Banquet speaker Saturday was Bishop Clyde W. Meadows of Chambersburg, Pa., president of the International Christian Endeavor Society. Bishop Meadows has been present for the entire convention and conducted closing moments at the Thursday and Friday night sessions. Music was provided by the Gospelaires, Vern Boss of Grand Rapids will be toastmaster.

The four-day convention concluded with a dedication service in the host church at 2:30 p.m. Sunday with Bishop Meadows giving the closing message.

A convention highlight Friday night was a message by Dr. George K. Schweitzer of the University of Tennessee at Knoxville, Tenn., who told the young delegates that the presence of God is entirely consistent in the scientific world.

"The very fact that we cannot prove God to you, nor disprove Him, leads to the very essence of faith which is the most important part of the Christian religion. If we could 'prove' all these things, there would be no need for faith. Observe the universe with its energy, matter and space, and you have a feeble idea of the power of the creator," he said.

"More than a million different substances in the world today are associated with 103 basic materials. Plant life, human life, the solar system and the galaxies all denote order. Order leads to design and design implies intelligence which is akin to personality.

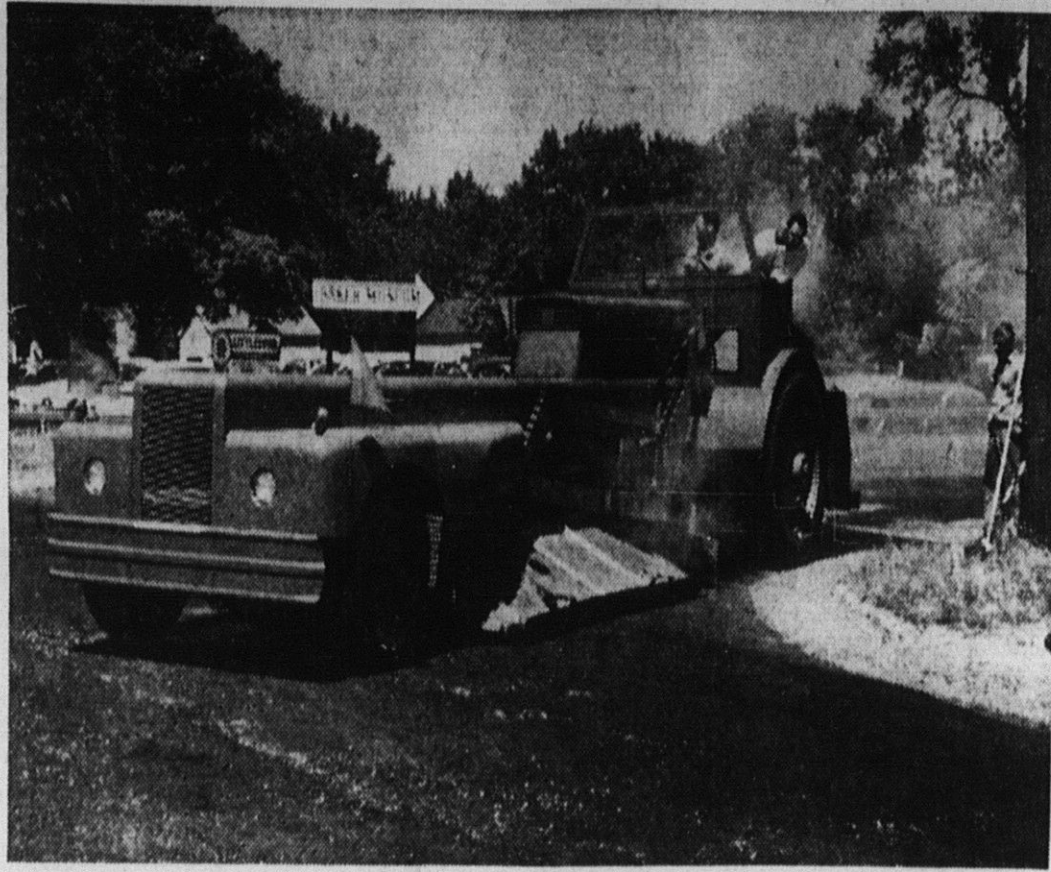

"Most of us don't know what faith is, yet we believe. The person who says he must 'see' certainly has never seen an electron or a neutron; the doctor who says he has never seen a soul also has never seen pain; the person who takes an aspirin believes the label on the bottle and is not concerned that a deadly drug has been substituted. None of you present tonight has figured the stress and strain of this church roof to guarantee it won't fall on you. Those of you in the pews have not checked scientifically on the strength of that pew. I as a scientist live in the faith of other scientists.

MACHINE REMOVES OLD PAVEMENT — Shown removing the old top 3/4 inch layer of asphalt on the corner of Columbia Ave. and Sixth St. is this heat plane machine. It melts the street covering with a 2200 degree flame, generated by burning fuel oil atomized under high pressure. Scraper blades then pile the old coating into windrows which a tractor picks up and carries away. Over 4,000 square yards of material can be removed in a day. The summer resurfacing program is expected to last three weeks and to replace some 30,000 square yards of coating on several city streets. (Sentinel photo)

Allegan Cuts Health Service

ALLEGAN — According to Dr. A. B. Mitchell, Director, Allegan County Health Department, services will be curtailed for the coming year because of a cut in appropriations.

Dr. Mitchell says that due to a recent action of the Board of Supervisors, the Health Department will be operating with $10,000 less than the cost of maintaining its present program. He said the reduction in services would be most noticeable in the environmental health program, which includes school sanitation, resort inspection, and the housing program.

Mitchell's office released a table of hours spent in 1962 on the various programs and also showed the extended hour schedule for 1963. Three thousand or more hours were spent in 1962 in work on the environmental health program; 2100 hours have been scheduled for next year, according to this report.

The Allegan County Health Department, unlike other county agencies, has always operated with a reserve fund deposited in the County Treasurer's office, before any vouchers were drawn against the account. Last October the finance committee of the Board of Supervisors cut their budget request by the amount of this balance deposited with the treasurer, necessitating the economy measures announced this week by Dr. Mitchell.

Supervisors Back Water, Sewer Setup

Allendale, Georgetown Townships in Service Program With College

GRAND HAVEN — Ottawa county's Board of Supervisors voted almost 100 per cent Wednesday to back up Allendale and Georgetown townships in connection with financing water and sewer facilities at the new Grand Valley State College near Allendale.

After a discussion that lasted almost two hours, and after three different roll calls on the proposal, the supervisors voted 22 to 7 to adopt a resolution in connection with the projects at the new college.

The resolution, presented by Spring Lake Supervisor Gerrit Bottema, of the water and sanitation committee, was tabled following a discussion at the opening session of the June session Monday.

It was brought up again Wednesday at the final meeting of the June session by Supervisor William Kennedy of Allendale, who urged that the board support his township and Georgetown, which need the assistance of the county-at-large in the project.

The resolution authorizes the County Road Commission to act as the agent for the two townships in providing a sewer system costing $180,000 and a $270,000 water supply system. The resolution includes a section that states that the Board of Supervisors pledges the county's secondary faith and credit as additional security to the townships' primary faith and credit.

Two amendments to the resolution were voted on before the board approved the resolution. City Attorney James Townsend, Holland, proposed that an amendment restricting the projects to the college campus be included. This proposal was voted down, 17 to 12. The second amendment, that a contract between the townships and the college be negotiated, passed 29 to 0.

Some members were opposed to adopting the resolution at this time as plans for financing the projects are too indefinite. There are three ways to pay the bond issue, H. E. Stafeth, engineer-manager of the road commission, explained. The method that is most practical, Stafeth said, is a revenue bond issue, plus the pledging of the county's faith and credit. The county would be liable for the cost of the project if the two townships defaulted, but would suffer no loss. The county would pay up the bond issue and then deduct the money from the revenues received by the townships.

Kennedy, chairman of the traffic safety committee, recommended that equipment, now housed at the home of former Traffic Safety Director Donald Oosterbaan at Holland, be housed in the county branch building at Holland. A typewriter has been assigned to the new county youth home but there is other equipment, including screens and projectors, that should be placed in the care of the sheriff. This recommendation was accepted by the board.

Deputy Wallace Blair of the sheriff's department appeared before the board and was given permission to use some of the safety equipment in speeches before civic and school groups. He was also given authority to check the traffic safety signs on highways at Coopersville, Allendale and Hudsonville, informing the public on the number of traffic deaths. The board decided to turn these signs over to interested groups in the respective communities for care and maintenance.

Karsten said it is possible that some homes in the extreme southern part of the city may have a slight drop in voltage. If it does happen, Karsten said, everything will be back to normal by Monday.

Sentence Warner To 5-15 Years

City Hospital Boosts Rates On All Rooms

Effective July 1, a rate increase of $1 will be added to room rates at Holland Hospital.

This will put wards and pediatric rates at $17.50 a day, semi-private rooms at $20, private rooms at $23.50 to $25.50, and nursery at $10. The nursery rate for babies whose mothers have gone home will be $12.

There will be no change in rates for x-ray or laboratory fees. These rates have been virtually unchanged since 1958 except for a few minor adjustments.

The $1 increase is expected to bring approximately $47,000 in additional revenues for the coming year. This will go largely for hospital equipment, some new and some replacements. A third x-ray room will be added, necessitated by the volume of business.

An automatic film processor which will produce a dry film in seven minutes will be installed in the x-ray department, effecting a saving in both time and labor.

The hospital budget has earmarked $50,000 for new equipment for the coming year. Up to a few years ago, new equipment was largely financed through City Council which provided a sum each year. Gifts to the hospital also go toward equipment. In the 10 years of its existence, the Hospital Auxiliary has contributed approximately $35,000.

MICHIGAN

Traveling around the lower peninsula last week while on our way to the Michigan Press Association meeting at Boyne Mountain we found many people enjoying the beautiful June weather in our great state of Michigan. The many stretches of the new highways that are finished move the traffic along at a fast pace.

We recommend that you take some of your leisure time to move about our great state and see the many fine places that are growing up before your eyes. There are people from all over the country traveling into our Great State of Michigan. They like the lakes, the parks, the diversified industry and the beautiful, long summer days.

There is a place for almost any type of recreation. More and more golf courses of all kinds are being built and some of the older ones are being improved.

There are accommodations of all kinds. There are places where one can pitch a tent, places for picnics along the highways with tables and shade. Festivals are scheduled for many parts of the state if you like this kind of entertainment. There are also many summer theatres that are about ready to start operation.

Try out some of the new highways as well as some of the country roads and we are sure that you will find friendly people who are glad to take some of their time while they work in the great out-of-doors to answer your questions.

The fish were very cooperative in the fishing pool at Boyne. People were having a fine time with their worms and their tackle, landing some of the brook trout that measured from eight to twelve inches.

They were looking also with an anxious eye at some of the large trout that were clamoring for food in the other pool. Fishing in this pool is not allowed. Many of the trout were more than eighteen inches long and it would certainly have made a fine place for fishing.

These are known as the tame variety, as they are only for viewing while they take a handout.

There is much of the farm land in the lower peninsula that is in soil bank. We are not sure that that is good. There are all kinds of tree farms and some of the trees are now being cut for paper and lumber. Soil conservation is another story.

There are many farms that are being worked by some of the younger farmers on rental basis. This seems to be a good way for the younger people to use much of their expensive machinery.

Machinery costs a lot of dollars and in order to make the machinery pay, they need to keep it busy on more land than most people own.

Farming of all kinds can be big business if people like to work in the out-of-doors and live in the area. We also found that some of the farms owned and in the soil bank were operated by people who have jobs in the nearby communities where industry can use these people.

Driving on the new and improved highways makes it possible for these people to live at their farm home or summer cottage and have a place for all of the members of the family. Take a trip around our great state this summer and see all of the many things we are sure you will enjoy.

We heard Stephen S. Nisbet talk about Con Con and appraise the 7½ months of work of the 144 delegates and their work in completing their mission.

Then Clarence W. Lock, State Revenue Commissioner, talked about Michigan and business and the state tax reform, taking a crack at business concerning taxes. Nothing was said about the number of people on the state payroll.

He did not name any business interest. We could blow our horn about our Great State of Michigan. He said "It has become apparent, I believe, that until a substantial segment of the business community of this state gives active support to a tax reform program for Michigan, it has little chance of adoption."

Josiah's Reforms
II Kings 23:2-3, 21-27
By C. P. Dame

This lesson, the first of the new series on "Later Hebrew History and Prophets" is very timely in view of the coming national holiday. Many problems face us as a nation—one of the gravest is our godlessness. We need a revival in the land that will turn our minds to the reading of the Bible and our hearts to the worship of God.

1. The nation that loses the Bible loses God. Israel, the northern nation had already been carried off into captivity. About one hundred years after that event, young Josiah became king of Judah, the southern nation. Judah was slipping religiously. During the long reign of Manasseh, the moral and religious condition of the nation grew worse. After his conversion Manasseh tried to undo his evil deeds but that failed.

His son Ammon, who was also wicked, ruled only two years. His son, Josiah was different from his father and grandfather for he did that which was right in the sight of God. It is probable that his mother trained him in godliness. Early in life he began to seek the Lord. Blessed are they who seek the Lord early in life for they shall find Him.

Personal religion expresses itself. The Temple needed repair. The king ordered the temple to be cleansed. While doing that the "book of the law" was found. This may have been the Pentateuch or the Book of Deuteronomy. The finding of the book created a stir. Think of the strange situation—the Bible was lost and found in the House of God!

The Christian Church of the Middle Ages lost the Bible. And judging by reports it seems as if some modern churches have lost God's Word. The loss of the Bible always has sad results.

II. Finding the Bible brings blessings. As soon as Josiah heard what had happened he contacted Huldah, the prophetess, who said that the idolatrous conduct of Judah had aroused God's wrath. The king called together the people in Jerusalem and read before them from the Book and the nation once again "made a covenant before the Lord to walk after the Lord, and to keep His commandments, and His testimonies, and His statutes."

God had made a covenant with Israel at Mt. Sinai, that He would be their God and they His people but this nation had violated. The nation again observed the feast of the Passover. This was followed by moral reforms. Bible reading should be followed by the practice of biblical truths and ways of life.

The Bible gives high praise to Josiah. "And like unto him, that turned to the Lord with all his heart, and with all his soul, and with all his might, according to all the law of Moses, neither after him arose there any like him." The fine reforms and the excellent example of Josiah failed because the hearts of the people were not changed. Reformation is not enough, regeneration is essential.

Today there are plenty of proofs available to show that outward religion is not enough. In every congregation there is a real need of people who have been radically changed and consequently live completely dedicated Christian lives.

AT FURNACE MEETING — Louis Moore, a Holland Furnace Co. employee of Warren, Ohio, addresses a question to Milton J. Stevens, new owner of the company, which amuses company officials and division managers gathered on stage Monday at a company mass meeting. Moore commended the new regime for cutting prices. On stage are company officials and division managers. In foreground and at the rear of the stage are products of Holland Furnace Co. and those manufactured by Republic Trans-Con Industries, Stevens' company on the west coast. (Sentinel photo)

Furnace Officials Outline Policies

A 50 per cent slash of current Holland Furnace Co. prices, withdrawal from the heating installation business, and a threat to prosecute any employee who violates the firm's new ethical code marked a revival-type meeting of Holland Furnace Co. sales personnel and other employees Monday in Civic Center.

Some 2,500 persons heard Milton J. Stevens, west coast industrialist who took over the company May 28 through stock purchases, outline a program of reorganization for the nationally known heating company. Monday's emergency session was requested by field sales personnel interested in the future of the company.

Employees came from 35 states east of the Rockies. A similar meeting for west coast employees is scheduled within a week. In no uncertain terms, Stevens said, "I will be ruthless with any one who scarse sells, misrepresents or causes any scandal on Holland Furnace Co. I will personally assist every law enforcement agency to prosecute."

Executive Vice President Ben J. Staal had previously said 40 undesirable employees had been fired in the last two weeks, a period which also had seen consolidation of 60 branches. He said consideration had previously been given to another offer to purchase the company, but it was withdrawn at the 11th hour and 59th minute when it was learned that the prospective buyer planned to liquidate the concern.

While Holland Furnace has come under severe criticism over scare tactics in recent years, Staal said it was regrettable that actions of a small minority reflects discredit on the majority.

Stevens said since he gained control of the company he has "been interviewed and interrogated by every law enforcement agency in the country."

In recent years the company has been taken to court in several states over questionable business practices. Last year District Judge John F. Cahill of Albert Lea, Minn., ordered Holland's license to do business in Minnesota suspended. At Lansing last week, Attorney General Frank J. Kelly announced a cooperative rehabilitation plan under which consent decrees would enjoin the local company from several cases charging illegal practices.

William P. Lennon, new president of Holland Furnace, displayed a line of products manufactured by Stevens' parent company, Republic Trans-Con Industries, which in time will bear the label of Holland Furnace Co. He said the manufacture of clothes dryers will be transferred to Holland as soon as possible from Portland, Ore. Holland will discontinue manufacture of its water heater since Trans-Con has 25 per cent of the market.

The clothes dryer, eventually to be manufactured in Holland, was described as the only dryer made which is loaded from the top—an appliance which can handle up to 20 pounds and one in which it is virtually impossible to overload.

Other appliances on display were air conditioners, water heaters, heating units of all types, garbage disposals and several related lines.

When asked whether future plans included a washing machine, Stevens said it has been his experience that people seldom buy washers and dryers at the same time. He said 60 per cent of American home makers still use wringer-type washing machines.

In introducing the price cuts on Holland Furnace products, Stevens said it was in keeping with his aim to give the customer "the mostest and the bestest for the leastest price." He reiterated he is interested more in a fast nickel than in a slow dollar.

The price cuts, dramatically introduced by rolling down a huge canvas, listed the following: Miracle Iron 100 gas furnace, $1,450 cut to $638; Air You Well furnace, $434 cut to $255; conversion oil burner, $600 to $285; conversion gas burner, $462 to $250.

Citing advantages of a more competitive line in an industry which is geared to only a few months of the year, Stevens said the new program is a two-way street. "As Republic will help Holland, Holland will help Republic."

He added he would welcome constructive comment from employees at any time. "My door is always open," he said.

A question and answer period brought only three questions from the huge audience that filled Civic Center, but as Stevens was about to dismiss the crowd at 3:20 p.m. he praised the three persons who had "guts enough" to ask questions. This let down the bars for further questions and the meeting continued until 4 p.m.

Exchange Club Hears Dr. Meisel

Dr. James Meisel, head of the Political Science Department at the University of Michigan addressed members of the Holland Exchange Club Monday noon.

His subject was "Guerillas and Counter-Guerillas." He was introduced by Nelson Bade.

The speaker said that the one reason why the communist guerillas in Viet Nam have been so successful is their method of making a raid and then melting in with the native population who never reveal them to the loyal troops.

England tried transplanting the natives of entire sections to other parts of the country and France in Algeria placed them in isolated sections, but neither nation succeeded in ousting the enemies of the people, mainly because those transplanted objected to being moved about, he said.

Counter-guerilla forces are being trained in the U.S. as our country's answer to this problem, Meisel said.

Prior to Dr. Meisel's talk, Walter Wetzel, district governor from Grand Rapids, installed the newly elected officers who are Ed Lundgren, president; James Brown, vice president; Al Van Lente, secretary; Clarence Klaasen, treasurer.

The charge to the newly-installed officers was given by Rev. Prescott, secretary of the Grand Rapids Ministerial Association.

Four charter members who have combined membership record of more than 40 years, were given special recognition by Verne Shipper, outgoing president. These members are Jake Fris, Al Joldersma, Al Lampen and Bill Olive.

Ben Lula Wins Michigan PGA

SAUGATUCK — Ben Lula, 37-year old Mt. Clemens pro, won the 36-hole Michigan PGA golf tournament Monday at the Hamilton Lake Golf and Country Club with a 142.

Lula won $750 as he carded a four-under 68 Monday to go with his two-over 74 Sunday. It was the first tournament Lula has won in 11 years as a golf pro.

Three golfers tied for second place with 144. Glenn Stuart of Cascade Hills in Grand Rapids, Gene Bone of Grand Blanc and Chuck Matlack of Cadillac took the runnerup spot and split $1,100 three ways and each took home $366.

Gordon Carlson of Grand Rapids, who was charged with a two-stroke penalty Sunday for cleaning his ball, shot a one under 71 Monday and ended with a 145 for fifth place. He made $150.

Playing on No. 15 Sunday, Carlson marked his ball on the green and then popped it into his mouth. He was called on putting the ball in his mouth by Ron Fox of Detroit.

The Michigan PGA officials upheld the protest. The U. S. Golf Association rule states that "during the play of a hole, a player may not clean the ball except for identification or permitted by local rule." The decision was made an hour after Carlson completed his round.

John Barnum of Blythefield in Grand Rapids, defending champion, and Bill Markjam of Saginaw each finished with 146 and tied for sixth. They split $190 for $95 each.

Larry Tomasio, Sunday's leader from Ann Arbor, and Tom Roseley of Silver Lake in Rockford tied for eighth and split $150 with $75 each.

Tom Cosmos of Birmingham shot a 149 for 10th place and $60 while Walt Burkemo of Franklin Hills and Jim Scott of Muskegon split for 11th and $90 and each made $45.

Seven golfers split $60 13th and 14th place while seventeen golfers each made $25 for finishing between 15th and 32nd, including host pro Bill Hamilton, who slipped to an 80 Monday, and finished with a 154.

Lula parred 10 holes Monday and hit birdies on six holes. He bogeyed two holes, No. 10, when he missed a foot putt and No. 13 when his putt lipped the cup.

Fine play with his No. 1 iron on the fifth hole were the keys to Lula's victory, he felt. On the first time around on the par 5 hole Monday, Lula's 1 iron shot put him 15 to 18 feet from the cup and he two-putted for a birdie.

The second time around, Lula's No. 1 iron shot went to the left of the green and he used a wedge to push the ball within six inches of the cup. He one-putted for the birdie.

Lula, pro at the Hillcrest Country Club in Mt. Clemens for the past three years, was seventh in the Michigan Open last year after leading the first two rounds. This was the best previous finish in a tourney.

Stuart, 28-year-old pro and close friend of American Legion pro Phil Wiechman, missed some tough shots as he finished up. On the 18th, Stuart missed an 18-foot putt for a bird as the shot lipped the cup.

"I went for broke on 17," Stuart said. And he was forced to take a bogey. At the time Stuart was one under and chose to go for a birdie.

He tried a wedge shot but missed and that put him within 15 feet of the cup and he missed his first putt and then missed a four-foot-er. Stuart had rounds of par 36-36.

On No. 11, he topped the ball and hit only a 40-yard drive but recovered to par the hole with a seven-footer.

He hit a nine-foot putt on 13 for a birdie and just missed birdies on 14 and 15. He missed two under four-foot putts on the first five holes.

Steenwyk-Geerlings Vows Spoken

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Steenwyk

Miss Ethel Mae Geerlings, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin H. Geerlings of route 3, Holland, became the bride of Clarence Steenwyk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben N. Steenwyk of route 3, Hudsonville, in an evening wedding on June 14 in the First Christian Reformed Church, Zeeland.

Gladioli, ferns and candelabra set the scene for the double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. R. B. Kuiper, great uncle of the bride. Bows marked the pews.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of silk organza trimmed with lily of the valley, appliques and accented with sequins and pearls at the sabrina neckline. A crown of pearls and crystal held the English illusion veil.

Carolyn Geerlings, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and wore a dress of embroidered organza over taffeta with a panel down the front, a fitted bodice and cap sleeves. She wore a picture hat to match and carried a green fan with white and yellow flowers.

Kathy DeWeerd, sister of the groom, served as bridesmaid and was dressed identically to the maid of honor.

Melvin Steenwyk was best man and Henry DeWeerd was groomsmen. Ushers were Paul Geerlings and Henry Steenwyk.

Music was provided by Mrs. John DeWeerd and Marvin Padgett. Selections were "O Perfect Love" and "O Lord Most Holy."

A reception was held in the basement of the church for about 120 guests.

For the wedding trip to Niagara Falls and Washington, D.C., the new Mrs. Steenwyk chose a tan dress with beige and orange accessories.

The bride attended Holland Christian High School and is employed in the office of Hart and Cooley Mfg. Co. The groom attended Hudsonville High School and is employed as a Mobil station attendant in Hudsonville.

The couple will make their home at the corner of 40th and Van Buren.

School Budget Under Study For 1962-63

A proposed budget for 1962-63 calling for $1,629,950.35 is under study by the Board of Education.

The budget which incorporates cuts necessitated by the defeat of the special election May 10 for 2.9 mills was presented at a special meeting of the board Monday night. Two new members, William Gargano and Albert Schaafsma, also were present.

The budget was tabled until the July meeting. In that way, the new board will take final action. Under a new accounting system required by the state of Michigan, certain changes are made in the new budget which makes some comparisons difficult. For instance, the director of buildings and grounds must now be included under administration whereas it previously was under operation.

The largest share of the budget goes for instruction totaling $1,288,767.85, compared with last year's figure of $1,330,366.03. Teachers salaries total $1,240,878.85.

Administration costs in the new budget are listed at $67,565, compared with $73,455. Included in administration are salaries of the superintendent, assistant superintendent, director of buildings and grounds (new), secretaries, bookkeepers, supplies, costs of census and compulsory attendances, elections, and the like.

One change in the new budget is for teaching principals who next year will include Fanny Bultman, Harold Streeter, Russell Welch, Ivan Compagner and T. J. Pruis.

Operation of school plant lists a total of $217,750, compared with $195,581.62 last year. Maintenance estimates are listed at $25,872.50 compared with $22,600 last year. Fixed charges are listed at $15,200, compared with $11,536.82. Auxiliary services are $12,295 compared with $13,565.56.

Revenue is estimated as follows: primary school fund, $168,609.44; state aid, $507,421.16; reimbursement for special education from state, $38,593; reimbursement for special education from Ottawa County, $25,000; estimate of special education for non-resident tuition (Allegan County), $2,500; estimate of non-resident tuition for 296 high school pupils from Van Raalte and Maplewood schools, $96,200; reimbursement vocation education, $12,000; estimate of local taxes, $745,626.75; estimate of delinquent taxes, $9,000; estimate library fund, $5,000; co-op training, $6,000; rent, $1,000; short term loan, $90,000.

Driver Slightly Injured In Intersection Crash

HAMILTON — Roger Van Dam, 19, of route 5, Allegan, was taken to Holland Hospital for treatment to body bruises and abrasions, and discharge, following a two-car crash Monday at 2:40 p.m. at 126th Ave. and 38th St.

Allegan County deputies identified the driver of the other car as Shirley Ann Sneller, 40, of route 3, Zeeland. Deputies said Van Dam's 1956 model car was a total loss, and damage to the Sneller car was extensive.

Waukazoo Resort Area Now Changed to Suburban Section

The tearing down of the Waukazoo Inn in 1960 marked the end of an era for the resort area of Waukazoo. Built in 1906, by Judge Everett, the Inn and its 12 surrounding cottages attracted vacationers from Chicago, St. Louis, Cincinnati, and Louisville.

Many of the same families returned every year. The Inn was almost the center of a small community, the focal point for summer entertainment in the area. Shortly after the Inn was built, a few local families began making their permanent homes in Waukazoo. Together with the summer people, they formed a closely-knit society.

With the Inn gone and all of the cottages except the one belonging to the Everetts sold, the summer families have no place to stay and most of them have stopped coming. "It's like The Deserted Village now," one long time resident complained.

The area has changed from resort to suburb, and most of the homes there are now permanent ones. Most of the old residents are a little sad to see the change, to see the piece of lake front property on the point subdivided.

But, as one of them said, "Old families have left, but new ones are building. This area is still one of the best of its kind in Western Michigan. The only change is one of people."

Much of the wooded area is being subdivided and developed, but care is being taken to preserve the beauty of the tree lined winding roads. The Waukazoo Woods Association has been formed by the residents. Its object is to see that the area grows in a beautiful way, and that its original character is preserved.

The newest of the developments is 17-acre Forest Hills, undertaken by Cornelius Brewer. Building restrictions are being set up for the 37 lots and sale of the property will begin in three weeks.

Another 45-50 lots are being developed within Waukazoo itself by Russell Klaassen. Building has already started on two homes. The oldest of the subdivisions is Baywoodlands, on the west side of Pine Creek Bay, developed by Fred Bertsch.

With new owners and year round homes, the old tennis courts and the colorful tournaments held each summer have ended. Waukazoo Inn and Hotel Macatawa were two of the three well-known resorts. Macatawa Hotel, too, has succumbed to progress.

Brussels sprouts were introduced into the United States about 1880.

Beukema-Machiele Vows Spoken

Mr. and Mrs. Delwyn Earl Machiele
Miss Ruth Carmen Beukema of Urbana, Ill., became the bride of Delwyn Earl Machiele, also of Urbana, on June 15 at 8 p.m. in the Neland Ave. Christian Reformed Church in Grand Rapids.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Claus Beukema of Grand Rapids and Mr. and Mrs. William Machiele of 120 Harrison Ave., Zeeland.

The Rev. William A. Swets of Holland, uncle of the bride, performed the double ring ceremony before a setting of ferns and two candle trees.

Organist for the ceremony was Bruce Klanderman of Urbana and soloist was Prof. Seymour Swets of Calvin College, uncle of the bride.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride's gown was of floor-length nylon organza over taffeta and featured a bouffant skirt trimmed with lace appliques. The bodice was fitted and complemented a sequin-trimmed sweetheart neckline. Short sleeves with matching mitts completed the bridal gown. A crown of seed pearls and sequins released a fingertip veil of illusion. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of Amazon lilies, stephanotis, pink sweetheart roses and ivy.

Mrs. Carl De Vries, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. She wore a dress of powder blue nylon organza which featured a full overskirt and a large bow in

Braun-Vander Maat Rites Read

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Braun
The couple have returned from a wedding trip to Cape Cod, Mass., and now are established in an apartment at 607 Fuller, S. E., Grand Rapids.

The bride is the former Rosemary Vander Maat, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Vander Maat of 231 West 20th St. and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Braun of Grandville.

The couple was married by the Rev. D. H. Walters of the Reformed Bible Institute in a double ring ceremony performed June 6 in Central Avenue Christian Reformed Church.

The wedding party assembled at 8 p.m. before a setting of palms and ferns, candle tree and ivy. Bows and candles decorated the pews. Organ music was provided by John Tibbe and Eugene Westra was soloist.

Attendants were the bride's sister, Miss Anne Vander Maat as maid of honor; the groom's sister, Miss Julie Braun as bridesmaid; Duane Visser as best man and R. J. Gezon, cousin of the groom as groomsman. Seating the guests were Terry Klaasen, cousin of the bride, and John Visser.

A candlelight satin gown was worn by the bride as she was escorted to the altar by her father. Style features were the fitted bodice, long sleeves and a chapel train. The elbow-length embroidered veil was attached to a petal headpiece of candlelight satin.

'Charley's Aunt' Comes To Red Barn for Laughs

If it's a good hearty laugh you want, and the family would like to see a play, "Charley's Aunt," by Brandon Thomas is the answer.

The first night of the farce opened Monday at the Red Barn Theatre with a most enthusiastic audience. Many children and others, young in heart, showed their delight in laughter and applause.

H. John Henry as Lord Pancourt Babberly was tremendous in his role of impersonating Charley's (Charles Hull) aunt. Dale Engle was the young Oxford student, in love with Miss Kitty Verdun (Jill Nothway) and getting into all kinds of trouble trying to propose.

The 1892 setting at Oxford was the most convincing even though it is hard to conceive of a college student's quarters being so quaint.

Red Barn regulars Don Bonevich as Sir Francis Chesney, father of Jack and Bruce Hall as Stephen Spetigue, uncle and guardian of Kitty and Amy (Rosemary Morgan) were at their usual best.

Dorothy Lee Tompkins as Donna Lucia D'Alvadorez, the "real"

Charley's aunt, was a picture of Victorian loveliness in her sweeping gowns and upswep hairdo. The "grande dame" role suited her perfectly.

Braslet, the proper butler, was played with proper austerity by Gene Rucker. Valerie Robertson as Ella Delahay, in love with Lord Babberly, was a restrained young lady ward of Donna Lucia.

Fine staging went a long way to create the illusion of the garden and the Oxford rooms. It had to be substantial to take care of all the running and jumping by "Auntie" in her effort to escape the amorous pursuits of the aging Spetigue and Lord Chesney, who were both after the money they thought she had. As it does in all well-planned farces, all ends well. The real aunt comes through and all the lovers get together.

The play is repeated all week through Saturday at 8:30 p.m. with a matinee Wednesday at 12:30 p.m.

Director Jim Dyas selected his cast well. It is difficult to plan a season to please everyone, but "Mister Roberts" and "Charley's Aunt" are a good beginning.

Zeeland

Lee Kleis of Holland was guest minister at the Zeeland Rotary Club meeting Tuesday. Mr. Kleis described his experiences while playing in the Blytheville Invitational Golf Tournament recently. Kleis and his partner got into the tournament finals and there were defeated by a pair of Grand Rapids golfers.

Guest Rotarians at the meeting were Hendrik and Fred Meijer, and Ralph Lock of Grand Rapids. Also a guest at the meeting was Paul Schipper, son of local Rotarian Julius Schipper.

The speaker was introduced by program chairman Jason Schrotenboer. Elmer Hartgerink gave the invocation.

Special reading classes for the summer began Monday, June 25, in the Lincoln Elementary School. All students will meet at 9 a.m. Monday morning. At this meeting the children will be divided into small ability groups. These groups will meet for about one hour each morning for six weeks.

Mrs. Martha Olendorf will be the teacher for the children ranging in ability from fifth through eighth grade. Miss Dorothy Imink will be in charge of those who qualify for second through fourth grades.

Children are admitted to these reading classes upon recommendation of a teacher plus a willingness to learn to read. It is important that the student be in class every day.

Tuition for the six weeks is $3.00 plus $5.00 for a workbook. This was to be paid in advance or at the first meeting, June 25.

Mrs. Peter Vander Ploeg, 315 East Washington Ave., gave a birthday party in honor of her husband, and a homecoming party for her son Wayne, who served two years with the U. S. Army. He was stationed in Kentucky, and Washington state. The guests were their sister and brothers. Wayne showed pictures of interesting places.

Those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Paul Vander Ploeg, Robert, Richard and Judy Kay; Mr. and Mrs. Jake Vander Ploeg of Holland; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schippers and Mr. and Mrs. George Schippers.

A lunch was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Alford Meyers and Mr. and Mrs. Frank De Young were in Chicago last week and attended Billy Graham's revival meeting.

Others who attended the Billy Graham meetings were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kuysers.

Mrs. Ross Vander Wall attended the 118th commencement on June 16 — where her nephew, John De Vries, graduated as Dr. of Medicine, from the University of Michigan Medical school. Dr. John De Vries is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin De Vries, Missionaries in India.

Mrs. J. N. Clark attended the graduating exercises in Grand Haven when her granddaughter, Mary Helen Babcock was one of the graduates. Mary Helen will enter Michigan State University in the fall.

The Jaycee Jones held a coffee meeting last Tuesday morning at the city park. Members brought used magazines to be given to children at Pine Rest.

Plans were made for the annual Jaycee picnic.

A new class for expectant mothers began today in the dining room at Zeeland Community Hospital. All expectant mothers are invited to attend. There will be no classes during the month of August.

The Michigan Press Association held its annual summer meeting at Boyne Mountain Friday and Saturday. Record publisher Corey Van Koeveering and Mrs. Van Koeveering attended the meeting.

Principal speaker for the two-day event was Michigan Constitutional Convention president Stephen S. Nisbet of Fremont. Also on the program was a talk by Clarence W. Lock, commissioner of the Michigan Department of Revenue.

Miss Krysten Wall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Core Wall of Plymouth, was married last Saturday afternoon to Andrew Hasley from Baskin Ridge, N. J., in the First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth.

Those who attended the wedding from Zeeland were B. J. W. Berghorst, Harold Berghorst, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Berghorst and family, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Berghorst, Mary and B. J. Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Ver Plank and family and Sherwood Vander Woude, Holland.

Miss Beula Kampen of Zeeland will leave this week for Putney, Vt., where she will spend a few days in an orientation course in preparation for her stay in Belgium this summer. Miss Kampen will travel to Europe under the National Foundation of Experiment in International Living program, the same organization sponsoring the Community Ambassador program and high school exchange students programs.

She will live with a Belgian family from early in July until her return in early September. The name of the city and the name of the family with whom she will live has not yet been revealed to her, Miss Kampen said.

She will fly to Europe from Hartford, Conn., on July 8. Leaving around the same time will be Bob Jaehing of Holland, Community Ambassador to Nigeria. Both plan to leave for Vermont next Thursday.

Miss Kampen will not undertake any formal schooling while in Europe, but will travel for at least three weeks in Belgium and France and possibly Scandinavia. The plan also calls for one week of living in Paris.

Miss Kampen is a junior at Hope College, majoring in French. She will also be called on to take part in discussions and to lecture on French Literature while in Europe.

While in Vermont Miss Kampen will be one of ten college students in a travel group headed for Europe. Others in the group are from New York, Connecticut, Ohio, Minnesota, Pennsylvania and California.

Miss Kampen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kampen of 45 W. Lawrence Ave.

Sen. Clyde Geerlings Addresses Noon Optimists

State Senator Clyde Geerlings spoke on the financial situation of the state of Michigan at the luncheon of the Holland Noon Optimist Club in Cumerford's Restaurant on Monday. He was introduced by William Buis, program chairman.

The Noon Club voted to send $50 to the Salvation Army to aid in sending needy children to a summer camp. Another $50 is being sent to the local Y.M.C.A. for two sea Scouts to go on the canoe trip in Minnesota during July.

Jim Frans turned in $77 on the gumball project of the club. Hans Hofmann, exchange student from Germany sponsored by the Holland Optimists, spoke for a few minutes, giving his impressions of his stay in America, and thanked the club for all they had done for him.

The U.S.A. certainly sprouted fast. Seattle, which opened a colossal world's fair, was an isolated covered wagon, outpost less than 100 years ago.

WATER SKIERS PERFORM — This group of water skiers at Lake Shore Resort on South Shore Dr., performs at the drop of a hat for interested spectators. A water ski school with nationally known skiers has been in operation on Lake Maatawa for many years and is one of the few on the lake. A special dock, a water ski jump and slalom course are waterfront equipment at the resort.

South Shore Resort Sold

Lake Shore Cabins at 1645 South Shore Dr., owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Vander Ploeg for the past 26 years has changed hands. The resort has been sold to Mr. and Mrs. Bert Arendsen, 110 East 32nd St.

Lake Shore was one of the first tourist courts in Michigan to have inside plumbing facilities in individual cabins. The Vans modernized the resort and set it apart as one of the foremost in the state catering to water skiers. A specially built dock was erected for takeoffs and landings. A ski jump and slalom course are part of the waterfront equipment.

The Vander Ploegs were members of the West Michigan Tourist and Resort Council and promoted Holland and Tulip Time at many travel and boat shows. They have on son, Harold, who is first officer on the cruise ship SS Brasil. They plan to go to Florida to see Mrs. Vander Ploeg's mother, Mrs. Smith and later to visit relatives in the West and California before settling permanently.

The Arendsens plan to operate the resort much as it has been in

Maple Shade's New Landlords

Another Holland area resort has changed this year with Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Miller of West Olive purchasing the Maple Shade on Pigeon Lake at Port Sheldon from the William Kempermans, who owned and operated it for many years.

The Millers are no strangers to Pigeon Lake, having lived there for two years before making the deal.

Now that the new Campbell power plant, which is directly across Pigeon Lake from Maple Shade, is active, the channel has been widened and deepened and larger boats like big cruisers can come through. A new facility for gas has been installed on the dock at Maple Shade.

The Millers are operating the resort themselves and maintain six cottages that are usually occupied by the same vacationers each year. Vacationing there this week are the Ketter family of Grand Rapids; the Richard Mate family of Grand Rapids, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Miller and family of Troy, Ohio; the Owen Koepp family of Columbia, Mo., and the Roger Koepp family of Stillwater, Okla.

the past with members of the family assisting. A son, Carl, is a junior at Western Michigan University and a daughter, Kay, 13, attends Holland schools.

Mr. Arendsen is employed at the present with Goodwin Sons in Allegan. Mrs. Arendsen is a school teacher in New Groningen.

An enclosed play area for children is a new feature at the resort. The Arendsens plan to continue the water ski school which will be instructed by a qualified water ski instructor under the sponsorship of Charles R. Sligh Jr.

Port Sheldon Generating Plant Nears Completion

Early August Operation Scheduled

Campbell Electricity Will Be Transmitted To Three Substations

PORT SHELTON—The huge new James H. Campbell electric generating station at Port Sheldon is quickly nearing completion as workmen and inspectors rush to put the finishing touches on the complex installation. According to Emmett O'Meara, job superintendent for Consumers Power Co., the work is proceeding on a tight schedule and should be in operation by early August.

Tight security measures are necessary to guard against possible accidents and the general public will not have a chance to view the plant closely until company officials set an open house.

The multi-million dollar project can be seen as it stands impressively off Port Sheldon Rd. just north of Pigeon Lake. Its tri-color buildings house a maze of pipes, tubes, girders and mole-like humps shielding generators, turbines and bunkers. In addition, a gigantic house crane weighing 200 tons spans the main room.

The central building rises 13 stories above the ground, descending another two stories beneath the earth. The siding of the building is colored aluminum panels. Towering above this structure is the 400 foot smokestack which O'Meara said, "has become a landmark around here."

The plant, named after the president of Consumers Power Co., is a monument to modern technology. A main control room filled with innumerable gauges, dials and levers also contains a computer and two television receivers which enable a highly-trained crew of three men or less to exercise complete control over the entire plant's operation. They communicate to other workers throughout the plant by a complete system of telephones.

A small, well-equipped laboratory lets the operators keep tab on the running efficiency of the plant as well as make analyses of the coal and water involved in producing electricity.

The heart of the operation is the boiler which burns a mixture of pulverized coal and preheated air to produce the heat necessary to raise the water temperature to 1050 degrees. At this temperature, the water is driven to the turbines at 2,600 pounds. Inspectors are now in the process of testing the reheat section of the boiler at the Campbell plant.

Two bulldozers are now at work spreading out a "base" or ground layer of coal where the permanent coal dump will be. This is a cheap coal which protects the regular fuel from becoming contaminated with sand or surface water. Stockpiled coal must constantly be shifted or used up because it can't be stored for long periods, O'Meara said.

The boiler at the Campbell station uses up to 100 tons of coal an hour. From the coal dump to the plant's storage bunker, the coal is carried by a series of three endless synthetic rubber conveyor belts. Future plans at the Port Sheldon generating plant call for the construction of a second unit in 1963 having a similar output to the present facility. The present unit when in operation will generate 265,000 watts or 356,000 horsepower.

Three huge generators each turning at 3600 rpm's will soon be ready for operation. Their installation is 95 per cent completed as workmen rush to meet the approaching deadline.

Ashes left over from the combustion are mixed with water and carried through an "ash line" nearly a half mile by gravity to an ash dump, covering 27 acres and surrounded by nearly a mile of earthen dikes.

Water used in the pressure system is pumped from two ground wells and must first be treated and demineralized. It then passes into the boiler where it is heated. As steam it goes into a high pressure turbine, then returns to the reheat section of the boiler. From there the steam passes through an intermediate pressure turbine into two low pressure turbines. Finally, the water completes the cycle by returning to the boiler.

According to O'Meara, 1,750,000 pounds of steam per hour pass through the system. A canal running from Pigeon Lake to the generating plant carries water for the cooling system. The Campbell plant has two pumps each capable of pumping 60,000 gallons per minute. After running through the cooling process, the water is pumped back into the canal.

Upon completion, the Campbell plant will generate electricity for transmission to three substations, one in Zeeland and two in Grand Rapids, Wealthy St. and Beal St. substations. Through the connection at Zeeland, the Port Sheldon facility can provide power for the Holland area in case of an emergency or power failure here.

Expansion plans call for doubling the output of the new plant by 1963. This would bring the total capacity of the Port Sheldon facility to 530,000 watts or 712,000 horsepower.

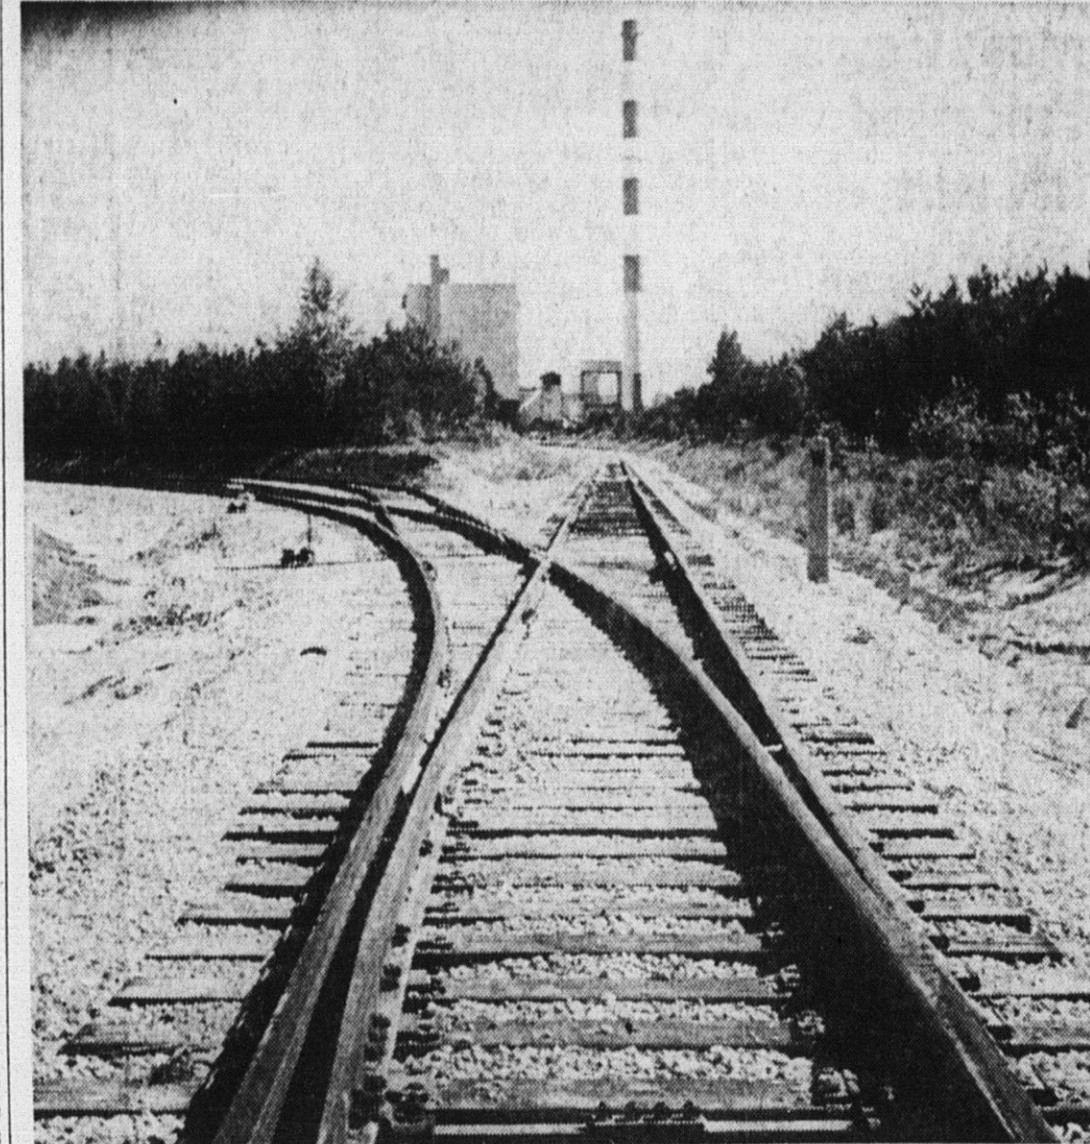

To make additional construction possible, the north side of the main building was covered with removable steel plates, enabling the plant to be extended. The other three sides of the building have been enclosed with permanent aluminum in eye-catching colors.

Next to the present coal chute leading into the plant, engineers have provided room for the construction of an additional one. This extra conveyor would greatly increase the already enormous amount of coal intake.

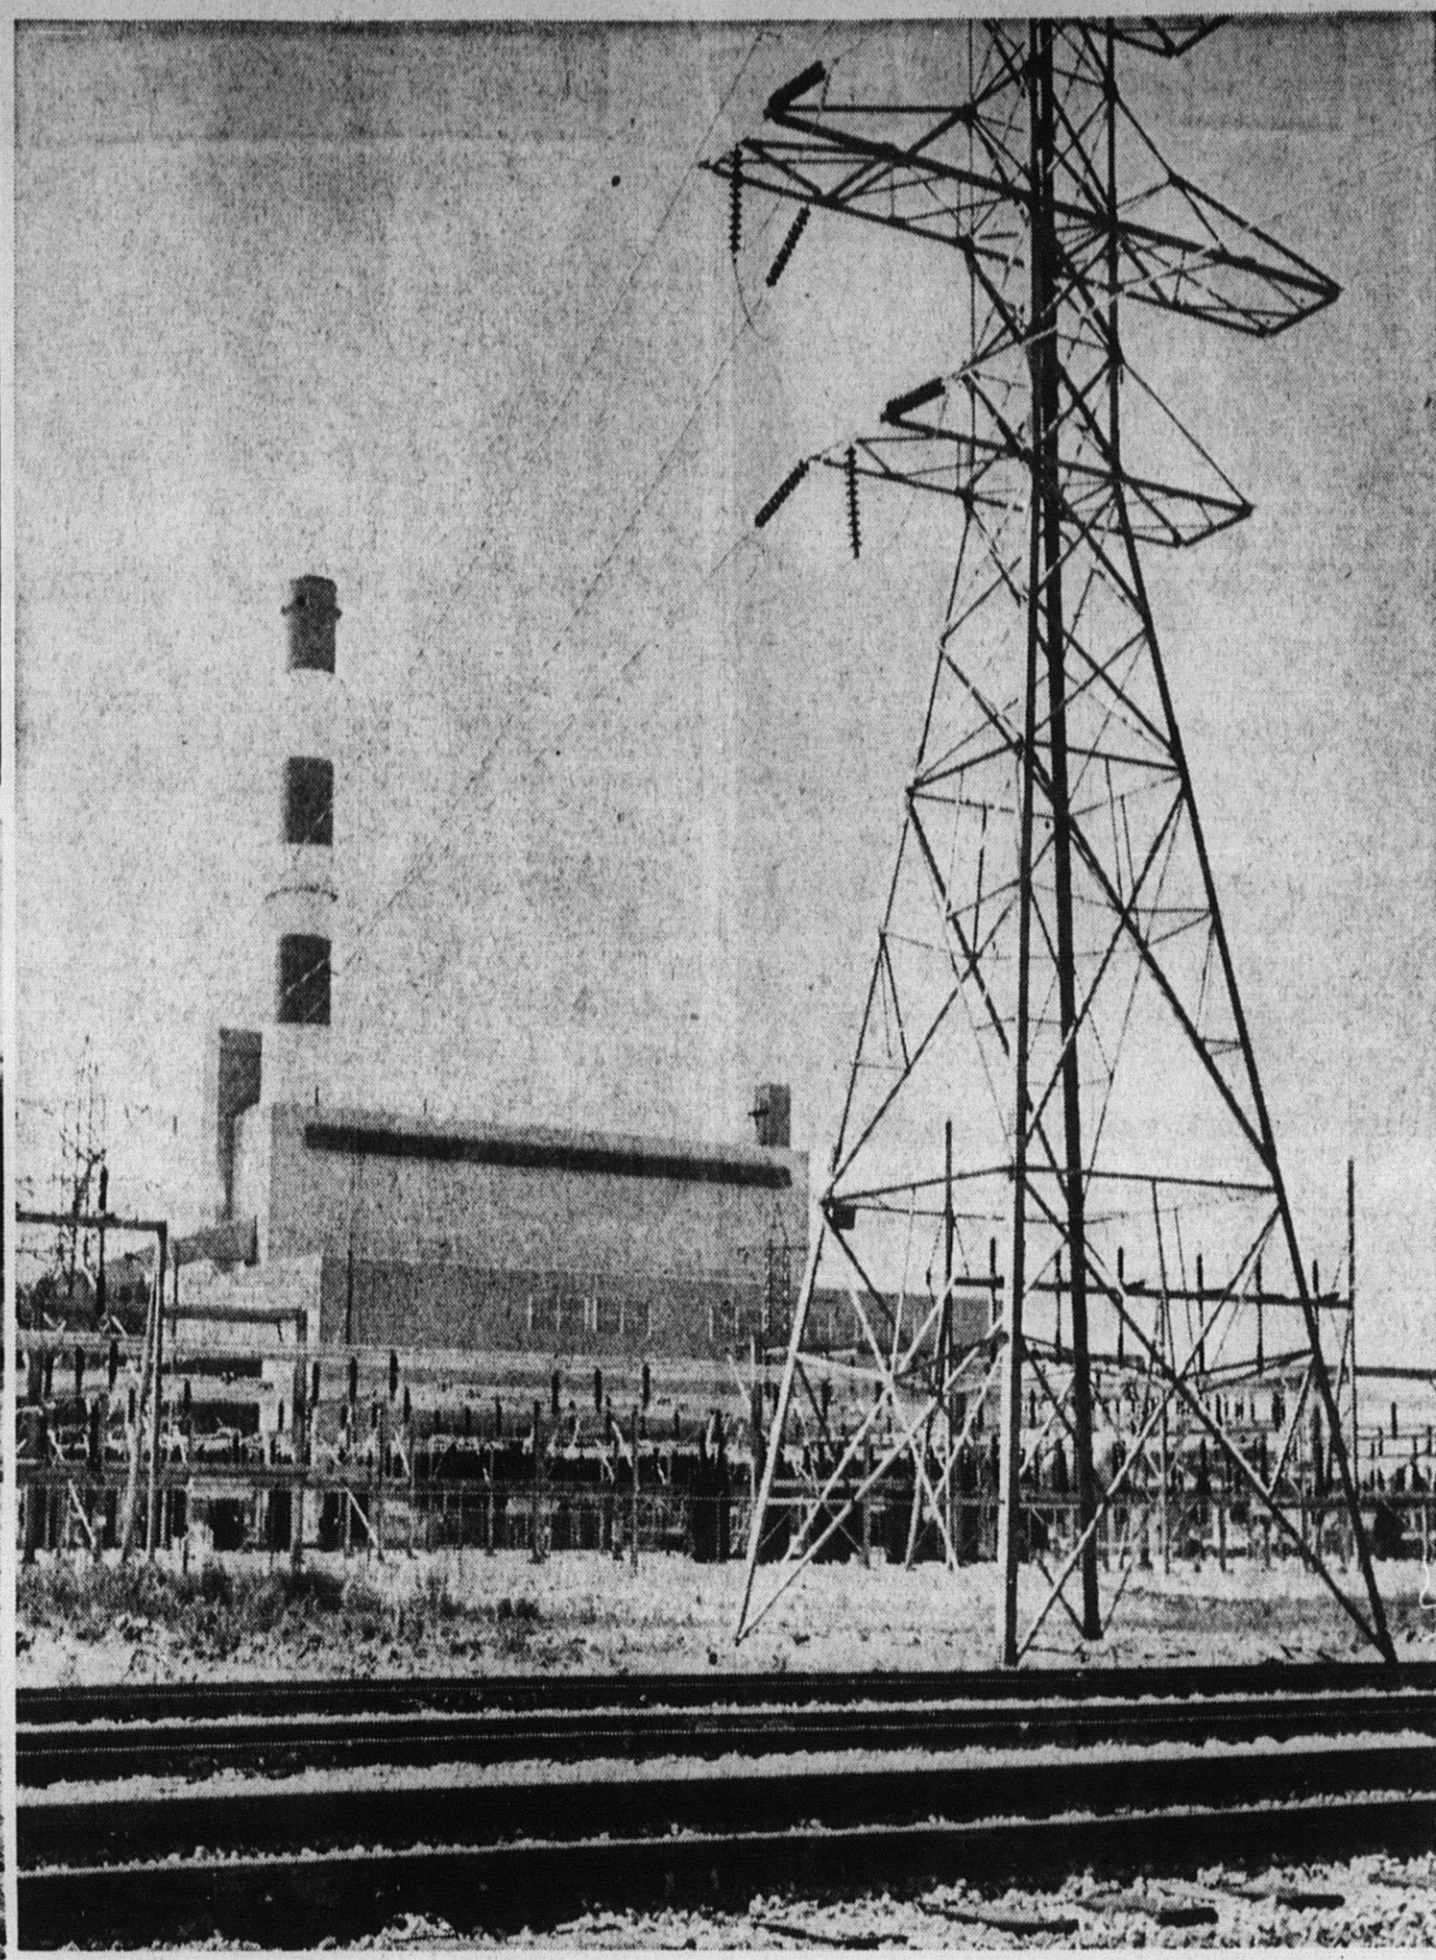

When operation of the first unit begins next month, coal will be stored in the huge bunker within the plant in a crushed form. Normal operation will require this bunker to be filled twice a day.

Before the crushed coal can be burned, it must be pulverized into very fine particles. This must be done immediately before it is blown into the burner, since it is highly combustible and capable of being ignited easily, creating an explosive force.

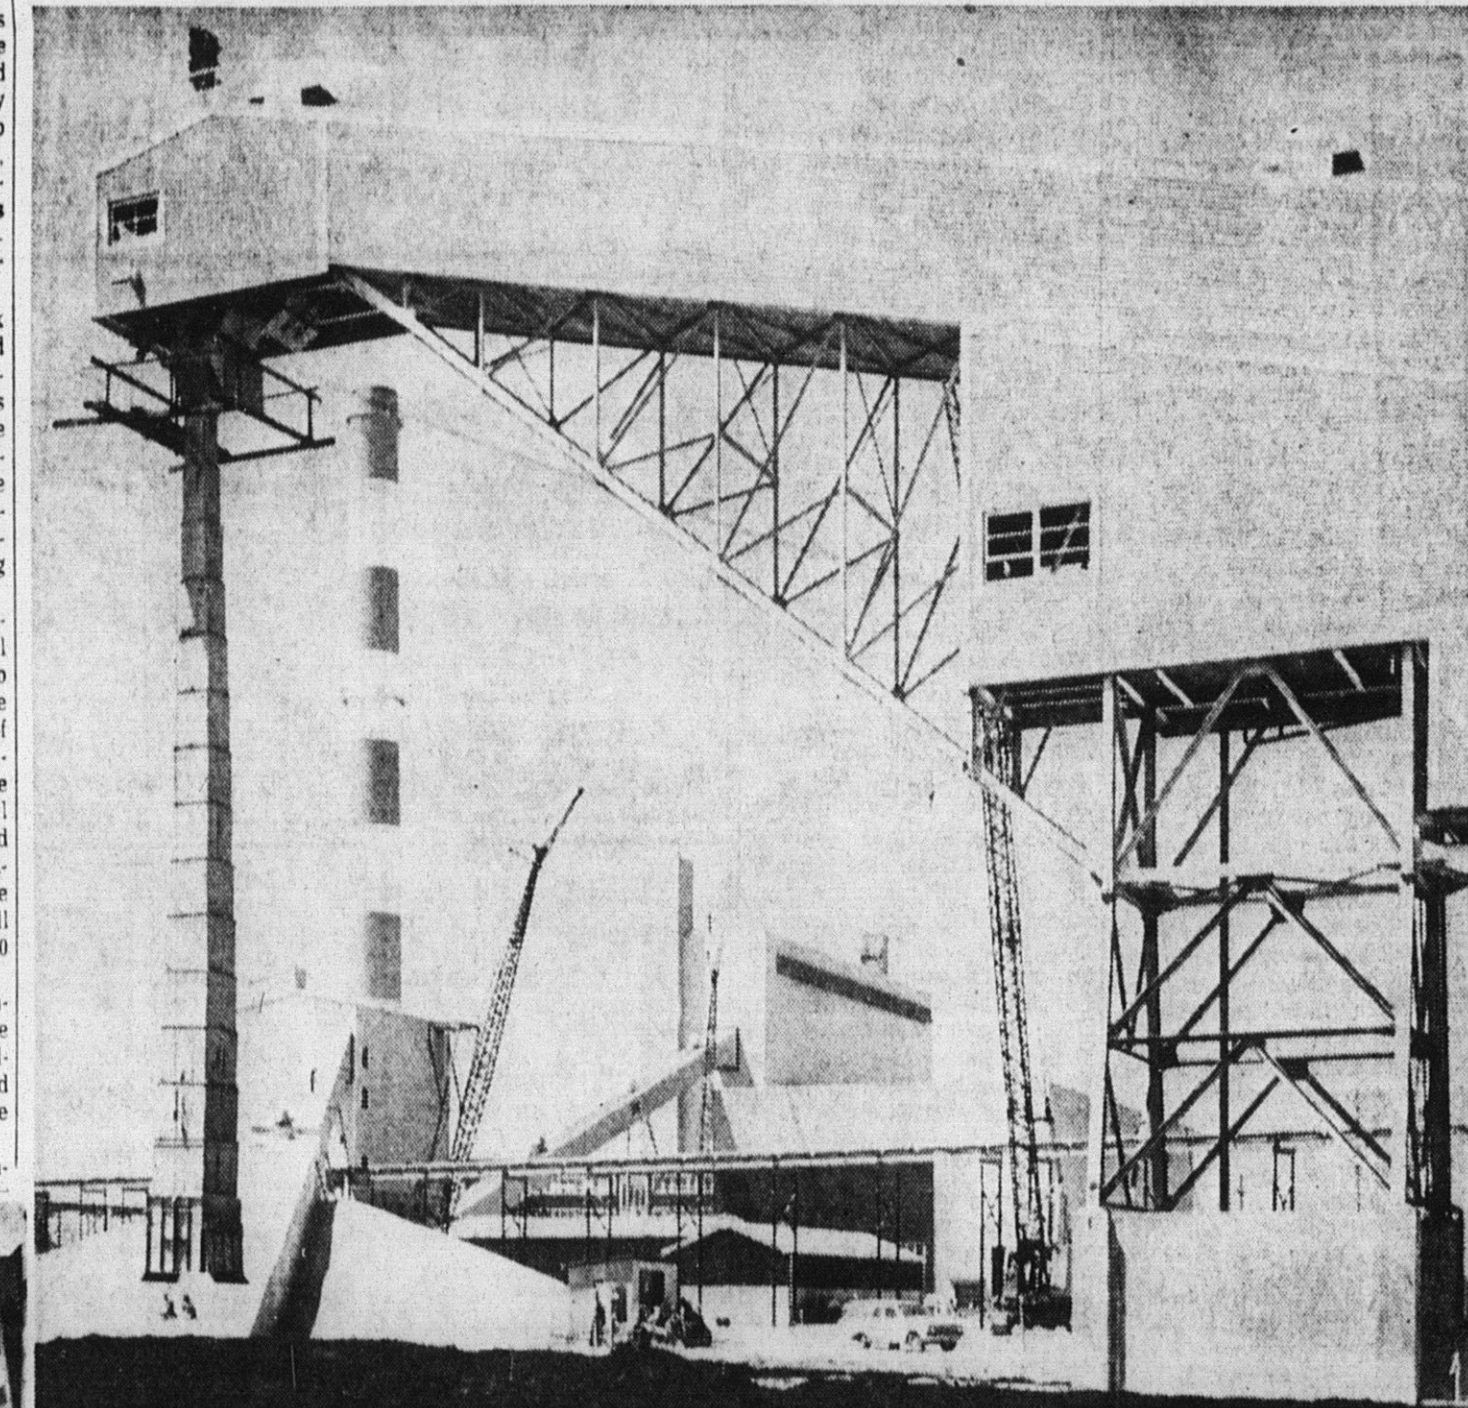

Five pulverizers at the Campbell plant reduce the coal particle size and then inject it into the enormous burner where it burns in the presence of preheated air.

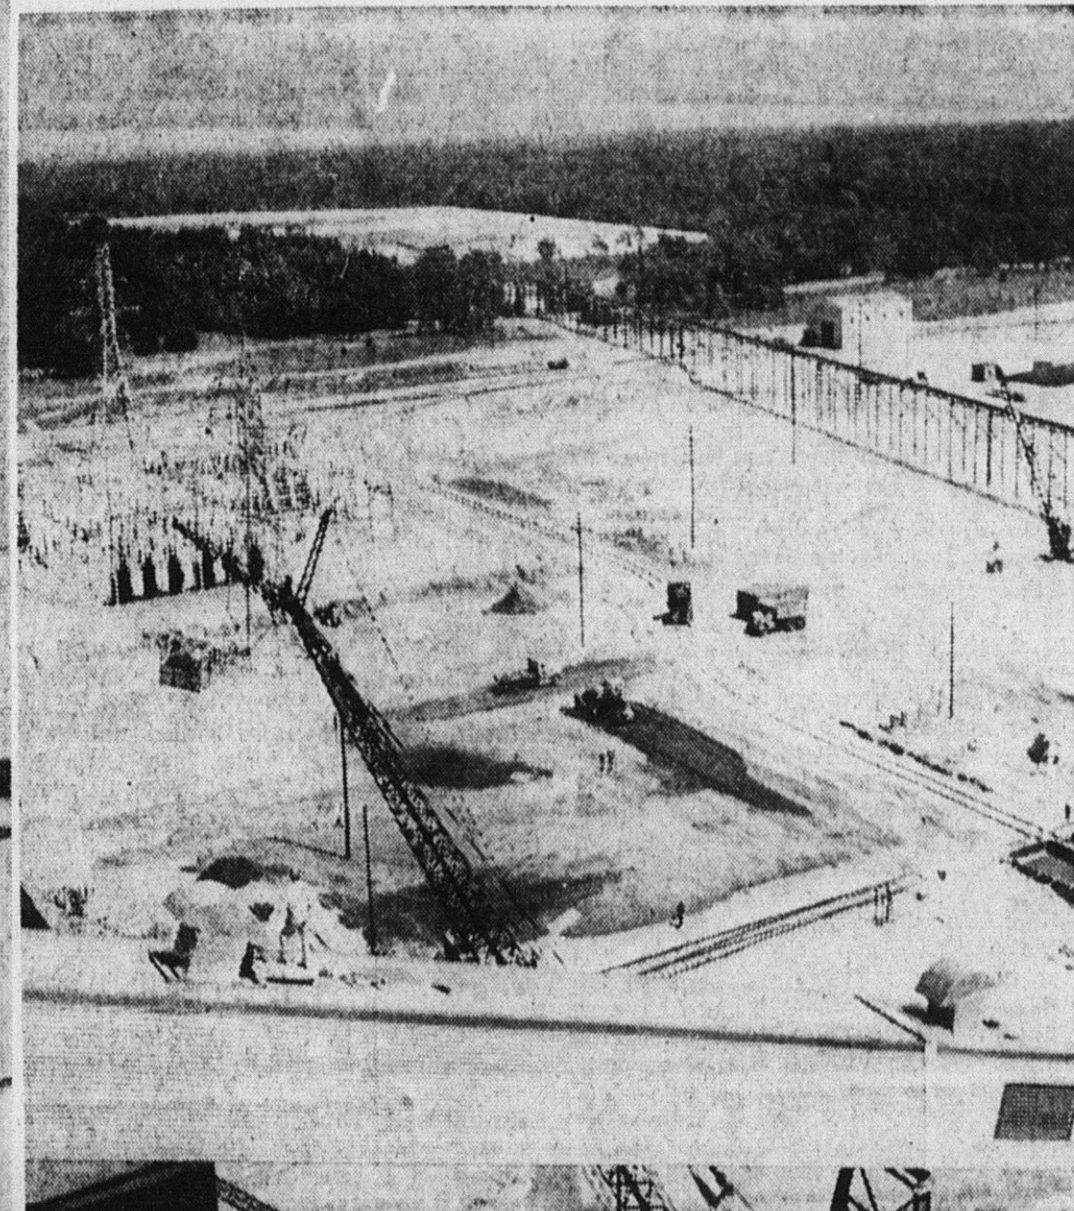

C & O spur line will carry up to 1,000,000 tons of coal a year.

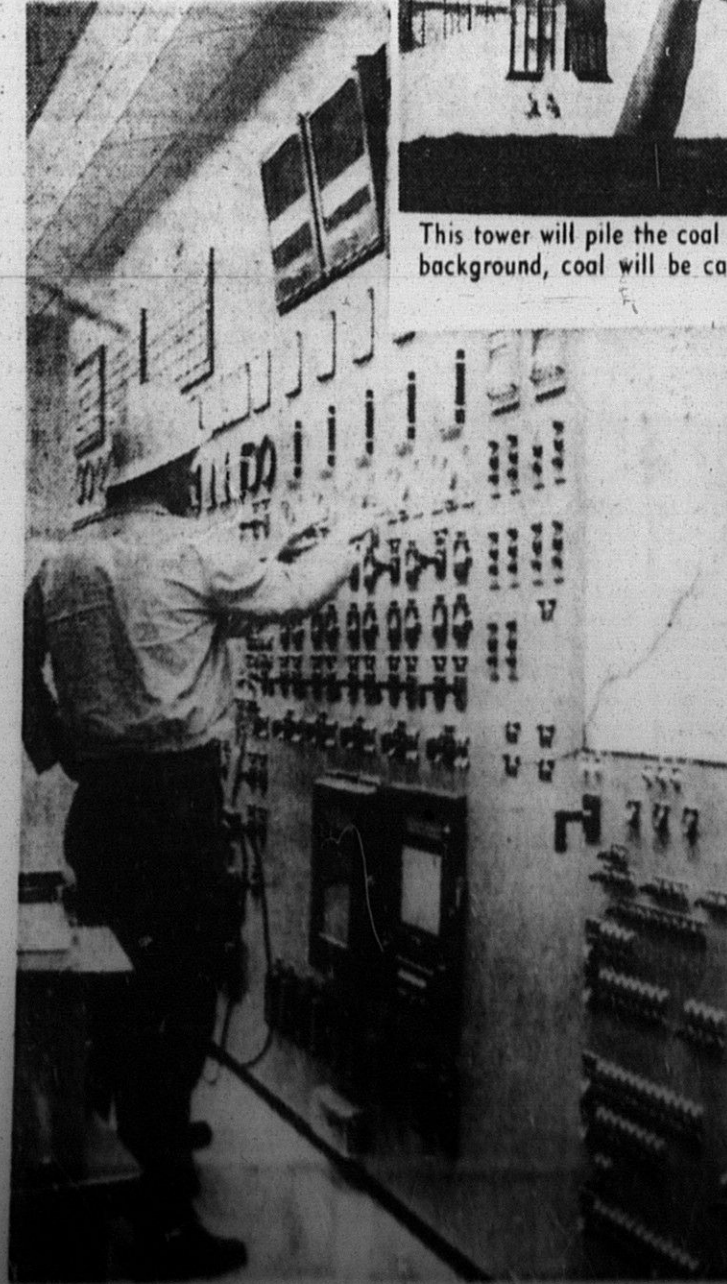

The 400-foot tower rises above the 13-story plant; foreground the substation and towers form a maze of lines and girders.

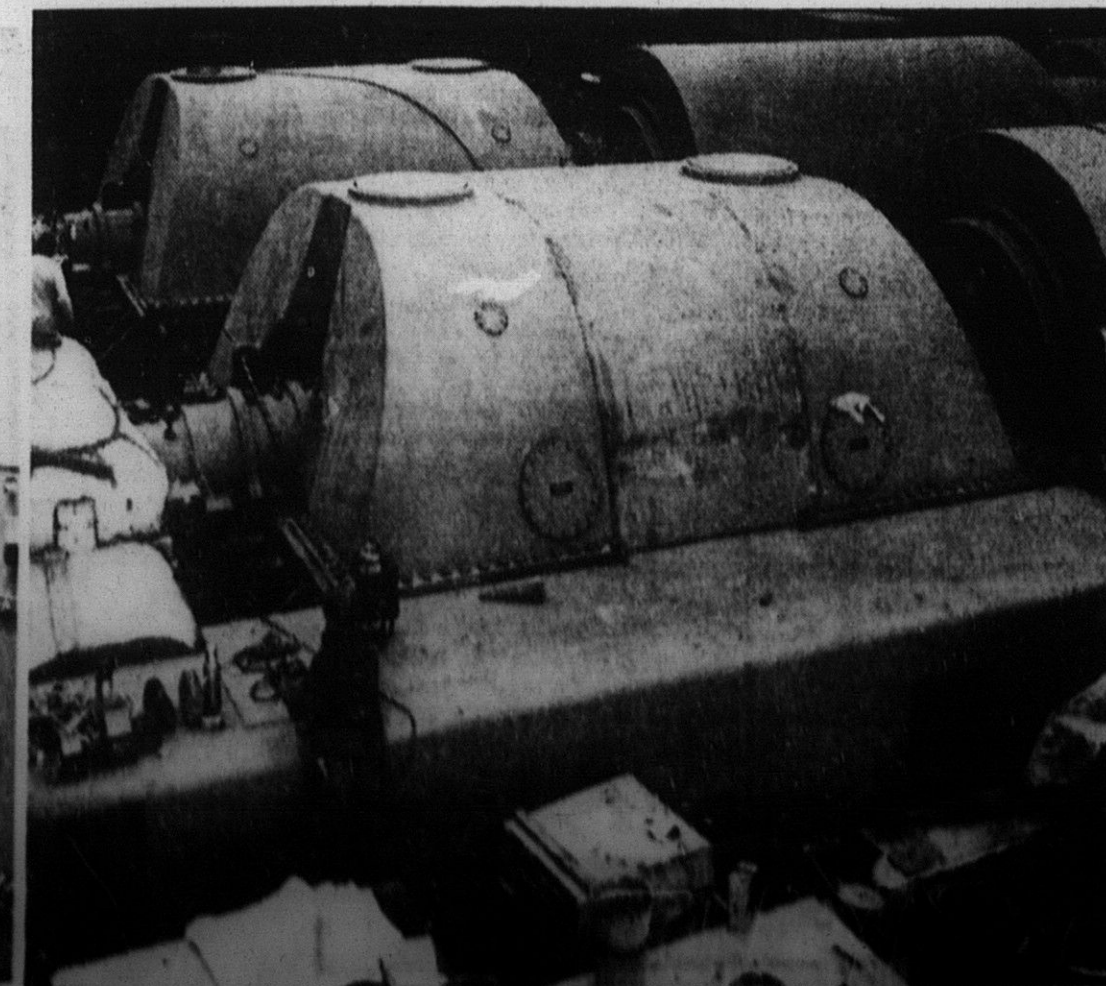

This tower will pile the coal as it is unloaded from train cars; background, coal will be carried into the plant bunker by a series of three unending conveyor belts.

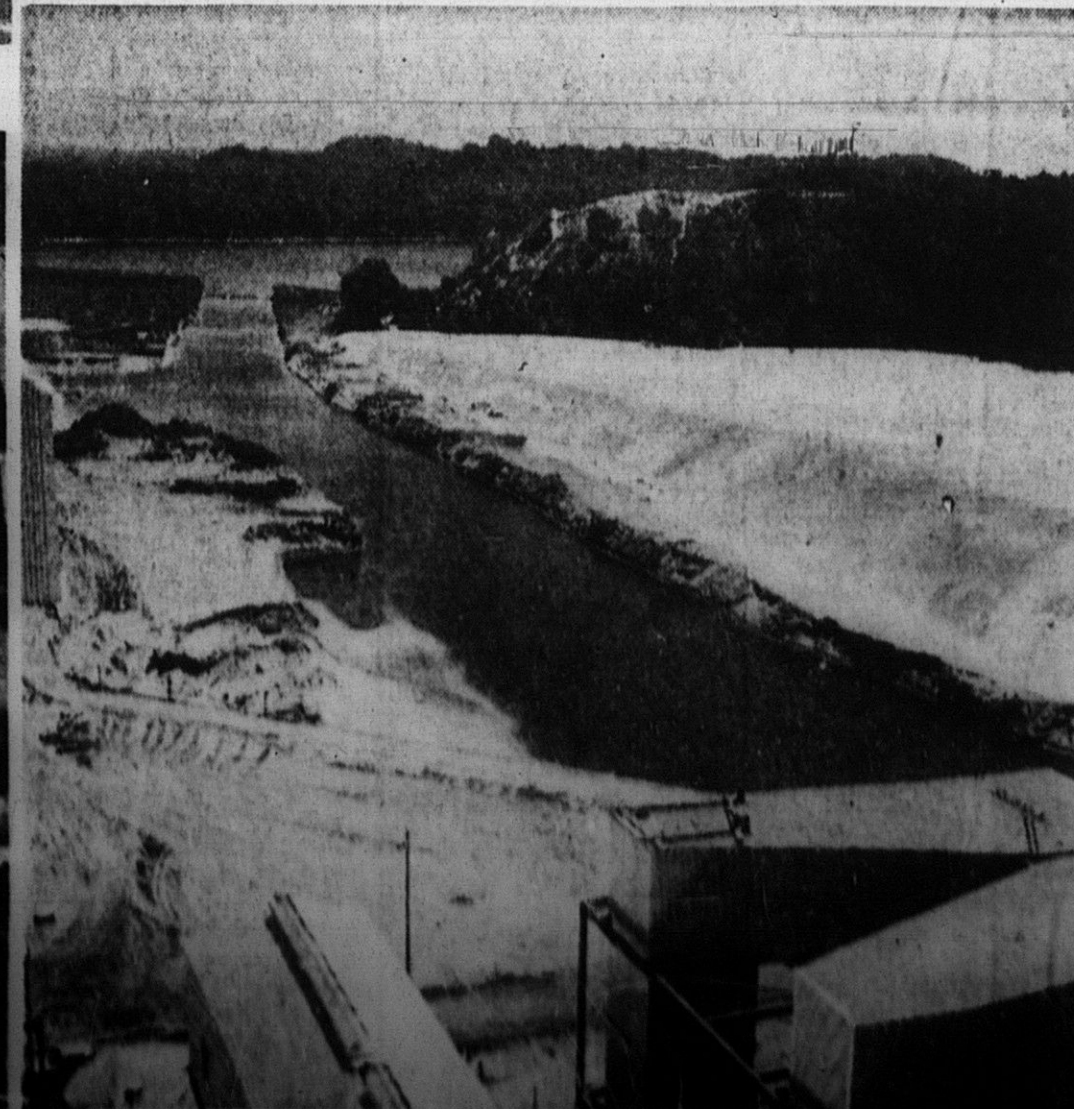

The 27 acre "ash bank" is visible at the top; the "ash line" appears at the upper right.

This is part of the main control room; the two television monitors are visible at the upper center.

The James H. Campbell plant has three turbines generating 356,000 horsepower.

This is the intake canal from Pigeon Lake, carrying water for the cooling system.
