FINE PROSPECTS FOR A LONG HEARTS
Interclub Foot Ball is Developing the Student Body Physically and Spiritually

The sharp thud when leather and the good old gridiron raise the bell in a cherished tradition of October afternoons. "Happo's" have come to be expected by the players, fans, and patrons of the Big Four, who are in a mood to enjoy the intercollegiate contests.

The schedule of games for this year, at least insofar as dates are concerned, is: Oct. 13, Hope vs. Calvin; Oct. 20, Hope vs. Olivet; Oct. 27, Hope vs. Lake Forest. These games should provide much for the fans to enjoy, and will undoubtedly mark another step forward in the development of football at Hope College.

DEPLETED RANKS COMPLETE

Runners of a Record V. C. A. Mem. Ber-

This fall the V. C. A. has lost 1 in line with all of the other societies and organizations making the fight for renewed and increased protige and the greatest possible numerical expansion. The voluntary member of thirty-six girls, after a mild attack by the membership committee, indicated a new spirit of stil-avis struggle and added perceptively to the whole-hearted live spirit already established. By use of the impressive formal Recognition Service last Tuesday, each member solemnly pledged her allegiance to a worthy cause and a profitable interest; in short, a whole week of the meeting was centered upon what each appli-gue got from community service, and what in return she expected.

"Lives that Count!" A notable example of a life that is asthma and has made of it some sort of the Will.

Wii. Ashley Sunday, was keenly and interestingly reviewed by Miss Burge Jones, the entertaining ofLogin, Billy Sunday's meetings, and, across the story of the life and career of his untimely callow youthfulness in the, the wonderful work he accomplishes for the cause of, and his per-personal relationships, including those who worked with and assisted him, his af-

Michigan should know more of this institution. Only recently have I come to a more comprehensive understanding and appreciation of the splendid work done here. I have learned that one of its key strengths is its emphasis on a well-rounded education that prepares students for leadership roles. I am pleased to see the growth and development of this remarkable institution.
