Kramer Resigns As Harbormaster; Salary Not Paid

Chester Kramer resigned as harbormaster for the Port of Holland Authority at a meeting of the Authority board late Wednesday afternoon in the office of Edwin Raphael, president of the local 13-man authority.

Kramer's resignation, which takes effect immediately, also cancels the lake clean-up day scheduled for Saturday. It also leaves Lake Macatawa without patrolling.

The one and only reason for Kramer's resignation was that he has received no pay this season. He had begun his fourth week of service this week without remuneration. Kramer served as harbormaster last summer too.

The Port of Holland Authority entered its second year of operation this summer under difficulties. The ordinance has been passed by three co-operating governments, Holland Township, Park township and Holland city late in 1950 and early in 1951.

This year, however, Holland township withdrew a few months ago, and Park township held up its appropriation until Holland city took action. A request for the remaining $200 in the 1951-52 city budget had been tabled at the last two meetings of Common Council. Holland city had appropriated $200 for the Port of Authority in the interim budget last year and $700 in the regular budget. Of the latter amount $500 had been turned over and the request for the remaining $200 was made so that operations could get under way this year.

Holland township withdrew its support because some of the leaders felt it was not legal to appropriate township funds for an arrangement such as a Port of Authority. However, City Attorney O. S. Cross informed Common Council he was unable to find any attorney general's ruling against such a course.

The ordinance was drawn up after a year of study on the subject covering all problems. The ordinance regulates boating, water skiing, fishing, rowboats, power boats, lake construction and sewage disposal.

Since the Port of Authority was adopted, state laws have been passed regulating lake operations. The state law, however, does not cover situations which have their own ordinances, such as the Port of Holland Authority. With no funds available for paying a harbormaster, there will be no patrolling of the lake for speed boats, no buoys put up in the big bayou and no markings maintained for submerged obstructions.

Attending Wednesday's meeting were Stan Curtis, Robert Vischer, Cornelius Stroop, Leonard Van Regenmortel, Don Jesiek, W. S. Merram, Edwin Raphael and Peter Slenk, all board members.

City Builds Embankment To Combat High Waters

Kollen park will be temporarily closed from time to time as workmen construct a two-foot high embankment along the road bordering Lake Macatawa. City Manager Harold C. McClintock said today.

The embankment being constructed of foundation stones from the old Central and Froebel schools on Graves Pl. will hold back the high water of Lake Macatawa. The road, now under water, will be filled in with dirt after the embankment is completed.

"Completion of the project will depend upon availability of material from the schools now being razed," McClintock said.

Four-Run Outburst In Eighth Inning Gives Chix Win

Zeeland (Special) — A four-run rally in the last of the eighth inning provided the punch to give the Zeeland Chix their second win of the baseball season Tuesday night as the home squad nosed out Muskegon CWC 8-7 in a Southwestern Michigan Baseball league contest.

The visitors piled up a five-run lead in the first two frames, but the Chix kept pecking away at this advantage. In the bottom of the eighth with Muskegon ahead 7-4, the Chix pushed in four runs, with singles by Earl Folkert and Gene Talsma figuring in the scoring along with a couple of Muskegon misplays. Gus Walters doubled home what proved to be the winning run.

Talsma was the winning pitcher, going the distance for the Chix. He allowed nine hits and struck out 11. Ray Reese pitched the first six frames for Muskegon, giving way then to Don Vander Wier, who was tagged with the loss. Zeeland made 11 hits, including three by Kelly Roelofs. Earl Morrill had three for Muskegon. Each team made six errors.

Mayor Harry Harrington shakes hands with three-year-old Mary Lou Hodge as the Hodge family prepares to embark on a six-week cruise on Lake Michigan in a specially built 20-foot cruiser. The Hodge family is setting out to prove that a family can live aboard a cruiser and still stay within a limited budget while enjoying the ease and safety of boating. Final destination is Mackinac Island with several stops along the way included in the Hodge itinerary. Left to right are Mayor Harrington, Dr. Edwin Hodge, Mary Lou, Mrs. Hodge, Helen Hodge and Charles Hodge. (Sentinel photo)

Family of Five Will Live Aboard 20-Foot Cruiser

An experiment on economical living aboard a 20-foot cabin cruiser will begin today when Dr. Edwin Hodge and family leave Holland harbor.

Dr. Hodge, dean of the University of Wisconsin commerce department extension division in Milwaukee, wrote his doctor's thesis on the boating industry and is anxious to prove that a family can stay within a limited budget on a six-week vacation aboard a boat.

Making the trip are Dr. Hodge, his wife, Marie, son Charles, 10, Helen 6, and Mary Lou, 3. The specially outfitted cruiser, that usually sleeps just two, will leave Holland today and will make stops at Muskegon, Ludington, Manistee, Frankfort, Petoskey and other ports en route to the Mackinac Island.

Dr. Hodge will take movies and still pictures of the trip and these coupled with the family's written reports will serve as a guide for future water travelers. The data also will give boat builders valuable information about outfitting small boats for family use.

Mrs. Hodge expressed delight at making the trip and anticipated no problems with the children living in such close quarters. She believes the boat trip will be easier than a trip by car.

The cruiser draws but 18 inches of water and has a 25-horsepower Evinrude motor, which attains a cruising speed of about 15 miles an hour. The hull is constructed with molded plywood.

The boat was launched in Holland Wednesday.

Cooling Breezes Sweep Holland and Vicinity

Holland residents breathed a sigh of relief late this morning as cooling breezes swept over the area after a few humid days which sent the temperature soaring into the 90's.

Although the official thermometer registered 85 at 11 a. m. today, the fresh breezes and lower humidity made life considerably more bearable. Wednesday's maximum in Holland was 91.

Cooler tonight and Friday is the forecast for Holland area.

Relief came to Holland earlier than in many other sections of the state where hot, muggy weather still settled. Detroit, with 97 degrees, was the hottest spot in the state Wednesday for a second day in a row. Saginaw was runner-up with 96 degrees, followed by Flint and Battle Creek with 94. Rev. Marvin J. Vanderwerp

Ninth St. Church Installs Pastor At Wednesday Rite

The Rev. Marvin J. Vanderwerp was installed as new pastor of Ninth Street Christian Reformed church at ceremonies Wednesday in the church auditorium.

The Rev. William Haverkamp, church moderator, presided and gave the invocation. The Rev. Herman Teitama, pastor of Bauer Christian Reformed church and son-in-law of the new pastor, read scripture and gave the pastoral prayer.

Rev. Vanderwerp selected "Your Minister A Helper of Joy" as topic for his sermon. He emphasized the fact that Christians are restored to fellowship with God at a tremendous cost—the death of his son on the cross—and that now as co-laborers may have joy in his service. "A pastor can find his real joy only by being faithful to his calling, that is, the faithful proclamation of God's word," Rev. Haverkamp said.

"This is their joy and also their solemn responsibility," Rev. Haverkamp read the installation form and the Rev. J. Hoogstra, pastor of Prospect Park church and a classmate of Rev. Vanderwerp, gave the charge to the pastor. The Rev. Oliver Breen gave the charge to the congregation.

In his brief remarks before benediction, Rev. Vanderwerp said there is a "tinge of sadness" in this installation since his father read the installation form each previous time when he was installed as a pastor. His father, the Rev. William D. Vanderwerp, died recently. He had been pastor of several churches in this vicinity.

Rev. Vanderwerp comes to Holland from Fremont where he was pastor of the Second Christian Reformed church. He also held pastorates at Peoria, Iowa; Prinsburg, Minn.; Second Orange City, Iowa; Jenison, Mich., and Second Christian Reformed church, Cicero, Ill.

Rev. and Mrs. Vanderwerp and son, Vincent, have moved into the church parsonage at 111 East 10th St. The Vanderwerps also have two married daughters.

Rev. Vanderwerp will preach his inaugural sermon Sunday and a reception is being planned for the new pastor and his family Monday evening.

Five Local Youths Draw Jail Terms In Allegan Court

Allegan (Special) — Five Holland youths, who were ordered to repair the state-owned Boy Scout cabin in Heath township which they admitted wrecking during a beer party, appeared before Judge Ervin Andrews in Municipal Court Tuesday afternoon and learned that they made one mistake.

Conservation Officer Harry Plotts, who had charge of the repair work, said the boys did a good job.

But officers felt they didn't indicate their nightly labors had resulted in the "proper attitude" when they posted a sign that read "KEEP OUT — These Windows Break — Don't Do It!" it was signed "The Vandal Kids," with a skull and crossed bones.

Evidently Judge Andrews concurred. He sentenced each of the boys to 45 days in the Allegan county jail, levied a $25 fine and costs.

Dutchmen Attack Buries Muskegon

With eight men in the lineup scoring at least one run each, the Holland Flying Dutchmen buried Muskegon CWC under a 13-hit attack to win their Southwestern Michigan Baseball league contest Monday night 17-6.

Every position in the lineup was represented by at least one hit for the Dutchmen, with Tony Wentzel, Whitey Witteveen, Ed Setter, Loren Wenzel and Don Van Lente each getting two safeties. Muskegon sent three pitchers to the mound in an effort to halt the slugging Dutchmen. Ten free passes to first also hurt the losers' chances.

Roger Eggers, former Holland high star, made his first mound appearance of the season for Holland and pitched a good ball game. He allowed seven hits, struck out 10, and walked five and hit one batter.

Don Vander Weir, Ray Gauthier and first baseman Paul Gilbert pitched for the losers, with Vander Weir the loser.

Holland really iced the contest in the sixth frame when 13 men paraded to the plate and nine runs scored. Key blows were a triple by Dave Kempker and a three-run single by Morrie Witteveen.

Top hitter for Muskegon was Gilbert, who collected two towering home runs and a single in five trips to the plate.

The victory gives Holland a record of four wins and three losses in league play, while Muskegon has an even 3-3 won-lost mark.

Grandstanding...

By Dick Millman
It may sound like a comic book heading, but the title of this column might very well be "Calling All Girls."

A move is afoot in the Holland area to promote girls softball teams. Two of them actually are operating today, but their only opponents within their own ranks so far have been each other.

A group of girls aged 11 to 15 years who live on the west end of town have banded together as the Jerry's IGA girls softball team, under the tutelage of John Van Iwaarden. Another girls team of the same age bracket is playing out of Graafschap under the leadership of Herman Arnoldink.

But these two teams so far have found nobody to play but themselves. Jerry's even has a game scheduled with a Cub scout team next week. The plea of these managers is to get more teams interested to vary the competition.

As Van Iwaarden explained it, the group of girls he coaches used to meet in the neighborhood and start playing ball. They then asked Van Iwaarden to take over instruction and organization. And even the Jerry's outfit has room for more players. Girls interested may reach Van Iwaarden at 7042.

There hasn't been organized girls softball in Holland for a number of years, harking back to the days of the Holland-Racine girls team. And never, Van Iwaarden says, has there been organized girls softball at the age bracket with which he is working.

Bases in girls softball are 45 feet, compared with men's dimensions of 60 feet, and the pitcher's box is closer, too. Jerry's outfit practices each Thursday night at

Grabbing at Wheel Sends Truck Into Muddy Ditch

Grand Haven (Special)—Grabbing the steering wheel of her daddy's truck resulted in a nasty dirty bath for 22-month-old Debra Kay Chittenden and her father, Lavern Chittenden, 28, Grand Haven, Thursday night.

Chittenden was driving his truck near the city dump when his daughter grabbed the steering wheel sending the truck into a ditch which had been dug to keep water out of an adjoining coal yard. The truck tipped over in the ditch.

Aside from the child's swallowing some of the dirty muddy water, there were no injuries.

Errors Lead to All-Star Defeat by Mullers

The Holland City Softball league All-Stars found out Saturday night they couldn't give a team like Muller Bakery of Grand Rapids eight runs and still win. As a result, the visitors defeated the local squad 10-2 before a large crowd at Van Tongeren field.

Eight of the 10 runs scored by the winners were unearned.

At other times, the fielding of the All-Stars stood up well. A triple play and a double play went into the books for Holland. Mullers played errorless ball.

Jason Ebels was the starting Holland pitcher and worked four innings, being reached for six hits and six runs. Norm Boeve took over in the fifth and pitched the rest of the way, allowing three hits and four runs. Mel Engelsma was the winning pitcher, giving up two runs on seven safeties.

Mullers counted five times in the fourth. The first two men went out and then Tom Rozema belted a home run. A walk, two errors and safeties by Engelsma and John De Vries brought home the five tallies.

One more crossed in the fifth on singles by Bill "Moose" Holwerda and Yardy Streelman. Final four runs came in the eighth on two errors single by Engelsma and home run by Red Stalsonberg.

Holland's two runs scored in the eighth on a single by Dick Millman and home run by Jay Hoffman who had two hits for the night. Others who hit safely for Holland were Bill Franks, Bob Vork, Hank Prince and Ebels.

The All-Stars pulled their triple play in the fifth frame. Streelman was on third and Rozema on second with none out when Joe De Kraker sent a fly to right field. Bob Vork caught the ball and whipped it to catcher Ted Vandenberg. Streelman broke for the plate but then headed back to third, and Vandenberg's throw to Harry De Neff cut him down. Then Harry threw to Lou Altena at second who tagged Rozema trying to get back safely.

Ebels walked two and struck out none in his mound stint, while Boeve walked one and fanned six, including setting down the side on strikes in the seventh. Engelsma fanned seven and walked none.

Gene Nyenhuys, regular Muller pitcher, is recovering from an operation and won't be available for mound duty for another month, according to Muller manager Ray Boes. The same All-Star squad goes to Grandville for a return game with Mullers next Saturday.

The first game of the evening Saturday saw the Holland Veterans of Foreign Wars defeat the Muskegon Heights Eagles 4-1 in a well-played contest. Winning VFW pitcher was Roger Schutt, who limited the visitors to five hits,

City Hall Callers Queried On Vote Registration

Al Dyk, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, engaged in a novel job Saturday.

At's work Saturday was the first step in the Jaycee get-out-the-vote program this year. Not only does the Junior Chamber want all persons over 21 registered, but they want them all to visit the polls at both the primaries, in August and at the Presidential election in November.

"Some of the answers Saturday were a bit unusual," but we did send quite a few people upstairs to register," Dyk said.

A number of requests for the treatment have been received and appointment cards will be sent to every child telling them when to appear. THOSE FUNNY POLITICIANS

Politicians are funny under the most normal conditions, and they are never funnier than in an election year. Just now we are being given glimpses into the typical political mind.

Every last one of the candidates for office begins by swearing up and down that under no conditions will he engage in mud-slinging. He is going to wage a "clean" campaign, regardless of what the other fellow does. The methods of the opposition are not going to provoke him into answering in kind or resorting to tactics that are not one hundred per cent honorable.

But less than a week later, it's quite a different story. The opponent for governor or congressman or senator (or even president) may belong to the same party, or even to same wing of the same party. That fact does not save him from becoming the target of the very person who has registered a vow in heaven that no mud is to be slung in his campaign.

The candidate has been charged with being under the thumb of a boss. Quite naturally he resents that imputation, and it may even be untrue. So he makes a hot reply, as he has a perfect right to do even considering his vow to wage a "clean" campaign. It is not required of a candidate for office that he shall take such charges lying down.

Nine times out of ten that does not end the matter. Before he is through with the rival who has called him a stooge of the bosses, said rival has been converted into half a dozen different kinds of crook. Each contestant in the controversy that follows "scorns" to answer the charges, because he does not want to "stoop so low" as to take them seriously. And then each of them gathers up a nice handful of slimy mud to toss in the direction of the rival candidate.

Neither one of them regards this as mud-slinging on his part. The stuff the other fellow tosses is real mud; what he himself is throwing back is mere political fact. There is probably not a political candidate on the American stump today who thinks he is slinging mud. But the average citizen knows that a lot of that article is flying about and is hitting all kinds of marks.

The citizen accepts it for what it's worth. He is wise enough not to take political charges very seriously. It's a great game, the game of American politics, and the funniest players are the politicians who take themselves with a seriousness that is often but a little short of ridiculous. The thing to remember is our politics are of our own making. If you are not registered you cannot VOTE. Just remember it only takes a few minutes to become a qualified voter. Then we can throw the rascals out.

Sunday School Lesson

June 29, 1952
Christ's New Commandment
Mark 12:28-34; John 13:34, 35
John 15:10-14

By Henry Geerlings
In the study of this lesson, we need to remember that there is a clear distinction between the commandments of the Law under the Mosaic covenant and Christ's new commandment under the new covenant or the dispensation of grace. The commandments under the Mosaic covenant were legal. Christ's new commandment is gracious. Under the dispensation of grace the believer loves because God first loved him.

Any commandment is new to us if we have not lived up to it all required. Take, for instance, the simple and widely used sentence, "The just shall live by faith." But what does just mean? Some say it conforms to law, to do outwardly the things that are expected of us. There are those who suppose they are just, that is, righteous, if they are honest, and go to church, and give something to the church, and follow some other religious rules. But the fact is that one is just or righteous, for the two words mean the same, when his trust is in God, in other words, when his heart is clean and pure, when he loves the things Christ loves.

There are those who believe all is required of them is to uphold the forms or religion, while there are others who are sure they must go deeper than the forms of religion, and that they do not meet this requirement until they are clothed upon with the very righteousness of Christ.

Love in expansive. It ought to be true of all of us that our love grows stronger toward those who have come into the range of our interest. That love can become deeper and more sincere. Our love should include more people. The number of those we have in our affection should increase. We must learn to add those who have held aloof from us and toward whom we have shown indifference. This may not be easy, but it can be done. We allow prejudice and jealousies to raise barriers between us and them. Our love should include those whom we have never seen, and those who belong to other races. It is no doubt true that there are different degrees and qualities of love, and that we cannot, and are not expected to, love all persons alike but that our love should go out toward all people is what was always in the mind of Christ.

We often hear it said that there is nothing new under the sun. It may be that is true in some ways. To many of us it sounds new. We may never have heard of it before. It is necessary to talk about some things year after year before every one gets to hear it. It is also true that some very old things have to be interpreted anew. Likely as not these old things have to meet new situations, and must be applied differently generation after generation. That is the case with love. To love one's neighbor as oneself was once interpreted to mean those of our own country. We know now it refers to all peoples without regard to color or language or nationality. There are many words that have had to go on expanding and taking on larger meaning until they came to mean what God had in mind for His children.

Love is the heart of the Christian message. Jesus taught us that God is love. If this is the term descriptive of the highest character of the highest being, surely love must be sought by the love of God and the follower of Jesus. His teachings are saturated with emphasis upon love as the quality of God, as the nature of His own spirit, and as the desired mark of the disciple.

Jesus placed the measure of love as the willingness to lose one's life in service. The true appreciation of love is the willingness to render service to the point of sacrifice. The test of discipleship is the practice of love.

Jesus reflected this spirit of the Father when He embodied the ideal of love in the new commandment. In doing so He was passing on to man the fundamental spirit and life of God. He was the outstanding example of His own teaching of love. He gave His life in the service of mankind. His service extended to sacrifice. He was the exemplar of his teaching. He has not asked us to do something which He Himself has not done.

The apostle Paul took up the strains of love and gave us the 13th chapter of First Corinthians, in which the great characteristic, love, is described in a prose poem which has not been surpassed in its praise of the spirit of love. Elsewhere he indicates that love is the fulfilling of the law. This is eminently true, for if one is dominated by the spirit of love he will fulfill all other commandments. When love rules the heart, Christ is placed first, others second, self last.

The early Christians took up the challenge to live the life of love. Their critics could say of them, "How these Christians love each other." Many who did not receive the Christian message formally in its early day, could not help but admire the manifestation of Christian principles in those who received the Christ. The same is true in many situations today. Those who do not formally accept the profers of Jesus, admire His teaching and respect those who embody His teaching in their lives.

From the standpoint of the disciple the spirit of Christian brotherhood best fulfills the teaching of Jesus. Only as the disciple shows the spirit of brotherhood toward his neighbors will he be true to his Master and his God.

David Bos

Holland Youth Named Governor Of Boys' State

David Bos, 17, Holland, and members of his Nationalist party who scored a clean sweep in week-end elections in East Lansing, will reign over the Wolverine Boys' State until next year when they will take over state offices in the capitol building for the day.

Bos, who was elected mayor of Holland high school last month, defeated Federalist candidate for governor, Lee Solomon of Royal Oak, 546 to 398, Saturday. It was the best showing a Holland delegation ever made election-wise at Boys' State. The American Legion sponsors the Boys' State.

Meanwhile, in Ann Arbor, a Holland high school girl was sworn in as lieutenant governor at the election Friday night which wound up the four-day citizenship clinic at the University of Michigan under the sponsorship of the American Legion Auxiliary. Pat Ertel of Caro was sworn in as governor.

At Boys' State, Tom De Pree of Holland was chairman of the Nationalist party that won all but two of the major elections. De Pree was appointed member of the House of Representatives but resigned to accept appointment as corrections commissioner, a post held in real life by a Holland man, Earnest C. Brooks.

Ricky Linn of Holland also was appointed a member of the House of Representatives and John Klaseen was appointed a member of the county road commission and member of the civil service commission. Bob Van Bragt was named to a city office.

Ken Brummel and Lawrence Stegink were appointed to the national defense committee and Jack Kammeraad was appointed a member of the corrections commission. Len Rowell ran for justice of the Supreme Court on the Federalist ticket but was defeated.

Other Nationalists elected with Bos included Jerry Boebel, Grosse Pointe, lieutenant governor; Ludwig Jagla, a German exchange student at Northville, secretary of state; Dave Kilborn, Detroit, treasurer; Charles Sharp, Detroit, auditor general; Tom McLean, Newberry, attorney general; Carl Mapley, Pontiac, superintendent of public instruction; and Jerry Barclay, Ann Arbor, highway commissioner.

Other officers elected at Girls' State where Charlene Schroeder, Allegan, secretary of state; Katherine Fodell, Berkley, attorney general; Delphine Parshall, Chesaning, auditor general; Pat Billings, Lansing, treasurer.

As Boys' State governor, Bos automatically will attend the National Boys' State in Washington in August. Only 80 boys from the nation will attend this exclusive affair.

Sliwoski-Davison Vows Exchanged

Fennville (Special)—Methodist church was the scene of a wedding at 3 p. m. Saturday when Miss Donna Davison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Coleman Davison, exchanged wedding vows with Thomas Sliwoski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Sliwoski of Pullman. Peonies, mock orange and delpiniums decorated the altar. Mrs. Wayne Woodby played prelude music and the traditional wedding marches. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Garth Smith before 60 guests.

Escorted to the altar by her father who gave her in marriage, the bride wore a ballerina-length gown of white Chantilly lace and nylon marquisette. Her shoulder-length veil fell from a seed pearl tiara. Her only jewelry was a string of pearls, gift of the groom. Her bouquet was of white roses centered with an orchid.

Attendants were the groom's sister, Miss Louise Sliwoski, as maid of honor, and Mrs. Quentin Howard of Kalamazoo, bridesmaid. Their gowns of pale blue and pink sheer, respectively, were identically styled and they carried bouquets of carnations.

Quentin Howard assisted as best man. Ushers were James Davison of Fennville and Frank Jannaki of Chicago.

A wedding dinner was served at 6:30 at Hospitality House.

Both the bride and groom were graduated from Fennville high school in 1949. Mrs. Sliwoski plans to complete her senior year at Western Michigan college, Kalamazoo, next fall. The groom is employed by Mahoney's Plumbing and Contracting, Kalamazoo. They will live at Oshtemo.

Veteran Writer Surveys Hot Political Scenes

By Julius B. Wood

In Washington, everybody talks politics but nobody votes except the few who mail ballots to their home states. In spite of this, our national capital is the throbbing center of world politics, especially in a presidential election year.

This is logical. Washington with its official power and prestige is the goal for each of the crusading candidates. In fact, most of those now striving for the nation's top honor already hold offices there. Washington also swarms with campaign managers and vociferous supporters who add to the clamor while their favorites stump speech across the nation. Every booster or amateur political prophet is confident that his candidate will win both at next month's nominating conventions in Chicago and at the election on Nov. 4.

So many names are on candidate campaign committees that it seems anyone who rates a listing in the telephone directory is eligible. One letter greeted me with: "As a leader in the labor movement, you will be interested in the candidacy of—," etc. Curiosity inquiry disclosed that this candidate—a big financier who never soiled his hands with manual labor—had rented the mailing list of a trade union and was conferring the flattering title of "leader" on all who received his literature.

Every candidate has a Washington headquarters. Some are elaborate with flamboyant signs outside and busy staffs inside to mail out literature and load every visitor with cards and lapel buttons. Candidates with thinner bankrolls are more modest, some with only a figurative aerial under their hats ready to dash into the race at their first faint call of the people.

All observers are agreed that the country is more aroused over coming conventions and election than it has been for many years. The voting for candidates and delegates prove this. The people are on the move. Their turnout at the polls this year will show their appreciation of the privileges of democracy.

"Who'll be nominated?" and "who's going to be elected?" are the most frequent questions I've heard since returning to our home in Michigan. I'm not an oracle or pollster but, coming from Washington, have heard the oratory and promises of almost every candidate and am well saturated with rival claims and opinions. So, to summarize:

The Republican contest is clearly between Senator Taft and General Eisenhower. In spite of this, some expect a deadlock with General MacArthur stampeding the convention after his keynote speech. Gov. Warren of California, ex-governor Stassen of Minnesota and Gov. McKeldin of Maryland are favorite sons, possibly able to deliver their state delegates but hardly dark horses. General Wedemeyer, a Taft supporter, has one delegate.

Unofficial tabulations give Taft more than three-fourths of the 604 votes necessary to nominate and give Eisenhower less than two-thirds. The Taft camp, however, claims 588 delegates. The two split in Puerto Rico Sunday and Taft added 10 in Illinois yesterday. If this claim holds, he will pick up enough on the bandwagon rush to nominate on the first ballot, the only delay being a couple of days to permit Chicago hotels and restaurants to recover their convention contributions.

Whoever is nominated, the Republicans will go into the campaign with a hangover of preconvention accusations and hard feelings. Whether the losers will wholeheartedly support the nominee, especially Eisenhower followers who are not conspicuous for party loyalty, is the big election question.

Senator Taft, a serious and tireless campaigner, will never be a glamor boy or hail-fellow. He has made political enemies as well as friends, proof of his courage and convictions. Few officials have vacillated less on public issues and the people know where he stands.

General Eisenhower, most photogenic of candidates, radiates charm and sympathy. He wins friends and keeps them. Voters outside this intimate circle, however, consider his record. He led our victorious army in the latest war. The excuse for the present mess in Berlin is that he obeyed presidential orders though a truck driver, much less an Army officer, would not get into such a pocket without an open highway to get out. He launched the North American Treaty Organization, an unfinished job, and for several years has been absentee president of Columbia university.

With at least 19 candidates, the Democratic convention promises more fun and fury than any Democratic powwow since the Roosevelt-Truman dynasty took over party and government. Senator Kefauver of Tennessee, leader in pledged delegates, is not within hailing distance of the 616 votes needed to nominate and does not have party organization support. Senator Russell of Georgia, also campaigning and next in votes, while an able official is distinctively a candidate of the South. Senator Kerr of Oklahoma, also stumping, has few votes outside his home state's.

Gov. Williams of Michigan, Gov. Dever of Massachusetts, Buckley of Ohio, Sen. Humphrey of Minnesota, Sen. Fulbright of Arkansas and Sen. McMahon of Connecticut are state favorites sons with lightning rods up. Gov. Stevenson of Illinois, Vice-President Barkley of Kentucky, the patriarch among candidates; Senator Douglas of Illinois, Federal Security Administrator; Ewing of New York, Chief Justice Vinson of Kentucky, Associate Justice Douglas, ex-Senator Lucas of Illinois and House Speaker Rayburn of Texas have delegates from scattered states. Rayburn, an able veteran, has only a ¼ vote from Maine but some Washington dopests pick him as the winning darkhorse. To honor the faithful, the Democrats permit two delegates to a district, each rating one hard chair and half a vote.

Democrats expect a noisy convention with long drawn out balloting. That President Truman will be the compromise nominee is possible. Though he says he is not a candidate, delegates from several states already are pledged to him. As party leader, he will dominate the convention.

While blessing all good Democrats, the President has bestowed more than a casual nod on both W. Averell Harriman and Stevenson. Harriman is campaigning vigorously while Stevenson is a candidate for re-election as governor. Both are well up in delegate tabulations. Their names will add to the free-for-all but they are not knowingly stalking horses for Truman.

Harriman is administrator of mutual security which dispenses billions to foreign countries, a former ambassador and manganese concession holder in the Soviet Union and of the well-known railroad and banking family. He has Americanized his name by dropping the "W" for the campaign. His new role is to be one of the plain people. His sweeping victory over Senator Kefauver in the District of Columbia primaries was won by his campaigning in the heavily Negro precincts.

While the Republican nomination appears "in the bag," the Democratic is wide open. The people can leave the conventions to the politicians but the people will decide the real issues at the election. The politicians and those who depend on them for jobs and favors are interested in the individuals who are nominated. The voters are interested in the future of the nation, in equality and opportunity for all citizens. They will decide which candidate or party will return the government to the people.

Government by decrees of officials and of bureaus has become a habit in Washington. Today, few citizens fail to realize that this is the underlying issue of the coming election. Individual candidates are incidental. The issue is whether democracy and rule by the people is to continue or whether the nation is to be ruled by official decrees. Moscow calls its own and satellite dictatorships "people's republics." The voters will decide this year whether "republic" will continue its true meaning in the United States.

Body of Drowning Victim Recovered

The body of 16-year-old William West, who was drowned in the Lake Michigan channel Sunday afternoon, was sent by train to Hickman, Ky., early Saturday.

The drowning victim's body was recovered at 8:30 p. m. Thursday when it was seen floating in the channel by some fishermen along the pier. The Holland Coast Guard immediately sent a boat to recover the body.

At the time it was first seen, the body was being carried toward Lake Michigan by the current. Dragging operations had been halted off and on because of strong currents and high winds. S. J. Welch of Grand Rapids provided identification, and the body was taken to the Dykstra funeral home, from where it was sent to the Barrett funeral home in Hickman.

The thankful soul always has something to share with others.

Response during the past few years was so great that this summer the Holland Recreation department expanded its handcraft program. And Holland youngsters are taking full advantage of the more extensive program, with large crowds turning out each afternoon at handcraft headquarters, room 13 of Lincoln school. From June 16-30, the craft program operates in the afternoons, from

Holland Christian Reports Vacancies In Teaching Staff

Several teaching vacancies exist in the Holland Christian school system for the coming school year, Supt. Bert P. Bos reported to the board of trustees last week. One new teacher was confirmed at the board's meeting.

Bos said there still are openings in the grades and junior high school. Two teachers are needed in the grades while one departmental teacher is required for junior high school.

Robert Strabbing was appointed to the high school's commercial department. He will teach bookkeeping, business mathematics and general business courses. Strabbing is a Hope college graduate and has had five years of teaching experience. He is a native of Graafschap.

A record pre-enrollment for the kindergarten also was reported by the superintendent. He announced that already 138 pupils have enrolled at the pre-kindergarten clinics held recently. Bos said the figure may well top 150 by September. The largest group will be at the South Side school where 60 already are listed. The Central Ave. kindergarten lists 43 and the West Side school, 35.

Regarding crowded conditions, it was reported that one of the grades will again be housed in the Fourteenth Street Christian Reformed church. An encouraging note was reported for the high school housing problem. Bos announced that plans and specifications for the recently authorized high school addition will be presented by July 1. He said construction should begin sometime this summer.

Holland Chamber Helps California

An appeal from the Eureka, Calif., Chamber of Commerce, to the Holland Chamber to assist in saving the last virgin stream—the Trinity river in California—from being taken over by the federal reclamation bureau has brought recognition, according to a letter received here from Rep. Gerald R. Ford, Jr.

Eureka's Chamber wrote the local Chamber urging members to write congressmen to vote "no" on a House resolution that would authorize the Secretary of Interior to develop Trinity river at a minimum cost of $109 million. The state of California was not in favor of this resolution.

As a result letters were dispatched to many Chambers of Commerce throughout the United States for assistance in killing the resolution. Such a letter was received here and acted upon favorably by the Holland Chamber of Commerce legislative and national affairs committee.

The committee wrote Rep. Ford advising him of its stand against the bill. Rep. Ford has acknowledged the letter.

Holland will join the rest of the nation in an around-the clock watch for enemy planes as part of the civil defense program according to Major Martin Japenga in charge of local airplane spotting.

The Air Force has reported that "operation skywatch" will be placed on a 24 hour basis, effective July 14, to plug some of the holes in the nation's defense screen.

Japenga reports that 200 volunteers are needed to assist in plane spotting. Charles Rich, Jr., 330 West 21st St., has been helping out. Japenga has been appointed liaison officer for Ottawa county, and this necessitates the need for a new chief observer.

A new observation post is needed in Holland, and this post should be above the trees, so as to be high enough to spot planes, Japenga said.

Anyone interested in plane-spotting or a suggestion as to an observation post should contact Japenga at Ottawa Beach. Phone 59879.

Attorney General Must Rule on One Allegan Petition

Several Contests Are Scheduled on Aug. 5 Primary Election Ballot

Allegan (Special) — Whether there will be three or four contests for nomination on the Republican ticket in Allegan county's Aug. 5 primary election has been left up to Michigan's attorney general.

Prosecuting Attorney Dwight Cheever said he had submitted his opinion on the challenged petitions of Samuel Ater, route 3, Allegan, for review by the attorney general.

Ater, a candidate for register of deeds, submitted several petitions in which there was a discrepancy between the circulation unit shown in the heading and the unit shown in the justice of peace affidavit affixed at the bottom.

Howard Strandt, incumbent and only other Republican candidate, challenged the petitions.

In his opinion, Cheever stated that he would advise County Clerk Esther Hettinger to accept the petition "if it were not for the danger of establishing a precedent."

Cheever said it was the legislature's intent, in establishing election laws, to prevent fraud. "And, while there is certainly no evidence of fraud in this case," he said, "the petitions do not conform with the law."

If Ater's petitions are not allowed, there will be only three Republican contests, compared with five on the Democratic ticket.

The Republican primary will feature a contest between the incumbent state representative, Ben E. Lohman, route 2, Hamilton, and Albert Helmus, route 6, Holland.

Sheriff L. A. Johnson, Allegan, will be opposed by Michael J. Uramkin, route 1, Allegan, a candidate for this office in two previous primaries.

Floyd McCann, Allegan, will oppose the incumbent drain commissioner, William Teed, route 5, Allegan.

Dwight Cheever, prosecutor; Mrs. Esther Hettinger, clerk; James Boyce, treasurer, Hugh MacDougall, surveyor, and Clyde A. Dickinson, Wayland, and William Ten Brink, Hamilton, coroners, are unopposed for re-nomination.

On the Democratic ticket, William Cole, Allegan, and Royal T. Laraway, Pullman, seek nomination as candidate for sheriff. Stella Daugherty Miller, Plainwell, and Mrs. Dorothy Simmons, Allegan, are candidates for register of deeds. Marion Balgoven, route 5, Allegan, and Dan Morgenster, Wayland, seek nomination for drain commissioner. William Koppasch and E. L. Wheat, Allegan, and Walter Robbins, Fennville, are candidates for coroner. Don Hughes and Frank Maher, both of Hopkins, seek nomination as surveyor.

Mrs. Hettinger, county clerk, is the only candidate unopposed on either ticket.

Miss Amy R. Koning Wed To Robert Kleinschmit

In a lovely summer wedding Saturday afternoon in Trinity Reformed church, Miss Amy Ruth Koning became the bride of Robert Walter Kleinschmit. The double ring rites were read at 4 p.m. by the Rev. John M. Hains before a background of palms, accented with large bouquets of white peonies and snapdragons and seven-branch candelabra.

The bride, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Herman Koning, is a niece of Mr. and Mrs. John Boersma of 158 East 24th St. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Kleinschmit of Royal Oak.

For her wedding, the bride chose a gown of ice blue satin covered with lace and layers of net and nylon tulle. Style features were the lace bodice with long fitted sleeves pointed at the wrists and the inserted lace petticoat. The bouffant skirt extended into a chapel train. A Juliet cap of matching lace held in place her fingertip veil of imported French illusion. Her bouquets of white orchids. Her bouquet of white orchids.

Paul S. Koning of North Haven, Conn., escorted his sister to the altar and gave her in marriage.

Mrs. Martin Stahel of Holland attended the bride as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were the groom's sister, Mrs. E. C. Silverthorn, Jr., of Royal Oak, and Mrs. David Karsten of Holland. They were identical ballerina-length gowns of white organza over pale blue taffeta accented with matching blue cummerbunds. They wore large open-crowned picture hats of matching blue and carried cascade bouquets of white carnations.

Robert Kent assisted the groom as best man. Ushers were Robert Mehoke, William Farmer, Carl Koning and Max Boersma. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Koning acted as master and mistress of ceremonies.

The bride's aunt wore a dress of white lace over cocoa brown taffeta, beige straw hat, brown accessories and a lavender orchid. Mrs. Kleinschmit's ensemble included a gray taffeta-ized silk shantung dress, blue velvet hat, blue accessories and a lavender orchid corsage.

Preceding the ceremony, appropriate prelude selections were played by Mrs. William Zonnebelt, organist, who also played the wedding marches. Soloist was Mrs. Stuart Ludlow of Glenview, Ill., formerly of Holland. She sang "Because" before the rites and "The Lord's Prayer" as the bride and groom knelt at the altar.

VOLLEYS FROM AMBUSH

It seems to be letter writing time again from assorted Dutchmen and this time Mayor Harry Harrington is on the receiving end. He obligingly turns the letters over to the ambusher for this column, and from then on it's open season.

One comes from Henri J. Coonen, Hofstedestraat 52b, Rotterdam, who became interested in Holland, Mich., after the visit of the royal couple here in April. He mentioned numerous stories in the Dutch papers about the Queen's visit to Michigan, and now would like contact with a local person to learn more of this country. He also would like to exchange stamps to complete his collection.

During the war he was forced to sell his stamp collection for food for his wife and four children and now is working on another collection.

Another letter comes from Jaap Mulder, 19 years old, soon to enter the Dutch air force who would like to correspond with an American girl of his own age. He has completed the five-year high school course and has been working at a bank for a half year. His address is J. Mulder, 2e Jan v.d. Heydenstraat F8 III, Amsterdam (Z), Holland.

A third letter is from Chris v. d. Lingen, v. d. Spiegelstr. 43, Delft, who wants to correspond with a boy or girl. He is 24 years old. He didn't know anybody in America, so addressed the envelope to "the Burgomaster, Esq., of the Town Holland" and the salutation read, "Unknown Sir." He explained Delft is a city between Rotterdam and The Hague and has 70,000 inhabitants.

The Chamber of Commerce already has received 10 inquiries for Tulip Time in 1933. Most of them came from eastern states, particularly Ohio and Massachusetts. These letters are acknowledged and placed on file, and the senders informed later when the 1933 dates are selected.

From Colombo Yeomans comes word that she has arrived safely in London after "one grand and glorious week" abroad ship, even though the trip hit fog five days, the most the company has had in 50 years. She said the 22,000-ton ship was owned by a Greek, staffed with Italians and registered in Panama. A fine group of young people was aboard representing many nationalities. Americans were in the minority. She toured London one afternoon with a 23-year-old nurse from Toronto. "I'm really in love with this city," she wrote.

Miss Yeomans is en route to Stockholm to visit her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Gunmar Heimbürger.

From the Lansing State Journal we learn that a Holland soldier, Howard Laman, was reunited with his cousin from Lansing, Ronald Hartgerink, out in the Pacific area where both are serving with the armed forces.

Hartgerink had been given a rest leave after a period in Korea and was flown to Japan, landing at an airbase where Laman was stationed. Unaware that Laman was in Japan, Hartgerink missed connections.

But Laman's officer-in-charge, learning of the situation, gave him temporary duty so that the two cousins might be reunited.

We heard this some time ago, but it seems a Holland area farmer went to an auction some time ago and bought a piece of farm equipment. On examining it, he found it was his own machine which he had lent it to a neighbor years before. Maybe you'd better check on the lawn mower.

Two Men Answer Court Charges About Fireworks

Two Holland men appeared in Municipal Court Tuesday to answer charges concerning the seasonal complaint about fireworks.

Vernon R. Johnson, 27, of 52 South Division Ave., pleaded guilty to selling firecrackers. He was ordered by Judge Cornelius vander Meulen to report Friday at 11 a.m. for sentence.

His brother, Alvin E. Johnson, 23, of 400 Fifth Ave., pleaded innocent to charges of transporting fireworks into the state and having fireworks in his possession. A jury trial was set for 9:30 a.m. Friday. The charge is a misdemeanor.

The two men were apprehended and questioned after an intensive investigation involving Ottawa deputies and city police. The probe started when Hudsonville Deputy Albert Hildebrand nabbed a 16-year-old Zeeland youth shooting firecrackers in Hudsonville at about 11:30 p.m. Monday. The Zeeland boy told Hildebrand he had purchased the fireworks in Holland.

The trail led to the service station where Vernon Johnson works, and after questioning Vernon admitted having the fireworks in his possession and wrote out a statement telling how he used Alvin's car to go to Polk, Ohio, to buy fireworks on or about June 13.

Chief Deputy Clayton Forry also assisted in the investigation.

City police point out that possession, use or sale of fireworks in Michigan is prohibited by state law. The one exception for use of fireworks is that groups or gatherings can use them if a permit is issued. Further information along this line can be obtained from the Police department.

Minister, Escaped From Russia, to Speak Tonight

An outstanding feature of the Youth for Christ rally tonight at 7:30 in Holland high school auditorium will be a talk by the Rev. George J. Lambert, who will reveal his experiences under the rule of Soviet Russia.

As a missionary, evangelist and pastor, Rev. Lambert has served in Moscow, in Latvia, Sweden and other lands. On two occasions he was arrested and tortured by the Soviet secret police and he narrowly escaped death by a firing squad.

He was often questioned at the point of a revolver and he saw multitudes of men, women and children massacred by the Communists. The missionary, his wife and two children risked death to gather when they fled across 400 miles of open sea in a small fishing boat. They were saved by a Swedish war ship which delivered them to friendly shores.

In Sweden, Rev. Lambert ministered among the refugees.

Also appearing on tonight's program will be the Claus Indian Singers, a native family appearing in native dress. They have twice before appeared in Holland.
