Local Youth Nabbed After Wild Chase

Armed Teenager Caught
After Car Hits Dune
Near South Haven

An armed, 14-year-old Holland boy was captured by State Police early this morning near South Haven after his stolen car crashed into a sandbank during a wild, 110-mile an hour chase on US-31.

As the officers approached the wrecked car, the youth lifted a loaded rifle and for a few moments held it on the officers until he collapsed in the car, which lay upside down.

The boy was taken to the South Haven Hospital, where he was treated for lacerations of the head and right arm and possible head injuries.

Holland police later returned him to Holland and he has been turned over to Probate Court authorities.

State Troopers Lloyd Hallman and Bernard Schlehuber said the boy told them he had broken into a "green and white" gas station somewhere between Holland and South Haven on the way. The youth said he broke into a rear window and obtained 25 cents.

Troopers Hallman and Schlehuber reported they saw the youth drive behind a gas station in South Haven shortly after 1 a.m. and turn off his lights. The officers said that when they drove up, the youth leaped back in his car and, lights still out, raced south out of South Haven on US-31.

Traveling at about 110 miles an hour, the troopers said the boy missed a curve about five miles south of the city.

According to the troopers, the car plunged 780 feet off through a field before ramming a sandbank. The car flipped end over end through the air for 61 feet, they said, and then rolled over and over for another 60 feet.

The 1956 model car was a total wreck, Hallman said.

Holland police said the car was stolen about midnight from Overt Bird, of 214 East 17th St.

State Police are holding the 22 caliber semi-automatic rifle taken from the youth. Officers said the youth told them he was going to Chicago to see his mother. The rifle belonged to his father, the boy said.

Following his return to Holland, the youth was taken to Holland Hospital for further x-rays and treatment.

13-District Organization Approved

Approval of a 13-district school reorganization program for an area north of Holland was assured today in a letter from Lynn M. Bartlett, superintendent of the State Department of Public Instruction.

The letter was addressed to Jennie M. Kaufman, Ottawa county school superintendent, with copies to representatives of the various districts.

Districts included in the reorganization study are Beechwood, Waukazoo, Lakewood, Waverly, Pine Creek, North Holland, Noordeloo, Harlem, East Crisp, West Crisp, Ventura, West Olive and Robart.

These districts lie north of Black River to a line about half way between Grand Haven and Holland. Portions of the Noordeloo district come within a half mile of Zeeland.

Lloyd Van Raalte, superintendent of Beechwood schools, said the Suburban School Planning Committee, consisting of representatives of the 13 districts, is in the process of submitting a request to the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission for approval to consolidate existing debt for the entire district. This committee will meet Monday night in Waverly School to continue work on the reorganization.

After the committee gets approval on debt consolidation, the next step is to circulate petitions on district consolidation in each of the 13 districts. Petitions in each district must bear 51 per cent of the signatures of electors in that district. This work is expected to get under way in two or three weeks.

After petitions are in, the next step would be elections in all districts with separate votes on consolidation and debt sharing. Both issues must pass in all districts for final consolidation to be effective, according to Van Raalte. Plans for a new high school would come later.

Thieves Get $260 in Cash In Breakins

Vriesland, Jamestown
And Allendale All
Hit Friday Night

Burglars Friday night or early Saturday morning struck at three feed mills in separate Ottawa County communities, taking a total of about $260 in cash for the night's work.

Ottawa County deputies, investigating the breakins at Allendale, Vriesland and Jamestown, said they believe that all three jobs were done by the same parties.

At the Allendale Farm Supply, the burglars got into the safe to take $180 in cash, according to the manager, Eugene Hovingh. Deputies said there were no signs of forcible entry on the safe, and cash only was taken.

The intruders smashed a door handle on a rear door in trying to enter, deputies said, but failed to open the door and instead smashed a rear window and crawled through. The breakin was discovered by an employee when he came to work at 6 a.m.

Deputies said they were unsuccessful in finding good fingerprints, but added that they found two good sets of footprints believed to be those of the burglars. Judging by the size, deputies said, one of the two may have been a woman or a young boy.

Detective William Chandler of the Grand Haven State Police post is cooperating in the investigation.

At the Vriesland Co-op, the burglars pried open a back window crawled through and made off with about $75 in rolls of change. The breakin was discovered by Manager Robert Gort when he came to work at 7 a.m. and found papers strewn around the office. Nothing else seems to have been taken, he said, and deputies said they found no clues in the vicinity.

At Jamestown, the intruders again broke a window on the south side of Van Noord's Mill to gain entrance. A strongbox, about two feet square and weighing about 40 pounds, was taken, deputies said, and later was found in an orchard several miles east of Jamestown, battered open.

According to the deputies, the strongbox had contained about $5. Apparently nothing else was taken from the mill, deputies said.

Russ Boeve Appointed Supervisor

Council to Make One
More Appointment
To Allegan Board

Representatives of the three areas which annexed to Holland city at the June 3 special election were welcomed to City Council at its regular meeting Wednesday evening in City Hall.

Henry Kleinheksel, of Maplewood area, Richard Smith, Jr., of Apple Ave. and Frank Meyer of Montello Park will serve as ex-officio members of Council during the transition period. Eventually with redistribution of wards and precincts, new areas will vote on Council members.

Council appointed Russell Boeve of Maplewood area to serve as one of its representatives on the Allegan County Board of Supervisors. Since the 4½-mile Maplewood area lies in Allegan county, Holland city is entitled to at least two members on the Allegan board. Another member will be appointed later.

Boeve formerly served as supervisor of Fillmore township.

Mayor Robert Visscher appointed the following committee to study possibilities on forming a safety commission similar to the planning commission: Andrew G. Sall, chairman, Willard H. Connor, Police Chief Jacob Van Hoff, Ernest Phillips and Raymond Holwerda.

Presented for first reading were ordinances on precinct boundaries in the newly annexed areas, on use of firearms in agriculturally zoned areas within the city (hunting on farm land), and a new ordinance amending previous action on the Peter Yff property in the neighborhood of 13th and Maple. The action involves a half foot to be rezoned. A public hearing is scheduled on the Yff property ordinance July 16 at 7:30 p.m.

Mayor Visscher reappointed Frank Harbin, Jr., as a member of the panel of space heating examiners for a four-year term. A planning commission appointment was delayed until later.

Council approved a proposed agreement with the Clemenshaw Co. for an appraisal of property in Maplewood area, which annexed to the city, to cost no more than $7,000.

Council voted 6 to 1 to sell city-owned property on the north side of Fourth St. west of River Ave. approximately 286 by 132 feet, to Northern Fibre Products Co. of Holland at an appraisal price of $14,340. Dissenting vote was cast by Raymond Holwerda who said he was not opposed to the sale but felt such transfers should be advertised in advance to avoid any stigma of "deals" with the city.

George Maduck, representative of the State Labor Mediation Board, told Council he had received petitions bearing signatures of a substantial number of Holland city employees asking the department to mediate grievances. Mayor Visscher explained that employees may state their grievances without discussion and Richard Kemp, a representative of the state, county and municipal employees union, told Council that these grievances will be presented in writing in advance of a mediation meeting.

Council authorized Mayor Visscher to appoint a committee to represent the city at such a hearing. The grievances stem from Council's action last month in deleting pay raises for city employees in the 1958-59 budget because of economic conditions.

Oaths of office were filed for Neil V. Wichers, member of the hospital board, and Milton L. Hinga, library board, both for five-year terms.

A petition requesting a traffic survey at Pine and 29th for the purpose of recommending some kind of safety device to reduce accidents was referred to the planning commission for recommendation.

A letter from Kroger Co. expressed agreement with Council for safety controls on Central Ave. but objected to installing traffic diverters at 31st and Maple. This communication also was referred to the planning commission.

Clerk Clarence Greengood announced that the Michigan Municipal League will hold its 60th annual meeting Sept. 24-26 at Statler-Hilton Hotel in Detroit.

A letter was read from State Inspector of Jails W. H. Nestle stating the Holland jail was found to be in clean and sanitary condition and the police department was doing a good job of supervision.

Council filed a resolution of the Chamber of Commerce requesting mayor and Council to join with annexed groups and any others who may be added to the city in initiating long-range plans for orderly community development.

Council accepted with thanks the following gifts for Holland Hospital: Robert Christopher estate, $2,987; class of 1959 Holland High School in memory of Dennis Kuite, two patient walkers and an irrigator stand, $51.28; South Shore guild, ice cart for pediatrics department, $200.

Council approved transfer of funds for the Civic Center stage lighting project after City Manager Herb Holt said it will be impossible to have the project under contract by June 30.

Ottawa County 4-H News

By Willis S. Boss,
4-H Club Agent

Four members attended a camp counselors school held at Bostwick Lake last week. These members were Karen Busman and Stanley Sikkema from Coopersville, Beverly Beek from Jamestown and Ronald Zuidema of Holland.

The two-day event gave them training in counseling youth for the county 4-H camp program. They were taught what a camp counselor should do and be, also games for rainy days and around the camp-fire, etc.

Arden Peterson, recreational specialist, Miss June Wilkinson, food specialist, and Bob George, conservation specialist, all on the state staff, were present and conducted this school, with the help of leaders and agents.

Ottawa County's three camping sessions opened June 16 with about 80 boys and girls attending the first four-day event. The activities of camp will add much joy to the members' lives as a full line of events is planned. Mrs. Grace Vander Kolk, Home Demonstration Agent, is supervising meals and menu planning. Several volunteer leaders will be helping us cook at camp.

The first of the 4-H dairy tours will be held Thursday evening at 7 p.m., starting at the Gerrit Buth farm in Eastmanville. This farm is located about a quarter mile east on Leonard Road off 68th Ave.

Russ Herseberger from the Pet Milk Co. at Coopersville will be on hand to give several demonstrations. He will have clipping shears with him and will demonstrate the proper clipping of a dairy animal for showing. Also, we hope to show members how to put a blanket on a dairy animal and the value of that blanket. There will also be a lesson on leading animals for showing. (It's not too early to start getting animals trained for the fair.)

Judging will also be a part of the evening tour. A class of Holsteins will be looked over and judged by 4-H members. The tour will continue to the Harry Modderman farm in Lamont where a class of Guernseys will be judged. Don't forget the date — June 19th (Thursday), starting at 7 p.m. at the Gerrit Buth farm in Eastmanville.

For the club member's exhibit at the fair this year, we are going to ask for more than just a vegetable basket exhibit. We would like each member to: 1. Exhibit a vegetable basket; 2. Exhibit 1-3 photographs of their garden, taken around the middle of July; 3. Exhibit a plan of the garden, indicating quantity of vegetable grown; 4. Express reasons for planting and amount utilized by the family; 5. Vegetables used, sold, and expected sales.

Judging will be 40 per cent on vegetable basket and 60 per cent on the report. Vegetables in the basket will be 40 per cent on market value, 40 per cent on quality, and 20 per cent on arrangement. George Stachwick, marketing specialist, will help leaders and members with special problems as a scheduled meeting this summer. Leaders will also be sent a letter containing a copy of this information, later this week.

ATTACKING THE PRESIDENTIAL PRIMARY

Adlai Stevenson wants to abolish the presidential primary. Few public men have had more experience with this at one time alleged politically utopian institution than Stevenson. This is what he had to say about it:

"I think the presidential primary is almost a useless institution. I am not by any means persuaded that the presidential primary is a good thing to have."

The two-time Democratic candidate for President has a good deal of company in this point of view. About the only thing the presidential primary has convinced such people of is that "there ain't no such animal" as an ideally democratic way of nominating our candidates for office.

The main trouble with the presidential primary is that those who fought for it in the beginning confused political romance with political reality. They apparently believed that a piece of political machinery, such as the presidential primary is, can force those who are hungry for office to be truly democratic. Those primaries, so they argued, would give the common voter in both parties a chance to help name the next President. Any common voter who has given so much as ten minutes thought to it is probably convinced that it has not worked that way.

In the first place, the presidential primary is merely advisory in most of the states in which it is a law. The delegates to the national conventions in both parties can, and often do, refuse to be bound by the presidential primaries of their states. Properly so, in many cases; if they stuck unyieldingly to the primary votes, a choice might become an arithmetical impossibility.

Sunday School Lesson

Sunday, June 22
Who Are The Strong?
Judges 15:11-15; 16:15-21

By C. P. Dame

(Based on copyrighted outlines produced by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. and used by permission.)

Samson was a man who could have done great things for his nation and God but he did not do so. There are members in our churches who are able to do much for the Lord but they don't—they are not Christ-centered enough to be a power for the kingdom. Some one has said that Samson desecrated a consecrated life and that he surely did.

I. Physical strength is commendable but it is not enough. An angel of the Lord foretold the birth of Samson to his parents who had lost all hope of having a child. The angel told the parents that their son would be a Nazirite and that he would begin to deliver Israel. A Nazirite vowed not to drink wine or strong drink, to let his hair grow, and not to touch a dead body. Samson was a man dedicated to God. Every Christian is a dedicated person. Some Christians forget their dedication.

Samson was a man who might have been a great leader against Israel's enemies but he failed. He was an individualist and that hurt his usefulness. Those who wish to do great things for God and man must learn the art of cooperating with others. In addition, Samson was a practical joker, "the great humorist of the Bible" who delighted to do stunts but who failed to take himself seriously enough or the cause to which he gave himself. Every man has his weak spot and Samson had his. He had a sensual nature and instead of controlling it he yielded to it. Some one said that a woman can make a fool of a man easily because often the man gives her such excellent cooperation. Samson did that in every instance.

We are living in an age that makes much of sex. It is causing many young people to get a twisted view of life which leads to disaster. Samson was not a blessing to any woman and no woman was a blessing to Samson. Men and women with the attitude of Samson cannot be a blessing to each other.

II. Spiritual strength is needed. In the Old Testament times the Spirit of God was given to special people for a special purpose. Often the Spirit gave them unusual powers, abilities or strength. In the New Testament every Christian has received the Holy Spirit. Samson was hence a privileged person. Instead of using his special gift of strength he wasted it. The tragedy of his life was that he did not dedicate to the Lord what the Lord had given him. Anything that we have we should dedicate to God's service. Wealth, intelligence, abilities, no matter what it is, should be dedicated for then it will not be wasted or misused.

Samson lost his power. Delilah, a Philistine woman of no account, persuaded him so long that he finally told her the secret of his unusual strength and he lost it because he had broken his vow. The Lord departed from him. He wasted God's gifts—his strength and his leadership ability. Many people today are doing what Samson did—wasting God's gifts which were intended to enrich their lives and those of others.

Some have the gift of knowledge, others of understanding, some of leadership, and today not a few possess wealth. Unless these gifts are dedicated they are so apt to be misused. Samson paid the penalty of his sin by being put in a prison which became his tomb. How he died we all know.

The use of alcohol leads to the misuse of many of God's best gifts. Many people lose positions, health, strength, happiness, homes, wealth, friendships, because they yield to drink. Not only do alcoholics hurt themselves but usually they hurt others too. No one knows how many people drunken drivers have killed on the highways. The best decision to make is to totally abstain from liquor. Will you?

Driving Without License Brings 3-Day Jail Term

Local Float Will Appear At Mackinac

A Tulip Time float will appear in the big parade in connection with the dedication of Mackinac Bridge next week, it was decided at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce board of directors here Monday night.

The Chamber of Commerce float which appeared in Tulip Time parades will be taken to the straits to appear in St. Ignace on June 26 and in Mackinaw City on June 27. Any Holland person who plans to be present at the dedication events would like to ride on the float in Dutch costume is asked to call the Chamber of Commerce.

Float Designer Fred Newman will transport the float to the straits. He said the float with its windmill and Dutch boat would be slightly larger than when it appeared in Tulip Time parades. Funds for Holland representation at the big event came from local service clubs, industries, some interested persons together with a contribution from the Chamber.

In other business, John H. Van Dyke, chairman of the Civic Affairs committee, announced that work is being completed on a "Know Holland" film strip and it should be available in another month. This film will be available to service clubs and other organizations. Van Dyke announced that the counseling service in which small business could obtain the services of consultants on a part-time basis is nearing final organization, and should be ready in a short time. The committee also is working on a program to provide part-time clerical and secretarial workers.

The Chamber is requesting the city planning commission to make an immediate study for industrial sites in the newly annexed areas. This will involve maps, aerial views, site locations and other factors.

The board endorsed Senate Bill 76 on band compulsory unionism, restoring state authority in labor relations, outlawing minority picketing, closing loopholes in law on secondary boycotting, and placing unions under the same anti-trust laws that apply to business and other types of organizations. Telegrams were sent to U. S. Sens. Charles Potter and Pat McNamara immediately since action was scheduled either today or Wednesday.

Mayor Robert Viascher explained Council action on annexation and how letters of welcome had been sent to families in the annexed areas. The need of a master plan for the city was discussed for some time. President Jack Plewes thanked the mayor and Council for their efforts on behalf of annexation.

The board presented an honorary award of 10 years of community service to radio station WHTC. Manager Sandy Meek received the award on behalf of the station.

Vows Exchanged in Faith Church

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee Wiersma

Solemn wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Betty Jane Van Omen and Robert Lee Wiersma in a candlelight service Thursday June 12 in Faith Reformed Church of Zeeland.

The Rev. E. Tanis officiated at the double ring ceremony performed before a setting of palms and ferns with bouquets of peonies, gladioli and spiral candelabra.

As Mrs. Jasoy Rozema, organist, played appropriate wedding music the bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Van Omen, 357 West Central Ave., Zeeland, approached the altar with her father who gave her in marriage. Her gown of embroidered nylon featured a sabbina neckline and the three tiered skirt cascaded into a chapel train. Matching mitts and a sweetheart crown from which fell the elbow length veil trimmed with pearls and sequins, complemented her costume. She carried a white Bible with an orchid and ivy streamers.

The bride's attendants wore identical gowns of embroidered nylon with scalloped necklines, full skirts with bordered embroidery and white sashes. The maid of honor, Miss Marcia Wiersma, cousin of the groom, wore blue, and the bridesmaid, Miss Sharon Wiersma, sister of the groom, and junior bridesmaid, Miss Mary Van Omen, sister of the bride, wore pink. All had matching picture hats and carried bouquets of large white daisies. Bobby Bouws, and Diane Sysma, cousins of the bride, were ring bearer and flower girl.

Ottawa County Farm News

County Farm News
by Richard Machiele

County Agricultural Agent
Black spot is the most important disease of roses out of doors. Spencer Potter, extension specialist in botany and plant pathology at Michigan State University, says at one time it was important under glass, but changes in cultural practices have eliminated it as a greenhouse problem. All varieties popular today are susceptible.

The spots on leaves are black or dark brown and are distinctive. Usually only the upper leaf surface is affected, but sometimes a spot shows on the lower side. Small spots may appear on flower parts and on soft stems, where they are known as "cankers."

Potter says black spot is caused by a fungus which is spread from plant by tiny spores. The fungus hibernates during the winter on old leaves on the ground and in cankers on the canes. In spring new spores are formed and these are carried by wind or by splashing rain.

There are several controls for this disease. Sources of initial infection can be eliminated by careful pruning to remove suspected cankers. The main control is through use of a suitable fungicide applied to foliage before infection occurs. Manzanite, captan or ferimate can control black spot.

The number of applications depends on the frequency and amount of rain. Applications can be made every 7-10 days and after rains. During dry spells, application every 2 to 3 weeks may be adequate.

Be sure that upper and lower leaf surfaces are covered.

Cucumber beetles are out. An early spray will prevent future trouble in pickle fields. Use 25 percent dieldrin emulsion - 1 pint per acre. Even though you see no beetles, they are there. Spray two or three days before plants emerge and second application 7 to 10 days later.

Pesky poison ivy can be knocked out easily and quickly this summer with several chemicals.

There are several chemicals that can do the job, but we recommend ammonium sulfamate or amino-trazole.

If ammonium sulfamate is used, spray a mixture of one pound of the dry chemical in one gallon of water. This quantity will treat from 100 to 500 square feet of growth. At least 90 per cent of the leaves should be wet by the spray to insure good control.

This ammonium sulfamate is not poisonous to animal life and does not present a fire hazard, but grasses will be stunted and all woody plants hit by the spray may be killed. Grasses will generally recover.

Four pounds of a commercial product containing 50 per cent amino-triazole in 50 gallons of water will give excellent control of poison ivy. For smaller amounts use two tablespoons in a gallon of water.

Apply this material as a spray when the ivy is in full leaf. Spray drift may cause yellowing of certain crops such as alfalfa and corn.

Best results from chemicals can be obtained when the compound is applied with a pressure sprayer.

For smaller patches and isolated plants or in locations where the use of chemicals might damage desirable plants, remove the top growth with a grub-hoe or spade.

In checking Christmas plantations this past week, we find aphids are in great abundance—last season aphid damage is showing up in form of "tagging" or dead twigs usually on the end of branches.

It might be well to check for these and if they are present in large numbers, apply a spray of malathion.

Another pest showing on scotch pine is the rose chafer. Malathion will get it too - 3 to 4 lbs. of 50 percent malathion should do the job. An insurance, 3 to 4 lbs.

The sabbina neckline was trimmed with embroidered lace and sequins and pearls. Her three-tiered floor length veil was held by a half-hat trimmed with pearls and sequins. Escorted to the altar by her father, she carried a colonial bouquet of pink and white carnations.

Mrs. George Wennersten, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a ballerina length gown of aqua crystalite. of DDT could be added. If weather conditions are favorable, it might get the first brood of European pine shoot moth.

Examination of perithecia from diseased leaves collected in Lawrence on June 4 indicated that primary spores are still present (approximately 20 percent). This means that the next one or two rains can still give the growers primary infection. Full strength protective fungicides should be used during this period.

When the primary infection period is over it will be reported to us.

2 From Area Earn Degrees

Two residents of Ottawa and Allegan counties received master's degrees at the Michigan State University commencement — but they earned at the M. S. U. regional western Michigan area and not on the East Lansing campus.

The men are William M. Johnson of Saugatuck and Herbert L. De Kleine of Hudsonville.

They are among the growing list of Michigan adults who received degrees through credits earned at the M. S. U. regional and several other communities.

Each man earned his final credits this spring term at the M. S. U. Center at the Grand Rapids Junior College East Building. M. S. U. offers about 30 courses each term there in such fields as education, engineering, social work, business, home economics, journalism and others.

Johnson finished his necessary credit with two spring-term courses at Grand Rapids in "General School Administration" and "Advanced General Psychology" and DeKleine completed his requirements with a class in "Market Milk."

Now with his M. S. U. master's in education, he has accepted an offer to teach, accounting and business law at Scottville High School, Scottville, Mich. He formerly taught at Saugatuck High School for four years.

DeKleine is a veteran of 18 years in the teaching profession, serving at Bad Axe, Sebawing, Mason and Zeeland. He has been on the Zeeland High faculty since 1948, serving as vocational agriculture teacher since 1953. He holds his bachelor's degree also from M. S. U.

The De Kleine family lives on route 2, Hudsonville, and his two high school sons help operate a fruit farm.

Miss Cornelia Bratt, social worker for the Pine Rest Hospital Association, addressed members of the Pine Rest Christian Circle No. 10 Monday evening at the final meeting of the season at Maple Avenue Christian Reformed Church.

Miss Bratt praised the work of the 14 Circles located in Holland, Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo, Muskegon and Hudsonville areas, who are financing the cost of erecting the second nurses lodge on the grounds. Last year the debt was reduced by $24,000, and so far this year the circles have paid off $9,000. There is a balance of approximately $40,000 yet to be paid. The original cost was $294,876.

Miss Bratt said that the hospital which started in the country on a 330 acre farm today is a hospital with 550 beds and now is located in the midst of the city. She said that her work at the hospital covers a variety of phases of social work used to supplement the work of the doctors. There are two ministers who call on patients and also there is a devotional period each evening.

Full House at Gala Opening Of Red Barn

Red Barn Theater played to standing room only at its gala opening Saturday night in the delightful play, "The Rainmaker," a warm story rich with the humor and pathos of family life. The play reopened Monday and continues through Saturday in the barn theater on US-31 seven miles south of Holland. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m.

Appearing in featured roles were Dorothy Lee Tompkins and William Cain, both returning from last season's professional New York company. Miss Tompkins who demonstrated her versatility in nearly every Red Barn production last year won further plaudits for her fine portrayal of Lizzie, the plain girl beloved by her family but shy in the presence of others.

Cain was the very active Bill Starbuck, the con man and rainmaker with the soul of a poet who helped Lizzie and her whole family "find" themselves and in the process got a new slant on life himself. Cain who distinguished himself in many roles last season proved himself a veteran actor in this demanding role.

With a good share of Holland people in the large audience, the appearance of two Holland men in the cast was of particular interest. Larrie Clark, director of vocal music at Holland High School, gave a fine sensitive interpretation of the lovable father, a somewhat different role from Emile deBeque in South Pacific which he has played.

Jim White's friends formed quite a cheering section every time Jim appeared as the sheriff. Jim was at his best in this minor role which involved considerable argument with his deputy and a few family scenes.

It was evident that the cast had worked long and hard over the little nuances and fine points, sparked by Producer-Director James Dyas whose extra push on the little things turns a good play into a great play. The production was well cast with other roles played by Harry Peckham as Jim, the cheerful brother who seemed to have more than his share of good lines; Jack Doner as taciturn Noah, the practical brother, and J. J. Sullivan as Fife, the deputy. The theater was all slicked up for Saturday's opening. There was an art exhibit in the lounge downstairs. A new exit has been installed at the rear of the auditorium.

Devotions were given by Mrs. John Van Eerden. Mrs. Christian Walwood introduced Mrs. Robert De Bruyn who reviewed the book "Gift from the Hills".

$500 Nursing Prize Won by Local Nurses

Three Holland Hospital nurses share in a $500 prize in Michigan's first search for new hospital achievements in connection with the 39th annual convention of the Michigan Association on Mackinac Island.

The prize goes to Kathryn Groenevelt, director of nursing, and Imelda E. Dailey and Mary Lou Van Dyke for their entry in the state contest on a new system of professional nursing, an innovation which was instituted here with the completion of the hospital construction program.

This program which utilizes professional nursing hours among the more acutely ill persons was originated by Miss Groenevelt. The report was compiled by Mrs. Dailey and Miss Van Dyke some months ago while Miss Groenevelt was doing graduate work on a master's degree at Columbia University College of Nursing in New York City.

The program generally assigns patients to specific nursing units according to their individual needs. As much as possible, patients who are able to be up and about are assigned to one unit. In this way the ambulatory patients tend to have a therapeutic value to one another. They are able to visit one another and congregate in the lounge to watch television. The acutely ill are assigned to another section where their needs are met.

The program in itself is not new. It is somewhat similar to the "intensive care" programs adopted by larger hospitals but adapted to the needs of a smaller community.

Mrs. Dailey and Miss Van Dyke were present at the ceremonies at Mackinac Island last night. Holland Hospital received a plaque and the three nurses received certificates in addition to the cash award. Hospital Director Fred Burd also is attending the convention.

Honesty Is Best Policy For Eight-Year-Old Boy

Honesty in itself is the best policy, but occasionally it carries an extra benefit.

Just ask Steve Rowe, eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dock Rowe, 44 East 26th St., who Monday had an extra $5 for his honesty. Steve was playing on the beach at Holland State Park Sunday afternoon when he dug up a billfold containing $14 in cash and identification papers.

He returned the wallet to its owner, Ira Decker, 437 Howard Ave., who rewarded Steve with the $5. Decker said he had lost the billfold in the spring of 1957 when he was removing snow fence at the state park.

Grand Haven To Continue Mall Longer

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — City Council Monday night decided to continue the downtown mall program another three weeks to allow merchants to make a more complete survey in determining the value of the mall in which the two busiest blocks downtown have been closed to traffic and a garden-like atmosphere substituted with trees, shrubs, flowers, sandboxes for children, and even cafes for outdoor dining. Several offstreet parking areas take care of parking.

The mall was opened last Thursday for a 10-day experiment on the part of downtown merchants and the Chamber of Commerce. It is called "Projection 60" in the hope that the idea will be adopted permanently in the 1960's. It will now continue until July 7.

City Manager R. V. Terrill said cities throughout the state are watching the experiment with interest because all cities have downtown shopping problems. Visitors have come from Benton Harbor, St. Joseph and Kalamazoo. On Wednesday 37 representatives of Traverse City will arrive by special bus.
