This Is A Story Of A Real Girl

WORKS FOR LIVING; GRADUATES FROM HOPE COLLEGE WITH FOUR HONORS

The pessimist who sees nothing but the dark clouds and never the "silver lining," should read this story and change his viewpoint. The person who believes that all opportunities for advancement are no longer possible should read this story and "like it."

A young lady by the name of Miss Bertha K. Olgers, of 248 West Seventeenth Street, has just graduated from Hope College. Rather a timid girl is Miss Olgers, but back of the shyness there was a will to work and a desire to excel.

About ten years ago former Mayor E. P. Stephan, then the manager of the Holland Furniture Company, was in need of a stenographer. He got in touch with Supt. E. E. Fell of our public schools and asked whether there was an apt pupil there who he could recommend. Mr. Fell promptly stated "I think we have one in Miss

Miss Bertha Olgers

Bertha Olgers." The position in the office of the local shop was accepted with a great deal of timidity since she rather doubted her ability to fill the place. This plain, unassuming young lady went to her task with the same zeal with which she was imbued throughout her life's work thus far and the officials of this plant state that Miss Olgers turned out to be the best office employee in technical work "The Holland" has ever had on its staff.

Miss Olgers is an ardent Bible student and an earnest worker in her church and she often expressed the desire to do missionary work in a foreign field. She realized that this meant a term of study, in fact four years in Hope College and a course which she was unable to finance. The officials of "The Holland" were aware of her great desire and Mr. J. A. Vander Veen, president of the company, made it possible for her to realize this hope and her life's aim. Plans were made allowing Miss Olgers to go to college in the morning and do at least part of the work in the factory office in the afternoon.

For this girl it meant from college to factory and from factory to college six days a week with "midnight oil" burning in order that her studies might not be neglected. There was considerable sacrifice on the part of this young lady, but back of this reserve it has been demonstrated that there was an indomitable will to succeed and the crowning success came last week Wednesday night at Hope Memorial Chapel when President E. D. Dimmet gave her her "sheepskin" diploma showing "work well done." But there was further recognition that surprised even Miss Olgers. She received the Honorary Degree of Cum Laude, a high mark of distinction conferred by the local college. Second, she won the George Birkhoff prize of $25 for the best essay on Macaulay. Third, she was awarded the Daniel C. Steketee prize of $25 for the best essay in Biblical literature on "The Evidential Value of the Life and Letters of the Apostle Paul." Fourth, she was winner in the George W. Van Der Werp contest for the reason that she held the highest standing in oral and written English tests covering a period of four years. This prize also calls for $25, Miss Olgers excelling over all other pupils in her class. Surely this is a wonderful record, but Miss Olgers feels that she is just beginning her life's work. She is to take a very important step in September when she becomes the bride of Mr. William Ooms, who will graduate from the Westminster Theological Seminary of Philadelphia next year.

For a time the Holland girl will do research work covering missionary subjects while she is in the East and after next year the couple hope to go to their chosen field in South America.

Rather an interesting sidelight in the life of Miss Olgers is the fact that she has never attended a movie or played cards nor has she ever danced. A life so filled with hard honest work did not permit of much time for every day frivolities and recreation.

Former Judge Orien S. Cross now with the law firm of Diekmann, Cross and Ten Cate was in Kalamazoo an invited guest of the Michigan Bar Assn. banquet. There were 200 attorneys from different parts of Michigan present and the principal speaker was attorney Henry U. Sims of Birmingham, Alabama, said to be one of the most able lawyers in the South.

WILL APPEAR NEXT WEEK

Because of a great deal of pressing news relating to the Michigan Christian Endeavor Convention, the regular column of fifty years ago was omitted but will surely appear again next week.

A historic article written by Wm. O. Van Eyck was also held over. This, indeed, is interesting, having to do with the Indians around Black Lake when Van Raaite's settlers were here. All will appear in our next issue.

Holland Has Only Boat Store In Michigan

Contains $30,000.00 In Boats From Canoes and Racers to Fine Yachts

ONLY INDUSTRY THAT HAS NOT SUFFERED DURING TREMENDOUS SLUMP OF THE PAST TWO YEARS

Holland's Common Council recently did a wise thing in fixing up the ships at Fifth street to accommodate small yachts and water craft to tie up at the city docks so visitors can come to look us over and to shop.

A survey of the industries of the country show that the pleasure craft builders comprise about the only industry that has not suffered during these distressful periods. A compilation shows that there are 1,356,000 yacht owners in the U. S. and the demand for pleasure craft is great in spite of slow business conditions throughout the nation.

The building of the craft and the maintenance of the boats have put many men to work and men of affairs contend that like the automobile has been and is today, the boat building business in a measure will make a similar showing in the future years.

The Literary Digest of recent date points out where sea-coast and lake-port towns have been catering to pleasure-yacht business. It states that in ports where tides exist, floating docks have been installed that go up and down with the tide. Formerly yachts had some difficulty in tying up when the tide was out. Since, cities have put in other conveniences catering to the yacht trade. It would not be surprising to see a yacht garage in Holland right on the lake front and that very soon, Eastern cities have them and lake ports will be forced to secure them if the pleasure craft business increases as it has and if they wish to maintain the business that comes to that port.

In Spring Lake the other day two carloads of pleasure yachts of all sizes were unloaded and were launched in that popular lake. Black Lake is getting more and more of them but the thing to do at the present time is to provide landing places for them and Holland is making the right start in that direction. Another convenience is the placing of buoys off Kollen Park so yachts can tie to them and the passengers can listen to the band concerts and, without doubt, from time to time there will be other innovations added.

Anyhow Holland today has the only Marine Store in Western Michigan. Three floors of the De Pree block on River avenue and Sixth street with 20,000 feet of floor space has been devoted to pleasure craft. Nearly $30,000 in pleasure boats can be found in that building ranging from canoes of the Canadian type, the Clinker built and flat bottom row boats to the medium and high priced yachts including speed boats.

Identified with this industry are Carl E. Swift, one of our energetic civic workers and L. J. Stevenson, who for many years has been identified with boats and automobiles in many capacities especially on the selling end.

Among the canoes that are on exhibition is the celebrated Kennebec type, so popular in Canada where canoes originated. Among the different boats listed in the Marine Equipment Company catalog are the following:

Cruisers, sailboats, runabouts, outboards, row boats, canoes, Diesel motors and outboard motors. Among these are the celebrated Dunlop makes manufactured at Eau Claire, Wis., and Marine boats and motors made by the Universal Motor Co., of Oshkosh, Wis. Recently Skipper L. H. Thomson of the American Car & Foundry Co. have into port with a yacht costing $68,000 and many Holland folks were invited to inspect this beauty, including a News representative.

While the new Holland boat store doesn't have one in its equipment as expensive as that, wonderful craft made by the same company and, of course, much smaller, are on exhibition in the River avenue headquarters. It is a veritable boat fair and folks from Holland and vicinity are invited to visit the place and look over this large display any day or evening in the week except Sundays. You will find it a great study and after a visit you will know more about the possibilities of small boats and marine equipment than you ever did before. Mr. Carl Swift and Mr. Stevenson gives you a hearty welcome to the only boat store in Western Michigan.

The Men's and Ladies' Adult Bible Classes of Ninth street Christian Reformed church held their annual picnic at Jensen Park Wednesday evening. A program of sports had been prepared by the committee in charge, after which a bounteous supper was enjoyed by the picnicers.

Dr. D. Veltman, pastor of the local Berean church, will deliver the address in the Bible Witness hall of Zeeland tonight, Friday.

Attorney Thomas N. Robinson was in Hamilton on business yesterday.

Michigan C. E. Union Meet Opens Today

Registration Is Heavy, Headquarters at Winant's Chapel Reports

Many Men of National Fame on Program During Next Four Days

Holland welcomes the Michigan Christian Endeavor Union as guests. For the next four days these folks will be with us and we sincerely hope their stay here will be an enjoyable one.

This is the forty-second annual convention and registration at Winant's Chapel on Hope College campus.

President of Michigan Union

D. H. Van de Bunte

pus has been brisk all day and at 7 o'clock this evening 808 delegates from out of town had registered and 600 from Holland or a grand total of 1400 the largest C.E. registration record.

The Holland City News is printing the complete official program on page 1 and 2 of this section together with a cut of Winant's chapel, headquarters for registration, and Hope Memorial chapel where the convention is to be held. The two buildings being side by side makes this a wonderful combination to hold a convention. One of the outstanding speakers will be Daniel A. Poling, D.D., who has been president of the General Synod of the Reformed church, editor of the Christian Herald, and President of the World Christian Endeavor movement. Mr. Poling will be the principal speaker on Friday night.

Another divine on the program is William Hiram Foulkes, D.D., who is a member of the General Council of the Presbyterian church and a member of the Committee of Program and Field activities of the General Council.

Also Rev. Hazen G. Werner, dynamic Methodist preacher of Detroit, noted in the field of Christian education and moral reform.

Another speaker will be William P. Lovett, secretary of the Detroit Citizens League and former president of the Michigan Baptist convention.

Space forbids going further into detail since the musical, speaking, and banquet arrangements are found completely chronicled in the official program printed in this issue.

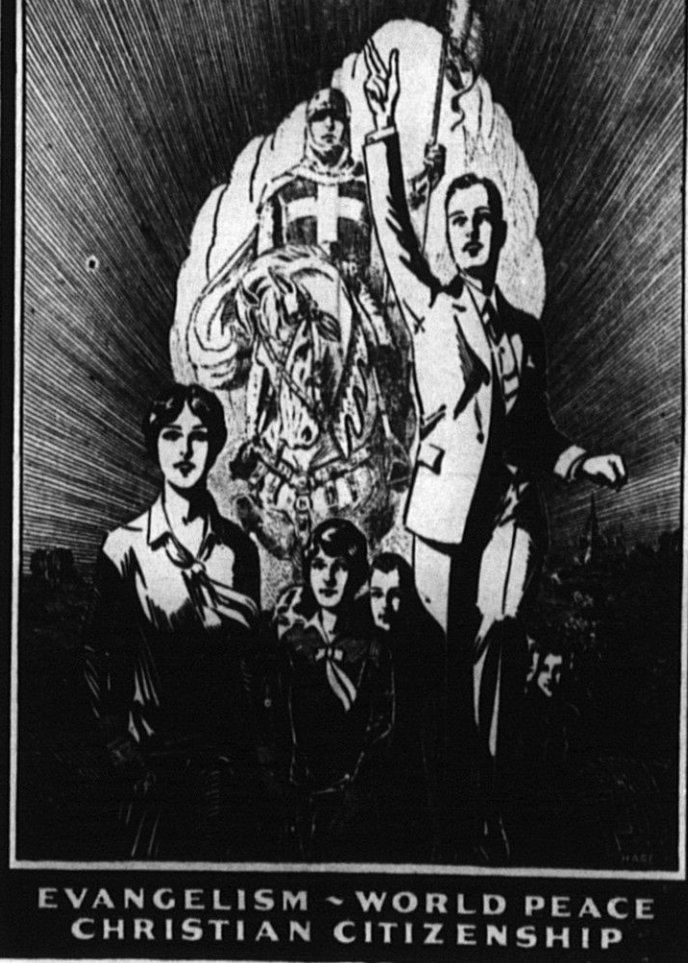

The local committee chairmen and their aids have done wonderful work in making arrangements for this convention. All the details have been closely looked after and there has been the most thorough co-operation between the State C. E. authorities and the Holland committees.

This afternoon the delegation was taken to Lakewood farm where they were given a royal welcome and banquet arrangements are found completely chronicled in the official program printed in this issue.

The local committee chairmen and their aids have done wonderful work in making arrangements for this convention. All the details have been closely looked after and there has been the most thorough co-operation between the State C. E. authorities and the Holland committees.

This afternoon the delegation was taken to Lakewood farm where they were given a royal welcome and caretaker Andy Petersen took charge when the motorcade of some 300 cars arrived. They were shown everything there was to see and they were sure were pleased with this unexpected and unusual treat.

From Lakewood the delegation inspected the Oval at Ottawa Beach and were given a sight-seeing trip about the city of Holland.

As the Holland City News goes to press at 8 o'clock tonight the first session of the Michigan C. E. Union is called to order in Hope Memorial hall by Chairman D. H. Van de Bunte.

The police department is looking up some clues that may lead to the arrest of the party or parties who it is believed touched a match to the Gospel tent.

The Free Methodists went to Menton, Mich., to the Free Methodist camp and returned with a new tent and services are in progress as before.

The damage is considered to be about $500 and the Free Methodists offer $25 reward for the arresting and conviction of the guilty parties.

Mayor Brooks also offers a reward of $100.

Wants To Cut Out Holland To Tunnel Park

ZEELAND RECORD WANTS ANOTHER ROAD BUILT SO EASTERN OTTAWA CAN AVOID THIS CITY

The Zeeland Record in this weeks issue goes into ecstasy over the beauties of Tunnel Park, the new recreation spot of 5 acres just south of Lakewood Farm — with wooded tunnel that leads to Lake Michigan which tunnel will harbor a few hundred picnic folks in case of a storm.

Mr. Van Koeveering paints a fine word picture of this nature spot but don't want to go to it through Holland.

The editor of the Record said he went on an exploration tour to see if he could find some other way and it seems that he did find a road north of Holland that would do the trick and this is what he says:

"There is one objectionable feature that we can see, which is the mode of access for people from Southeastern Ottawa, which includes Zeeland, to reach Tunnel Park. There is no good road leading there except by accepting the nuisance of driving by way of Holland city, a detour of about two miles, and a slowing up precious on it, which which slows up through that city which slows up through half hour off an after-supper swim there. And while we are on the subject, why should we not make a few desirable suggestions for consideration by all, but especially by the road commission. And let us urge our people that they back them up by calling the road commissioners' attention to them.

"On Monday of this week the writer took it upon himself to make a tour of inspection with this point in view. We approached the grade of the new state highway from the north on the road leading to "Boone's Bridge," and there we found a road from the west almost intersecting with the new M-21 grade. Then we drove west until we came to the intersection of US-31 and the Alpine road, which course could, at a comparatively small cost be converted into a beautiful drive, shooting directly from the new State Road 21 to the Getz Farm, also serving as a cut-off for people from this section desiring to drive north on US-31. This distance is approximately three miles, and more than half of it would require little or no grading.

"And while we are at it, why not build a good road there, because there will be lots of traffic on it? It can be constructed at a moderate cost. We went just one step further in our wandering, and we decided that a road such as the black road built from US-31, located west of Holland running south to Graafschap in this county would be just about right.

"Ten miles of this can be built at the cost of one mile of concrete road, and it serves every purpose required. It is hard, dry and dustless. It sheds water like a duck's back and it is easy to repair."

Miss Minnie Van Zoeren of Colony, Oklahoma, is spending a month with relatives in Grand Rapids, in Holland and in the vicinity of Zeeland. Miss Van Zoeren was a former resident of Vriesland and now working in the interests of missions at Colony, Oklahoma.

Could Praise The Lord Any Way They Wanted To

For the past few weeks Free Methodists who also have a church in Zeeland pitched a tent near Harrison Avenue in the south part of the city, began revival meetings and these meetings were accompanied with a noisy worship with members filled with the Spirit going into ecstasies in a contortionate manner as an avenue of expression. It is said that these periods of worship lasted far into the night and neighbors objected strenuously putting in a protest with the sect but when this did not curb the length and noisiness of the service, complaint was made to Chief Van Rly. Mr. Van Rly called in the tent service folks, told them of the complaints but they stubbornly said that they would serve God, "how and when and where they pleased. This placed Mr. Van Rly in a very delicate position since under the constitution "each man can serve God according to the dictates of his own conscience."

Anyway Saturday Mr. Van Rly urged them to be more quiet and to curtail their services but Saturday night the services continued late and the neighborhood gathered not to worship, but to protest. The older folks remained quiet but some of the younger element mocked and mimicked for there are always a few such in every crowd or in other words "brave in the crowd." One even cried out that the tent would be destroyed.

Far away the worship continued far after midnight but when finally an adjournment was taken and the tent closed, there was quiet for a spell until L. De Cook, who was passing, discovered the large tent on fire and as can be imagined, within a few minutes the canvas was one mass of flames and the seats, platform and church requirements were soon a mass of ruins.

The police department is looking up some clues that may lead to the arrest of the party or parties who it is believed touched a match to the Gospel tent.

The Free Methodists went to Menton, Mich., to the Free Methodist camp and returned with a new tent and services are in progress as before.

The damage is considered to be about $500 and the Free Methodists offer $25 reward for the arresting and conviction of the guilty parties.

Mayor Brooks also offers a reward of $100.

Dr. Pieters Throws Light On Peace Treaty

GIVES HISTORY OF OUR RELATIONS WITH JAPAN. FIRST FRIENDLY AND THEN ARBITRARY, NOW FEAR

Dr. Albertus Pieters of the Western Theological Seminary was the guest speaker at the Exchange club luncheon Wednesday noon at Warm Friend Tavern. Dr. John E. Kuizenga, newly-elected president, fittingly introduced Dr. Pieters, telling of how Mr. Pieters had a message that was very timely as this has to do with our relations with Japan.

Dr. Pieters having spent more than 30 years in the "land of cherry blossoms" can speak authoritatively on this subject. Incidentally he tied up the new Peace Treaty negotiated in London with our past, present and future relations with Japan as he saw it.

He said that the relations between Japan and America were ideal from the middle of the nineteenth century until the close of the war with Russia. In fact seldom has the world seen two mighty nations in such cordial relationship for so long a time. Neither feared the other, in fact Japan felt that there was nothing to fear. America's standing army in those days was a joke, little more than a police guard. It's navy as far as fighting strength goes was obsolete. Mr. Pieters contended. Then came our buying of the Sandwich Islands as a coaling station, as a means of protecting the Pacific coast states. That brought a cool feeling to start with. Then came our difficulties with Spain and our taking over of the Philippines in the far east which the Japanese felt had become a potential danger to them.

What further annoyed Japan was the reconstruction of a new navy and the appearance of the wonder-ful cruiser Charleston in the harbor of Nagasaki—a friendly call but taken up adversely by the Japanese. Japan really looked upon the United States with tolerance, not fearing its army or its navy, feeling that these were incapable of aggression and hardly strong enough to defend and in Japan Uncle Sam's power was looked upon more as a joke. The Jingo papers in Japan as well as in the United States predicted war, Mr. Pieters stated, in fact the people in the interior who knew little of what was going on thought that war was already in progress with the United States. Japanese papers pictured how easy it would be to send over a Japanese fleet and capture all the Pacific coast states from Canada to Mexico.

Mr. Pieters stated how when he arrived in his classroom one morning he found a picture on the blackboard in naval battle between Japanese and American ships and the Japanese students who had created this "chalk-talk" had drawn all the American ships sinking and the Japanese fleet victorious.

In their hearts even the Japanese students did not realize the strength of America, Mr. Pieters said.

Then the World War came and finally America with its two million men jumped into the breach. Instead of years it took only months to prepare ships that took over two million hardened and trained men through a cordon of deadly submarines without the loss of a man. What America did in the World War is glorious history. However it immediately changed the complexion in Japan. They had

FOUR ARRESTED ON GAME LAW CHARGE

Deputy State Game Warden Frank Salisbury, of Grand Haven, arrested four Grand Rapids men, Andrew Centilly, Frank Centilly, Felix Ross and Stanley Idziak for fishing in Smith's Bayou on Grand river near Coopersville during the closed season. The season opens June 25. The men are to be arraigned Monday.

FIVE CANDIDATES FOR NOMINATION TO BOARD OF EDUCATION

Henry Geerlings, secretary of the Board of Education, has announced that Saturday, June 28, will be the last day that petitions for nomination to the Holland school board will be received. At present there are five candidates in the field. They are William Arendshorst, James A. Brouwer, William Vandenberg, Benjamin Harris and G. Vander Hill. James Brouwer and William Arendshorst, whose terms have expired, are up for renomination. Fred T. Miles, whose term also expired, is retiring without seeking to be returned.

HOLLAND PASTORS HELP INSTALL NEW MINISTER

Rev. Laurence Borst, 1930 graduate of Western Theological seminary, was installed in South Blendon Reformed church with the following officiating: Rev. John Vandenberg of Sixth Reformed church, Holland; Rev. W. H. Pyle of Overisel; Rev. J. Klaaren, Eighth Reformed church, Grand Rapids, and Prof. Paul E. Hinkamp of Hope college. A reception is being held this Thursday evening in honor of Borst and Mrs. Borst. The new pastor will preach his inaugural sermons Sunday.

FATHER AND SON DIE TOGETHER

A double tragedy shadowed a Grand Haven home early Wednesday morning when a little family was shattered by the death of the father, Leon M. Pellegroni, and the infant son, Robert Allen, within a few hours of one another, prostrating the widow and mother, Angie Bonema Pellegroni, with grief. The father's death was not unexpected as he had been confined to the Muskegon Sanitarium for many weeks, where but little hope was held out for recovery. His death occurred there at an early hour Wednesday. The infant, two years and seven months old, has never been robust but his death at 5 a. m. was entirely unlooked for. Double funeral services will be held for the father and son on Thursday at 2 p. m. from the home.

ZEELAND HAS A DRAIN COMMISSIONER CANDIDATE

Adolph Siekman of Zeeland township has announced himself as candidate for Ottawa County drain commissioner in place of Henry Siernsma of North Holland, who states he will not run again. Mr. Siekman has been prominent in Zeeland township politics, having held many township offices including highway commissioner. He is also trustee officer in that township for County School Commissioner Gerrit Groenewoud. Mr. Siekman is making a strong bid for this county office.

DR. BROWER ATTENDS CLASS REUNION AT DETROIT

Dr. Arthur J. Brower is spending this week in Detroit, attending the Alumni Association of the Detroit College of Medicine and Surgery. On Wednesday evening class reunions with a dinner were held at the Hotel Stadler. His class of 1900 held its 30th anniversary. He also attended the American Medical Association which was in session from June 23 to 27, the same being an annual event. He will return to his office Friday of this week. There were 9,000 medical men in Detroit during the week.

DR. E. D. DIMNENT

The retirement of Dr. E. D. Dimnent from the office of President of Hope College will mark the passing of a business administration. Although in every sense of the word a scholar, Dr. Dimnent combines with his scholarship a rare practicality that stamps him pre-eminently as a man of business. Not as a mendicant but as a master of the sense of values, Dr. Dimnent has fully, frankly and fairly placed before the friends of Hope College in detail the requirements of his institution and his proposals as to the measures to be adopted for meeting those needs. His methods have been free from pretense. He is neither a "grandstander" nor a "salve-artist." His will has been strong, his courage, indomitable, and his perseverance indefatigable. These qualities are the unfulfilling characteristics of the true man of business.

The result of Dr. Dimnent's labors has been the management of the college along business-like lines from the very keeping of its books to its diplomatic relations with the outside world. All of its contacts, as a college, tradesmen, employees, students, faculty, friends and benefactors have noted this influence. The most noteworthy and outstanding accomplishment of an administration of this character is the completion of the beautiful Memorial Chapel, a pearl of architecture, which stands as a monument to the administration of Dr. Dimnent.

This administration has contributed to the community more than a beautiful building. Its influence has been felt in the civic and business structure of this city. Not content with being an efficient college president, placing Hope College in the forefront of the smaller colleges during a period of stress and strain to the small college everywhere, Dr. Dimnent has found time to interest himself in civic duties far removed from the campus. He has loaned his energy, good will and knowledge to the promotion of Holland industrially and religiously. He has been an exponent of good government. He has backed his faith in Holland with his finances.

The city of Holland will miss this scholarly man of affairs as the head of its institution of higher learning, and will hope that his capacity for the details of business may continue to flow in channels that will further promote the welfare of this community.

GRAND HAVEN CITY TO CELEBRATE 4TH

Grand Haven this year is putting on what may really be called a Fourth of July celebration. In years past these celebrations were the order of the day, but in recent years the automobile attracted so much attention, drawing people to the various parties and watering places, that the celebrations became a neglected institution. But this year Grand Haven is reviving this oldtime institution and it will be carried out in greater style than ever before, with all the old time things and many new ones thrown in. One special feature will be the glorious display of fireworks on the crown of Dewey Hill that faces the end of Washington street across Grand River. Be sure to read the advertisement of the celebration in this issue.

Mr. Swope Has a Plan Must We Have a Fight? Cutting Down Space An Old Marriage Custom

Mr. Gerard Swope, president of General Electric, plans for future unemployment crises. In every General Electric works, on a vote of 60 per cent or more of its employees, a trust fund will be organized to meet abnormal conditions of unemployment. Workers will contribute 1 per cent of their earnings, the company contributing an equal amount. The company guarantees 5 per cent on the funds accumulated, until such time as unemployment shall make it desirable to utilize the fund for the benefit of idle employees. The employees will contribute half, the company half, the workers will get all, the company none—a fair arrangement.

An English newspaper suggests that Europe should unite against its own economic boycott, as European countries united against Germany in 1921. It would be too bad to have an industrial, economic fight. But fortunately we are ready for it, if it must come.

The $10,000,000,000 that we sent to our dear friends in Europe last time would be spent on our own fight this time, and $10,000,000,000 more if necessary.

Three American workmen can produce as much steel as ten British workmen.

Ten American automobile mechanics can produce as many automobiles as 100 French, German or British mechanics.

We are meek and peaceful, but if they want a fight they probably can get it.

Mr. Einstein says space is the important thing. He may be right, but the genius of man is making space less important every day.

At a world power conference in Berlin recently, high powered scientists discussed the latest possibilities of applying electric and other power.

At the same time the United States National Electric Light Association was meeting in San Francisco.

Scientists, using the world-wide radio system provided by M. H. Aylesworth, head of the American National Broadcasting system, talked and listened to each other as though they were in one room, instead of thousands of miles apart.

A solemn German professor, deep in Mohammedan and Jewish marriage lore, says that marriage is very old.

Mohammed borrowed the idea from the heathen Arabs.

The Talmud tells of Rah, "one of the great early scholars, announcing publicly that he sought a wife for the duration of his stay every time he journeyed to Darschid."

Persian princes on their travels entered into marriages for a single night. Jochanan, according to the Palestinian Talmud, said, three hundred years before Christ, "When a man says to a woman, I marry you for thirty days, then is she married to him for thirty days."

You may go a million years farther back than Jochanan among the monkey tribes or visit the zoological garden today, and you will find the same idea highly developed. It is not what we used to do, but what we ought to do.

The British are slow, but get things done. In Palestine, one day recently, they hanged three Arabs for rioting last August. News spreads slowly in Palestine; no telegrams or radios in their dwellings among the Arabs.

There may be trouble when it becomes generally known that three were hanged, and funerals celebrated with violent mourning.

It is pleasant to have other men or railroads working for you.

The New York Central railroad owns 492,540 shares, equal to 95.50 per cent of stock in the "Big Four" railroad. The "Big Four" now raises its yearly dividend to $10 a share and will pay the New York Central $920,700 additional a year.

Even in these fearful times there are pleasant spots.

A revolution, starting in southern Bolivia, is important because the revolutionary force is said to be composed of "Indians and Communists." Communist superstition, like religious superstition, grafted upon ignorant Indian minds, may lead to serious trouble.

Lloyd George tells MacDonald, prime minister, that he will co-operate with the Labor party in legislation to solve the unemployment problem.

It will be interesting to see what a man as wise as Lloyd George can do to control the law of supply and demand, which seems to rule us all. Hundreds of thousands are idle. Many are insufficiently supplied with goods that the hundreds of thousands could produce. Raw materials are unlimited. Yet the unemployed cannot be brought in contact with the raw materials and the public need supplied.

Mysterious nance seems to control, and those that control finance understand it as little as his maker understood his Frankenstein monster.

A lady of Westfield, N. J., keeps her radio receiver going sixteen hours a day and writes 1,980 letters a year telling radio artists how good they are. That seems a little too much radio enthusiasm.

HONORS ACHIEVED IN PRE-CONVENTION REGISTRATION CAMPAIGN

The registration campaign this year has been the very finest we have known and much credit goes to the Union officers and Convention registrars, R. E. Bolles. The contest covered the period of May 5 to midnight of May 20.

Four Unions: Golden Chain, Flint, Detroit and Kalamazoo, responded with their full quotas on the opening hour of the contest May 5, and Muskegon, Grand Rapids and Lansing succeeded in reaching their quotas before the close of the contest period, on May 20. Other Unions have gone over their quotas since. The chart below tells the whole story.

The Golden Chain Union with Harold Volland as Holland Club leader won first place in the contest, winning the fine large C. E. Shield. The Detroit Union with Sidney Steepens as Holland Club leader did a fine piece of work and has won the silver loving cup for having gone the farthest beyond its quota.

LOCAL PASTOR PRESIDES AT MARRIAGE CEREMONY OF SEMINARY GRADUATE

Rev. Clarence P. Dame of Holland, pastor-elect of Unity Reformed church, Muskegon, has already performed one marriage in that city when he officiated at the nuptials of Miss Jeanette and Mr. William R. Buitendorp.

Mr. Buitendorp will soon be a minister of the Reformed denomination. Following his graduation from the Muskegon High school, Mr. Buitendorp entered Hope college and on finishing his work there became a student at the Western Theological Seminary. He was graduated from that institution recently and has accepted a call to the Reformed church at Middleburgh, N. Y., where he will take up his duties about July 6 when he will be ordained.

The wedding according to the Muskegon Chronicle was an elaborate affair with a wedding breakfast in the Blue Room of the Occidental Hotel.

Miss Vanderploeg made an attractive bride. Her dress was of misty rose chiffon, lace trimmed, and she carried arm bouquet of butterfly roses, orchids and sweet peas, fastened by a bridal tulle. A bandeau of gold leaves and gold shoes added to her attractiveness. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Martha Vanderploeg, whose dress was of flowered chiffon. The bridesmaid carried snapdragons and sweet peas. The bridegroom was attended by Mr. John Vanderploeg, brother of the bride, while little Billy Heneveld, a nephew of the bridegroom and son of Dr. and Mrs. John Heneveld, dressed in a white satin suit, carried the rings on a pink satin pillow.

BARKER-WELLER WEDDING AT HOME OF BRIDE TUESDAY EVENING

Tuesday evening the marriage occurred of Miss Anne Barkema and Henry Bernard Weller at the home of the bride's parents, 351 Columbia avenue. The marriage was performed by Rev. Manus A. Stegeman of Hesperia, Iowa, brother-in-law of the bride and Rev. James A. West, pastor of the First Reformed church of this city. The double ring ceremony was used and the signing of "God Touched the Rose" by Mrs. Stegeman added to the immovability of the occasion.

The bride was becomingly gown in a dress of ivory satin and Chantilly lace. Her veil was also of Chantilly lace, with coronet of brilliants and orange blossoms. She carried an arm bouquet of white roses, carnations, white snapdragons, and baby's breath. Her only ornament was a diamond lavalier, a gift of the groom.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Kenneth C. Mook, formerly Miss Martha Barkema, who was matron of honor and was gown in a dress of seaweed blue georgette and silver lace. Her corsage was roses and sweet peas.

The bride was met at the altar by the groom, who was attended by Kenneth C. Mook as best man. Both were dressed in conventional black, and wore boutonnieres of gardenias.

The marriage was performed before an altar of palms and ferns with baskets of white flowers. The bride and groom were seated effectively under the lattice. Indirect lighting added its note of impressiveness to the occasion.

Following the ceremony Mrs. M. A. Stegeman, a sister of the bride, sang, "If God Left Only You" by Denmore, accompanied by Miss Barbara Weller, sister of the groom. Immediately thereafter, the bridal party entered to the strains of "Hearts and Flowers" played by Miss Weller.

The master and mistress of ceremonies were Mr. and Mrs. Arle Weller. Mrs. Weller looked charming in a gown of lavender georgette, and she wore a corsage bouquet of roses and sweet peas.

An elaborate wedding supper was served to fifty guests after which the couple left for the southland, visiting the principal points of interest there.

WITNESS BURNING OF WOMAN IN AUTO

One of the most horrible accidents in years occurred on the Holland-Grand Rapids trunk line Monday when Mrs. Gertrude Bassford of Grand Rapids, who was on her way to Holland, was burned to death in her Chrysler car about a mile east of the Vriesland sinkhole.

The first person to witness the terrible tragedy was Mrs. Charles Collins of Detroit, who, when she was 200 feet behind the Bassford car, saw Mrs. Bassford grinding her hat which the wind carried out of the car.

In attempting to prevent the hat from getting away the lady lost control of the car and it turned to one side over into a five-foot ditch.

Mrs. Collins rushed to the car which only took a few minutes but when she arrived the interior of the car was a roaring furnace and the lady was huddled in a sitting position but made no move. Mrs. Collins was frantic in her endeavor to help but could do nothing.

Just then Angus De Kruif, the druggist, Manual Langius, both of Zeeland, and David Vereke of Holland drove up and attempted to put out the fire but the heat was so intense that they could not get near to the car without being severely burned.

At last the flames were subdued when officers from Holland arrived. Coroner Gilbert Van de Water, Julius Kleinhekel, Officers Rufus Cramer of Holland, and Wm. Hefje of Zeeland were notified and hastened to the scene and the badly charred remains were taken to the Dykstra undertaking establishment. It was found upon examination that the lady had sustained a badly fractured skull because of the impact.

The husband, sons and daughters were also at the scene of the accident but were not permitted to review the remains for the reason that they were unrecognizable. The family naturally was nearly prostrated with grief.

All that remained to show that a pet dog accompanied the lady was part of a metal collar and a license tag. The remains of Mrs. Bassford were taken to Grand Rapids and the funeral took place yesterday with burial in Graceland mausoleum.

In reviewing the case Mrs. Collins said "The attempt to recover the hat caused her to lose control of the car, which then left the concrete and ran parallel with it for eight or ten car lengths before it struck a hole, causing it to swerve with the right wheels into the ditch. Speeding along for another three or four car lengths, the right front wheel struck a soft spot, causing the rear of the car to be thrown upward, coming to rest on its right side. The sedan immediately burst into flames which prevented anyone approaching it, and before the large quantity of gasoline was burned out the body of the sedan was a white hot furnace."

The supposition is that the gasoline supply line had been scraped loose by riding the edge of the ditch and that the escaping fuel, and gas caused by the hot weather, came into contact with the red-hot exhaust pipe.

Mrs. Bassford was on her way to her summer home in South Haven where she expected to stay with the family for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Smith celebrated their golden wedding Thursday at their home in Holland where they have lived since they left the farm 24 years ago. They were born in North Holland and spent 28 years on the same farm. They have one daughter, Mrs. Nellie Woodhouse of Grand Rapids. Mr. Smith has been caretaker of First State bank 17 years and in recognition of faithful service the board of directors presented him with $50 in gold and a like amount was given him by the bank employees.

NEWCOMB-RAVEN WEDDING IS A SOCIAL EVENT

It was a very impressive ceremony that took place at Trinity Reformed church, Holland, Wednesday morning when Miss Anita Newcomb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Newcomb, and Lucien John Raven, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Raven, were married. The pastor, Rev. C. P. Dame, officiated on this occasion and it was his last marriage before departing for his new field in Muskegon.

The bride and groom were beautifully decorated and the altar was backed with ferns and palms with baskets of flowers placed at intervals in a green background. Over it all a soft light was shed from ivory tapers.

The bride, Miss Newcomb, was richly but simply gown in white satin. A cap of tulle edged with lace, caught up by sprays of orange blossoms confined the bride's lovely veil. Her jewelry was a crystal necklace, the gift of the groom. She carried a bouquet of Shasta daisies tied with pastel shades of tulle.

Miss Anita Anderson of Lansing, who was maid of honor, was gown in a dress of orchid and green figured chiffon with large green hat and green slippers to match. She carried a bouquet of Shasta daisies tied with pastel shades of tulle. Miss Lois Dressel acted as bridesmaid and was fittedly gown in white figured chiffon with an orchid hat and slippers. She carried a bouquet of Shasta daisies tied with pastel shades of tulle.

DR. DIMMENT SPEAKS TO AN AUDIENCE OF 2,000

Dr. Dimment, president of Hope College, spoke to an audience of 2,000 people at Battle Creek when degrees and diplomas were conferred upon 167 graduates. The Battle Creek Moon-Journal devotes a double column first page story on these exercises and gives considerable space to Mr. Dimment's discourse, he having chosen for his subject "Journey's End."

Subject "Journey's End" declared that self realization, rather than self expression, should be the goal of all seeking life's fullest achievement. He scored the popular notion of self expression and declared that too often it is used as an excuse for license and genuine wickedness. Self realization, however, should be the aim because it leads to true development of personality, Dr. Dimment asserted.

The speaker referred to three general phases of the subject and styled them "the quest," "the bequest," and "the conquest."

a wholesome respect for the power of the United States but more than that, America's showing in the World War instilled a terrible fear in the Japanese.

Mr. Pieters stated that from 1922 the so-called ten-year truce between United States and Japan has existed and it is now in order for the American people to consider with the utmost seriousness whether this is merely to remain a truce or is to prepare a way for permanent and honorable peace. That depends, of course, to some extent upon the attitude of the people and government of Japan but far more upon our own attitude, Mr. Pieters said. We hold the cards in this game, the issue of peace or war depends upon how we play them. Japan has been often ruffled because of our drastic measures on the Pacific coast in restricting Japanese immigration. This of course must be restricted, Mr. Pieters states. Japan believes that, at least in a measure, and the missionaries favor it.

The Japanese government uses the same methods against China. This reservoir of human life only a few hours away from Japanese soil would over-run Japan but for the restrictions. To permit it would mean an economic death for Japan. Mr. Pieters' discourse covered nearly 30 closely typewritten pages and space forbids to go into further details, however the contribution throws altogether a different and not-too-rosy a light upon the relationship between the United States and Japan. It seems that one reason for Japan entering the Washington conference was fear of the United States and its immense resources, while their avenue of resources are greatly limited. We know Japan's weakness and we know our strength which has never been used for aggression for gain. But to make Japan believe that is another thing.

In closing Mr. Pieters said as follows: "These things are so clear that we may be sure the Japanese know them as well as we. If they had not known them they would never have consented to the proposals of the Washington conference. No matter if we do disarm to a large extent in Far Eastern waters Japan is under bonds, by virtue of the unalterable facts of the case, to pursue a policy that is compatible with the reasonable interests of this country. Therefore it is clear that the issues of peace or war, of friendship or hatred, are in our hands rather than in those of the Japanese. One line of action is compatible with friendship and peace—it is the policy laid down at the Washington conference. Another line of action will make both friendship and peace impossible—it is the line laid down by Congress in the exclusion act, advocated by those who complain that we have weakened in the Far East, and exhibited in the popular attitude toward the colored races."

Such an attitude and such a policy are the twin sons of national arrogance. If they are to rule there are dark days ahead. I do not say that there is danger of war in the near future, for just now the Japanese are helpless; but by so doing we shall beget in them a deep-seated and sullen feeling of hatred towards this country, which will force them to seek restlessly for alliances against us. Rich and powerful as we are, we cannot afford to make enemies of the Asiatic nations, for to them, in large measure, belongs the future. Let us rather pursue the path of reason, of justice, of friendship and of peace.

Mrs. Wm. Van Vuren and Mrs. Richard Scholten entertained with a grocery store Tuesday evening at the home of the latter on Holland route 8 in honor of Miss Evelyn Van Vuren, who is to be a June bride. The room was beautifully decorated in pink and white. Edith and Alva Jean Scholten, who were dressed in pink and white respectively, drew the cart which was filled with groceries. Games were played and prizes were won by Mrs. Scholten, Mrs. J. Bedford, Mrs. J. Vander Hill and Mrs. Knoll. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Those present were Mrs. J. De Boer, Mrs. Margaret Dewey, Mrs. J. Maris, Mrs. P. Maris, and Miss Lois Maris, Mrs. Bert Mead, Mrs. B. ## A Six Weeks' Tour Over Land and Sea

DR. BROWER TELLS OF HIS TRIP IN THE WEST INDIES AND CARIBBEAN SEA

BAHAMAS

A chain of coral islands extending nearly 600 miles northwest from the north coast of Haiti to the east coast of Florida, and including 29 inhabited islands, about 3,000 islets and innumerable coral reefs and rocks. They are under British rule. Besides the natural charm of the Bahamas, there are many spots of historic interest, and opportunities for sports of various kinds. In the distance, we could see Wat-

had anywhere. Along the shores we counted several boats, some quite big, that were wrecked and almost entirely washed on land during the terrible hurricane. They experienced not long ago. In a carriage drawn by an old dobbie and a dark-eyed chaffeur we saw the city at leisure, much better than in the fast going automobiles. This man told us he lost his wife and children in less than 20 minutes, so rapidly the city submerged under a wall of water 6 to 12 feet high. It seemed, he told us, that the wind just pushed the water out of the ocean like a mountain on land. One house was washed into the sea and has never been found. Many buildings completely ruined and blown down and washed away, any boats were pushed on to the dry land and are wrecked. Damaged property and wreckage is much in evidence everywhere. All the larger islands geous poincianas, rise on a gentle slope against a sky of purest blue. Then we meet the delicate perfume from a hedge of oleanders, and in almost every garden the bougainvillea can be seen in all its glory. Behind the general postoffice stands a huge silk cotton tree (Bombax Ceiba) which almost rivals in size the famous "Tom Cringle's" tree in Jamaica. This remarkable tree whose branches spread out in some directions high above all the surrounding vegetation, as far as 116 feet, was introduced originally from South Carolina and is the ancestor of all the other silk cotton trees in the island. The huge buttress-like extensions of the stem are a remarkable provision by nature to enable this immense tree to withstand hurricanes. The roots are as high as 2 to 10 feet above ground. They are like partitions or walls of a house, high ling's Island, the first landing place of Columbus in the new world.

This was on the 12th day of October, 1492. The land he found was Watling's Island. He named it St. Salvador, but by the natives it was called Guanahani, one of the Bahama Islands. Columbus thought he was near the eastern shore of India, hence he called the natives that were on the islands Indians, a name which was afterward given to the red or copper-colored race all over the whole continent. Question, when and how did those natives get on this island?

We headed for New Providence Island, where the city of Nassau is the capital of the Bahamas. They tell us these islands rise precipitously from great depths of ocean, averaging between 2,000 and 2,700 fathoms within a mile from shore. When we neared Nassau, the sea was very rough and high; that for a long time we kept moving slowly and dared not anchor for fear of being forced on reefs. The big Italian liner "Vulcania" which was shortly ahead of us did the same thing. The captain was quite sure we could never land at Nassau, finally we found a place to anchor; but oh! the trip of 2 or 4 miles in tenders to shore was thrilling. This certainly was the rockiest ride we are protected by long and dangerous reefs, shifting sand bars and coral heads, access to the land being obtained by tortuous passages and narrow openings navigable only by vessels of shallow draft. The land rises abruptly from the sea to a long narrow ridge, less than 150 feet high anywhere. Beyond this, another ridge. Numerous swamps and lagoons between these ridges, and so on.

The chief industry is the collection of sponges. There are about 500 vessels with an aggregate tonnage of 5,000 tons and 3,000 open boats engaged in the sponge fisheries which gives employment to more than 5,000 men and boys. Saw heaps and heaps of sponges in the dump pile that they do not bother about which we could nicely use for washing automobiles. Several hundreds of men and women are employed in clipping, sorting, packing and preparing the sponge for export.

Nassau has a population of about 13,000. Practically all the colors of the spectrum are seen at different times in the water around Nassau. Lagoons of emerald green surrounded by shores of snow-white corals and beyond, the white limestone houses of the town, intermingled with groves of graceful palms and half concealed by gor-tortuous and narrow. In many cases they make nice hiding rooms. Massive roots above the ground and sometimes meeting their outer ends forming walled-in rooms. A room formed by its roots is so dark as to furnish a home for myriads of bats.

The banyan tree throws roots from the top down to the ground altogether different again. Roots hang down like ropes of all sizes. The public library which was once a prison is very interesting, really odd place, where much valuable information can be obtained. The Sea Gardens are a never-failing source of attraction to visitors. A glass-bottomed boat is chartered and through this can be seen in all their startling reality the wonders of life beneath the sea. The visitor gazes in amazement at a submarine garden decked with growing corals, some assuming the shapes of warping yellow feathers, and others those of many colored fans, among which swim fishes of every size, shape, and hue, like butterflies in a garden of brilliant flowers. Beautiful bathing beach of coral sand. Yachting and boating very pleasant pastime. It's a place of leisure, and flowers and sunlight, indolent and carefree.

Christian Reform Church Taboos Socialism

RADIO PREACHING IS ALSO DISCUSSED BY SYNOD AT GRAND RAPIDS MEETINGS

Matter of Baptizing Adopted Children Came Up at a Recent Session

The Christian Reformed Church Synod in session for the past three weeks have been discussing a great many important things, a short resume of which has been given in the News from week to week. At one of the meetings it was declared that the principles of Marxian Socialism are definitely anti-Christian, the synod of the Christian Reformed church in America at a recent session voted to discipline "in the spirit of love, but nevertheless with a firm hand," any of its members who should become guilty of propagating un-Christian principles in the world of labor, take part in acts of violence, trample upon the fundamental principles of justice or refuse to break with organizations that are avowedly anti-Christian in character or that reveal in their activities an anti-Christian spirit.

Glorification of class hatred, class struggle and class ethics, combined with a principle that "might makes right," were stated in the report of the committee on industrial and social organizations, which was adopted by synod, as the elements which make Marxianism objectionable.

Discussion of the question of introducing hymns into the public worship of the Christian Reformed church terminated at a recent meeting when the 1930 synod, in session at Calvin college, adopted a compromise measure accepting the compatibility of hymn singing with their religious belief, but delaying the actual introduction of hymns for at least two years.

The synod went a step beyond the action of 1928, which stated that the church has no objection from the point of view of principle to the introduction of hymns, and declared that objections as well as a practical and historical nature do not justify a refusal of the overtures brought before it by classes Grand Rapids East, Hackensack and Oostriesland. In addition it acted, upon the advice of its preadvisory committee, to amend article 69 of the church order so that a synodically approved collection of hymns may be added to the nine already approved.

To secure this collection, the standing committee, which has been considering the matter since the synod of 1928, will be continued and they will select the minimum number of hymns which will satisfy the needs of the church as supplementary to the 150 Psalms of David which tradition prescribes for congregational singing. This collection will be presented to the synod of 1932 for final approval.

A budget of $31,711 for home missions work was accepted by the synod at the close of the session. The sum includes grants for a new missionary to western Canada and other Canadian activities.

Classis Holland's overture proposing the election of three delegates at large to the mission board was adopted and a first ballot taken.

Harking back in their reasoning to the days of Abraham, members of the Christian Reformed church in America adopted a measure permitting the baptism of adopted children, whether or not their parentage is known.

The preadvisory committee on varia of which Rev. A. B. Vos, classis Orange City, is chairman, supported the views of the standing committee which had delved into the history of early Bible times and of the primitive church for the material for its argument. The recommendation was read by Rev. J. J. Hiemenga, classis Hackensack.

PLAN TO WIDEN HIGHWAY LEADING TO PINE LODGE

Beechwood-rd., along the north Black lake front, will be widened from nine to sixteen feet from the city limits to the Pine Lodge assembly grounds, a distance of one mile. The road will be of concrete construction and will be ready for traffic about the middle of August. Bids must be filed by July 10. Another new road project of gravel construction will be laid on Twenty-fourth-st., for a mile running east from the Bush & Lane piano factory. Grading started Monday. The road will be completed in about one month.

A proposal to establish denominational radio preaching from a Chicago station was defeated in the synod, after a number of objections to its necessity and practicability had been raised. Chief among the grounds advanced by the opponents of the plan were that a similar system was already being sponsored in Michigan, Iowa, and the east by the local church organizations. Centralization of the work was deemed an unnecessary expense, since it was believed that little would be accomplished by such a move.

Synodic assessments were reduced from 70 cents to 50 cents per family, as suggested by the treasurer, Tony Noordewier, Grand Rapids, following the reading of his report, which showed a cash balance in the treasury of $10,855.18, as compared to one of $7,376.74 in 1928.

An executive session acted upon matters of emeritus. Previous to the private meeting the synod approved the granting of honorable emeritization to Rev. J. J. Dyk, classis Muskegon; Rev. H. J. Heynen, classis Zeeland; Rev. J. G. Vander Lue, classis Orange City; and Rev. E. J. Tuuk and Rev. P. Jonker, Sr., both of classis Illinois. Rev. P. Steen, classis Grand Rapids west, was also granted emeritization on the ground of continued illness.

Synod of the Christian Reformed church yesterday afternoon refused a proposal to a revised English form of the marriage ceremony adopted after a few minor changes a new English form for the public confession of faith, expressed opposition to the inclusion in the wedding ritual of an admonition against birth control and denied a protest against the use of individual communion cups in church services. In addition, a delegate was named to the synod of the Reformed churches in The Netherlands in July. The revised marriage form was recommended after considerable discussion as to whether it should be adopted until another improvement could be made, and will again be reported to the synod of 1932.

Rev. H. Kamps, former minister of Zion on the ground that reasons given for his removal were not sufficient.

Two members of synod, Rev. Mr. De Jong and Rev. Henry Keegstra, Zeeland, registered formal protest yesterday to the previous action of the synod permitting baptism of adopted children. They cited biblical quotations supporting their stand.

COMES HOME TO GRAND HAVEN TO CONFESS HOUSE ROBBERY

William Crowe wandered into the state police office at Grand Haven the other day, and gave himself up, confessing to having robbed a home at Muskegon Heights of $30, two watches and some clothing. He was turned over to the Muskegon officials.

The man had been wandering for many days and said he knew he was unbalanced and wished the officers would take care of him. He entered the house where the occupants were sleeping, he said, and had no difficulty in extracting the money from the pocket of the owner and making away. He had served 30 days at one time for vagrancy.

State police are investigating a breaking and entering job at a barbecue and filling station just east of Spring Lake and owned by William Hannibal of Muskegon Heights. The place has not been operated for some time but Sunday Hannibal visited the place and found everything all right. The next day it was found that the basement had been broken into and seven new automobile tires and tubes and some other stock of the service station they operated, had been taken.

River Gives Up Tattooed Body Friday Evening

"I AM SORRY" ARE WORDS KN. GRAVED OVER HEART OF DEAD MAN FOUND BY CROWE

The body of a man with a phrase, "I am sorry," tattooed over his heart was found in Grand River at Grand Haven in the foot of Second street Friday night about 7:00 p. m. by Edward Crowe. It was later identified by Robert Green, Charles Hanson and James O'Connell, deck hands on the Missouri, as Franklin O'Rourke, 36, a buddy of the three who had been leading a roving life for some time.

Coroner Govert Van Zantwick took the body in charge and Sheriff Steketee investigated the circumstances. It was found the man had escaped from a penal farm at Pontiac, where he had been confined for drunkenness.

He had been employed as a deck hand on the Missouri and had been living at odd times on the "Island," the land of the hoboes. His companions missed him two days ago but thought he had crossed the lake. It is believed he was intoxicated at the time he fell in the water. His body showed evidences

BODY OF WOMAN IS FOUND FLOATING ON RIVER NEAR ALLEGAN

The body of a middle-aged woman, well dressed, was found floating in Kalamazoo river in Allegan county a mile upstream from the Plainwell dam by a group of United States government surveyors today. The woman, who had been garbed in black silk clothing, according to Coroner C. Clay Benson and Sheriff Guy Teed, was about 35 or 40 years of age and wore a band ring on her wedding finger.

Initials on the ring, "A. W. to C. V.," led officers to believe the woman may have been Pearl Wedington of Kalamazoo, who some time ago was reported by her husband to have leaped from his automobile in the vicinity of Plainwell and never was heard from since. They now are endeavoring to locate the husband, Arthur Wedington.

The body, which was badly decomposed and believed to have been in the water for about three months, was taken to the Benson funeral home, Osego, to await identification.

of being in the water several hours. No marks on his body or signs of foul play were found and there is little reason to think it was other than accidental, said the coroner.

Vacation Period Is Here Again

Have You Made Preparations?

Q From now until after Labor Day is supposedly the vacation period of the year. Every one is entitled to a little respite of two weeks or more from a year's grind. Have you made financial preparations for a n outing of that kind?

Q If you have not, start a modest savings account now, laying away a small sum each week and by next summer there will be enough funds on hand with accumulated interest for a most enjoyable vacation not accompanied with financial worries.

If You Are Prepared:-

Q We recommend that you use our "Travelers Check" system. It assures the vacationist of cash when needed and at the same time furnishes sure protection for reserved funds. Before you start out on a trip call at this bank for travelers checks. They are most convenient. Let us tell you about them.

Q Sold by this bank in convenient denominations $10, $20, $50 and $100—these travelers checks are accepted as the equivalent of cash by hotels, transportation companies and the better shops and restaurants both in the United States and in foreign countries.

First Drowning Of This Year In Black Lake

LAD OF FOURTEEN DROWNS
AS PARENTS ATTEND GRAD-UATING EXERCISES

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lighthart, at 186 West Fourteenth street, has been made extremely sad when the body of their son Harold, age 14, was brought home to them, the lad being drowned in Black Lake while swimming off the cove near Kollen Park at the west limits of the city.

Young Lighthart was a good swimmer and had just dove from a spring board when his friends noticed he had failed to re-appear. It was late in the evening and most of his boy friends had gone home. The alarm was quickly sounded and Chief Van Ry was called. He immediately got in touch with the coast-guard station and Captain Taft and Surfman Dorgela. After dragging for some time they found the body of the boy in 10 feet of water not far from the springboard. Others who aided in the search were Alderman Hyma of the Sea Scouts, Henry Vander Schel of the playground committee, now member of the police board, and Officer Neal Plaggenhoef.

Rather a sad homecoming for the parents who were attending graduating exercises of their daughter at Hope Memorial chapel when the accident occurred.

Miss Erma Lighthart, graduate of Holland High, is a sister of the unfortunate lad.

Coroner Vande Water deemed an inquest unnecessary since it was evident that the boy came to his death in drowning, possibly seized by a cramp.

The boy was a Junior High student, was in the Third Reformed church scout troop and was a member of the Sunday School of that church in the class of Bert Nabers.

The funeral was held Monday afternoon from the home which was private and at 2 o'clock from the Third Reformed church for the public. Rev. James Martin, the pastor, officiating. Burial took place in Pilgrim Home cemetery. Many school friends reviewed the remains at the Dykstra Funeral home between Saturday and Monday.

The boy is survived by his parents, six sisters, Mrs. A. L. Merritt of Oconto, Wis., Opal of Douglas, Leona, Margaret and Rosemary at home; and four brothers, Frank of Chicago, Donald of Grand Rapids, Jake of Oconto, Wis., and Clifford at home.

Miss Mable Vandenberg, daughter of Mrs. Mable Vandenberg of Holland, and Neal Raffenaud, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Raffenaud, were united in marriage last week Wednesday, June 18, in South Bend, Ind. The bride is a graduate of Holland High school and has worked at the Holland Furnace company since her graduation. Mr. Raffenaud is connected with the North American. The North American will leave June 28 and after the trip the newlyweds will make their home with the bride's mother, Mrs. Mable Vandenberg, 254 West Sixteenth street.

OTTAWA FARMERS OBJECTED TO INTERURBAN, BUT THAT WAS 25 YEARS AGO

A petition, dated May 1, 1902, has been found which was directed to the Common Council of Spring Lake signed by a long list of rural residents living about the village, asking that a road be provided into the village which would not come in contact with the electric cars which occupied the main street and entrance into the village.

Teams were so frightened by the "screaming yellow cars" that many runaways were reported and driving to the town was almost prohibited. The petition went on to say, "We will never be able to hereafter send our wives or children with our teams to the village of Spring Lake as it now is."

Not quite 30 years, and yet the electric car has outwitted its usefulness and the horse is almost an object for the museum. Automobile fatalities are a daily occurrence. Speed undreamed of at that time is a common daily experience. The world moves.

ZEELAND NEWS

The Public Property Committee of the Zeeland Community in regard to the city furnishing water to parties living outside of the city recommended that the parties wishing city water do the trench digging and fitting and that the city to lay pipe up to $120 per customer. On motion this recommendation was adopted.

For the first time in the city's history a local man will be candidate for the office of prosecuting attorney of Ottawa county, John R. Dethmers, city attorney and justice of the peace, having tossed his hat into the ring. Zeeland has been Dethmers' home since he was graduated from the law school at the University of Michigan. He also is a graduate of Hope college, coming to Michigan from Sioux City, Iowa.

The Zeeland Street and Sidewalk Committee reported at a recent Council meeting that the First Christian Reformed Church had accepted the proposition made by Zeeland to them at their regular meeting in the matter of widening Cherry street between Church and Centennial streets, viz: that they will deed to the city of Zeeland a strip of land lying south of their parsonage of approximately 10 feet north and south and full lot length east and west, the city agrees to lay a four foot sidewalk along this property free of charge, and remove the two large trees now in the street, and pay them $116.00 for the shrubbery now on this proposed street.

NO, THIS IS NOT HOLLAND, MICHIGAN

A notice at the entrance of the city park in the Dutch town of St. Maartensdijk, Holland, says: "Persons of different sex occupying the benches in this park are required to keep a distance of not less than one meter (40 inches) between them." (Signed) The Burgomaster. — It would be well to write Minister Diekmann for a copy of the ordinance of this town regulating spooning in park. It might be applied to excellent advantage no doubt right here in Holland.

NEW GRONINGEN

The New Groningen schools enjoyed a picnic Wednesday at Brown's woods as a final windup of the school activities. The year has been a pleasant and profitable one and this get-together picnic was greatly enjoyed by teachers, students and parents.

There have been many tourists taking a peep at Holland Game Fish ponds lately. Several new improvements have been made during the past year.

Activities at the Holland Country Club are more brisk as the summer advances.

When the new road to Zeeland from Holland is completed there will be quite a let up in travel at New Groningen.

Rose's Age-Old Popularity

Song and legend of the Greek the Persians and the Chinese testify that the rose was cultivated in the earliest times. The rose is the national flower of one great race but it is loved by all and is the monopoly of no one race or creed. At Athens 2,000 years ago, the rose was crowned the queen of flowers George Washington in his delightful gardens at Mount Vernon grew from seed a hybrid rose based on the native Rosa setigera and named it Mary A. Washington. By giving his permission for this to be grown and sold he thus started the good work of producing roses of America lineage.

Many Groups Are Seeking Camp Sites

THERE WILL BE MUCH CAMP-
ING IN STATE PARKS,
IT APPEARS

Applications for group camping permits are now pouring into the office of the superintendents of the nine state parks at which group camps are located, with indications that the buildings will be occupied every week of the summer months. Attendance at these group camps is increasing annually at a rapid rate and an extension of the system will soon be necessary, according to the parks division of the department of conservation.

augmented to provide a place for boys and girls to camp in the parks. Each camp building is 34 by 54 feet in size, with a large dining room and recreation room, two wash rooms and two kitchens.

Groups using the camps provide their own bedding and dishes. Application for use of the camp must be made to the park superintendent and each group may use the camp for two weeks. No charge is made for the use of the camp.

The group camp system was in-

WHAT TO DO AND WHAT NOT TO DO IN A MICHIGAN STATE PARK

Get a permit from the park officers on the ground before making camp.

Build fires only where provision has been made for the purpose; never in the open, and never go away and leave a fire burning.

Don't leave waste matter around—clean up.

Keep off the play grounds with camps, horses and autos.

Camping by boys under 17 and girls under 18, unless accompanied by adults, is not allowed.

Feeling bark off trees, carving and chopping trees, digging up shrubbery and, of course, defacing signs, are punishable offenses.

Possession of firearms in a State park is unlawful.

Don't let your dog run loose; must be kept on a leash or chained up.

PROTECT FISH ON SMALL FISH

When you catch a fish too small to keep, regardless of the species, wet your hands before you take it off the hook. By so doing it has a better chance to live. There is a film covering the fish which sticks to your hand if it is dry. With this film broken the fish die.

Semi-Precious Stone

Lapis lazuli is a stone whose characteristic color is a rich azure blue, occurring usually in small, rounded masses and frequently showing spangles of iron pyrites. Lapis lazuli is probably the sapphire of the ancients, and is still much valued for ornamental purposes.
