Contracts for five more teachers including a husband and wife team were approved by the Board of Education at a meeting Monday afternoon in the high school library.

Roger C. Olsen of Greenville, who received a B. S. degree from Central Michigan University this year, will teach physical education in Junior High School. His wife, Mary Lou, who graduated in 1963 from Central Michigan, will teach middle elementary. She has had a year's teaching experience.

John W. Riecki of Palmer, Mich., a graduate of Northern Michigan in 1963, will teach elementary physical education. He has had a year's experience. He plans to be married in August.

Kenneth T. Taylor of St. Paul, Minn., who received a B. S. degree from Western Michigan University in 1962 and an M. A. degree from the College of St. Thomas in 1964, will teach senior high English. He has had no previous teaching experience. He is married.

James N. Mohr of Jenison, a graduate of Hope College in 1960, will teach modern mathematics in Junior High School. He has had four years of teaching experience in Forest Hills School in Grand Rapids. He is married and has one child, Dallas Ruch who has been teaching mathematics in the junior high school will return to the industrial arts department.

John Keuning and Russel Fredricks, newly elected to the board, attended the meeting but did not participate in any discussion although they were invited to by President Harvey Buter. The new members will take over their official duties at the July meeting.

A communication from the Ottawa county clerk revealed that the Ottawa County allocations board had stipulated 10.82 mills for Holland district, covering both areas in Ottawa and Allegan counties, based on a total equalized valuation of $85,905,799.

Final payment of state aid in the amount of $96,922.24 was announced.

High School Principal Jay W. Formsma who is taking a new position in Livonia, expressed gratitude for seven years of experiences in Holland covering many areas, particularly annexation programs, the building of a new high school and a new curriculum. In another communication he said scheduling for the new semester would be about 95 per cent complete by July 1. In places of conflicts, high school students would be called by phone.

A request of Herbert Vander Ploeg, 387 Lincoln Ave., to send his daughter to Lincoln School instead of Apple Avenue School was referred to the schools committee for study.

Board President Buter reviewed accomplishments of the past year and pointed to major areas he felt needed early attention in the new year. Among the accomplishments he mentioned a successful millage election after three unsuccessful votes, the fact that Prestatie Huis was integrated into the special education program, appointment of an attendance officer to serve all local schools, a separate teachers' institute for Holland, and a new agreement with new car dealers supplying driver education cars at a fee of $100 each.

Under personnel he listed two salary increments for custodians, a custodian's policy manual, progress in personnel policies for principals and teachers, new teachers salary scale, and successful operation of two elementary schools under one principal.

For major areas for attention the coming year he listed consolidation of debt for the entire district through a refinancing program so that every Holland property owner would pay the same tax rate. Such a refinancing program could also care for replacing old sections of Van Raalte and Longfellow schools, provide a new Maplewood school at College and 36th, purchase sites for future elementary schools, and make additions to other elementary schools.

He also called for a sound curriculum study at all levels to determine if Holland is keeping pace academically, and for a professional study of the administrative structure with specific emphasis on organization and work-load responsibilities. All members were present with the exception of Harry Frissel. Also present were Supt. Walter W. Scott and Steve Van Grouw, new president of the Holland MEA district. The meeting lasted 45 minutes.

Births at the Holland Hospital include a daughter born Wednesday to Mr. and Mrs. Russell Beasley of 544 Homestead Ave., and a daughter, Kimberly Kay, born today to Mr. and Mrs. Raynaldo Quinto of 152 Central Ave.

Officials Honor Retiring Judge

Municipal Judge Cornelius van der Meulen who is retiring after 16½ years as municipal judge for Holland city was honored at a dinner Wednesday night given by City Council.

About 40 attended including heads of city departments, attorneys of Holland and Zeeland, Circuit Judge Raymond L. Smith, Prosecutor James Bussard of Grand Haven, Vaner Meulen John, a Chicago architect, and Dr. C. E. Boone of Zeeland and James De Pree of Holland, two life-long friends.

The social event was unique in that the honored guest was given the opportunity to do most of the talking — something Judge van der Meulen does extremely well. He was introduced by the Rev. William C. Hillegonds of Hope Church who gave the invocation. Mayor Nelson Bosman presided.

Judge van der Meulen has long contended that most people faced with legal problems do not get beyond justice or municipal court — "the court of the poor" — and he feels the rights of the poor are just as important as the rights of the rich, and everybody is entitled to justice and dignity. To this end, he organized the twice-weekly traffic court designed to give proper attention to misdemeanor cases. "Most of these cases involve first offenders whose only association is with lower courts and it is important that their first impressions reflect proper consideration," he said.

Judge van der Meulen also expressed concern over the rising incidence of mental health problems and their implications in terms of crime. He does not feel fines and jail terms are the remedy for people who disobey the law because of some deep down mental or emotional disturbance, and feels municipal courts should be equipped with the same type of professional help associated with higher courts, mainly probation officers, professional guidance counselors, etc.

He was high in his praise for the cooperation received from the city administration, members of the bar, members of the staff and his court officers. He also expressed concern over licensing for all the skills ranging from barbering to electricians, yet custom says anyone can administer justice in the lower courts, and he felt something should be done to upgrade this deficiency.

He sprinkled his talk generously with anecdotes, including the story of the vagrant who appeared before him after "resting" several nights in Hope Church. In order to provide the proper care for the man, the court put him in protective custody while arrangements could be worked out. Yet the interpretation for the public was "Judge Sentences Man to 30 Days for Sleeping in Church."

A brown fabric lounge chair, selected by the judge's sister-in-law, Mrs. Beulah Dunwoody, was presented to the judge. In his response, the judge expressed pleasure over the gift and said he did not resent the symbolism of being relegated to an easy chair.

Woman Dies In Crash

SPRING LAKE — A Spring Lake woman was killed and her son injured Tuesday when her car collided with the diesel engine of a C & O train about 8:30 p.m. at the C & O crossing on Van Wagoner Rd., a quarter-mile west of US-31.

Ethel R. Canning, 24, of 18977 174th Ave., was pronounced dead on arrival at Grand Haven Municipal Hospital of a broken neck by Dr. John Kitchel, Ottawa county medical examiner. Her son Ronald, 4, was treated at the hospital for cuts and bruises of the head and face and released following the crash.

Michigan state police from Grand Haven said Mrs. Canning's auto was traveling west on Van Wagoner Rd. when it struck the side of the engine of the train bound for Grand Haven from Muskegon at 45 miles per hour. State police said the car was dragged 36 feet from the roadway by the engine after the impact.

Train engineer Daniel Smack, of Fruitport, told state police he did not see the car until after the collision. State police said the area of the collision is free of visual obstructions, but there are no flashing red warning lights or stop signs at the intersection.

State police said the scene of the crash is only about one mile from the Canning home.

Workmen Finish Repairs on Pipe

Water again flowed through Zeeland's water pipe Tuesday night after workmen repaired a leak in the pipe near the Chesapeake and Ohio tracks about a mile east of the Holland Die-casting Corp.

The water was shut off again Wednesday as construction workers poured concrete for the backing of an elbow joint. The joint and its backing slipped about two inches Monday afternoon causing a leak which sent water bubbling over a nearby field.

Zeeland's manager of utilities Martin Hietje said that the new backing is about ten times as strong as the old backing to prevent further leaks. He said that moist soil around the joint made the extra backing necessary.

Woman Poses As Holland Man's Widow

IONIA — Mrs. Delores Goforth, 47, of Greenville, who reportedly posed as the widow of a blind Holland man apparently to benefit from his estate, was held in Ionia County jail Friday on charges of forging a marriage license.

Ionia State Police said Mrs. Goforth admitted the forgery.

According to investigators, William Hietbrink, 45, of Holland, died June 13 of a heart attack in an Adrian restaurant. When his body was returned to Holland for services, she called the funeral home and identified herself as "Mrs. William Hietbrink."

She submitted a marriage license showing they purportedly were married by Justice of the Peace Ambrose Spencer of Belding.

Relatives of Hietbrink, who hadn't heard of the marriage, became suspicious and an investigation was launched by State Police and Montcalm County officers.

The investigation revealed the license was a forgery. The name of the justice of the peace and witnesses had been traced on the document dated Aug. 8, 1963.

State Police said she admitted the forgery and declared she had known Hietbrink since 1954 and "we intended to get married but the ceremony never came off."

Mrs. Goforth waived preliminary examination before Justice of the Peace Don Irish at Greenville but was unable to provide $2,000 bond pending appearance in Circuit Court.

Lightning Sets Fires

Lightning caused three fires in Park Township Monday night, two in township homes and one in a pine tree grove. No injuries were reported.

Park Township firemen were called to the home of James Garvelink on 144th Ave., just south of Riley St. about 6 p.m. when lightning caused extensive damage to the home's electrical wiring. Firemen said the electric meter had to be removed to prevent fire. Fuses, circuit breakers and wiring throughout the house were damaged when lightning apparently traveled into the house after hitting a connected clothesline.

The township fire department was also called to the home of Russel Pierce, of 1393 Lakewood Blvd., about 7 p.m. when lightning struck the house, setting the roof on fire. The fire on the exterior of the home was quickly extinguished, but wiring in the house and an electric stove were damaged by the lightning. Fuses were blown out of their sockets by the force of the electric shock.

About 20 six-foot trees were damaged by fire in a pine tree grove at James St. and 152nd Ave., according to firemen.

Construction Of County Building Set

GRAND HAVEN — Osterink Construction Co. of Grand Rapids, low of six bidders on construction of the $700,000 county building, to be erected at Washington and First St. was awarded the contract by the Ottawa County Board of Supervisors at the closing meeting of the June session Wednesday.

The low bid, opened by the improvements committee Tuesday, was $699,800, but with several alternates figured the bid as approved by the board is $693,255. Construction will start as soon as possible and the contract calls for completion in 13 months.

Action was taken after a resolution was submitted to the board by the improvements committee, Herman Windemuller, chairman. Authority was given the committee and the architects, Vander Meiden and Koteles of Grand Haven, to approve minor changes in the plans and specifications during the construction period.

The committee was also authorized to have photograph of the present building taken and placed in the new building, along with pictures of the county's first courthouse and other buildings used as courthouses. All members of the board requested a small picture of the building.

Second low bidder was Erhardt Construction Co. of Grand Rapids, at $703,800; the next was Martin Dyke, Holland, at $725,000; Stephenson Construction Co. of Zeeland, was next with $730,000; Elzinga and Volkens of Holland bid $735,675; and Omega Construction of Grand Rapids with a bid of $737,300.

City, County Rebuild Road

Work began this week on reconstructing a half-mile stretch of Waverly Road from M-21 to Lakewood Boulevard at the approaches to the new Waverly bridge over the Black River.

Waverly Road will be closed much of the time while the project is being completed. Leroy Vermeer, deputy clerk of the Ottawa County Road Commission, said that the project is scheduled for completion by the middle of August.

When completed the project will provide improved approaches to the new Waverly bridge.

The project includes rebuilding the whole half-mile stretch according to Holland City Engineer LaVerne Serne. This includes putting in new base, new grading, new shoulders and new fill, Serne said. The new road will be wider than the old one.

The reconstruction job is a joint project of Holland and the Ottawa County Road Commission. It will cost Holland an estimated $4,151.61. The rest of the estimated $22,908.51 for the project will be paid for by the Ottawa County Road Commission.

To avoid problems in coordinating the work, Serne said, Holland has allowed the county to do all the engineering and contracting work on the new road. The contractor for the project is West Shore Construction Co. of Zeeland.

Man Arrested Before Crime Is Reported

Gene S. Olin, 22, of Evans Mills, N.Y., demanded examination in Municipal court Monday on charges of unlawfully driving away an auto and grand larceny stemming from his arrest Sunday by Zeeland police chief Lawrence Veldheer.

Olin was remanded to Ottawa county jail in lieu of bond totaling $2,500 until his examination in Holland Municipal court June 30.

Olin was arrested Sunday by Veldheer after a check through Holland police revealed Olin's stalled and smoking car had been taken from the home of Julia Kuite, of 105 West Tenth St.

Police said among the articles recovered in the car were three suits, three sport coats and other clothes valued at $130 and $10 in cash. Police said the loot was taken from the Kuite home, most of it from two boarders in the Kuite house.

Veldheer said he saw the car near the intersection of Jefferson and Washington Sts. in Zeeland and stopped to see if any assistance was needed. Veldheer said Olin appeared nervous and inconsistent in his conversation. Veldheer also noticed luggage in the car displayed initials other than those of Olin.

Olin's manner prompted Veldheer to radio Holland police to check his story of having borrowed the car.

Holland police found Mrs. Kuite was listed as the owner of the car and located her an hour later when she returned from Hope Church. When informed of Olin's story she told police she hadn't let anyone borrow the car. A search of the house revealed her home also had been ransacked.

Under questioning by Holland police, Olin said he had been evicted from his rooming house Saturday. He said he had previously attempted to rent a room from Mrs. Kuite when he first came to Holland two weeks ago. Olin told police he was on his way to Rochester, N.Y., when the car broke down and Veldheer stopped to offer assistance.

Supervisors Vote Down Plan to Purchase Land

GRAND HAVEN — The Ottawa County Board of Supervisors Wednesday voted down, 29 to 5, the purchase of 400 acres of private land in Lake county for $35,000, which would be traded to the U.S. forestry service for 1600 acres of forest land now owned by the U.S. government in south Ottawa county.

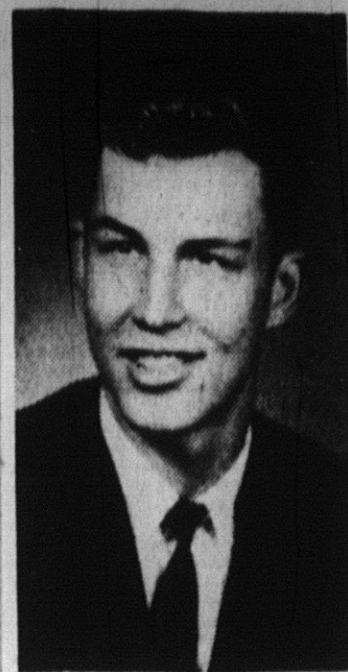

The conservation committee of the board seeks the Ottawa land for recreation purposes. The main objection of the board members was that the county would be obligated to use the acreage for recreation and for public use only. A subsequent motion to take an option on the Lake county land, for one year at $1,000, also was defeated, 25 to 9.

Arendshorst Recognized For Service

The Board of Education at its last meeting of the current fiscal year Monday adopted a resolution recognizing nine years of service by Bernard J. Arendshorst who is retiring from the board. The resolution mentioned his service as president, vice president and treasurer as well as heading several board committees throughout the years, as well as serving on the Ottawa County Tax Allocation committee.

Arendshorst responded, expressing gratitude for pleasant experiences and associations with board members, teachers, Supt. Walter Scott and his staff. "It was an enlightening experience to be exposed and to be involved in the many ramifications of operating a school system, building a new high school and the several annexations. Serious problems were encountered, and will continue to appear in the future," he said.

Arendshorst also praised Supt. Scott stating many valuable imprints have been left by him not only on the school system but on the city itself. He said, "There always will be much unfounded criticism of a school superintendent. However, I personally have high admiration for Mr. Scott's accomplishments, his deep sense of responsibility to his job, and his integrity."

He continued: "There are of course many observations made during one's term in office. The hackneyed word 'communication' is a common complaint by citizens of all public institutions. A school board is no exception. However, there also is citizen's responsibility. If a citizen wishes to become better informed of school activities, there is ample opportunity. School board meetings are public meetings, with radio and newspaper people always on hand, where board actions, committee reports, finances and administrative reports are readily available."

"Furthermore, any citizen present is free to make inquiry. The number of citizens present, however, are usually counted with a quick sweep of the eye. I contend that there is as good, if not better, communication efforts made by this board than by any other city body."

"Too many citizens feel weak communication is the reason for their not being better informed. I contend that any citizen may become informed if the desire is sufficiently strong. A fully informed citizen is then usually far less critical."

"I would like to add, too, that I have appreciated the association with Mr. Scott. Many valuable imprints have been left by him not only on our school system, but on the city itself. He has saved the Holland city taxpayers thousands of dollars because of the pattern of annexation which he promoted, and which the board endorsed and executed. There will always be much unfounded criticism of a school superintendent. However, I personally have high admiration for Mr. Scott's accomplishments, his deep sense of responsibility to his job, and his integrity."

"I wish the board good fortune in their future deliberations, and the execution of their responsibility. Again, I wish to thank the electors of Holland for the opportunity of serving them on this Board of Education."

Arendshorst did not seek reelection when his term expired this year.

Views From The Campus

(David L. Clark is an instructor of history at Hope College. He received his B. A. degree from Yale University in 1954, his B. D. from the Episcopal Theological School in 1957, and is presently a candidate for the Th.D. at Harvard Divinity School. Prior to joining the Hope faculty in 1963, he taught at Harvard Divinity School in Cambridge, Mass. Editor's Note.)

By David L. Clark

"What did you do with your college friend this week?" More than 50 Holland children have been asking each other that question this spring. They have been participants in a new Higher Horizons program begun by over 50 Hope College students. As a result of the good response of both college students and school children, the program will expand in the fall. This is one way in which Hope College is reaching out in new ways to be involved in the Holland community.

The students who began the higher Horizons program felt a keen desire to be part of the most compelling social struggle in our nation today — the struggle for greater equality of opportunity. Realizing that this struggle is not just a racial or regional problem, these students wished to discover the needs right here in Holland. They asked Hope College faculty members, Mr. James Malcolm and me, to work with them. Numerous civic, educational, religious and social agency leaders were interviewed. Finally, it was decided to propose an experimental program to include a selected group of children in the Lincoln and Washington public elementary schools and the St. Francis de Sales parochial school.

Certain group activities were planned for the college and elementary school participants, in order to allow them to become acquainted under relaxed conditions. A group of students planned a program of skits and puppet shows, and performed these for the group at the public library. A number of the children involved had never been in the Herrick Library. Thus, they were given a tour, and were helped by the college students to find books that would interest them. This program was a model for the kinds of activities aimed at in the Higher Horizons program. That is, social activities are not thought of as ends in themselves, but as means to further a relationship that will help a child's mind develop.

The basic structure of the Higher Horizons program as it has developed is a one-to-one relationship between a college student and a school child. Each Hope student involved has talked with the parents and teacher of the child he or she is working with, attempting to discover what help can be given that is not otherwise given. But the most lasting benefits of such a relationship are undoubtedly not the skills learned and activities experienced, but the new ambitions aroused. This is why the program is called a "Higher Horizons" program. The hope is that children involved will begin to develop new interests not otherwise developed in their families or circle of friends, and perhaps new aims for a life's work.

There are a number of reasons why I, as a history teacher, am interested in working with students in this Higher Horizons program. The main reason is that I strongly believe that a liberal arts education today should be preparing students to act as well as to think. I do not mean by this, preparation to do a particular job, but preparation to take part in the kind of action that can help society develop in new and creative areas. I believe that "liberal education" is to liberate the individual mind so that it can recognize new needs, new opportunities, new challenges. Above all, a liberal education should liberate the individual from that worst of all bondage, the inability to translate new ideas into action. If this is what liberal education means college education cannot just be talking about and studying about new patterns of action. There must be some laboratory experience.

For several generations teachers of the Humanities have

I strongly believe that it is time that educators begin to adapt the laboratory method for the Humanities. Some leading educators are doing just this. The rapid spread throughout the country of student-led tutorial and cultural enrichment programs indicates the thirst of this student generation for opportunity to relate studies to social action.

Cuban Refugee Couple Recounts Escape, Sea Rescue

Sitting in a comfortable apartment, wearing a good suit of clothes and having enough food in the house was like a dream come true for Jose Rappard, 18, and his 17-year-old wife, Consuelo, who just over four months ago were completing final arrangements to escape Cuba.

After an eight-month delay in the escape plans and a heroic rescue from the sea by the United States Coast Guard, the couple reached Key West, Fla., and freedom and now reside at 325 Columbia Ave. They are being sponsored by the Fourteenth Street Christian Reformed Church.

George Fernandez, 15, who came with his family from Cuba two years ago, acted as interpreter as they told of their escape.

The initial plans were made by Rappard, his wife, parents and friends and were going along successfully until two members of the party were captured by the communists. These arrangements were then delayed for eight months for fear their friends would be compelled to tell of the escape plans.

On April 13, the decision was made and Rappard, his wife, parents, brother, aunt and 20 friends including eight children and a woman who was unable to walk, set out in two boats with a few possessions. The boats, 20 and 27 feet long, were tied together.

The group was at sea for five days when a storm hit and rough waters separated the boats. Rappard and his family drifted for two days not knowing what would become of them or their friends, living only on hope and the desire for freedom.

On the second day of drifting, Mrs. Rappard said, they spotted what was an English ship and almost gave up when their shouts for help seemed to be lost. What they didn't know she added, was that the crew radioed an American destroyer and a helicopter was sent out to pick them up.

Being lifted from their small boat into the helicopter by a sling, she said her only thoughts were those of thanksgiving. At the refugee center, they learned that the other larger boat, carrying the remaining 19 refugees had arrived safely and they met their friends.

It was on June 1 that the Fourteenth Street Christian Reformed Church decided to sponsor a Cuban refugee family. According to David Holkeboer, member of the Church consistory, they received the Rappards' name through Cuba Resettlement program of the Christian World Relief Program and had only three days to plan for the Rappards' arrival.

On June 5, the Rappards flew from Miami, Fla., to Grand Rapids carrying only two suitcases and a box of baby clothing.

As sponsors, the Church will try to find a job for Mr. Rappard and supply all material needs until they are resettled and self-sufficient.

The Rappards said that in Cuba, all of the food was rationed and that rice was the main food, being eaten twice a day—at dinner and supper. Each person was given six pounds of rice a month.

Mrs. Rappard added that milk was given only to little babies and older people and women who were seven-months pregnant. Only ¾ pound of meat was rationed per person per week.

The Rappards who said they would like to go back to a free Cuba, also noted that Holland is a very pleasant town and said they really didn't expect to find so many nice people.

Mrs. Rappard said they were very "happy, thankful and grateful" to the people here and the Church which is sponsoring them. She added that she doesn't know how they will be able to repay all of them.

It is suggested that a series of eight one-hour lessons be scheduled and that the class have a minimum of eight participants.

Classes may be arranged for all ages and swimming abilities, however, it is most beneficial to set up a class according to similar age groups and swimming ability. Several classes may be arranged if the pool owner desires.

This program will follow the YMCA progressive swim program and participants would be qualified to continue instruction in the YMCA swimming program at the West Ottawa High School pool.

For full information on this program, private pool owners are asked to call the YMCA.

Volleyballs

Congrats to those residents who have planted marigolds or other flowers in tulip lane in front of their homes.

Now if the others will just cut down the yellowed foliage and remove the weeds, the town will look shipshape again.

Whenever it rains, the weeds seem to benefit the most. And isn't it frustrating how green they remain while the grass turns brown.

A Holland couple traveling in the copper country in the upper peninsula came across the Calumet Copper Country News of May 28 which carried a two-column front page story of the Calumet High School Band's visit to Holland during Tulip Time.

The band had worked six months on fund raising and planning and had spent two weeks of day and night practice sessions. For this they won a first division rating and a lot of compliment from review judges and other band leaders. Band members attach high significance to the handsome plaque bearing their rating.

While in Holland, the band visited the tulip farms, the wooden shoe factory and witnessed the children's parade. Youngsters probably shot more film than they ever had before.

One question constantly confronted them. Where was Calumet? They answered proudly they had come from over 500 miles from the Copper Country in that jutting peninsula into Lake Superior referred to as Keweenaw Peninsula. Calumet is about 13 miles northeast of the Houghton-Hancock area.

On their Holland visit, the band stayed in Occidental Hotel in Muskegon and had their meals in Christian High School in Holland. Muskegon people as well as Holland people commented on their fine behavior.

As has happened previously, Holland's fine Memorial Day parade was bisected by a passing freight train at the 16th St. crossing. It halted the procession for a considerable distance, but paraders and spectators were patient, and there was no serious interruption.

At the cemetery, the program went like clockwork. The ceremony was brief and impressive, and it was all over by 11:02 a.m.

When one considers lining up the parade at 9:30 a.m. in the Centennial Park area, marching a parade route of just over a mile, stopping for a train, reforming at the cemetery entrance and having the entire morning's program over in an hour and a half, perfection is not far off.

Miriam Holzimmer, a junior high student staying with Mr. and Mrs. Herman Bos, 145 West 21st St., recently received a clipping from the Cameroon Times in Africa on oratory honors won by Jacob Ngwa, pre-med student at Hope College, who won first place in the 67th annual Men's Oratory contest of the Michigan Intercollegiate Speech League in Detroit earlier this season.

The clipping was sent to Miss Holzimmer by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Holzimmer, who are missionaries in the Cameroons. Ngwa, who won a gold medal in this contest, is a son of the Rev. and Mrs. Philip Ngwa of Mbengwi, Bamenda, West Cameroon. His father is a retired minister.

Clarence Becker, executive vice president of Home Furnace Co., has received a letter from Gov. George Romney, commending him on expanding Home Furnace Co. by purchasing the Warm Air Heating Division of Burnham Corp. and hailing it as a significant development in Michigan's program of economic expansion.

"It is most gratifying to know that manufacturing operations of this division will be transferred to Michigan. This is an indication of your strong confidence in the industrial future of our state," the governor wrote.

Postmaster Lou Haight practices what he preaches!

In urging other people to use zip codes in addressing letters, he certainly does so himself... even when he leaves a news release for the Sentinel in a lock box which is perhaps 12 steps away from his desk.

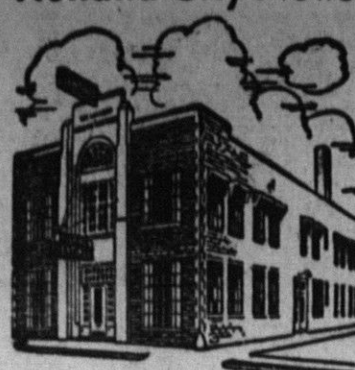

It was the correct code number too. Zip code for lock boxes at Holland post office is 49424. Zip code for mail deliveries for the city-at-large is 49423.

It's newcomer time again in Holland and the city hosts welcomed seven new families to Holland during May.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Balla of Chicago are living in an apartment at 970 Lincoln Ave. Mr. Balla is credit manager at Holland Hospital and also is a mural painter. There are no children.

MICHIGAN

OUR WONDERLAND

Many people no doubt will be wondering just how we are ever going to make the Austin-Kleiner alternate plan for districting the Michigan legislature work. With our state the first state to act under the mandate of the U. S. Supreme Court order, the question before the people now will be just where do we go from here. With Government growing and growing we are going to need to use more of our leisure time trying to understand just how the people over the state are going to react to such thinking on the part of the people who serve on the highest court of the land.

AN AGE OF VIOLENCE

Ours is without doubt an age of violence. Internationally, one can hardly put a finger on any spot on a globe of the world without encountering some form of violent conflict. Domestically, we've already seen mob violence both in the North and the South over the racial issue, and may yet see more as Negro leaders test the enforcement of the civil rights bill when it finally becomes law.

But apart from this issue, crime in our country since World War II has increased four times faster than the rate of population growth, with most of the increase of a violent nature. Brutal beatings, stabbings, murders in parks, subways and streets have become quite commonplace and in our larger cities have even invaded the domain of the schoolrooms. Smaller towns and cities are not immune from the violence virus as the recent senseless vandalism.

If we turn from the daily newspaper — which after all merely reports the news and doesn't make it — and seek escape in movie-going or television — viewing, even there we are greeted with monster and horror pictures and on the videotube are fed a diet of "mayhem for mayhem's sake."

All of this is of course common knowledge. The very least one can do about violence is to deplore it. But when we read of examples of the complacency many show when a crime of violence is being committed which it is within their power to prevent, or read of a disturbed 19-year old about to jump to his suicide death and being egged on by sensation-hungry crowd below, one cannot help wondering if our vaunted twentieth-century civilization hasn't sunk to an all-time low.

Sunday School Lesson

Sunday, June 28
The World Fellowship of Christians
Ephesians 2:11-22
By C. P. Dame

The word "fellowship" is popular today. It is indeed a good word. In order to fellowship with people there must be understanding. The best kind of fellowship is carried on between people who are in agreement. Christ promotes fellowship between people by drawing them to Him.

I. Christ unites people. Paul wrote his epistles to the Ephesians, Philippians, Colossians and to Philemon while in prison. The believers in Ephesus had come from paganism and were Gentiles. In Christian churches Jews and Gentiles fellowshiped together.

In daily life at the time of Paul, Jews and Gentiles did not mix. The Gentiles were the uncircumcised. God gave circumcision to the Jews as a religious rite which separated them from all other people.

Spiritually the Gentiles were bankrupt. They were, before they became Christians, "without Christ, being aliens from the commonwealth of Israel, and strangers from the covenants of promise, having no hope, and without God in the world." Tragic was their spiritual condition. A thoughtful look at these words reveals a sorry plight.

"But now in Christ Jesus, ye who sometimes were far off are made nigh by the blood of Christ"—they were a new people through Christ. Christians are changed people. We are glad that Christ still changes hearts and lives.

II. Christ is our peace. Christ brought about peace between God and man. By doing this He brought peace between men.

There was a wall of separation between Jew and Gentile, consisting of ceremonial observances which kept them apart. The two were brought under the control of Jesus. The Lord formed a new kind of person out of both, a namely a Christian. This came about through regeneration.

Christ reconciles people to each other by reconciling them to God. Although there are many differences in the Christian Church Jesus Christ unites them and gives peace. Our trouble lies in the fact that we do not let Christ rule our hearts completely. Christians owe everything to their Lord.

III. Christ is the chief cornerstone.

Paul impresses upon the minds of these Ephesian Christians their new standing. Great was the contrast between their present and former position. Christians not only belong to a kingdom but they also belong to a household. The word "household" speaks of a closer union than the word "kingdom." Both words suggest fellowship.

Paul also tells us that God's people are like to a building. The Church is built upon the doctrine of the apostles and prophets but Christ is the cornerstone for He holds the whole building together. Peter is not the corner stone—Jesus Christ is.

True union and fellowship stems not from liturgy or ritual or worship but from Jesus Christ. The union which the Bible stresses is spiritual. This is important. There should be more striving for spiritual union.

Dr. De Young was a speaker at the Grand Rapids Junior College anniversary last week and received an honor degree. He also received a distinguished public service award.

PARK CLEANUP — Fred Zylman who has been in charge of maintenance at Centennial Park for 15 years picks up twigs and leaves blown down by high winds Friday night. Zylman and other Parks Department workers are just finishing the job of cleaning up after the big storm June 9. The storm blew down 10 of the trees in the park. (Sentinel photo)

Parks Workmen to Finish Centennial Park Cleanup

When 100 mile per hour winds swept across Centennial Park June 9 they uprooted trees, smashed park benches and damaged several shrubs. The long, tedious job of restoring the park to its former beauty is still going on.

Parks department crews were busy last week taking out a maple tree which had been split apart in the storm. The crews have already removed eight trees, and have one more to take out near 10th St. across from the Temple Building.

After the trunks are removed workmen still have to remove the stumps, replant or resod with grass and perhaps put in new trees to replace those that fell in the storm.

After the trees are removed much of the work of cleaning up is left to Fred Zylman who has been in charge of maintenance at Centennial Park for 15 years. Zylman was busy raking leaves and twigs left over after the trees were removed.

Zylman said that he first heard of the damages to the park over the radio. When he got to the park the next morning he found a tangle of fallen trees and broken benches.

He had to chop away several branches before he could get to the park's tool shed. Besides damage to the trees Zylman also found several benches smashed, a small Bay tree squashed and damage to fuchsia and lilac bushes.

The big trees that went down, Zylman said, were mostly hard maples. He explained that these hard maples were particularly vulnerable because they are quite top heavy and don't put down strong tap roots. The hard maples instead have only a tangle of many small roots.

Observers of the park the morning after the storm wondered why the seemingly sturdy trees were uprooted while small palms in wooden boxes were left standing. Zylman thinks that this strange phenomena came about because the winds blew high in the branches of the maples above the tops of the palms.

Zylman who now lives at 311 South 120th St. hasn't always worked in park maintenance. He worked as a farmer before joining the Parks Department staff 21 years ago.

He was born here, but his parents came from Groningen, a province in the northern part of the Netherlands.

Zylman learned the Dutch language from his parents and said that it has come in handy several times. About 20 years ago a child asked him the name of one of the many flowers in the park.

Having just begun working for the Parks Department he didn't know the name of the flower. He finally told the child the Dutch words for "pretty flower" and the child went away happy. Zylman has also been able to talk about the park to many visitors from the Netherlands by knowing their language.

As head of the Centennial Park maintenance Zylman has long since learned the names of the many flowers, shrubs and trees in the park. He has become a familiar sight to most residents with his green uniform and taped-up pipe working on beds or raking the grass. He helps put out the 15,000 tulips in the spring and remove the many plants to the city's greenhouses. Zylman has helped keep the park a landmark for many people.

Zylman said that visitors from Texas to Canada and from several foreign countries have stopped to ask him about the park. Two of the biggest features, he said, are the fuchsia bushes and the fountain. The fuchsia bushes originally grown from tiny splits are now about 20-years old, he said. The fountain contains almost 1,500 plants.

Plan Will Split Ottawa, Allegan

Holland has been separated from Grand Haven and most of Ottawa county in the Michigan Supreme Court ruling on apportionment for the Michigan House of Representatives districts.

Roughly, Ottawa and Van Buren counties, most of Allegan county and a small area of Barry county have been divided into three districts.

Holland no longer will be divided at the Ottawa-Allegan line. The city along with Zeeland and Jamestown townships will be in district 55 which includes the greater share of Allegan county.

District 95 includes all of Ottawa county except the city of Holland and Jamestown and Zeeland townships. Population is 71,666.

District 54 includes all of Van Buren county and all of Allegan except the townships of Dorr, Fillmore, Gunplain, Heath, Hopkins, Leighton, Martin, Monterey, Otsego, Overisel, Salem and Wayland, and the cities of Otsego and Plainwell. Population is 71,964.

District 55 includes that part of Allegan county excluded from district 54; from Barry county the townships of Baltimore, Barry, Hope, Johnstown, Orangeville, Prairieville and Yankee Springs; and from Ottawa county the townships of Jamestown, Zeeland and the city of Holland. Population is 71,886.

State Rep. Riemer Van Til of Holland, currently representing Ottawa county in the House, termed the districting a "draftsman's nightmare."

"The whole thing is totally unfair to the people. The lines have been drawn with little or no regard to established lines, and in some cases have even cut across precinct lines. Many people will have a difficult time finding out what district they reside in," he said.

Van Til added that one at-large incumbent from Barry county resides in the new district 55. He was of the opinion that definite attempts had been made to put incumbents in each other's districts.

Van Til said he would continue to study the plan and while he would be running again for public office he has not decided which office he would seek.

In the senatorial apportionment, Ottawa county would remain in the 23rd district, but the district would be composed of Ottawa, Allegan, Van Buren and a part of Barry county. Previously, Ottawa and Muskegon counties had comprised the 23rd district.

Mrs. Peter Kromann To Be Honored Sunday

Did you see Mrs. Kromann last Sunday? This is the message sent to members of Zion Lutheran Church this week. And the answer is also supplied in the note.

On Sunday, however, the parishioners will have an opportunity to meet Mrs. Peter Kromann at a reception to be given in her honor from 9:15 to 10:30 a.m. in the old parish hall. Rolls and coffee will be served and a silver anniversary gift will be presented to her.

Full House Cheers Comedy At Red Barn

The 1964 season at Red Barn Theatre near Saugatuck got off to a fine start at a premiere Saturday night of the comedy-farce, "The Tunnel of Love," which filled the 500-seat theatre to capacity.

The first-nighter crowd was a responsive audience, one that fully appreciated the many laughs in this situation comedy geared more to sophisticated adults than to family entertainment. The play reopens tonight and will run through Saturday with curtain time at 8:30 p.m. and a Wednesday matinee at 2:30 p.m.

Producer - Director James Dyas added a new opening night touch in presenting the Chord Counts, Holland's own championship barbershop quartet, singing a chorus of "Let Me Entertain You." This quartet had starred in the Red Barn's musical, "The Music Man," a couple of years ago and Dyas expressed the hope that it would be appearing in the Barn musicals this summer, "Sound of Music" and "My Fair Lady."

Red Barn Favorite Bruce Hall and his sidekick Don Bonevich, who has developed into a fine performer in his years at the Red Barn, were outstanding in their "Tunnel" roles, particularly in facial expressions which seemed to set the tone of the mixed-up comedy. Hall was the absolute wooden Indian when baffled and Bonevich's pained expressions were felt as well as seen. It provided an interesting new tack to the Broadway original in which Tom Ewell built his role on more muscular mannerisms.

Introduction of the company's two new ingenues, Patricia Woods and Bonnie Hatfield, proved a delightful experience. Miss Woods, a trim brunette, played the wife while Miss Hatfield, a reddish blonde, appeared as the knockout social worker—with curves.

Rounding out the cast were Dorothy Lee Tompkins, long-time leading lady and wife of Producer Dyas, who appeared as Bonevich's wife, and Barbara Greenwood of Holland who has appeared in many local Community Theatre productions. The latter played the gushy social worker, vaguely reminiscent of her roles as Vita Louise in Holland's "Harvey" and Laura Partridge in "Solid Gold Cadillac."

The set for "Tunnel of Love" was a beautifully proportioned studio - living room suburban house converted from a barn, complete with mice. A beamed ceiling was an outstanding note. Effective lighting added to a fine production.

Ottawa County 4-H News

By Willis S. Boss

The second week of the camping program has been completed and well over 200 club members were at the camp during these two weeks. The program has been going along smoothly and we certainly enjoyed the use of the camp facility made possible to us by the Board of Supervisors. The new swimming pool has been an asset on some of the cold days and has provided swimming for the children in camp. We have talked to several of the boys and girls about the camp experiences and the swimming pool has been one of the highlights that they mention the most. Other things such as campfire, recreation, games, food, singing, group meetings, and craft work have seemed to become minor details since we have the swimming pool.

The dairy club members, leaders, parents, and friends will have a tour tonight at the Gerrit Butth Farm in Eastmanville. This is scheduled to get underway at 6:30 p.m. Russ Herschberger will provide some instruction in connection with fitting and showing. Elmo Heft will be in charge of a group on calf selection. Both of these will be demonstrations. Richard Machiele will take over with the older club members and talk about dairy judging and with the members will judge two classes of dairy animals.

This will give the 4-H Agents a chance to talk with parents and leaders explaining the details of the summer dairy program. Our thanks to Gerrit Butth and Sons for the use of their facilities at their farm in Eastmanville for this 4-H training program.

We had to cancel the horse clinic which was originally scheduled for the 19th of June, due to the fact that we could not get a qualified person to conduct this clinic workshop and judging training. We are trying to schedule one, however, for the middle of July, before we go to the Marne fair.

We are still lacking some of the enrollment sheets from summer 4-H Clubs. We know that some of the leaders are under way with their programming but have failed to send in the enrollment sheets. We urge that you do this as soon as possible as we need this information to work on our summer records and make final arrangements for the fairs.

As you know, the fair exhibits constitute the achievement days for the summer programming. The Marne Fair is scheduled to open on July 20, the Holland Fair on August 3, and the Hudsonville Fair on August 24. So please send your enrollment sheets and orders for material in very soon to the 4-H Club Dept., Courthouse, Grand Haven, Mich.

Approve Plan To Buy Water From Wyoming

GRAND HAVEN — The Ottawa County Board of Supervisors Wednesday approved a plan whereby the county, through the water division of the road commission, will purchase water from the city of Wyoming in Kent county, which Tuesday took bids on a 30-mile pipe line from Lake Michigan over a route along New Holland Street in Ottawa.

Gerrit Bottema, Spring Lake supervisor, chairman of the water and sanitation committee of the board, submitted a resolution asking the board to approve a contract whereby the county would act as the "sole agent" for the sale of water to any city or township along the three-mile service area of the pipeline.

The resolution was tabled until Wednesday to give the supervisors and Prosecutor James Bussard time to study the contract. Wednesday Bussard ruled that the contract is proper. The pipe line, in its first stage, will be capable of transmitting 90,000,000 gallons daily from an intake in Lake Michigan.

Walter Russett, water-director of the road commission, was present to explain the plan and answer questions. He was asked by Holland area supervisors why Holland city was excluded from the service area and he explained that Holland has its own system and has never requested that it be included in the system, either for regular service or for stand-by service. Hudsonville city and eight townships along the route have asked to be included, he said.

The director explained the system whereby a municipality can "hook on" to the line. He cited the Jenison area in Georgetown as a community sorely in need of water because of its recent growth.

Georgetown township can borrow money for distribution lines and other facilities needed, using the primary full faith and credit of the township and the secondary credit of the county.

The project would be financed in one of three ways — through taxation, through revenue or special assessment. Should a municipality become delinquent, he said, the law provides that the county treasurer can withhold sales tax moneys from the township.

Ottawa County Farm News

By Richard Machiele
Ottawa County Extension Director

The future looks bleak for graduating farm boys who want to start their own farm enterprise. Only 1 of every 16 farm boys reaching employable age can expect to enter farming on a self-sufficient basis, but other youths can start farming on a partnership basis with a father or other established farmers. When we consider only farms with $10,000 or more gross income, we find room for only 300 youths to replace retiring farmers, yet about 4,800 Michigan farm boys reach employable age each year.

It was recently pointed out that youths entering farming today need a goal of $4,000 to $5,000 to be comparable with some types of available off-farm work. Farm account studies in recent years show average labor incomes of $3,000 to $4,000 depending on the type of farm. The better managers earn $5,000 or more, but some farmers failed to receive a hired man's wages after deducting all costs.

Three prime ingredients farm youths must have to be successful in farming today: — a real interest and liking for farm work, — adequate capital to develop a highly-efficient farm business, — the background and skill to keep informed and apply the technologies and practices which contribute to high returns.

The opportunities for farming are fewer today than in the past, but the returns are greatly improved. The future belongs to the youth who is willing to prepare properly by becoming a skilled technician and a good business manager.

It is interesting to note that Ottawa County Holstein breeders have a real interest in breed promotion. This is indicated by those who are classifying herds each year. We have received a list from the Holstein-Friesian Association of farmers who are planning to classify this summer. Breeders who are scheduled for this year are Gerrit J. Buth & Sons, Robert Nelson Aukerman, A. J. Bajema, Henry Baker, Dick Post, Frank Van Netten, Gordon Schreier, August Post, Terry Westfield, Roger Holmes, Elmo Heft, and G. J. Buth and Al Reisbig Jr.

Raspberry cane borer is making its appearance now. This beetle emerges in early June. The female lays eggs on the tender new canes about 6 inches from the tip and then girdles the tip of the cane. This can easily be seen in the planting soon after the girdling is completed. In early July the young larvae move toward the base of the cane and will burrow into the cane killing it before the fruit matures. We would suggest if you find these dead tips on you raspberry canes that you spray at the completion of picking season with Malathion at the manufacturers recommended rates.

Here are some dates that our readers may be interested in: As mentioned previously in this column, July 8 is Crops-Soils Day at Michigan State University, and July 11 is the Swine Type Conference at the Charlotte Fair Grounds, July 9 is the Michigan State University Turfgrass Field Day. August 5 is the date of the Annual State Farm Management Tour which will be held in Branch County. Details on this tour will be given at a later date in our column.

Mrs. Sembler said she reported the boy missing when she could not locate him after finding his pants laying on the lawn of the home. The house is located only a short distance from Lake Macatawa. Both regular and reserve deputies took part in the search.

New Garbage Program Is Under Study

ALLEGAN — Peter Bulthuis, owner of the City Sanitation Service, appeared before Allegan City Council Monday with a request for an exclusive five-year contract for city garbage removal.

In exchange, Bulthuis said he would provide his own dump, thereby relieving the city of responsibility for the present municipally operated facility. Bulthuis said Allegan residents not subscribing regularly to his service would be allowed to use his dump for a small fee.

It was moved to table action on the matter until the next meeting when the two existing garbage companies should have exclusive contracts drawn up for submission to the council.

Miss Bernice Turner was reappointed to serve on the city Library Board and Alvah Brachman was named to fill the board vacancy recently created by the resignation of Mrs. Clarence Wise.

Five Lynn St. property owners of a total of nine affected, turned thumbs down on proposed assessments of $500 each — plus hookup charges — for city sewer extension.

The original request for the $4,500 extension came from Flashes Publishers who plan to build a new office and printing plant at the corner of Thomas and Lynn.

City Manager Kenneth Bollinger suggested the alternative of splitting up the nine benefits into 12, or possibly 15 with inclusion of Allegan Health Center lots, thereby reducing individual assessments to $300 per lot to be paid over a five year period.

Council set July 13 for further consideration of the assessments. In the event Flashes and property owners arrive at an agreement prior to that date, a special meeting will be called.

Allegan - Trowbridge township supervisors Jack Billman and Grover Grigsby were given a flat "no" to their boards' proposals to pay $600 each in annual fire department fees with option to re-negotiate at the end of a two year period.

In anticipation of needing more revenue when the new fire hall is built, the council, two months ago, made their final proposal calling for each township to pay $600 rental in 1965, $800 in 1966, $1,000 in 1967, and $1,200 in 1968. This was a reduction from their original proposal asking a flat $1200 per year fee from each township.

The townships' contracts with the city expire Sept. 1 and construction on the fire station was due to start July 1, with completion in late fall, with the result that the architect has been pressing for final building requirements.

Bollinger also reported that, according to the state fire marshal, the city has never received an equitable share of fire department operating funds from the townships. Rates for the past several years have been $200 per township, plus separate fees for each fire. The city's offer was extended to July 20.

Council agreed to cooperate with the Allegan Chamber of Commerce in fulfilling a prior Chamber commitment to expand parking lot facilities at H. L. Friedlen Co. Subject to approval of Chamber board members, a 10-year note for $2,000 will be signed by the Chamber in order to finish the parking lot while contractors and crews are in the city on summer paving jobs.

Council also agreed to assume cost of renting the Griswold Auditorium and to act as co-sponsors when Allegan's entry in the County Fair Harvest Queen contest is chosen in July.

The board also approved an application by John H. Tripp, 263 West 19th St., to convert a building from one-family to two-family residential.

Visitor Says Americans Vary Extremely from Europeans

Belgium, The Netherlands, England, Switzerland, Spain, Sound like a part of a review for a geography class? It's not. It's just a few of the countries Miss Lizbeth Brunnold from Stuttgart, Germany, has seen.

Miss Brunnold who is visiting here with Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Gearhart of 90 West 14th St., has also been to France, Austria, Italy and Greece and came to America after many years of wishing to visit the United States.

The 24-year-old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Willy Brunnold, she was graduated from the high school in Germany which is comparable to a junior college here. She works in her father's wholesale house for oriental rugs.

At the store she works in the office, she sells the carpets and also goes on buying trips with her father. The buying trips, coupled with her extensive traveling, has instilled the desire to attend night school and study languages.

Miss Brunnold can speak German, French and English fluently with a little Italian and Spanish.

On her first trip to the United States, Miss Brunnold arrived May 13 and spent two weeks on the East coast visiting relatives. Her grandfather founded an auto electric parts company in Springfield, Mass. The relationship between the Gearhart family and Miss Brunnold's parents was initiated when Mr. Gearhart became acquainted with her father and uncle after the war and during subsequent visits in 1952 and 1959.

Miss Brunnold will remain here until July 18 when she will visit California and stop at Las Vegas. She will return to Germany in October by boat.

Her hobbies include skiing at Switzerland, swimming at the French Riviera and some tennis. She has also done some modeling but wishes to continue working for her father.

During her stay here (which is a vacation), she has spent a few days in various retail business establishments comparing buying and selling methods.

She said that the people here vary considerably. In Europe there is much more window shopping to decide which item to buy and that 99 per cent of the people know exactly what they want when they walk into a store and make a purchase. Here she said, more than half of the people revert to "just looking."

She also noted the employer-employee relationship in Europe is more formal than here where everyone talks and acts on the same level. She added that in Europe, no one would ever think of going downtown with their hair pinned up or wearing shorts.

With the exception of the twist, the dancing in Europe is very different and they do not do the frug which makes one look like he is "having a fit" according to Miss Brunnold.

Miss Brunnold's visit could probably be described as an "exchange" visit between the two families as Georgia Gearhart, the Gearhart's oldest daughter, will spend some time visiting with the Brunnolds in Germany.

Miss Gearhart left with the Hope College Vienna Summer School group and will travel as far as Bonn, Germany. She will also visit with Gerlinda Ehlers who was an exchange student from Germany at Holland High School last year.

Kaper, Mary Ann Nyhof, Arla Johnson, Mrs. Donald Wassink and Carl Tidd.

The Primary Sunday School Department visited the Convalescent Homes on Tuesday evening.

A dinner meeting of the Adult Choir of the Hamilton Reformed Church was scheduled for Thursday evening of this week at Jack's Restaurant in Holland.

Summer Reading Theme Inspired By Book Mobiles

"Better book-service through book mobiles" is the theme for the 1964 summer reading program at the Herrick Public Library, according to Mrs. Hazel Hayes, director.

Several hundred youngsters in the Holland area are already enrolled in this venture, thus giving special value to the "good old summer-time." During the last 10 years the enrollment in this project has increased from 113 in 1953 to nearly 1,800 for the 1963 season.

Young folk who are just beginning to read through those in high school are invited to enroll from now until the last week in August. At the end of the summer "book-mobilers" will be rewarded with a party at Kollen Park. Assisting at this occasion is one of the public services of the Horizon Girls and their leaders.

Summer reading rules are as follows:

Read books in present grade level or above; read below grade level with special permission; read 10 books for certificate and party at end of summer; credit cannot be given for books more than one day overdue; books must be presented to librarian at children's desk to obtain credit on chart; books may not be returned the same day they are borrowed.

At the books are returned by the young readers the names of the authors are imprinted on the spines of the books pictured on the book-mobile. In addition to the summer reading program, the Friday evening and Saturday morning story hours are continuing as usual.

Vacationland Near Holland Is Ready for Holiday Seekers

Holland is ready for the summer resort season with a variety of entertainment, recreation and sport centers in the area set to greet these visitors.

Most popular these days are the many new motels and boats that cater to the vacationer-on-the-move. Visitors find a spot, enjoy it for a few days and move on. Boat trailers are a common sight in this Water Wonderland of Michigan.

Well-known are the areas of Macatawa and Waukazoo where Chicago, St. Louis, Cincinnati and Detroiters spent entire summers in years back when the Macatawa Hotel and the Waukazoo Inn were in the prime of their existence.

Marinas, boat yards and yacht clubs in the area take care of the yachtsmen and small boat owners. Boat launching ramps are placed in strategic spots along the lakeshores and on the Kalamazoo River. Boats may be rented and water skis may be rented by day or week.

Horse shows, stock car races, fishing and summer theatre are easily accessible to all resorters.

Golf courses play an important part in many vacation plans. The courses in Holland and the surrounding area include the American Legion Memorial Park Club, West Shore Club at Douglas, Hamilton Lake Golf and Country Club at Saugatuck, the Crestview Golf Course in Borculo and the soon-to-be-ready West Ottawa Golf Course.

Castle Park on Lake Michigan remains as the only real resort with a main house, planned activities and cottages. Macatawa Park has cottages on both walks between the two lakes, Michigan and Macatawa.

In the fall, the new Motor Inn will be ready on the site of the old Macatawa Hotel. Progress on the inn is on schedule with cement poured for the motel and the restaurant and seawall also coming along.

Another new addition is the newly-finished Macatawa Bay Yacht Club which will be celebrating its 25th anniversary at special ceremonies Saturday, June 27 with a commissioning ceremony at noon and the formal opening dinner dance in the evening. The old clubhouse burned down last July 5, 1963. The new clubhouse will have many features not possible with the old one.

A list of tourist attractions is found in The Sentinel each day with times and directions for finding them. A summer directory of where to go, what to do, where to eat and where to get special services is found in The Sentinel twice a week.

Closer to Holland than ever because of the new double highway is the Saugatuck-Douglas area with marinas, golf courses and antique shops as well as the famed Ox-Bow Art Colony. It is between Holland and Saugatuck that the Red Barn Theatre is located. Summer stock with a resident company and New York professionals is available through Labor Day.

July 4th is the usual peak of the vacation season and resort-minded businessmen gear their planning to this. Fine shops cater to varying tastes.

Holland State Park at Ottawa Beach is filled all summer with camping and trailer parking a drawing card. Public beaches are also located on Lake Michigan at Saugatuck and Douglas. Laketown Park on 142nd Ave., is also a popular beach, especially with young people. Oldsters prefer the parks on Lake Macatawa like Kollen Park with picnic benches and a play area with swings and slides for children. The American Legion Band plays summer concerts in Kollen Park each Tuesday evening at 8:15.

With a fine recreation program in Holland, resorters come early and stay until fall. Many have purchased summer homes along the lake and many come back much later to spend their retirement years in the area.

Southwestern Michigan, the Holland area in particular, has become a top vacation spot for thousands who want the things Holland has to offer.

STOPPED FOR SAFETY CHECK — Holland police officer William Keizer (right) looks on as Holland police chief Jacob Van Hoff runs through the safety check list with a motorist stopped at the police safety check point at River Ave. and 12th St. Friday night. About 100 cars were run through the check point before rain halted operations. Defective headlights, tail lights, license plate lights and defective emergency brakes were noted among the violations recorded. Chief Van Hoff said the safety checks will be conducted throughout the summer as part of the police auto safety program. Autos displaying the red and white safety stickers, which can be obtained from local garages and gas stations after a free safety inspection, are not stopped at the police check points. The Rev. L.J. Hofman, pastor of North Street Christian Reformed Church, used for his Sunday morning topic "A Christian Talks With God." His evening sermon topic was "The Parable of the Good Samaritan."

The Rev. L.J. Bult, Overisel Christian Reformed Church, was guest minister at Haven Christian Reformed Church.

David James Schipper, 215 South State Street, is enrolled in the 50th annual summer school at Wheaton College (Illinois) for the inter-session period. He is taking a course in psychology and plans to continue study at the college through the first summer semester.

David Pushow, Ottawa County Speech Therapist has scheduled a speech correction program for the Zeeland area this summer. The program will begin Monday, June 29, at the Roosevelt Elementary School on Roosevelt Avenue. Sessions will be from 8 a.m. to 12 noon Monday through Friday. Any child with a speech problem may enroll in the classes.

The speech therapist would especially like to see children who have had no previous speech therapy in school.

Zeeland's City Recreational program is off to a good start, according to director Nels Stegeman. Swimming registration was held last week in the lobby of the Junior High School and as of Wednesday there were approximately 305 signed up for the program.

The program will feature qualified Red Cross instruction and the lessons will be given five days a week for two weeks in the Hudsonville High school pool. This year Stegeman has divided the lessons into two sessions, one which began Monday and going through July 3 and the other beginning Monday, July 6 and ending July 17.

Playground registration has been underway at the city hall recreation offices and the playground opened this Monday, June 22. Stan Vugteveen is the playground director this year.

The recreation Department has a fun filled six weeks planned for the playground this year with excellent leadership. Activities will include softball, tennis, archery, shuffleboard, tetherball, group games, story-telling, various tournaments and two or three trips are also on schedule.

Stegeman announced that Mardee Van Kley will again lead the crafts program. She is planning a bigger and better program this year.

The playground program also includes a "Story Hour" this year under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Engle. Mrs. Engle will conduct the "Story Hour" two days a week, Tuesday and Thursday. From 10 a.m. to 10:45 a.m. Mrs. Engle will have the pre-schoolers and from 10:45 to 11:30 a.m. she will have the beginners and first graders.
