Rutledge. This was only one of many installations in the new addition completed recently at a cost of over $5,000,000. Open house continues Saturday from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. (Sentinel photo)

Power Plant Open House Attracts Many Visitors

Visitors flocked to the James De Young power plant at Pine Ave. and Third St. for the first day of open house for the new $5.2 million addition which boosts the generating capacity of the municipal power plant to 48,500 kilowatts.

Friday's open house concluded at 5 p.m. Saturday's open house was from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.

At first, industrial noises incidental to a generating plant might appear loud but this seems to lessen after 10 or 15 minutes on the premises. The tour is largely informal with signs on the various pieces of equipment explaining the functions of the operation. Atrous direct the visitors from place to place, and Board of Public Works personnel serve as guides.

Gone is the day of the big black generators. Pastel colors dominate the scene in today's modern plants, and buffs, pinks and yellows lighten the scene.

The new addition is on the east side of the building, adding one more tall stack and a huge conveyor which carries coal from the docks to the top of the new building, more than five stories tall.

Equipment inside runs the gamut from huge generators and turbines to coal crushers, pumps, measuring devices, mazes of pipes and metering devices of all kinds. Visitors receive brochures containing pictures of equipment and the story of electricity in Holland. Souvenirs consist of small night lights attached to any convenient electrical outlet. These light shields use such an infinitesimal amount of electricity that the power used amounts to 3 cents a year.

SUMMER

We think Michigan summers as well as the other seasons are fine. Changing weather keeps people on their toes.

During summer weather millions of people take to the great outdoors in Michigan . . . and this poses safety problems.

The National Safety Council offers suggestions on how to walk, ride and drive on streets, roads and highways. There is a comparable set of rules on water safety and how to handle ourselves when fishing, swimming, boating and skiing.

The safety council also is reinstating its "Bring 'Em Back Alive!" program. Billboards, window posters and bumper stickers are seen in varying sizes. It's good advice.

Here are some suggestions on driving from the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators:

If drivers can be persuaded to take it easy and not speed. (This factor still ranks as the number one highway killer.)

If they will heed the warning not to drink when they drive. (About 30 percent of all fatal accidents involve drinking drivers, and this percentage nearly doubles during the winter holidays.)

If they will avoid driving during inclement weather; or if they must, use extreme caution. (Heavy traffic, coupled with dangerous road conditions makes driving extra hazardous.)

If they will be extra careful when driving after-dark. (Night traffic accidents are double those of daytime.)

If on long trips, or when tired, they will stop for a periodic coffee-break. (It sharpens and stimulates the senses, keeps you alert.)

If they will have their cars in top mechanical condition. (It is estimated that two out of five cars on the road have some mechanical defect.)

And here are some tips on water safety:

Water sports are fun but they have their dangers. When you go boating wear a life preserver or have one handy. Use one, of course, when water skiing.

Don't swim alone or in strange waters.

Don't overdo your fun because physical exhaustion can be a hazard.

Keep a sharp watch over youngsters in your group whenever they play in or near water.

Have sunburn lotion available. Insect repellent may come in handy too.

Lesson

Sunday, June 24
The Kingdom Triumphant
Revelation 21:1-8; 22:27
By C. P. Dame

This is the last lesson of the second quarter. Next week we will study a lesson from the Old Testament. In this third lesson from the Book of Revelation we note what glorious things await the believers in Christ. We must constantly keep in mind that Revelation was written for persecuted Christians who needed encouragement.

I. A great future is in store for believers. As we study this lesson let us remember that John uses the language and symbols which the people to whom he wrote could understand. John in a vision saw "a new heaven and a new earth; for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away." These words tell us that this earth will not always be but that a new earth will take its place.

In the New Testament there are two words translated by our word "new." One thing is new because it has recently been brought into existence. Another word is used in reference to something that has been renovated—and this is the word employed here.

In the beginning God made heaven and earth. God placed a man in the garden with whom he planned fellowship. Man sinned and God banished him from the garden and fellowship was broken.

In the last book of the Bible we have a picture of the holy city which speaks of fellowship. Through Christ, fellowship has been restored. All the evils that resulted because of the broken fellowship will not be found in the holy city—weeping eyes, death, mourning, crying, pain and all the consequences of sin. The new city will be beautiful—like a bride.

II. It is God who makes all things new. We are reading much about man's achievements but the Bible tells us of the mighty acts of God. The God of power, who sits on a throne, will be with His people and He will minister to all their needs. "I will give unto him that is athirst of the fountain of the water of life freely." Here the persecuted had many needs. In the future God will provide for all. These early Christians were reminded of belonging to two worlds. Today many are so absorbed with the one world that the better world is overlooked.

The Bible makes a clear distinction between the believers and the unbelievers. The new city is not for certain kinds of people—those who loved sin more than the Lord. We do not want all manner of people in our home and certain kinds of people are not wanted in God's holy city. They simply do not belong there.

John writes not only of the new Jerusalem but he also mentions "the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone: which is the second death." The Bible speaks plainly enough of an eternal tragedy which awaits unbelievers.

III. The holy city has some strange absences. "And I saw no temple therein"—and the reason given is, "for the Lord Almighty and the Lamb are the temple of it. And the city had no need of the sun, neither of the moon, to shine in it: for the glory of God did lighten it, and the Lamb is the light thereof."

The whole city will be God's sanctuary. God's presence will be enjoyed everywhere. Everything that is unclean will be kept from the city even though the gates will never be shut "for there shall be no night there"—the time for the unclean things to be busy. This holy city, prepared by a holy God is for holy people only. And Christ makes people holy.

'Mister Roberts' Delights Red Barn First Nighters

Ideal summer weather, a top-notch cast and a oilday spirit united Saturday night to give the Red Barn Theatre troupe a fine start for the 1962 season.

With all seats filled in the enlarged theatre and several persons turned away, the happy crowd settled down to a stellar performance of the hilarious "Mister Roberts," a favorite wartime comedy by Thomas Hegger and Joshua Logan which has delighted countless audiences since World War II. The play reopened Monday and will play through Saturday. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m.

James Dyas, producer-director for the sixth year at the Red Barn near Saugatuck, has some old and new professional players of New York for his 1962 company. Particularly welcome was Bruce Hall in his portrayal of Mister Roberts, back for his third season. His relaxed version of the likeable executive officer aboard the supply ship set the stage for a happy production, although the more serious parts could bring a lump to the throat.

Dale Engel, whose return here since Dyas' first season in 1957, made an exceptionally fine Doc, a good complement to Bruce Hall. Both men's performances showed years of fine stage experience. Providing excellent balance was Don Bonevich as the irrational captain. Bonevich who came to the Red Barn some years ago as a puppeteer has done some fine acting assignments the last two seasons and his performance as the unfeeling captain added a new dimension to his acting career.

A newcomer, Charles Hull, appeared as the engaging Ensign Pulver, usually lazy but often charged with boundless energy. Also in the cast were three Holland men, Gene Rucker as Dowdy, Chuck Anderson as Man-nion and Bob Gras as the somewhat stupid Lindstrom, all roles of a contrasting nature which stood out in the fast moving play which at no time showed any tendency to drag.

The lone girl in the cast was Jill Northway, engaging as the Navy nurse in a brief visit to the supply ship as a guest of Ensign Pulver whose boasts of conquests with women provided a running theme for the play.

Others in the cast were Mike McCloskey, H. John Henry, Mel Chatman, Terry Burns, Dan Hungerford, Sam Tenuta, Sky Suydan and Kit Denison, all crew members and Jim Inch, Ross Easty and Arch Allen as officers on duty as shore leave.

An imaginative set designed by Mike McCloskey provided three different settings aboard ship. A series of "Now hear this" over the ship's public address system served admirably to fill in gaps while scenes were changed.

Dyas welcomed the first-nighter crowd and invited all to have punch after the show in the new lounge and rehearsal hall on the ground level of the new addition.

Next week's performance will be a Dyas version of the old favorite, "Charley's Aunt," a production which Dyas promises will amuse people of all ages, particularly families.

Hamilton Lake Golf Course Set for PGA

SAUGATUCK — Hal Whittington of Grosse Ile, Michigan PGA tournament chairman, inspected and played the Hamilton Lake Golf and Country Club last week and gave the course his approval.

The $3,000 36-hole tournament will be held Sunday and Monday, June 24-25 at the nine-hole layout, two miles northeast of Saugatuck.

Whittington liked the course and shot around par on his first tour of the course, host pro Bill Hamilton reported. "He wholeheartedly approves the setup and is looking forward to having the state PGA on a nine-hole course," Hamilton said.

Hamilton predicted a score of 138 will win the tournament. Par is 72. He saw two 18-hole rounds of 69. The nine new tees will be ready for play in the tournament and the course will play 6,700 yards.

To make the tourney more difficult, 18 new sand traps have been dug around the course. Six traps have been placed around the tough No. 5 hole.

Ray Scuba of Muskegon, Walt Biber of Kalamazoo, Bill McDonald and Jim Unwin are some of the pros who have played the course in preparation for the tourney.

Hamilton reported they have been playing the rounds in par 72 or over. Several "names" coming for the tourney include defending champion John Barnum; Horton Smith, two-time Masters champ, Walt Burkemo, ex-PGA champ and Al Watrous, recently named to the Michigan Sports Hall of Fame.

A hole-in-one contest is slated Sunday at 8 a.m. Any golfer shooting a hole-in-one on the shortened No. 9 hole will receive $1,000, put up by two private firms.

If no golfer shoots an ace, the shot nearest the hole results in a $250 award. Each pro will get three shots in the hole-in-one event.

Teeoffs begin at 8:30 a.m. Sunday. Added spectator parking has been arranged west of the present parking lot in anticipation of a crowd to witness the first Michigan PGA on a nine-hole course and the first this far west in Western Michigan.

Voss-Cleypool Vows Exchanged

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Voss

Fourteenth Street Christian Reformed Church was the scene of the marriage of Miss Mary Cleypool to Ronald Voss on June 13 at 8 p.m.

The Rev. Edward G. Cooke performed the ceremony before an altar flanked with Oregon ferns, tree candelabra and bouquets of white pompons and gladioli. White bows and ferns marked the pews.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Martin Cleypool of 60 East 14th St. and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Voss of 995 Lincoln Ave.

Miss Gertrude Beckman provided organ music while soloist Herm Kolk sang "God Gave Me You" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, approached the altar gown in a floor-length princess style dress of peau de soie which featured small puffed sleeves. A Dior pleat fell into a chapel train.

Her waist-length veil of imported French illusion fell from a crown of seed pearls. She carried a colonial bouquet of white feathers and carnations with a white orchid.

Miss Jeanne Cleypool, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. She was dressed in a street-length gown of mint green organza over taffeta. The bodice was styled with small cup sleeves and a scoop neckline. A circular matching band released a nose-tie veil. She carried a colonial nosegay bouquet of white carnations, yellow roses and lily of the valley.

The bridesmaid, Miss Dawn

Voss, sister of the groom, was attended identically.

Paul Kleinhessel served as best man while Adrian Cleypool and Dave Voss, brothers of the bride and groom, respectively, seated the guests.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Cleypool wore a peach colored dress of silk brocade with white accessories. She wore a corsage of white cymbidium orchids with pink centers. The groom's mother wore an off-white linen dress with gold embroidery and white accessories. A light green orchid corsage complemented her costume.

Following the ceremony the newlyweds greeted 110 guests at a reception held in the church parlors. Mr. and Mrs. Stan Nieboer were master and mistress of ceremonies while Miss Mary Unema passed the guest book. Mr. and Mrs. Will Warners were at the punch bowl and attending the gift room were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Kammeraad and Miss Nancy Nykerk.

For their western wedding trip the new Mrs. Voss changed to a pink dress with white accessories. She wore the white orchid from her bridal bouquet as her corsage.

Both the bride and the groom are graduates of Holland Christian High School. The groom is employed by Ted Voss Cement Products of Holland.

Furnace Co. Head Lists New Policies

150 Attend Chamber Breakfast in Honor Of Milton J. Stevens

A hard-hitting no-nonsense approach to new policies for the Holland Furnace Co. was outlined by Milton J. Stevens, west coast industrialist who purchased controlling interest of the local concern some weeks ago, at a welcome breakfast of local business leaders Monday in Hotel Warm Friend.

About 150 attended, representing a cross section of local industry, merchants, educators, governmental units, and the like.

Introduced as a doer, a builder and a man of decision, Stevens said as of now the Holland Furnace price list is 50 per cent of what it sold for a week ago — adhering to his philosophy that a fast nickel is better than a slow dollar.

He explained the tremendous task of reorganization now under way at the plant and begged the city's indulgence and understanding during a difficult period.

While paying tribute to some of the finest employees he has met anywhere, Stevens nevertheless was relentless in his criticism of certain sales persons who he said have blackened the corporate image of an otherwise fine concern.

"Had I known a week before I took over the company what I learned a week after I had purchased the interest, I would have been weak at the knees," he said. He pledged a complete cleanup of all questionable business tactics. A week from today some 4,000 Holland Furnace salesmen from all over the country will convene in Holland. "They will be told our new policies and anyone who does not agree will be invited to hand in his resignation," Stevens said.

He explained that the National Business Bureau has sent out letters to all bureaus, Chambers of Commerce, district attorneys, etc., explaining new policies. The 66 contempt citations against Holland Furnace will be resolved, he said, pointing out that cases in Minnesota and Chicago have already been removed.

"We will walk humbly and will be vigilant. There will be no fast boys, no city slickers and no hit-and-run boys in our organization," he promised. "We will watch Holland Furnace as we watch a new baby. Bear with us. We are working hard and we will come through. If we can't sell furnaces, we will make something else," he said.

Stevens was grateful for the welcome reception, stating that at no other time of his far-flung career as businessman had been accorded such hospitality as in Holland. He said Holland was absolutely unique as a fine community, pointing out he has lived and been in all sections of the country. He said he and his wife and son would be here for the summer but would move on to New York in the fall.

As for the immediate future of Holland Furnace Co., he said the engineering and development section is bringing in the finest engineers to study the local situation. Production will be such that no seasonal factor will enter.

He pointed to the possibilities of producing gas clothes dryers here, continuing the manufacture of furnaces, but no water heaters, since the Republic water heaters already manufactured not only bear the Republic label but the product is used by many other companies under other names. He said cost of producing a Holland Furnace water heater is 50 per cent higher than the Republic heater, and the Republic heater produces 30 per cent more hot water per hour.

Pointing to a $2½ million loss at Holland Furnace last year, Stevens was hopeful that all this would be resolved, that products could be manufactured at a profit and that the image of Holland Furnace would once more be such that the company and the city could take pride.

He was introduced by Ben H. Staal, executive vice president of the reorganized company, who pointed to the important part the company can play in business and community life of Holland. Staal spoke of a previous time the company had almost been sold "but at the 11th hour and 59th minute we learned the new buyer was only interested in liquidation, and the sale did not go through."

In an effort to become closer to townspeople, Staal said Holland Furnace plans to throw open its picnic grounds and lodge to all local industries and organizations, effective today. He said there would be a service charge to cover maintenance, bug control and insurance. He also asked local organizations to make greater use of Hotel Warm Friend which has been operating at a loss, and said many revisions are under study.

John F. Donnelly presided and Chamber President Jay H. Petter presented Stevens with a pair of wooden shoes, customary tribute of welcome to honored guests.

Joining in brief welcome were Mayor Bosman; John D. Plewes, representing the Holland Board of Education; William Sanford, West Ottawa Board of Education; Herman Windemuller, Park Township; James Brower, Holland Township, and Henry Maentz, Board of Public Works.

The four, all 15 and 16 years old, from the detention home near Grand Haven were back in custody Tuesday after being picked up by Holland police and Ottawa County Sheriff's deputies at 5:30 a.m. near Holland.

The youths had been spotted in the Scotts Dr. area by a resident of the area who called Holland police. Police notified the Sheriff's office. Each department dispatched a cruiser to the area.

The boys had been the object of an intensive search in western Ottawa County by state police, Sheriff's deputies and Holland and Zeeland police Monday afternoon. Roadblocks were set up on several roads in the area.

The youths admitted to Sheriff's officers that they had taken a car owned by Charles Brower of Grand Rapids from Brower's cottage at Port Sheldon. The auto was found by deputies near Black River just off Roost Ave. this morning.

State police, who received the report of the escape from detention home superintendent Marvin Swartz, called in bloodhounds from Ionia. The hounds trailed the youths to the Rosy Mound area

Mrs. Richard Machiele Jr. (de Vries photo)

In a beautiful early summer wedding ceremony, Miss Sandra Suzanne Komejan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Komejan of 707 East Main St., Zeeland, became the bride of Richard Machiele Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Machiele of 835 Maple Lane, Zeeland.

The rites took place Friday at 2 p.m. in the Second Reformed Church of Zeeland. The Rev. John M. Hains officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Spiral candelabra, the kissing candles, miniature trees and ferns interwoven with yellow and white mums provided the setting. White net satin bows centered with yellow and white shasta daisies marked the pews.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, approached the altar in a floor-length gown of bridal taffeta featuring a moderately scooped neckline and bracelet-length sleeves. Crystal and pearl embroidery edged the neckline and extended down the front and around the hemline.

A bouffant detachable train was secured by a large cabbage rose at the waist. Miss Komejan carried one long-stemmed yellow rose. Her fingertip veil of white imported illusion fell from a taffeta cabbage rose headpiece.

Elmer Lieverse, organist, provided pre-ceremony music, the traditional wedding marches and recessional, and also accompanied Rev. Hains as he sang, "I Love You Truly" by Bond, and the "Lord's Prayer" by Malotte as the couple knelt.

Miss Bette Faber, friend of the bride, as maid of honor, was dressed in a light pale yellow ballerina-length sheath of taffeta with a floating panel of organza accented with a waistline cabbage rose. Her headpiece also was an organza cabbage rose with an illusion veil of yellow. She carried one long-stemmed white rose.

Miss Penny Snyder and Mrs. James Hoestra were bridesmaids and were attired in dresses identical to the maid of honor, and each carried one long stemmed white rose.

Little Diane DeYoung, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. DeYoung, and cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She was dressed in a short, full-skirted, fitted bodice dress in yellow and white, and carried a basket of yellow and white rose petals. The ring bearer was Jeffrey Machiele, nephew of the groom, who wore a white suit and carried the rings on a white satin pillow.

Mrs. Komejan, mother of the bride wore a ballerina-length, full-skirted gown of mint green organza covered taffeta, with fitted bodice, accented with a waistline cabbage rose and complemented with white accessories. A corsage of yellow roses completed her attire. The mother of the groom wore a beige sheath dress with beige accessories, and also a shoulder corsage of yellow roses.

Best man for the occasion was Boyd Machiele, brother of the groom, and guests were ushered to their seats by James Hoekstra and Gene Snoeyink of Grand Rapids.

Master and mistress of ceremonies for the wedding were the aunt and uncle of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. DeYoung of Kalamazoo. In charge of the gift room were Miss Sally Scheele, Calvin Schaap, Miss Myrna Dykgraaf and Curt De Young.

Presiding over the swan-shaped punch bowl which was surrounded with pink net and lighted roses were Mr. and Mrs. Roger Barens. Pouring for the event were Mrs. Richard VanderLaan and Mrs. Sherwin Hulst. Decorating the bible-shaped decorated bridal cake were Mrs. Delwyn Komejan and Miss Joyce Borr.

Congratulations were received from 180 guests who attended the reception held in the fellowship room of the church.

The new Mrs. Machiele changed to a Sahara sand beige linen sheath, with a coordinated brown, beige and white linen topper. She wore a corsage of yellow roses for the wedding trip through northern Michigan and Canada. They will return to their home at 160½ West Main St. in Zeeland after June 22.

The bride was graduated from Zeeland High School and the Kalamazoo School of Practical Nursing, and is employed at the Zeeland Community Hospital. The groom was graduated from Wyoming Park High School, and will continue his studies at Hope College this fall.

Conservation Men Inspect Local Lake

Two representatives of the Michigan Department of Conservation, M. C. Nielsen who is with the lands division and Robert Harrington, a photographer with the education division, were in Holland Tuesday to inspect and take pictures of various encroachments on Lake Macatawa and other bodies of water associated with inland streams.

Interest of the department is to protect inland waters as they stand or flow. This status quo of inland waters is often changed through land fills by individual owners or industrial interests, also by docks, marinas and the like.

Nielsen said Michigan legislation is fairly adequate for the protection of the Great Lakes but less so for inland lakes and streams. Purpose of their visit to Holland is to collect information and pictures which can be used in working toward legislation to protect the interests of individuals and their rights to public waters.

The two men are making similar visits to lakes and inland streams all over Michigan.

Zeeland

Visual readiness screening for pre-school children will be conducted at the City Hall in Zeeland on Wednesday June 20. It will be under the joint sponsorship of the Zeeland Lions Club and the West Michigan Optometric Society, in cooperation with the Michigan Optometric Association and the Ottawa County Department of Health.

The screenings will be without charge and are intended to help parents determine if children who are to enter school this year are "visually ready" for school.

Larry Van Hartsma, chairman of the Sight Conservation Committee of the Zeeland Lions Club, said the "screenings" will not be a full visual examination, but will be sufficiently thorough to determine if a vision difficulty exists which might hamper the child in school.

Wives of the Lions Club members will be assisting with the screening.
