30-Year Franchise For Natural Gas Okayed By Voters

Proposed New Charter Defeated By 200 Votes in Balloting

There won't be any change in the city's governing setup for a while.

By 200 votes, the proposal to adopt a new charter for Holland city lost in a special election Monday which attracted 2,731 votes. The charter vote was 1,464 to 1,264.

The other issue — natural gas for Holland — passed overwhelmingly by a better than 7 to 1 majority. The vote of 2,364 to 320 authorizes a 30-year franchise by Common Council to the Michigan Gas and Electric Co.

The charter carried by slight margins in the second, fifth and sixth wards, but the vote could not offset losses in the first, third and fourth wards.

Vote by wards follows:
CHARTER COMMISSION

Ward	Yes	No
1	102	198
2	273	234
3	167	271
4	201	246
5	245	243
6	276	272

GAS FRANCHISE

Ward	Yes	No
1	243	51
2	448	52
3	362	66
4	392	47
5	440	41
6	479	63

The new charter had advocated a city manager form of government. Under the setup, several city offices now elective would be appointive, but persons would have greater scope in electing a council since they would vote for candidates in all wards instead of just their own.

Going to the polls Monday was good practice for Holland people. Two weeks hence on July 10 comes the annual school election to name three trustees for the board of education. This election will be held in the GAR room of the city hall. Candidates are Jay L. De Koning and Mrs. Kenneth De Pree, incumbents, Lester J. Kuyper, Mr. Clarence Wagner and Eugene Vande Vusse.

Jesieks Given Court Judgment

Allegan (Special)—A judgment totaling $3,217.26 has been filed in circuit court by Judge Raymond L. Smith in favor of the Jesiek Brothers shipyard at Lake Macatawa in Ottawa county.

Defendants are, William and Florence Long and the Ideal Long Co. of Chicago. The suit centered in a dispute over a bill for the Jesiek brothers' repair of a cabin cruiser for the Longs.

John Boerman, a former farm tenant, received an injunction from the court to permit him to harvest some clover and wheat which he claims is due him on a share-farming plan. Boerman said he had been a tenant on the Earl Gray farm northeast of Otsego, and was to receive a third of the crops which were planted last fall and which are due for harvest soon. Meanwhile the land has been sold to Don Powers, also named as defendant in the case.

Judge Smith ordered an injunction which prevents Gray and Powers from stopping Boerman from harvesting the crops.

Williams allegedly took a suit of clothes from the Royal Cleaners in Grand Haven last Oct. 29, which belonged to James Ledinsky, local car dealer.

Holland Men Get Taste of Marines

Seven tired but hardened Marine corp reservists returned to Holland last week-end after a two-week amphibious training program at Little Creek, Va.

The locals testify that they know what the Marines mean by their battle slogan "From the halls of Montezuma to the shores of Tripoli." Their training fare included landings on Chesapeake Bay beaches and out of the Atlantic onto Virginia beaches.

At times the reserve Leathernecks stormed off landing barges into water that came up to their chests. Other instructions included hand-to-hand combat, field drills, inspections and K. P. (kitchen police).

The Holland group included: Pvt. Barry H. Bailey, Earl Barkel, Gerald J. DeWeerd, Harold R. Draper, Douglas W. Hazebroek, Thomas G. Holden and James E. Miedema.

They are members of Co. D, 8th Infantry battalion of the Marine corps.

And the men are convinced that the Marines "know how to travel." En route to Little Creek, during the two-week stay and on the return trip the group traveled in cars, trains, all types of Marine vehicles, landing crafts and planes.

They capped their travels by flying from the Atlantic coast to Grand Rapids last Friday morning. They were in Grand Rapids just four hours after taking off from Virginia.

During the maneuvers, the men were given a couple of days off which they used for sight-seeing trips through Washington, D. C. They visited many of the nation's landmarks in the capital.

Some of the faster yachts on Lake Michigan are warming up these days for the annual Chicago to Saugatuck race which gets underway Friday evening at Jackson Park Yacht club in Chicago.

Bits of Debris Point to Scene Of DC-4 Crash

The Holland Coast Guard station spent a busy week-end looking for the lost DC-4 airliner before the ship was reported found off St. Joseph Sunday evening.

Coast Guard boats combed the water about 15 miles out from six miles south of Saugatuck to 10 miles north of Holland. Two boats went out Saturday and one was out Sunday.

But here was the situation Monday at the station: The Holland station has been secured from the search. Two men are in St. Joseph, at the request of the station there, to relieve some of their men. Edwin O. Feddick and Louis Glowney left Monday morning by truck for the scene of the findings.

"I guess their men are getting tired," Chief Charles Carpenter said.

An added bit of excitement came at 9:30 Sunday night when five flares were sighted from the tower, south and west from Holland. It was impossible to determine the distance, Carpenter said, because haze magnifies them.

So Keller Harmon and Richard Rossiter took off in a boat to chase the flares. They were out till 2 a.m. Monday. They went so far out the station lost contact by radio.

After checking with South Haven, local officers found that the flares they sighted were from the scene of operations, south of South Haven.

Just before the flare incident, someone called from the old Goetz farm, saying a body was floating in the lake. When Coast Guardsmen checked, they found it was a Christmas tree.

Watson Organizes New Game Club

Allegan (Special)—Determined to keep the supply of rabbits and pheasants in northeast Watson townships for the landowners' hunting, a newly organized Watson Rod and Gun club is rapidly gaining a large membership.

Principal aim of the organization is to post a 12-mile square block in which no outsiders will be permitted to hunt unless a landowner gives him a hunting card, G. Ray Sturgis, president, explains.

Under the by-laws, membership is limited to property owners or lessees and their immediate families. Landowners may issue two permit cards a day, with those receiving them allowed only on the land where they were given the card, unless they are accompanied by a member.

The club grew out of the farmers' protest to the large influx of hunters who have found Watson township plentiful with game.

Erving Johnson is secretary; Cyril Washburn, treasurer, and Forrest Blain and Weibe Tuinstra are vice-presidents.

The Saugatuck-Douglas Lions club is co-sponsor with the Jackson Park club.

The race has grown in recent years to where it attracts some of the finest boats and sailors on Lake Michigan.

The Lions club has planned a gala celebration with wiener roast early Saturday evening, followed by formal trophy and prize presentations at 11 p.m. at the Big Pavilion.

The local boats which have entered are the "Bel-Mer", a 42-foot yawl owned by Warren S. Merriam, and a 55-foot yawl, "Hilaria", skippered by owner Hugh Schaddelee.

Township Board Named in Suit On Road Issue

Grand Haven (Special)—Circuit court has issued an injunction restraining the Jamestown township board from spending any money to build roads in the township other than a two-mile stretch on Adams St. (16th St.) in the vicinity of Gitchel.

The suit was filed in court Wednesday afternoon by Cornelius Patmos, Glenn Gitchel and Sylvester Schaendoff, residents and taxpayers of Jamestown township and members of the township board. Named in the complaint were the following board members: Richard Smallegan, Frank Van Oss, Peter Johnson, John Lamberts, and John Van Noord.

The suit was filed in court Wednesday afternoon by Cornelius Patmos, Glenn Gitchel and Sylvester Schaendoff, residents and taxpayers of Jamestown township and members of the township board. Named in the complaint were the following board members: Richard Smallegan, Frank Van Oss, Peter Johnson, John Lamberts, and John Van Noord.

The declaration sets forth that $12,000 was available for building roads wherever the voters decided it should be spent. On motion of Alex Klooster, township resident it was voted to build and repair the two-mile stretch at Gitchel which lies three miles south of Jamestown. A motion also was passed to levy two mills to repair other roads in the town.

The declaration further states that defendants refuse to use the $12,000 for the Gitchel project and are surveying another road in the township. Plaintiffs say the two millage tax would not have passed had voters believed the board had authority to spend the sum for another road.

Your Phone Bill For Next Month Will Be Higher

Michigan Bell Company President Cites Need For Rate Increases

Your telephone bill will be higher next month.

Michigan Bell Telephone company's rate increase approved by the Public Service commission affects every exchange in the company's territory. The $8.2 million increase in company revenues, amounting to $5.5 million annually, after taxes, was effective June 20.

Resident users will find from 25 to 50 cents tacked onto their bills each month under the revised schedule. Increases for business customers will range from 50 to 75 cents a month.

New rates in Holland will be as follows:

Residence service — individual line, $3.50; two-party line, $3.00; four-party, $2.50; and rural, $2.75. Business service — private branch exchange trunk, $6.75; individual line, $6.50; two-party, $5.50; and rural, $4.25.

Residence extension rates are boosted to 85 cents a month and business extension to $1.50 a month. Long distance rates are of changed by the order.

Thomas N. Lacy, Bell president, points out that the rate boost, amounting to $5.5 after taxes, "is in the interest of better service to customers."

"Unlike an unregulated industry, where price adjustments are almost automatically geared to rising costs, under regulation considerable delays are experienced before relief is granted," Lacy said. "We have had to wait almost 18 months for this increase."

"The $25 million in post-war salary increases, added to the $10 million granted employees during the war, exceed total rate increases of $21.2 million by $13.8 million. The company now is negotiating with the union and any increase in wage costs resulting from these talks will add to our expense, and are not reflected in the latest rate order. In addition, any changes that may be made in the corporate tax rate are, of course, not provided for."

"Prior to 1948, Michigan Bell rates had not been increased in 22 years. As a matter of fact, long distance and exchange service rates were decreased a total of $21 million during that period."

"Since 1940, prices of food, clothing and other goods and services have gone up substantially. On the other hand, even with the present increase, the average telephone bill has risen less than half as much as the pieces of things that make up the cost of living."

Globetrotter Certificate Is Navyman's Souvenir

Radioman 2/C Paul Moody, 26, who rejoined the U. S. Navy two years ago after three years of service during World War II, left Holland Friday after a 38-day leave to report to the USS Albemarle at Norfolk, Va.

His adventures during the last two years have been far more exciting than the three years during the war when he was assigned to only two stations following boot training at Great Lakes Naval Training station. One was at a Naval air station in Florida and the other at Newfoundland.

But during the last two years, Moody has gone around the world and can display a Globetrotter's certificate to prove it.

That particular trip started aboard the U. S. Merrimack, an oil tanker, at Norfolk. From Norfolk it went to Aruba, Netherlands West Indies, for a load of oil to deliver to Bremerhaven, Germany. Then the tanker went to Casablanca, Africa; Naples, Italy, through the Suez canal and the Red Sea to the Persian gulf.

Then came Hong Kong, China, and around Singapore to Japan, and across the Pacific to San Pedro, Calif. The tanker spent three months at the shipyards at San Francisco. From there, the ship went through Panama canal and back to Norfolk and New York, thereby completing the globe-girdling trip resulting in Globetrotter's certificates.

From New York, the tanker went to Nice, France, and Tripoli, Africa, and returned last August to Orange, Texas, where the ship has been decommissioned.

Mrs. Moody is the former Patricia Headley of Holland.

Bluekamp proved to be the big sock and the margin of victory. Bern Ebels went all the way for the victory.

Vern Sikkema was the loser. No batsman on either side was able to garner more than one hit. In the opener, Main Auto scored a 6-2 triumph over Barber's Ford. Jason Ebels set Fords down with five hits as his mates pounded out 11 off Harv Vanderveen.

Puzz Bauman led the Auto attack with three hits. Junior Maatman had two, including a homer, and Howie Glupker had a pair also.

With Cecil Serier sporting a smart 406 stick mark, it gives Sunocos a terrific one-two punch. They have gotten fine hurling from Casey Veldman and Joe Berans.

Sunocos looks to get its chief challenge from Main Auto again, with an outsider, Baker's Furniture, unable to win a first round game, a possible dark-horse with two victories.

In last night's tilt, Baker's took their second, a 5-3 win over Holland Merchants.

"PUBLIC OPINION"

One of the headlines in the recent charter revision campaign was an increase in the "Public Opinion" letters submitted to the Sentinel for publication. A great many people were genuinely concerned about the outcome of the election, and as a result they attempted to form public opinion for or against the issue.

That was wholesome and all to the good. There cannot be too much interest in such issues, or any other issues that affect the people of Holland. The suggestion is worth considering that if the voters should display a similar interest all along, an informed public opinion would have a much better chance to develop than is now the case.

Ordinarily the average citizen takes the attitude that what he has to say on a given issue will make very little difference. Or he assumes that the editor of his local paper will say what needs to be said. But he forgets that an editor is only an individual, one who is subject to the same limitations to which all citizens are subject. He tries to feel the pulse of the people, but if the average voter does not express himself, how is he to know what the grassroots thinking in the community is?

"Public Opinion" letters are of course sometimes highly prejudiced.
That is in the very nature of things. Nor is that necessarily against their value in the formation of public sentiment. The very fact that such writers are privileged to express their prejudices, and thus to represent the prejudices of considerable sections of the population, gives them a certain value that the more formal editorial columns of necessity lack.

But there is one thing many writers of such letters should learn. An editor has to be willing to stand behind every statement he makes in print, that is stand behind it in court with his dollars and cents. Writers of "Public Opinion" letters sometimes are under the impression that they can attack anyone they please, whether they can prove their charge or not. They sometimes resent it when libelous statements are eliminated from their contributions.
Face to face they would not think of calling anyone else a liar or a cheat unless they both could prove it and were willing to prove it legally in court. In printed statements they sometimes think that the paper will stand between them and such libelous matter. That is a case of hitting below the belt.

But in all reasonable cases of the expression of grass-roots ideas, whether they represent personal prejudices or not, "Public Opinion" letters are wholesome and valuable. The conduct of the charter campaign was a good example of democracy in action.
Now why not your public opinion on the next move. Our city needs your ideas and thinking on the charter. 300 words please.
Less than one third of the registered voters availed themselves of their right. We wonder why?

Jacob, a Man of Building Contrasts
Genesis 35:1-7, 9-12
By Henry Goodings

It is not unusual to find in the same home children as different as day and night. They have the same parents, eat the same food, receive the same training, have the same privileges, and yet in temperament, habits, likes and dislikes they are as far apart as the poles.

The one likes school and books, the other does not. The one takes to serious matters, the other lives only for show. The one naturally obeys authority, the other tends to be wayward. The one is inclined to be religious, the other is set upon the gratification of the appetites. And so it is all along the line.

We are not helped very much by the analyst who tries to tell us why they are different. The facts are before us. There is at least one respect in which we believe this present age has advanced beyond any previous age, and that is in its attempt to study the individual and to assist him in his particular situation.

In those early years Jacob did not seem to be much of an improvement over his brother. It is no wonder Isaac was suspicious of him. The differences that divide us are not whether we prefer the "indoor or outdoor life, whether we follow one occupation or another.
They have to do with our outlook upon life, with the degree of control we have of ourselves, with the things we put first, with the ways of our daily conduct.

At the beginning Jacob was not a shining example of all the young man should be. He was on the verge of deserving the profound disrespect of all people. It was a power beyond himself that plucked him as a brand from the burning and transformed him into a man of faith and prayer.

If a boy has a scheming mother he has additional odds to cope with. There is this to be said in Rebekah's favor, the thing she was after was all right. She knew the elder son was to serve the younger. That much had been revealed to her. But she could not wait the unfolding of God's plan. She seemed to fear that he would not be able to bring it to pass, and that she would have to get her clumsy fingers tangled with it. It was not her fault that she did not so confirm her son both in deceit and conceit that it was wellnigh impossible for God to rescue him and make him a power in the nation.
That she made a pet of him came near being both her undoing and his.

Jacob was cunning, unscrupulous, selfish. He was ever seeking his own. He took advantage where he could. He seemed to have no scruples when his weak-minded brother and his aged and sick father were to be his victims. He wanted what he wanted and he got it. Of course he was greatly aided by his scheming and clever mother. One wonders how members of the same family can take such advantage. It is still being done. Such unwholy procedure does not belong entirely and conspicuously to the long-gone days. But some twentieth century people exhibit just as mean plots and schemes.

While Jacob and his mother had their way and succeeded in wrestling the coveted blessing from a blind father the victory was won at a terrific cost. When Esau discovered what had transpired his indignation flamed forth and it threatened to consume his brother.
Rebekah saved him but she lost him from her side. It is more than likely that she never saw him again.

While it is true that God intended to make Jacob the human transmitter of the blessing which he originally gave to Abraham, yet it was to come to Jacob in God's way and not in Rebekah's and Jacob's way. God may have good things for us in store, but we are never justified in trying to secure them by questionable methods. Religion has no screens for the conscience that does wrong for its sake.

Jacob went to Haran and spent several years there. He was successful. He did not stop his clever tricks. But he found that his uncle Laban was a shrewd trickster.
They matched wits. Jacob finally returned to Canaan, having a family and large flocks. Conscience got busy and made Jacob uncomfortable. He would have to meet Esau who had just cause for seeking revenge.

He had become a leader of a strong band of plainmen and he was rich and powerful. Jacob had struggled through the years with Laban and now he was about to deal with Esau. As it turned out, his antagonist in this vital struggle was not man but God. Jacob had deceived his fellow men with impunity and success. Now he discovered that it was God whom he had offended.

This is so true of all of us. We think we are struggling with men when in reality the opponent of our sins is God. We think we can cut away with our cleverness only to discover that in the last analyis all this world's wrongs lead back to God.

This is a sobering thought.
When we are on the wrong side of a struggle we contend not with men but with God because He is on the side of right. And sometimes when we seem to be battling single handed for a Christian cause against overwhelming odds we need to realize that ours is the most potent ally of all, namely God Himself. God's victory often lies in our defeat. God's divine antagonist won, but when his physical strength had been impaired he wrestled from

Sang Keun Lee (left) and Young Chang Chun, theological students from Korea studying in America, were frequent visitors at The Sentinel Tuesday, anxious for all news of developments on the Korean front. The two men, both with relatives in Korea, viewed the news with a happy eye, and were especially gladdened by President Truman's promise of arms aid to defend South Korea and Formosa. They checked United Press dispatches closely, line by line, and took notes of developments.

Local Korean Students
Ask Prayers for Homes

"We plead to the Christians in this country to join us in our earnest prayer that God may spare our nation, especially our fellow Christians in our homeland."

These words were spoken Tuesday by two Korean citizens studying theology in the United States, Young Chang Chun, a student at Western Seminary, and Sang Keun Lee, student at Westminster Seminary in Philadelphia.

Chun has two children, his wife and mother in law in Korea, while Lee's six children and mother are in the homeland.

The two students were at The Sentinel office early Tuesday, anxious for any news of the Korean situation. They were buoyed up by the early dispatches, and checked back several times during the day for additional developments.

Both plan to return to Korea, but just when, they don't know.
Each finishes his theological work in January. They may return sooner, if needed.

"We feel that Christian ministers are soldiers of Christ in a particular sense. We've been trained during peace time. If we don't serve during a time of persecution, it's equal to military personnel who were trained during peace time but leave the army at war time," Chun said. "We'll make our decision under this principle."

There will be great persecution in Korea if communism takes over, the young men feel, because they feel Christianity is the only religion that can resist communism.

"If communism takes over in South Korea," Chun said, "we feel we should return as soon as possible, because Christ's church needs us more as ministers of the gospel under communist control." But the future ministers are confident of eventual victory.

"No matter how dark the picture may be, final victory will be ours," Chun said, "because we believe formally that God is still alive and in control of the history of human beings."

Chun has been in America 39 months, and Lee has been here 16 months. Lee is in Holland for the summer, before returning to school—or Korea.

Holland
In 1916

(Following is the 465th in the series of weekly articles taken from news of the Holland Daily Sentinel published more than 35 years ago.)

Herman Garvelink, farmer living south of the city, Monday night probably saved many lives and destruction of such property when he, acting on a premonition that something was wrong, left his home and discovered a pile of debris on a weakened railroad bridge in time to flag and stop the 9:46 train from Chicago, began a story in the Tuesday, Aug. 8, issue of the Holland Daily Sentinel published in 1916.

The storm that swept over Holland Monday night was insignificant in comparison to the fury the storm vented on the region just south of here. The rain came down in torrents, flooding the streams and ditches. Mr. Garvelink was sitting in his home safe from the driving rain when he happened to think that the small railway bridge at Tubergen's hill, about two and one-half miles south of the Holland P. M. passenger station, might be washed away by the rain. His wife laughed and ridiculed the idea of going out in the rain to look at the bridge.
However Mr. Garvelink said that he just had to go and taking his son, Lucas, with him he walked to the bridge. The water in the small stream had already risen to four feet and was washing over the bridge. Several railway ties which had been used in the river bed for driving teams over had been washed up onto the bridge and were obstructing the track. The foundation of the bridge and were obstructing the ed greatly. Seeing the great danger awaiting the oncoming train Mr. Garvelink called J. Jipping and son, John, who live near by.
The four men cleared the ties and other obstructions away but still they did not consider the bridge safe for the train to pass over.
They then went farther down the track south and shortly after 10 p.m. flagged the train.

Mrs. John Brinkman, living at the Graafschap crossing on the Interurban line between this city and the Park, Monday experienced a narrow escape from death and suffered a severe shock. As she stepped out on the rear porch of the home a bolt of lightning struck the ground a few feet from her. Flying sand showered all about her but she was uninjured.

Mrs. Fred Meyers and son, Lester, of this city left Monday night for Oklahoma, where they will visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Hoffman till September.

Tomorrow, Aug. 10, every person in the city of Holland will have an opportunity of being examined for tuberculosis free of charge. Practically every doctor in the city has offered at least a good share of his office hours for free examination. This news story appeared in the Wednesday, Aug. 9, issue.

Since Carl T. Bowen became city engineer of Holland he has taken a very active interest in the municipal improvement conducted by this city and the method of procedure in the Common council.

sort setting culminated in the

Scout Commissioner Jake Van

Grand Rapids, scout executive, to take part in the great Western Michigan Scout rally and encampment at the West Michigan State fair in Grand Rapids, Sept. 16-18 inclusive.

There were four sheriff candidates campaigning at the Holland Shoe factory early Wednesday morning before the men went to work. They were C. Dornbos, Jake Zuidewind, Delbert Fortney and Frank Salisbury.

Henry Brusse of this city is traveling through New Hampshire.
He says it is 95 in the shade. He has just returned from a trip to Bangor, Maine, and Boston, Mass.
The ex-mayor also took a dip in the briny Atlantic, but met no sharks, he says.

Several culverts and two bridges were washed out from the main road south of Graafschap by the recent rain storm. The bridges can be seen in the open fields where the water in the overflowing ditches had thrown them.

After arguing back and forth for an hour as if a hard battle were on and the opposing sides evenly divided, one side wanting a gravel road when told repeatedly that the council forbade such action, and he others wanting a substantial pavement, it was put to a vote and only one lone property owner of those present arose to signify his wish that 18th St. between Columbia Ave. and the Pere Marquette tracks be paved.

Watson Township Man Takes Seat As Supervisor

Jesse Stone Accepted By Board Despite Claim Of Opponent's Attorney

Allegan (Special)—Disregarding an attorney's claim that the county board of supervisors' proceedings might be termed invalid if it allowed Watson township's Jesse Stone take a seat as supervisor, the board Monday formally accepted Stone as a member and proceeded with its June session.

The year-long wrangle over the Watson job went into a new phase when Carl Strand, ousted by a circuit court decision in April, protested his successors right to represent the township. He said he had appealed his case to the supreme court, and until that decision was made, Stone could not be seated. Strand was represented by his attorney, Victor Bucknell, Kalamazoo, who told the board its acts while Stone served might be held illegal.

Prosecutor Chester Ray, called into the session, said the board did not have the power to pass on qualifications of a member where the formal qualifications were on file with the county clerk. He said the board must treat the circuit court decision as binding even though the supreme court might reverse the decision.

The Strand-Stone dispute arose over a ballot-counting issue in the spring of 1949 when some absentee ballots decided a very close election. After he had served a year, Strand was declared out of office, and Stone the rightful winner. In another contest for township clerk, Howard Bargewell was also put into office.

Essenburg Sells Gas Heating Units

Essenburg Electric Co., 51 West Eighth St., sells a full line of gas heating equipment. The Timken silent automatic conversion gas burner and Janitrol gas heating equipment are handled by Mike Essenburg, owner and manager.

The Timken silent automatic improved principle of burning gas has been tested and proved through several heating seasons in thousands of homes throughout the country. The burner has only a single port through which the gas-air mixture is introduced into the heating plant. The blue-hot flame is scientifically deflected to all sides of the combustion chamber by a chrome-iron deflector. For this reason, the burner is described as a wall-flame burner.

The Janitrol heating equipment line includes winter air conditioners, forced air units, gravity furnaces, boilers—steam and hot water, triple service hot water systems and unit heaters.

Essenburg Electric Co., which has been in the heating business for 20 years, also handles Duo-Therm and Temco heating units. Other items sold at the store are gas stoves and refrigerators and electrical appliances.

The company engages in servicing and repairing motors and electrical appliances and does commercial and industrial wiring. Anything you might want in the line of electrical appliances can be obtained at the store where Mr. Essenburg displays his stock.

Crash Injures 3 at Saugatuck

Saugatuck—A two-car accident on the US-31 bridge between Saugatuck and Douglas Monday at 8:30 p.m. totally demolished one car, tore the left side off the other, and injured three persons.

Stephen McKelleps, 3, who was riding with his mother, Jean McKelleps, East Saugatuck, was treated for head cuts and injuries at a physician's office.

Aima Weber, South Bend, was taken to Douglas hospital for body bruises, facial cuts and shock. Her husband, Clarence, 41, driver of the second car, received chest injuries.

As police reconstructed the accident, Mrs. McKelleps was driving north toward Saugatuck, taking Stephen to a doctor's office for treatment for coughing. Mrs. McKelleps took her eyes off the road to see what was wrong. Her car went over the centerline.

The Weber car was driving south, and the vehicles met head on. The impact ruined the McKelleps car, and its motor flew across the road and onto the sidewalk. The left side was torn off the Weber vehicle, a station wagon.

Investigating the accident were Douglas Marshal Al Hamlin, Saugatuck Chief of Police William Gore, and state police from South Haven. No ticket was issued.

"It's a wonder nobody was killed," Hamlin said.

Buick is enjoying the greatest year in its history, according to Arle Ter Haar, local Buick dealer, whose service garage and show rooms are located at 150 East Eighth St. This is because of several factors, one of which is the economical dynaflo drive, optional on the special and super models, standard on Roadmasters. Holland owners of dynaflo-equipped Buicks report gasoline mileage equal or better than many lighter cars. Ter Haar also sells and services Pontiac automobiles, another popular General Motors product, available in six and eight with hydramatic drive optional. Pictured above are the 1950 Buick two door Riviera (top) and 1950 Pontiac super de luxe Catalina. The popularity of these two lines of cars gives Ter Haar Auto Co. the advantage of offering a high-quality used car. Donald Leonard of the Michigan state police also addressed the convention, which was attended, by approximately 150 justices.

Last June 8, at Hancock, Justice Hoffer was elected third vice president of the Eagles association in Michigan. Hoffer is secretary of the Grand Haven Eagles lodge.

114 Enrolled for Summer Session

Summer school enrollment at Hope college is 114, it was announced today by Dr. Clarence De Graaf, director of the summer session. There are 83 men and 31 women enrolled. According to Dr. De Graaf, the total represents a drop of 78 students as compared with the summer of 1949.

This is in line with reports from other colleges and universities showing a decline in registrations he said.

The drop in attendance is probably due to the graduation of the bulk of the veterans earlier this month. "Summer sessions have appealed to the G.I.s who have been interested in an accelerated program," DeGraaf said.

It is expected that several local citizens will enroll in the course in drawing and painting which opens Wednesday at 1 p.m. This course will be taught by Dirk Gringhuis and is open to all who enjoy painting, regardless of college standing.

The summer schedule includes 24 courses in art, Bible, economics, education, English, German, history, mathematics, music, philosophy, physics, political science, psychology, sociology, Spanish and speech. The course in personal counseling taught by Prof. Lars Granberg attracted the largest number of students, 23, and the course in Short Story, offered by Dr. De Graaf, enrolled 21.

Dr. Vernon Roelofs from Lawrence college, Appleton, Wisconsin, is visiting professor on the Hope campus this year and is teaching a course in political science, and one in history.

Canning Center To Open July 5

Allegan (Special)—Allegan's community canning center in the Dawson school will open July 5 on a five-day week schedule, Ray Hill, supervisor, announced today.

Mrs. Irene Hammer, who operated the center during its first four years, will be in charge this year.

An "excellent" rating for cleanliness and condition of equipment was given the center by the United States Department of Agriculture on its recent inspection, Hill said.

Last year, a total of 7,553 cans of food were processed at the center. Housewives may bring their food to the center, clean and prepare them for canning, pack them in cans. The operator then puts them through the canning and pressure cooking routine and seals and cools them.

Soil District Presents $5,000 To County Board

Grand Haven (Special)—Ottawa county was presented with a check for $5,000 from the West Ottawa Soil Conservation district at the opening meeting of the Board of Supervisors Monday.

Clarence Reenders, chairman of the district, presented the check to Board Chairman Nicholas Frankens of Zeeland in appreciation for the aid the county had given the district since its organization in 1938.

Reenders explained that since then 24 million trees had been sold in the county, and last year some land was sold for $6,000 which was turned over to the county's general fund. The new gift also will go into the general fund.

Other members of the district are Albert Stegenga, Olive; Ed Dinkel, Conklin; William Sinderman, Allendale, and George Meinerhouse, West Olive.

Several board members expressed appreciation for the gesture. John H. Ter Avest, Coopersville, said the county was fortunate in having men with vision. George Swart, Grand Haven, commended the efficient work.

In other business, the board referred to the buildings and grounds and the ways and means committees a communication from the Department of Corrections suggesting the kitchen in the county jail be moved from the

Douglas Soldier Now Doing Computing Work

Pfc. Stanley N. Zelent, son of Mrs. Stella Zelent of Douglas, is now a regular computer with the 15th Field Artillery battalion at Fort Lewis, Wash.

Pfc. Zelent enlisted in the army Jan. 14, 1949, and has been with his present organization about a year. A computer is one who figures out settings to make artillery pieces fire where they're supposed to.

The 15th battalion is connected with the Second Infantry division.

base to the first floor. Only expense involved would be new cupboards, changing of sinks and wiring. Considerable repairs have been made during the past year.

George Van Peursem, Zeeland city attorney, presented a petition signed by 162 qualified electors seeking to have a section adjoining Zeeland city by annexed to the city, mainly because of water supply and lack of sanitary sewer and storm sewer systems. The board approved the petition. The vote will be only for persons living within the area. A similar issue was voted down last year.

Two applications were received to fill the unexpired term of the late Capt. William VerDum on the road commission. Seeking the post are James E. DeSpelder of Grand Haven and Jacob P. Smith of Spring Lake.

Group Favors Port Authority

The port authority committee studying possible regulation of traffic on Lake Macatawa went on record favoring establishment of a port authority on the lake.

The scope of the authority, as outlined by the committee, would be to control all water traffic, establish dock lines, guard property rights, establish and promote commercial rights, develop harbor facilities for the general welfare and establish a law enforcement agency.

This statement followed discussion by James Van Zyl, Grand Haven, commander of the district Coast Guard auxiliary, on the subject of Coast Guard influence on regulation.

Van Zyl pointed out that the Coast Guard will enforce regulations outside federal waters if it has sufficient men and time. He suggested setting up local regulations and having a harbor master to enforce them.

Edwin Raphael was named temporary chairman of the group. The committee will meet July 10 with representatives of the townships and city.

Virginia has been an important lumbering state since 1608. First sawmills were operated as early as 1630.

Dutchmen Beaten By GR Carvers

Locals Drop Tough, Close Ball Game By 1-Run Margin

Garner Only Four Hits;
O'Connor Gives Up Ten
In Route-Going Stint

The Grand Rapids Carvers, behind the four-hit pitching of Lew Adams, squeezed by the Holland Flying Dutchmen 5-4 Thursday evening at Riverview park.

Clyde O'Connor went all the way for the Dutchmen 5-4 Thursday evening at Riverview park.

Clyde O'Connor went all the way for the Dutchmen, giving up 10 hits, but scattered them effectively to make the game a struggle down to the final out.

The Carvers jumped on O'Connor in the first inning for three big runs. Chet Skenzel started things off with a single to center. Jim Burkens struck out for two away and it looked as if the Dutchmen were going to get out with no damage.

But O'Connor lost his control, walking Bob Bieszak and hitting Don Buzalski. With the bases jammed, Stan Levandoski cleaned up with a hit to right.

The Dutchmen got two of those back in their first. Jack Van Dorple was safe when the catcher dropped the ball on a third strike. Lou Borgman walked. Wlodarczyk smacked a single to left, scoring Van Dorple and when the second baseman dropped the throw-in Borgman also tallied.

The Dutchmen tied it up in the fourth. Wlodarczyk was safe on a bobble. Witteveen singled to center. Wlodarczyk scored when Ron Appledorn forced Witteveen at second.

In the seventh, the Dutchmen took the lead. George Czermies singled to left, advanced on a balk, and an infield grounder and crossed on a wild pitch.

The Carvers won the game in the eighth, when Anderson got a hit to left, advanced on a wild pitch and tallied when Dick Way pasted a single to left.

Way scored as Adams came through with the game-winning hit, a double to the left-field corner.

The Dutchmen threatened in the ninth. Gene Schrotenboer bounced a single to center. Witteveen walked. Appledorn sacrificed both runners along. Czermies then hit a tremendous drive down third base way with the third baseman coming up with a phenomenal save and throw which nipped the sliding Schrotenboer at the plate. O'Connor grounded out to end the game.

Take Advantage Of Sox' Misplays To Register Win

Humbert Hurls Victory, Frankie, Schrottenboer Lead Dutchmen Attack

The Holland Flying Dutchmen took advantage of a leaky Grand Rapids Black Sox' defense and combined it with some lousy kicking of their own to hand the Black Sox a 14-6 mauling at Riverview park Monday evening.

The visiting team was charged with a total of seven errors, all of which led to Dutchmen tallies.

Little Louie Humbert, sufficiently recovered from a sore arm, set the hard-hitting Sox down with 10 scattered hits.

Frankie Woldarczyk and Gene Schrottenboer did the heavy hitting for the locals. Woldarczyk kept up his torrid pace with three safeties and Schrottenboer patted a home run and a double, good for three runs.

The Dutchmen wasted no time in getting started. Both Ron Fortney and Ron Appledorn worked the Sox' starter, Tom Knight for walks in the first, Lou Borgman struck out, but Woldarczyk pounded a hit off the shortstop's glove for two runs.

The Black Sox counted one in the second.

Four Errors coupled with an infield hit by Fortney netted the Dutchmen two more tallies in the second.

The Black Sox made it 4-2 in their third.

The local chased three more across in the fourth. Louie Humbert led off with a single to right. After Fortney sacrificed, Appledorn walked. Borgman came through with a slice to left, counting Humbert.

And when the Black Sox elected to play for Borgman who rounded first, Appledorn scored. Borgman went to second on an overthrow of second and tallied when Schrottenboer unloaded a double which bounded into the bleachers in left center.

Three Black Sox hits made it 7-4 in the fifth.

But the Dutch came back in their fifth—off reliever Joe Smith to garner four more runs on two hits and Sox misplays.

With one out, Jack Van Dorpe got to first on an error. Fortney drew a base on balls. Fortney ground out. And Appledorn popped one high in short left which the left fielder, Stalin Hamilton, conveniently dropped and the Dutchmen had two across.

Borgman cracked out his second hit, a single to center, scoring Appledorn. Woldarczyk singled to left sending Borgman to third. On a double steal, Borgman scored as Frankie jockeyed between first and second before being tagged out.

The Black Sox tallied two on four hits in the seventh to make it 11-6.

But the Dutchmen came back for one in the seventh on Van Dorpe's single and two errors.

They capped their busy activities in the eighth, when Woldarczyk screamed a triple to right center and Schrottenboer crashed a line drive to deep center for a home run.

Each team got ten hits. Shortstop Bob Smart led the Black Sox with three hits. Sam Robinson and Jelly Taylor each had two.

Borgman banged two for the Dutchmen.

The cool night kept the crowd down and the prolific run-scoring kept the game going for two hours and 40 minutes.

Doctors' Offices Set Up as Cancer Detection Centers

At a recent meeting of the Ottawa County Medical society, members unanimously voted to adopt the Hillsdale plan for tumor detection.

Under the Hillsdale plan, each doctor's office is set up as a cancer detection center, thus entailing no additional cost for extra office space or special assistants needed for a separate detection center. Further, this plan eliminates the necessity of drawing too heavily on any one physician's time from his routine practice.

The examination procedure is not complicated. The patient makes an office appointment with the physician of his choice, usually his family physician, for the examination which is normally made within a few days, thus eliminating long waiting periods. The patient is examined and the physician's findings are recorded. Should history and examination reveal suspicions or definite evidence of cancer, the patient is so told and arrangements made for further examination. All suspicious cases are studied until cancer is or is not proved. Even though the examination reveals no evidence of tumor, re-examination at six month intervals is advised. This re-examination is particularly important for those past middle life.

Records kept of the examinations are reported to the county health department which will maintain a confidential file for statistical purposes.

The initial fee for examinations is small and only when special laboratory or X-ray examinations are necessary will additional charges be made. For those persons to whom the examination fee is a hardship, loan funds are available from the Ottawa county unit of the American Cancer society.

Statistics released by the Hillsdale County Health department show that in the first 19 months in which the plan has been in operation, 1,950 examinations were made of which 1,547 were original examinations, 324 second examinations and 79 third examinations. Fifty-four cases of cancer were found. Of the 54 cases, 32 were early or only moderately advanced offering probability of cure by treatment.

The Ottawa County unit of the American Cancer society commends the county medical society on the acceptance of the Hillsdale plan for this area and urges everyone to avail themselves of services to be rendered by the participating physicians. This is another step forward in the fight against cancer.

Field Chopper Best in Making Grass Silage

By Karl Vary and Byron Book-out, Agricultural Economists

Nine out of ten Central Michigan farmers harvesting grass silage in 1949 used field choppers equipped. Michigan State college surveys of more than 200 farmers indicated about ten per cent using hay loaders and stationary silo fillers, but they admitted it took more work.

The farmer with the field chopping equipment lowered his harvesting cost about 30 per cent. Cost figures show it cost about $3.34 a ton to put up grass silage with a field chopper and $4.74 a ton with hay loaders and silo fillers. Labor was the big extra cost item.

A small shopper and blower means an investment of about $1,500 and a larger harvester and blower about $2,500. To that cost you must add two or three storage wagons at about $350 each.

Many farmers want to know how much you must use a machine to make it pay. These survey figures show you would need to use a small chopper 75 hours and a large one 125 hours a year to make it worth the investment.

Michigan State college will be host to 250 or more farm managers and rural appraisers from three states June 30 and July 1, according to Karl Vary, MSC agricultural economist and secretary-treasurer of the Michigan Farm Managers and Rural Appraisers association. The tri-state meeting will get underway with registration at Shaw dormitory at 11 a.m. Friday, Ohio, Illinois and Michigan delegates will attend.

The manager and appraisers group will include individual farm operators, educational workers, and others interested in this field as well as men whose major work is in actual farm management or appraising.

Friday's program will feature an address on new developments in research by Dr. C. M. Hardin, MSC experiment station director.

Townships Voted Into Soil District

Clarence Reenders, chairman of the West Ottawa Soil Conservation district directors, says all directors are pleased over results of the June 16 referendum at which time farmers of Polkton, Tallmadge, Georgetown, Jamestown and Zeeland voted to include these townships with the present district.

Hiram Yntema, Forest Grove, polling superintendent, reports a total of 117 votes, all in favor of the inclusion of these townships into the district.

L. R. Arnold, county agricultural agent, a supporter of the district idea, was doubtful after hearing results of the Oceana county referendum June 1. The Oceana farmers voted 900 or more against formation of a district and 700 voted in favor of it.

Local soil conservation workers driving through Oceana county recently, reported a large amount of wind erosion was occurring, Arnold says. In some instances they were unable to see orchard trees because of the dust in the air.

Ottawa people feel a soil conservation district is a democratic institution, according to Arnold. The district program is in charge of the local district board. Arnold feels the formation of a district in 1938 was the most important agricultural step ever taken in the county.
