More Deputies Requested for South Ottawa

County Board Also Considering Branch For Guidance Clinic

Grand Haven (Special) — The Board of Supervisors has taken under advisement two matters—adding more deputies for the south half of the county and establishing a Grand Haven branch for the Muskegon Area Child Guidance Clinic—as the result of its first meeting of the June session Monday.

Discussion on deputies came after a communication, signed by Lester Boeve and more than 100 others in Holland township, petitioned the board for an extra man particularly south of M-50.

Another communication came from Walter Vender Haar, Holland township clerk, who pointed out to $2,500 for the services of another deputy, but the township feels it should get the approval of the county board before proceeding with such arrangements. The township board recommends that supervisors add another deputy at the expense of the county-at-large in view of the fact that cities and townships lying south of M-50 pay 60.26 per cent of the county taxes.

He said the department has only one deputy in the south half whereas there are five men in the northern half in addition to a state police post with 15 men.

All communications were turned over to the county officers' committee to report back at this session.

The question of establishing a Grand Haven branch for the Muskegon Area Child Guidance Clinic was referred to the social welfare committee to report at the October session. The proposed program was explained by Dr. Ralph Ten Have, head of the Ottawa County Health department, and Madeleine Half, director of the Muskegon clinic. The original request came from Ottawa county members of the board of directors of the Muskegon clinic since one-fourth of all children referred to the Muskegon clinic come from Ottawa county and it is certain that many are deterred because of the distance involved.

The Muskegon clinic receives $2,500 from the Muskegon Board of Supervisors, $2,000 from Holland Community Chest and $1,500 from Grand Haven Community Chest. Miss Half said a request has been made to Zeeland, but there has been no response. Although the clinic serves eight counties, the greater number of children come from Ottawa and Muskegon.

Clinic personnel have figured a budget of $7,135 for the new branch. This would be in addition to the $4,000 now paid to the clinic from this county.

The board placed on file a communication from the Ottawa health department approving a revised county sanitation code and a communication from the Ottawa County Farm Union opposing the new code.

A letter from Gov. Williams asking the county to conserve scrap will be acknowledged.

A letter was read from Charles R. Sligh, Jr., of Holland expressing appreciation for the co-operation given the Park township airport.

A report of the ways and means committee recommending the county secure compensation insurance for employees at an annual cost of about $400 was tabled until today.

The buildings and grounds committee reported the county has complied with orders of the state jail inspector by changing the kitchen at a cost of $1,527.94 and fixing a cell block for mentally afflicted people at a cost of $84.24.

Fourth of July Speaker Named

Rep. Patrick J. Hillings of California, youngest U. S. Congressman in Washington, will deliver an address at the July 4 celebration this year at Legion Memorial park, sponsored jointly by the Willard G. Leenhouts post No. 6 and Legion Memorial post No. 188.

The 28-year-old congressman, who represents California's 12th district, is a graduate of the University of Southern California and the university law school. He practiced law in Arcadia, Calif., where his home is located. He is married and has a daughter.

During World War II, Rep. Hillings served three years in the Army and was assigned to duty in the South Pacific with the signal intelligence service. He was elected to the 82nd Congress last November and is a member of the House Judiciary committee and subcommittees on bankruptcy and corporate reorganization and study of monopoly power.

He is a member of Kiwanis, American Legion, VFW, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Knights of Columbus and several law associations.

The evening's program at Legion park will open with a concert by the Holland American Legion band under the direction of Arthur C. Hills. Songs will be sung by the Windmill chorus of the local SPEBSQSA chapter. Rep. Hillings' address will be followed by fireworks. Refreshment stands will be set up as in other years. Dr. William Weststrate is general chairman.

Holwerda Declines Post at Calvin

Raymond Holwerda, principal of Holland Christian high school and local alderman, today announced that he has declined the appointment as field secretary for Calvin college. Holwerda received the appointment from the Calvin board of trustees and was confirmed by the Christian Reformed Synod last Wednesday.

In a letter to the Rev. Richard L. Frens, secretary of the Calvin board, Holwerda said, "Through God's grace, Christian education with Calvin as the present capstone makes our church strong. But just therein lay the dilemma for me—financial agent for Calvin or a teacher in Christian high. However after prayerful consideration the pull of Holland Christian became the stronger and more enduring. Another individual should be more readily found to serve Calvin in the appointed position than to replace one of a not too numerous number of Christian high school teachers."

Holwerda has served the Holland Christian high school as a teacher for 14 years. He has been principal for seven years.

Henry Strabbing Garden Selected This Week

Good landscaping and shrubbery in excellent condition earned Henry J. Strabbing, 306 West 11th St., the honor of having the "Garden of the Week." Members of the Holland Tulip Garden club, who made the selection, pointed out that the use of floribunda roses in the shrubbery border was a good way to get additional color in a border.

Besides a rose bed in the back, there is a flower garden surrounded by a clipped hedge.

The selection committee members found many neat yards on their tours, but not many with much color, they reported.

Nature Trail, Bird Sanctuary Being Developed

Helen and Henry Beach Originate Project In Castle Park Area

A project to develop landscaping along public highways and a parkway and the beginnings of a nature trail and bird sanctuary are well underway in the Castle Park area.

Helen Beach and Henry Beach of Castle Park began work several weeks ago on the project which has been planned with the co-operation of road commissioners. It is hoped by the originators that the plan will stimulate public interest in other communities for similar projects.

Several years ago the road commission gave Miss Beach permission to build steps and landscape a section of property at Castle Park. The area, about 30 by 200 feet, is located on what was formerly the unused end of Cheery Ave. The section now will be a nature trail and bird sanctuary, which, when completed, will be not only beautiful, but educational, according to Miss Beach. She announced that a cash prize is being offered to the individual identifying the greatest number of plants, trees, flowers and birds at the spot.

Local and nearby nursery and seed companies and individuals have contributed and plan to give flowers, plants and shrubs of many kinds, including foreign specimens for the landscaped area which used to be a sandy unattractive hillside.

A "flower brook" has been developed and discarded railroad bridges over the "brook." Rustic effect was given by old logs and tree stumps gathered from the Edward Stielstra and James Tyink farms and the Carter Brown woods.

Individuals who have contributed to the work include Arthur Van Regenmortel, Mrs. Fred J. Pickel of the Holland Tulip Garden club and Mrs. Dalores Bingham, who has property next to the Beach property at Castle Park.

Bird houses and feeding stations have been made by Beach, who also is designing some special observation bird houses so that the birds' nests can be seen in the houses. Many birds already have been spotted using the houses.

Next part of the project will be the placing of railings over the bridges and along the pathways. These will be painted with floral and bird designs by Miss Beach, an artist and illustrator.

The project will be completed by the end of the summer. Miss Beach reported that property owners in the Central Park area also are planning a landscape project. Cottages at Castle Park have co-operated in the beautification plan, according to the originators. William Carter had a colorful landscaped tulip garden along the highway near his yellow cottage and Mrs. Duncan Forbes has a variegated leaf highway garden. Another highway garden is being developed by Mrs. N. S. Earle, whose cottage has been repainted stunning red with white trim. The P. Moore cottage has been painted yellow and the Beach cottage, turquoise blue, to complete a colorful display.

Too Many Fish Bring Fines for Two Men

Grand Haven (Special) — John Miedema, 51, and Edward Huizenga, 50, both of Grand Rapids, arrested by conservation officer Harold Bowditch Monday night for having too many bluegills, appeared before Justice George V. Hoffer on Tuesday. Miedema paid $10 fine and $7.40 costs and Huizenga, because of his antagonistic attitude toward the officer and in court, was fined $20 plus $7.40 costs.

William Bartlett, 38, "Spring Lake, charged with leaving the scene of a property damage accident after striking a parked car belonging to Claude Knoll, last Friday, paid $15 fine and $4.85 costs in Justice T. A. Husted's court Monday afternoon.

Bartlett's car was hooked onto the Knoll car, which he pushed down the road until he shook the bumper loose and continued on.

Judge Collects Fines From Eight Motorists

Eight drivers appeared and paid fines in Municipal Court Tuesday.

Louis Ten Brink, route 2, paid $19.70 fine and costs for leaving the scene of an accident. Andrew Vander Vliet, 854 Central Ave., and Fred J. Pickett, route 4, each paid $12 fines and costs for speeding.

Richard B. Houtman, 201 Howard Ave., paid $10 fine and costs for speeding. Ray Overway, 268 East Ninth St., paid $7 fine and costs for an improperly loaded truck. Marion Driesing, route 1, Zeeland, paid $5 fine and costs for faulty brakes. Ron Hertz, 328 River, paid $5 fine for a defective muffler. Roger Harmon, route 1, Dor, paid $1 parking fine.

The Ray "Tony" Kleinknecht family of 130 Dartmouth Rd. is finally "all together." When twins Rex Alan and Ricky Lee were born April 22 at Holland hospital, they were so tiny they had to remain in the nursery long after their mother went home. Ricky, being held by his mother in the photo, was two pounds and one ounce at birth. He is said to be the smallest baby ever to survive at the local hospital. He had to be fed with an eye dropper. His bigger brother, who weighed four pounds, 4 1/2 ounces at birth, went home three and a half weeks after birth. Ricky stayed until Sunday, when he was nine weeks old. He now weighs five and a half pounds. Rex, shown with his father, now weighs about nine pounds. The twins are doing fine now, according to their parents, who find the pair a "lot of work, but a lot of fun." Mrs. Kleinknecht is the former Hazel Kroil. The twins are the Kleinknechts' first children. (Sentinel photo)

Board Studying Highway Patrol, Other Services

Grand Haven (Special) — The county officers' committee of the Board of Supervisors may possibly make a recommendation Friday in the matter of additional personnel for the sheriff's department.

Maynard Mohr, chairman of the committee, told supervisors Tuesday that his committee would meet with the sheriff and representatives of various areas requesting further service. Holland township voted $2,500 toward an extra deputy, but asked the county board to study the situation before going ahead with such arrangements.

Sheriff Jerry Vanderbeek told the board Tuesday his department was faced with many problems for the summer season. He said complaints on traffic conditions come not only from Holland township but from Borelio, Blendon, Lamont, Tallmadge, Coopersville, Konklins, Nunica and Jamestown, all of which have asked for traffic patrol.

The sheriff said he owns two cars but cannot afford to send them out on patrol work at his own expense. A few years ago he asked an additional $5,000 appropriation for a special deputy for patrol duty but was granted $2,000 toward part-time service. He said he sends his cars out to investigate accidents and also pointed out he has no clerical help in the office to make reports to the state and FBI.

Sheriff Vanderbeek said he wants his employees to be men of experience and his staff consists of all married men who find it difficult to maintain their standard of living under present conditions.

He said Holland township has a definite need for protection. At present there is no patrolling of roads and highways by the sheriff's department. Last year the department paid $1,432 for special deputy work in the Holland vicinity, excluding Officer Clayton Forry's work. A sum of $1,159 was paid to two Zeeland deputies for work in the Zeeland area. This did not include traffic patrol but just covered calls.

Park Township Supervisor Dick Nieuwma suggested the county hire a deputy to be sent to a different area each day. Roy Lowing of Georgetown township which maintains its own special deputy said the county should have at least four deputies, but that the matter should be studied carefully and not decided immediately, perhaps not even in October. He said the board should look ahead and develop the sheriff's department into a modern workable organization to which the county could look to with pride.

The John Flieman gas station on South Shore Dr. was entered sometime Monday night, sheriff's officers said Tuesday. Quantities of cigarettes, candy, motor oil and chewing gum were reported missing. No cash was gone, officers said. Entrance was made by taking out a window frame on the side of the building.

Fennville Cannery Look for Fair Season—Pear Crop Rated Tops

Fennville (Special)—One bright spot in an otherwise "fair" fruit canning season is the 1951 pear crop, according to Fennville canneries. "This years pear crop will be the best ever," according to Frank Fillipe, manager of the Fennville Fruit Exchange and M. C. Hutchinson, president of the Michigan Fruit Canners, Inc.

The quantity may not be increased, but the size and color will be much better, they said. The apple crop was also rated "very good."

Hutchinson called the sweet cherry crop "a near failure" but said the tart cherry crop would be "a little below" last year. The sweet cherry crop will be light while the tarts may reach 70 per cent of last year's output, Fillipe said.

Both men agreed that the peach crop is a complete failure due to the killing frost last Thanksgiving. There will not be any peaches processed at either plant this year.

Michigan Fruit Canners Inc. were finishing up "a normal pack" of asparagus and a "short crop" of strawberries. Both canneries are preparing for the new season, the fruit canners are putting the finishing touches on a large new warehouse to be used for storage purposes.

Fennville Fruit Exchange is completing installation of a large freezing and holding room. It will process frozen cherries in 30, 15 and 10-pound cans this year. The cherries will be distributed to lockers and commercial companies. A huge diffuser, 13 by 8 feet, will keep the temperature at 20 below in the freezing room and at five below in the holding room. Twenty thousands cans can be stored in the two rooms.

A wide conveyor belt will feed the canned cherries direct from the canner into the freezing room. The company expects to process about 25 thousand cans of cherries this year, Fillipe said.

Annual Saugatuck Yacht Race Slated For This Week-End

Saugatuck (Special) — The 31st running of the Chicago to Saugatuck yacht race will start Friday night at Chicago and wind-up some time Saturday in Saugatuck.

Seven classes of yachts will race across Lake Michigan during the night to finish probably early or late Saturday morning, depending upon strength of the wind.

For the windjammers, about 80 yachts are expected to take part. The race is annually the largest on the lake in point of entrants. Last year about 55 yachts crossed the finish line at Saugatuck. The Saugatuck-Douglas Lions club awards the prizes and in the evening will hold a lawn wiener roast for participating sailors.

The Saugatuck Area Sea Scouts, from the S. S. Gallinipper, also will help out at the annual race. They will serve as a floating information bureau, will haul free ice to ice boxes of participating ships, and will serve as water taxi drivers aboard their converted Navy launch.

The Jackson Park yacht club of Chicago sponsors the race.

Five boats from Macatawa Bay Yacht club will participate in the race, according to Mrs. W. S. Merriam. They are the Bel Mer, Hilaria, Bagheera, Whisper IV, and Reverie. Skippers and crews of these boats are as follows:

Allegan County Headed For Two Bad Records

Allegan (Special) — Allegan county appears to be headed toward two new records in 1951, and law enforcement officers are not particularly proud of either one.

With the year half finished, the county already has had 12 traffic deaths, just one less than was reported throughout 1950.

And Sheriff L. A. Johnson also reports that arrests are running about ten per cent ahead of 1949, the previous high year.

Although most of the arrests have been made on run-of-the-mill complaints, Johnson said this year's record was marked with an unusually large number of larceny charges.

11 Persons Injured In Auto Accident At Gordon-120th.

Two Cars Involved From West Olive And Grand Rapids

Eleven persons were injured—two seriously—in a two-car collision last Saturday at the intersection of Gordon St. and 120th Ave., northeast of Holland.

Nine persons were riding in one car and two in the other. The injured were taken to Zeeland and Holland hospitals.

Most seriously injured was George G. Hoag, 24, of 359 Graham St., Grand Rapids. He is in Holland hospital with a possible neck fracture.

Riding with Hoag was John G. Pitt, Jr., 23, of 6030 South Division St., Grand Rapids. He is in Holland hospital with a mild concussion, fractured right shoulder, broken nose, right eye injury and facial cuts.

Driver of the second car was Edmund T. Hyzy, 47, of route 2, West Olive. Riding with him were his wife and three children, and four members of the Edward Bochenek family, route 1, Grand Haven.

Their injuries were listed as follows:

Edmund T. Hyzy, head injuries treated at Zeeland hospital. He was taken to Holland hospital for rays.

His wife, Clara Hyzy, 41, head injuries and two broken teeth, at Zeeland hospital.

Lawrence Hyzy, 8, head injuries, released from Zeeland hospital.

Lucrétia Hyzy, 4, body cuts, released from Zeeland hospital.

Edward Bochenek, Jr., 3, forehead bruise.

All members of the Bochenek family were treated at Holland hospital, and the father and Barbara were not released at noon today.

Both cars were demolished by the crash.

According to investigating deputies Clayton Forry and Nelson Lucas, Hoag was driving west on Gordon St., and Hyzy was headed south on 120th Ave. After the impact at the intersection, the Hoag car crossed the highway southwesterly and collided with a telephone pole, turning the car around and over onto its top in the driveway of a service station.

The Hyzy car ended up on its wheels within three feet of the Hoag car.

Forry and Lucas pointed out that the stop sign on 120th Ave., from the north, had been removed while construction work was going on. It hadn't been replaced, the deputies said, and the sign was found in the grass beside the road.

"I like it here," Betty Bellina, Belgian operatic soprano, (right) tells her aunt, Mrs. E. C. J. Leenaers, after spending a week in Holland. Miss Bellina substituted for Grace Moore after the American singer was killed in a tragic plane crash in the Netherlands in 1947. This is her first visit to America.

American Life Different, But Opera Star Likes It

She was prepared for American skyscrapers, the hurry-scurry of American living, the wide expanses and the heavy traffic . . . but not for that nice simple informal way of living that makes American life what it is.

When Betty Bellina, Belgian opera star, left Holland a few days ago after spending a week with her aunt, Mrs. E. C. J. Leenaers, she carried with her a taste of congenial living and the nice informal habits that Americans have of dropping casually by for a chat and a cup of coffee.

In Belgium where there are perhaps more people per square mile than anywhere else in the world, such informality is unheard of. Nobody would think of dropping by for a chat unless invited. That doesn't mean Europe is inhospitable—it's just that customs are different.

When Grace Moore was killed in a tragic crash in the Netherlands in 1947, Miss Bellina took her place in a series of appearances in Europe and in Johannesburg, South Africa. The new assignment called for several operatic roles to be sung in English and the Belgian lyric soprano spent close to five hours a day practicing English before the mirror—practice which stood her in good stead when she made her first visit to America this summer.

While in Johannesburg, she appeared in a gala performance April 1, 1947, for the king and queen of England and the royal princesses. For her part in the program she sang selections from I Pagliacci, Tales of Hoffman and La Boheme.

Miss Bellina is one of three European sopranos able to sing the soprano of different roles as a lyric soprano. Of all the roles she has sung, she likes the lead in Tosca best.

When informed her aunt lived in a wooden house, the opera singer was a bit shocked. In Belgium, only the very poor live in wooden houses which usually resemble temporary army barracks. But in Holland she found the Leenaers home attractive and comfortable, and was fascinated by modern appliances such as stoves which can be set with an alarm clock and start and stop automatically while people are away.

Serving coffee with meals was another surprise since in Belgium coffee is served only after the dessert. As for water glasses on the table . . . that's unheard of in Belgium where people drink only bottled water and use that sparingly.

"Life is different, the food is different, but I like it here and I hope to come back," the singer said. She is sailing in July for Europe and will resume her operatic-radio career in the fall.

Three Home Runs Help Pelon Win; Central Triumphs

Three home runs, two by Harry DeNeff, helped Pelon Sunoco win and jump into sole ownership of third place in the city softball league Friday night. But an hour later Sunoco was slumped back into a tie for third when Central Avenue also won its game.

Pelon staved off a late rally by the Holland Furnace softballers in the first game at Third street Friday, and won 6-5. In the second game, Central Avenue downed the Vets, 7-2.

Pelon got three runs in the first and two in the third inning to establish a 5-1 lead over Furnace that lasted until the sixth inning. Then Furnace pushed three runs home and brought the score up to 6-4, Sunoco having added one tally in the top of the sixth.

In the bottom of the seventh, Furnace got a run home and had the tying run on base before the final out gave the victory to Pelon.

DeNeff's two homers and a single were tops for Pelon's batting honors. Ken Matchinsky clubbed two singles while Vern Vande Water, Will DeNeff, and Jim Bagladi each got singles.

For Furnace, Case Veldman, Pelon pitcher, doled out only four hits, one a double by John Tjalma. Hitting singles were Wally Kruijthoff, Wally Hasty, and Bill Franks.

In the second game, Central set up a four-run lead in the first and third innings that was sufficient to win, but added three more in the fourth just to make sure.

For the Vets—who hit safely in every inning but the fifth—it was a case of scattered power that bore only two-run fruit. Don Van Duren got two singles to lead his team, with Gabby Cramer, Dick Millman, Larry Tibbitts, and Jerry Sandahl each getting singles.

Vern Beelen and Butts Kool paced Central Avenue, each with two hits, one of Kool's being a double. Lou Alden swatted a double and Ted Schreier and Don Ver Beek also hit singles for Central.

Standings at the conclusion of the fifth week of play in city softball shows Barber Ford maintaining its firm grip on first place. The standings:

Rev. Newhouse Returns From Nigerian Mission

"Nigeria is making progress toward becoming a modern civilization," the Rev. Harry Newhouse, recently returned missionary, said today.

Rev. Newhouse pointed out that rapid strides are being made in the southern portion of the country toward education and economic strength.

The northern portion of the British protectorate is still hampered by outmoded customs that slow the spread of civilization, he said, although some progress also has been made there.

Education, for example, is now compulsory, and schools have sprung up all over the country, although most are centered in the south.

The country's economy centers around farming, tin mining, cocoa, timber production, and hide production. Largest operation carried on in the northern plateau is tin mining, with the other productions, being scattered through the south.

Construction in the country consists mostly of mud or cement block with roofs either of galvanized tin or grass. Wood is almost universally not used because termite armies are so prevalent.

About nine million persons live in the little country. Rev. Newhouse said, with about half being Moslem and the remainder Christian or pagan.

The Rev. and Mrs. Newhouse arrived in Holland Monday after serving four years with the Sudan Interior Mission. The couple, with their seven-year-old daughter, Myrna Ann, first went to Nigeria in 1941. They returned to Holland in 1946 for their first leave from the mission, and returned shortly afterward to continue with their second term, now completed.

Rev. Newhouse, supported by Immanuel church of Holland, graduated from high school here before taking up study at the Moody Bible Institute in Chicago.

The Newhouses are staying with Mrs. Newhouses parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Kleis, 144 East 14th St. Their furlough is for one year. Rev. Newhouse will speak at the Sunday evening service of Immanuel church at 7:30 p.m.

Supervisors Told Allegan Might Return to Deficit

State Equalization Board Says County Figure Figured Low

Allegan (Special) — Allegan county's Board of Supervisors got two gentle warnings that they might be returning to last year's deficit financing when they convened Monday for their traditionally light June session.

In a communication from the state board of equalization, the board was told that the county had been equalized—for state purposes—at a valuation of $91,400,000. This amounted to a little more than seven-tenths of one percent of the entire state's valuation.

The state board indicated that it felt the county's equalized value of $65 million—approved by the board in April—was a might low.

The state-set equalization has little effect on county funds, although it is taken into consideration when state aid for schools is distributed. One county official pointed out that—under the school aid distribution formula—county schools might lose out because of the wide differential between the county-set and state-set equalizations.

State Sen. Edward Hutchinson, Fennville, talked to the board Monday, reporting on recent legislation. He, too, issued a gentle warning, urging the board to keep tax assessments as near level as possible. In the past few years, county assessments have fluctuated widely, reflecting the county's financial condition. Hutchinson admitted that most rural counties in Michigan were broke, or nearly so.

Among the more than 20 communications received by the board Monday was a report from the tax allocation board, confirming the county's mill share of the $503,750 normal property tax for the coming fiscal year.

Oilmen Watching Dunningville Field

Allegan (Special)—A possible extension of the Dunningville field is being watched closely by area oilmen.

Clyde B. Miller, Allegan producer, is starting to drill an offset to a well brought in June 9 which is proving to be one of the best in this area in recent years.

Geologists said the well, in section 27, Heath township, flowed at the rate of about 25 barrels an hour, immediately after acidization. They noted especially the added presence of gas pressure which has been absent from most area wells in the past few years.

Since acidization, the well, located on a farm recently purchased by August Bast, another oil man, has been "pinched in" to produce about 200 barrels a day.

Miller is in partnership with P. A. Degenther, Grand Rapids, in exploring the area. The producing well was discovered after four wells came in dry. It is located between two dry holes.

Piles of Dead Fish in Lake Allegan Stump State Conservation Officers

Allegan (Special) — Thousands of dead suckers bobbed through Lake Allegan and piled up against the municipal dam Thursday.

Conservation warden Harry Plotts and other conservation officers inspected the shore lined with dead fish and pondered the cause.

They counted dead fish going through the dam at the rate of 36 a minute late Thursday morning. The floating suckers were first noted at 9 p.m. Wednesday and continued all night.

Ralph S. Marks, regional fisheries supervisor, department of conservation, Jackson, said he believed Tuesday's heavy rainfall caused the heavy fish kill.

"The river was low from an extended drought," he said. "Apparently the rain literally turned the river upside down, driving the sludge to the surface and decreasing the oxygen content tremendously. The condition was the worst in Lake Allegan because the heavy deposits upstream were forced down."

Carp in the river seemed to escape. Some bluegills and bullheads were found among the piles of dead fish. Workers at the dam scraped the carcasses off the bars across to prevent damage to the hydro-electric plant.

Mamon, 162 North River, paid $5 for driving with an expired license. One dollar parking fines were paid by Florence Orlert, 56 West 16th St., and Eleanor Race of Holland.

STUDY OF GEOGRAPHY

Results of a nationwide survey
of college students by the New York Times indicate a surprising
extent of ignorance of geography
of the United States and the world. Slightly more than forty-five per cent of those questioned
were able to give the approximate
population of the United States;
only about seventeen per cent
knew how many people live in the Soviet Union.

Questions as to the principal exports and imports of the nations
of the world received even fewer correct answers. At a period in history when nations are becoming more and more interrelated
through trade and mutual need
this lack of geographic knowledge
among college students is alarming. Most of the world problems
which call for understanding and
solution are the result of geographic or economic factors or
are influenced by them.

To place all the blame on our educational systems for this lack of interest in the make-up of the world would be oversimplification.
Geography is one of the first subjects taught in school and all colleges have advanced courses in this study. It may be that a lack of emphasis on the related subjects has led to this neglect of geography.

It is the job of the schools to motivate learning. The mere facts
taught in the classroom are easily
forgotten unless a desire to retain them and to add to them becomes ingrained in the student.
Educators might do well to point
out more often and more force-
fully the permanent importance
and the special timely significance
of the study of geography. The world geographies and maps, create a serious problem for the publishers and map makers due to the changing world conditions and boundaries. One only needs to do
a little studying of geographies
and maps. If you are of the wanderlust frame of mind and travel
outside your own back yard,
viewing the beauties of your own
state or nation you will understand how little you know. Our observations have taught us that travel is a great teacher, also
that it is nice to know the answers when people ask questions
about our great state and nation.
People in other countries know more about us than we. Let's start a movement for more geography.

Lesson

The Worth of the Individual
Matthew 8:1-4; 18:1-6; 12:9-13
July 1, 1951

By Henry Geerlings

It is not easy to place everything with which we deal and of which we think where it belongs.
There are so many items to be classified. Some of them are of little importance, others are of considerable importance, while others
are of vast importance. The individual who can place all his interests under these three departments and get them right has made a good start.

It is when we become confused
in our thinking and substitute
some items of little importance
for those of the greatest importance that we are making shipwreck of life. We shall have to confess that we allow our hearts to be weaved themselves about interests that are of almost no importance at all, while we give next to
no thought to the things that
should be counted majors in every regulated life.

Earthly treasures perish. They are perishing, while we look at them. Try to keep a garment over a season and the moths will battle with you for possession of it.
A friend pushed several thousand dollars in government bonds into
a safe before going home one night. When he returned to the office next morning he found
thieves had been there, had blown
open the safe and the bonds were gone. Well may riches be represented as having wings. And yet
what a mad rush these days for earthly treasures.

Heavenly treasures abide. What are they? They are love shown,
faith exercised, kindness done,
mercy displayed, those fruits of the Spirit which all of us may grow. These treasures are more than the records of our labors;
they are labors themselves. For these treasures are more than
things. They are chastened spirits, purified souls, blameless characters, love with all admixture of selfishness gone.

Worrying and fretting never increased one's wardrobe, pantry or bank account. We say that we can not help it. The future is so uncertain. The answer is, we are to learn to trust our heavenly Father.
He cares for us and He wants us to be free from care. We can cast all our cares upon him. He cares for us. If God is good enough
to give us the larger blessings,
he will not also add the smaller
ones?

The life is more than the food
which sustains it, and God has given us our life. The body is more than the raiment that covers it,
and God has given us our bodies.
Is it reasonable to suppose that
He who bestows on us the better
gifts will withhold those that are less valuable? God is not like that.
He knows we have need of these things. Of course He did not mean that we should not make provision for the future. Many persons have come to want because they lived
up to every cent they made, and
lived in luxury when they should have been laying something by for the rainy day. Foresight is consistent with trust.

One way God has of caring for us is in helping us to care for ourselves. Barns are of some value,
and certainly good harvests are.
They are the gifts of God. But we would not say that they are the best gifts. They belong to the things of minor value. That is where God places them. It is when they usurp the place of gifts of larger value that they cheat us of the best. He is wise who can choose between the good and the best. We would not say that food is of equal worth with the life. Indeed Jesus said it was not. It would hardly be possible for us
to make a greater mistake than
to live to gather food while we neglect the life. The difference between us is that some select the
lesser things of life and live for them while others are careful to choose what they are sure is most worthwhile and live for it.

Jesus bluntly told some men one
day that they had no life in them.
On that occasion He said
He had come into the world to offer the abundant life. He could provide them with that rich gift.
Other teachers have said the same thing but they were not able to fulfill their promise. Life that removes death; life that has in it
no weariness; life that overcomes
all its enemies; life that is strong,
sure endless—that may be ours.

Christ might have concerned
himself with many things during the brief course of His ministry but in a very real sense He did not. There was but one primary concern that found expression in
His words and deeds from the day
He began His public ministry until the day of his ascension.
namely His concern for the total welfare of man. Not once do we behold Him engaged in a selfish act or spoken word. Always His words and deeds have to do with
the welfare of others.

Dr. John A. Lapp of Chicago, is a veteran Macatawa resort. One week ago Dr. Lapp was honored for his contribution to education, civil liberties, social justice and democracy in general at a banquet in Chicago. While at his Macatawa summer home Dr. Lapp spends a good deal of his time reading. He has one-third of his library at the summer home. Dr. Lapp is an ardent follower of the ideas and writings of Thomas Jefferson and manages to read at least a little bit of Jefferson's writings daily. (Sentinel photo)

Prominent Chicago Man
Relaxes at Summer Home

Dr. John A. Lapp relaxed last week-end at his Macatawa summer home that fronts on Lake Michigan—just like he has done
for week-ends during the last 25
summers.

However, friends who called at the Lapp home during this last week-end could detect a proud
"well-done" look in the white-haired Chicagoan's eyes.

It was just a week ago Monday
night when national leaders along with more than 500 city of Chicago and state of Illinois civic
and business leaders gathered in the grand ballroom of the Hotel Sherman to honor this distinguished leader for a "lifetime of unselfish public service rendered as a volunteer citizen."

And it was an affair without precedent in Chicago's history—the whole event was spontaneous
and the sponsoring committee
listed such outstanding personages
as Gov. Adlai Stevenson, U. S.
Sen. Paul H. Douglas, Mayor Martin Kennedy, clergymen, representatives of all races, six judges
and many legislators.

Why were they honoring Dr.
Lapp?
Because of his lifetime of work
and devotion to the common good
and his work in furthering democracy, academic freedom and his
militant fight against reaction
and greed.

Besides "well-wishes" from
those assembled in the swank ballroom, hundreds of tributes and
testimonials poured in from over the nation. William, AFL chief;
Philip Murray, head of the CIO;
John R. Steelman, presidential
assistant; Al Hayes of the machinists union, and many others were
among those who sent greetings.

Although Gov. Stevenson and Sen. Douglas could not attend in person, each sent a personal representative with a word of praise
for Dr. Lapp.
Dr. Lapp's career started in Indiana in the early part of the century when he was advisor to four governors, including Tom Marshall, who later became vice president of the United States.

From there he moved to Ohio
where he headed a group studying
social insurance and made inquiry
into health and old-age pensions.
His next move was to Chicago
where as a social research specialist, he made surveys of social agency financing. This study led to formation of the Community Chest in Chicago.

He led a big fight in Chicago
that caused an upheaval in the schools. His work resulted in pulling the schools out of the political throes of the old Kelly-Nash
machine and reforming the Chicago school system.

From there, the 69-year-old president of the Chicago Citizens schools committee, whittled
out a career studded with public service. He has been appointed for special jobs by three presidents—
Woodrow Wilson, Franklin D.
Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman.
President Wilson named Dr.
Lapp to a federal committee on vocational education that led to the Smith-Hughes act in 1917.

Both President Truman and President Roosevelt have called on Dr. Lapp on many occasions to serve on emergency boards during labor disputes.

Between times, Dr. Lapp found time to write at least 20 books on social and economic problems. He also has written several civics
textbooks and a series of 275
monographs called "careers."

Dr. Lapp has done work in all but two of the 48 states and talked in at least 42 of the 48.

Dr. Lapp also has served as a labor mediator and as a neutral
arbitrator in labor disputes since 1936.

He is a champion of freedom of
press, speech and opinion.

Dr. Lapp has been in Who's Who for the last 40 years.

In thanking the guests at the testimonial banquet, Dr. Lapp
assured them that insofar as he may be considered an "old soldier," he had absolutely no intention of beginning to "fade away."
Perhaps the proudest persons
at the banquet were Dr. Lapp's daughters, Mrs. David F. Hess and Mrs. Frank Johnson, who flanked
their father at the speaker's table.

Mr. and Mrs. Hess and their daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Johnson and their daughter, spend summers at the Lapp home on Lake Michigan.

As for himself, Dr. Lapp is delighted with the Holland area.
"I think Holland is one of the finest communities that I ever saw," he said.

As a climax to one of the biggest weeks in his career, Dr. Lapp
was presented a copy of Dunbar Trade school yearbook which was dedicated to him. Dunbar, located in Chicago, is the largest Negro vocational school in the United States.

Washington — While the U. S.
hopes almost against hope—and
prepares for any eventuality—a
tremendous submarine move to
keep this country at peace is now
proceeding. With what is believed
to be the secretly tacit, but wholly
informal sanction of this government, the move today had developed along three lines, namely:
First, efforts of neutrals, con-
fined now to almost all neutrals
excepting the United States, to
have a conference called at Mad-
rid with a view to confining the
war to its present limits and if
possible to get secret or public assurance from Germany that al-
though she does not rescind her
"barred zone" decree, she will not
harm American or other neutral
rights. Second, an effort by this government to avoid a break with Austria, and third, the expected
efforts of German Ambassador
von Bernstorff to preserve peace
after he reaches Berlin, provided, of course, the "overt act" has
not been committed by Germany
by that time.

Holland
In 1916

(Following is the 513th in the series of weekly articles taken
from news of the Holland Daily Sentinel published more than 35
years ago.)

P-E-P—The first "P" stands
for push; "E" for enthusiasm and
the second "P" for perseverance.
That was the keynote of the meeting attended by 40 boosters
last evening when they sat down
to an oyster supper at Hotel Cafe,
according to a story appearing in the Wednesday, Feb. 7, issue of the Holland Daily Sentinel published in 1917. William J. Olive,
whose side was the loser in the
soliciting of members for the reorganized Chamber of Commerce,
was toastmaster for the evening.

A missionary conference for the college students of Michigan is to be held again this year in Ann Arbor, Feb. 23 to 25. Delegate
committee members in this city
are Miss Amelia Menning of Hope college and J. C. Van Wyck of the Western Theological seminary. Both will leave America next fall for the foreign mission field, receiving their appointments in the near future.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Veldheer, Fairbanks Ave., a daughter.

Allegan, it is said, will install
a boulevard lighting system on its street. A joint meeting of the city council and the board of public works was held for that purpose
at which members of the Consumers Power Co. were also present.

Asking the city for $450 less
than last year, the superintendent
of the Board of Public Works, R.
B. Champion, last night for the board read the amount requested
for the department in the new appropriation bill, to be submitted
for the approval of the city fathers in March, began a story in the Thursday, Feb. 3, issue. The total of the estimate this year is $11,857. With the aid of bond issues for particular improvements,
the water department should be self supporting from now on, is
the claim of Peter Bruise, clerk of the board. It is now possible to put the water department on almost the same basis as the light
department so far as finances are concerned.

Bruno Miller, a former Holland
boy, now a member of the faculty of the Ryan high school at Ryan, Okla., is spoken of highly by the Ryan leader. He is director of mathematics, German and manual training. The manual training department is a new venture for the Ryan school and is "making good." The school has just had an addition made beyond its $40,000 high school. The town
has a population of only 2,500.
Miller secured his A. B. degree
at Hope, had three months of teaching experience in mathematics and was manager of athletics
at Hope for two years.

One of Holland's citizens officiated in a very honorable position, and because of his modesty
it has taken all this time for the report to reach Holland from Washington. The fact of the matter is that J. J. Windemulder, mid-shipman of the U. S. S. Mayflower, President Wilson's private yacht, was one of six men
who carried the metal coffin that contained the body of Admiral George Dewey down the capitol
steps and lifted it tenderly upon
the caisson draped with American flags. Mr. Windemulder with the other escorts followed the body to the National cemetery, where
they placed it in a mausoleum,
made to receive what was left of the great naval hero.

Hope college basketballers lost the first game of the season on the home court Wednesday evening
when they bowed to the fast
Kalamazoo college aggregation
for a count of 33 to 14, the lowest score made by the Hope men this season.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. John
Vaupell at Edgewater hospital,
Wednesday, a girl.

Wednesday night a large number of the members of the Woman's Literary club with their guests, their husbands and friends, assembled for the annual
"Birthday" celebration, the date
being the anniversary of the formal opening of the club house. The program consisted of a greeting
by the president; music by Mrs.
Robbins, Mrs. Hoffman and Miss Ruth Keppel, and an address by Mr. Diekmann.

Washington — While the U. S.
hopes almost against hope—and
prepares for any eventuality—a
tremendous submarine move to
keep this country at peace is now
proceeding. With what is believed
to be the secretly tacit, but wholly
informal sanction of this government, the move today had de-
veloped along three lines, namely:
First, efforts of neutrals, con-
fined now to almost all neutrals
excepting the United States, to
have a conference called at Mad-
rid with a view to confining the
war to its present limits and if
possible to get secret or public as-
surance from Germany that al-
though she does not rescind her
"barred zone" decree, she will not
harm American or other neutral
rights. Second, an effort by this
government to avoid a break with Austria, and third, the expected
efforts of German Ambassador
von Bernstorff to preserve peace
after he reaches Berlin, provid-
ed, of course, the "overt act" has
not been committed by Germany
by that time.

County School Census Tabulation Completed

Grand Haven (Special) — The county education office reports the completion of the 1951 annual school census tabulation. The complete census is 12,742, with 6,682 boys and 6,060 girls. This is a gain of 511 children over the 1950 census. Eighty-eight districts show gain in their census and 31 show losses.

The New Groningen school in Holland township showed a 25 per cent increase. They expect to complete a new building which will be ready for use in the fall. The largest age group are the seven-year-olds, totaling 1,084 children.

The pre-school census was 6,150 — 3,179 boys and 2,971 girls. This was an increase of 489 children over the 1950 census. The largest age group was the three-year-old, totaling 1,240 children.

Don Lubbers Sails For Yugoslavia

Don Lubbers, son of Dr. and Mrs. Irwin J. Lubbers, sails from Montreal, Canada, for Yugoslavia today. He will spend the summer there under the auspices of the Experiment in International Living. Lubbers is Holland's community "Ambassador."

He has completed two years at Hope college, and is one of 410 young people from 37 states of the United States who will follow the experiment's plan of living during the first month of the summer in the home of a foreign family, where there is a member his own age, and the second month exploring the scenic and cultural points of importance of the country.

This is the first time in the 20-year history of the experiment, that a group has been sent to Yugoslavia. Thirteen countries of Europe, Brazil, Colombia and Mexico will open their home to these Americans, whose ages range from 16 to 30.

Purpose of these persons going to the countries is to make friends and thus foster better international understanding at the personal level. They talk the language of the country they visit and are treated as members of their adopted families rather than as guests.

While abroad, Lubbers will report his experiences through The Sentinel and, upon his return will speak to local gatherings.

Waives Examination

Douglas John Gordon, 27, of 34 West 17th St., waived examination in Municipal Court Saturday on a morals charge. He was bound over to circuit court to appear July 9. Gordon was taken to the county jail in Grand Haven when the $1,000 bond was not furnished. The charge placed against him was attempting to procure the commission of an act of gross indecency. He is not the Douglas Gordon who lives at 259 West 16th St.

HANDLE BLOAT

One of the best ways to handle the bloat problem with dairy cows on pasture is to provide a rack of dry hay or straw for the animals. If placed near the watering or resting place, Michigan State college dairymen say cows will consume the hay, which need not be of best quality.

There are an estimated 23,000 individual stones in the Washington Monument.

Church services for all denominations in the morning will start the special Michigan day. These will be followed by visits with the children in their homes, visits to the baby village and model dairy farm.

Other special attractions include the newly completed House of God, cadet drills and many other events sponsored by the supreme lodge.

There are more than 1,100 children at Mooseheart, including 57 from Michigan and three of those are from Holland.

"We urge that as many of our members take advantage of this special event and see just what a worthwhile project this Mooseheart is," said Henry Streur, of the Holland lodge.

Local Man Signs As Guam Teacher

Harry Steffens, Jr., has arrived in Holland from Honolulu. Steffens has signed a new contract and will teach the next two years in a government school on the island of Guam.

Guam is under supervision of the Interior department, with a civilian governor. Previously the Navy had charge of Guam. The school at which Steffens will teach is located in Agaña. It is called George Washington high school, the only high school on the island. Steffens will teach mathematics.

During the last four years he has been teaching social science at the Kamehameha school for boys on the island of Oahu. This is a private school for Hawaiian children, equivalent to 12 grades in American schools.

In the new school, Steffens will be teaching children of Navy personnel and native children. Next summer, he plans to teach English to natives who are teachers in elementary schools.

This summer he is attending Western Michigan college at Kalamazoo.

Steffens will leave Holland on Aug. 11, and will leave California Aug. 15.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Steffens of 259 West 18th St.

Local GI En Route Home After Duty On Korean Fronts

After 10 months in the Korean fighting areas, Sgt. Donald W. Ailiff of Holland has left his unit, the 31st Infantry regiment, to be rotated to the United States.

Ailiff's wife, Mrs. Hester June Ailiff, lives at 24 West Third St. She received a letter last week saying that Sgt. Ailiff was en route to Tokyo for transportation to the United States.

When he arrives, Sgt. Ailiff will see his second child for the first time. He has been in Korea since August, 1950, and the baby was born April 2, 1951. Their first child will be two years old in July.

The Holland soldier is expected home about July 10.

As a member of the 31st Infantry regiment, Sgt. Ailiff traveled from Pusan to the Chosin Reservoir, made amphibious landings on both coasts of Korea and in his most recent action fought with United Nations forces on the central front.

Mrs. Ailiff said that her husband wrote that UN forces usually were outnumbered 20-1, and the men always were hungry for fresh meat.

In speaking of the 31st, Gen. James Van Fleet, Eighth Army commander, said, "Words fail to describe your greatness. Your initiative, ability and courage are unequalled."

Sgt. Ailiff, who wears the combat infantryman badge, entered service Nov. 5, 1948.

Mrs. Etta Fox

Early Settler Of Holland Area Succumbs at 107

Word has been received here of the death of Mrs. Etta Fox, said to be 107 years old, which occurred April 30 in Millville, Fla., where she had been living 63 years since leaving Holland, Mich.

Mrs. Fox is believed to be one of the first white children born in this area before Holland was founded as a colony. There is doubt as to her exact age and birth certificates are unobtainable.

A member of the Kruisenga family, Mrs. Fox leaves several relatives in Holland. They include two nieces, Florence Vanden Brink and Anna Kruisenga who reside at 231 Central Ave. and Harry Nies, route 4. The latter and his brother, the late Ray Nies, visited "Aunt Et" in Florida in 1947 and celebrated the event by taking the still spry little old lady to dinner.

At that time Ray Nies found a faded penciled record in Mrs. Fox's Bible which he believed read Mrs. Fox's birth in 1851. Such figuring would place her age at 100 years, but Mrs. Fox stoutly held at the time she was 103 years old.

After living in Holland for several years, the family moved to the now buried city of Singapore where the father worked as an engineer. In 1880 Mrs. Fox and her husband took off by prairie schooner for Nebraska and staked a farming claim. That year grasshoppers ate everything green, even the shovel handles, and the family boarded its prairie schooner for Florida to be among the first settlers in Panama City.

A favorite tale of Mrs. Fox was one about a stranger who stopped for wood in the Nebraska cabin while her husband had gone to a nearby town for supplies. After eating his fill of boiled eggs and other food, the stranger demanded a shiny new pail full of eggs to take with him. Mrs. Fox firmly refused since she needed the pail for milking and harsh demands led to harsher refusals. Finally the stranger left with the eggs in an old sugar sack. As he was leaving he dropped a $20 gold piece for his hostess's hospitality.

When her husband returned, Mrs. Fox learned there was great excitement in the village where the sheriff and a large posse was searching for a dangerous desperado whose description strangely fitted that of Mrs. Fox's visitor. He was Frank James, notorious brother of the even more famous Jesse James.

The aged woman is survived by three daughters, four sons, 32 grandchildren, 44 great grandchildren and two great-great grandchildren.

Arnold Reports On Quack Grass

Farmers are continually inquiring about easy methods of eradication. Apparently there is no easy way. At the present moment the best and most economical way to get rid of this grass is through summer fallowing.

Just as soon as the hay is removed, start working the field with a field cultivator. The grass is weakest at this particular time and the weather usually warm and dry. By working the field first in one direction, then the other way about, a week between cultivations, the roots and stems are brought to the surface.

The dead material should be left in the field to supply organic matter. About Aug. 15, plant fall rye using plenty of fertilizer up to 300 or 400 pounds per acre.

The rye can be used for fall and spring pasture, then turned under for a green manure crop.

The important thing is to keep the quack from shooting leaves above the ground. Through elimination of these leaves, any quack roots left will be greatly weakened. The rye then grabs off the feed from these weakened roots. Freezing weather can then kill off any weakened roots left.

Student Swimmers Have to Enroll, Joe Moran Says

Holland's swimming program for boys and girls won't get underway until July 9, but already hundreds of youngsters have indicated a desire to participate.

Joe Moran, recreation department director, said he's been swamped with calls, as has Beth Marcus of the Red Cross. The Red Cross, the Recreation department, and the Board of Education are sponsoring the program.

But Moran warned that many youngsters are under the mistaken impression that the pre-enrollment questionnaire distributed in schools earlier this month entitles the prospective swimmer to instruction.

Moran said only those who hold bus cards and have completed regular enrollment will be entitled to swim under the program.

Anyone wishing to join the group now must get a bus card at his office in Froebel school.

Most of the heavy enrollment is in the "beginners-only" class. The group will be divided into four sections and will leave Froebel school each day after July 9 at hourly intervals, starting at 12:30 p.m.

The Red Cross has arranged to have five life guards at the Port Sheldon instruction area. The first section of the program will run from July 9 to Aug. 6. The second section will run from Aug. 6 until Aug. 17, and will be primarily for intermediate and junior life saving swim classes.

The minimum age limit for swimmers has been set at 10 years. Moran said there was too much danger involved in trying to teach large classes of children under 10 years.

'No Cause for Action' In Sidewalk Fall Case

Allegan (Special) — Circuit Judge Raymond L. Smith has ruled "no cause for action" in the $1,000 suit for damages filed by Mrs. Eleanor Hunter against the city of Allegan. Mrs. Hunter's case, heard in court by Judge Smith three weeks ago, was one of several brought against the city as a result of sidewalk falls and resulting injuries.

Since the "wave of damage suits" the city has taken two steps to eliminate repetition. Early this year, the council took out a comprehensive liability insurance policy, covering cases of this kind.

Library Adventures

By Arnold Mulder

A professional scholar turning novelist in middle life is a very rare phenomenon, so rare that it may almost be called unique. But that is what John Erskine did; Erskine died the other day at the age of 71.

Until he was 45 Erskine was completely unknown to the general public. By that time he had won a reputation in the world of professional scholarship, as a professor of English literature at Columbia university. Professors knew him and respected him as a genuine scholar, one who placed the emphasis on classical literature.

As a side issue, Erskine had by that time also won something of a reputation as a professional musician, but of course that did not make him widely known to the general public.

In 1925 he conceived the idea of doing a novel that would put into modern fiction a story that was at least 2,500 years old. He wanted to tell the story of the elopement of Helen of Troy in such a way that the average novel reader of the Twentieth century would read it as he would a contemporary story. The result was "The Private Life of Helen of Troy," a book that made Erskine famous.

Scholarship of the professional kind that professors dote on usually unfits a man for writing a novel that the people will want to read. Since he had been a professional scholar for many years, Erskine might have been expected to produce a book heavy with learning, one that would appeal only to persons very much like himself.

That is almost the result when a scholar ventures out into the familiar field of the novel.

But "The Private Life of Helen of Troy" was anything but ponderous either in length or in substance. As might have been expected, many professional scholars damned Erskine as a traitor to his craft. But he could afford to take such accusations lightly; the book brought him more renown, and incidentally many more dollars, than any work of professional scholarship would have brought him.

The touch of flippancy in the title gives a hint of the book's general character. An Erskine saw Helen of Troy, that young lady was very much like an American flapper of the twenties, the type of girl described in those days as "beautiful but dumb." And not so dumb, at that. More like the type of girl who, during that decade became famous as the protagonist of a book like "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes."

In any event Helen of Troy, as Erskine saw her, was not the sacrosanct figure that scholars had always insisted on making her. She was a somewhat flighty young girl who could best be understood in comparison with her type of the present day. Homer had actually portrayed her as such, but Homer's very human story had been so overlaid with professional scholarship that the scholars had been deceived by their own footnotes and commentaries. Erskine merely attempted to bring out the lines of the original portrait.

The novel reading public of the twenties took to the experiment with avidity. The reader bought the book by the hundreds of thousands, and that of course was pleasant news to a professional scholar who had been living until then on the modest income of a college professor.

Since his scheme had succeeded, Erskine tried the same recipe on other famous classical and semi-classical stories. He drew on the Arthurian legend, among others, but he never again made the smash hit that the Helen book achieved.

FARM CLEAN-UP

Iron and steel scrap is needed once again to keep the nation's steel mills rolling at full capacity. A clean-up program around the farm will help rid the farm of unsightly and needless materials, provide some extra income and help keep the mills turning out steel for new farm equipment.

Shakespeare's shortest play is Macbeth.

No Easy Task To Control Flies

Grand Haven (Special)—Fly control on the farm is no easy task. Sanitation and use of recommended sprays will do a good job. Sanitation means getting rid of breeding places such as manure heaps, damp areas, etc. A good cleaning job is the first essential.

L. R. Arnold, county agricultural agent, states that entomologists recommend use of lindane or methoxychlor in the barn. There is a regulation prohibiting the use of DDT in the barn.

Ray Janes, Michigan State college specialist, recommends 10 pounds of 25 per cent wettable lindane powder or 40 pounds of 50 per cent wettable methoxychlor powder in 100 gallons of water. It should be applied in a course spray but not in quantities that will run off the walls. Care should be taken not to spray feeds, watering cups or mangers.

DDT may be used to treat outside walls or for pig pens. Apply at rate of 40 pounds of 50 per cent wettable DDT powder in 100 gallons of water.

Chlordane at rate of 16 pounds of 50 per cent wettable powder for 100 gallons of water may also be used.

Janes remarks that most farmers find lindane a bit more satisfactory than methoxychlor for inside use.

Certain Carriers Must Be Licensed

Holland police, Ottawa county sheriff's officers and the Holland license bureau issued a warning today that any vehicle used commercially must be licensed regardless of body style.

According to Al Dyk of the Holland license bureau, the vehicle must be used for the purpose for which it was designed. A passenger car must be used to transport passengers and not commercial products. While trucks, pickup, panel and the like are to be used for commercial use, and must be licensed as such.

A station wagon, is classed as a passenger car, and must have passenger plates, and if any transporting of commercial products is carried on a commercial license must be obtained.

The same is true of passenger cars used for any type commercial use. Dyk said that if a person is using his car for commercial use and has passenger plates he may turn in the passenger plates and receive full credit on them, toward purchase of the commercial plates.

Chief of Police Jacob Van Hoff said today that officers have been warning persons who are not observing the law. He said that arrests would be made if the violations continue.

Ottawa county Sheriff Gerald Vanderbeek joined local officers in the warning, and said the same rulings would be rigidly enforced on county roads.

Tulip Bulb Threat Believed Ended

Kalamazoo—The controversial and mysterious thrip and tulip aphid on Kalamazoo bulb farms have been wiped out, according to farm owners John Nieuwenhuis and Louis Gerstner who started a wave of controversy more than a week ago when they claimed two new parasites had invaded bulb fields near Parchment.

Four days after a Piper cub had roared over the tulip rows dropping a five per cent DDT dust, not a trace of the minute insects was to be found, according to Nieuwenhuis. The control method, according to the bulb grower, probably marked the first time a plane had ever dusted a tulip crop.

"There isn't any kind of an insect left on the plants. We can't find a live thrip anywhere," Nieuwenhuis said.

The two local men still stick by their guns that the two insects are new, despite claims of the state agricultural department. C. A. Boyer, head of the department's bureau of plant industry, identified the diseases as penicillium, botrytis and fusarium and the insects as the common tulip aphid, bulb mite and the thrip.

Carpentry Guide Made Available

A vocational guide on the occupation of carpentry has been published by the Michigan Employment Security Commission. The guide will be used for counseling purposes by MESC interviewers and by school occupational guidance authorities.

Carpentry is probably one of the oldest occupations of man and dates to the dawn of history, according to the guide. Primitive man, as long as 300,000 years, fashioned crude weapons and shelters, using stone tools. Within our historical era, a complete set of bronze woodworking tools has been found on Crete, dating to 5,000 B. C.

Full information about modern carpentry practices, length of apprenticeship, working conditions, rate of pay, and other data is contained in the guide, so that any man contemplating this as a profession has all the information he needs.

The guides are available in branch offices of the MESC, according to J. Barendse, branch manager of the Holland office. "We will find this guide a welcome addition to our series of guides on various occupations," he said.
