Board Dumps Plan to Hire Comptroller

Dutch Elm Disease
Hits Over 16,000
Trees in Ottawa

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — By a vote of 21 to 10, the Ottawa County Board of Supervisors Tuesday rejected plans for hiring a county comptroller, a subject which has been under study for many months.

The vote was clear-cut with all supervisors from Holland city and Grand Haven city and one from Hudsonville city voting affirmative and all others voting no. According to action taken last October, the board approved a comptroller and provided the necessary funds. City Attorney James E. Townsend of Holland reviewed the action for the benefit of new members. George Swart of Grand Haven said it would be a step forward in efficiency and stability of county government.

Henry Slaughter of Tallmadge Township, describing himself as "one of the old school," said the county has not been in financial distress for 20 years and is all right now. "When you have something good, why go into something you know nothing about?" he asked. He characterized the whole move as "just a foot in the door." "We aren't big enough any more to make our own assessments and the townships will be on the way out just like the schools, and if we continue on, there won't be any township officers."

John Hassold of Chester Township, siding with Slaughter, said constituents would say that supervisors no longer know how to run their business and need a comptroller.

Gerritt Bottema of Spring Lake, who has opposed such a reorganization for many years, said, "We don't need an $8,000 - a year caddy to keep our eye on the ball. We can keep our eye on the ball ourselves, and unless the comptroller is given dictatorial powers, he would be no less than another committee of the Board of Supervisors."

After the vote, Mayor Robert Visscher, chairman of the special committee which screened applicants for the new position, requested that the committee be discharged and that $200 be allowed for expenses of applicants called to Grand Haven for interviews. Both were allowed.

In other business, Henrik Stafseth, county engineer who has been absent for some time because of ill health, summarized road needs as submitted to the Michigan State Highway Department. On the basis of the next 20 years, primary roads in the county will cost $14,093,000 and the local road system $27,061,200. According to state standards, only 10 per cent of the present local road system is adequate.

Stafseth called attention to the growing problem of trash and litter on highways, and showed picture of county crews picking up truckloads of trash and other substance on highways. He commended townships which provide dumps, deriding the litter problem on roads.

He informed supervisors that the county has a Dutch Elm Disease problem, and that 6,000 to 20,000 elm trees should be removed. Because tree removal is specialized work, he said it was best for owners not to remove the trees themselves but to contact power companies which usually are willing to cooperate.

Lawrence Wade, chairman of a special airport committee, said he has received no reports from the West Michigan Airport Development committee since the FAA approved the Cascade site and asked that the committee be dissolved.

The board granted transfer of $300 from the contingency fund to the agricultural committee for rent payment on the new Zealand office.

Reappointed to serve another year on the Driver Safety Committee were Holland Municipal Judge Cornelius van der Meulen, Justice Eva Workman of Spring Lake, and Edward Dinkel and Edward Wezeman, citizens-at-large. The board adopted a resolution requiring licensing of all dogs leaving the animal shelter of the Ottawa County Humane Society.

The board expects to appoint a member to the welfare commission at today's session succeeding the late James S. Van Volkenburgh. Dr. Ralph Ten Have of the County Health Department also is scheduled to appear at today's meeting which is expected to be the last of the June session.

Summer Tax Bills Being Processed

Summer tax bills are presently being prepared in the city assessor's office and will be in the mail about July 15, City Assessor William Koop said today. Summer tax bills usually are in the mail July 1, but the delay this year is caused by a heavy workload as the result of the 1958 annexation program.

Summer tax bills cover city and school taxes in the original city and in the Apple Avenue area which has annexed to the school district. Maplewood and Montello Park areas have not yet annexed to the school districts and their school tax will not be on summer tax bills this year, but will appear on the fall tax bills. Koop explained this is done because of possibilities that the two districts will levy special operating millage such as they have done in the past. These elections have not yet been scheduled.

School taxes for Maplewood and Montello Park districts will be processed on fall tax bills along with county taxes in the city assessor's office.

School taxes for city residents in Apple Ave. area will be different from the school tax rate in the city, since each will retain its own school debt service. Apple Avenue residents are paying on two bond issues.

Court House Alterations Approved

Supervisors Refuse
To Enclose Main
Staircase at Present

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — There'll be some changes made in the county court house in Grand Haven, but county supervisors aren't going to enclose the stairwell immediately and spoil the architectural charm of the upper levels of the old building.

At the closing meeting of the June session Wednesday, supervisors authorized the buildings and grounds committee to proceed with "altering and improving" the court house, based on recommendations from the state fire marshal submitted last year. This was a 12-point program requiring more fire exits, electric exit signs, anti-panic hardware, better storage facilities, and the like.

Last October, the board authorized up to $5,000 for alterations and instructed the building committee to obtain bids. Chairman Case Szopinski of Robinson Township reported Wednesday that all recommended changes with the exception of closing the stairwell would cost $4,500 and the stair closing would cost close to $1,700.

In general, supervisors had little or no objections to changes other than enclosing the staircase. But the vision on the upper floor of a tent-like enclosure beneath the vaulted dome was just too much. There were some rumblings on what Allegan would be expected to do, and a question about the state capitol. But as Chairman Szopinski said, "That's not our territory."

Alterations call for a new fire escape near the southwest corner of the court room, installation of anti-panic hardware, approved storage areas, and installation of an approved electrical fire alarm system.

A request from Dr. Ralph Ten Have, county health director, to reinstate Kathryn Groenewelt in the Michigan Employment Retirement System was referred to the county officers committee to report back at a future session. Miss Groenewelt, a previous employee, has returned to the county department after an absence of nine years. Reinstating her in the retirement system would cost the county $146 a year in addition to what she herself pays in.

The board was invited to attend the 23rd annual conference of the Michigan Association of county officials to be held in Detroit July 25 to 29.

The board spent considerable time discussing a request from Grand Haven city for a contribution for office space in the city hall building used by the county welfare offices. Richard Cook of Grand Haven suggested a rental of $60 a month, pointing out that rent, telephone service, janitor service, and the like, would cost more than $200 a month if the department sought other quarters. Telephone service has been through the building switchboard. The matter was referred to the Ottawa County Welfare Commission with power to act.

Cook pointed out that since the Holland office has left Holland city hall for the new county branch building north of the city the telephone bills are $100 more a month than before. "They've got a lot of new-fangled ideas, new telephone outlets and whatnot," he said.

Mayor Robert Visscher of Holland sympathized with the city of Grand Haven in its troubles in space and traffic in the city hall, and felt Grand Haven is entitled to some compensation for its trouble.

The board adjourned subject to the call of the chair.

Ottawa School Annexes To Zeeland District

OTTAWA STATION (Special) — Ottawa School District, Olive No. 1, voted 14 to 0 to annex to the Zeeland school district in a special election last Thursday.

On a second ballot on the quest of sharing indebtedness, the district voted 12 in favor with two void ballots. Ottawa district has no debt.

On a third ballot, the district voted 9 to 3 to raise tax millage on school operations to equal that of Zeeland. Zeeland city will vote in July to spread 9 mills for school operations. Since Olive township is limited to 8.07 mills, this means the Olive district will raise operating millage by .33 mill.

Working at the polls were Mrs. Margaret Geertman, Mrs. Mildred De Haan, Mrs. Clarissa Snyder and Mrs. Edith Jackson. The latter is township clerk.

An audit report featured the regular meeting of the Eagle Auxiliary last Friday with Mrs. Geraldine Austin, president, presiding. The charter was draped for a charter member. Winning prizes were the Mesdames Elsie Ver Hey, Janet Raffenaud, Stella Kay, Bertha Driy, Marie Slayter and Jean Kuhlman. The next meeting is scheduled for July 10.

Driver Refund Checks in Mail By June 30

Holland High School office personnel have been preparing checks for mailing for reimbursement of $5 driver education fees collected the past year in the driver training program. It is expected checks will be in the mail by June 30 and students receiving them are asked to cash them immediately.

The reimbursement involves 501 checks for a total of $2,505. Christian High School office personnel are addressing envelopes for Christian High students.

School officials expressed sincere appreciation for excellent cooperation of students and parents in collecting the fee. Fees were ordered returned by state officials after State Rep. Riemer Van Til of Holland protested the payment on grounds that such fees could not be collected legally.

School officials pointed out that the state has paid only $12.13 per student the past year instead of the reimbursing up to $25 per student. Average cost per student in Michigan is $43.70, although the local system has held costs down to $22 to $24.

Dismissal Sought in Crachy Case

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Elmer Joseph Crachy, 31, Chicago, pleaded not guilty in Ottawa Circuit Court at noon today to a charge of nighttime breaking and entering.

After his not guilty plea, defense counsel moved to suppress the evidence and dismiss the case on the grounds that the exhibits introduced at the preliminary hearing a week ago were obtained without a search warrant, and involved illegal search and seizure.

Crachy, charged with entering Plumb's supermarket in Grand Haven May 7 in which $900 in cash, a quantity of cigarettes and 150 pairs of nylons were missing, had been stopped in New Buffalo by a state trooper for exceeding the speed limit. Contents in the car, later linked with the supermarket break-in, were confiscated at that time.

Judge Raymond L. Smith instructed defense counsel and the prosecuting attorney to file briefs on the motion, after which the court will rule on the motion.

Judge Smith also has taken under consideration a defense counsel request to reduce the $15,000 bond to $5,000. Crachy is under $7,500 bond in Berrien County and $5,000 in Van Buren County. City police were informed that latter bond had been revoked.

Emmett Brown Is Found Guilty Of Manslaughter

SATISFIED WITH VERDICT — Emmett Brown, 37, of route 4, Holland, (right) shakes hands with his attorney, Walter Roper, after being found guilty of manslaughter Wednesday in Circuit Court at Grand Haven, in connection with the Feb. 18 killing of Gilberto Rivera, 32. Looking on is Attorney John Galien Jr. Brown said he was satisfied with the verdict, reached by a jury of 10 men and two women after an hour and 35 minutes of deliberation. Brown will return for sentence July 16, and is being held at Ottawa County Jail on $2,500 bond. (Sentinel photo)

Jury Is Out Only 1 Hour, 35 Minutes

Takes Verdict Calmly,
Must Return July 16
To Hear Sentence

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — A Circuit Court jury deliberated only one hour and 35 minutes Wednesday afternoon before finding Emmett Brown, 37, of route 4, Holland, guilty of manslaughter in the Feb. 18 slaying of Gilberto Rivera.

Rivera, 32, of 252 East Ninth St., died a few hours after being shot in the abdomen at the home of Mrs. Katherine Simpson, 5289 North 136th Ave., Brown who had admitted firing the fatal shot but claimed it was an accident, was charged with murder.

Brown, who heard the verdict calmly, indicated that he was satisfied with the decision. The case has been referred to the Probation Department for pre-sentence investigation and Judge Raymond L. Smith set July 16 as the date for sentence. Bond of $2,500 was not furnished. The maximum sentence for manslaughter is 15 years in prison, or a fine of $7,500, or both.

Judge Smith finished his instructions and the case was given to the jury at 3:30 p.m. At 4:40 p.m. there was a flurry of excitement as the buzzer sounded from the locked jury room, but jury members wanted only additional information and instructions from Judge Smith, who again defined the term "malice" in the legal sense.

The jury went back to their locked room at 4:50 p.m. and 15 minutes later rang the buzzer to announce their verdict. The foreman and spokesman of the jury was Elmer Morrow, a retired professor from Robinson Township. Judge Smith thanked the ten men and two women of the jury for excellent work on a difficult case.

In contrast to the full courtroom during the trial, the verdict was given before a nearly empty court, with just a few of Brown's and Rivera's friends and relatives and a couple of onlookers present. Throughout the trial, Mrs. Leonard Brown had sat behind her husband, holding their six-week-old daughter, Penelope, with daughters Sylvia, 17, and Emetta, 2, beside her.

Prosecutor James W. Bussard had rested the People's case at 11:35 a.m., and Defense Attorney Walter Roper called as his first witness Brown himself. Rapidly without hesitation, Brown told his story of the killing, reiterating that it was an accident. On cross-examination, Bussard brought out that Brown had twice been convicted in Illinois for carrying weapons illegally.

In a 20-minute speech to the jury, Bussard charged that the witnesses "obviously" had not told all they had seen and heard concerning the shooting, and cited several examples of evasiveness and inconsistencies in witnesses' testimony.

Stating that the jurors must decide for themselves what the actual facts were on the basis of common sense, Bussard stressed strongly the testimony which revealed that, immediately after the shooting, Brown pointed at Mrs. Simpson and said, "I ought to shoot you too; you're the cause of it all."

The prosecutor said this statement showed the malice which warranted a verdict of second-degree murder, as did the very act of pulling a loaded weapon and cocking it, on a "friend."

In his 25-minute answering statement, Defense Attorney Roper again drew the picture of a friendly gathering at which a "shocking" accident happened. Concerning Brown's statement to Mrs. Simpson after the shooting, Roper said that it is a natural human reaction, in a time of great stress, to attempt to shift the blame for a tragedy onto someone else.

Bussard then close the case with a 15-minute statement and Judge Smith, speaking slowly, carefully and defining his terms, instructed the jury for 40 minutes.

Judge Smith charged the jurors to ignore the possibility of murder in the first degree, "since there appears to be a total absence of premeditation here." As to the second-degree murder charge sought by the prosecution, the judge told the jurors that if they believed Brown had killed Rivera with malice, expressed or implied, they must find him guilty of murder in the second degree.

While Miles is trying the tax case, Assistant U. S. Attorney Robert J. Danhof is trying a criminal case in federal court in which it is claimed the assistant postmaster of Negaunee embezzled $1,100 of government funds.

Allegan Has Meeting

ALLEGAN (Special) — A proposal to abolish the office of assistant city assessor by Councilman William Whitcomb died for lack of a second to his motion at the Allegan city council meeting Wednesday night.

The other four members of the council strongly defended the need for the job, now held by Clarence Wise. But Whitcomb persisted in making the motion.

Whitcomb is still smarting from the fact that the city has contracted with an appraisal firm for a re-appraisal for all personal property within the city. His was the lone dissent by the Council when it voted 4-1 Wednesday to set up roadside tables on the city's Four Corners Park on Marshall St. This action had been blocked by petition from persons owning property adjacent to the park.

Councilmen voting for the move felt that the tables should be given a fair try. City Manager P. H. Beauvais was directed to lead a study of two types of ordinances for possible use in Allegan.

One was control of distressed property and the other to provide health and safety controls for private swimming pools.

Beauvais reported that the state health department had been cooperative in assisting Don Forster in his new post as supervisor of the sewage-treatment plant but added that the department has warned that it still intends to go to court in an effort to compel the city to employ a licensed operator.

Receipt of an $8,350 emergency appropriation from the state highway department was reported by Beauvais. The money was allocated because of last winter's unusual demand for snow and ice control and clearing of catch spaces on state trunklines within the city.

Large Bond Is Reduced To $15,000

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Elmer Joseph Crachy, 31, Chicago, was bound over to Circuit Court following a preliminary examination Thursday afternoon before Municipal Judge Jacob Ponstein on a charge of nighttime breaking and entering.

The offense involves a job at Pumb's super market on Beacon Blvd. May 7 in which $900 was taken from a safe along with a large quantity of cigarettes, 150 pairs of nylon hose and other merchandise.

Crachy was brought to Grand Haven from Berrien County where he was released on $7,200 bond facing charges of possessing burglary tools and stolen property. He also has been released from Van Buren county on $5,000 bond facing nighttime breaking and entering charges.

Judge Ponstein reduced his $25,000 bond to $15,000 Thursday. It was not furnished and Crachy was committed to the county jail to await arraignment in Circuit Court June 25 at 11:30 a.m.

A companion, Edmund Allen, 30, also of Chicago, is currently held in Van Buren county unable to furnish bond. The pair was arrested in New Buffalo May 19 on a traffic violation. Investigation revealed burglary tools which linked the pair with the Grand Haven break-in.

Lee York Sets Record

Breaking records is getting to be a habit with Lee York.

The slender veteran archer, who lives in Zeeland, broke the Holland Archery Club outdoor record for the third straight time in as many weeks Wednesday night with a 454 score at the local course located at the Holland Fish and Game club grounds.

Last week, York had fired a 433 to break the 431 mark he set two weeks ago. A perfect field score is 560. York was shooting free style. Max Bakker took second free style honors with a 401. Dave Doyle's 321 was high in the instinctive division.

Full House Greet Opening Of Red Barn

A gay first night audience filled the Red Barn Theater Saturday night for the season's grand opening and enthusiastically applauded the New York professionals in the popular comedy, "The Happiest Millionaire," based on the zany antics in the household of the eccentric Philadelphia millionaire, Anthony J. Drexl Biddle.

"The Happiest Millionaire" was a happy choice for the Red Barn's opening production which launches a 15-week season running all the way to Oct. 3. Producer - Director James Dyas' actors seemed to have a great deal of fun as they moved through the dizzying pace, and this spirit of fun spread to the big audience, with everybody having a wonderful time.

Limitations of a small stage had little effect on a rather large cast and whether it was boxing, dancing, emoting, or ladies running from alligators, the staging was adequate. J. C. Howe's set of the lush Philadelphia mansion was particularly effective.

Alan James, newcomer to the Red Barn this year, revealed in the title role, making the most of his bombastic part, yet not overplaying it as is often the temptation. By contrast, Dorothy Lee Tompkins, leading lady for a third successive season at the Red Barn, was just the right kind of calm and understanding wife for such a man.

Sharing the spotlight with Alan James was Leta Anderson as daughter Cordelia, the best boxer in the family next to papa. Her madcap antics in running away from school, becoming engaged to a scion of the Duke family, and the resultant mixed-up marriage plans, provide the meat for the plot. She had strong support from her leading man, William Cain, as Angier Duke, the heir to 90 millions whereas father was no snob with only one million.

Helen Ross and Lisa Marshall, newcomers this year, vied for laughs in their roles as Aunt Mary Drexel and Mrs. Benjamin Duke, both domineering characters upholding the strength and dignity of their clans. Jack Donner appeared as the butler, Marcia Faucher as Cordelia's jealous cousin, and Donald Judge and Gerald Karp as the Biddle sons. James White of Holland appeared as O'Malley, a sparring partner of father whose interest in boxing and Bible class teaching were just about equal.

The play reopens tonight at 8:30 p.m. and runs the remainder of the week with two shows on Saturday, a beachcomber show at 5:30 p.m. and a late show at 9 p.m.

Holland Man Hurt In Three-Car Crash

The third car, driven by Richard Payne, 33, of 2077 West 32nd St., was unable to avoid a collision with Dusterwinkle's car, police said.

Officers ticketed Ansell for making an improper right turn, and charged Dusterwinkle with failure to keep an assured clear distance. Damage was estimated by troopers at $200 to Ansell's 1950 model car, at $400 to Dusterwinkle's 1952 model car, and at $150 to Payne's 1952 model car.

Board Okays Preliminary Jail Plans

GRAND HAVEN (Special) Preliminary plans for a new jail for Ottawa County were approved by the Board of Supervisors Tuesday following a presentation by the architectural firm of Vander Meiden and Koteles of Grand Haven.

Preliminary plans call for a jail to house 60 prisoners to be built at the corner of Fourth and Franklin, running east to the present court house parking lot. The present jail, about 70 years old, is designed for 18 male prisoners, with accommodations for women in another section.

The building will be so designed that another 60 cells can be added in the future. There will be 12 maximum security cells, and off corridors will be "dormitories" designed for four to six prisoners. The whole unit is designed so that a single guard can oversee all cell blocks.

On the second floor will be living quarters for the sheriff and his family. This will consist of a living room, dining room, three bedrooms, kitchen, food storage space, utility room, bath and dumb waiter.

Temporary plans call for an outlay of $320,000. The building also will have space for doctors to examine persons for intoxication and other ills, also space for fingerprinting, clothing storage, and the like. A single boiler will provide heat for the new jail and the present courthouse. In the future, a second boiler will be installed to care for the entire development which will include a new court house on the present site.

Architects were instructed to proceed with final plans.

OUR TREES, FARMS
GARDENS & WEATHER

Recently Homer L. Jacobs of a well known tree expert company had this to say. You can feed your trees as you rid the landscaping of the tree feeders. Those extra vitamins so important to woody parts at certain times in the growing season can be dish out conveniently in a combination spray that also routs insect enemies.

Foliar feeding is recommended for such special spray situations
as the second brood of elm leaf beetles in mid-summer, Jap beetle applications or control of midsummer scale crawlers. From past experience many plants can absorb nutrient elements, such as nitrogen, through the leaves. This is provided by adding a soluble
crystalline compound, called urea,
to sprays for insects and disease.

With our smog from the great number of motor vehicles, our trees no doubt need a lot of extra attention. The experts seem to think that our city and suburban trees respond well when the feeding takes place below the surface.
This time of the year all of the foliage has shown a great amount of growth in this area. This is, no doubt due to the early spring and summer. All of the weeds are growing with great vigor along with the trees, flowers, grass and,
of course, the gardens.

Weather has quite a lot to do with all growing things. This takes in all the creatures of nature as well as the human population. Recently the United States Weather Bureau's so-called discomfort index, has appeared in print being based on the combination of heat and humidity. We,
the public, seem to like any weather information. In fact weather is always one of the top news stories of the day; this does not only apply to spring and summer.

From all indications, the public
likes to be told about the weather, good, bad or indifferent. From the recent information from the Weather Bureau people do not like the word "discomfort." The Weather Bureau seems to lean to temperature - humidity. There no doubt will be many suggestions.

Different parts of the country have different opinions. At any rate we are going to have weather.
Just what would we do if we did not have the weather to talk about?

Sunday School
Lesson

Sunday, June 28
Priest and King in Judah
II Kings 11:4, 9-13, 17-19, 21; 12:2
By C. P. Dame
(Based on copyrighted outlines produced by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U. S. A. and used by permission.)
The Bible mentions many more courageous prophets than priests.
In our lesson we are told about a dedicated priest who loved both the church and the state, Jehoiada and his devoted wife were a blessing to their nation.

I. One person can do much good or much evil. Ahab married Jezebel, a pagan princess of Tyre. Jezebel promoted Baal worship in Israel and opposed the worship of Israel's God. The daughter of Ahab and Jezebel, Athaliah, married Je-horam, the son of Jehoshaphat, king of Judah. The godly Jehoshaphat arranged this marriage thinking that it would benefit his nation politically and economically. It hurt Judah greatly. Jehoram died of a terrible disease and Ahaziah his son reigned in his stead. Jehu killed Ahaziah and then his mother Athaliah seized the throne and in order to make her position more secure killed all
"the seed royal"—her own grandchildren.

One grandchild escaped the massacre through the efforts of Jehosheba, the wife of the priest Jehoiada, who was a sister of Ahaziah, and therefore his aunt. She kept the lad in hiding until he was seven years old. The priest Jehoiada arranged to present the prince to the army's officers who did not know about the lad until the priest confided in them. When the people saw the prince they shouted, the queen heard the shouting and the blare of the trumpets
and rent her clothes and cried,
"Treason! treason!" Soldiers killed
her and thus her reign ended.

II. Rededication is beneficial.
Jehoiada won the support of the army but that was not enough. The priest was a religious leader. In the nation there was a conflict between Baal worship and the worship of God. The nation's historic religion was the worship of the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob.
It was high time that the nation
should rededicate itself to the worship of the true God. Jehoiada did a wise thing when he "made a covenant between the Lord and the king and the people, that they should be the Lord's people; between the king also and the people." The nation belonged to the Lord but many people had forsaken Him. They needed to be made conscious again of their relationship to God. They had not always acted as the Lord's people. Today too the Lord has His people.

The people showed that they wanted to be the Lord's people again by they broke down the house of Baal and slew Mattan the priest of Baal. The time had come for action. The fact that they pledged allegiance to the Lord meant that they were opposed to Baal. When we stand for something we also stand against something.

In our time many people do not stand for anything and they fail for almost anything that comes along. Christians who have pledged loyalty to the Lord have also taken a stand against all that opposes the Lord. This should be remembered into his day of compromise, appeasement and flexibility. Christians are in deadly opposition to communism.

III. Some people are by nature leaders. As long as Jehoiada the priest lived the young king Joash did well but after his death he got under the control of the princes of Judah who were opposed to Jehoiada. The king forsook the teachings of Jehoiada and therefore the son of the priest, Zechariah, objected to the apostasy and was killed by the command of Joash who forgot his obligation to Jehoiada who had shown him kindness. Conspirators slew Joash the king. Sin does not pay.

No Rubbish Fires

At New Township Dump

Holland Township Fire Marshal Andrew Westenbroek reminded residents that fires are prohibited in the new township dump which opened Monday at 142nd Ave. and Quincy St.

The reminder came after firemen from the No. 1 and 2 fire departments were called at 9:20 p.m. Saturday to extinguish a fire at the dump which had not even been opened for public use. Two trucks were on the scene until 10:30. Westenbroek said that another fire started in another part of the dump Sunday afternoon, but was put out without the aid of firemen.

Westenbroek said that the dump is to operate on a no-fires-at-anytime basis, with full dirt being used to cover all refuse. Persons in violation of this rule will be penalized for starting a rubbish fire without a permit.

In brief, each city, village and township police and county sheriff's department, plus each state police post, totaling 253 agencies, has a predetermined schedule of blockade points to cover. The schedule is catalogued, and each agency has a copy of the plan.

The areas to be covered are divided into sections, with more than 50 additional agencies cruising roads in their respective areas
ready to assist or relieve at control points.

Holland police have four blockade points which can be manned almost immediately in case of an alert. The Ottawa County Sheriff's department also has four checkpoints, with Zeeland and Hudsonville police working with the sheriff's department.

Local forces will be called into action on any fleeing fugitive in Ottawa, Allegan, Kent, Kalamazoo
and Van Buren Counties.

One of the great difficulties in setting up blockades has been the time element, as each affected post was notified separately and everything repeated. Now, one terse announcement will set the entire machinery in motion at a moment's notice.

The plan, for the lower peninsula only, was set up by a special Michigan "blockade committee," representing the Michigan Sheriff's Association, the Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police and the State Police. The Upper Peninsula, with only a few good "escape"
highways, already has a blockade plan, but the new system may be extended there later.

The system was instituted as the result of many unsatisfactory experiences, as in several murder incidents when the slayers were able to cross state border lines ahead of blockades set up on the spur of the moment.

Netherlands Visitor Works,
Spends Summer in Holland

Would you like to visit a foreign country, take a job for three months and learn while living among the people of the country?
A girl from the Netherlands is finishing her second full week in Holland doing all these things.
Miss Renata Schlichting, 21, from Nijmegen, has already high school,
a year's secretarial course and six months work behind her.

Miss Schlichting said that she lived in the U.S. and Canada from 1946 to 1950 while her father worked for the United Nations and in the Netherlands Embassy in Canada. Even though a child, she said she knew that she loved both countries and always wanted to return, at least for an extended visit.

Under the sponsorship of Willard
C. Wichers, director of the Netherlands Information Service, Miss Schlichting will be working in his office for the summer.

What are her impressions?
Up to now the blue-eyed blond loves the water and is surprised at the length of women's skirts. In the Netherlands, she says, hem-lines rest on the knee cap. Bermuda shorts are also a strange sight for her.

After the summer Miss Schlicht-

ing says she plans to return to her home country to stay with her parents. An only child, her father is a professor of political science in the Netherlands' only Roman Catholic University.

During her stay in Holland Miss Schlichting is living with Miss Gertrude Ponstein, of 38 East 32nd St.

Ceremonies Mark Dedication Of Dick Smallenburg Park

In appropriate ceremonies, Smallenburg Park was dedicated Friday night in the presence of the honored guest, mayor and city officials, representatives of various civic organizations and townsfolk.

Ceremonies were held around a three-ton boulder bearing the nameplate "Smallenburg Park, Dedicated 1959."

Mayor Robert Visscher paid tribute to Smallenburg's accomplishments in his 15 years as park superintendent, to his foresight in park development and to his unstinting efforts in always doing the best for the city.

"When City Council okayed modest appropriations for developing this site which originally was purchased to keep industry from developing too close to the cemetery, Dick stretched dollars as nobody ever stretched them before for the city," the mayor said.

Presiding was Councilman Ernest Phillips, chairman of the special Council committee for the park dedication.

The Rev. Henry A. Mouw, pastor of Sixth Reformed Church, expressed the gratitude of the citizens of Holland for the new park and other parks which long have been a source of pride for townsfolk. "Visitors to our city are always impressed by our churches, our schools and our parks, and Dick Smallenburg's efforts in developing this park and other beautiful spots in the city are certainly appreciated," he said.

Rev. Mouw cited some biographical material with emphasis on Smallenburg's Dutch background and his untiring efforts for Tulip Time, a festival which has given the city nationwide prominence. "We are glad to give roses to the living, and glad Dick is here with us tonight to share this honor," he said.

Smallenburg, who retired last April after 30 years with the park department, commented briefly, thanking mayor and Council for the honor and expressed gratitude for the presence of his many friends and co-workers.

Sixteenth Street Christian Reformed Church was adorned with palms, ferns and candelabra and baskets of white majestic daisies and gladioli for the double ring wedding of Miss LaMae Joyce Zwiers and James Marvin De Vries, at 3 p.m. Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Zwiers of 344 Washington Blvd. are the parents of the bride. The groom is the son of Mrs. Marvin De Vries of 223 West Ninth St. and the late Mr. De Vries.

The Rev. J. Herbert Brink performed the ceremony. John Hoogstra was organist and Raymond Roth sang "The Pledge," "The Lord's Prayer" and "The Wedding Benediction."

Wearing a floor length gown of taffeta, the bride approached the altar with her father. Her gown was designed with a sabrina neckline outlined with Venice lace embroidered in sequins and pearls. The bouffant skirt with graduated bustles flowed into a chapel-length train. Her elbow-length veil of French illusion was held by a crown of sequins. She carried a white Bible with an orchid.

The bride's sister, Miss Carol Ann Zwiers, as maid of honor, wore a gown of white embroidered nylon over taffeta. The ballerina skirt featured a green cummerbund and sash. She wore a matching green headband and carried pink and red hand daisies. The bridesmaids, Miss Winifred De Kriyer of Kalamazoo and Miss Faith Schemper of Grand Rapids wore ensembles like the maid of honor's and carried bouquets of paler shades of pink and lavender daisies.

John Frederick Padgett of Grandville was best man. The ushers were Theodore Bosch, Robert Smith and Ronald Vander Hill.

Supervisors From Allegan Start Session

ALLEGAN — An urgent plea for an increase in the county's appropriation for support of the Kalamazoo Child Guidance Clinic by Mrs. Forrest Burchfield, Plainwell, president of the clinic's board of trustees, was the first item on the agenda for the June session of Allegan County board of supervisors Monday morning.

Mrs. Burchfield, urging the board to reconsider its $400 allocation to the clinic, said that supervisors in all five counties now served by the clinic had agreed to share in financial responsibility for the institution when it was established in 1942.

She pointed out that while between 45 and 50 county children are being cared for by the clinic, at least 250 more are in need of care. She said the fact that the clinic has only one psychiatrist has resulted in a "terrific waiting list." A second part-time psychiatrist will be available to the clinic, she indicated, if sufficient funds can be raised.

Although Allegan county's "fair share" of the clinic's $36,000 budget would amount to $6,256, Mrs. Burchfield said that a $1,000 appropriation from the county would be "in keeping" with funds provided by other counties served by the clinic.

Frank A. Miller will replace Richard Cutshaw as Plainwell city supervisor. The board was notified of the change by City Clerk Fanny Pell who said that the Plainwell council had declared the office vacant after Cutshaw had failed to attend all but one supervisor's meeting during the April session. The city's other member, Ernest Aungst, has replaced Cutshaw as the city's assessing officer.

Greg Nulty, Otsego, chairman of the special court house building committee, told supervisors that architect, R. S. Gerganoff, of Ypsilanti, would present preliminary plans for the new county building this week. Nulty said changes in the plans are being made constantly as various department heads confer with the architect.

Edward W. Kane, of the state tax commission staff, informed the board that it might be necessary to hold a hearing before the board regarding Fillmore township's appeal for revision of its tax base as equalized by supervisors in April. Kane said the commission had granted Fillmore's request for an investigation and that the probe is now in progress. Until the commission rules on Fillmore's appeal, the county's state equalized tax assessment will not be set, Kane indicated.

Seven Witnesses Are Called In First Day of Brown Trial

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Seven persons Monday afternoon testified at the murder trial of Emmett Brown as Prosecutor James W. Bussard sought to reconstruct the events leading up to and following the fatal shooting of Gilberto Rivera on Feb. 18. Not all of the accounts agreed.

Brown, 37, of route 4, Holland, has maintained that he pulled a .38 caliber revolver on Rivera just to scare him, when Rivera tried to force drinks upon him. The gun discharged and Rivera, 32, of 252 East Ninth St., died a few hours later at Holland Hospital, shot in the lower abdomen.

As reconstructed by Bussard, a "party" began in the Katherine Simpson home, at 5289 North 136th Ave., late in the afternoon of Feb. 18, with about a dozen persons in the small home when the shooting occurred, about 10:20 p.m.

Four of the witnesses were in the room when the shooting occurred, yet all testified that they did not actually see the shooting. One testified that she did not hear the shot fired. Three said they heard no arguing prior to the shot. One testified that he did hear Brown and Rivera arguing.

Prosecutor Bussard, in his opening statement, said that he intended to present the simple facts of the case, and on these simple facts of the shooting, intended to prove that the defendant was guilty of murder.

Defense Attorney Walter Roper of Holland, in his opening statement, told the story of a "friendly gathering" at the Simpson home, and said he intended to prove that Brown had no intention of shooting or killing Rivera.

The first witness called by the prosecution was Chief Deputy Merim Timmer of the Holland branch office, who testified that he was the first officer on the scene and started the investigation.

Timmer related that as he walked toward the house from his car, carrying a rifle, Brown called to him from the front porch, "You don't need that (rifle). I could shoot you from here." Holding the rifle on Brown, Timmer said, he walked up and pulled the revolver from Brown's waistband.

Timmer testified that he found Rivera in the bathroom, bleeding badly, and that Brown helped him move Rivera, a large man, to the living room, where they laid him on the floor.

Mrs. Rose Marshall, who lives at the Simpson home, was called as the second witness. She said that among those present that evening were herself, Mrs. Simpson, Brown, Rivera, Marcus L. Simpson, a cousin of Mrs. Simpson's husband, Ellis L. Matkovich, a nearby gas station operator, Mrs. Marshall's 17-year-old son, Robert L., Mr. and Mrs. Willie Price and Mr. and Mrs. Eli Williams.

Brown had been at the home most of the day, Mrs. Marshall said, working on the pump in the basement. She said she was in the living room, talking with various persons, when the shooting occurred within a few feet of her, but she did not hear the shot.

According to testimony during the afternoon, a photograph, the television set and a radio were playing. Witnesses also testified that those present were drinking various alcoholic beverages.

Then, Mrs. Marshall related, she heard Mrs. Simpson say, "Did you shoot him," and someone said, "He shot him," and she saw Rivera sitting in a chair near the hallway to the kitchen.

Mrs. Marshall then told Prosecutor Bussard that she did not see Brown in the room and certainly did not see a gun in his hand. Over objections by defense attorney Roper, Bussard told Judge Raymond L. Smith that Mrs. Marshall was a hostile witness and introduced a stenographic record of previous answers given by Mrs. Marshall to Sheriff Bernard Grysen, in which she said she saw

Brown in the room and the gun in his hand.

After the reading of the former answers, Mrs. Marshall changed her story and admitted seeing Brown. She said she had heard no arguing previously.

Dr. Edwin Vander Berg of Holland, called as the next witness, testified that he had been Rivera's doctor and had attended him the night of the shooting, stating that Rivera would not submit to surgery for several hours. He said, however, that he believed that Rivera would have died even if he had been operated upon immediately. He said Rivera died of traumatic shock, caused by massive tissue damage.

Dr. Vander Berg testified that the slug entered Rivera's lower left abdomen from a high, 45-degree angle. He theorized that either the gun had been held high or Rivera had been shot while bending over forward.

After the noon recess, Bussard called Ellis Matkovich to the stand. Matkovich testified that he had been drinking since afternoon, had not eaten, and was quite hazy on what had happened. He said he heard the gun go off while he sat in the room near the front door and immediately bolted out of the door and drove away. He said he did not see the shooting and did not hear any argument.

As the fifth witness, Bussard called Howard De Heer, a special deputy who testified that he had been at Holland Hospital with Sheriff Grysen and had taken statements, which he had written down, from Rivera before he died. Roper objected that this was hearsay evidence, and the judge sustained the objection.

Marcus Lee Simpson, the sixth witness, said that he was watching television when he heard the gun go off, and he immediately grabbed his coat and ran from the house. He said he had heard no arguing.

The final witness, Robert L. Marshall, said that he had been playing records in the living room and had heard Brown and Rivera arguing, although he was not sure what they were arguing about. He said that prior to the shot, he had heard Brown say, "Don't come any closer."

Marshall said that after the shot, he heard Brown say, to Rivera, "Sit down before you bleed to death," and "Call an ambulance." The youth testified that he was facing Rivera at the time and Rivera, standing straight up, clutched at his stomach and slumped toward a chair.

Then Mrs. Simpson tried to call an ambulance and police, Marshall said, but apparently couldn't, and Brown himself made the calls. As Mrs. Simpson was trying to telephone, Brown pointed the gun at her and said, "I should shoot you too; you was the cause of it all," he testified. Marshall said the gun was cocked, with the hammer back, as Brown spoke to Mrs. Simpson.

The youth estimated that Brown was about 10 feet away from Rivera at the time of the shooting. He said that after the shooting, he left.

Throughout the testimony, Brown sat impassive at the table with his attorneys, Roper and John Gallen, chewing gum and showing no emotion. Under the table, however, his hands twisted in "dry-washing." He was dressed in a dark-blue suit, with a blue and white checked sport shirt.

Witnesses testified that guns were Brown's hobby, and he carried his revolver with him everywhere he went, "even to feed the chickens." It was brought out that Brown frequently practiced on targets and the fast draw, and was a good shot.

Women can sing at a higher pitch than men because their vocal cords — which are 30 per cent shorter — vibrate twice as fast as those of men.
