Miss Veneklasen Says Only 250 Unemployables

TOTAL VALUATION IN OTTA-WA COUNTY SHOWS IN-CREASE OVER LAST

The equalization table for 1936 was presented to the board of supervisors yesterday morning by the equalization committee and was laid on the table until Thursday afternoon.

The total assessed valuations in the county, according to the table has increased from $39,870,527.42 to $40,136,813. Real estate valuations have increased from $34,927,137.42 in 1935 to $35,018,178 this year and personal property has risen from $4,943,390 to $5,118,635. The increase is an encouraging sign as for the past several years the assessments have steadily declined.

Welfare in Ottawa county, as directed by the state ERA was discussed by Miss Deborah Veneklasen of Holland, county administrator before the board. The speaker outlined the work as it has undergone the various changes during the year under WPA rulings and employment through private industry.

Miss Veneklasen said that last reports showed there are 250 unemployables now on the county ERA lists. This is a small number compared with the 2,000 in 1935, 1624 in 1934 and 1199 in 1935.

The work of the office is now largely a matter of investigation to keep those off the rolls that continually apply for assistance regardless of the fact that there is plenty of work in the county at this time.

She said the office staff in the county had been reduced at various times during the year until now there are but seven. The majority are case workers, who must still do an immense amount of work investigating and directing labor to WPA or agricultural calls that come. She urged the supervisors to contact the office, if help was needed at the harvest time, stating that the agricultural department has ruled that the harvest must be taken care of and that men employed on jobs in the city could be sent to the rural sections when needed.

Relative to the resolutions passed in many counties in the state recommending that welfare be taken from the state and delegated to the separate counties, she said that act 201 provided that ERA be in force until July 1, 1938, and under that act state money can be appropriated only through the agencies now established under ERA.

The state has been and will continue to supply 60 per cent of the cost, the county units contributing 40 per cent she stated under the present laws. She did not say much regarding the situation but warned that Ottawa county must not place itself in a position to assume all of the load, which, according to the act, it would do if the welfare was turned over to the county and the ERA abolished.

A committee from the board of supervisors attending a meeting at Albion recently recommended early in the session that this county join with others to recommend to the state that ERA be abolished. The board has taken no action on the matter.

Explains Functions

Miss Veneklasen, in reply to a question, stated that regardless of how many counties withdrew from the state ERA, it would continue to function until July 1, 1937, for which act 201 provides.

She explained the functions of the county commission and staff, regarding the certification of workers to WPA and the various other agencies that had been organized for the employment of people who were able to do a small amount of work. She explained the system of supplying food in some cases and the transfer of WPA men to PWA which, according to the federal set-up is private enterprise.

When a person is once registered under WPA he is usually anxious to remain there and it is the duty of the case worker to investigate and provide work for him if he is able, she stated. There are many who prefer to remain on WPA as once taken it is hard to get back on, she stated. For this reason there is a great amount of work connected with investigation and keeping track of where each applicant is employed, and if taken back, the need for it.

The board adopted a report of the reforestation committee, covering a period of eight years. The experiments and investigation that had been made relative to establishing seed beds for fir trees and grasses to prevent sandblows were explained.

A resolution relative to the continuance of the work with power to acquire waste land through private, federal and state agencies for reforestation areas was discussed this afternoon. The committee on this work includes Peter Damstra, chairman; Grand Haven township, Frank Hendrichs, Grand Haven township, and Frank Garbrecht, Port Sheldon.

Equalized assessments are slightly lower this year in Holland township, but are up in Port Sheldon, Zeeland township, Holland city, and Zeeland city. Comparative figures for these units are:

Holland township—this year, $2,859,925; last year, $2,878,040.70.

Port Sheldon township—this year, $2,271,149; last year, $2,282,424.42.

Zeeland township—this year, $1,589,120; last year, $1,587,000.94.

Holland city—this year, $11,088,254; last year, $10,997,704.61.

Zeeland city—this year, $1,847,335; last year, $1,815,600.50.

Fifty Years Ago Today

P. T. Barnum's "greatest show" on earth is coming to Grand Rapids July 14 and the Chicago and West Michigan R. R. will give excursion rates from Holland and all small cities along the main line and on the Muskegon-Allegan division.

Barnum's won't come to Holland this year. Note—Barnum's circus never did visit Holland. This city did have some large ones. Burr, Robbins and Calvin pitching tents on 11th street east of the 4th ward school then a small one room stone structure. The great John Robinson the oldest show in the United States, 150 years old, also showed on that circus grounds and later at the Fair grounds. Some 55 years ago according to the News files the great "Four-Paw" circus then next to Barnum in size, pitched their tents on a Sunday morning on the site now occupied by the stand pipe, water works and Riverview Park, "baseball grounds". The coming of this large tent city on Sunday created a furor in some of the churches and deacons were delegated to watch the "main entrance" and report if some of the members were found to be "back sliders". Your editor went on the shoulder of one of his famer uncles. Later the biggest circus to come was Ringling Bros. Holland was wild when they heard this largest of all circuses was to be here. They built their "one day tent city" on the base ball park then between River and Pine on Seventeenth street which was all commons at that time. The tent area was so great that part of Pine Ave. had to be included. This was 38 years ago but they never returned. "Cole Bros.", "Cook Bros.", "Wallace" and many other smaller aggregations showed here and your editor never failed to attend. The unloading and pitching tents and getting breakfast ready for a thousand folks is especially interesting to me—"still circus crazy" you will notice. Hope we have one this summer.

Mr. H. Boone has purchased the property on Market and Eighth street from Gerrit and Hopkins. Bush had stabled his horses for the night when the storm came. A lightning bolt struck the first horse killed it then jumped the second and killed the third, jumped over the fourth and killed the fifth and sixth. The horses untouched by the bolt were found "stone deaf." The loss is $700.

"Bob" Moore and wife of Saugatuck who have just returned from Cuba made the record breaking speed from Detroit to Saugatuck via Grand Rapids and Holland a distance by road of 206 miles in 7 hours and 30 minutes. The roads were exceedingly poor and it took a whole new set of tires purchased between Detroit and Saugatuck to make the trip possible. Note—Moore was the son of a wealthy lumberman and was quite a speeder in these parts 25 years ago. He hasn't visited Holland for years.

Accepting a dare to swim across Black River Edwin W. Koeppe a Hope freshman sank a few rods from the shore. A companion Alfred Serrine who was swimming with several others from the opposite side noticed the predicament and plunged into the water and grabbed the student as he was coming up for the second time. It took 15 minutes resuscitation to bring the young man to consciousness. Today he is none the worse for his experience, although it was a close call.

Holland turned in to help in a fine way and some money left to carry on. Control Of Our Wastelands Is Important

PETER DAMSTRA, CHAIRMAN OF CONSERVATION COMMITTEE
WITH THE BOARD.
IS DOING GOD WORK

Few of the city folk know that sand farms with sand dunes not only make the farms useless but destroy the farms next door. The sand dunes along Lake Michigan and further inland, are beautiful sights for resort purposes, in fact, few places in the nation have these dunes but these dunes and hillocks are nervous bodies, they wander around from their own preserves to the land of their neighbors. They simply won't "stay put."

Ottawa County has thousands and thousands of acres of just such land that has the nomad fever. For many years attempts have been made to control this blow sand but just now the Board of Supervisors is getting at scientific attention and it seems that they are going to get somewhere with it.

A conservation committee has been appointed composed of Peter Damstra of Holland, chairman; Frank Garbrecht of Port Sheldon and Frank Hendrychs of Grand Haven township. These men have been at the work for some time and they have gone at it systematically and have investigated just what must be done to keep these sand heaps in their respective places.

What must be done first is to plant the wandering sand area with seedling pines. Many of the seed beds have already been started in different parts of the county and the seedlings will soon be available. In order to hold the sand further, beach grass adapted to the soil, will be sown or planted upon the more wayward wastelands.

The fact is that through this work the wandering dunes can be made more attractive and the farms adjoining where agriculture is possible, will be made useful again and will not be run over by their western neighbors.

Because all this has been neglected, scores of acres fit for farming, are added to the wasteland in Ottawa County every year.

It is not a hurry up job but it takes patience and perseverance through their able committee have made a good start. Chairman Peter Damstra of Holland stated in an interview that the committee was very desirous of securing the support of every interested agency, for the sand blow control was of interest to everyone—to the resorters, to the businessmen and to the farmers, in different ways perhaps, but directly or indirectly.

He stated that the committee will be glad to cooperate with these agencies, farm or civic. He stated further that after the seed beds had proceeded far enough, the seedlings and grass would be available for transportation.

Another man who is giving the committee cooperation is Mr. Lee Arnold, head of the Agricultural unit of Ottawa County. He, together with the committee, is actively associated with this work and has given valuable scientific knowledge which is always available and will help a great deal in perfecting the project fostered by the Ottawa County Board.

Many farmers have given their land for seed beds and experimentation purposes and that indeed shows that they are interested. The committee hopes that when planting time begins the work can be done through funds from government agencies. The United States government is very much interested in that class of work and the support of all the different county agencies and mediums will aid a project that is of great benefit but of which little is known by the "man in the street."

Any person wishing information or who has any suggestions to offer, will do well to address a letter to the conservation committee, in care of County Clerk William Wilds, Court House, Grand Haven. These communications are anxiously sought after and will be gone over as the committee meets from time to time.

At Tuesday's meeting of the Board of Supervisors a resolution was submitted by Peter Damstra chairman of the committee on conservation which would be designated as the agent of the board for this project and which would be authorized to acquire certain parcels of land for propagation of seed beds for trees and sand control vegetation.

The resolution had the early support of the chairman of the board, George Heneveld, and the county agent, Lee Arnold. Mr. Damstra, who has fathered the proposal, has been chairman of the committee on conservation for the past eight years. Other members of the committee include Frank Garbrecht of Port Sheldon and Frank Hendrychs of Grand Haven township.

According to Mr. Damstra, there are 90,000 acres of waste land in the county, 50,000 of which could be re-forested and put to grass. This acreage of waste land is increasing all the time, he said, through the process of depletion.

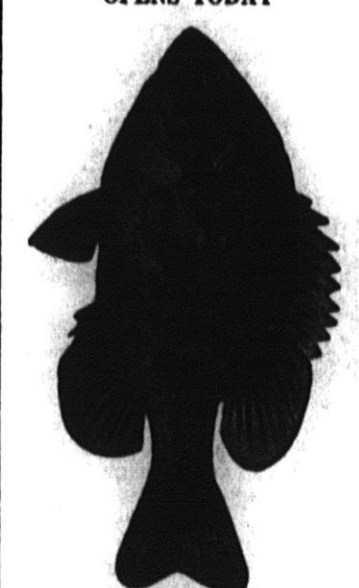

In the county there are now 16 seed beds with a total of two and a half million seedling trees, most of which are pines, he said.

A number of private landowners of the county would give up their waste land holdings to the county for taxes, it is said, although the county would make seedlings and grass available to these owners so that they can re-forest or put to grass their own land.

Attempts ultimately would be made to establish this re-forestation project as a United States Forest Reserve project or a state conservation project.

Two sections of land totaling 62 acres in Park and Port Sheldon townships have been offered to the board as a part of the grass propagation proposal and also 39 acres

Christian Ref. Synod Discusses Divorce Angle

DISCUSSION OF RESOLUTIONS
TO SETTLE VEXING PROBLEM IS UNDER WAY

Three divergent views on the question of divorce were enthusiastically defended on the floor of synod of the Christian Reformed church Wednesday afternoon at Calvin college, Grand Rapids where a number of delegates from Holland and vicinity are also meeting. The problem, which has vexed the church for the last 20 years, was considered from three angles by the Rev. William Hendriksen of Grand Rapids, the Rev. Gerrit Hoeksema of Chicago, and the Rev. Herman Moes of Pease, Minn.

Mr. Hendriksen, accepting the stands taken by the synods of 1890 and 1908 in the matter, contended that those divorced upon Biblical grounds and remarried cannot be retained within or readmitted to the church as long as the original lawful partner is still living. A marriage begun in adultery is also continued in adultery he argued, and such an individual has no place in the church.

States Lenient Position

Mr. Hoeksema adopted a more lenient position and held that in the case of either legitimate or illegitimate divorce the marriage bond is thereby broken. Both parties can remarry and may not be barred from the church if they manifest the proper spirit of penitence, he contended. He cited outstanding Reformed theologians in support of his view.

Mr. Moes advanced a compromise position, combining features of the two preceding views. Although agreeing in the main with the stand taken by the Rev. Mr. Hendriksen and his committee, he was of the opinion that the position advocated was too harsh in that it closed the door of the church to those who might repent their wrongdoing. Opportunity of re-entering the church may not be denied to penitents, was his contention.

Synod committed itself to the procedure of adopting a set of propositions which will indicate its stand in the matter. Twelve such propositions were formulated by the committee and discussion on these resolutions was begun late in the afternoon session.

Budgets Are Adopted

Upon the final report of the budget committee by Abraham Peters of Holland, budgets for various church agencies and institutions were adopted. The following budgets with their corresponding assessments per family were ratified: Calvin college and seminary, $95,800 assessment, $3 per family; general home missions, $26,955, quota, $1.20 per family; Christian Reformed board of missions, $73,395, quota, $3.50 per family; Chicago Jewish mission, $10,800, quota 50 cents per family; Paterson Hebrew mission, $4,490, quota, 25 cents per family; Hoboken Seamen's home, $1,953 (no assessment because of sharing in part of the estate of William Van Agthoven). Additional assessments include: Emeritus fund, $160 per family; synodical expense, 40 cents per family; church help, 50 cents per family and South America, 15 cents per family.

In the same connection it was decided to annul the present practice begun as a depression measure, that each classis hold itself responsible for the arrearsages in assessments of the congregations within its boundaries. It was regarded as unjust by Classis Holland and Wisconsin that congregations which are hard pressed to meet their own assessments shall be expected to pay for the assessments of other congregations. The decision affects all arrearsages since January 1, 1935.

Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg who is vacationing at his cottage at Lakewood farm will make no public appearance until the Fourth of July when he will address the Fifth district Republican rally at Johnston Park, near Grandville. The Fourth of July rally sponsored by the Michigan Republican league and Republican committees of Ottawa and Kent counties will be one of the few occasions which Sen. Vandenberg will take part in during the coming campaign.

Lansing was the first pastor of the local church since it was organized seven years ago. Beginning with a congregation of 40 members, the church now has a membership of 300 with a Sunday School attendance of 300.

Immanuel church has been active in Gospel work in the Allegan county jail each Sunday and the Allegan Co. home, as well as covering nearby towns and preaching the gospel in open air work.

The church began its services in the Woman's Literary club rooms, but soon outgrew these quarters and the congregation has since been holding services in the Holland Armory. The average attendance at each meeting on Sunday is 500 people.

Immanuel church recently purchased small churches in Bass River and Rudyard, Michigan and has two Missionaries working in and around that part of the state. The denomination also supports a native Missionary in Russia.

Mr. Kenneth Lovelady, formerly of Hamilton, Ontario, has recently been engaged for young peoples and musical work in the church.

Rev. Lansing has taught personal workers classes here as well as in other cities and has had a large class here in the Personal Workers course of the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.

Mr. Lansing has spoken over radio station WMBI, Chicago at different times, also broadcasting gospel messages from the Chicago noonday services conducted by the Christian Business Men's Association. For a number of years he has been a Bible teacher and preacher going to many parts of the United States and Canada and was recently invited to Glasgow, Scotland and England for a series of meetings.

Mr. Lansing also has had a large part in the church activities and is at present president of the Woman's Missionary Society and Woman's Prayer Band. The Young Woman's League for Service is another branch of the church work and does much to benefit children's homes and needy of the city and community.

Rev. Lansing will take up his duties in La Salle about the last of August and will announce his farewell address at a later date. His many friends and members of his congregation will regret his leaving.

PLANS FOR NEW DEPOT OF P. M. RY. AT FENNIVILLE

Plans for the new Fenniville depot shown here this week by the superintendent of buildings and bridges of the Pere Marquette Ry. reveal a very attractive and conveniently arranged station, which will be a credit to Fenniville and the railroad. In fact it will be as pretty a depot as any on the Chicago and Grand Rapids division of the line.

The building will be of brick and tile construction. The waiting room will be 12 x 20, with two rest rooms; office 13 x 15; 10 ft. by 20 making total over all of 70 by 22 feet.

It will be heated by an Arco heating system.

It is expected the new depot will be completed and ready for use by October. The old depot was burned about eight months ago, together with the old depot Cat who lived there for 20 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred K. Colby and son Harry of California are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Harrington at their home on Washington Blvd.

Mr. Colby was formerly in business at Macatawa park where that resort was at its height.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stryker of Grand Rapids are occupying their summer home at Central Park.

Daughter of Local Merchant Is Married

POPULAR HOLLAND GIRL WEDS YOUNG MAN FROM OHIO SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Easily the outstanding social function for June in Holland was the marriage of Miss Alice Boter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Boter of Macatawa Drive to Mr. Arthur Eymann Schowalter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto F. Schowalter of Cleveland, Ohio.

The rites were said at the beautiful Boter home. Dr. Thomas W. Davidson, pastor of Hope Reformed church officiated, using the impressive single ring ceremony.

The bride party entered the spacious living room to the soft strains of Lohengrin's bridal march, beautifully interpreted by Mrs. Lester Exo. The marriage vows were said before a large window that gave a delightful view of the beautiful garden on the outside.

The day being ideal added materially to the vista. The French windows were flanked with masses of beautiful white peonies in a setting of greenery and ferns.

The bride was led to the altar on the arm of her father where the groom awaited her.

The bride was beautiful in her gown of white lace model with Queen Anne collar, puff sleeves, with tiny satin buttons full length from neckline to hem, the skirt fitted, with slight flare and train. She wore a simple finger-tip length veil of bridal illusion, caught in a halo-like cap, and tied with tiny calla lilies, and carried a bride's bouquet of white roses, baby's breath and swainsonia, with a center of geraniums.

Miss Margaret Boter, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and looked charming in an ankle-length gown of blue lace with a jacket of finger-tip length. She carried Dubonnet peonies.

The groom was attired in conventional black and the groomsmen were Lawrence Schowalter, brother of the groom. The ushers were James and Peter Boter, brothers of the bride. The men were dressed completely in white, the color contrasting pleasingly with the groom's attire.

During the ceremony, Mrs. Exo who was attractively gowned in deep blue crepe, rendered several appropriate and pleasing piano numbers.

Mrs. Boter, mother of the bride, wore a gown of delicate blue lace with a corsage of talisman roses while Mrs. Schowalter, wore blush pink lace with a corsage of deep pink roses to match. Both ladies looked charming at this function in which they were so deeply interested.

For her traveling gown Mrs. Boter Schowalter wore a white congo suit with Dubonnet blouse, and a white hat with Dubonnet trim.

Following congratulations, a wedding feast was served to the fifty guests by Miss Jean Murphy of Lansing, Miss Ellen Munger of St. Clair, and Miss Jane Park of Detroit, friends of the bride. Miss Aileen Spafford of Detroit was gift hostess. Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Cogan of Detroit served as master and mistress of ceremonies. Mrs. Cogan was gowned in an Aqua Marine chiffon, ankle-length, and wearing talisman roses.

The happy couple are now touring Canada and after two weeks will return to Cleveland where Mr. and Mrs. Schowalter, the parents, are arranging for a reception and other social functions honoring the newlyweds at the fine home of the Schowalters on Essex Road in Cleveland where the bride will be introduced to many of their Cleveland social friends.

Miss Boter has always been a popular girl in Holland. She is a graduate from Holland High School and took part in and was a member of many of the organizations auxiliary to the school. This was also true at Hope College. Later she received her A.B. degree from the University of Michigan, where she was a member of the Alpha Chi Omega sorority. For the past year she has been on the staff of the Detroit News, and will continue with her work in a free lance capacity for the summer months.

The bride became an able newspaper woman, starting her career on the college and school papers, then contributing to the Holland city papers. From Holland she took a position on the Detroit Free Press staff and just before her marriage was a special scrivener on the staff of the Detroit News.

Mr. Schowalter has his master's degree from Case College of Applied Science at Cleveland, and is now metallurgist for the Western Automatic Machine Screw company at Elyria, O. He is a member of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity.

Guests at the wedding included many from out-of-town. Besides the immediate family of the groom, from Cleveland came Miss Dorothy Krauss, Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Lutz, Miss Beatrice Leipner, and Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Krentle, Miss Florence Davies, Miss Marjorie Avery, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Travis, Miss Marty Morris, Mrs. C. N. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. William Mishler, Miss Gay Bartlett, Miss Edith B. Crumb, Mrs. Ruth Mosher Place, W. B. Nichols, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Cogan, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Russell, Kenneth Bieboe, and Watson Spoelstra; from Mt. Lebanon, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Graff; from Phoenix, Ariz., Mrs. Jack Russell, Miss Eleanor La Caff; from Wyoming Park, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Schowalter; from Grand Rapids, John Boter, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Trapp, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hoek, Miss Ella Butterworth, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Sikkema, and Henry Haan; from Lansing, Miss Jean Murphy, Mrs. Ivah B. Cross; from St. Clair, Miss Ellen Munger; from Madison, O., Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Van Dyke; guests from Holland included Mr. and Mrs. C. A. French, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Moody and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Exo.

An informal buffet rehearsal supper was held Friday night at the Boter home, and guests were members of the bride party, Dr. and Mrs. Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. Exo, the groom's parents, and Mr. and Mrs. Boter.

The board of supervisors is in session at Grand Haven and the meeting this week has not been a very busy one thus far. Future handling of welfare in this county has been the major topic before the board, but no action has been taken.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Van Volkenburg who have been on Macatawa Bay with their yacht for some time had an unusual experience. The couple left Jesick's landing at the shipyard in their small yawl boat to get to the yacht and in some way, they themselves do not explain the craft turned over precipitating the Van Volkenburgs in the bay. Both are good swimmers and so is the dog who was one of the passengers. They made the dock, landed all "ashore" but the dog was missing. After some search with a row boat to aid them the canine was found under the "dingy" swimming "dog fashion" and began to bark when the boat was turned right side up soon after the clothes soaked yacht owner made a "happy landing" on their summer craft and soon changed attire. It was a morning dip rather unexpected.

HAMILTON

The local Independents played the Virginia Parks twice this week. The first game resulted in a 4 to 4 tie, at Virginia Park Friday evening. Lugten held the Parks to four hits, but costly errors enabled their opponents to turn every hit into a run. His teammates, however, made up in offense what was lacking in defense. They pounded the offering of Van Huis hard in almost every inning and fast playing on the part of Virginia Park kept the score down. Krommeyer and Wallace Kemper led the locals at bat the former getting four hits for a perfect day at bat and the latter obtaining three singles. It was a game of extreme contrasts making it an exciting game for the fans.

On Tuesday the game teams met on the local diamond. The locals defeated the Parks by a 6 to 2 score. Hamilton opening their half of the first inning, after having blanked the Parks with a seven hit attack, scored all six runs and coasted thru the game to victory. Not until the seventh inning were the visitors able to cross the plate. Ashley hurled for the locals and R. Vanden Berg for the Parks. Both pitchers were hit rather freely, but Ashley tightened and put on the pressure when men were on bases, while Vanden Berg yielded seven of the team's runs in the first inning. The teams were evenly matched after the Parks disastrous first inning. Fielding was brilliant and fast, picking runners off the bases and cutting off runs. The locals now have a long lead for season in their games having won twice and tied the other game.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

June 28, 1936 Jesus Meeting Human Needs HENRY GEERLINGS

The Lord of heaven and earth came unto this world to minister. His services was unstinted. He went the whole length with it. He saw that we should demand from Him all to use His very life. Our needs and necessities pressed upon Him so urgently that He spent Himself in this hard service. And just because the work of the faithful service involved this surrender of life, which is the final and utter proof of all loyal and unselfish devotion, He had found it a joy to enter a world that would ask as much of Him.

Christ always found his happiness in serving others and doing them good. His great service consisted in giving His life a ransom for many. This idea of ransom does not appeal to our minds as forcibly as it would to those of the disciples, for the simple reason that the experience of being ransomed, in the natural sense, is much rarer in modern than it was in ancient times. The countrymen of Jesus were often engaged in warfare, and in war the process of ransoming occurred continually. Prisoners were exchanged for prisoners and captives were released on the payment of themselves or their relatives of a sum of money. Similarly, slavery was a universal institution, and in connection with it the process of ransoming was common, when, for a price paid, slaves received their liberty.

The life of Christ was a continued ministry. And it was such by its own necessity. Not as though he chose it should be so, as though he debated with Himself whether he would serve His fellow men or not. He went forth to meet persecution and contumely in preference to leading a quiet and peaceful life. He ministered because there was that in Him which must needs find expression, because feelings so deep and tender must assert themselves, because sympathies so broad and generous cannot confine themselves within the heart, because the great power of blessing is its own incentive to beneficence. He would not be ministered unto. He saw too many souls about Him to be aided, too many sorrows to be comforted, too many doubts to be answered, too much spiritual darkness to be illumined, for Him to wait for others' ministering. To see much need was to long to supply it. To feel within him the power to serve was to put that power, To know the truth for which other souls were waiting was to utter it. To minister was the divine necessity of His being. It was His soul's greatest prerogative. It could not be put aside.

Some can be touched by personal sympathy. They have heart but they cannot take a comprehensive view and embrace a noble cause. They fail in mind. Others have their imagination fired by a cause, but they cannot sympathize with a wounded heart. We have narrow good men, and we have iron-hearted philanthropists. Christ takes in the tender heart and comprehensive thought—the person and the cause—the woman's way of looking at and the man's. He sympathizes with suffering and sorrow—a bruised heart; and the weeps over sin—a blinded heart. Christianity alone has set these two forth in one person. We see in Christ the tenderness of the human and the comprehensiveness of the divine.

Since He came as a servant He has the right to ask service of us. We must give Him what He asks. It is to be given not because reason says that His claim is just, but because we are bound to Him by ties of gratitude. We are to be a blessing to those about us. The man being a blessing, who has not felt a vital personal relation to some good cause, and that he is of service to His fellow men, has not yet sounded the depths of life. Not only are we to serve those who are near us but we are to have a world outlook. It is a dark world in which we live. There is no dawn, heart grow faint. Do you often wonder whether or not Jesus has any cure for the ills of this old world? I do not know of any other who has. We have leaned on our own understanding long enough. We ought to give him a chance now. It is admittedly a miserable mess we are in. Unless we believe in the hope Jesus held out long ago, we are at a loss to know where to turn. The Master is vitally interested in all the people. He did not come to save a few but his salvation is sufficient for every one. The nations that do not know God shall perish but by giving them the gospel they can see the light and who has not tasted the luxury of bask and bath in that light.

Fred of Grand Haven, George of St. Joseph and Edward of Holland; seven grandchildren, and a sister, Mrs. Jacob Kruse of Manly, Ia. The Rev. D. C. Ford conducted the ceremony. The bride was given in shell pink crepe with hat to match and white accessories. She wore a shoulder corsage of pink and white sweet peas and maidenhair ferns. She was attended by Mrs. John Dykema of Holland whose attire was similar to that of the bride. An important improvement that former guests and cottagers will find upon their return to Waukazo is the new and enlarged beach built this spring. The former small beach has been extended 250 feet out to the Waukazo Point. It surely adds materially to the bath facilities of this popular resort and is a fine addition to bathing possibilities in the inner bay.

T. Youngsma of Chicago has built a beautiful colonial type cottage at Tennessee beach. It is nearly completed. Interior decoration is now under way and the summer home is expected to be ready for occupancy in July. Chris J. R. Sligh company, furniture manufacturers of Holland. Shifting sands and spring rains undermined the sidewalk at the foot of the high sand mountain at Ottawa Beach, causing the walk to sag. This has been repaired by placing sand under the walks, flanked by heavy planking and reinforcement. It may not be known by many but the outlet from Black Lake to Lake Michigan before a harbor was built was a small creek running along the foot of this hill northwest, entering "Big Lake" north of the present oval about a quarter of a mile.

Attorney Daniel Ten Cate, Holland is a great garden lover, that is to say he likes to dig in the soil and burban about a little. Preparations for an active program of summer sports at Macatawa park during the current resort season are nearing completion and announcements of the contests will be forthcoming early next month. POLO FLIES 2,400 MILES ON TWO OUNCES OF FUEL

The golden plover travels 2,400 miles from Nova Scotia to South America apparently without a stop, flying continuously for about 48 hours. It consumes less than two ounces of fuel in the form of body fat. If a 1,000-pound airplane were as efficient, it would require only a single pint of fuel for a twenty-mile flight.

Drenthe School History Told At Reunion

THE LITTLE RED SCHOOLHOUSE ALSO BRINGS A COMMUNITY HISTORY REVIEW

"Drenthe ninety years ago was a howling wilderness," says Nick Hunderman of Zealand.

School reunions are rather happy affairs, sometimes mingled with sadness, but a healthy function for any community. A resume of school history cannot help but intermingle with the history of the community and when you delve into the beginning of things as does Nick Hunderman in the history of the Drenthe School which includes community history, and see the hardships that our forebears went through without any welfare at their backs, we wonder what we are crying about when there are still so many blessings we are able to enjoy.

At the Drenthe School Reunion recently held, there were more than 300 gathered together from this vicinity, beyond the state and even from California.

Mr. Hunderman was the historian at this Drenthe school reunion event and we tell in his own words what this history covers.

He said in part, "Friends and fellow citizens of the community of Drenthe. The program committee must have thought that I hark back to Noah and the Ark and was one of them. They must feel that I am a walking dictionary considering the task they have put upon me. Talking about the dictionary reminds me of when I still went to the Drenthe school, and the teacher had lost track of her Webster's. When the instructor asked for it, one of the pupils piped up saying, 'Nick Hunderman is sitting on it, possibly in order to get a higher seat elevation.' Whether this manner of studying the dictionary was of much help is problematical. I believe I would rather trust to my memory."

"Anyway, to give a history of this community, Drenthe, Michigan was settled by immigrants from Drenthe, the Netherlands, who arrived in 1847-48. Among them were John Hulst, Hilbert, Jan and Hendrick Mast, Hendrick Lanning, Jan Riddering, Johannes Op't Holt, John Wiggers, Derk De Kleine, Hendrick Hunderman, Roelof Nyenhuis and many others.

"It is rather timely to make a comparison between the past and the present. What changes have taken place in the space of ninety years. When the settlers landed, Drenthe was a howling wilderness, the only things visible being the sky above, the soil underfoot—the oaks, cedar, maple and beech standing shoulder to shoulder as an army in battle array. In reality these forests then, were the enemy of men while today with improved methods of lumbering they would be a blessing. Then it took the pioneers' strength, courage and perseverance to hack away a few of these monarchs of the forest in order that a small clearing might be made so that they might plant a field to secure crops for food.

"Around Drenthe the wooded lands were the home of the Indian, the deer, the bear and the wolf. The settlers found, too, a scarcity of water, unhealthy swamps, stagnant pools and a place of sandy wastes and hillsides which gave little promise of crop yields. Many died and those who did live walked with pestilence daily. Those were trying periods but an implicit faith in themselves and in Almighty God saw them through the pioneer stage.

"Now mark the change. The forests, to our sorrow, have disappeared. The whole has been transformed into well cultivated fields in the midst of which nestle substantial and often beautiful homes. Lowlands and bogs are drained and cultivated and such lands as were considered useless have been put to crops adapted to the soil. The old stump lands have been cleared. Today a stump in a farm is a rarity.

"The old rail fences, harking back from Lincoln's days, are things of the past and orderly placed wire enclosures now separate the fields and meadows. Great was the joy when the ox team was introduced in the Drenthe colony. Folk had to go on foot to Grand Rapids, Allegan and to the struggling Holland colony headed by Dr. Van Raalte. The ox team then was appreciated more than the automobile is today for the motor car is now taken as a matter of course. In traveling from one place to another, the pioneer was handicapped because of bridgeless streams which they had to ford, fallen trees, treacherous valleys and bogs, and impassable hills. All these handicaps were in part made easier with the ox team, the spade and ax and tools that would help clear the way.

"Today all is different. To travel through our colony is indeed a pleasure. Our roads are boulevards compared with those of yesterday and are getting better from year to year. The high places are being leveled and the low places are being elevated. Steel and concrete bridges span our rivers and creeks. Our highways are kept in shape by machinery that keeps them so.

"Coming back to our home life. Our first shelters were branches of trees and the protection of the forest, poor abodes at best. These were soon supplanted by log cabins made from the forests that were the early enemies of the pioneer. Here the first settlers raised their children. They suffered hardships and privations but they kept the faith and in supplication to God they asked that He give them a sustaining hand and divine guidance. This gave them renewed hope and happiness and they sang the psalms of David and the cadence reverberated through the otherwise silent forest.

"Furniture was a rare article in pioneer days and a stump or a box often served as a table. Blocks of wood or nail kegs were made into

BEAUTIFUL GEORGIAN BAY

Holland Liners Will Start Cruises on Lakes

SCHEDULE WILL OPEN ON JUNE 27

The S. S. South American and the S. S. North American, only oil-burning passenger liners on the Great Lakes, will begin their schedule June 27, from Buffalo and Chicago, respectively. The two steamers have left their docks at Montello Park, Holland. They sailed up Lake Macatawa like two large white birds.

These cruises range from two to seven days and include stopovers at some of the most interesting points in this part of the country. These ships, operated by the Chicago, Duluth & Georgian Bay Transit Co., popularly known as the Georgian Bay Line, range from Buffalo to Chicago, taking in Detroit and Cleveland, Parry Sound in Georgian Bay and Mackinac Island.

In addition to Parry Sound in Georgian Bay, the boats this season will make regular stops at Midland, Ont., just outside of which is the famous Jesuit Martyrs' Shrine, a hallowed memorial to nine of the eleven North American saints. This shrine annually attracts more than 100,000 visitors from Canada and the United States. Connections with Duluth are also possible and the line offers all-expense fourteen-day vacations at the Royal Muskoka Hotel and Bigwin Inn in the Muskoka Lake district of Canada.

No freight is carried on these liners—they are cruise ships exclusively, and all the staterooms are outside. This year a comfortable sun deck has been rigged up. Shuffle board, quills, "horse races" and other forms of amusements are usually indulged in during the morning, card tournaments in the afternoon as well as concert music, cabaret and dancing in the evening until the wee hours in the morning. A daily radio newspaper is published each day aboard each ship.

COUNTY BOARDS LOSE LEGAL ROUND IN FIGHT OVER WELFARE CONTROL

The fight being waged by county boards of supervisors for control of the personnel administering state relief struck legal and executive opposition.

Deputy Attorney General James F. Shepherd ruled that the state emergency relief commission alone has the power to designate the employees of county relief commissions and the qualifications of the relief employees. The opinion did not refer to deputy administrators and directors.

Governor Fitzgerald declared "this vying for political advantage in welfare is out. They might as well save their breath."

WELFARE PROBLEMS DISCUSSED BY SUPERVISORS OF OTTAWA

Future handling of welfare problems in this county was the subject for discussion at the opening meeting of the board of supervisors at the court house, Grand Haven.

Mayor Richard L. Cook reported on a meeting he attended at Albion recently where representatives of 29 counties in the state went on record as favoring that welfare be turned over to the separate counties.

Several resolutions passed by other counties were read by the Secretary William Wilds which showed that the consensus of opinion appeared to be in favor of allowing the separate communities to handle their own problems.

The board appropriated between $350 and $400 to the building and grounds committee to change the offices of the Ottawa County Health unit, to provide greater efficiency for the staff and to better accommodate the hundreds who are served there through the unit.

Big Republican Rally on July Fourth Planned

LARGE NUMBER FROM ZEELAND, HOLLAND AND TOWNSHIP ON COMMITTEE FOR INDEPENDENTS DAY RALLY

OTTAWA G. O. P. COMMITTEE MEETS; VANDENBERG TO TALK AT JOHNSTON PARK RALLY

(Grand Haven Tribune)

Kent and Ottawa county Republican committees, aided by several Republican clubs in the two counties, will hold a fifth congressional district rally on July 4th at Johnston Park, Grandville, Mich., sponsored by the Michigan Republican League, at which Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg and Clara Adams of the Michigan Republican League will be the speakers.

The plan was crystallized Friday at a meeting of the Ottawa county Republican committees held at the Hotel Wm. M. Ferry after Ivan E. Hull, chairman of the Kent county committee, asked for the sanction of the Ottawa county committee and their cooperation to make this one of the largest Republican rallies in the state in the pre-election campaign.

This will be one of the few occasions at which Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg will appear in Michigan during the coming campaign as he is scheduled to go over the country speaking for president and vice president. Clara Adams, Detroit, is said to be one of the most dynamic and forceful speakers in Michigan today and orations have been given him at the various large cities of Michigan where he has been appearing in the Republican cause.

Sponsors Rally
The Republican League has been sponsoring rallies in the congressional district of the state for several months past and has now conducted such an affair in practically every congressional district in the state.

The rally will start at 8:00 p.m. with sports and games conducted by the young Republicans of the district and the speaking program will take place at 8:30 p.m. after which refreshments will be served and in the evening there will be a large display of fireworks together with other entertainment. The American Legion, which is holding an annual Fourth of July celebration in the park earlier in the day, will join in with the fireworks and patriotic entertainment.

Cong. Carl E. Mapes will head the reception committee and it is expected that representatives from nearly all of the districts in lower Michigan will be present as well as many other Republican leaders in the state.

Leon Benedict, assistant managing director of the state board of tax administration, addressed the same 40 Republicans who dined at the Hotel Friday as guests of the Michigan Republican League. He explained the origin and function of the League saying it was organized some 40 years ago and revived recently to promote Republican interests. Funds have been collected over the state wherein dinners of the kind enjoyed Friday have been tendered to every county committee in the state followed by a rally or banquet such as the fifth district will enjoy.

Mr. Benedict also talked on the sales tax in Michigan to counteract, he said, vicious propaganda that is rife through the state that the cost of collecting the $44,000,000 sales tax equals one half of the collections.

He emphatically denied this allegation saying that at the present time $98.35 cents out of every dollar is turned over to the state. The sales tax is paying for 60 per cent of state expense, he stated. It has been the life saver of the schools of the state turning over $13,000,000. It has supported the old age pension assistance, and various other items.

He cited that 75 per cent of the people of Michigan were paying the bulk of the taxes with 45 per cent coming from the city of Detroit alone.

He cautioned voters to carefully consider any amendment to the present law which may be placed before the voters at the coming election exempting food stores from this tax. If it passes, other commodity stores will immediately demand like exemptions which in time may destroy a source of revenue which has enabled the present state administration to crawl out of a red of $6,620,000 to the black side of the ledger with $6,000,000.

"If you wipe out the sales tax you wipe out 1,250,000 taxpayers, whose support it directly and indirectly from the source of revenue, he declared.

In defense of an increased personnel he pointed to the deplorable condition of the department two years ago and told of many thousands of dollars that had been recovered since an efficient, well manned system had been put into effect. When it is entirely completed the sales taxes will be collected at a cost of 1 1/2 per cent, he stated.

According to word received from State Commissioner of Health Dr. C. C. Slemmons, roadside eating stands, restaurants and public sources of drinking water along the highways in Michigan will be visited by inspectors from the state health department to safeguard the health of Michigan's throngs of summer visitors. A thorough inspection is planned of all food handling establishments to make certain that foods are stored properly, dishes sterilized before used and proper hand washing and toilet facilities are made available. A prime objective of the inspections will be the common drinking cups, banned by state law.

Serious efforts are making to suppress rag weed in the state, the plant whose pollen causes hay fever. An association with that purpose in view has been formed with Mr. Wolcott H. Butler of Ann Arbor, formerly of this city, as president. We knew him as a boy and young man by this name but in Ann Arbor, where he is a leading citizen, he is known only as Hackley. He is a brother of Judge A. S. Butler.

"SEE YOUR BANKER FIRST"
VETERANS CAUTIONED ABOUT SPENDING THEIR MONEY

HON. WRIGHT PATMAN
of Texas

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, June 3, 1936

Mr. PATMAN. Mr. Speaker, I am grateful for this early opportunity to issue a word of warning to the 3,518,191 American war veterans who are to receive their adjusted-service certificate bonds from the United States Government on Monday, June 15.

My warning to each of these men is to beware of the crafty chiselers and scandalous schemers who are busily engaged throughout the country in devising shyster ways and means of getting their clutches on the veterans' bonus money.

The $1,924,000,000 that will shortly flow from the Treasury into the hands of ex-service men is a luscious lure that is attracting the unscrupulous, who regard it as a field enormously rich and overflowing ripe for their picking.

I am humbly grateful for the privilege of fighting a long years for the veterans; for the joy of living to see that day dawn when our Federal Government issues payment of its debt to the soldiers, sailors, and marines.

By that same token I am fired with a strong fraternal desire to warn these, my buddies, against the blandishments of business bandits who would snatch the veteran's purse and flee with it.

Now is the time to pause and consider the steps that will be taken by veterans and to urge caution in the disposal of their bonus bonds.

My strongest counsel is for each veteran to go to the bank with which he does business and discuss his personal problem with his banker.

I say the bank, because it is the safest place for (1) the deposit of revenue yield of bonds that have been cashed, and (2) because the United States Government today stands back of the thousands of banks that have insured deposits up to $5,000 through the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

A patent on an automatic turntable for automobiles was issued last week to John Van Nieuwland, decorator and inventor, of 259 W. 12th street. Mr. Van Nieuwland explained that the turntable is rotated by the drive wheel of an automobile resting upon it and is driven horizontally by a belt. The driver remains in the car to operate the device. It would be used where there is a need for turning a car around within the space of a car and is primarily for very large cities. The patent culminates more than three years of work. He has made no assignment of the commercial rights to the invention, but already has one offer on it. Mr. Van Nieuwland is inventing, from the same device, a method to facilitate parking parallel to the curb in metropolitan areas.

A report released by Miss Deborah Veneklaasen, county relief administrator, Thursday, shows a decided improvement in business conditions in Ottawa county. The relief cases in June, 1934, numbered 1,583; in June, 1935, the total was 1,158 and June 20, 1936, the number of cases is 240. There has also been a decrease in staff members from 48 in June, 1934, to 35 in June, 1935, and this month there are seven. Miss Veneklaasen attributes the improved relief situation in Ottawa county to more private employment, or better business conditions, to state old age assistance to WPA, to PWA and to Federal aid projects such as highway construction. General provisions covering the new merit system for employees of state and county relief commissions were released from Lansing yesterday by

Dr. William Haber, state administrator. Miss Veneklaasen stated that she is awaiting for details regarding the examinations to be given to the staff members in effecting the new civil service system July 1. Special word was received to the effect that unemployed veterans who are not on relief may apply for enrollment in CCC work under a new plan to start soon after July 1. No estimate was made by Miss Veneklaasen as to the number in Ottawa county who may benefit by this plan, but she said, "There will be some."

Charles S. Sirrine of Holland is seventy-seven years old and has been in service of the Pere Marquette railway so long (fifty-seven years) that he thought it time to quit and did so. He was born near Millgrove and lived there or in Allegan until he began railway work. He is a son of Captain Sirrine and a brother of Mr. Perry Sirrine of this city. His father was called "captain" because he operated towing scows on Kalamazoo river—boats that were pushed up and down the river with long poles. Well, they had, of course, to have captains and Mr. Sirrine was widely known because of his efficiency in the work. These boats were busy even after small steamboats navigated the Kalamazoo. Originally they ran clear up to Marshall, carrying flour for shipment across the lake to Chicago—before railroads were built.—Allegan Gazette.
