Youth, 17, Slain In Middleville

Roadblocks were set up throughout the Holland area shortly after noon today in an attempt to nab the killers of a 17-year-old Middleville youth shot in a holdup of the service station where he was an attendant shortly before noon.

The victim was William Hummel, son of a Middleville conservation officer.

Holland police, notified of the holdup by Barry County authorities, posted a roadblock at the intersection of the US-31 bypass and M-40 at 12:10 p.m.

Ottawa County deputies and Michigan State Police from the Grand Haven Post set up blocks at the intersections of US-31 and M-21, US-31 and M-50 and at the intersection of US-16 and M-104 in Nunica.

Roadblocks have been set up throughout the area near Hastings in an attempt to trap the slayers. Barry County sheriff's officers said Hummel was shot below the right ear with a small caliber weapon and the bullet passed out through the back of his skull.

He died within an hour after the shooting.

No further details of the robbery and slaying were available immediately.

Sheriff's officers said residents in the sparsely populated area reported seeing a car parked across from the station early today. The description of the car was vague, deputies said.

Officials said it was not known how many persons were involved in the robbery or how much money, if any was missing. Hummel was alone in the station.

5 Houses Hit By Lightning During Storm

Bolt Affects City's Fire Alarm System; Over 100 Phones Out

Although no severe weather warning was issued for Holland Thursday, an early evening thunderstorm caused considerable damage to several homes on Fairbanks Ave. near Fifth St.

Holland firemen were called to the home of Fred Stam at 144 Fairbanks Ave. after a bolt of lightning struck the house, knocked down a television antenna and caused the roof to burn.

No one was home when the bolt struck and a neighbor called firemen. Damage to Stam's home was estimated at about $500, firemen said.

Houses on both sides of the Stam home suffered some minor damage, and two persons barely escaped injury. Henry Geertman of 146 Fairbanks, who was in his house when the bolt struck, was knocked down and a youngster in the house was struck by a fuse which was blasted out of a fuse box. Neither was injured, firemen said.

A telephone switchbox was knocked off the side of one house, and wires leading into the Geertman home were burned off, scorching some of the siding.

The lightning bolt, following electrical wires, splintered some siding on one corner of the home of Leo Zych at 152 Fairbanks. Firemen said Stam's home was the only one which burned after the bolt struck. One other home owner in the area reported that a piece of plaster was knocked off the ceiling in his living room, firemen said.

Firemen also reported that a part of the fire alarm system in the city was knocked out by Thursday's electrical storm. One bell was knocked out, causing the circuit to open. The trouble was corrected after the trouble spot was located Friday.

Bell Telephone Co. officials said there was damage to several service wires and one terminal in the Fairbanks Ave. area, and reported about 100 phones on the south side of Holland were knocked out.

Zeeland police and Ottawa County deputies reported receiving no reports of other damage in the area caused by the storm.

The severe weather warning issued earlier Thursday afternoon involved an area 60 miles either side of a line extending from Flint to Sturgis. Although this area included part of Allegan County, it did not include Holland.

The warning had included the possibility of severe thunderstorms, damaging winds and one or two possible tornadoes. Since Holland lay outside the warning area, Holland police and police reserves were not called to man weather observation posts in the area.

SUMMER

Yes, summer is officially with us again and millions of people are traveling around by almost every means of transportation.

From the National Safety Council we are receiving many suggestions in almost every mail. All of the suggestions deal with the matter of safety around the clock. Beware of the Terrible Two—traffic and drownings!

We hope you have a fine summer right at home. If you must travel around then we are quoting some of the information from the Safety Council as a forewarning to the top hazards to be encountered during these fine June days in Michigan.

To reduce the number of accidental deaths from all sources, the Council, a nongovernmental agency founded in 1913 for the prevention of all kinds of accidents, warns against: 1. Trying to drive too fast. 2. Driving a car that's in poor shape. (A minor auto ailment can too easily become a major under the stress and strain of turnpike driving.) 3. Permitting irritations to drive you into an accident. 4. Driving after drinking. 5. Ignoring speed laws and traffic regulations—which are established for your protection.

To be safe around water: 1. Remember, it's not only swimmers who drown. Persons playing near the water, and persons playing or working in or by water, also are frequent victims of drowning. 2. Know how to swim. Don't swim alone. 3. Practice moderation in swimming—don't try to swim all the way across a lake or river. 4. Horseplay is unwise around water. These are all good suggestions. With the summer season coming on it is well for everyone to be careful.

Tulip Lanes Cleanup Set

Park Supt. Jacob De Graaf said today that park department personnel is preparing to clean up tulip lanes later in the week.

The cleanup work this year will be done with the aid of a new reciprocating sod cutter equipped with a special blade to cut off dried up tulip foliage about an inch below the surface.

Because of recent wet cool weather, it has taken the tulips much longer this year to turn color and dry up, De Graaf said. Some property owners already have removed the old foliage and have planted petunias and dwarf marigolds, the two recommended plants for tulip lanes.

The park department takes care of the boulevards on 12th St. and Washington Ave. and has replaced all tulip beds in city parks with summer plants. The cool moist weather which retarded the drying of tulip foliage aided the transplanting program for parks and has had a beneficial effect on lawns, De Graaf said.

Some neighborhoods have held block meetings in a corporate venture for planting marigolds and petunias in the lanes to provide a more uniform effect for summer beauty.

Sunday School Lesson

Sunday, June 26
The Firm Foundation
Matthew 7:24-29; 21:28-32
By C. P. Dame

This is the last lesson on the Sermon on the Mount and the last lesson of another quarter. Our lesson is a very fitting one for the last Sunday of this third quarter for it directs our minds to the task of applying the gospel to our lives. Hearing should be followed by doing.

1. Our lives are sure to be tested. Jesus told a story about two builders. We all remember our early experiences. Jesus was trained to be a carpenter and so He knew something about building. In the Lord's story the one builder showed wisdom. He built his house upon a rock. When the rains, floods and storms came the house stood firm. The foresight of the man paid off. Jesus says that the person who hears and does the sayings which He uttered is like a wise builder. Life needs a solid foundation. In the lives of most people difficulties, troubles and trials are bound to come. It is then that the teachings of Jesus will reveal their value. Christianity is meant for trying times.

Some people think that a person who lives according to the principles of Jesus is foolish. There is a marked difference between the views of worldly people and those of Jesus. According to the Lord's teaching, those who put His principles to work are truly wise. Today there are not enough people in the world who practice the teachings of Jesus in all spheres of life.

The other builder did not look ahead. He built his house on sand. When the rains and floods came and the winds blew the house collapsed "and great was the fall of it." All the labor and planning he had spent upon the house were wasted due to his folly. When the testing time came the house did not stand up.

Some people hear the gospel but it does not move them in the least. The truths they hear are not put to work. They may hear about what Jesus teaches about giving but they remain greedy; they may hear what Jesus teaches about forgiving but they continue to hold grudges; they have learned what the gospel says about serving but they continue to neglect doing. The foolish man, according to Jesus, is the man who ignores the gospel. He may have acquired millions, fame and honor, but if he will not heed the Lord Who still speaks with authority, his life is a failure.

II. The Lord wants obedience. In Luke 15 there are three parables—one of them is the Parable of the Lost Son. In Matthew 21 there is the Parable of the Two Sons, which was spoken by Jesus for the benefit of the Jewish leaders who challenged His authority. A father had two sons. The father told one son to go to work in his vineyard but he rudely said, "I will not." He made no excuse, did not grumble but bluntly refused to do. Afterwards he thought about what he had said and repented and went to work. The father also told the other son to go to work and he politely said, "I go sir" but he did not go. The Lord asked the leaders who obeyed and they said that the first one did.

The father represents God, the first son, the publicans and sinners and the second son the Pharisees and scribes. The publicans and sinners heard John the Baptist preach and changed their ways and Jesus won many of them to a new way of life. The religious leaders heard John the Baptist preach but they did not believe him. When Jesus came preaching they refused to believe Him. It is splendid to go to church faithfully but that is not enough—doing must follow. Hearing, knowing, understanding the teachings of Jesus should result in fine Christian living.

David Matthews, native of Madras, India, played a violin solo and also accompanied audience singing on his violin.

The Rev. Herbert Scott, of the Immanuel Church of Holland, gave the meditation. In speaking on the "Paradox of the Ages" he said "Despite the fact that we have the Gospel and all we need to get it out, there are multitudes who are not Christian."

He gave five reasons why this condition exists, namely, they do not know how; they are afraid of what others will say; they are unwilling to give up some sin in their lives; they look at some who are poor witnesses as Christians; or, just neglect. In conclusion he quoted Heb. 2:3, "How shall we escape if we neglect so great salvation."

The offering went for the radio ministry of the Children's Bible Hour. Users were provided by the Berean and Wesleyan Methodist churches of Holland.

Song leader was Mel Ver Wys and pianist was Miss Dorothy Deters.

West Ottawa High School Now Under Construction

There's plenty of activity at the site of the new West Ottawa High School on old US-31 at Riley St.

Construction workers have completed excavations for academic sections and some footings were scheduled to be poured.

Voters in the West Ottawa district comprising about 13 previous districts north of Black River voted overwhelmingly last summer to bond the district for a $2.7 million combination senior and junior high school and a $240,000 swimming pool. Alstrom Contractors of Muskegon, holders of general contract, expects to have all academic units completed in 14 months, and possibly the gymnasium too. Thus, the new building will be ready for the opening of school in September, 1961.

The new school is designed to house 1,500 students, 800 in the junior high and 700 in the senior high units.

Supt. Lloyd A. Raalte said there will be 32 class rooms, 10 science laboratories, four industrial technology laboratories, one special choral room, one band-orchestra room, three arts and crafts rooms, two office practice commercial rooms, two typing rooms, three homemaking rooms, for a total of 58 academic classrooms.

In addition, there is the combination cafeteria-auditorium and a six-teacher station gymnasium with balcony which will seat in excess of 3,000 persons. The swimming pool will be at the rear of the gymnasium.

A small tiara held her fingertip veil. The bride carried a white Bible and a bouquet of white roses and ivy with streamers.

First Nighters Delighted With New Faces at Theater

A whole troupe of new faces greeted local theater lovers at the grand opening of the Red Barn Theater near Saugatuck Saturday night. The play was "The Golden Fleecing," a bright new comedy in which a trio of Navy men seek a new system to outwit the roulette wheel with the aid of a mechanical brain.

Newcomer Bruce Hall, who has had considerable experience in Broadway plays and television, was the undisputed star of the first play of the 1960 season. Cast as the irrepressible Lt. Fergie Howard, Hall paced the action of the situation comedy, at times with the suave, easy manner of a Bing Crosby but sometimes as jump as Jerry Lewis.

First nighters were unusually responsive at Saturday's opening, a boon to a new company, but one assembled with great care by Producer-Director James Dyas and his wife, Dorothy Lee Tompkins. The latter this year is concentrating on production and theater parties but plans three roles later in the season.

Saturday's opening bore the hallmarks of the Dyas touch in which "little things" well done add much to the play, also stamping it professional instead of something done by talented amateurs.

While Hall seemed to dominate the action, he had to step lively to keep ahead of other cast members. Contrast in Navy typing was provided by Robert Minford as the dreamy scientist attached as a civilian to the Navy, and Bob Schauweker as a nervous ensign with a southern accent.

Majel Swishelm, new ingenue, appeared rather fragile as the admiral's daughter, but it took no time at all to prove she could handle anything—particularly Navy woves. By contrast, Lee Speich, as the former girl friend of the scientist, was a more earthy type, and the two girls had a great time aiding and abetting, as well as bossing the men.

Holland people in the cast received ovations from an audience generous with applause. James White appeared as the outside man placing bets for the Navy trio in the Venice casino. Chuck Anderson and Juke Van Oss of WHTC appeared as a waiter and porter, respectively.

Robert Faro provided some of the play's best laughs as an inebriated sailor searching Fergie Howard's hotel room. Jack Le Howard appeared as the admiral, whose presence provided plenty of new complications to an already knotty plot.

Robert Schesvener was the rich, pompous fiancé of the scientist's former girl friend. The set, designed by Robert Marsden, deserved and received an extra round of applause. It was the drawing room of a suite in the Gritti Palace Hotel in Venice, designed with a balcony, brocade wall panels and white and gilt furniture. It even had a ceiling with painted cherubs and other figures who so fascinated the ensign unused to such splendor.

The play will continue throughout the week with curtain time at 8:30 p.m. on week nights. There will be two Saturday performances at 5:30 and 9 p.m.

Allegan Supervisors Won't Accept Initial Census Data

ALLEGAN (Special) — A 22-13 majority of the Allegan county board of supervisors Monday questioned the legality of accepting preliminary census reports as the basis for board apportionment and voted against seating Carl Arenhovel, newly appointed as Plainwell's third Supervisor.

Preliminary census figures gave Plainwell a total of 3,110 residents, more than enough to qualify the city for a third supervisor on the basis of one board member per 1,000 population.

As the June session opened Monday, the federal census gave the board another problem. According to a letter from Probate Judge Harold Weston, he is entitled to a $500 annual salary increase as a result of the county's growth from 49,178 to 56,663. Probate judges serving counties with from fifty to seventy thousand residents $450 annually under state law.

Judge Weston cited an attorney general's opinion, handed down in 1950, giving April 1 as the date on which any legal changes resulting from the federal census will take effect. He asked that the new wage be retroactive to April 1. The request was referred to the salaries committee.

The board's civil defense committee held a special session Monday afternoon to consider a letter from the Michigan Office of Civil Defense. State CD Officials indicated they were anxious to reallocate several thousand dollars worth of surplus property which is currently stored at the county highway department garage near Fennville. The property in question was seized by civil defense officials last year when it was learned that—due to local misunderstanding—of surplus property regulations—considerable equipment was in the hands of private citizens, rather than approved government agencies and civil defense organizations.

The state civil defense office pointed out, however, that it would insist that the board appoint a new county surplus property officer in place of Gerald L. Bestley, Allegan, present designee, and arrange for payment of $1,107.15 in delinquent service charges. Supervisors from the townships listed as delinquent told the board the charges had not been paid because they were for property in use by civil defense organizations which covered zones including more than one township billed.

An appeal from the Social Welfare board for a decision by supervisors on the placement of county patients in certain area nursing homes was tossed back to the welfare agency in the form of a resolution—approved by a 30-4 vote—which expressed the board's confidence in the decisions of the welfare board.

The board also approved amendments to resolutions previously passed setting up in greater detail, the special vote at the Aug. 2 primary elections on the sinking fund for the construction of a new county jail and juvenile detention home.

County residents will vote on an increase in the statutory 15-mill tax limit and establishment of a sinking fund with a special levy, not to exceed 2-mills, to raise not more than $152,000 a year for three years.

In answer to a query from the floor, Bernard Miller, jail committee chairman, indicated that work on the new jail could start as soon as sufficient money was on hand. He pointed out that if the sinking fund is approved by voters, it would not be necessary to wait the full three years before construction of the jail could start.
