County Seeks to Delay City's New Sewer Plant

GRAND HAVEN — Chairman William Kennedy of the Ottawa County Board of Commissioners dropped a "bombshell" at the close of Tuesday's session by asking that the board ask the Federal Water Quality Administration to withhold temporarily matching funds for Holland city's proposed sewage treatment plant.

The vote authorizing Kennedy to forward the letter was unanimous.

Kennedy submitted a prepared letter to James O. McDonald, program director of regional construction grants of the federal agency in Chicago, outlining what had transpired to date in Ottawa county's study of a plan which the county board hopes will result in a much better waste water management system. The county study, authorized a few months ago, is proceeding with Bauer Engineering Co. as consultants.

"As a county board," Kennedy said, "we feel that the city of Holland should wait until the county plan is ready in three months."

Kennedy said the Ottawa and Muskegon county boards have been working on plans the past year on a system different from the conventional primary and secondary treatment of wastes. This is commonly known as spray irrigation in which the nutrients are returned to the land.

Also read was a letter written by Mrs. Carl Cook of the Holland Garden Club addressed to the chairman of the council on Environmental Quality at Washington. It was signed by members of a study group of the club.

A long discussion ensued before the unanimous vote was taken to send the letter to McDonald.

Holland City Council on June 3 voted to accept state and federal grants totaling $1,442,100 for improving the city's waste water treatment plant, adding secondary treatment and phosphate removal. At that time, Tom De Pree, one of the city's five representatives on the county board, expressed regret at Council's decision to proceed with its plan. The proposed program had been approved by the Federal Water Quality Administration.

The state grant for Holland's program totals $1,311,000 and the federal grant $131,000, representing 55 per cent of original estimates. The city of Holland currently is in the process of selling $1,230,000 in sewer bonds which city voters approved last February.

Mrs. Elton (Betty) Machiele, 28, of 522 Rich St., was rushed to Community Hospital here and then transferred to St. Mary's Hospital in Grand Rapids. She was listed in critical condition with severe head injuries.

Zeeland Police Chief Lawrence Veldheer said the 1968 model car was southbound on Elm St. when it collided with the westbound freight train of 82 cars.

On the train were Mr. Van Buskirk of Grand Rapids, conductor, and Mr. Howell of Jenison, engineer.

Van Buskirk told Chief Veldheer they saw the car slow down at the crossing and thought she was going to stop. The train was travelling at about 30 miles per hour, police reported.

Republican Group Hears Sen. Huber

The breakdown of law and order is of deep concern to Michigan people and many of them want stricter laws to control crime, State Sen. Robert Huber, Troy industrialist who is seeking the Republican nomination for U. S. senator in Michigan, told some 150 persons at a dinner Tuesday night in Holland Christian High School, sponsored by Allegan county Republicans.

Sen. Huber, who had addressed the Ottawa county Lincoln Day dinner last February in Allendale, expressed concern over the people's willingness to surrender control. "We have all kinds of laws that take control from the people," he said. "We have never voted on parole, abortion, income tax or open occupancy."

He said he had distributed a four-page questionnaire to 15,000 persons and received more than 7,000 answers whereas he would have been happy with 10 per cent. He said those answering were 13-1 in favor of making rioting a felony, 15-1 for inciting to riot a felony, 17-1 making parents responsible for vandalism of their children, and 4-1 favoring wire tapping.

As a member of a senate committee investigating campus disorders, Huber said he was appalled at what has not hit the newspapers, brutal beatings on campus, nudity pictured in campus newspapers, and tendency of university administrators to admit more students from outside Michigan than from this state.

His study at 51 of 72 campuses also revealed that while Vietnam was the No. 1 issue on campus the next seven were not national issues but dealt with dormitory food, racial tensions on campus, tenure of some instructors, censorship and the like.

Huber, who operates industries in four states said industry is tightening the belt all over the nation, but not the government. "Government is spending more than ever before and we're running out of things to tax. We should use 1970 as a year of re-evaluation, and get closer to the reality of living," he said.

Donald Manchester of Saugatuck served as master of ceremonies and Sen. Gary Byker of Hudsonville introduced the speaker. Mrs. Eleanor Olsson served as banquet general chairman, assisted by Robert Drew, Donald Manchester and Henry Gorz.

New Landfill Set for North Ottawa Area

GRAND HAVEN—Steps were taken by the Ottawa County Board of Commissioners at the first meeting of its June session Monday to solve the landfill and rubbish problem in the north half of the county.

Grand Haven city has been ordered by the State Health Department to close the North Ottawa dump area on Harbor Island by Aug. 1 and it appeared for a time that local residents would be forced to use a south Ottawa county dump in Park township.

The good roads committee and the health board of the county has met with the road commission on the sanitary landfill problem and the Grand Haven township board will be asked for permission to operate the 40-acre township dump on Ferris St. as a north Ottawa dump.

The road commission also had a problem at the Park township dump as Jacobusse Refuse Service at Holland had planned to operate a private landfill operation, taking much of the business away from the Park township site. The Holland firm has agreed to operate the Park township landfill for the county on a three-year basis and the county equipment now being used at that site will be transferred to the Grand Haven township landfill.

In the next three years the entire rubbish and landfill problem in the county will be studied and a central landfill may be the solution. A four-site program in the county is not feasible as the eastern part of the county uses a large Kent county landfill.

The Park township site will still be open for use by the public, as it is now, and the present rates will remain in effect. County Engineer-Manager Ronald Bakker of the Road Commission reported. The Grand Haven township site is not licensed by the state but meets requirements and a license will be granted, the County Health Department has been notified. The Grand Haven area landfill will be open two or three days a week to keep costs down, Bakker

Calvin College Grad School Okayed by Synod

GRAND RAPIDS — Following a full two weeks of meetings, the Christian Reformed Synod adjourned Friday at Knollcrest campus of Calvin College in a flurry of committee appointments for important functions which will report to the 1971 synod next year.

Many of these committees will deal with current social issues such as women's role in the church, lodge membership, changing roles, and the like.

In the last moments, Synod approved two educational issues for Calvin College, (1) by a vote of 90-55 will begin a school for graduate studies and (2) authorize the college to initiate an active recruitment program for students from evangelical homes other than Christian Reformed.

On youth questions, Synod adopted a proposal to assess each family $1 per year for three years for a building for United Calvinist Youth Home in Grand Rapids, and another 75 cents per family for publishing Spanish educational materials. A total denominational budget requires $136.15 per family for 1971, compared with $129 in 1970.

Synod sustained Dr. M. Hoogland in his protest and appeal against Classis Northcentral Iowa in delaying his transfer of ministerial credentials to Classis Chicago South.

In another controversial issue, Synod supported Second Christian Reformed Church of Toronto, Ontario, in its appeal against Classis Toronto. Synod declared Classis Toronto erred when, contrary to its own printed rules, it dealt with communications concerning the consistency of Second Church. Synod also declared that the consistency erred when, in its appeal, it published observations, not germane to the point of its appeal, which reflected unfavorably upon the reputations of persons and organizations.

Synod will appoint a committee of five to meet with the consistency of the church, the classis, and others involved in the matter.

On the minority group situation, Synod favored "representation by racial and/or ethnic minority groups on the Board of Publications, and instructed the board to consider ways of implementation for presentation to the 1971 Synod." It also endorsed the idea of providing scholarships to denominational related colleges for financially needy students from minority groups in the United States and Canada.

One of Synod's liveliest discussions concerned the church's position on lodge and church membership and rejected the request of Classis Lake Erie "to declare the matter of simultaneous membership in secret societies and the Christian Reformed Church be left to local consistories."

Synod also appointed a committee "to formulate a current statement on the position of the Christian Reformed Church in respect to lodge membership, covering both the reasons for this position and the method of its application in the life of the church, and emphasizing the exclusive claims of Christ upon the total life of a believer."

Synod appointed Dr. Sidney Rooy as theological leader for youth and for students who may be available for theological training at the United Theological Seminary in Buenos Aires, and approved a capital grant of $10,000 to assist in establishing a secondary school in Comodoro Rivadavia, Argentina.

Synod also approved the northwest part of the state of Sao Paulo of Brazil as an initial field of missionary endeavor.

Miss Kaufman Honored At Appreciation Meeting

A group of teachers, both active and retired, met at Riverside Park in Robinson Township for a picnic luncheon to honor Miss Jennie M. Kaufman with appreciation thoughts for her service to them while they were teaching.

Miss Kaufman will retire as the superintendent of the Ottawa Area Intermediate School District on June 30. She organized the first rural teacher's club in the state of Michigan while she was teaching and assisted in organizing many others throughout the state. This was the first attempt at providing in-service meetings for rural teachers.

Book companies made their consultants in subject areas available, as well as colleges assisted in providing consultants. The membership of the United Rural Teachers Club reached 100 rural teachers at times. Miss Kaufman was the president for 13 years.

Later Miss Kaufman assisted a group of interested teachers in organizing a Retired Teacher's Club. Many of those present have been members of both clubs. There were teachers in attendance from Sparta, Lowell, Wyoming, Muskegon County and Portland as well as many from the Ottawa County area.

A picnic luncheon was enjoyed as well as contests, prizes and much reminiscing of bygone days. A number of new members were added to the group. The group presented

Miss Kaufman with a gift of appreciation.

The Ottawa Area Intermediate staff hosted Miss Kaufman at a dinner meeting at the Tara in Douglas earlier in the month. The Intermediate staff consists of 24 members. The group presented Miss Kaufman with a gift of a clock to commemorate her hours of service to youth.

POT-VALIANT AT THE WHEEL

That ringing, raffish old word, "pot-valiant," perfectly describes one of the great obstacles to improvement in highway safety. The pot-valiant fell low (or, if must sadly be noted, his female counterpart) is one who is "valiant and bold from drunkenness."

Some progress has been made in recent years, thanks largely to prodding by Congress in response to a growing public outcry, in developing safer autos. Though much remains to be done in this area, advances already made give new weight to the old saw that the most dangerous part of a car is the nut behind the wheel.

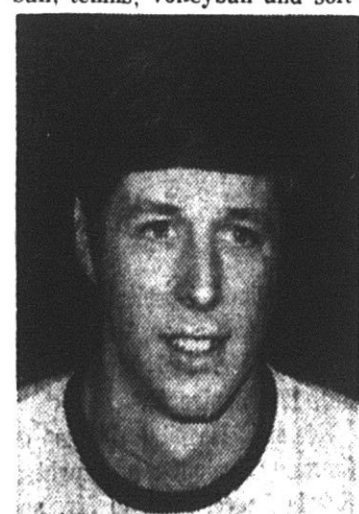

When the aforesaid nut is pot-valiant, the danger vastly increases. Any doubt of this fades in the light of statistics which show that alcohol is involved in about half of all fatal auto accidents.

Alcohol has other effects than making the imbibor "valiant and bold," granted. Some drivers who venture forth in what used to be called an inebriated state are less bold than fuzzy; their reaction times are slower than normal, their perception of danger impaired. They, too, are poor bets for safe arrival. The worst bet of all, though, is the pot-valiant driver who suffers those alcoholic handicaps and on top of it thinks he's the free wheeling king of the road.

The Christian Hope
Revelation 21:1-4 through 22:5
By C. P. Dame

Many people have no hope for the future. The word "hopefully" is used frequently. It does not convey the idea of confidence. Bible-believing Christians have a great hope based on the Word of God.

I. A new world is sure. This is the last lesson of the series. The text is from the last book of the Bible, Revelation. This book was written about the year 95 A.D. by the apostle John, who was in exile on the island of Patmos on account of his faith, to the churches which needed encouragement. The book teaches that eventually, in the end, the Christian faith will overcome.

John saw "a new heaven and a new earth." On what basis can an unbeliever hope that things will be different on this earth in the future? The Christian believes that God will bring about newness. The dream of a new heaven and earth is found in the Old Testament also—see Isaiah 65:17, 66:22 and Psalm 102:25-26. The first heaven and earth will pass away—even the sea which stood for separation and destruction will cease to be.

The human race began in the garden but reached its climax in the city when John wrote Jerusalem had been destroyed. John saw a new Jerusalem, "coming down from God out of heaven, prepared as a bride for her husband." The earthly Jerusalem was no more, but God had prepared another, a heavenly Jerusalem, sinless, in which God would dwell with His people forever. Tears, death, sorrow, crying, pain will not be there "for the former things are passed away."

II. The new city will be marked by strange absences. One of them is the absence of the temple. One would conclude that in the new city the temple would be central. In the old Jerusalem the temple was the place where sacrifices were made, where priests made intercession for the people and where God and man met. Things in the new city are different. God and man would fellowship with each other all the time. Sin would be no more. Note too, that sun and moon would be no more, neither closed gates nor uncleanness, curse or night would be there.

Modern cities are cosmopolitan. The eternal city is international. Diversity would prevail. God created differences between peoples and nations and these will continue, but there will be no competition, only cooperation.

III. The abundant life will prevail. "And he showed me a pure river of water—life." These waters coming from the throne of God, the source of all life, brought life and blessings. The curse is gone, blessings abound, and His servants shall serve him and see him face to face. The word, "and His name shall be on their foreheads" indicate that the citizens of Jerusalem belong to God forever, "and they shall reign for ever and ever." Will you be a citizen of this holy city?

Hospital Planting Bee Held by Garden Club

A successful planting bee took place at Holland Hospital last Thursday and Friday when members of the Holland Garden Club planted pachysandra and myrtle in the courtyard at the new addition.

The landscape plan and details of work were submitted in the Civic Improvement Contest sponsored by Sears, Roebuck and Company in Michigan, and won one of the top three awards of $150. In addition it was judged best in the State and awarded another $150 instead of the plaque given the last few years.

The Civic Improvement projects are judged 50 per cent on the plan, its appropriateness to the site and ease of maintenance and 50 per cent on cooperation of other groups in carrying out the plan. Ivy cuttings for the planters were given by Mrs. William Milliken last fall, rooted by school children in five school, and more cuttings will be made this summer.

Pachysandra cuttings taken in January from the home of the Carl Cooks were put into rooting mixture in the greenhouse at Marigold Lodge and loaned by Hope College. They were taken care of all winter by David Allen from the Biology Department at Hope, and transplanted into peat pots by Albert Buursma early this spring when greenhouse space was needed for the Lodge. Myrtle was given from the homes of Frederick Burd, Hospital Director and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wright, all of these inspected by the state plant inspector in May.

Crocus bulbs, daffodils, narcissus and tulips will be planted in the fall. Trees and shrubs were planted by a commercial nursery. The hospital supplied the sprinkling system, the help of Bill Rietveld, and Jerry Giemann was employed by the Garden Club.

The plan and courtyard planting were given by the Garden Club and $5,000 given by the Hospital Auxiliary to carry out other plantings on the hospital grounds.

The International Wizard of Oz Club, which was started in 1957 with 16 chartered members and now has a membership of 568, is convening at Castle Park this weekend with some 40 of its members from the United States and two from Canada.

The Oz book collection contains 40 books with 14 written by the original author, Al Frank Baum, who had a summer cottage on Lake Macatawa and wrote two books there, "Marvellous Oz," and "Omaz of Oz."

The "Wizard of Oz" is the first in the series of the 40 books. His cottage was named "Sign of the Goose" after one of his books, "Father Goose." The convention which opened Friday night has on its agenda today a Quizzard's Hour, which consists of a quiz on the 40 books. The winner gets a prize and the privilege of drafting the quiz next year.

This afternoon an auction will be held for some of the original illustrations, first editions and old films. The club is mostly made up of adults, but some young people are included. It is a scholarly group with several persons holding Ph.D.s.

A magazine "Baum Bugle," is published three times a year. Among club members attending the convention are Mr. Baum's daughter-in-law, Mrs. Harry Neal Baum, now Mrs. Frank Turner of Chicago and Dick Martin illustrator of the latest book (1963) entitled, "Merry Go Round."

Mr. Meyer reported that Margaret Hamilton, the "wicked witch" from the 1939 movie, is also a member of the club. He extended an invitation to persons interested in Oz to come to the Castle and view the exhibits. On display will be maps of Oz, Oz postcards, Oz magic kits, the flag of Oz, but not ruby slippers.

Study State Park Trouble

The parking problem along county roads at Holland State Park and its camp site on Ottawa Beach Rd. was the major topic of discussion at a high-level meeting between local state park officials, law enforcement officers, officials from the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) and Park township officers Friday night.

The meeting, as explained by Park Township Supervisor Herman Windemuller who presided, was closed to the general public because it had already been determined that a problem exists. Friday's talks were geared to possible, specific, legal solutions.

Among the DNR officials attending were Paul R. Rearick, policies, procedures and special services; Charles M. Leeson, regional park supervisor, Lansing; Herman Haedicke, law division, Lansing; Ned Curtis, district law supervisor, Grand Rapids; M. L. McDonald, district park supervisor, Plainwell, and Jack Weiler, assistant regional supervisor.

All officials were aware of the parking problem in the area and they, as well as a few business owners reiterated the hazards of the parked cars which ultimately become congregating places for groups of youth.

One disgruntled motel owner said it's bad for his business. Eugene Schermerhorn said, "The youth park on both sides of the road and then group around them defying motorists to run them down. My customers have to drive through this mess and wonder if it's worth it to put up with the swearing and drinking."

Another business owner, Steve Sanger, said, "It's (parking) dangerous. Somebody could easily get hurt. I'm far enough away so they don't abuse my place."

While the prime source of the problem seemed to be the overflow of cars from the camp sites where campers are allowed only two cars to a site, it was pointed out that some of the cars belong to floaters while still others are overflow from the Ottawa Beach Inn parking.

Officials also felt a percentage of the vehicles belonged to some day users who leave their cars outside, enabling them to leave when they please, while others parked their cars outside because they don't want to pay the park fee.

Possible solutions ranged from permitting parking in the oval area until midnight to no parking or restricted parking in the area with violators being ticketed and subsequently having their vehicles towed away. Leeson felt "no parking" regulations would eliminate 75 per cent of the problem.

Sen. Gary Byker suggested "allowing the young people to park in the state park until midnight. Youth has a lot of vim and vigor and they have to go some place. We should be more flexible with the recreation facilities ... there's too much demand for them to keep them closed."

Sgt. Donald Pikaart of the Ottawa County Sheriff's Department, is to meet with State Police Sgt. Kenneth Weaver and Cpl. R. La More and Milton Schwing of the Ottawa County Road Commission to find the best way of alleviating the parking problem.

Sgt. Pikaart said, "Just putting in a no parking zone is not going to accomplish everything. It's easy to put up 'no parking' signs but then you're only pushing them somewhere else and there could be worse vandalism and other types of things."

Parking is only one aspect of the problem which, according to Rearick, is "not unique to this location but is felt clear up to Ludington and at Warren Dunes."

Holland State Park Manager Donald Ike reported that 84 arrests have been made to date by park rangers for offenses involving drinking, noise, speeding and use of foul language. "That's 40 to 50 more than last year because we have more youth."

Rearick and Ike were firm in clamping down and enforcing the new stiff regulations if the person involved is a camper or on state parks grounds, but they said, that isn't going to solve the floater problem.

Rearick pointed out that "more trouble can come out of unreasonable restrictions than solutions."

"Nor can we condemn all youth," Rearick added. "It's difficult to draw the lines without hurting those who don't need it." He, as well as a few of the business owners and other officials, pointed out that the litter problem has been down this year. "You have to give them credit for being conscious of the litter problem," Rearick said.

Undersheriff Nelson Verseput said that while the state park is probably the focal point of trouble in the area, all the troublemakers are not necessarily campers. He felt the solution should also involve research on renting cottages for house parties in the area between the beach and its camp site.

Verseput pointed out that their department has been putting on extra car and foot patrols in the area with the extra men donating their time.

The sheriff's department reported a total of 139 complaints received in Park township from June 1 to June 15. A total of 24 traffic arrests were made and there were 64 criminal arrests.

The criminal arrests include eight for malicious destruction, 37 liquor law violations, one drunk and disorderly and eight trespassing.

State Police Sgt. Art Baker from the Grand Haven post said the troopers will cruise the area every day, but his men wouldn't stay unless they were needed or get calls. They'll be there if there is action," Sgt. Baker said.

Rearick assured that the DNR will do all that is legally possible to ease and solve the complicated problem.

Port Sheldon Mortgage Paid Five Years Early

PORT SHELTON — Meeting an obligation five years ahead of schedule, Port Sheldon township residents in a gala ceremony Thursday night burned the mortgage on their combination town hall and fire station located on Port Sheldon Rd. just west of 160th Ave.

The date marked the 14th anniversary of the first meeting of the original planning group which met June 13, 1956, at that time thinking in terms of a $12,000 building. More recent planning added a fire station in the development on a 40-acre site, the overall cost running $135,000.

A tape of the groundbreaking April 16, 1965, was played at the ceremony. Scout troop 27 of Spring Lake provided an honor guard and Theron Stone Jr. pinchhit for Louis Van Slooten as master of ceremonies after Van Slooten was taken ill.

Supervisor Sam Carini pointed to future possibilities of the 40-acre site and former Supervisors Edmond Measom and Marion Van Slooten reviewed planning and land acquisition for the building.

The generation gap was bridged in a prose-poem presentation by Mrs. Assink geared to the oldtime days and by the music of the Iron Horse Trio, a rock combo of three Port Sheldon teenagers, Rick Stone, Joe Rademaker and Brian Kolean. Organ music was provided by Elaine Miller.

Flower arrangements in red, white and blue were provided by Anne Polich and Mrs. Frank Van Slooten with Ann Measom doing the arranging.

Serving on the program committee were Mrs. Polich, chairman, Mrs. Measom, Bonnie Stone and Sue Carini.

The famous Blarney Stone is situated in an old castle in the village of Blarney, four miles northwest of Cork.

Part of School Taxes Will Be Levied Later

City tax bills now being prepared in the city assessor's office will be different this year.

Only about 60 per cent of school taxes will be included in the bills and the remainder will be billed later, possibly as late as the winter taxes.

City Manager William L. Bopf explained that the Ottawa County Tax Allocations Commission has been unable to agree on allocations for millage this year and remains at a 3-3 deadlock. It is the function of this commission to determine allocations for county, township and schools under the 15-mill limitation.

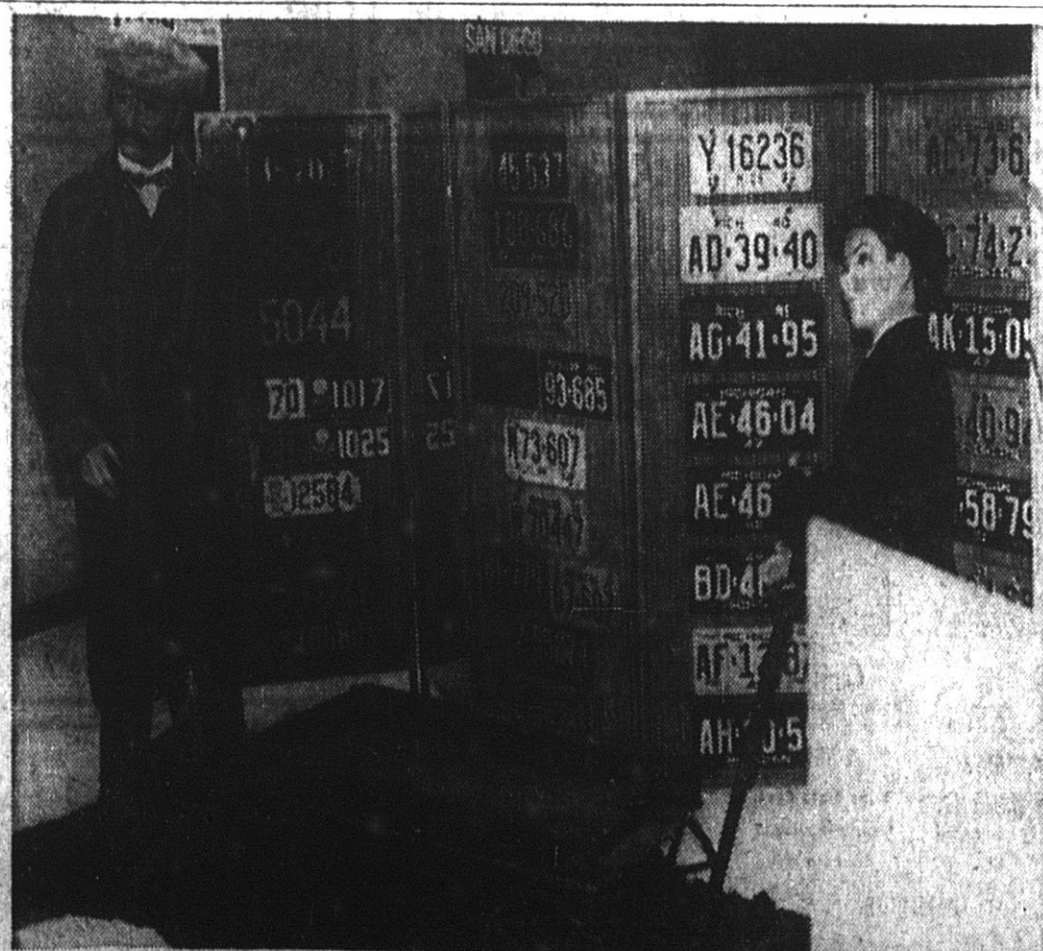

Consequently, the operating millage for Holland schools will not be levied in the summer bills, but all voted millage including bond issues, special voted operating millage and the 5 mill for special education for the Ottawa Area Intermediate School District will be on the bill. The additional .9 mill approved June 8 is effective next year.

Tax bills will include a notice explaining the school tax situation stating the balance will be billed at a later date.

Tax rate for city operation is listed at $16.75 per $1,000 state equalized valuation, and the incomplete school rate is $17.31 per thousand for a total tax rate on the summer bills of $34.06 per $1,000 valuation. Taxes are spread on a total city equalized valuation of $107 million.

The allocations deadlock in the county is expected to be resolved in the next few months either in court or through the State Tax Allocations Commission.
