room in the senior high vocational building to be used by vocational students of Holland, West Ottawa and Zeeland.

Another was for student seating for sixth graders, first graders and senior high students by the American Seating Co. for a total of $2,007.

The board declined an offer for the John Greengood home at 64 West 15th St., consistent with declining a previous offer of the Wenzel sisters for sale of property nearby, on the basis that the board has no plans for use of the property at present, and no funds for such purchases.

Police and Fire Facility Studied By City Council

City Council has taken under study an architect's plan for a new facility for Holland police and fire departments.

As drawn up by Kammeraad and Stroop, Holland architects, the 21-page booklet is a complete study of departmental needs, histories of both departments, requirements, cost estimates, etc.

In view of high costs of renovation and inadequate present sites, the report recommends a new facility for police and fire departments in the vicinity of City Hall, or possibly south of Civic Center, plus a new suburban fire station to serve the eastern and southern areas of the city.

Total cost of such a program is listed as $690,000. Three possible methods of financing are listed: (1) a "pay as you go" program with funds coming from the capital improvement fund, (2) general obligation bonds, (3) funds from the federal government for this category of project.

A good share of the report is devoted to the history of both departments.

Fire station No. 1 on West Eighth St. was built around 1870 to house the Eagle Fire Co. The eastern half was built in the 1930's to house the police department and in 1939 a small office was added to the west to provide a separate entrance for the fire department.

Fire station No. 2 three blocks to the east was built in 1883 as the home of the Columbia Hose Co. The second floor of the fire station served as City Hall and the Library, also as a precinct voting station. Both fire stations were built for hose and wagon fire companies. Kitchens now occupy space where stables used to be.

Before the 1930's, the police force of Holland was quartered in the northwest quadrant of the ground floor in City Hall. A federal program in the 1930's resulted in an addition to fire station No. 1 to house the police force. Brick veneer was extended across the front of the old fire station to unify the two buildings.

The brick and windows for the new addition were taken from the Ottawa Furniture Co. which had been demolished. The boiler of the old factory also was reused.

Over the years the community has grown from approximately 12,000 to approximately 25,000, and the area of the city from three square miles to about 14 square miles.

In this time the fire department has grown to its present status of 19 fulltime employees and 32 volunteers with five major pieces of equipment. The police department consists of 30 regular police officers, seven special or parttime officers, three clerks and two maintenance men for the care and maintenance of building, cruisers, motorcycles and parking meters.

The report puts great emphasis on inadequacies of facilities for both departments.

In emphasizing the need for a suburban station, the report points to two barriers. The first and most serious is the railroad with grade crossings only which cuts off the east third of the city from the fire stations. A long freight train could delay fire engines for a substantial and critical period of time. A less serious obstacle, but still an impediment, is the heavily traveled, high-speed limited access highway, again separating the eastern part of the city.

A future consideration is the extensive and high value industrial park now developing in the southeastern part of the city.

The Michigan Inspection Bureau recommends a station within one mile of any point in such an industrial district. Other considerations are that travel distance to any point in the residential district should not exceed two miles. A central station plus a suburban station would meet these requirements.

The Central Park area has its own fire station which became a part of the city fire department after joining the city. This station is serviced by volunteers only.

Functional inadequacies of the police station resulted in a long list, covering virtually every operation of the department from a makeshift vestibule, a too-small reception area to inadequate offices, work rooms, storage, no pistol range, insufficient space for police cars and visitors, and no roll call room or physical fitness room.

To remodel fire station No. 1 and police facilities for police use only would cost $110,500, whereas a new building of the same size would cost about $144,000. However, a building of 8,000 square feet for police facilities is not of adequate size. Adding an addition of approximately 5,360 square feet plus renovation of present building would cost $205,000 whereas erecting an entirely new building on that site would cost about $239,000.

In recommending a new central site for police and fire facilities, the report points to the Holland Area Master Plan of 1953 and its ideal of bringing city buildings closer together, Centennial Park provides a natural setting for such development. Area south of Civic Center is a possible alternative. No site is pinpointed for the suburban fire station.

The report projects the following cost estimates: new police station, $336,500; new central fire station (replacing the two downtown stations), $239,200; new suburban fire station, $114,800; total, $690,000.

Gravel Pit Claims Two At Zeeland

Christian Eber Becker

Terry Allen Taylor

ZEELAND — Two sixteen-year-olds drowned Saturday afternoon in the Huizenga gravel pit south of the city limits in Zeeland Township.

Terry Allen Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Millard Taylor, of 10145 Perry St., and Chris Becker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Becker, of 2681 112th St., were found by sheriff's department skin divers in nine feet of water.

Sheriff's deputies received a call at 5:10 p.m. that someone had discovered two life preservers on shore of the gravel pit located south of M-21 near 96th Ave., along with two fishing poles. Their ten foot boat was found overturned in the water with a five horsepower motor.

The youths had gone fishing early in the morning and had returned home about 10 a.m., they then returned to go fishing again.

Sheriff's deputies were assisted by Zeeland police and Civil Defense officers. Special deputies had to be assigned to the area to take care of the large crowd of spectators which interfered with traffic.

Dr. Melvin Prieswyk served as medical examiner and pronounced the youths dead at the scene.

Funeral services for Becker will be held Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. at Hope Reformed Church with the Rev. William C. Hillemonds officiating. Burial will be in Pilgrim Home cemetery.

Becker is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Becker; two sisters, Jill Ann and Lana Ruth both at home; his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Eber Sheffield of Holland; his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Christian E. Becker of Grand Rapids.

Having just completed his sophomore year at Zeeland High School, Becker, who was born in Holland, had earned his letter on the golf team where he played number one. He also scored the lowest score in the history of the Zeeland High golf team. He

Indoor Swimming Pool Planned

A plan for an indoor swimming pool, proposed by the Holland Council for Inter-School Cooperation, and to be built at a cost not to exceed $500,000 including the site, was approved by the Holland Board of Education Monday night.

Plans call for a special election in the fall. Construction would be financed by a one-third mill per year tax which would not be levied until after the Civic Center is paid for in 1967 resulting in no appreciable increase in taxes.

The pool would be regulation six lane, 45-foot by 75-foot pool plus a separate diving area and beginners area, adjacent to the pool.

The building would include locker rooms, an office and seating for 500 spectators, Harvey Buter, board president said in outlining plans to the board.

A site committee will be selected this week to decide where the pool would be located. The site committee is to be composed of representatives of Christian, Catholic, Adventist and public schools.

During school days the pool would be used by each school system on the basis of enrollment for regularly scheduled classes.

Sites suggested by the Inter-School Council are the athletic field at 24th St. and Maple Ave., the area south of the high school parking lot at 26th St. and Van Raalte Ave., and the school property at 27th St. and Harrison Ave. All three sites are owned by the Holland board of education.

The special election would be conducted by the board of education and would involve the Holland school district. The proposition would be a bond issue for $500,000, requiring a favorable vote by property owners.

If approved, the project would start in the spring of 1966 with construction completed in 1967. The first tax levy would then be due in 1968 after the Civic Center debt has been retired. The Civic Center bonds involve payments of $50,000 a year.

The Inter-School Council represents the public, Christian, Catholic, Adventist schools and Hope College. The group has recommended the administration of the pool be the responsibility of a board of control appointed by the Holland board of education. It would be constituted by equal representation from the Adventist, Catholic, Christian and public schools.

A special sub-committee made its recommendations to the Council following a study of costs, availability of sites which would be equally convenient to all schools and the community, and opinion as expressed in past public discussions of a city-owned swimming pool.

Serving on the sub-committee were Richard Arthur, Jerry Jonker and Buter representing the St. Francis de Sales School, Holland Christian School Society and Holland board of education respectively.

Pool use, as suggested in the proposal, would be restricted to regularly scheduled student classes on school days from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. Students would pay no fees for these activities.

At other times, including evenings and Saturdays, the pool would be open for public swimming on a fee basis. During the summer, the pool would be part of Holland's recreation department.

SET MIAA RECORD—Hope College's quarter-mile relay team, using a unique method of exchanging the baton, won the MIAA 440-yard relay this season at the MIAA Field Day in

Hope Relay Team Used Unique Exchange

Track is American in all of its aspects as is witnessed by the United States' showing in the Olympics but only the relays are American in origin.

It was at the University of Pennsylvania in 1893 that relays were introduced by Frank B. Ellis and H. L. Geyelin and Penn and Princeton competed in the first relay.

The pair deliberately sought something to make track sports draw more contestants and spectators. They conceived group effort as the solution.

An outgrowth of the first relay, was the beginning of the Penn Relays in 1895 and since then many other relay events have been staged. Examples include the Drake Relays and Kansas Relays in addition to many prep relay meets.

Relays arouse spectator appeal and also provide more track participants a chance to be on the team. Relay teams are composed of four persons.

The mile relay was the first such event and for many years the 400-meter relay was a part of the Olympics. But it wasn't included in the collegiate meets.

In the fall of 1963, the MIAA, of which Hope College is a member, was looking for a crowd-pleasing first event. They voted to include the 440-yard relay as a part of the track agenda in 1964.

But unknown to the MIAA, the NCAA also was studying the possibility of adding the 440-yard relay to its track slate. The 1964 NCAA rules book included the 440-yard relay and it is a sanctioned NCAA event.

Hope College's 440-yard relay team set an MIAA record of 43.2 at the MIAA Field Day this year, breaking the mark of 43.5 set by Albion in 1964.

Coached by Gordon Brewer, Hope's quarter-mile relay team was composed of sophomore Gary Holvick and junior Bill Hultgren of Dearborn, Ray Cooper of West Paterson, N.J., and Bob Thompson of Ridgewood, N.J., both freshmen.

Brewer felt one of the reasons Hope set the record was because of the baton exchange. The Hope coach got the idea from Lloyd (Bud) Winter of San Jose State, who saw the Russians and British use a version of the handoff in the 1960 Olympic Games.

A characteristic of the short sprint is that the sprinter runs with his arms as well as his legs and the less his arm action had to be interrupted, the better he can keep his balance.

Conventionally, the relay runner gives the baton with his left hand to the right hand of the next runner. But in the Hope exchange, the No. 1 runner, who is passing the baton on the curve, passes across his body to the No. 2 man, who takes the baton with his inside or left hand.

The No. 3 man, running on the backstretch, takes the baton with his right hand and passes to the inside left hand of the No. 4 man, who starts on the curve.

The No. 2, 3 and 4 runners put their palm up behind them to take the baton. Brewer pointed out the front end of the baton is placed in the back of the hand when the palm is up and when the runner brings his palm up into the regular position, the front end of the baton is free to be placed in the next runner's hand.

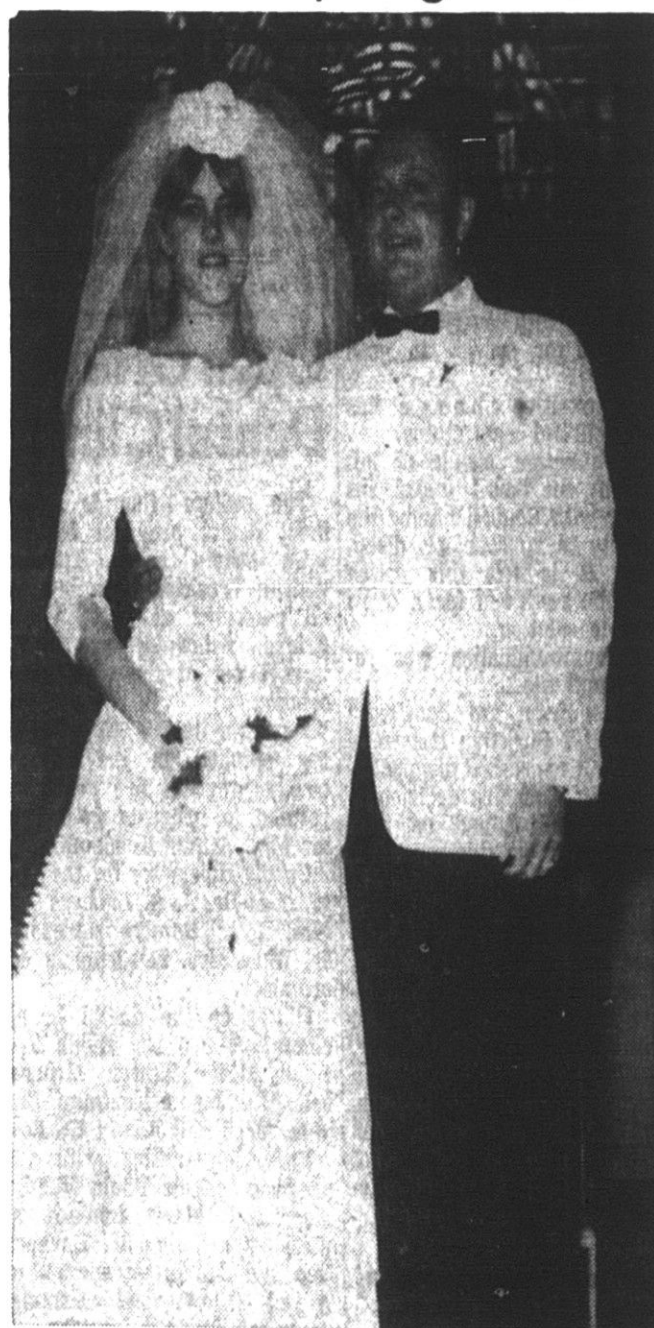

Each leg of the relay is 110 yards from a running start. In the sprint relays, the contestants are allowed to line up 11 yards out of the passing zone, but they must pass the baton in the zone.

Hope's team started a few steps out of the passing zone, which is 20 meters or 22 yards.

Brewer feels a runner, in reaching up to the next runner, "gets three or four feet of free distance" in each relay. "Free distance" is achieved by reaching rather than running over the distance.

The "free distance" through the execution of the baton pass may have added to Hope's setting of the record, Brewer felt.

Mary Rottschaefer Is Wed to John Silverman

Mrs. John L. Silverman

Palms, white snap dragons, mums and candelabra were the setting at the First Reformed Church on Saturday afternoon for the ceremony which united in marriage Mary Rottschaefer and John L. Silverman.

The Rev. Bernard Brunsting officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Larrie Clark was the organist, and the soloist, Larrie Clark, sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Miss Rottschaefer is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William Rottschaefer, 1095 South Shore Drive, and the groom is the son of Harry Silverman, 19 Kensington Road, Worcester, Mass. and the late Mrs. Silverman.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a long white linen gown with open Swedish lacework on the modified bell skirt and plain chapel train. A matching headpiece of Swedish lace held the fingertip veil. She carried a round clustered colonial bouquet of white sweetheart roses and stephanotis.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Peter Schwartz who wore a long gown of pale yellow organza with white daisies embroidered on the bodice and hemline. A headpiece of small yellow bows held a short matching veil. She carried a white straw basket with yellow and white daisies.

Diane Rottschaefer and Susan Rottschaefer, sisters of the bride, Martha Silverman, sister of the groom, and Pamela Hughes were bridesmaids and wore gowns identical to that of the matron of honor.

For the occasion, the bride's mother selected a light blue silk dress with white accessories and a corsage of white roses.

Edward Klotz was best man, and Louis Bloch, Bernard Edinberg, Richard Grandell and Alan Chasen served as ushers.

Following the ceremony a reception for 100 guests was held at the bride's home. Attendants were Sue Charbeneau of Ann Arbor at the guest book, Judy Martin and Nancy Mulder at the punch bowl, and Debbie Blair who served coffee.

For a wedding trip to the New England states, the bride changed to a light blue and green suit with black patent leather accessories.

The new Mrs. Silverman is a 1965 graduate of the University of Michigan School of Nursing and is a nurse in Ann Arbor. Mr. Silverman is also a University of Michigan graduate and is presently working on a Masters degree in industrial engineering.

After June 28, the couple will reside at 2002 Pauline St. in Ann Arbor.

The Temple Consecrated
I Kings 9:1-9
By C. P. Dame

Much church building is going on today. Our lesson tells us about the dedication of Solomon's temple which stood for four centuries and won much admiration. It is fine indeed to consecrate a building to God but it is still better to consecrate a life to Him.

I. The Lord still approaches people. In last week's lesson we noted that the Lord appeared to Solomon at the beginning of his reign and in this lesson it is recorded that God appeared to him the second time, and once again it was most opportune. It was after Solomon had built the house of the Lord and the royal palace that God approached him again.

The temple was dedicated during the feast of the tabernacles, an autumn festival of ingathering. Solomon offered the prayer of dedication—it is the longest prayer mentioned in the Bible. Following the prayer the king and the nation offered sacrifices to God and after a week of feasting the people went home with glad hearts and fond memories. God told Solomon that He had heard his prayer and that He would hallow the temple.

God still approaches people today. How? Often through His Word, at times through His workers, and now and then through events. Christian experience witnesses to this fact. And usually He comes just at the right time.

II. God makes and keeps His promises. Solomon's prayer won a response from God. Observe that God's promises are conditional, "And if thou wilt walk before Me, as David walked"—these words specify the condition. How did David walk? God cites his integrity of heart. David sinned but he was not tempted to be disloyal to God and worship an idol. Besides, David walked in uprightness, sought to do what was right in God's sight and when wrong was pointed out to him he repented. The example of a father is important—this must be stressed today.

God told Solomon that if he would follow David's example then the family would rule the nation but if he or his children would turn away from God's commandments then the future would be dark for the royal family and the nation. Some people pay attention to the promises of God but disregard His warnings. God's warnings are timely. Solomon heard God's warning at a time when he and the nation were prosperous. We are living in times of prosperity. Warnings are sounded forth from God's Word—are they heard?

The later history of Israel reveals that when the rulers and the people heeded God, blessings came but when they ignored God then adversity followed. The great sin of Israel was idolatry. This sin is caused by unbelief. When God's laws are obeyed, rewards come. When His laws are flouted, tragic consequences follow. Israel's temple was destroyed, the nation was carried into captivity and so the nation which could have been a power for good ceased to be due to its sin. The nation ignored the promises and the warnings of God.

Council Mulls TV Franchise

ALLEGAN — An application for a franchise to operate a community antenna television cable service here has been presented to City Council here.

Buell Daniel, local television technician and former electronics instructor, who is seeking the franchise, explained to Council that such an installation "could eventually result in bringing eight or nine additional stations into the Allegan viewing area as well as the MPATI educational program in the Chicago region. The plan calls for individual subscription similar to the minimum fee for television service.

The community antenna television cable service was originally inaugurated in mountainous areas to bring reception into the valleys.

Council requested Daniel to conduct a representative survey of area residents to get their reaction to the proposal before final consideration is given to granting the franchise.

In other business, Scott Stevenson was appointed to the library board replacing Mrs. Dan Conroy who recently resigned.

The trial of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Smith of 119 West 10th St. charged with child neglect was adjourned for decision following completion of testimony before Municipal Judge John Galien Tuesday afternoon.

Defense attorney John Hoffman of Allegan said he would file a brief on the case.

The Smiths were charged following the death of their six-month old son, Dwain, April 28.

Patrolmen Russell Hopkins and Corporal Clarence Van Langevelde testified that the clothing the child was wearing and the bassinet in which he was found were covered with filth and human waste at the time they found the child's body.

Dr. Charles Wang, Holland Hospital pathologist, said that the boy died of suffocation, and that "there was no evidence of trauma nor external injury."

He said the child had been dead several hours before the death was reported at 6 p.m. April 28.

Boys Write, Print, Deliver Neighborhood Newspaper

"We beat the Sentinel on the false alarm at the Peoples State Bank!" exclaimed young editor Dan Padnos proudly. His staff chimed in, "... and on the tennis scores and the softball games ..."

Is Holland becoming a two-newspaper town? One might think so if he visited the basement newsroom of the Neighborhood News, and found aspiring journalists Dan and Doug Padnos, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Padnos, 53 East 30th St., hard at work to "scoop" the Sentinel on a story.

The Padnos brothers, with their dedicated staff of five, ranging in age from 10 to 13 years, solicit advertising, write, print, sell and deliver some 100 copies of the two-page weekly newspaper during the summer vacation months.

The biggest story that the Neighborhood News has covered in the three years it has been published was the one on which they "beat" the Sentinel this year. Reporter Kevin Counihan related it this way:

"We were downtown getting news last Thursday afternoon ... well, actually we were down trying to sell ads ... but, anyway, we saw some policemen running into the bank and we followed them in, 'cause it looked like a holdup or something," he said.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Leo Meyer and Mrs. Noel Long, both of Kansas City, Kans. and Mrs. Floyd Jackson of Grand Haven; two sons, Lester of Spring Lake township, with whom he made his home, and Gerald of Muskegon, one brother, Ed of Spring Lake township; four sisters, Mrs. O. M. Tidd and Mrs. Charles Klintworth both of Nunica, Mrs. Fred Ohlendorf of Spring Lake township and Mrs. Hector Sarasin of Muskegon; 14 grandchildren; four great grandchildren.

He was a former employee of the Ottawa County Road Commission for many years.

He was a member of the Church of the Nazarene in Grand Haven for 33 years. His wife, the former Ida Dorr, died in 1951.

Discharged Tuesday were Mrs. Jack Van Bragt and baby, 194 West 18th St.; Mrs. Lawrence Hosley and baby, 1206 136th Ave.; Mrs. Herman Weysschede, 130 West 15th St.; Mrs. Thomas Sanger, 58 West Ninth St.; Paul Weaver, 128th Ave., Allegan; Mrs. Edward Wells and baby, route 1, Fennville; Mrs. Jim Lamberts, 379 Mae-rose Ave.; Michael Vander Kooi, route 1; Sally Koning, 193 Beth Ave.; Mrs. Stanley Kleeves and baby, 116 Walnut Ave.; Richard Overway, 97 Columbia Ave.; Mrs. Willis Dale Van Huis, 619 Riley; Mrs. Donald McCallum, 16 East 17th St.; Donna Church, route 1, East Saugatuck; Mrs. Maynard Batjes, 23 West 17th St.; Russel Vander Wal, 415 West 22nd St.

SPATIAL PESTILENCE

Everyone who has lost his favorite tree to Dutch elm disease knows that pests can be transported from one part of the world to another. It is also true that when pests are transported to new areas they encounter victims that have no immunity to or resistance against them. The result is a pestilence.

The spread of earthly plagues is pretty well controlled. Inoculations and quarantine have seen to that. But now we face another threat to health and life according to biologist Allan H. Brown of the University of Pennsylvania. He, the National Academy of Sciences, and the Space Administration are all worried about the introduction of pests from space. Scientists are relatively sure that there may be life on Mars. There is a possibility that some forms of life may exist on the moon. The problem is that some day in the future we will be landing people on these planets and, what's more, bringing them back to earth, perhaps infested with microscopic organisms living on those planets.

What these little bugs might do to living earthly matter is beyond the imagination. At best they might be compatible with earthly life-processes; at worst they might kill everything, man included.

To prevent such horrendous possibilities the Space Administration has appointed Dr. Lawrence Hall as a Planetary Quarantine Officer. He will try to keep any pests from Mars or the moon from upsetting our terrestrial life. It is to be hoped that he will be successful in quarantining any new threats to our life and convenience. What with trying to keep our elm trees alive and our crab-grass dead, we have enough problems without fighting a lunar plague.

Responsible Decisions Needed Today: Dr. Pruis

Diplomas were presented to 340 seniors of Holland High School at commencement exercises Thursday night in Civic Center.

Dr. John J. Pruis of Western Michigan University at Kalamazoo, who graduated from Holland High School 25 years ago with the class of 1940, gave the commencement address.

Dr. Pruis, administrative assistant to the president of the university, chose for his subject, "It Does Make a Difference," based on a line from one of Robert Frost's better known poems.

"Every decision, every action and every experience leaves its marks on us. The things we do and the places we live all become a part of us, but these things become useful and valuable only if used. If we don't put our education and accomplishments to good use, the things we have learned will atrophy like muscles not used."

"Life is not easy and decisions may be hard, but I can assure you that using one's education is not an unpleasant experience at all. It makes life challenging and interesting... the sort of thing that has thrown us from the stone age into medieval society and into the 20th century with its nuclear age."

"We need, more desperately than ever before, men and women who can make responsible decisions—important decisions on family matters, on school problems, state and local matters and the world. We need responsible decisions if only to prevent us from returning to the stone age or to destroy life as we know it," Dr. Pruis said.

He spoke highly of Holland's educational system, his pleasant memories at Holland High, adding, "When I left Holland High for Western in 1940 nobody had a natural advantage over me. Holland High had done its stuff and they're still doing it. You are more fortunate than I for you have a lot of knowledge not taught back in 1940, and I hope you will use it to good advantage."

Principal Fred S. Bertsch Jr. called the roll of seniors as Supt. Donald Ihrman gave out diplomas. School Mayor David A. Lauridsen introduced the speaker and William Elenbaas, senior class president, announced the class memorial consisting of $300 into the senior loan fund. The invocation and benediction were given by Dr. Henry Voogd of Hope College.

The class, arranged to height, made a fine picture in robes, white for girls and blue for boys, in the processional and recessional to the strains of Elgar's "Pomp and Circumstance," played by the Holland High orchestra under the direction of William Kisinger.

Australian Track Ace Visits Here

Ron Clarke, Australia's long-distance running ace, who holds world records in five events stopped in Holland Tuesday after smashing two of his own world records last Friday night.

The 28-year old Melbourne, Australia runner set world marks for three miles and 5,000 meters in the 5,000 meter event at the Compton Invitational meet in California Friday.

Clarke is the only man in track history to hold five records at one time. His world marks are: three miles, 13:00.4; 5,000 meters, 13:25.8; six miles, 27:17.4; 10,000 meters, 28:15.4 and ten miles, 47:11.

Clarke and his wife are the guests of John Van Hoboken, 17 West Tenth St., while in Holland. Van Hoboken, a friend of Clarke's, moved here from Australia two years ago.

Clarke competes in a three-mile run in Toronto Thursday night, and then goes to England, Germany and Scandinavian countries to compete before returning home.

While in Holland the Australian ran more than 20 miles around the Ottawa Beach area — his daily training routine, and kicked off the Jaycees' Junior champs track meet.

Clarke said he hoped the Junior Champs meet would foster an interest in sport's competition and fitness among Holland area youth. The Junior Champs meet open to boys and girls between the ages of 13 and 16 will be held at West Ottawa High School June 19. Preliminaries are slated Saturday at 1 p.m. at the 22nd St. track.

Clarke feels the most important thing in becoming a top runner is consistency of training. He trains by running — and plenty of it.

Since he began "seriously" running in 1961 he has run two or three times a day for a total of about 25 miles. On weekends he frequently takes one long run of 30 miles.

a training session on the way to Holland Van Hoboken arranged for the Australian to run at the University of Chicago track. He took an airliner from Los Angeles to Chicago.

Clarke thinks it takes about three or four years of training for a distance runner to reach his peak.

Clarke, who runs everything from the mile to the marathon (more than 26 miles), is reported edly best at the longer races short of the marathon.

"I like the shorter races better," he quipped, "but I run better at the longer distances."

Clarke's record shattering victory in California was typical. He led most of the way defeating his opponents with a blistering pace.

According to a national sports magazine he does not possess much of a sprint at the end of the races. Instead of a fast finish, Clarke reportedly sets or forces a torrid pace to burn out the competition before the stretch.

In the 1964 Olympics at Tokyo he finished third in the 10,000 meters in which he was favored, when Billy Mills, an American, and another runner "kicked" past him in the last lap. Clarke also finished ninth in the 5,000 meter run and ninth in the marathon at the 1964 Olympics.

Clarke who was born and raised in Melbourne began running at age 16, and set several junior records while in high school. He let up from intensive training while studying to be an accountant, but resumed running in 1961.

He is six feet and 165 pounds has a "picture" running style according to a national sports magazine.

Clarke works as an accountant for firms owned by Van Hoboken's father. He squeezes in his running in the early morning, at lunchtime and in the evening.

Clarke says the running allows him to get away from his cares much as a walk relaxes most persons. He added that one really has to like to run to keep to the training schedule.

Clarke hopes to continue running for at least two or three more years — probably through the 1968 Olympics. He added that some long-distance runners continue to improve until they are 38 or 40 years old.

$25,000 Damage Suit Is Filed

GRAND HAVEN — Arthur Dykhuis, Holland, and Auto Owners Insurance Co., Lansing, started a suit in Ottawa circuit court Thursday seeking $25,000 damages from William Koetje, Zeeland, and Loren Pitsch, Byron Center, of the South Kent Wrecking Co.

The suit is the result of an accident involving two trucks on Adams street near Zeeland Jan. 6, 1964, in which Mr. Dykhuis was severely injured. His truck was damaged, he lost business because of injuries and he was hospitalized.

The plaintiff claims his truck was parked on the side of the highway and a pickup, driven by Mr. Koetje and owned by Mr. Pitsch, hit the truck.

The importance of the university for promoting our country's natural beauty was emphasized at a recent White House Conference. The education of our young children in the beautification of our land is our most important goal. Natural beauty reaches beyond the conservation of soil and water to include even the single tulip planted by a small child. Cleaning up unsightly roadways can be achieved with Federal support, but on the local level beautification will depend on an intense educational program.

Universities, particularly land grant institutions such as MSU, are responsible for many of these educational programs, and the Cooperative Extension Service has an active and important educational role.

The number of students enrolled in landscape horticulture and floriculture is greater than usual. A two-year program in landscape and nursery management prepares young men and women for careers in landscape horticulture. Graduates are employed by nurseries, garden centers, landscape contractors, park departments and estate owners. A second two-year program in floriculture prepares students for positions with retail florists or flower producers.

Both programs offer the student a year of study on the campus and a year of supervised placement training with employers off campus. At the present time, the number of job opportunities far exceeds the number of graduates in the field. Another indication of the tremendous interest in beautification is the crowds that have been visiting the horticultural gardens on the MSU campus. More than 12,000 people came to see the 9,000 bulb collection of tulips presented by the Netherlands Bulb Institute. The tulips are part of a large collection of annuals and perennials, as well as a collection of over 175 varieties of roses. The gardens are used not only for public display, but also serve as teaching laboratories for the students.

MSU will play an important part in these with its continuing research in such areas as horticulture, resource development and fisheries and wildlife.

In the fruit growing areas of Michigan the apple maggot, or "railroad worm" as it is sometimes called is one of the most serious pests of apples and plums. It is the number one insect pest of apples in home fruit plantings. All apple varieties may be attacked, but summer varieties are especially subject to injury. Later varieties, such as Fameuse, Jonathan, Northern Spy, and Red Delicious are also susceptible to attack.

In order to successfully control apple maggot, a knowledge of the insect's life cycle is important so control measure can be directed against the weakest link in the life cycle. The apple maggot adult is a black-bodied fly slightly smaller than the house fly. The female is larger than the male, having four white bands across the abdomen while the male has three. The wings of the fly are crossed by four dark bands.

Adult flies begin to emerge from their overwintering puparia (cocoon-like structure) in the ground during the latter half of June and continue to emerge through the middle of August and even into September. Some flies continue to lay eggs in the fruit into early October. The flies require approximately 10 days after emergence to feed, mate and lay eggs. During this time they may be seen resting on the leaves or fruit and lapping up drops of moisture with their fleshy mouth parts.

The female has a sharp ovipositor with which she punctures the skin of the apple and inserts her minute whitish egg into the pulp of the fruit. A large number of eggs may be deposited in a single fruit. Fruits of late varieties become much dimpled and pitted as a result. Eggs hatch in 4 to 5 days. The youngest maggots, begin at once to tunnel through the fruit, causing brown trails. Badly infested fruits often fall to the ground early. The numerous trails in the fruit reduce the inside of the apple to a brownish, pulpy mass and render it unfit for consumption.

The full grown maggot is about 1/2 inch long and whitish or yellowish-white in color. The maggot emerges from the fallen fruit and burrows into the soil to the depth of 1 to 2 inches. Here it changes to a puparium in which stage it overwinters. The following year the cycle starts again.

As the eggs are inserted directly into the pulp beneath the skin of the fruit, and as maggots never leave the apple until full grown, it is impossible to kill them with any insecticide spray. The adult flies, however, can be readily destroyed by having the fruit and leaves covered by an insecticide. In order to control the adult apple maggot flies successfully with any insecticide, the interval between sprays should not exceed seven to eight days.

Many insecticides are effective against the apple maggot. However, the four materials most commonly used and most commonly found in "general purpose" home fruit sprays are methoxychlor, DDT, lead arsenate, and Seven. Sevin, methoxychlor and DDT are effective against the apple maggot for seven to eight days, while lead arsenate is effective for up to ten days. Warning - always read the label; follow directions.

Views From The Campus

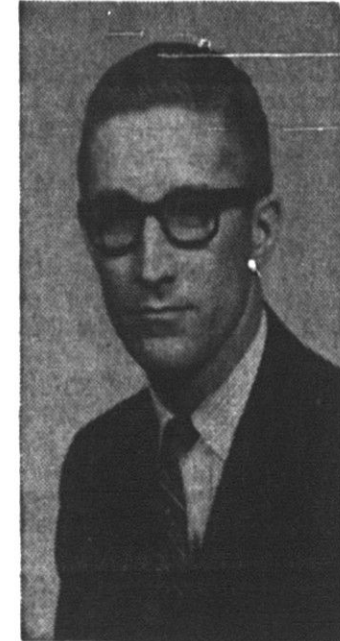

Dr. David O. Powell joined the Hope College faculty in 1960 and holds the rank of assistant professor of history. He earned the A. B. degree at Grove City College, the A.M. at Miami University, and the Ph.D. at The Ohio State University. His articles and reviews have appeared in such journals as The Historian and Mid-America and he is a member of the American Historical Association and the Society of American Historians. Editor's note).

By Dr. David O. Powell

Why should a group of Hope College students and teachers spend their spring vacation visiting a Negro college in Alabama? I suppose the basic motivation was a desire to learn more about the greatest social problem of our day. At any rate, that was the result of our trip to Talladega College.

As a group we probably carried with us to Dixie some of the same misunderstandings and prejudices with which many Northern whites view the South and the problem of civil rights. Perhaps the best way to explain a little of what we learned is to discuss a few of these views together with some of the insights we gained.

Many people who profess a basic sympathy for the civil rights movement object that the

Dr. David O. Powell

Negro is pushing too fast. After only a few hours in Talladega, we began to see the absurdity of that view. As in many other rural areas of the deep South, there has been virtually no change in the segregated system. Separate but frequently unequal schools, restaurants, churches, drinking fountains, and rest rooms are there just as they were ten years ago.

The only beginning toward desegregation is that a Negro may now enter the public library to borrow a book. When that momentous step was taken, however, all the chairs and tables were removed in order to avoid any contact between the races. Understandably, the Negro population does not feel overwhelmed by the rate of such progress.

Another view prevalent in the North is that Southern problems should be solved by the Southerners and not by outsiders. The Negro will quickly point out that he is as much a Southerner as the white man but that he has had no voice in society.

Moreover, a surprisingly large number of Negroes wish to remain in the South. Although he had spent summers in Detroit, a young man from Birmingham (he jokingly pronounced it Bombingham) told me that he wanted to study law and then return home to help his people. How can Southerners solve Southern problems if the Negro is denied the right to vote? Without outside help the Negro would be doomed to one hundred more years of segregation.

A corollary to the view that Southerners should solve Southern problems is the idea that only the white Southerner understands the Negro problem. In reality most Southern whites neither understand nor even know the Negro. The rigid system of segregation and discrimination prevents any real contact between the two races.

Leaders of the white community refuse to talk with representatives of the Negro population about their mutual problems. Talladega College inaugurated a new president the weekend before our arrival. Distinguished scholars from leading colleges and universities throughout the nation were present. Yet, the local newspaper did not even mention that historic event. It never prints any news from the college.

Some people believe that Southern Negroes lack initiative and therefore deserve no better than they get. Our guide during our first day on the campus was typical of many of his fellow students. Born in the grinding poverty of Alabama's black belt, he was one of twelve children whose parents were never able to provide even the bare necessities of life.

When I expressed surprise that he had been able to attend school, he informed me that two of his brothers were also in college on academic and athletic scholarships.

Having neither the brain nor the brawn of his brothers, he had worked for three years in New York City in order to save the money to return to Alabama to attend Talladega. I have not observed that kind of initiative in many Northern white students lately.

Occasionally Governor Wallace is defended as simply a sincere advocate of states' rights who is bravely standing up against further encroachment by the federal government. Alabama's poor public road system is finally being updated by the construction of several new divided highways. At each construction site a large billboard decorated with a Confederate flag and an Alabama flag — no stars and stripes of course — announces that all this progress is being made possible by George Wallace.

Almost hidden behind this large sign is a smaller one that says in fine print: Federal Funds — 90 per cent. State funds — 10 per cent! Other unusual billboards grace the highways and byways of Alabama. One purports to show Dr. Martin Luther King attending a Communist training school. Another calls for the impeachment of Earl Warren and gives the address of the local branch of the John Birch Society.

We hope that a group from Talladega College will visit Hope next fall and that the exchange program will become an annual affair. In that way perhaps we can become more enlightened about the greatest social problem of our day.

"He is always the same way, so genuine, and he has always been himself," Vanderbush said. We all have fond thoughts of Jack and we all owe him so much," Vanderbush concluded.
