Holland, Allegan Get Good Soaking

Electrical Storm. Inflicts Damage On Allegan Areas

Lightning Starts Fire At Home and Causes Estimated $2,000 Ruin

ALLEGAN (Special) — Nature zeroed in her artillery on Allegan County this morning with an electrical storm that started fires and knocked out telephone and power service in large areas.

Firemen worked for more than two hours to get a lightning caused fire at the Paul Ferrigo home on Linn St. under control. Damage estimated by Chief Floyd Harder at $2,000 was limited to the roof and attic on the south wing of the house.

The bolt of lightning which started the fire went on a rampage and knocked holes in the walls in bedrooms and the bathroom. The storm tried to make the fire loss worse than it was.

The same bolt that started the fire knocked out all telephone service in the neighborhood except a special line to the Allegan Health Center next door to the Perrigo home. Perrigo used this phone to call in the alarm.

Firemen were on the scene from 4:40 to 7:20 this morning. Consumers Power patrons were without power in the city from 11:40 p.m. Wednesday and an emergency crew was still at work today restoring knocked-out transformers over a wide area centering on Allegan.

Local representatives of the firm reported power failures in every direction from the city. The storm was accompanied by the year's heaviest rain which caused considerable damage. Loss of stocks stored in basements which flooded with as high as six inches of water was reported in the business district.

Heavy rain was also blamed for undoing considerable work of contractors who are building the new M-40 approach to the city from the south. A large part of the fill at the foot of Paw Paw hill was washed away, leaving only room for one lane of traffic.

Washouts along many gravel roads in the county were also reported as the result of the estimated 4.5 inches of rainfall. Traffic was slowed to one lane on Beauchamp Hill just west of Allegan on old M-89 by a series of washouts and the county highway department was busy today making emergency repairs.

At least two instances of trees knocked down by lightning were reported on township roads. The rain brought a mixed blessing for area farmers. County Agent A. D. Morley said the rain mixed with the wind may have laid flat wheat fields but this was more than offset by the moisture which was badly needed. Morley said county crops had gone 19 days without appreciable rains prior to the storm.

Morse Wins Tilt In Extra Innings

First National's Pierson allowed H. E. Morse only two hits Wednesday night in Legion baseball at Riverview Park, but he walked in the winning run in the 10th inning as Morse took a narrow 5-2 decision.

Runs were at a premium all the way as First National fought back into a tie in the bottom of the ninth after Morse had gone ahead, 2-1, in the top of that inning.

Morse didn't get a hit until the ninth although it scored one run in the sixth on a walk and two First National errors. First National, on the other hand, found Stoe's pitches more inviting and collected seven safeties in the extra-inning affair.

First National's first run, however, came as the result of an error in the seventh inning. The ninth-inning tally came after a walk, an error, and an infield out. Morse's run in the ninth was again the gift of errors.

In the other game at Riverview, Padnos jumped to an 8-0 bulge over Elzinga-Volkers in two innings before darkness called a halt to the proceedings. Padnos collected six hits in the two frames.

Case Settled, Dismissed

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — The case of Oscar Lantinga against the Bay View Furniture Co. of Holland, which was scheduled to be heard in Circuit Court Wednesday, has been settled and an order to be dismissed has been filed. Lantinga, a former superintendent at the company, was seeking judgment of $8,194 which he claims was due him in wages and a bonus.

Rainfall Measures Total 2.67 Inches Up Until 11 a.m.

Chilly Pacific Air Moving Eastward Kicks Up Storms

Rainstorms, plus thunder and lightning, lashed at Holland today, and by 11 a.m. the rainfall measured 2.67 inches, a heavy rainfall indeed for Western Michigan on a June day.

In Zeeland 3.69 was recorded by Simon Elhart. Rains and winds started about 9 p.m. Wednesday and continued intermittently throughout the night. Wild bursts this morning were interspersed with periods of bright sunshine which boosted humidity to an uncomfortable degree.

Officially, the temperature was 77 degrees at 11 a.m., a reading which did not take into consideration the high humidity. Nor did Wednesday's maximum reading of 88 seem quite right. The humidity was exceptionally high after morning showers. In all, Wednesday's temperature covered a span of almost 30 degrees, the low reading being 59.

Today's storms were part of a blanket of cool Pacific air which was pushing eastward, kicking up violent scattered windstorms and rain. Cooler weather was predicted here Friday with a high of 76.

Holland had little or no damage caused by Wednesday night's windstorm. The Board of Public Works had a few calls for minor damage during the night and early morning, but said they were not serious.

In Zeeland, the John C. Bouwens family received a rude awakening early today when lightning hit the home at 56 West Cherry St. Only a few shingles were torn off the kitchen. There was no fire.

Throughout the midwest, the barn busting windstorm with gusts up to 100 miles an hour damaged considerable farm property. In Kandiyohi county, Minnesota, it hit some homes and knocked down telephone lines. There were no reports of injuries.

At Boonville, Ind., townsmen pitched in to help clean water-pipes that corroded during a month-long dry spell that exhausted the town's supply. A fleet of taxicabs did a thriving business hauling water from city wells 10 miles from town.

Annual Bible School Program Slated Friday

The Wesleyan Methodist Church will have its annual Bible school program Friday evening at 7:30. Besides the program there will be a display of handwork by each class.

Teachers this year were Mrs. Julius Kleis, Mrs. Donald Johnson, Mrs. Irvin Snyder and Miss Marilyn Smeenge, beginners; Mrs. Chester Schone and Mrs. Ernest Shoultz, primary, and Mrs. Edwin Harrington and Mrs. Harold Harrington, Jr.

Mrs. Jack West had charge of the nursery and Mrs. Carlton Avery was general superintendent.

Things are beginning to go a bit better on the $150,000 Zeeland west end sewer project, as newer techniques and shallower digging speeds up progress. Workers of Mulder Fabricating Company have been laboring on Jefferson St. since December of 1952. Progress was extremely slow as the pipes were laid at an average depth of 20 feet, and surface water was encountered at about six feet. Metal shoring was tried, but collapsed in spite of heavy wooden supports. Cave-ins were frequent, but a new technique finally seems to work. A surface cut is made, and then well points sunk on either side of the road every two feet. Then the pumps start, lowering the water level to a point where the pipe can be laid. The 24-inch pipe is now at a level of around 15 feet. Pictured is the intersection of Jefferson and Cherry St. where workmen are building a storm sewer adapter.

During the convention, relations were taken for a tornado relief fund for the Flint area. The local Auxiliary donated $25 to that fund, which was collected directly for relief work by the Flint VFW. The local group previously had given $25 to the Red Cross for the same purpose.

Watervliet Faces Dutchmen Tonight

Holland's Flying Dutchmen will entertain Watervliet for the first time tonight in a game at Riverview Park starting at 8 p.m.

Watervliet failed in its quest to enter the Southwest Michigan Baseball league because of a late application. Reports are that the squad will probably be admitted next season.

Manager Loran Wenzel plans to start Clare Van Lier on the mound to give his hard-working dog, Lou Humbert and Rog Eggers a well-deserved rest. Van Lier pitched for the Dutchmen last season, but has not seen much hurling action so far in the current campaign.

Meanwhile, Wenzel is searching everywhere for a couple of young pitchers. He said that Willie Rink would not be available until the last half of the season because of a night job.

Barber, Holland Hitch Win in Legion Baseball

Both games went into extra innings in American Legion baseball competition at Riverview Park Tuesday night. Play continued from 6 to 11:30 p.m.

In the first contest Hill Top farms led all the way until a quick two-run rally in the seventh inning gave R. E. Barber a tie ball game. Then in the eighth inning a walk, error and single combined to give the Barber squad the decision. Final count was 9-8.

Jerry Prince pitched a beautiful four hit ball game in the second contest but lost steam in the ninth inning to lose to Bowman 5-4 to Holland Hitch. Prince struck out 21 batters, but gave up a couple walks and singles in the later innings. Winning pitcher was Bob Van Dyke.

Hudsonville Wins 12-10, Shares Lead With Losers

ZEELAND (Special) — North Hudsonville defeated league leading North Holland 12-10 last night at Zeeland Legion field to move into a B 2 League first-place tie with the losers.

The game was a little sloppy, but a good one for batting averages, with the lead see-sawing each inning. Earle Shoemaker for the winners and Bob Elzinga for the losers went all the way. Several plays on each team collected two hits apiece.

The second game between Wustman Produce and Zeeland Coliseum was called by rain after three and a half innings with the score knotted at one apiece. Wustman was on the mound for Tri-County League-leading Wustman, and Lamar handled the pitching for second-place Zeeland.

Morticians Ask Board to Appoint Doctor-Coroners

Measure Would Go Before County Voters For Final Approval

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Seven Ottawa county morticians appeared before the Board of Supervisors at its opening meeting Monday afternoon requesting the board to appoint medical men as acting coroners in Ottawa County.

Harold Throop of Coopersville served as spokesman for the group, which included James Langeland of Holland, Raymond Vander Laan of Hudsonville, Ed Langeland of Allendale, Don Barbier of Spring Lake and Edward D. Kinkema and Herman Van Zantwick of Grand Haven. Several other morticians had planned to be present, it was said.

Throop referred to a bill signed by the governor about two weeks ago giving the county authority to decide whether medical men or other elected officials should serve as coroners. He pointed out that Grand Rapids has five medical examiners and Ottawa County has only two coroners, one in the north end and the other in the south end. Should the board approve the request, the issue would be submitted to a vote of the people at the next election.

Under the proposed set-up, the board could appoint a chief medical examiner and as many assistants as it desires. It was proposed that all physicians in the community could be asked to sign a certificate indicating their willingness to serve. It was pointed out that sometimes there is a delay of two or three hours before a coroner can report to a location to release a body.

The present fee is $5 for viewing a body plus mileage. There was a general belief that the new program would save the county considerable expense.

On motion of Jacob Ponstein, Grand Haven city attorney, the matter was referred to the rules and legislation committee to study with the prosecuting attorney and report back at the present session.

Supervisors John Van Dyke, Jr., of Holland, George Swart of Grand Haven and John H. Ter Avest of Coopersville were appointed to draw up resolutions honoring the late Dick E. Smallegan, supervisor of Jamestown township who died unexpectedly May 28 of a heart attack. Twenty-one supervisors and several county officials attended his funeral.

Three new supervisors were seated Monday afternoon. Henry Ver Meer of Jamestown township took the place caused by the death of Smallegan; Martin Boon, former mayor of Grand Haven, succeeds Philip Rosbach, and Peter De Kock of Zeeland replaces Mayor Robert De Bruyn who felt his duties in Zeeland were too heavy to assume responsibilities on the county board.

Several changes were made in committee appointments through the seating of the new members. Serving on the important ways and means committee are Henry Slaughter, Gerrit Bottema, John Ter Avest, Claude VerDuin and James Townsend. On the drain committee are C. Szopinski, Nicholas Frankena, Ver Meer, De Kock and Chris Fendt. On the finance committee are Maynard Mohr, Nick Cook and Martin Boon. On the zoning committee are George Swart, Frank Gavin and Ver Meer. On the buildings and grounds committee are Dick Nieuwma, Szopinski and Boon.

Mayor VerDuin of Grand Haven reported that the classification survey authorized by the board will be completed in time for use in setting salaries at the October session.

There was considerable discussion on possibilities of the county going into the abstracting business. A special committee has done considerable work but has not submitted a written report. Roy Lowing of Georgetown township said the Kent county manager would be willing to discuss the matter before the board.

The pitching honors were practically even, with the All-Stars racking up seven hits and the losers collecting six. Three All-Star pitchers, Ed Stille, Norm Boeve, and Jason Ebels, gave up three walks and struck out 10. Owen Aukerman and Roger Lamer allowed five walks and fanned 10 for the losers.

The winners scored their first run on two hits and a walk. They collected their big three runs in the seventh on two hits, a walk, and clever use of infield outs and fly balls. Terry Burns Hits Single to Score Fortney in Tenth

Second baseman Terry Burns singled in Ron Fortney from third base Thursday night to give the Holland Flying Dutchmen a 3-2 decision in 10 innings over the Grand Haven Athletics at Beech Tree Field in Grand Haven.

The break came after the Athletics had jumped to an early lead by scoring a run in the first and fifth inning. The Dutchmen went scoreless until the seventh, and then tied it up in the eighth.

Holland's first run was set up on Morrie Witteveen's walk. Frank Woldarczyk batted out a single moving Witteveen to second and Butts Kool singled to score him from second.

The second run was tallied in the eighth inning on a single by Ron Fortney who scored on a passed ball. The situation for Burns' winning single in the 10th was set up when Fortney walked, stole second and went to third on a passed ball.

Grand Haven scored in the first on a fielder's choice and two singles bringing in Westerhof. Westerhof scored again in the fifth on a walk, stolen base and single.

Dutchmen pitcher Rog Eggers went the distance allowing eight hits, striking out 10 batters and walking none. Eggers also had the longest hit for the squad, a double leading off in the eighth. Fortney, Burns, Woldarczyk and Kool had singles.

Supervisors Thank County Ag Agent For Long Service

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — The Board of Supervisors gave a special vote of appreciation at its opening meeting Monday afternoon to Leo R. Arnold, who is retiring July 1 after 19 years as county agricultural agent.

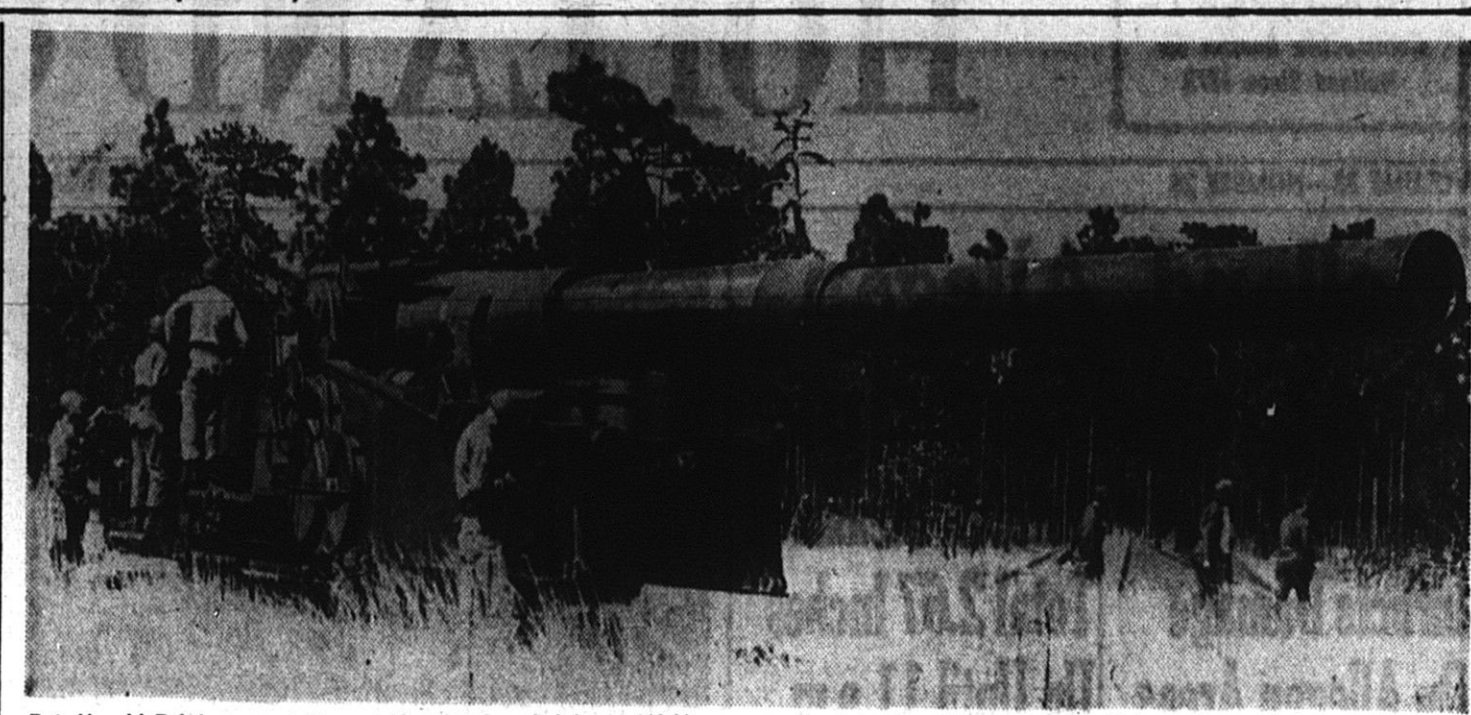

Arnold appeared before the board stating he felt he "owed it to the board to say a few words" and related his experiences during the 19 years, giving credit to many supervisors whose names he sprinkled through his report.

Arnold came to the county in 1934 when times were trying and money was scarce. He started as secretary of the old AAA to represent and save money for the farmers and in his own words "worked day and night." A home demonstration agent was added in 1936 and the soil conservation program came into existence in 1938.

He devoted considerable time to describing the forestry program which includes special education among children in rural schools. He said the program started when he spent $19 out of a $50 appropriation for individual seed beds due to hard luck were lost. Later through a $75 appropriation he arranged for seed beds at 16 farms in Port Sheldon township which proved successful. Later the conservation committee recommended $1,000 for the work and then added another $500. According to foresters' figures, more than 25 million trees have been planted since 1929, nearly all on private land. Arnold added there are now 1,000 acres of blueberries in the county, bringing about $1,000 to $3,000 an acre. He said 4,000 to 5,000 people will be needed to pick the berries.

In closing, he said he never could have wanted to work for a better county. He said the people have been most co-operative and complimented the board on how it backed the extension program. "You never turned down our requests a single time and I hope you will co-operate with the new agricultural agent as you have done with me."

VOLLEYS FROM AMBUSH

Any mixups in names in your family?

Whatever they can be, they can't hold a candle to Connie Hinga-Connie Boersma mixup in the Milton L. Hinga family. A few years ago Connie Hinga (who was named after her father's sister, the original Connie Hinga) was married to Max Boersma and thereby became Connie Boersma. Then a year or so ago her brother Bill married Connie Boersma who thereby became Connie Hinga. The original Boersmas are cousins.

Now whenever bothConnies are together, it leads to untold confusion. In the Bud Hinga household, it's usually "Our Connie" and "Bill's Connie."

But when there's a telephone call for Connie and one Connie has already answered, she's likely to identify herself as Connie Boersma Hinga or Connie Hinga Boersma, and then wait the required couple of seconds for it to sink in to the mind of the other person. The name must be pronounced slowly and then the other person understands. Most people know the situation, but it still takes time.

There are further complications too.

The first Connie Hinga (Bud's sister) is Mrs. Malcolm Mackay, wife of the former football coach and assistant principal at Holland High School. She and her husband are referred to in the Hinga household as "Connie and Mack."

The household also is likely to refer to "Our Connie" and her husband as "Connie and Max." That involves more delayed action on identity all around.

To make matters more complicated, there's the Connie Hinga in Kalamazoo too. She's a daughter of a remote relative of Bud Hinga, and hasn't been involved in any great degree. Heaven help her and theConnies if she should move to Holland.

The Hingas and the Boersmas have enjoyed many good laughs over the mixups, but would just as soon not have further complications. The chances are that any grandchildren just won't be named Connie for a long time.

Getting married soon?

If you are, it's wise to apply for that marriage license early. At least that's the advice of City Clerk Clarence Greengood who said the necessary five-day wait in Grand Haven has on occasion caused some couples to resort to special permission from Probate Court so that weddings could be on schedule.

First of all, principals should allow three or four days for laboratory reports on their medical certificates. These certificates are necessary before application may be made for a marriage license.

Both parties need not appear for license. One will do, provided he or she knows the necessary information.

Greengood suggests applying for licenses two weeks before the wedding. One week can do it, but it's crowding the issue. Besides, licenses are good for 30 days.

Jim Hallan, a trustee of the Board of Education, likes his golf game on Saturday afternoon. Last week when the board held a special meeting, his wife called the office at 2:10 saying she was locked out of the house with the baby inside. Jim rushed home, Mrs. Jim re-entered the house and found the baby okay. A strong wind had slammed the door shut as she was outside. But Jim had to stand a lot of good-natured kidding about planned emergencies. He got in his golf game too.

It's a little early for the wall-eyes to run up Kalamazoo river, but just wait. That long awaited contest between Larry Wade and Sipp Houtman will take place soon. Larry sez he'll catch more and larger fish with artificial bait than Sipp will with natural bait. Both have their followers.

A novelette "Outlaws in Towns" written by Marvin De Vries of Holland, appears in the June issue of Argosy. It's one of many western stories the local man has written. He recently sold his second story to the Saturday Evening Post.

Mrs. Earl Working, of 271 East 14th St., and her sister, Mrs. W. A. Lockwood of St. Louis, Mo., are in possession of their mother's wedding ring which has been lost more than 45 years.

The ring which belonged to the late Mrs. N. E. Heimburger was lost in the family garden in Kewanna Ind., many years ago and all attempts to recover it failed. This spring the present owners of the property dug up the ring while planting their garden.

The inscription was still clear and they returned it to Mrs. Lockwood. When Mrs. Lockwood came to Holland for a visit last week she brought the ring with her.

AN AMERICAN TRAGEDY

It is likely that no human person remained unaffected by the execution of the "atom spies," Julius and Ethel Rosenberg. Such a hard necessity is a tragedy in its very nature, and in this case it is truly an American tragedy.

The tragedy lies not wholly in putting to death in legal manner two human beings, rather in the fact that those two represented an element in American life that is plotting for the enslavement of us all. That is the "American tragedy," part of it—that there are a few thousand among us, or perhaps a few hundred thousands, who would rather be slaves than freemen, and who plot to take the rest of us into slavery with them.

The human element in the executions for the moment the most poignant feature of the event. The Rosenbergs represent the personal drama of treason, and humane persons are always humanly inclined to sorrow for the individual criminals and for their families. Most of us find it difficult to dramatize for our own imaginations the abstractions of treason; we forget quite easily that in all likelihood thousands of innocent American boys are lying in Korean graves because of the crime of the Rosenbergs.

Governments do not enjoy putting traitors to death. Throughout our history responsible leaders have agonized over the hard necessity of executing traitors who were often personally attractive, as the Rosenbergs were said to be. At the very birth of our nation George Washington was up against the decision of either hanging Major Andre, the Revolutionary spy, or commuting his sentence. An almost resistless pressure was exerted to save Andre, both in Europe and in America itself, because he was an unusually attractive young man. But Washington would not have been the Father of his country if he had lacked the stamina to decide for death. And American military and civil leaders have often since that time faced the same cruel decision.

The Rosenberg execution is not simply a tragedy for the two American citizens who were put to death; it is a tragedy for all of us, an American tragedy. So regarding it will save us from mere maudlin sentimentalism. After all, America has a right to protect itself. Not only a right but a grim responsibility.

Paul's Joy in Christ
Philippians 1:12-27

By Henry Geerlings

The epistle to the Philippians is one of the sweetest ever written by the apostle Paul. It is a marvelous outbreathing of the deep joy and contentment the apostle possessed, a joy that was unaffected by outward circumstances. He was Christ centered and Christ-devoted. His epistle sets forth an unusual but blessedly possible Christian experience and life. Sin is not once mentioned here.

This church was evidently sound in the faith and walking in true Christian order. The only evil hinted at was that of an evident tendency toward dissension, because of a lack of lowliness of mind and the only warning given was a warning against the evil workers. This epistle is a beautiful unfolding of a Christian experience, as it is produced by Christ and flows back to Christ, in a life of devotion, loyal obedience, joyful service and sacrifice. Nothing in this epistle savors after human attainment, efficiency and fleshy energy. All here speaks of attainment, divine bestowment, divine sufficiency, or of what God alone can do and does in the heart and life of the believer.

Paul was a great advocate of living by faith. While joy was recognized as a major note, and mentioned among the first elements in the fruit of the Spirit, he would have us understand that we are not saved by feeling, and should not live by our feelings. Had this been necessary, to live by feeling rather than by faith, he like many of us would have had occasion to assume that he had lost his religion; but in his hands as we have in our hands, was a chain of evidence that Jesus had lived His transcendent life and conquered the grave.

When natural darkness fell upon him, and temporal affliction offset the ecstasy of his religion, his faith was fixed as firm as it had been in the most thrilling scenes of spiritual worship, and victory. We are justified by faith. We are sanctified by faith. We are justified by faith. This is the teaching that he consistently fostered.

We all know something of the sufferings and hardships he endured. He tells us in his letter, written near the close of his first imprisonment in Rome, "For me to live is Christ and to die is gain." Christ was at the very center of his life. To magnify Him, to win others to Him, to serve Him in every way within his power, were the things that were uppermost in his thought.

And these should be uppermost still. No one has any monopoly upon Christ. Few people will equal him in the abundance of the revelations received or in the greatness of his achievements, or in the sufferings endured for Christ's sake. Nevertheless, we may equal him in our utter commitment of ourselves to him and in the consequent satisfaction which Christ can bring into our lives.

If religion has a place simply around the edges of our life or in a few corners, we cannot expect that the satisfactions it brings will be very great. But if our hopes and ambitions and desires for this world and the next center in Christ, we may expect to share with the great apostle the more exceeding and eternal weight of glory, which was his reward. Neither is this glory all a matter of future expectation and hope. We get foretastes of it as we go along and patiently bear the burdens and achieve the victories that come to us day by day. Paul had joy in the service of Christ. He had been chosen to carry the gospel to many peoples in foreign lands. Though this involved hardships and many sufferings yet he was always willing to spend and be spent. He told the Ephesians that his aim was to labor continuously and finish his course with joy. The joy that Paul had in Christ extended to those who had been won to Christ by his efforts.

In writing to the Philippians he calls them his brethren. They were his spiritual children. In many things they were far apart; in years, in education and in Christian experience, but they were all one in Christ. It was a joy to him to see them turn from Satan and the world and embrace the gospel. It was a joy to him to see the evidence of their life and faith in the gifts they sent him. This joy that the apostle had in his people led him to pray for them continually and to keep in touch with them through messengers. Christian work becomes easy if the worker has a joy in seeing the progress his people are making in the things of the Lord.

The joy that Paul had in Christ freed him from care and anxiety. He was lifted above circumstances. He knew how to be a-based and how to abound. This was not fatalism or Stoicism. It was faith in Christ and assurance.

And his joy in Christ was not diminished in view of the future. His life from a worldly standpoint seemed to be in a precarious position. It depended upon the whim of an emperor. But he knew that Christ would decide. Whether he lived or died it was of the Lord. For him to live was Christ and to die was gain. No matter which way, his joy was undiminished. Christ was his life.

Bakker-Marcusse Rites Read

Arrangements of peonies and candelabra against a background of palms and ferns provided an attractive setting for the double ring rites in Fourteenth Street Christian Reformed Church, read by the Rev. J. Schuurman. Peonies and white bows marked the pews. Miss Allene Huizega was organist for the ceremony and John Tien sang "The Pledge" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Miss Carol Marcusse attended her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Barbara Marcusse, sister of the bride, and Mrs. John Tien. Little Lois Tien and Jimmy De Haan, cousins of the groom and bride, respectively, were flower girl and ring bearer. Assisting the groom as best man was John Beuker. Ushers were Ron Schipper and James Lont. Mr. and Mrs. John Beereboom, Jr., brother-in-law and sister of the bride, completed the wedding party as master and mistress of ceremonies.

As the bride approached the altar escorted by her father, the groom sang "I Take Thee Dear." Minutely pleated ruffles circled the deep cut sheer yoke of the bride's full-length gown. Long lace sleeves tapered to points over the hands. The ruffles were repeated down each side, cascading into a chapel train. Her veil of English imported illusion was held in place by a small cap of chantilly lace edged in pearls and trimmed with satin and pleated illusion. She carried a cascade of white roses and stephanotis. Her pearl necklace was a gift from the groom.

The attendants chose gowns alike in nylon tulle and cotton embroidery in a turquoise shade.

Tulle stoles covered the molded strapless bodices and accordion-pleated peplums pointed down to one side of the full net skirts. They carried colorful bouquets of talisman roses, split white carnations and sweet peas. The flower girl was dressed in white organza and laced with aqua ribbon belt and attached flowers. She carried a basket of pink rose petals. Her headpiece was fashioned of ribbon, net and flowers. The ring bearer, dressed like the men in the wedding party, carried a satin pillow.

At the reception in the church parlors for 200 guests, Mr. and Mrs. H. Buurma served at the punch bowl and Mrs. Ron Schipper and Mrs. D. Nieuwma arranged the gifts. Mrs. John De Haan, Sr., and Mrs. William De Haan poured. During the reception, Miss Carol Marcusse, the bride's sister, sang "The False Prophet."

For their wedding trip to northern Michigan, the bride changed to a beige linen suite and green accessories and a rose corsage. Mr. and Mrs. Bakker plan to live in Ann Arbor, where he is a student at the University of Michigan medical school.

The bride, a graduate of Hope College in 1952, taught this year at Central Avenue Christian School. The groom also was graduated from Hope College.

In a double ring wedding ceremony performed by the father of the bride, Miss Sylvia Joan Blystra became the bride of Simon J. Dykstra. The bride is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Harry Blystra, 486 Washington Ave. and the groom is the son of Simon Dykstra, route 5.

The ceremony took place June 10 in Holland Heights Christian Reformed Church, which was decorated with ferns, arrangements of white peonies and candelabra. Candles with mock orange and greens decorated the windows.

The bride was attended by her sisters, Mrs. Jerome Slenk as matron of honor and Mrs. Jake Terpstra and Mrs. Ken Lamings, bridesmaids. Another sister, Mrs. Lucas Ensing, organist, provided wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Edward Ribbens, as she sang "It Was Heaven's Grace That Made Thee Mine."

"Together Life's Pathway We Tread" and "Lord, Bless This House."

William Dykstra was his brother's best man and William Bareman and William Selles served as ushers. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Venhuizen were master and mistress of ceremonies.

A lace over satin gown was chosen by the bride. Style features were the net yoke, Peter Pan collar with seed pearl trim, long pointed sleeves and full skirt with cathedral train. A lace cap with seed pearl trim held her veil of silk illusion. She carried a white Bible with a white orchid and streamers.

Bridal attendants wore identical gowns in yellow, pink and blue, respectively, and carried cascade bouquets.

A reception for 125 guests was held in the church parlors. Miss Dorothy Dykstra and Frank Kass served at the punch bowl and Mrs. Harold Blystra and Mrs. Robert Smith were in charge of the gift room. Mrs. Thelma Kehkus and Miss Marcia Van Tatenhove poured.

Two Hospitalized After Car Rolls Over 3 Times

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — A car was badly damaged and two occupants were hospitalized early Sunday morning when their car went through a road block on US-16 in Crockery township and rolled over three times.

The driver, Alvin Kamp, 25, Grand Rapids, received bruises and eye injuries. His companion, Betty Kubitz, 22, also of Grand Rapids, received a possible skull fracture. Both were taken to Butterworth Hospital in Grand Rapids.

The 1949 model was damaged to the extent of $1,500. State police charged Kamp with reckless driving. The accident occurred where barricades were put up for a new highway.

Car Receives $1,500

Damage in Freak Mishap

Rosevelyn R. Taber, 37, of 127 West 24th St., escaped without injury late Saturday afternoon but her '53 model car sustained $1,500 damages after it left Ottawa Beach Rd. and narrowly missed a tree and a telephone pole.

She told police she was driving east on Ottawa Beach Rd., about four miles west of North River Ave. when the right wheels went off the road. The car veered off the road and slipped into an opening between a telephone pole and tree. Both sides of the car were extensively damaged.

Ottawa County Deputy Nelson Lucas investigated and issued a summons for failure to have the car under control.

Paved streets first were tried by a Roman emperor some 2,000 years ago.

Council Okays Ban on Parking

By a vote of 5 to 1, City Council voted to eliminate parking on River Ave. between 12th and 19th Sts., and on Michigan Ave., between 19th and 32nd Sts., at a special meeting Monday afternoon called by Mayor Harry Harrington. This action will allow the Michigan Highway Commission to designate this part of US-31 as a four-lane highway inside Holland city.

Casting the dissenting vote was Councilman Raymond Holwerda who contended such action would tend to make the highway a speedway. Councilmen Laverne Rudolph and Rein Visccher were absent.

The state highway commission contends elimination of parking and clear marking of lanes will make the thoroughfare much safer and will reduce accidents. Police Chief Jacob Van Hoff favored the state's recommendation, particularly from the safety angle.

The measure finally was approved with the understanding that the state conduct a survey with an eye to reducing the speed limit, particularly the 30-mile limit now in effect on sections of Michigan Ave. Some assurance was given to consideration for a flasher at the southern approach to the city at 32nd and Michigan Ave.

Holwerda argued that eliminating parking would make little difference in the flow of traffic inasmuch as traffic tie-ups have been occurring only at the traffic lights and sometimes at the five corners at 19th St. He said by the time northbound cars reach 12th St. where parking is allowing, the problem will be the same.

Councilman Robert Visccher pointed to traffic controls in Florida where 15-mile school zones are rigidly enforced. It was pointed out Texas has 10-mile school zones. The speed limit currently is 30 miles on Michigan Ave. near Christian High School.

Mayor Harrington said he had received objections on the parking ban from two residents living on Michigan Ave. City Manager Harold C. McClintock also had received two objections, one from the two neighbors who also protested to the mayor and the other from an owner of commercial property between 13th and 14th Sts. Councilman John Van Eerden also voiced objections from two persons.

Mayor Harrington said the necessity of haste in taking this action is to schedule the paint crews from the highway commission which are expected here shortly. These schedules are rather inflexible and if the lines are not painted according to the state schedule, it might be a long time before another visit is scheduled.

Low Flying Airplane Buzzes Virginia Park

A low flying airplane over the Virginia Park area south of Holland Monday night about 8:30 p.m. caused a brief flurry of excitement.

Some residents saw the plane swoop down low and thought it had crashed when they lost sight of it behind some woods. Others felt the plane coming down only a few feet off the ground was making an emergency landing.

Eugene Teusink of route 1, said he saw the plane dip down to within four feet of the ground over his property as if looking for a place to land. But after making a few turns the plane continued on without landing.

Teusink thought the pilot might be a friend of his that occasionally flies to Holland but he could not be sure.

Van Dyke was ticketed for not having an operator's license and Brouwer was issued a summons for improper passing. Ottawa County Deputy Nelson Lucas investigated.

Register Second League Win in See-Saw Battle

Blasting out 15 hits in a potent attack, Holland's Flying Dutchmen registered their second league win in three starts Monday night at Riverview Park, conquering the South Haven Merchants, 10-8.

Dutchmen Pitchers Lou Humbert and Rog Eggers combined to hold the invaders to 10 hits. Eggers came in to relieve the tiring Humbert in the seventh frame.

South Haven jumped to a two-run lead in the first inning on two hits and a walk. But Frank Wlodarczyk narrowed the count in the home half of the initial stanza when he blasted a tremendous home run into the left field stands. No one was on base, however, and Holland still trailed, 2-1.

Tony Wentzel followed with a triple to the center field barrier, but was left stranded when Homer Van Wieren went down swinging to end the inning.

Holland knotted the count in the second as Butts Kool again out an infield hit, went to second on Clare Van Lier's sacrifice, and came home on Ron Fortney's sharp single to center.

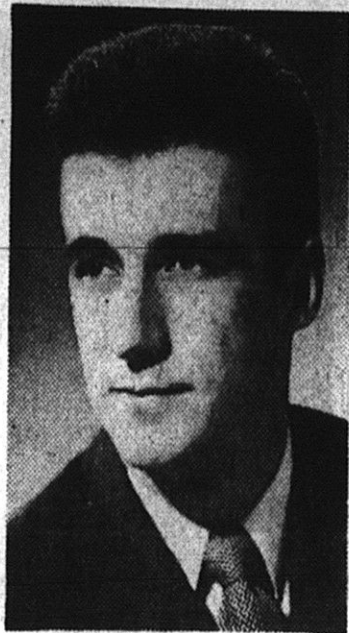

But South Haven's Barnes saw to it that his team led again as he clouted one over the right field fence with the bases empty to send the Merchants into a temporary 3-2 lead.

The Dutchmen went scoreless in the third and so did South Haven in its half of the fourth frame. But Holland broke loose for three runs on four hits in the bottom of the fourth.

Three consecutive singles by Van Lier, Bob Van Dyke and Humbert were good for one run and Fortney's infield out along with Terry Burns' single accounted for the final pair. Wlodarczyk forced Burns at second to end the inning.

But Holland's 5-3 advantage was not destined to last long. The Merchants fought back in the fifth by scoring three tallies on the strength of two errors, two walks and only one hit to lead, 6-5.

The last two runs of South Haven's rally were scored on a wierd succession that included errors by second baseman Burns and catcher Wlodarczyk. Holland finally pulled out of hot water when center fielder Van Lier threw out the final South Haven batsman at third base.

The Dutchmen tied the score again in the last of the fifth as Wentzel doubled and marked up the sixth Holland run on Van Dyke's long fly to left field.

Humbert set down three South Haven batters in order in the sixth and Holland found some holes in the Merchant defense in its half of the sixth, pushing across three tallies on only one hit.

Humbert entered the base paths on the third baseman's error, was sacrificed along by Fortney, and went to third on Burns' infield out. He scored on a wild pitch.

Wlodarczyk walked and two Dutchmen were on when the left fielder muffed Wentzel's drive. Van Wieren tripled to score both men and Holland led, 9-6.

But the Merchants were not through either. They combined two safeties, two walks, and a stolen base to score a pair of runs and draw nearer, 9-8, when the first half of the seventh was over. The Dutchmen needed Eggers to prevent further damage.

After two were out in the bottom of the seventh, Eggers and Fortney doubled but Burns flied out to left field and the rally was halted. Eggers survived the eighth despite South Haven's two hits as he struck out two batters to hold the narrow margin.

Wlodarczyk tallied the final insurance run in the top of the ninth as he singled to left and was driven in by Wentzel.

'Meteor' Rides Out Strike Here

The present strike by Great Lakes members of the National Maritime Union has kept a unique boat at Globe Oil docks. She is the "Meteor," a whale-backed tanker with a hull like a huge submarine — the only one of her kind under the American flag.

The men walked out Saturday, and captain Ed Moier has no idea how long the strike will last. The union and oil companies opened the first negotiating session today in the Conrad Hilton Hotel in Chicago. The union is pressing for wages on the lakes that will equal those of saltwater sailors.

Meteor's usual docks in East Chicago were full of other tankers riding out the strike so her owners, the Cleveland Tankers Corp., sent her to Holland. 16 other tankers were affected by the walkout, along with all the big oil companies on the lakes.

Capt. Moier, aided by his third mate Art Dickson, is taking advantage of the forced tie-up to give Meteor's flanks a new coat of paint. "To have her looking pretty for the boys when they get back."

Of the strike, Moier, who has been on the lakes since 1938 and on salt water before that, said only "it's the same old story."

Meteor is 57 years old, 385 feet long, 43 feet wide, and has a 40,000 barrel capacity.

Holland residents relaxed in comfortable summer temperatures Sunday and Monday after searing heat wave Saturday which set a new record for June of 101 degrees. It was 81 degrees at 11 a.m. Monday.

The official high point of 101 degrees occurred at 3 p.m. Saturday, according to Weather Observer Charles Stokette who keeps weather records at Hope College. At 5 p.m. Saturday, the temperature was 99 degrees. Early Sunday morning a cool front broke the heat wave, sending the mercury down to an official 62 degrees. The temperature Sunday was ideal, just the right kind of day for the first day of summer.

Saturday's high reading matched a similar high reading of 101 degrees in August, 1947. On only two occasions has the mercury been higher in Holland. That was in July, 1913, and July, 1934, when 102 degrees was registered. Other high readings listed 100 degrees in June, 1934, according to old records at The Sentinel. These figures dated back to the first time records were kept in 1906. Not all figures were available.

The Board of Public Works pumped tremendous amounts of water during the week-end, pumping 4,572,000 gallons on Saturday and 2,500,000 gallons on Sunday. Oddly enough, more water was pumped the previous Saturday, registering 5,335,000 gallons. BPW officials said it must have been so hot Saturday that people didn't have ambition enough to turn on faucets. Plenty of water was being pumped again today, they added.

Holland State Park had its biggest day Saturday, listing 22,000 visitors, 16,000 on Sunday and 15,000 on Friday. The week's total amounted to 79,000, an extremely large number for so early in the season, according to Park Manager Clare Broad.

There were 65 trailers in the park Saturday night, using most of the 86 available spots. There were 40 tents set up in space which accommodates 98. Broad also announced another new life-guard has been added to the park's personnel. He is Don Boonstra, a Hope college student.

Since the water was pretty cold Saturday, most people were content to sun bathe. All picnic tables were in use, and there were lots of people fishing in the channel. The park is open daily from 5 a.m. to midnight.

Saturday's terrific heat caused cement highways to buckle at many points. There were at least five such breaks on M-21 between Zeeland and Holland, and several more between Zeeland and Hudsonville. Highway personnel said the heat was too much for the one-inch allowance for expansion and whole slabs just rose under the pressure of the heat. To correct the breaks temporarily, workmen chipped chunks from the raised portion and then mended the breaks with asphalt. Later, cement will be used for permanent repair.

A few sprinkles of rain fell in the area Saturday night, just enough to spot windshields and make the pavement wet. It was several hours before the cold front brought any relief from the heat. There was considerable heat lightning but no real storms.

Jackknife Bridge Stuck; Heat Wave Responsible

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Spring Lake's jackknife bridge just stayed put Monday. Saturday's heat wave caused the span to expand, jamming the works. It won't operate now until its bearings are replaced.

The bridge on M-104 spans a channel connecting Spring Lake with Grand River.

State police said it was luck the bridge didn't go haywire when it was raised. "We'd have had to reroute all traffic off M-104 and that would be a mess," they said.

Legion Auxiliary Installs Officers at Final Meeting

Dawn Leslee Kosten

Kevin Darryl Kosten

Ex-Holland Girl, Husband Adopt German Children

Two German refugee children have brightened the lives of a former Holland woman and her husband who are currently residing in Ankara, Turkey.

The former Dorothy Kramer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester A. Kramer of 152 East 19th St., and her husband, Sgt. Jack Kosten of Grand Rapids, recently adopted a boy and a girl from a maternity home in Regensburg, Germany.

Names of the children are Kevin Darryl, a 16-month-old boy, and Dawn Leslee, a 14-month-old girl. Word of the adoption was received Monday by Mr. and Mrs. Kramer in the form of two letters which were written in from each child.

Kosten is with the Air Force in Turkey on a special radar mission to develop facilities in the near-east countries. The countries are strategic points in United States plans for European defense.

Sgt. and Mrs. Kosten left the states in September, 1950. They first lived in Izmir, Turkey, where they described conditions as "filthy and uncivilized."

Mrs. Kosten was graduated from Holland High School in 1946, and she was married later the same year at Boca Raton Air Base, Fla. Sgt. Kosten's next base was Keesler Field, Boloxi, Miss., where he was sent after a hurricane wrecked the hangars and airfield at the Florida base.

Sgt. Kosten was a member of the ROTC for four years at Ottawa Hills High School in Grand Rapids leaving for service just after graduation from Ottawa in the summer of 1946.

The couple has traveled extensively in both Europe and near-East and has visited Germany, Rome, Syria, Damascus, Cyprus, Lebanon, and Cairo during the stay.

One of the pictures that the Kramers received showed the couple on camels in typical Egyptian dress beneath one of the huge pyramids that decorate the desert country.

According to letters received by the Kramers, about 30 other American families live in Ankara, all of whom are connected with some phase of the armed forces. The Kostens have had many pleasant associations with the other American couples there.

Sgt. Kosten's mission is almost over, however, and the couple wrote that they may be at home any month. They assured the Kramers that they would be back at least by next March.

But the Kosten's will not find leaving the Turkish city easy. The Kramers reported that their daughter was very fond of the beautiful metropolis and that she would find it very difficult to depart, even for a return to her homeland.

Grass Fire Hits Slope Behind Ottawa Cottages

A grass fire at 10:45 a.m. Monday ate out 150 square feet of a steep slope just behind the Howard cottage on the lower board walk near Holland State Park. The fire started when wind whipped a spark from a rubbish fire in a wire incinerator and dropped it in the grass.

The fire blistered and charred the paint on two lower corners of the next cottage, but neighbor women, working quickly with brooms and rakes, had it under control by the time firemen arrived. Chief Windemuller of Park Township Fire Dept. No. 1 brought 30 men, and station No. 2 sent a tank truck.

The firemen had difficulty getting to the spot, since one road was closed and the others were filled with sand, so they held a conference after the fire to decide on a better approach in case the same thing should happen again.

New officers were installed Monday evening at the American Legion Auxiliary's final regular meeting of the season at the Legion club house.

Mrs. Tim Smith, new president, was installed by her sister, Mrs. Marvin Ver Hoef.

During the past 50 years, death rates for children and young people in the U. S. have fallen 83 per cent.

It's been four years and a good many thousand miles since Mrs. Johan Uhl, the former Elaine De Witt of Holland, saw this "Holland" sign. And it's "really great to be back" she says, after spending the four years in the Netherlands with her husband whom she met while he was a student at Hope College. Mrs. Uhl is home on a three months vacation, visiting friends and staying with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius De Witt of 67 Madison Place.

Netherlands Girl Visits Native Holland, Mich.

What's it like to be traveling alone in a foreign country with a strange language, customs and people? "Really great," says Mrs. Johan Uhl, the former Elaine De Witt of Holland, who is back on a three month vacation after spending four years in The Netherlands.

Mrs. Uhl certainly never expected to get to The Netherlands when she was working in Holland in 1947. But in that year a group of Dutch students attended Hope College through the exchange program, and that's how things began.

Among the group was a young medical student from Luiden University who spent three and a half years of the Pacific war in Japanese prisoner-of-war camps.

He was born in the Celebes islands, the son of a Dutch military man. The Celebes are part of the Dutch East Indies group.

The young visitor started eating at a local restaurant where, it just happened, the then Miss De Witt was working. The acquaintance grew and when it came time for him to return to The Netherlands in 1948 they had agreed that she should follow shortly.

In 1949 she left for The Hague, and there got a job with the Allied High Commission. There were no definite plans, and she didn't even know where she was to stay.

Finally in 1951 she became a June bride. By that time she could have understood the Dutch services but the marriage took place in a quaint little English church with everyone speaking English.

From then on it was work, work and more work as the couple struggled to get Uhl through the difficult Medical School there. Standards at the school are exceptionally high, and make it rough going for students. While she worked at the offices of the American Standard Vacuum company, he continued through school.

He has now completed five years, and has two more to go. Then he must spend one and one half years with the army, a requirement for all Dutch young men.

Mrs. Uhl arrived April 25 for a three months stay with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius De Witt of 67 Madison Place. Standard Vacuum is keeping her job open for her. Her employer is an American and "he understands why I want to come home," says Uhl.

Life in The Netherlands is similar to life in Holland, Mich., according to Mrs. Uhl. She likes it exceptionally well, "except for the cold and rainy climate."

The scars of war are being rapidly eliminated, and rationing has come to an end. Practically every Dutchman has a bicycle, and it's almost more dangerous to walk there than in the United States.

All in all, Mrs. Uhl considers it a "grand experience," and needless to say, one which has affected the entire course of her life.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. Le Poire

In a double ring ceremony Friday evening, June 12, in Hope Reformed Church, Miss Donna Mae Van Dyke and Donald J. Le Poire were married. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. John W. Van Dyke, 85 East 21st St., and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Le Poire, 1962 South State St., Zeeland.

Dr. Marion de Velder performed the rites before a setting of ferns, candelabra and bouquets of white peonies. Traditional music was played by Mrs. W. Curtis Snow, organist, who also accompanied Mrs. Marion de Velder as she sang "Through the Years," "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a taffeta gown with lace bodice featuring pointed collar and long sleeves tapered at the wrists. Her overskirt was of gathered nylon net. Her nylon net veil was held in place by a headband of petals and rhinestones. She carried a white Bible with a corsage of white roses and carnations and streamers. Her single strand of pearls was a gift of the groom.

Mrs. Fred Landstra, as matron of honor, wore a gown of yellow taffeta with net overskirt and matching net stole. Her taffeta hat was accented with lilies of the valley. gowns in lilac and green, respectively. They carried colonial bouquets of roses.

About 100 members of the local company participated in the maneuver from 9 to 12 p.m. Saturday night. Leaving Holland at 10:15 a.m. Saturday the company proceeded to the bivouac area, where they set up camp and prepared meals. The group took a compass course training session prior to executing the problem. The defensive problem involved defending a perimeter some 1,500 yards long. Holland Area Swelters As Temperatures Soar

Holland residents were set Saturday for a continued onslaught of heat as the mercury soared to near record heights on local thermometers. It was 93 degrees at 11 Saturday, only two degrees under Friday's maximum of 95 degrees. It was 89 at 11 a.m. Friday.

Officially, the temperature remained at 90 throughout the night, an unusual occurrence according to Weather Observer Charles Steketee who keeps weather records at Hope College. He said reflected heat from the ground must have been responsible. In suburban areas he estimated the temperature dropped to 82. The gauges for recording temperatures are about five feet from the ground.

Summer arrived officially at noon Sunday, and the weather bureau saw little hope for relief before that time. Thunder showers were predicted for Saturday or Sunday, with another hot day in prospect, forecasting a high of 94.

Local residents and visitors flocked to Holland State park and other beaches Friday in an effort to combat the stifling heat wave in the city. They chose well, because beach temperatures were 20 degrees cooler than in the city. Saturday was even busier, and parking space was at a premium.

Temperature readings near 100 were common throughout most of the state Friday and today. A high of 98 degrees was forecast for Detroit today, three degrees higher than the June 20th record set in 1933. Production was halted before the normal quitting time at two Chrysler Corp. plants Friday because of the heat and humidity.

In Pontiac, Mayor Arthur Law declared a state of emergency as the city's water supply dipped to a dangerous level. He ordered lawn sprinkling stopped and asked residents to limit use of water to essential purposes.

Law said machinery at two Pontiac pumping stations broke down and caused pressure to drop so low that some residents could not get drinking water. Water department officials said repairs would be completed as rapidly as possible.

Temperature readings listed 97 at Alpena, 99 at Battle Creek, 98 at Grand Rapids 96 at Lansing, 94 at Cadillac and 94 at Traverse City.

VFW Drill Team Rates Runnerup At Port Huron

Holland's VFW drill team distinguished itself Saturday at the state VFW convention in Port Huron by walking off with runner-up honors in rugged competition against the best in the state.

The Henry Walters drill team compiled a total of 91 and sevenths points, just five less than the crack Reed City unit, that has won the championship for the last five years. Reed City earned 96 and nine-tenths points.

A total of 76 drum and bugle corps, drill units and drum majors participated.

Holland's record is made all the more remarkable when one considers this is the first year the local group entered state competition.

The contest included a thorough inspection in the morning, parade in the afternoon and drills in the evening.

The 17-man local team was judged first among the drill teams and was "gigged" for a couple of minor items in the searching inspection.

Harold Barr is drill sergeant. The local group expects to go to the national VFW convention in Milwaukee the first of August for further competition.

The Holland unit also has been invited to demonstrate close-order maneuvers at the Coloma Blueberry Festival and the Grand Haven Coast Guard Festival this summer.

Prize for Saturday's accomplishment was $75.

Look Into Auto Racing Shows More Work Done in Garage Than on Track

Some people call it a thrilling exhibition of skill, others call it senseless foolhardiness, but all agree that driving a "hot rod" requires some of the coolest nerves and split second timing of any sport.

Each week a goodly number of Holland fans trek to the tracks and a number of racing cars can be seen traveling through town.

Probably the real reason why young men are willing to put hundreds of hours and hundreds of dollars into the cars is the pride they get out of seeing their own "special" coping a first place.

The cars that enter races are a far different auto from the junk yard fugitives they are to start with. Most mechanics start with a jalopy they can pick up cheaply from the junk yard, paying from $35 to $75 dollars.

Next the engine is hauled out, and while it's being worked on the inside of the car is given a thorough going over. Upholstery is torn out, and iron roll-over bars are welded inside to keep the top from crashing in—just in case.

Rear axles are welded together to eliminate the differential, and many owners use several different rear ends, gear ratio depending upon track conditions. The cars are always driven in second gear during a race.

A truck steering sector is installed to give double strength when the wheels get jarred. Gas tanks are welded inside the car in the back seat, because experience has shown that in their usual location they get knocked off. They also are set to avoid spilling gas if the car overturns.

Door on the driver's side is then welded closed and the other one securely fastened with straps after he gets inside. Cars with cloth tops must have steel ones welded on.

Most interesting feature of the transformation is the use of different size wheels on all four wheels. Object is to give the car better stability and more traction. Most tracks in the area are one-quarter mile, which means the driver is turning constantly.

To do this the left front tire is the smallest, although wider than on a normal passenger auto. The right front is several sizes larger. Rear wheels are larger yet, and some mechanics even weld together hubs and wheels of different make automobiles to give desired results. Oh yes, both rear wheel are different size, with the right wheel being larger.

In addition to having different size tires for each wheel, most drivers and owners carry along several complete changes for each wheel varying them according to track conditions. Heavy duty shock absorbers are installed on each wheel.

Meanwhile, the engine of the original auto is taken out and a new model, usually only a few years old, is inserted. The new engine has a wide stroke crank, oversized pistons, racing cam and shaved head-bock. They even put in a truck radiator to keep it cool.

Most mechanics also grind down the flywheel, making the engine run less smoothly but creating less weight drag. Dual carburetors, manifolds and exhausts are now legal under track rules.

There is quite a dispute over

Woman Pleads Guilty To Drunk Charges

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Mrs. Betty Young, route 1, Grand Haven, pleaded guilty to a drunk charge when arraigned before Justice T. A. Husted Thursday night and was assessed a $10 fine and $4.85 costs. She was apprehended at 2:54 p.m. Thursday walking down the middle of the road on Pennoyer Ave. causing inconvenience to motorists. She was held at police headquarters until her husband was out of work and then was allowed to accompany home.

what fuel is preferable, although most drivers use airplane high-octane gasoline.

For safety drivers are required to wear crash helmets, goggles and a three inch safety belt that is bolted to the frame of the car.

What's the cost by the time all these changes are made? Well, one South Haven driver spent $2,300 on his, although local fans say $1,000 is probably closer to an average. Racing is by no means a profitable sport as gains from wins usually just meet costs.

In the Holland area there are about a dozen drivers with the number of fans running in the hundreds. Hot rod racing is becoming a thing of the past as it is getting increasingly difficult to get old cars. Now the trend is, of all things, to racing late model cars.

Originally they were raced strictly "stock," just as they came from the factory. Now it is legal to change "anything in the motor that can't be seen." It appears that the trend will remain toward the use of these modified "stock" autos.
