European Study Tour Scheduled For Hope Group

22 Students Leaving Wednesday for Studies In German and Spanish

Twenty-one Hope College students and one Michigan State student are all set for a summer of special study in Europe, one group studying German and history under Dr. Paul Fried in Vienna and another group studying Spanish under Dr. Donald F. Brown in various cities in Spain. Two French students will spend a month in Pau in southern France in study.

After the month of special study, the group will meet in Paris and tour France, Belgium, Holland, the Rhine Valley and Switzerland. Dr. Brown has arranged for travel in Volkswagens, a cross between an American station wagon and panel truck.

The students left Holland Wednesday and will board the S. S. Roma in New York Saturday. Stops will be made at Lisbon, Gibraltar and Barcelona before docking at Genoa. The students will split at Genoa with two Volkswagens going to Austria with Dr. Fried.

After the month's study and European tour, the students again will board the S. S. Roma in Genoa and are expected to dock in New York Sept. 5.

This is the second such tour Dr. Brown has arranged for European study. He also has conducted two tours in Mexico.

The current tours offer five hours' credit. Dr. Fried's courses are "Europe Since 1918" and "Germanic Civilization." Dr. Brown's courses are on Galdos, a 19th century Spanish writer.

Help Keep Our Downtown Clean

Keep our downtown clean! Now that a group of local citizens has provided floral hanging baskets to beautify the downtown and the city has provided trash baskets, the city is geared to keep the commercial section neat and attractive.

But some people persist in throwing wrappings in the gutter and some merchants occasionally sweep out their stores into the street. The latter is definitely contrary to city ordinance.

It is commendable that merchants sweep the walks in front of their stores, but City Manager Herb Holt suggests that if there is any litter involved it would be best if merchants would use their dust pans and put the debris into the trash baskets if they don't care to go all the way to the rear of their stores to dispose of such litter in their own trash cans.

By and large, the trash cans downtown have met with good acceptance and are widely used. This particular type of trash can was developed after considerable research. They are conveniently clipped to poles so that they do not blow over or get pushed into the street.

T.L. downtown streets are swept every morning between 2 and 5 a.m. If merchants sweep their walks just before they open their stores at 9 a.m. it means the litter remains in the gutter for almost 24 hours before the street sweeping equipment makes a return trip.

Driver Charged

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Robert Stokoe, 34, Grand Rapids, was charged with reckless driving by sheriff's officers following an accident at 1:15 a.m. Tuesday in which his car went out of control on US-16 a mile east of Coopersville and slid sideways 166 feet before it rolled over and over for another 126 feet. Stokoe was treated for bruises by a Coopersville physician but his passenger, Dale Hansen, 23, Grand Rapids, was taken to St. Mary's Hospital with a hip injury. Sheriff's officers investigated.

Changes Plea

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — William Lynn Bowen, 18, Muskegon, was sentenced on two traffic counts in Municipal Court Tuesday after previously pleading not guilty.

On a speeding charge, he paid $33 fine and $2 costs and for driving with a suspended license, he was sentenced to pay $50 fine and $4.30 costs and serve two days in the county jail. Bowen was arrested by state police at 2 a.m. Monday on US-16 in Nunica allegedly traveling 75 miles an hour. His license was suspended May 10 for 90 days for habitual negligence.

Couple Injured as Car Jumps Curb, Hits Tree

Two young people were injured when a car jumped the curb and hit a tree at 12:45 a.m. today on 16th St. near the Heiz plant. The car was driven by James Pruner, 16, Houghton, who was treated in Holland Hospital for lacerations of the lip and chin and chest bruises.

Also injured was Garnet Harrington, 15, of 1729 South Shore Dr., who was treated for a chin laceration, abrasion on the right knee and fractured left wrist. Both were discharged after treatment.

The car, a 1954 model owned by Garnet's father, Carl Harrington, was damaged on the right front to the extent of approximately $1,000. City police charged Pruner with failure to have his car under control.

Court Denies Cemetery Appeal

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Circuit Judge Raymond L. Smith Wednesday dismissed a petition for a writ of mandamus entered by Restlawn Memorial Gardens Association which sought to expand Restlawn cemetery in Holland township. The association entered suit in Circuit Court after the township appeal board had twice refused permission.

The court action is "without prejudice with costs to be taxed." The action followed a day-long hearing in Circuit Court Tuesday in which members of the Holland township appeal board were called. Defense generally listed possibility of water pollution, devaluation of property values, interference with street patterns, and general plans residential development in the area.

Township officials called to testify were Walter Vander Haar, appeal board chairman; George Lemmen, secretary; John Maas, township treasurer. The board had refused petitions for expansion Oct. 15, 1954, and July 2, 1955. After the second denial, the association stated action in Circuit Court in an attempt to reverse the decision. Restlawn attorneys indicate they may start another appeal to the township appeal board so that the cemetery plot plan can be altered and revised to enable proper isolation areas for water supply systems. No date has been determined for such action.

July 9 Last Day For Registering

City Clerk Clarence Greengood today reminded local residents to properly register for the coming primaries Aug. 7.

July 9 is the last day for registering for the August primaries and the city clerk's office will be open until 8 p.m. that day for the convenience of voters.

However, persons are urged to register as quickly as possible to avoid the possibility of long lines later.

Persons who have changed their residences, even within their own ward, must inform the city clerk of the change, either by mail or by person. New laws no longer permit such processing by telephone.

It is particularly desirable that all changes be made as early as possible this year in view of the fact that the fourth, fifth and sixth wards have been divided into two precincts for the first time this year, necessitating considerable processing in the city clerk's office.

Assault Rumors All Unfounded

Lively rumors of attempted assaults on children by a hooded man north of town Wednesday were discounted today by sheriff's deputies who said the whole thing was due to overactive imaginations.

Reports came at 11:30 a.m. Wednesday that a Negro hitchhiker with a coat over his head had approached some children on US-31 near James St. They did not locate the hitchhiker but found a witness and the story went something like this.

The hitchhiker who was thumbing for a ride had put his jacket around his neck and head for protection from the sun. Some children were nearby but they were across the road and walked right by him without even a word exchanged.

But somehow the story of a hooded Negro circulated the neighborhood and one salesman complicated the picture further by alarming all the mothers that a man was after their children. Hysteria reached a pretty good point.

For extra measure, Deputies Len Ver Schure and Bud Gysen went to the hobo jungles at Waverly and routed out several knights of the road who habitually gather there.

"There really was nothing a-miss in the whole picture, and nothing to do but chalk off the whole thing," Ver Schure said.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lindner of Milwaukee, Wis., arrived by plane Wednesday night for a visit with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Verne C. Hohl and Miss Laurie Ann Hohl, 1770 South Shore Dr.

Holland State Park Set For Another Big Season

It looks like another big year for Holland State Park.

Despite a miserable spring with hardly a decent weekend weather-wise, June's hot spell has sent the park attendance soaring. Camping activity and attendance are now running about parallel to totals of last year at this time.

The beach this year is at its best—winter was kind to the sun-bathers inasmuch as it added 75 feet to the width of the beach from road to shore. The water depth tapers gradually and swimmers can enjoy from 75 to 100 yards distance within the safe swimming area (from shore to marked buoys).

Attendance to date is 358,948, almost identical to that of last year for the same period. There are now 112 camp sites in use, including 79 trailers and 33 tents. There have been 341 so far this season.

Park Manager Clare Broad said that camping totals may be lower this year because of a new restriction on the number of camp sites. Only 386—206 trailers and 180 tents—are allowed at one time. Last year, he said, they had as many as 531 camp sites in use on the peak Fourth of July weekend. Holland State Park still has the second biggest camping area in the state. "Other parks may have more acreage, but we rank second in camp sites," Broad said.

Lowering of camp sites does give an advantage to the day visitors. Broad said, because more parking and picnic facilities will be available. It might still be a good idea for picnickers to take their own charcoal stoves, etc., along especially on holidays and weekends, Broad said.

Manager Broad and 13 other rangers have the huge task of keeping things running smoothly at the widely-used park. Because of the small staff, Broad said everybody's cooperation is necessary. He asks that all campers and visitors clean up their own trash and debris before leaving. That cleanup job alone takes a minimum of 16 to 20 man hours a day—precious time which could better be making necessary repairs and replacements.

And for the public's own good, Broad said, all rules and regulations must be strictly enforced.

Anyone entering the park after hours with a camp permit, or persons entering an area posted against same are subject to arrest and fine. Strict enforcement also is promised on the speed regulations. There are too many youngsters around to risk any let-up of the speed or traffic rules in the park, he said.

As for swimming—there are only two life guards on duty and park officials must insist that all swimmers stay within the safe swimming area or they are subject to arrest.

Campers in the newest camp area—the trailer lane—will have better facilities soon with the completion of the shower, toilet and laundry building. Construction is ahead of schedule and the building should be finished the first part of July, Broad said.

Broad explained that there are never reservations available to campers—permits are issued on a first come, first serve basis. All persons requesting a permit must have all their gear with them and begin camping immediately, he said.

Supervisors Will Gather Monday

GRAND HAVEN (Special)—The Ottawa County Board of Supervisors will open their June session Monday at 1:30 p.m. This is usually a two-day session or at most three days.

Slated for discussion at this session will be plans for improved water safety, following two drownings and one near drowning in the Grand Haven area plus another case in which a youth was fatally injured while water skiing.

A report will be presented Monday by a committee which is prepared to ask the board to provide a speed boat for patrol work. Serving on the committee are Robert Beardsley and Clare Broman of Spring Lake, City Manager R. V. Terrill of Grand Haven, Safety Director Avery D. Baker of Holland and Robert Vanderburg of Grand Haven. The committee is the outgrowth of a meeting earlier this week attended by city officials, Coast Guard and police and sheriff's officers.

Another matter for consideration is a petition signed by 150 Ferrysburg residents asking that Ferrysburg be incorporated as a fifth class city.

Plans also will be considered for improved court house facilities, possibly a new court house building.

Two Cars Damaged

Two cars were damaged in a crash Monday at 3:30 p.m. on Pine Ave. where it runs into River Ave. on the north side. Drivers were Budd N. Eastman, 56, of 214 Scotts Dr., and Harry J. Wolters, 26, route 6. Eastman was given a ticket by city police for failure to yield the right of way to through traffic. His car was damaged on the right-front to the extent of $200 and the Wolters car was damaged to the extent of $300.

This will provide two cars for the police department, a car for the city manager and a car for the city engineer. The trade-ins involve a 1955 Plymouth of the police department and a Studebaker of the city engineer's department.

Council approved an application from Ray Horn for retirement because of disability. He had been employed by the street department.

Council approved a report of the Board of Public Works stating that it had approved plans for a slope protection in front of the low lift station on Lake Michigan as proposed by Black and Veatch at a cost of $8,000. The work is in addition to the Getman Brothers contract.

Council okayed a rental cost of $4,160 for four months with purchase option for installation of the wellpoint system at 25th and Van Raalte for an additional well supply this summer.

Contract modifications for the hospital addition were okayed as follows: Kent Electric Co., credit $226.72; Holland Plumbing and Heating, charge, $299.07.

A communication from the Michigan Municipal League announced the annual meeting will be held at Pantlind Hotel in Grand Rapids Sept. 6, 7 and 8.

Council adopted suitable resolutions registering protests to the Interstate Commerce Commission on service order 914 which prohibits railroads serving Great Lakes ports from allowing free time in excess of two days on rail cars delivering export cargo to ocean carriers. On the other hand ICC has issued service order 912 allowing six days free time on rail cars at every U.S. seacoast port. Resolutions protesting discrimination against lake port cities will be forwarded to U.S. Senators Potter and McNamara, Rep. Ford and to the Great Lakes Harbor Association.

Coast Guardsmen Begin Boarding Operations

The Holland Coast Guard station has put their boarding program in full operation.

In the first few weeks of the season Coast Guardsmen have boarded 137 boats. Only four violation tickets have been issued, according to Boatwains Mate 1/c Walter Sears, commander of the station.

Sears said boat owners have been very cooperative and the small number of violations is the best indication of that.

When a boat is boarded the vessel is checked for life saving devices, one for each person aboard; certificate of award of number, fire extinguishers for boats having a closed compartment and other items.

All boats that are over 16 feet in length must have a number. Classes of boats that are checked

Officers Arrest 40 for Speeding On Beach Road

Roadblocks, Radar Used Throughout City; More Drives Planned

City police, Ottawa County deputies and auxiliary officers moved out in force Thursday in the initial phase of a crackdown on "irresponsible" drivers.

Approximately 75 tickets were issued in the city and in the county. The bulk of the violations were for speeding on Ottawa Beach Rd. where the sheriff's department operated a speed watch.

Sheriff Gerald Vanderbeek said his men issued 40 tickets for speeding within three hours. None were going less than 50 miles an hour in the 35-mile-per-hour zone and one car was clocked at 75.

In the city on River Ave., a roadblock was established at 13th St. All motorists had their cars checked for defective equipment ranging from noisy mufflers to inadequate lights.

Several drivers were cited to Municipal Court for operating a motor vehicle with mufflers that created excessive noise.

Chief Jacob Van Hoff said 150 safety tickets were issued to vehicles that passed the safety check. At least a half-dozen drivers were cited for operating their car without an operator's license on their person.

Van Hoff said some drivers were issued warning tickets while a few were given verbal warnings.

Regular officers, specials and auxiliary police operated in teams as they cruised throughout the city. Some worked in plain cars and others in cruisers.

Radar was also operated on State St. and at other points within the city limits.

At the speed check point on the Ottawa Beach Rd., which was used for the first time, Vanderbeek said the operation was highly successful.

Several area residents, who live on Ottawa Beach Rd., and were nabbed for speeding praised the deputies for cracking down on speeders even though they were among those caught.

Vanderbeek said only two persons complained about their tickets and called the arrests "sneaky."

"Some persons feel that law enforcement officers should always be standing in full view. We want the laws observed if an officer is present or not," Vanderbeek said. "It is not a game of hide and seek we are playing with the motorist. We are out to cut down accidents."

Vanderbeek borrowed the speed watch device from Holland police. He said that the sheriff's department budget, which will be presented to the Board of Supervisors in June, contains a request for radar equipment.

Van Hoff and Vanderbeek both thought the initial drive went off well. They said, "This is not a one shot operation. The combined future."

"From time to time on any day or night during the summer similar speed checks and roadblocks will be thrown up in the city and throughout the county."

Mayor Robert Visscher and City Manager Herb Holt said these drives are necessary to reduce accidents and we must enforce the laws to the letter to make motorists aware of their potential bad driving habits.

The two city officials agreed that the campaign must be a continuing one and indicated City Council is in whole-hearted agreement with the drive.

Voluntary Safety Check Lanes Set for Weekend

Audience Shares In Several Items Of Council Work

Agreeable Compromise Effectuated in Closing Of Alley Near 19th St.

City Council disposed of a big share of what might be termed routine business at its regular session Wednesday night, but the audience of some 25 persons had abundant opportunity to participate in the proceedings.

The humid warmth of the day necessitated open windows, and noise from traffic on busy River Ave. three floors down threatened at times to drown out the discussion.

A good share of audience participation came in the public hearing for the proposed vacating of the alley lying between 19th and 20th St. running from Van Raalte to Harrison Ave. Participating in the open hearing were Egbert Israel, Jack Tietema, Anthony Steenwyk, Peter Lugten, John Ten Brook, Melvin Barnaby and Gordon Plaggenmeyer.

Some said the alley was used little and was something of an eyesore. It was said to be used largely by children as a shortcut to the front door of Van Raalte school, and the accompanying vandalism in backyard gardens was a nuisance to say the least. Others protested the closing of the alley in view of the fact that there are several garages fronting on the alley.

Council effected a compromise which seemed to keep all persons happy. Councilmen voted unanimously to close the alley with the exception of the east 252 feet where the garages are located.

Another subject involving audience participation was a request of the Speed-E Car wash to be located at River and Pine to install two gasoline pumps in connection with the car washing business. The building permit issued for the car wash had not included gasoline pumps.

After considerable discussion in which the two proprietors of the new business presented their views, Council voted to refer the matter to the city manager for investigation and report. This involves a study and conference with police and fire chiefs on traffic and fire safety. A substitute motion by Councilman Laverne Rudolph calling a special council meeting as soon as the report is compiled failed to carry.

A communication from Clark Oil and Refining Corp. requesting permission to construct a gasoline station on the northeast corner of 28th St. and Michigan Ave. also was referred to the city manager for investigation and report. The two houses on the location would be removed, the communication stated.

Another subject involving audience participation was a request of the Fraternal Order of Eagles for a transfer of its Club D-E licensed establishment from 76 East Eighth St. to 112 East Seventh St. The request had been tabled at the June 6 meeting for additional information. City Clerk Clarence Greengood read a letter listing tentative plans for the building and operation of the club room and use of the basement for an eight or ten-lane bowling alley. The order also intends to provide a parking lot.

Two officers of the order gave further information and explained that the organization sought Council permission at the present time rather than purchasing property and building a new clubhouse first. After considerable discussion, Council approved the transfer at the time the move will be made.

In other business, Council said paving special assessment bonds totaling $147,000 to First National Bank of Holland at an interest rate of 2 1/2 per cent. The Holland bank was lowest of two bids. Council awarded a contract for printing special bonds to Northern Bank Note Co. of Chicago at a cost of $107.50.

A petition from local residents requesting that the area bounded by 29th and 32nd Sts. between Central and Maple Ave. be rezoned from A-2 to A-1 was referred to the planning commission for study and recommendation. The petition pointed out that this area was rapidly being developed into an area of single family dwellings and much of the area had been designated A-2 which would permit construction of a type other than those common to this section.

A claim on behalf of Elizabeth De Young, of 375 West 18th St., who suffered an injury in a fall was referred to the city attorney an insurance company. A claim filed on behalf of Neil Madderon who claims some $800 loss in damage to electrical appliances due to high voltage was referred to the city attorney, insurance company and the Board of Public Works.

Council granted permission to the Sixteenth Street Christian Reformed Church to take an offering at their outdoor "Religion for Today" broadcast in Kollen park Aug. 5.

Safety check lanes will be in operation this weekend in Holland and five other communities in Ottawa county, Avery Baker, county safety director, announced today.

This safety check is in keeping with a county-wide program sponsored by the Ottawa County Citizens Safety committee. It is a concentrated effort to make Ottawa car owners and drivers safety conscious as well as trying to cut down the death and accident toll on the highways.

In Holland, the check lanes will be operated Friday and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Check lanes will be operated by city police, state police, sheriff's officers, Service club volunteers and Boy Scouts. The service involves a voluntary 10-point check of vehicle equipment.

Mobilgas, Moose Take One-Run Softball Wins

Cellar-dwelling Mobilgas Dealers, playing their best ball of the season, knocked out Bareman's Service's plans for moving back into a tie for first with a 4-3 upset win Friday night in City Softball league action at Van Tongeren Field.

The Moose, also a lower rung club, pushed up into a three-way tie for fourth with a 4-3 victory over Co. D in the other contest.

The Mobilgas damage all came in the first inning as all four runs scored on three hits. Gord Sluiter, who singled, and Karl Essenberg, safe on a fielder's choice, scored on Don De Vries' double. Rolli Frens, who walked, came in on an error by the left fielder and De Vries was driven home by Bill Fortney's single.

The winners got four more scattered hits the rest of the game but didn't score.

Bareman's scored once in the first. Leadoff man Ron B-kuis walked and scored on Joe Berens single.

Corky Looman's double in the fourth inning brought in Ed Altena, who was safe on a fielder's choice, and Jun Buursma, who had singled, for the other Bareman runs.

John Van Iwaarden allowed the Service nine hits while Mobilgas made seven off Norm Bos. Fortney and Essenberg led the winners with two hits each and Sluiter, De Vries and Bruce Ming each had one safety.

Bekius, Looman, Berens and Buursma had the Bareman hits.

A three-run rally in the fourth inning after scoring a single tally in the third was enough for the Moose to stop Co. D.

Four hits were made, all singles, coupled with two hit batsmen and a fielder's choice, to give the Moose the runs.

Jim Doornwerf, Les Doornwerf and Walt Hudzik scored in the fourth.

Pitcher Matt Nimikoski was safe on an error in the third and scored on a sacrifice fly for the other run. Jay Berens polled a long homer in the fifth and scored behind Irv Hall and Vern Boersen for the three Co. D runs.

J. Berens led the Guards with two hits while Boersen, Gene Emmink, Ron Nykamp and Hall got other hits in the six-hit attack.

Bob Van Dyke Hits Grand Slam; Schreur Shines

Bob Van Dyke's bases-loaded homer in the bottom of the eighth inning at Riverview Park Monday night broke a close game wide open and gave the Holland Flying Dutchmen a 10-5 victory over league leading South Haven in a Southwestern Michigan League baseball game.

The win pulled the Dutchmen out of the league basement and into a tie for the lead with Fennville and South Haven. All three clubs now have 22 records. Zeeland has a 1-2 mark.

Van Dyke's hit turned thoughts back to the 1955 playoff when a similar blast against the same team gave Holland the league title.

South Haven opened the scoring with two runs in both the first and second innings and then added another run in the third.

But after that the Merchants couldn't buy a run as Holland pitcher Dave Schreur scattered just two singles the rest of the game and didn't give up a hit during the last four frames.

Wally Wildt, one of the standouts of the Southwestern League hurlers, handcuffed the Dutch for the first three innings but Holland broke through in the fourth.

Four runs scored in the fourth on three hits. Rog Smith and Tony Wentzel led the attack with back-to-back doubles.

Another run scored in the fifth to tie the score as Wentzel came home on an error and the Dutch went ahead in the sixth on a single by Boeve and double by Merle Human.

Holland made a total of 11 hits in the contest while the losers had just five.

Human, Van Dyke, Wentzel and Schreur all had two hits while Smith, Ron Van Dyke and Boeve had one hit.

John La Mantia, former Benton Harbor star prep infielder, led the losers with two hits.

HHS Graduates Hear Vision of Scientific Future

GE Research Manager Commencement Speaker For Class of 287

The largest class in the history of Holland High School — 287 members — received diplomas at the 73rd annual commencement of the school Thursday night in Civic Center which was crowded for the occasion. Although temperatures approached the 90-degree mark, the building was fairly comfortable and programs made excellent fans.

The graduates, festive in their maroon and white robes, heard an address by Dr. John H. Hollomon of Schenectady, N. Y., manager of metallurgy and ceramics research for General Electric, which set a vision for future accomplishments in the scientific field.

Speaking on the subject, "Science and the Totem Pole," Dr. Hollomon explained that the totem pole was a device of the Indians designed to protect them from evil. "The Indian placed separate symbols, the personification of force, before his house. In time, intermarriage brought more animal symbols to the household and they were placed one on top of the other, the stronger always on top," Dr. Hollomon said.

"Science is something like a totem pole — it's a series of geometric figures. At the bottom is the cube. Here are the people who make the automobiles, drugs, airplanes, motors, TV, radio and all sorts of goods used today. Above the cube is the octahedron, an eight-sided figure. Here the people are trying to make better automobiles, better H-bombs, better windshield wipers. They're working to make better telephones, better polio cures. But they're all doing the things you want them to do.

"Another step up is the quadrilateral, a 4-sided figure. The people in this figure are studying more complicated subjects — solar eclipse, movement of glaciers, hydrolysis of sugar. They also work on such simple subjects as why glass breaks, why does it rain, why does metal bend, what is rubber. In many ways, they ask the same questions as a five-year-old boy. These people are not worried about the H-bomb. They're just curious.

"The next step up is the dodecahedron, a 12-sided figure, in which people are studying languages and methods of communication, and setting new systems for understanding mathematics.

"At the top of the totem pole is the pyramid. These people work in the abstract. They wonder how to invent new languages and new mathematics. Here is the group where 2 plus 2 does not add up to 4, nor does 6 times 5 produce the same answer as 5 times 6. The people in this pyramid occupy the same place as the abstract artist or musician. Yet, it is the long-haired professor of 30 to 50 years ago who didn't make sense then but he is responsible for the knowledge that makes possible today's radios, TV sets and H-bombs.

Then Dr. Hollomon showed the large audience a vision of the future — a world in which one could travel from here to London in an hour, travel to the moon or Mars, an age of TV telephones, an age in which drugs will prevent most diseases not associated with age, a new age of substantially cheaper electricity and one of cheap muscle power.

"Learn to communicate to understand the world about you," Dr. Hollomon urged the graduates.

"The second — story man on the totem pole doesn't know what the fifth — story man is doing... yet it is the people who make the ultimate choice."

Dr. Hollomon said science believes in tradition and is humble before men. "Science is moral, it is international, it is democratic and it's fun! Listen to the man on the totem pole."

Retailers Will Be Asked to Donate Toward Band Shell

Approximately 5,000 Contributed, Pledged By Local Industries

With the industrial solicitation virtually completed, Holland Band Boosters workers turned to local retail establishments today for additional funds to build a band shell in Kollen Park.

Teams of women, with Mrs. Henry Brower as chairman, are contacting the 250-odd retailers in the city for contributions.

Team members include the Mesdames Clarence Hopkins, E. E. Brand, Ray N. Smith, Herbert T. Stanaway, Maude Dogger, Henry Nyhof, Alvin Schutmaat and John Shashagay. They expect to complete their canvass within a week.

Approximately $5,000 has been contributed or pledged by industry to date, according to Seymour Padnos, head of the industrial committee. Additional funds may be forthcoming from several firms which have not yet replied to his committee's solicitations, he said. Included are companies with branch plants in Holland but main offices elsewhere.

At the same time, additional committees are contacting local service clubs, public schools, the Chamber of Commerce and other groups for contributions.

Plans also are being made for individual contributions. James Crozier, president of Holland Band Boosters who are sponsoring the campaign, said tickets will soon go on sale for a musical concert to be presented later this year. All proceeds will go to the fund.

The program will be put on at the Civic Auditorium. The American Legion band, Windmill Chorus, barbershop quartets, school bands and orchestras, and other musical organizations throughout the city will participate, he said. The Legion auxiliary will aid in producing the program.

The Band Boosters and groups working with them hope to raise $12,000 for the band shell. It will be available for public use in presenting band and orchestra concerts, hymn sings, pageants and other entertainment. The shell will be erected over the new concrete band stand which the city plans to build in Kollen Park this summer.

Let's Plant Beauty -- Garden Chores Are Numerous for Month of June

June is a busy month in the flower garden. Now is the time to transplant those tender seedlings of snapdragon, marigold, nicotiana (by the way the white nicotiana — tobacco plant — is the one that gives a delightful fragrance and a cool look for an evening picture garden), zinnias, cosmos, baby's breath, and rudbeckias.

If your dahlia plants have reached a fair size, dig a trench 4 to 6 inches deep around each one to hold water. These should also be sprayed for insects every two weeks. Speaking of sprays reminds us that year after year our lovely peonies served as a banquet table to hosts of chafers unless we picked them in bud and allowed them to open in the house. This year we sprayed each bud with a liquid DDT which seemed ineffectual as the sly chafers would slip between the petals where the spray had not hit. This morning after viewing with dismay the chafers' feast of pest and gave each bloom a thorough dusting. A check-up two hours later showed some very stubborn chafers still at work; however, it does look like victory is around the petal.

As all of us are looking for bloom insurance for our tulips, it will be well to remember that we must dig the bulbs while there is still a little green in the stems and lower leaves — this way one is less likely to lose the bulbs or to slice into them with a trowel. An early digging also insures better skins on the bulbs. Dry the bulbs on newspapers in shade until the stems can be easily broken off. Burn all debris after removal of stems and foliage and after dividing bulbs. Bulbs with split skins may invite disease and should be discarded. Store in ventilated container — old silk or nylon stockings are good. Tuck label in each one. Hang in cool airy place. Plant in fall.

A STORY: DOG BITES MAN

When a man bites a dog it is supposed to be a story—because it happens so seldom, if ever; when a dog bites a man it is assumed to be unworthy of print—because it is commonplace. But Esther Van Wagoner Tuffy, the Sentinel's Washington correspondent, has succeeded in whittling a story even out of the "dog bites man" motif.

Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield, according to Mrs. Tuffy, has reported that nearly 6,000 mailmen were bitten last year by dogs and that three fourths of that number were so seriously injured that they required medical treatment. Summerfield is reported to have said that the dog-bites-man problem is "serious."

Summerfield has called into consultation a number of canine authorities to learn "how to reduce the hazard of dog bites to the nation's 125,000 letter carriers."

The postmaster general knows full well that abolishing the dog is not the answer; he himself probably maintains a dog or two and would fight to a finish to protect them. He knows also that tying up the dogs is not the answer; it has been tried, and many cities have ordinances requiring it, but it has never worked and probably will never work.

One recourse that a postoffice in any city has is to refuse to deliver mail to a home guarded by a dog that attacks mailmen. The only trouble with that is that nine times out of ten the family pet is perfectly harmless 364 days in the year and then turns vicious the one remaining other day. Dogs, like human beings, have their temperamental off-days. Perhaps that three-in-one dog food did not agree with him; perhaps a kindly neighbor surreptitiously fed him leftovers that had lingered too long on the bottom shelf of the refrigerator; perhaps a dog has had love troubles that made life seem so worthless that he could even bite his friend the mailman.

A mailman in one Michigan town was recently observed carrying out an experiment of his own. His scheme is hereby recommended to Postmaster General Summerfield as a possible solution. This mailman was making his rounds with a dog on a leash hitched to the mailbox. The dog looked fierce enough so that he might be expected to take care of all comers. The chances are that that mailman was not one of the 6,000 who suffered dog bites.

Perhaps such mail dogs might even be trained to carry a saddle on which the letter carrier could rest his heavy mail sack. The suggestion is made to the postmaster general without charge.

We suggest that you dog owners look after your dogs.

The mail must go through.

Cars Demolished In Similar Crashes

GRAND HAVEN (Special)—Two cars were demolished in similar accidents a day apart at a bridge on Leonard St. south of Nunica in Crookery township.

At 1:45 a.m. Saturday a 1950 car driven by Larry Corf, 17, Grand Rapids, struck the bridge at a speed estimated between 55 by 60 miles an hour. The driver told sheriff's officers he was not familiar with the road and lost control as he rounded a curve.

Riding with him were three passengers, two of whom fled from the scene. The third was James Kozol, also of Grand Rapids. Corf was charged with excessive speed.

At 1 a.m. Sunday, a car driven by Roger Hintz, 21, route 1, Coopersville, struck the same bridge, and the 1953 vehicle was demolished. Hintz, who told officers he fell asleep was treated by a Coopersville physician for lacerations. Officers are continuing the investigation.

At 9:30 a.m. Saturday, a 1952 pickup truck driven by George Philip Gverne, 46, route 1, Bailey, was struck on the left side by a 1956 car driven by James Wilson, 21, Grand Rapids. The truck driver was in the process of making a left turn. Wilson was charged with illegal passing. Sheriff's officers investigated.

Sunday School Lesson

Sunday, June 24
The Continuing Mission of the Church
Acts 28:19; Acts 28:23-31
By C.F. Dame

(Based on copyrighted outlines produced by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. and used by permission.)

Paul always wanted to get to Rome. He had appealed to Caesar to get justice. He had the right to do this because he was a Roman citizen. In this lesson we are told how he got to Rome and what he did there.

I. God's ways differ from our ways. When Paul wrote about going to Rome he little realized he would get there as a prisoner. The journey from Caesarea to Rome was full of exciting experiences. Paul travelled in a ship with 276 persons aboard—the prisoners and the crew. A centurion Julius by name was in charge. All the centurions mentioned in the New Testament were excellent men.

Julius took a liking to Paul and gave him special privileges. He was allowed to go ashore and meet Christian brethren. Paul had two friends with him, Luke the doctor and Aristarchus, a Macedonian of Thessalonica. These men not only travelled with him but also remained with him during his Roman imprisonment. At a harbor called Fair Haven there was a discussion as to whether to winter there or to go on. Paul advised remaining there but the pilot and captain counselled going farther and this counsel was heeded.

Soon after the ship left Fair Haven a terrible storm overtook the ship and it was driven by the wind for about fourteen days and finally the ship got stranded on the shore of the island of Malta, now called Malta. Here the crew and prisoners were kindly treated by the natives. Not one of those on board was lost. Paul had been told this and had informed his fellow travellers.

On Malta Paul healed a number of people among whom was the father of the chief man of the island. From Malta the party travelled to Rome. At the market of Appius, forty miles from Rome a group of Christians from Rome met Paul and at another place called Three Taverns which was about ten miles from Rome another group welcome him.

II. There are plenty of opportunities to witness for Christ. In Rome Paul was permitted to live in a hired room. Shortly after Paul's arrival in Rome he called for a conference with the Jews and from morning until evening Paul "expounded and testified the kingdom of God, persuading them concerning Jesus, both of the law of Moses and out of the prophets." Some believed, some did not. Before the Jews left Paul's hired room, he told them about the dangers of unbelief quoting Isaiah 6:10. He also made it plain to them that if they would not heed the gospel, the Gentiles would.

Paul spent two whole years in Rome. During that time he wrote the epistle to the Ephesians, another to the Philippians and another to the Colossians and one to Philemon. The soldiers who guarded him heard the gospel from him. Friends could come and see him. Most scholars think that Paul was released after his two-year imprisonment. Most likely he made more missionary journeys and was arrested again and finally beheaded.

The main purpose of Luke in writing his book is to show how Christianity began as a Jewish movement and how it developed into a world-wide religion even reaching Rome where a church was established. And this movement has continued to this day and our Christian faith is still spreading and winning more and more people.

1. Paul always sought the most strategic cities in which to preach.

2. There are always opportunities offered us to preach the gospel.

3. When we are travelling we can witness for Jesus Christ.

4. We can encourage each other—especially our leaders.

5. Some refuse the gospel and some accept the gospel.

6. We all need more of the Pauline spirit.

Christian Endeavor

By Raymond E. Weiss
A Christian Is Dependable
I Cor. 15:58, Eph. 4:14-15, Rev. 2:10

To the leader: This is the third in a series of topics on Christian character traits. The former topics were on forgiveness and honesty. This week we have another topic that ought to make all of us examine our hearts and lives. The place to begin is to ask yourself, "How dependable am I?" Consider, also, the times when you yourself or others have not been dependable and the results that have followed from this.

God said, "It is required in stewards, that a man be found faithful." (I Cor. 4:2) Think on God's words and the results of lack of dependability and you will have some good thoughts for your topic. Together with your thoughts you might make use of some of the following:

1. A Christian is dependable in his faith. (Eph. 4:14-15)

Christians young in the faith may be weak in their faith and struggle with doubts for a time, but a grown up Christian is sure of his salvation and of the Savior who purchased his salvation. Just as there are some people who never grow up and take responsibility in this life there are also Christians who never seem to grow up in faith. They cannot stand trials. They cannot tell another person how to be saved. They follow every new twist of doctrine that comes along. Our faith is built on the facts stated in the Scriptures and summarized in I Cor. 15:3-4. By believing these we have eternal life. We can never be used of the Lord unless we know and are sure of these facts.

2. A Christian is dependable in his work for the Lord. (I Cor. 15:58)

That which precedes the "therefore" in this verse is the statement of what God has done and will do for us in Christ Jesus. It is on the basis of what God has done that we are to be dependable. God can be depended on so those who are His should be also. There may be terrible persecutions, even the suffering of bodily pain—God has saved us by the blood of His Son. There may be alluring temptations to do things not pleasing to God, little temptations and big temptations, obvious temptations which are all appealing and temptations that are very subtle—God has saved us, we must be dependable. There will be small, but necessary, jobs to do, jobs that we might shirk on—God has saved us and we must be dependable in the small, humble tasks.

Dependability begins with the small tasks. Your C.E. officer may not seem very important to you, but what you make it to be for the Lord is a test. God entrusts big things to those who have been faithful in small things. (Matt. 25:21)

For Discussion: Does God care if I am dependable or not in my work outside the church? Does a person give a good witness for Christ if he takes a job and doesn't see it through? Will God think we are dependable if we just fool away a lot of our time when we could be doing constructive things?

FBI Agent Speaks To Rotary Club

Charles W. Brown, special agent in charge of the Detroit division of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, was guest speaker for the Rotary Club noon luncheon Thursday at the Warm Friend Tavern.

Speaking on the crime situation in the U.S. today, Brown outlined the part taken by the FBI in meeting the situation and gave a brief historical background of the organization.

Dating back to 1908, the FBI has been engaged in the investigation of bank robberies, kidnaps and car thefts and many other criminal activities. In 1938, a new department was added for security purposes and engaged in investigation of espionage and subversive organizations, he said. Information is presented to the Department of Justice and arrests are made on orders from that department, Brown said.

Employing about 6,000 agents at present, the Bureau is faced with the problem of dealing with an army of about 12,000 criminals, he said, and there has been a steady increase in cases of car theft, bank robbery and interstate hi-jacking and murder.

He explained the FBI's program of public education, training courses for local police, fingerprint identification, etc., available to local agencies and the "10 most wanted" system in existence since 1950, which has proven effective with public cooperation. He urged all persons visiting Washington to take their children through FBI headquarters to show them that the law is the right side to be on.

Program Chairman Jim Obenchain introduced the speaker.

Traffic Campaign Nets 41 Drivers In Crackdown

Police, Deputies Man Radar, Speed Watch; Drive Continues

Law enforcement officers were out in force again Sunday for the second time in four days in a continuing crackdown on traffic violators.

Holland police, auxiliary officers and an Ottawa County deputies issued 41 tickets for violations ranging from speeding to running stop streets.

The bulk of the summonses were handed out to speeding motorists on M-21 between Holland and Zeeland, South Shore Dr., Ottawa Beach Rd. and Gordon St.

Holland's radar was "loaned" to the sheriff's department along with two local officers who operated the unit with deputies and auxiliary police.

It was the first time that the all-seeing electronic eye of radar had been used to check speeders on highways and county roads on the outskirts of Holland.

Sheriff Gerald Vanderbeek said traffic was heavy, which forced motorists to keep their speed down to the legal limit.

He said there was a noticeable decline in speeding on Ottawa Beach Rd. Sunday after Thursday's drive netted 40 speeders.

The speed watch, also for the first time, was put into operation on South Shore Dr. most of Sunday afternoon and through the early evening hours.

In the city, police and auxiliary officers again teamed up in cruises and unmarked cars.

Chief of Police Jacob Van Hoff said traffic was moving smoothly and few violations were noted. He said Thursday's drive no doubt had a great deal to do with the better driving habits noted Sunday.

Both Van Hoff and Vanderbeek repeated their earlier warnings that the campaign will continue on unannounced days later this month and through the summer and fall.

Fourth of July Celebration Set At Legion Park

American Legion posts of Holland are completing plans for a public celebration of the Fourth of July in Legion Memorial Park.

The community celebration, an annual July 4 event now for several years, will follow much the same pattern of other years and will be climaxed by fireworks.

Events will get under way at 7:30 p.m. with a concert by the Legion band under the direction of Arthur C. Hills. At 8:30 p.m., U.S. Rep. Gerald R. Ford, Jr., of Grand Rapids, will be the speaker. Ford, a graduate of the University of Michigan and Yale University law school, was first elected to Congress in 1948 and has been reelected in all successive elections. During World War II he served in the Navy and was returned to inactive duty in 1946 with the rank of lieutenant commander.

In 1950, Ford was chosen as one of the 10 outstanding young men in the United States by the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce. He is married and has three children. Ford was an outstanding athlete and football star during his college years. He serves the fifth congressional district consisting of Kent and Ottawa counties.

From 8:50 to 9:10 p.m. several prizes will be awarded. Fireworks are scheduled at 9:15 p.m.

Ted Boeve is serving as general chairman for the event. Julius Karsten and Al Van Lente are ticket chairmen; Al Stoner, fireworks; Louis B. Dalman, grounds; Miles Baskett, children's gifts.

About 6,000 persons are expected to gather in the park.

One of the reasons the Legion plans this celebration each July 4 is to keep local persons off the highways.

Library Looking Glass

"THE LAST HURRAH" by Edwin O'Connor—The Good Old Days is a common enough expression. Be they good or bad, there is always a fascination, a charm about an era which will probably never exist again or a type of person lost to modern times.

The type, described in such detail in "The Last Hurrah" is the political boss. Frank Skeffington is a composite portrait of such figures as Boss Tweed, Huey Long and Frank Hague and almost fits the familiar American caricature of a . . . beefy, cigar-smoking diamond-studded, Irish Machiavelli who as master of large and intricate blocs of voters, controls the political destiny of the nation," according to the New York Times.

O'Connor does not portray him in relation to the nation's destiny however but concentrates on his local influence which is fantastically powerful.

This reader opened the book half expecting not to like its central character at all, and as the final page was turned, regretted having to leave his presence. True, he is a master of shady deals and peoples' opinions, but he is a lovable one.

Along with egotism one finds selfishness; with dishonesty, superior shrewdness; and with coldness of manner, human insight. He is one of those in life who are both hated with utmost intensity by opponents and loved with unflinching devotion by followers.

Forgetting, for a minute, his qualities of personal character . . . one can be fond of this political boss if only for the picturesque character that he is. Color, pageantry and extremes are admirable, at least from our present point of view. In retrospect, perhaps the gossamer of time allows us to enjoy this glamour. The average citizen of today would not tolerate it.

The setting of this novel is also a portrait of an era that really existed. To this reader, it was a surprise and a revelation, not having experienced the times or previously read much about them.

"The Last Hurrah" is an historical portrait of a recent period which happily therefore is not neglected.

To the political boss, to Frank Skeffington, politics was a career, a way of life. It was all-consuming in time, concentration and personality. It was the first love. Opponents of the political bosses were usually the so-called "better element," that level of society thought to be somewhat higher than the common man.

Politics was distasteful to them and consequently they often suffered from a certain political naivete.

Between Skeffington and a banker called Cass occurs a delightful battle of wits and dishonest personalities. Skeffington maneuvers (blackmail is really a better word for it) Cass into giving a loan to the city. For, although "Cass's righteous anger, Sheffielding replies" . . . I remember that it's the very same man (Cass) who engineered the merger of the Consolidated Trust with the old Mason Street Trust in such a way that one of his partners and oldest friends was driven to suicide." All of which proves that dubious, one might say even wicked, tactics can be used by either team or party.

"The Last Hurrah" received the Atlantic Prize award and assuredly deserve it. It is hard to beat a book that is well-written, fast-moving, informative and colorful. —J.P.O.

BB Gun Damage Hits 'Alarming Proportions'

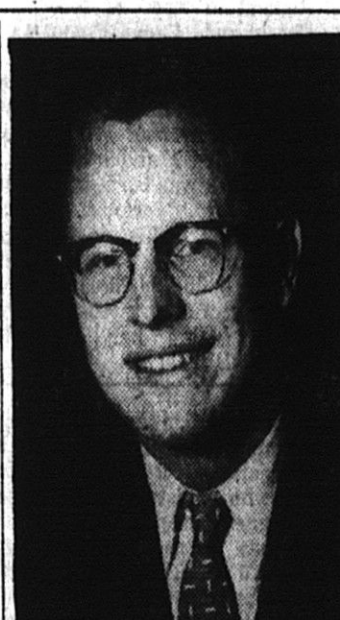

Damage to windows from air rifle pellets has reached alarming proportions, Chief of Police Jacob Van Hoff reported Monday.

Van Hoff said at least a dozen windows in the Board of Public Works power plant were shot out during the weekend and in several Holland homes.

He said the city ordinance forbids the discharge of any firearm, including air rifles, within the city limits of Holland.

"Not only is this a violation of the law but parents of the persons responsible are liable for damages up to $300," Van Hoff said.

When children are apprehended the rifles will be confiscated and the parents handed a bill for the resulting damages, Van Hoff said.

Rites Performed at Third Church

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ellis Myers

Miss Nancy Lee Lindgren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar N. Lindgren, 750 Columbia Ave., and Kenneth Ellis Myers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orlow Myers, 33 North Mason, Battle Creek, were married in a double ring ceremony June 9 in Third Reformed Church. The Rev. Christian Walvoord read the marriage rites.

Wedding attendants were Miss Dorothy Stacy of Tiffin, Ohio, as maid of honor; Miss Jennie Lee Gibson of Arlington, Va., Miss Margaret Wiersma of Muskegon, roommates of the bride at the University of Michigan, bridesmaids; Robert Wood, Ann Arbor, best man; George Trowbridge of Battle Creek, John Myers of Battle Creek, the groom's brother, and Terry Lindgren, brother of the bride, as ushers.

Decorations included a background of ferns, bouquets of white mums and flocks. Mrs. Roger Rietberg sang "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer." Mr. Rietberg was organist.

The bride chose a ballerina-length gown of nylon lace over taffeta in princess style, trimmed with nylon tulle. A sequin tiara held her fingertip veil of bridal illusion and she carried white roses, lilies and stephanotis.

A deep aqua crystal gown, styled like the bride's, was worn by the maid of honor. The bridesmaids wore gowns of light aqua. They carried painted daisies in white baskets.

For the wedding, the bride's mother wore a blue silk sheath dress with white and yellow rose corsage. The groom's mother was attired in a blue lace dress with white accessories. She wore a pink rose corsage.

A reception for 110 guests was held in the church parlors. Miss Sunny Bouwman was in charge of the gift room.

Following a northern wedding trip the couple are residing in Ann Arbor where the groom is completing work for his B. S. degree in business administration at the University of Michigan. He has received a scholarship to study for his master's degree. The bride, a graduate of Tiffin, Ohio, High School, will be a junior at the University of Michigan in the fall. At present she is teaching swimming at a camp at Ann Arbor.

The bride's traveling outfit included a brown and beige linen suit with white gloves and a white rose corsage.

The bride was honored at a garden coffee party last Friday morning in the form of a grocery shower. The affair was held on the lawn at the home of Mrs. Tom Lievense. Hostesses were Mrs. Lievense and Mrs. Richard Speet.

Wheat Farmers Still Eligible For Payments

by Richard Machiele, County Agricultural Agent

Wheat growers in Michigan can still become eligible for acreage reserve payments under the new soil bank law. But they will need to act fast as the deadline date is June 30. By this time they must have reduced their wheat acres below their acreage allotment.

In addition, those farming in commercial corn counties, must be within their base acreage of corn. This is virtually a new allotment, about 18 per cent above the 1955 corn allotment.

Here are the three ways they can become eligible: 1. By certifying that they underplanted their wheat allotment last fall because of adverse weather conditions. 2. By reduction below the allotment because the wheat was destroyed by natural causes. 3. By plowing, clipping, or otherwise eliminating from harvest acres now within the wheat allotment.

In return for not grazing or harvesting a crop this year from the designated acreage reserve and for controlling noxious weeds on these acres, the farmer would receive a payment based on a determined yield multiplied by 60 per cent of the county loan rate for wheat. The average payment for the US is $1.20 a bushel for wheat which would be multiplied by the determined yield to arrive at the total payment.

The yield that applies depends on which of the above three methods were used to become eligible. If underplanted last fall (method No. 1) each acre will earn a flat rate of $4.00. For natural destruction or for disposal (methods No. 2 and 3) the normal yield for the farm or the appraised yield for the wheat growing on the acreage reserve, whichever is loss, will be used; in no case will the payment be less than $6 per acre.

Wheat growers are not required to participate in the soil bank to qualify for the support price, but wheat growers must be within their acreage allotment to qualify for either.

Farmers may put into the acreage reserve a maximum of half of the allotment or 50 acres, whichever is larger. They cannot, however, put in more than the entire allotment.

As a minimum they must put in at least 10 per cent of the allotment or five acres, whichever is larger. If the allotment is less than five acres they must put the entire amount in the reserve.

Farmers should seek information from their county ASC office if they are interested in becoming eligible for acreage reserve payments for wheat. They should not plow under or dispose of crops for this purpose until after they contact the ASC office and make necessary arrangements. This must be accomplished before June 30.

Board of Public Works Officers Are Reelected

Randall C. Bosch was re-elected president of the Board of Public Works and Adrian Klaasen was re-elected vice president at a regular meeting of the board Monday.

Other members of the board are Henry S. Maentz, Donald J. Vink and William P. De Long. The latter succeeded James H. Klomparsen who resigned recently because he had moved outside the city.

For the first time today the new wells at 25th St. and Van Raalte were in operation, producing 600 gallons a minute. The installation involved a series of Griffin wells similar to those at 28th and Washington which have been in operation many years.

The new source is an addition to current supplies which are short this summer, requiring restrictions. The general supply is lower than that of last year.

Guy E. Bell, superintendent of the Board of Public Works, estimated that the very top production this year would be 6,000,000 gallons a day. He said peak demand would be about 7 1/2 million, thereby necessitating restrictions.

Sprinkling is restricted to even numbered houses on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays and to odd numbered houses on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. All sprinkling must cease in case of fire alarms.

Meanwhile, work is progressing on the new water supply system involving a pipeline to Lake Michigan and the chances are that the new system will be in operation by Nov. 1, a month or two ahead of earlier schedules.

All steel has been delivered for buildings at the Tunnel park site. One more lift is being added to the low service pumping station which now is beginning to take shape above the ground level.

The new pipeline is set up for producing 14,000,000 gallons a day, but can be increased considerably above that figure.

Open House Set At Wood-Haven

ZEELAND (Special) — Wood-Haven, a home for the chronically ill and aged in Zeeland, will have open house Thursday afternoon and evening.

The new convalescent home occupies the former Huizinga Memorial Hospital which was vacated a month ago when the hospital moved into its modern new building known as Zeeland Community Hospital.

It was purchased by two nurses, Mrs. Angie Van Hoven and Miss Florence Vande Woude, who will operate the home along with a staff. The converted mansion will house 22 residents, ambulatory and otherwise.

A home of this type will relieve beds in hospitals and will help fill a long-felt need for facilities of this type. There is one other convalescent home in Zeeland.

The new home plans to keep patients as ambulatory as possible and will put considerable emphasis on rehabilitation. Mrs. Van Hoven and Miss Vande Woude will not live on the premises.

The mansion on Central Ave. was built in 1913 by Baron Daniel von Sztama. In 1926 the Huizinga family purchased the property and presented it to Zeeland for a hospital.

Laurie Ann Hohl... eyeing national tournament

Grandstanding...

By Randy Vande Water

From motor boat to mortar board on the tailend of a towrope is the course Laurie Ann Hohl, 20-year-old Michigan State University sophomore, has set for herself.

A water skier practically as soon as she could walk and a national junior champion at 16, Laurie is making the art of skimming across water on a couple of wood planks pay for her college education.

For the past three summers, Laurie has been a member of the Tommy Bartlett water show, touring the Midwest during two-months stints and giving exhibitions at the famed Wisconsin Dells the last year.

But this year she's decided on a "summer school grind" and is setting up a classroom at Lake Macatawa for instruction in water skiing.

Laurie decided to do the instructing this year so as to get set for the national championship water ski tournament at La Porte, Ind. And while she isn't helping to balance some small fry on skis for the first time or show a saggy-tummed old-timer how to take off properly, she will be using every available minute to get set for the nationals.

Poured prettily into a bathing suit and with a perpetual grin, Laurie says "that a victory in the nationals would really help."

Personal appearances and exhibitions would help her pick up quite a few shekles to continue her course in speech, radio and TV at MSU.

Last week, Laurie was on hand to put on an exhibition in the opening of Metropolitan Beach in Detroit.

And during the Christmas vacation while an HHS junior, she put on exhibitions and instructed at one of the big hotels in Nassau in the Bahama Islands.

A busy little girl at Michigan State, Laurie is honorary Lt. Col. of one of the Spartan ROTC outfits and recently was a semi-finalist in the Miss Lansing contest.

The Montello Park Tandas had a birthday party and a going away party combined. The party was for Aduanne Santora, Sandy Santora and Rosemary Harrington. The group played games and had refreshments. They had cake, ice cream, and Kool-aid. All the girls were present, but not the leader, Mrs. Stillwell. On June 14, the group had a birthday party at the home of Melanie Boynton. It was for Gayle Janson and Melanie Boynton. They had refreshments and got their presents. Reported by Melanie Boynton, scribe.

The Tami Camp Fire group entertained the Butterfly Blue Bird group on a picnic at Kollen Park. The girls played games and then had a picnic supper. Gloria Minnema and Dianne Wightman treated. The next meeting was held at the home of their leader, Mrs. Kobes. At a short business meeting the girls discussed the Council Fire and made plans for a picnic breakfast. They then worked on their Father's Day gifts. Helen Rose and Carol Jacobus treated. The following Saturday morning the girls went to the home of Gloria Minnema where they had a picnic breakfast. Each girl cooked her own breakfast. Reported by Beverly Hill, scribe.

The Butterfly Blue Birds of Van Raalte School held their final meeting of the school year on Monday, June 4, at the home of their leader, Mrs. Chester Hill. The girls made invitations for the grand council fire which was held at the Civic Center. After the work session, a treat was enjoyed. For the last meeting of the month of May, the group was taken on a hike to Kollen Park by a Camp Fire g-up. Reported by Elaine Folkert, scribe.

Miss Shirley Goorman Honored at Shower

Miss Shirley Goorman, who will be married in July to Robert Arendsen, was feted at a grocery shower Friday evening. The party was given by Mrs. Gerrit Goorman and Miss Arlene Goorman at 122 West Central Ave., Zeeland.

Games were played and duplicate prizes were awarded to Mrs. Jay Vanden Berg and Mrs. Bill Korstanje. Gifts were placed around a pink and white decorated umbrella. Refreshments were served.

Invited were the Mesdames Henry Poppen, Nick Beyer, Gordon Vanden Beyer, Jay Vanden Berg, Leon Beyer, Manley Beyer, Mike De Jonge, Cal Jansen, Gerrit J. Goorman, Cecil Van Slooten, Bert Arendsen, Miss Dawn Poppen and Miss Evelyn Beyer, all of Holland.

In double ring wedding rites Friday, June 8, at Second Reformed Church of Zeeland, Miss Barbara Bloemendaal, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. D. C. Bloemendaal, 351 West Main St., Zeeland, became the bride of Lawrence F. Dickman. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hilmer C. Dickman of Zeeland.

The bride chose a floor-length gown of net and lace. The long bodice was designed with a square neckline and short sleeves of rose point lace finished with tucks of net. Insets of lace enhanced the bouffant skirt. Completing her ensemble were net mitts and a lace cap which held her illusion veil.

She carried a prayer book with amazon lilies and stephanotis. Miss Elizabeth Bloemendaal, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, and Mrs. W. Bloemendaal, her sister-in-law, as bridesmaid, wore ballerina-length gowns of orchid crystal and fashioned with scoop necklines and long fitted bodices which featured pleated insets. ## Lekenta Bound Over at Hearing

ALLEGAN (Special)—Eugene Lekenta, 25, Grand Rapids, charged with aggravated assault, was bound over to Circuit Court following an examination in Municipal Court Friday before Judge E. L. Andrews. Bond of $1,000 was not furnished and Lekenta, formerly Michigan State University football player, was remanded to county jail.

Victim of the Memorial Day fight, Fred Corbus, 22-year-old Western Michigan College athlete, has been in critical condition in Bronson Hospital in Kalamazoo ever since the altercation. Leo Hoffman, defense attorney, moved or dismissal but his motion was promptly denied by Judge Andrews. Hoffman had hoped for dismissal of criminal charges in view of the offer of Lekenta's friends to put up money for Corbus' hospital expenses.

Three witnesses appeared at the hearing. They were Mrs. Corbus, Mrs. Roy Kaskowski and John Koerts, all of Kalamazoo, members of a Kalamazoo party which had spent the day at the beach and were having supper in Saugatuck when Lekenta allegedly insulted Mrs. Corbus, resulting in a fight outside.

Mrs. Corbus testified her husband said Lekenta had hit him on the side of the head but had hit him only once. Lekenta emerged from the scrap with a cut lip, cut chin and bloody nose.

Road Commission Rejects Bids on Widening Roads

GRAND HAVEN (Special)—The Ottawa County Road Commission rejected bids for concrete widening projects Thursday for reasons that the two bids submitted were more than 20 percent over the engineer's estimates. The projects were the Fruitport Rd. and US-31 at Ferrysburg. Bids will be either advertised again at a more favorable time or the county crew will do the work.

John Boersen of Zeeland was awarded contracts for hauling gravel on three projects, 160th Ave. from Riley to Quincy; James St. from 160th Ave. east 7 mile; Ransom St. from Butternut Dr. east a half mile. A fourth bid for graveling Crosswell St. from Butternut east two miles was rejected. The three projects total $6,063.50.

The commission approved 13 plats, including Lakewood Heights and subdivision in section 22, Park township, and Pine Hill subdivision in section 13, Park township. Commissioners signed an agreement with the Grand Trunk Western Railroad Co. and the Michigan State Highway Department in connection with reconstruction of a bridge carrying the railroad over 24th Ave. just north of US-16 near Marne. This is in connection with the new proposed limited access US-16 trunkline.

In other business, the commission announced a five percent cost-of-living wage adjustment for employees.
