LAST Saturday afternoon Mr. James Hoogenstyn and Miss Lizzie Kramer, both of this city, were united in marriage by the Rev. D. Broek, pastor of the Third Reformed Church. Mr. and Mrs. Hoogenstyn immediately commenced keeping house, and were congratulated at their home, Saturday evening, by a large number of friends.

A BUSINESS man on Eighth street, who wore a contented look, this week remarked to the News man that two years ago he was ready and anxious to sell out and leave the city. "At present," said he, "I know of no town in the state or any other state that I had rather live in. Holland is becoming a city in a rapid and substantial manner."

GENERAL SUPERINTENDENT J. K. V. Agnew, Superintendent of Roads and Bridges, J. M. Sterling, and the State Railway Commissioner passed through this city with a special train on Wednesday last on a tour of inspection. They examined the improvements being made at the railroad dock in this city and were much pleased with the work.

A NEW ten car side-track is being put on the north side of the Grand Haven bridge to accommodate the large and increasing business of the Cappon & Bertsch Leather Company's tannery on the north side of the bay. A side-track to the tannery on the south side is talked of. This would be an economical stroke of policy on the part of this enterprising firm.

THE Waverly Stone Quarry Company, of this city, are shipping from six to ten car loads, of earth per day, besides the daily shipment of stone, preparatory to receiving the boiler and machinery, for a steam derrick, which is daily expected. When this machinery is in position, the company will ship from eight to ten cars of stone per day. The demand is now beyond the capacity of the company's facilities.

MARRIED:—On Monday last by Rev. L. Dewey, of Hartford, C. A. Kanters to Clara E. Lightner. The wedding, which occurred at Hartford, was a quiet one, only intimate relatives being present. The young couple are well and favorably known here, where the groom has always lived. Mr. and Mrs. Kanters will reside in one of the new houses in course of erection on Eleventh street, between Pine and Maple streets.

THE Holland City Cornet Band will give an excursion this Saturday, evening on the steamer Queen of the Lakes and it is hoped that the boys will be liberally patronized. They are under considerable expense, are working hard and earnestly for public favor, and are deserving of much more patronage than they have so far received. Give them the encouragement of your presence and of your money. The tickets for the round trip are but 25 cents.

THE Legislature having adjourned, Representative Diekema is again home. Having covered himself with honors innumerable, he works daily in his law office, bearing his burden as lightly as possible. It is expected, however, that shortly he will leave Holland for the broader and more extended field for his abilities, Grand Rapids, where he will form a co-partnership with Speaker Markey and await the will and pleasure of "old Daddy Time."

A LONG-HAIRED fakir with a sombrero and a greaser wang caught a nice string of suckers on the street last evening. He was just advertising his "Wild West Medicines" you know, but when he drove away singing "By baby, By oh," quite a number of our prominent business men were gazing earnestly at the face of the dumbest kind of a church watch. He gathered in shakels to the amount of $100, and left them pens to write to him with.—Hastings cor. Telegram-Herald. Ditto Holland, Thursday evening last, to the tune of about $30.

THE steamer Jennie King, John Rode, master, is now running daily between Douglas, Saugatuck and Holland, on the following time: Leaves Douglas at 6:30 a. m., Saugatuck at 7, after arrival of boat from Chicago, and arrives at Holland at 9:30, connecting with trains for Allegan, Grand Rapids, etc. Leaves Holland at 4 p. m., and arrives in Saugatuck in time to make sure connections with the Chicago steamers. Fare, Saugatuck to Holland, 50 cents; round trip, 75 cents. Captain Rode is a pleasant gentleman and very accommodating. He will make a success of the route without a doubt.

A LITTLE smash-up occurred in the yard of the Chicago & West Michigan Ry., on Tuesday evening last. The Holland yard is a network of side-track. After a train came in, the switch engine took hold of the train to do the switching. The yardmaster discovering a car on the next track, projecting too far out, signaled the engineer to stop; as he reversed his engine a draw bar pulled out letting the train back against the car on the other track. The first car striking was the way car of the train being switched, the concussion was so violent as to break the way car in two. It was not much to be wondered at, however, as the way car was rotten from end to end. No one hurt.

ON Friday, the 24th ult., Mr. William Swift, conductor on the Chicago and West Mich. Ry., had a narrow escape from death. On Wooster Hill, on the northern division, his train broke in two between two cars of timber; the timber projected over the end of the car, and as Mr. Swift stepped in to couple the cars together he was caught between the ends of the timbers in the breast and back near the region of the heart. Respiration was cut off and he became unconscious. Brakeman Henderson being near at once signaled the engineer and as the cars separated Mr. Henderson rescued Mr. Swift from his perilous position and he soon regained consciousness. Although still feeling the effects of his tight squeeze he has resumed his duties. But for the coolness of the brakeman the accident might have been attended with fatal results.

LAST Wednesday was a beautiful day and was the time appointed for holding the annual picnic of the Third Reformed Church, but owing to the fact that either the school was late in reaching the wharf, where the steamer Queen of the Lakes lands, or to the steamer leaving too soon, the entire party, consisting of some four hundred people, large and small, were left on the dock to await the return of the boat so as to go on the second trip. In consequence of this delay it was nearly noon before the school reached the Parks, and after one o'clock before dinner was ready. Outside of this unpleasantness the day was enjoyed by all. It is a fact, however, that the managers of Sunday School picnics have, from the accommodating and sacrificing action of captains of boats formerly run on the bay, got into the idea that they have unlimited time and that the steamer has nothing else to do but await their will and pleasure. It seems that Captain Johnson does not propose to run his boat that way, but that after waiting a stated time he is going to start. This may be good policy as a whole, but we have every reason to doubt its effect upon the people of Holland City.

FOR the first time this season the familiar sound of the whistle of the steamer Macatawa was heard on Friday last, when the management gave a free excursion to all the Resorts. The boat has been fitted out and supplied with several hundred cork life preservers, which the law requires, and after a careful inspection is pronounced as safe and sound a boat as runs in this harbor. The hull was found, upon inspection, to be in first-class condition and the boiler stood a pressure of seventy-five pounds, and sixty pounds of steam is all that is needed to run the steamer. The inspection puts at variance the rumors which have been afloat all the season as to the condition of the boat. Mr. Peter De Feyter will act as Master and Mr. W. A. Williams as Clerk. If satisfactory arrangements cannot be made with the Queen of the Lakes and the railway company, she will depend entirely upon the local trade, which is more than one-half of the business, for her support. In another column will be found a half column advertisement with an announcement. Next week we will publish the time card as on Tuesday next she will commence running regular trips.

Fourth of July.

Holland City and her people will celebrate the National birthday in a manner not equalled in Western Michigan, and her enterprising and go-ahead spirit will manifest itself in a way consistent with her prosperity. As everyone knows in this section Holland never does things by halves, and this occasion will be no exception to the rule. The program is calculated to please all classes and kinds of people, and is one on which the committee have spent much time and given much attention. As is the usual custom the day will be ushered in by the blowing of steam whistles, and by a national salute at sunrise. The event of the forenoon will be the monster procession which will, in all probability, rival that held in London recently on the occasion of the Queen's Jubilee celebration. It will consist of many and varied attractions, chief among which will be a chariot of Liberty which has been designed and arranged after much labor and expense. As a feature of interest in this gorgeous and real panorama we can say that the industries and manufacturing institutions will be fully represented, and promises to rival anything produced in cities much larger in size than Holland. The line of march will be on River to Eighth streets, eastward on Eighth to Fish, then south to Tenth and west on Tenth to Centennial Park, where the exercises of the morning will be held, Mayor P. H. McBride, acting as President of the Day. The program that will be carried out is as follows:

Music by Holland City Cornet Band.
Prayer by chaplain, Rev. T. W. Jones.
Music by Band.
Oration by Hon. G. J. Diekema.
Music by Band.
Reading of the Declaration of Independence, by F. G. Churchill.
Music, National song by Band.

At one o'clock the Holland Driving Association will try to entertain the multitude with some excellent horse trotting at the Fair Grounds. The first race on the program will be a "four year old and under," mile heats, best three in five. The purse is $75. The second is a "three minute race," the purse being $100. The sport concluding with a "farmer's green race," for horses that have never trotted before. At four o'clock "the great De Boe" will give one of his unexcelled exhibitions on a slack wire, introducing many new and original "acts." The exhibition will occur on Eighth street, and will be followed by a "hose laying and coupling contest," by crack companies, a foot race, sack race, and other sports and games. At two o'clock a game of base ball will also be played at the Fair Grounds, between two expert clubs, and will be hotly contested. The celebration will conclude in the evening with the largest and finest display of fire works ever seen in Holland City. During the day and evening the steamers Queen of the Lakes, Saugatuck, Macatawa, and other large and commodious steamers will run excursions continually on Macatawa Bay to the various resorts, where dancing and other attractions will be presented in abundance. From present indications the occasion will be one never to be forgotten by those that attend, and we cordially invite all to come and celebrate with us, and see one of the most enterprising and rapidly growing cities on the east shore of Lake Michigan, as well as the finest and most popular summer resorts in the state.

LATEST DISPATCHES.

PIERCE FLAMES.

Marshfield, Wis., About Totally Destroyed—Loss $1,000,000—The 3,000 Inhabitants, Driven from Their Homes, Camp in the Woods.

A TELEGRAM from Chippewa Falls, Wis., says: "Marshfield, a thriving town of 3,000 population on the Wisconsin Central line, between Stevens Point and Abbot, was entirely destroyed by fire Monday, and half the inhabitants are homeless. Fire broke out at noon in the lumber yard of W. H. Upham, it is supposed from a spark from a locomotive, and spread rapidly to adjoining lumber-yards. Soon the fire reached the business part of the town, and swept down the street, burning hotels, stores and several large manufacturing. The families fled from their homes as the flames spread to the residence portion, saving nothing except what they wore. All attempts to master the flames proved in vain, and soon a conflagration of continually growing dimensions was raging in the business portion of the town. The depot of the Wisconsin Central Railroad was destroyed, along with the water tank and many cars. The road is blockaded, as the track is destroyed and trains are unable to pass. The greater portion of the business houses is destroyed, the Tremont House being among the most valuable buildings. The loss cannot be estimated at present, but will sum up to about $1,000,000, W. H. Upham being the heaviest losers."

SANGUINARY SHOOTING.

Six Negroes and Two White Men Killed in a Riot and Many Others Wounded.

A SPECIAL from Girard, La., gives the following particulars of a sanguinary riot in the neighboring town of Oak Ridge:

A negro man who had assaulted a white girl was arrested, and while the deputies were taking him to the calaboose they were fired upon by Jerry Baldwin, colored, his two sons, and three other negroes, wounding Deputy Baker and Gardner, and releasing the prisoner. The negroes then dispersed, and later rendezvoused at a negro cabin two miles from town. On learning their whereabouts it was proposed to lynch the negro. Before daylight this morning a party of whites went to the negro's house for that purpose, and were fired upon by the negro and his friends. One of their number, George Higginbotham, was instantly killed, and John Conner, Town Marshal; Bart Gardner, Deputy Sheriff; T. G. Brigham, editor of the Morehouse Sentinel, and Messrs. Milmore and Baker were wounded. Conner has since died. The whites returned the fire with deadly effect, killing six of the negroes, including the accused. The affray produced intense excitement.

AN ANARCHIST'S RANT.

Lingg, the Bomber, Draws a Tearful Picture of His Life in Cook County Jail.

A NEW YORK dispatch says that Anarchist Johann Most has received a letter from Louis Lingg, one of the condemned Chicago anarchists. It written in Cook County Jail. Lingg says:

I and my six comrades are at the mercy of the prison attendants, who do not show us the least kindness. They treat us like slaves. They are worse than the men who threw the bomb at the Haymarket and placed the blame on our shoulders. I do not fear death. Should they hang us, however, the people will rise and proclaim an eye for an eye and a life for a life. We call every workman a brother, for are they not imposed upon as well as we are? The time will come when they will rise in their might and cause a great revolution, and a great many lives will be lost.

RIOT IN ROCHESTER.

Street Fighting, in Which a Dozen Men Are Wounded—One Dead.

A DISPATCH from Rochester, N. Y., says that on Monday morning nearly all the union laborers employed on the city streets, to the number of about four hundred, struck for an advance of wages to $1.75 per day. The contractors put non-union men at work in their places. Later squads of strikers appeared and forced non-union men off the work. The police interfered to protect the non-union men, and a riot ensued, in which one of the strikers was killed and ten or twelve wounded.

Abolishing Land Offices.

A WASHINGTON dispatch says the general land office is investigating the amount of vacant public land in the several land districts, as there is a law which requires the abolition and consolidation with other districts of land districts in which there is less than 100,000 acres of public lands. The result of this investigation will be the closing of several land offices, but it will be of no use for the land officers and their friends to bother the President or the Secretary of the Interior, or the Commissioner with appeals for executive clemency, for the law is not discretionary but mandatory. Several of the smaller land offices have got to close up.

Settlers Will Resist.

THE settlers on the Maxwell land grant in New Mexico are organizing to resist the claims of the syndicate which holds the grant, although the Supreme Court of the United States has affirmed its validity. A mass-meeting of the settlers has been called for Aug. 1 at Raton, when plans and specifications will be adopted for a "rumpus" unless their rights are respected.

Ballot-Box Stuffers Convicted.

SIX Baltimore politicians recently convicted of election frauds have been sentenced to two years apiece in jail, and one of them was fined $1,000 in addition. A seventh election crook, who has also been convicted, jumped his bail.

CURRENT EVENTS.

EAST.

GAS exploded in No. 4 mine of the Susquehanna Coal Company at Nanticoke, Pa., on Thursday night, killing three men and a boy and injuring three others. The dead are: John McMadam, miner, aged 40; leaves a widow and three small children. James Kelley, miner, aged 24; single. Lotsey Vinokian, laborer, aged 28; single. Joseph Lesseppe, driver boy, aged 19. Lesseppe was brought out alive, but died after being rescued. The injured are: Barney Lezkoski, driver boy, aged 17; unconscious; may die. John Lezkoski, door-tender, aged 19; may die. Norman Thomas, burned. It is believed that the gas was set on fire by a powder explosion, as several kegs of powder are missing from the store-house.

THE Eastern electric-light companies have formed a pool to fight the carbon monopoly, which recently made an advance of 100 per cent. in the price of carbons. The new combination has contracted for the entire petroleum-coke product of the Standard Oil Company, and will manufacture carbons at New York. The new move simply means the substitution of one monopoly for another, and will be of no advantage to the general public.

WEST.

A DETROIT dispatch says: About 10 o'clock Tuesday morning five men boarded a Grand Trunk train that had stopped near Sarnia, Ont., opposite Port Huron, to await a clear track, and proceeded to go through the cars for plunder. The train had not reached the depot by half a mile, and the train-men apparently didn't notice the intruders. So far as can be learned the robbers began their work on one of the through sleepers and proceeded systematically berth by berth, making as little disturbance as possible. Several passengers gave up their valuables without protest, but others were more belligerent, and the whole car was soon astir. The robbers then went into the rear sleeper. While they were there one of the despoiled passengers made his way to a telephone and asked the Port Huron authorities to send officers to arrest the robbers. The Sarnia officials were communicated with, and finally detachments from both towns surrounded the train and, making a dash, secured two of the men.

A Cincinnati special says the excitement over the Fidelity Bank failure has measurably abated. None of the other banks in the city appear to have suffered very seriously by the failure and only one important business firm is believed to have been crippled. Suits will be instituted against all the solvent stockholders for the value of the stock. Many facts are coming to light illustrating the meanness and duplicity of Harper and his fellow-conspirators in their dealings with the customers of the bank. The venerable widow of Dr. Hall, the Arctic explorer, lost $5,000—her all—in the crash. It is hinted that $1,000,000 of the Fidelity's funds, which was supposed to have gone into the wheat deal, really found its way into the private purse of one of the wreckers. Harper and Hopkins, the wreckers of the bank, were surrendered by their bondsmen and lodged in jail.

THE jury in the celebrated Cora Lee case, at Springfield, Mo., after being out fifteen hours, reported unable to agree and were discharged. The jurors stood nine for conviction and three for acquittal.

It now appears that the Fidelity National Bank of Cincinnati was rotten to the core when the bank examiner ordered it to close. The liabilities are believed to aggregate the enormous sum of $6,000,000, and the visible assets are very slender. Wiltshire, who is suspected to have been merely an agent of Harper in the wheat conspiracy, is a debtor of the bank for $1,100,000, which he "borrowed" without collateral.

REPORTS from 1,061 points in Iowa show the condition of the corn crop June 1 to be on a basis of 114 per cent., with an increased acreage of 1 1/2 per cent. over last year. Estimated yield for this year 256,502,000 bushels, with favorable climatic conditions.

PRESIDENT SWIFT, of the defunct Fidelity Bank at Cincinnati, declares that the failure will not prove as bad as has been represented. Louis Kennedy, grain commission merchant, of Cincinnati, failed, with liabilities of $300,000. His downfall was caused by the Fidelity collapse.

ALFRED BLUNT, a wife-murderer, was hanged on Friday at St. Louis. While he was murmuring a short prayer the trap was sprung, his neck was broken, and death followed in six and one-fourth minutes. The execution was attended with no unusual incidents. On the same day Edward Calhoun Sneed was hanged at Independence, Mo. After the rope had been adjusted around his neck Sneed said: "All I have got to say, gentlemen, is that I think it is very unjust, for I was not responsible for what I done. I did not realize what I done, and I hope God will forgive me. I thank you all, gentlemen, for what you have done for me during my confinement and for the kindness you have shown me. That is all. Good-by." Sneed's neck was broken by the fall. Sneed was hanged for the murder of Orleans Harrison Loomis the evening of July 26, 1884.

THE Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway shops, including a machine shop, blacksmith shop, rolling mill and carpenter shop, at Watertown, Wis., were burned Friday morning. The loss is estimated at $100,000, and from 150 to 175 men are thrown out of work. At Winona, Minn., Laird & Norton's saw-mill was burned. Loss, $100,000; insurance, $30,000. One hundred and fifty men are thrown out of employment. At Ottawa, Ill., the Franz Falk Brewing Company's warehouse, ice-house and three adjoining barns were burned. The Alabama Agricultural and Mechanical College was burned at Auburn, Ala. Loss, $50,000; insurance, $30,000. The building was a three-story brick structure and contained a valuable library, collection of minerals, etc.

THE hatred entertained by the Jackson (Mich.) Courier for its contemporary, the Citizen, was carried from the columns of the former paper to the street Friday, when the wife and sister-in-law of Mr. Heason and Mr. Heason himself horse-whipped and mauled Mr. Sidney Corbett, of the Citizen. Mr. Heason and his relatives were fined $5 each.

A PERMIT has just been issued by the Chicago authorities for an auditorium building, to front 360 feet on Congress street, 187 feet on Michigan avenue, and 161 feet on Wabash avenue. The structure will contain 7,000,000 cubic feet, and is to cost $2,000,000.

A FIRE at the stock yards, Chicago, Sunday, destroyed the packing house and warehouse of the Chicago Packing and Provision Company, with their contents. The loss is $1,250,000. Several firemen were dangerously injured by falling walls.

SOUTH.

CRAIG TOLLIVER, Jay Tolliver, Bud Tolliver, and J. R. Cooper, of the famous outlaw band that has terrorized Rowan County, Ky., for three months past, were shot down in the streets of Morehead, the county seat, on Wednesday last. A Louisville dispatch gives the following particulars of the sanguinary affair:

On Tuesday Tolliver, who was recently chosen Police Judge under fear, received notice by mail that an armed force would kill him by a majority of 12. A salient light occurred in which John Martin was badly hurt. He claimed that Lloyd Tolliver and John Day beat him with clubs. Shooting followed, in which Solomon Bradley, a bystander, was killed. Tolliver said, by Martin. As a result of this fight John Martin, Ben, his father, Will and Dave, his brothers, and Cook Humphrey, who had lived with the Martins when they went to school at Morehead from their farm, were ranged on one side in a feud, and Marion, Craig, and Floyd Tolliver, brothers, and Bud, Jay, and Wiley Tolliver, cousins, living in Elliott County, on the other side. In December John Martin met Floyd Tolliver in a saloon at Morehead and killed him. To escape lynching Martin was taken to Winchester, Va. Six days later a forged order was presented to the jailer and Martin, in irons, put on the train to return to Morehead for trial. At Farmer's, an intervening station, a masked mob boarded the train and riddled Martin with bullets. An effort was made by Sheriff Humphrey to ferret out the murderers, and Stewart Bumgardner, his deputy, was one night shot to pieces from the bushes. The feud grew to involve 100 on each side. Early in 1885 T. Young, County Attorney, was shot from the bushes and badly wounded. A few months later Ed Pearce, convicted for highway robbery, made a confession that Cook Humphrey had hired him to kill Ben Rayburn at $1 a day to watch Young, and promised them $250 each for his assassination, and paid each $750 for shooting him. He afterward retracted, saying his confession was extorted by Young's son, to whom he made it. On this Craig Tolliver, who had been elected Town Marshal, and twenty friends surrounded Ben Martin's house. They knew Humphrey and Rayburn were there and demanded their surrender. Upon refusal they besieged the house all day, and toward evening forced Humphrey and Rayburn to fly, killed Rayburn as he ran, and burned the house, leaving the women in the woods. In the fight Cook Humphrey poured a shotgun load into Craig Tolliver's face, frightfully but not fatally wounding him. In January, 1886, the fight was again renewed. The State troops were called out and camped at Morehead several weeks. Finally peace was arranged. Craig Tolliver and Humphrey were to leave Rowan County permanently. Three months ago Tolliver returned, had himself elected a police judge, and has since ruled. He drove out the proprietor of the Central Hotel and has since kept the hotel himself. He has been from city to city, hunting up his men in town every night to keep guard. A few weeks ago he went with a posse professing to arrest John and William Logan, of the other faction, and shot them both.

A LOUISVILLE dispatch announces the death in that city of Gen. James Speed. For a year past he had suffered much from general debility. The deceased was a prominent Republican politician, and was Attorney General under President Lincoln. He was in his sixty-seventh year. Deceased was born in Jefferson County, Kentucky, March 11, 1812. When the war broke out he was made mustering officer for Kentucky under President Lincoln, and raised 75,000 men. In the first year of the war he was elected to the State Senate, and served two years. In 1864 he was called to the Cabinet of President Lincoln as Attorney General. He remained in this high office until July, 1866, when he resigned. It was General Speed who, as Attorney General, rendered the opinion that Jefferson Davis should be tried by the civil courts. In 1868 he was a delegate from Kentucky to the National Convention which nominated Grant for the Presidency. Mr. Speed was married in 1840 to Miss Jane Cochran, a daughter of John Cochran, a Scotchman, who went to Louisville in 1833. They have had seven sons, five of whom are still living.

POLITICS.

A SALT LAKE dispatch says "the Mormons held a mass convention in the theater, and elected sixteen delegates to the Constitutional Convention. An invitation has been addressed by the Chairman of their Territorial Committee to the Chairmen of the Democratic and Republican Territorial Committees to meet with them and send delegates also. Judge Rasbourn, Chairman of the Democratic Territorial Committee, sent a reply declining to act with the Mormons in this scheme. The Republican Committee replied, setting forth the many acts of opposition the Mormons had been guilty of to national authority."

CONGRESSMAN R. W. TOWNSEND, of Illinois, while in New York, expressed the opinion that an extra session of Congress will be necessary to avert a financial panic, owing to the large increase of the surplus.

LABOR.

THE strike of the New York silver-chasers is a failure. The men are gladly accepting work conditioned upon their withdrawing from the Knights of Labor. The manufacturers of stamped and hollow ironware decided at Pittsburgh that it would be impossible to concede the advanced wages demanded by the Amalgamated Association. The Knights of Labor Executive have abandoned the strike of the Cleveland ore handlers, the men having refused to accept the terms of settlement made with the employers.

INTERSTATE COMMERCE.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has assigned Western cases upon its docket for consideration as follows:

July 14, William A. Holbrook of St. Thomas, Dakota, against the Manitoba Road, alleging that the carrier makes itself a preferred shipper; William A. Fulton and F. D. Harding of Hudson, Wis., against the Chicago, St. Paul and Minneapolis Railroad, alleging unreasonable freight charges. July 15, Associated Wholesale Grocers of St. Louis against the Missouri Pacific Railroad, for violations of sections 1 and 2. July 19, Keith & Wilson of Covington, Ky., against the Kentucky Central and other roads, freight discrimination. July 20, E. B. Raymond, Massachusetts, against the Milwaukee and St. Paul Road, discrimination and violation of section 2.

The Commission will not reassemble until July 12.

GENERAL.

THE steam barge P. H. Walker, of Sandusky, Ohio, was wrecked in a squall on Lake Erie, not far from Cleveland, and eight persons were drowned. The names of the drowned are: Mrs. L. G. Gillespie, wife of the master; Alphonse and Jennie Gillespie, the master's children; Engineer Peter Grimes, of Cleveland; Fireman John Petersen; Wheelman Gust Shaffer, of Sandusky, Ohio; Deck-hand Peter Powley, of Lighthouse Station, Ohio; Stewardess Kate Powley, wife of Peter.

BUSINESS failures in the United States and Canada during the week numbered 197, as against 162 during the corresponding week of last year. R. G. Dun & Co., in their weekly trade review, say that the disturbances caused by the Cincinnati failure have had an extensive effect upon general business. It has caused a stringency in the New York money market, which speculators have magnified, and which promises to be of brief duration. At other financial centers funds are in good supply. The enforcement of the interstate commerce act threatens to stop manufacturing and mining at many points. Real-estate speculation continues active at the West. The situation is improving. General reports of business at nearly all points are highly encouraging, and the increasing prospect of good crops adds to the prevailing confidence.

MRS. CLEVELAND will precede the President on his intended Western trip, going to Madison, Wis., as the guest of the family of Postmaster General Vilas. Mr. Cleveland will join her there the second week in September, and together they will visit Detroit, Jackson, Grand Rapids, Chicago, St. Louis, St. Paul, Minneapolis, and the Pacific coast. So says a Washington dispatch.

A WINNIPEG dispatch says the Canadian Government intends to send local volunteer battalions west under pretense of looking after the Indians, and that during the absence of troops mounted police will interfere with the building of the proposed railway, which is designed to afford relief from the exactions of the Canada Pacific Company. Should this plan be put in execution the correspondent predicts a big riot and destruction of Government property. The railway contractors will begin work unless prevented by force.

W. J. GILLESPIE, a Chicagoan, who for the last two years has worked in a responsible position on the Panama Canal, says that owing to gross mismanagement the canal will not be finished for ten years yet, unless the present canal company is ousted by the French Government. It is possible the work will soon come to a standstill from lack of funds. About 14,000 men are employed on it at present.

FOREIGN.

GERMAN dispatches announce that measures for the repression of the French element in Alsace-Lorraine have been forced upon the Berlin Government, and the position of Germans in France, owing to social persecution, has become barely tolerable. Major Hinz, who omitted to challenge to a duel a political opponent in the Reichstag election who aspersed his honor, has been retired from the service by the Court of Honor. The Emperor William has completely recovered his health. The rumor that Dr. MacKenzie had pronounced the case of the Crown Prince hopeless, is denied. Dispatches from England announce that the Government will push the Irish land, supplementary crimes, and other measures, and the attitude of the Parnellites is said to savor of irreconcilable insurgency. Parnell is believed to be suffering from a cancer in the stomach. The Queen has sent a letter to the Home Secretary expressing her gratitude for the reception she met with going to and returning from Westminster Abbey at the jubilee ceremonies.

HONORS TO VICTORIA.

The Queen's Great Jubilee Journey in the British Metropolis.

The Procession a Gorgeous Pageant—Impressive Ceremonies.

The jubilee demonstration was a stupendous success, says a London cablegram of Wednesday. Vast multitudes to the number of over two million witnessed the great state pageant. With the perfection of order, nothing occurred to mar the harmony of the great demonstration. The scene presented by long lines of streets, with endless floral vistas, flags, banners, and trophies blended into masses of decoration, and an ever-moving, innumerable sea of faces, was one of marvelous animation. The impression left in the minds of those who saw the pageant is what boundless wealth, military pomp, illustrious rank could do to create, heighten the effect of the state's show of loyalty or to demonstrate the warm affection of the people for their sovereign, was done for Tuesday's demonstration, and the result surpassed anything of the kind ever seen in Europe in modern times, at least. The day was one of glorious sunshine, an atmosphere of rare purity for these latitudes, and a sky of the clearest blue.

The line of procession from Buckingham Palace to Westminster Abbey was as follows: From the palace portals along Constitution Hill, Piccadilly, Regent street, Waterloo place, Pall Mall, East Cockspur street, Northumberland avenue, Thames Embankment, Bridge street, to the Abbey. The line of route was kept by nearly ten thousand troops, representing all branches of the service. The first of the royal procession was composed of the Indian princes and a few minor German princes. A few minutes before 11 o'clock the second part of the procession left. This was composed of some fifteen carriages, the occupants being the King of Denmark, the King of Belgium, the King of Saxony, the King of Holland, the Crown Prince of Austria, the Crown Prince of Portugal, the Queen of the Belgians, the Crown Prince of Greece, Prince George of Greece, the Crown Prince of Austria, and the Grand Duke of Mecklenburg-Strelitz. These two processions helped keep the way to the abbey open and exorcised the pent-up enthusiasm of the vast multitude.

Punctually at 11:15 a. m. the Queen, in an open carriage, emerged from the palace gates. At sight of her, thousands of voices were lifted up in cheers, the applause being accompanied by the music of many military bands stationed in front of the palace. When the people at the palace gates had shouted themselves hoarse cheering for the Queen, they continued to cry out: "Long life for the Prince and Princess of Wales!"

This procession was headed by the Life Guards. Then came the aide-de-camp and the royal equestriers. After these rode the staff of the Duke of Cambridge. The Queen's ladies-in-waiting and a number of state officials were next, occupying five carriages, and followed by a body of Life Guards.

The eight horses that drew her Majesty's carriage were cream colored and perfect matches. The Princesses of Wales and Princess Victoria, the Queen's oldest child and wife of the Crown Prince of Germany, occupied the other seats in the carriage and sat opposite her Majesty. The Queen's carriage was a large one of chocolate color, wheels red, and the royal arms in gold emblazoned upon the panels. Red morocco harness was used for the horses, which were otherwise decorated with royal blue ribbons. All the servants wore state liveries of scarlet and gold. The other carriages containing members of the royal family were of a gorgeous character, horsed with four ways each, and all open.

The princes, who rode as escort to the carriage, went in the following order, three abreast: The Grand Duke Sergius of Russia, Prince Albert Victor of Wales, and Prince William of Prussia; Prince Henry of Prussia, Prince George of Wales, and the hereditary Grand Duke of Hesse; the Duke of Edinburgh, Prince of Saxe-Meiningen, Prince Christian, Victor of Schleswig-Holstein, and Prince Louis of Battenberg; Prince Christian of Schleswig-Holstein, the Crown Prince of Germany, and the Grand Duke of Hesse. Two abreast, Prince Henry of Battenberg and the Marquis of Lorne, the Duke of Connaught and the Prince of Wales; the Duke of Edinburgh, the Prince of Wales, the Duke of Cambridge, and the Duke of York. This escort, composed as it was entirely of the sons, sons-in-law, and grandsons of the Queen, all brilliantly uniformed and riding magnificent horses, elegantly caparisoned, presented a splendid spectacle and inspired enthusiasm everywhere.

All along the route, as the carriage bearing the Queen came in sight, the cheering started up afresh, and when she proceeded a short distance it had become a mighty roar which seemed steadily to increase in volume and eventually to be continuous and mighty. The enthusiasm of the people appeared to be absolutely boundless. The Queen was manifestly delighted. Her face wore a constant smile, she bowed and thanked the people, and whenever on the way she recognized any person she fairly beamed with joy. Over her black costume the Queen wore a white lace gown. Her bonnet was of white netting or lace, with an inwrought coronet of diamonds. The Duke of Cambridge, Commander-in-Chief, rode close to the Queen all along the journey both ways. At Westminster Abbey the scene was brilliant and dazzling in the extreme. All the reigning families of Europe, the peerage of England, learned societies, corporations, the professions, science, art, agriculture, and the workmen's unions were represented in the great assemblage. When her Majesty entered the abbey the vast throng rose to their feet, and remained standing until she had been seated upon the grand dais under the lantern tower. The religious services were conducted by the Archbishop of Canterbury and the Dean of Westminster, and were appropriate and impressive. In returning to Buckingham Palace the royal party followed the route taken by the Queen after her coronation fifty years ago.

The Jubilee Elsewhere.

The Queen's jubilee was made the occasion of disorderly demonstrations at Cork and other Irish towns. A number of the participants had their heads broken by the police. The day was celebrated at New York by public services at the Metropolitan Opera House. Flags were displayed at the City Hall in honor of the event by order of Mayor Hewitt. At the Church of the Holy Innocents solemn requiem mass was celebrated for the repose of the souls of the 150,000 Irish who have died of starvation during the present reign.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND'S CONGRATULATIONS. The following is the President's letter presenting his jubilee congratulations to Queen Victoria:

GROVER CLEVELAND, President of the United States of America, to her Majesty Victoria, Queen of Great Britain and Ireland and Empress of India:

GREAT AND GOOD FRIEND—In the name and on behalf of the people of the United States I present their sincere felicitations upon the arrival of the fiftieth anniversary of your Majesty's accession to the crown of Great Britain. I but utter the general voice of my fellow-countrymen in wishing for your people the prolongation of a reign so marked with advance in popular well-being, physical, moral and intellectual.

It is justice and not adulation to acknowledge the debt of gratitude and respect due to your personal virtues for their important influence in producing and causing the prosperous and well-ordered condition of affairs now generally prevailing throughout your dominions.

May your life be prolonged, and peace, honor, and prosperity bless the people over whom you have been called to rule. May liberty flourish throughout your empire under just and equal laws, and your Government be strong in the affections of all who live under it. And I pray God to have your Majesty in His holy keeping. Done at Washington this 27th day of May, A. D. 1897.

GROVER CLEVELAND.

AMONG THE BALL TEAMS.

Mike Kelly's Return to Chicago Signalized by Great Crowds and Great Enthusiasm.

Anson's Lads Sweeping Everything Before Them in the League Pennant Race.

[CHICAGO CORRESPONDENCE.]

If ever a season of base-ball promised great things before the pennant races ended, that of 1887 is as bright with promises of a great finish as any lover of the national game, be he ever so enthusiastic, could wish for.

The wholly unexpected and remarkable spurt made by the White Stockings toward the close of their last Eastern trip still continues, and the prospects for its eventually placing them at the head of the string, in the race for the flag, seem better with each day. Boston came Friday with the famous Mike Kelly at its head, and not before in the history of the game in this city has the arrival of a ball team created such great enthusiasm as that which marked the return of Chicago's old favorite.

KELLY'S RECEPTION.

Kelly has hundreds, yes, thousands of admirers in Chicago, and upon the day of his arrival (Friday) these admirers spread themselves out at the park—spread themselves in flowers and spread themselves in yells. But before going to the park they performed the reception act at the Leland Hotel, where Kelly and his confreres are stopping. At 2 p. m. the street opposite the north entrance to the Leland was jammed with people. Not less than 5,000 were in the crowd. In the middle there was a big brass band playing "See the Conquering Hero" and other things of an adulatory character. In the hotel rotunda Kelly was holding a levee. A circle of people twenty deep craned their necks and jostled each other to see the hero, and those in his immediate vicinity shook hands with him until his patience gave out. The Imperial Quartet crowded in and surrounded him and sang at him, Mike meantime looking as if he wished they would go to Jericho and leave him alone. Then the White Stockings arrived, and a row of carriages and horses driven by coachmen in drab liveries drove up, and the White Stockings got into the three first carriages, and Anson and Kelly into the next, and the Bostonians into the next three carriages; next followed a lot of lordly sporting reporters in other carriages. Then the band struck up "Biddy McGee," and the procession started as grand as could be to parade the streets just like a circus, 5,000 people cheering the start and other thousands cheering all along the line. The procession went parkwards.

OUR SECOND VICTORY.

No one could have asked for a more rarely beautiful day than that which dawned on Saturday for our second game with the Bostonians. Kelly was suffering greatly from an attack of "Charley Horse," or contraction of the muscles in his left leg, and young Madden, of the Bostonians, had to do the running for him. Still, Mike played with much of his old-time vim, and the game was a great one in every way. The crowd was nearly as large as that of the day before. Men and boys were packed in the side stands like figs, and the grand stand was so full that men sat in the aisles. There was a deep semi-circle of plug hats and bonnets in front of the grand stand in the space reserved on either side of the catcher's path, while the outfield was fringed with at least two thousand men. Baldwin pitched for Chicago, while Conway filled the box for Boston.

The score was one of the most remarkable ever recorded at White Stocking Park, the clubs standing tied in the fourth inning and again in the eighth, and Chicago winning by a single run in the ninth. Following is the score by innings:

Chicago.....2 0 0 0 0 4 1 1-9
Boston.....1 0 0 1 3 0 0 1-7

CHICAGO'S IMPROVEMENT.

A noticeable feature in the work of the White Stockings is the improvement in their batting, while their fielding is far more brilliant than it was a year ago. Against such strong points as these opposing clubs will find it a difficult task to win games.

VAN HALTREN ARRIVES.

George Van Haltren, the young California pitcher, about whom there has been more newspaper talk than any ball player of the present time, Mike Kelly alone excepted, arrived from Frisco Friday. He certainly looks like a ball player, and it is to be hoped will prove one. I had a brief chat with him in A. G. Spalding & Bros.' Madison street store, the morning of his arrival when he said: "I pitched my first league game about fourteen months ago, retiring the opposing side with five hits. In one game I struck out three men on nine pitched balls, and my greatest strike-out record was nineteen men. On another occasion I retired the Pioneers without a hit and struck out seventeen men. At the end of that season I was fourth in batting, and was No. 1 in batting this season, with an average of .450. During this season I led in pitchers' averages, and gave but four bases on balls in a total of nine games."

Van Haltren says that he would not have gone to Pittsburgh or Detroit for any amount of money.

HOW THEY STAND.

In the League race the Detroit still hold the lead, with the Boston second, closely pursued by New York third, and both so closely followed by the Chicago that they are uncomfortable. The Philadelphia will do well to hold fifth place, Pittsburgh, Washington and Indianapolis bring up the rear. They are all out-classed and do not belong in the League.

In the Association race the St. Louis team is firmly fixed in the lead, with the Baltimore second, closely followed by Cincinnati third, and Louisville and Athletics next. The Brooklyn, Metropolitan, and Cleveland bring up the tail end of the list.

The fight is a hot one between the Milwaukee and Oshkosh teams for the Northwestern League pennant. The Milwaukee team leads by a small majority, with the Oshkosh team second; the Des Moines and St. Paul teams come next, and the La Crosse and Minneapolis teams follow, with the Duluth and Eau Claire teams last.

CON OREGAN.

A Home of Our Own.

I write this from under my own vine and fig tree, from beneath a roof of my own. I am a landed proprietor, a taxpayer, the owner of a bit of ground, and a house in the freshness and beauty of its first painting and papering and polishing. Ever since our marriage, seven years ago, my wife and I have longed for this day to come. We have saved and "scrumped" and hoped and prayed for it, and at last it has come to pass. We have paid out hundreds of dollars in rent, and been moved and hustled around from house to house, and place to place, in the nomadic manner too common among young married people in America.

No one can know with what a breath of infinite relief I said last week to Mrs. Dane, at the close of a wearisome moving day, "Well, my dear, thank the fates, this is our last move."

"Well, I hope so, for goodness's sake," said Mrs. Dane with marked force.

And when our two cherished Brussels carpets were being cut and slashed into so recklessly, to fit the parlor and sitting-room, Mrs. Dane said, gratefully, "Well, it's the last time they'll have to be cut, for they are down to stay now; that's one consolation."

The home we are so happy in is not all paid for, but we see our way clear to pay for it in time, and any kind of a home is preferable to a lifelong paying of rent. Young married people should start out in life with the fixed determination of putting a roof over their heads that they can call their own; and this is not such a very hard thing to do in these days of loan and building associations and cheap rates of interest. My interest and taxes are not much more than half the amount I have been paying in rents.

It is difficult to define the feeling one has in a home of one's own. There is something in being a "landed proprietor" that tones one up wonderfully, and adds dignity and earnestness to life. You literally feel that you are somebody. Life takes on a new meaning and new joys; you have something to live for and work for. I actually felt a positive pleasure in paying my taxes yesterday, and felt sorry for the poor fellows who haven't any taxes to pay.

I set out some rose bushes last week, exulting in the thought that they were mine, and neither they nor I were subject to the whim or the interests of some real estate agent, who could give us thirty days' notice and then turn us adrift.

No longer am I a member of the mighty and miserable army of house hunters. My rent days are done. I drive nails and tacks and hammer and pound when and where I please. When I come home from my office at night, it is home indeed to me.

And when one has children it is more necessary than ever that there be a place for them that they can call home; a place that they can love and remember as home throughout all their after lives. I hope to see the children of my eight-months' old baby playing in this house some day. We have bought a good house because we think we shall live in this all our lives, and we never want to go through the miseries of another family move.

A home of your own is, I insist, the very best investment a young couple can make. It is something worth saving, and working, and living for.—Good Housekeeping.

His Little Idea.

While on business in the office of a Park Row printing-house one day, a thin, tired-looking man entered and approaching the proprietor, said:

"I want to have a list printed; suppose you write it down as I tell you."

The proprietor made ready and the man said: "Yes, I'm sure that I looked the front door; have you got that?"

"Yes, but I don't understand."

"Never mind, don't interrupt me till I finish; are you ready?"

"Yes."

"I turned out the light in the bathroom."

"All right, I've got it."

"The kitchen windows are fastened."

"Yes."

"The dog is in the cellar."

"Yes."

"I did not forget to put ashes on the furnace fire."

"Yes."

"The servants are all in."

"The stable door is locked."

"Yes."

"No! the water is not running in the bath-room."

"Yes."

"The kitten is out doors."

"Yes."

"I turned off the drafts of the range."

"Yes."

"No, I do not smell smoke."

"Yes."

"I do not think I hear any one trying to get into the house."

"Yes."

"No; that is not our dog barking; it's the one next door."

"Yes."

"It's not necessary to go down and see if the cellar door is fastened; I know it is."

"Yes."

"That is nobody; only the wind rattling the shutters."

"Yes."

"Well, I think that's about all. You see my wife asks me those questions every blessed night just as I am getting into bed, and if I had a printed list I could show it to her, it would save lots of trouble, and besides that, it injures my lungs to answer them. Have the list as soon as possible, please."—The Earth.

Important Liquor Legislation—The Senate Passes the Local Option and High Tax Bills—State Constabulary Bill Lost.

LANSING, June 20, 1887.

The Senate took definite action last week on the three important matters of liquor legislation that have been pending ever since the failure of prohibition at the April election, and succeeded in passing two, while the third lacked two votes of passing.

WILL TRY PROHIBITION.

The first gun for prohibition (in a new form) was fired by the Senate on the 15th, the Barr local option bill that recently passed the House coming up on a special order. A strong effort was made by Senator Hubbell to reduce the districts that might vote for or against prohibition from counties to townships, but it failed, as did one by Senator Sharp to make all cities of 5,000 and over separate districts. Both amendments were voted down, 11 for and 15 against. Other amendments, offered to perfect and smooth up the bill, but not to change it, were made; and then, after a long discussion, in which Senators Edwards, Holbrook, Giddings, Howell, J. W. Babcock, Westgate, Moon, Fox, and Mayo all made strong speeches for the bill and its prompt passage, it was put on its passage and passed by a vote of yeas 21, nays 7—a larger vote than its friends had dared to hope or claim for it. The Senators who voted no were Messrs. Deyo, Gorman, O'Reilly, Bairden, Roof, Stark, and Wisner, all Democrats but Bairden, while Senator Sharp of Jackson, was the only one present who didn't vote. As before explained, any county may vote on prohibition for that county when one-fifth of all the voters petition for the opportunity, and if a majority vote yes, then prohibition goes into effect in such county. If a majority vote no, then that county must wait three years, when they may again submit the question on presentation to the County Clerk of a similarly signed petition as the first. It is confidently believed that the passage of this bill will give prohibition to at least one-half the counties of the State in the course of two or three years.

THE TAX BILL PASSED.

The second for the week was the consideration of the Senate substitute for the House substitute of the so-called "Bates high-licence bill." The House passed the Markey-Diekema substitute for Mr. Bates' bill some weeks ago, since which time the Senate has spent at least half a dozen days, or parts of days, in arguing and amending the substitute reported by the Senate committee for the bill as passed by the House. The special order was continued on the 16th from the previous week, and at the end of a half day Senator Hubbell had succeeded in extending the territory from which bondsmen may be taken to the townships in which the village or city where the saloon is located is situated. Senator Gorman had succeeded in cutting the tax for retailing liquors and for retailing malt, brewed and fermented liquors each from $500 to $300—the former thus being left as in the present law and the latter increased $100; Senator Crosby had succeeded in cutting down the amount of what constituted wholesaling from five to three gallons; the section in relation to keeping saloons in the same or a room adjoining a billiard room was stricken out; and several other amendments of more or less importance made, the one to cut down the tax from $500 to $300 by the close vote of yeas 16, nays 15.

The bill was then tabled until the next morning, and then (on the 17th) taken up and put on its final passage, without debate, under a motion for the previous question, and the vote resulted yeas 31, nays, Senator Barringer, 1.

As the Senate by its substitute has made something over a hundred amendments, the House must still take another twist at it, and it is not at all probable that the amendments will all be concurred in without being considerably amended by the House, even if then. The House can't touch the balance of the bill again, but may amend any one or all of the hundred amendments made by the Senate. Between the two houses the bill is likely to either fail altogether or be finally adopted at the end of a long conference committee contest.

STATE MARSHAL BILL LOST.

The third proposed liquor law came up in the Senate on the 17th, in the form of a House bill, or the Senate substitute for it, "to provide for the appointment of a State Marshal, and to prescribe his powers and duties." It was amended so as to conform to the provisions of the local option bill just passed, the number of deputies cut down from 50 to 32, and their salary raised from $600 to $1,000 per year; the section providing for paying expenses of marshal and deputies while they are working up cases was cut out and Detroit City and the surrounding townships of Hamtramck, Grosse Point, Greenfield and Springwell, were exempted from the provisions of the bill, and then the bill was lost, yeas, 15; nays, 16. It was reconsidered and tabled, and its friends believe it will pass at the next trial.

BAY CITY WILL CONSOLIDATE.
Both houses last week passed a House bill to consolidate the cities of Bay City and West Bay City and the village of Essexville, under the name of Bay City. The consolidation is to take place in 1891, under terms and conditions similar to those adopted for Saginaw's consolidation, with Congressman Fisher as referee. Bay City would never have thought of consolidation only to keep pace with its hated rival, East Saginaw.

ODDS AND ENDS.

The members of the two houses are sorting out the odds and ends of their most desirable bills, and, as the session draws gradually to a close, not less than a half dozen are on their feet seeking recognition by the Chair at every possible opportunity, and every move that is now made is out of the regular order.

The vote in the House on the university appropriation veto has been fixed for the afternoon of the 21st; so with that fight and all the other unfinished business on hand, it now seems impossible to reach final adjournment before July 2, although the Senate on Saturday adopted a resolution to stop doing new business on the 24th, and to adjourn finally at noon of the 29th. If the House concurs the session will therefore end on the 29th.

MICHIGAN LEGISLATURE.

The Senate was in session all day on the 20th, spending the greater portion of the time on the Cole anti-insurance combination bill. The bill makes it a misdemeanor for foreign companies doing business in this State to combine to establish rates at which risks will be taken. The local companies are regulated entirely by another law. The bill was much discussed and an attempt made to pass a substitute much more favorable to outside companies, but it could not be done. Attempts were also made to amend various sections, but the majority seemed favorable to the bill, and it passed to third reading in its original form. The Senate also passed to third reading the bill to prevent the selling, giving, or in any other way furnishing tobacco to minors under 18 years of age. Governor Bruce approved and signed the bucket-shop bill, and those institutions must now emigrate. The session of the day in the House was over charges of bribery made by the Lansing Journal. A hot debate ensued over a resolution calling on editors and legislative reporters for the names of those against whom there was suspicion or charges. It was bitterly opposed, and neither ever member spoke on the subject, the session ending at near midnight. The resolution was finally passed requesting the Journal to furnish names with definite charges of bribery and corruption, and appointing Messrs. Abbott, Herrington, and Chapman as a committee to wait on the publishers and consult with them regarding the facts in their possession. A resolution was also introduced moving that Mr. F. W. Phillips, legislative editor of the Lansing Journal, be deprived from the privileges of the floor of the House until his paper published the names as requested, but pending final action on it the House adjourned, after concurring in a resolution fixing final adjournment on June 29, and the last real business on the 24th.

A new university appropriation bill passed the Senate on the 21st. It differed from the vetoed bill only in that the physical laboratory item was cut down from $75,000 to $50,000. The Senate spent a large portion of the day on the Grinnell election bill, which provides for uniform ballots, separate booths for voters, and prohibits the soliciting of votes. It was passed by a committee. The bounty bills were consolidated by the Senate. They extend the bounty paid to soldiers who enlisted during the last half of the war to all soldiers, sailors, and marines who enlisted from Michigan, and provide that the same shall be paid to the surviving soldiers or dependents upon presentation of proof to the Quartermaster General. The House devoted considerable time to the vetoed University bill, on which there was a long discussion, both the Governor and the university management being sharply criticized. The bill was not passed over the veto, receiving but 43 yeas to 47 nays. The House passed Representative Damon's bill to prohibit the employment of more than 150 convicts on any one job at the same time.

The House bill providing for the publication of the names and addresses of ex-soldiers, sailors, and marines passed the Senate on the 22d. The Senate agreed in committee of the whole to the bill revising the mutual fire, marine and inland navigation companies law. It also passed the bill, amended by the farmers, to prevent vendors of patent pumps, fences, etc., to charge exorbitant prices for their goods. The House of Representatives made little progress in considering the Senate's amendments to the city appropriation bill, but soon had to lay the measure aside for other matters. It passed the House bill to abolish the contract system in the State prisons after existing contracts have expired. The House bill to tax mortgages was also passed, the tax to be paid by the mortgagee. If the mortgagee resides in another State and does not pay the tax the mortgage can be seized and sold. The University appropriation bill was received from the Senate, the physical laboratory item being cut down to $55,000. The bill as thus amended passed, appropriating a total of $152,000. A session was created in legislative circles on the afternoon of the 22d, when the Lansing Journal appeared containing charges that Senator J. W. Babcock and Representatives John Makelim and R. O'Keefe, all of Seneca County, had been guilty of accepting bribes. The Journal intimated that all three were bribed to vote for Stockbridge for United States Senator, and claimed to have incriminating letters in its possession. The paper offered to substantiate its charges if an investigation committee was appointed. In the House Mr. Makelim sent a written denial of the charges affecting him to the Clerk's desk. In it he asked that in simple justice he be allowed to publish. Further than that he left himself in the hands of the House. O'Keefe followed his example. No action was taken. Senator Babcock said nothing about the matter in the Senate, but outside he talked freely and calmly. He admitted being present at a conference on the Senatorial contest early last January, but denied that Makelim and O'Keefe were present, as also charged. He also denied that there were any offers of money made or alluded to at the meeting.

The high-licence liquor bill finally passed both houses on the night of the 23d, after a conference committee had struggled over it several hours. The high-tax men were victorious. By the terms of the agreement the tax is fixed at $800 for selling malt liquors and $500 for selling spirituous liquor, an increase of $100 and $200 respectively. The bonds must be secured in city, village, or township where the business is carried on. Saloons are allowed to remain open from 8 a. m. to 11 p. m. A second conference committee worked on the university appropriation bill, the split being over the physical laboratory item, fixed by the Senate at $50,000, and reduced by the House to $35,000. The latter figure was agreed upon. The Mining School appropriation bill of $100,000 was recalled from the Governor, and both houses agreed to make the total amount $75,000. Had this not been done, the bill would have been vetoed. Both houses passed a bill to create a Board of Examiners, and to require that a license must be obtained before a person can practice medicine. A bill providing for the publication of a second edition of 30,000 copies of the late Gen. Robertson's "Michigan in the War" was passed by both houses. Impure milk will not be used in cities hereafter if it can be prevented by a bill which passed both branches. The House passed the Senate bill authorizing the Railroad Commissioners to appoint a second deputy, who shall be a mechanical expert. The bill was a pet measure of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. After three attempts in as many sessions the so-called anti-compact bill, which prohibits fire-insurance companies from doing business on the Board of Underwriters plan, has been worked through the Legislature. The Senate has given its sanction to the measure. The Senate unanimously passed a resolution expressive of its confidence in the integrity and honesty of Senator Babcock, and in the House a resolution for an investigation was laid on the table, partly because specific charges have been made, and partly because the end of the session is so near at hand.

The Legislature practically completed its labors on Friday, the 25th of June. The expiring hours of both branches were largely given up to packing and presentations. Speaker Markey was the recipient of an elegant silver service, and President pro tem of Senate Monroe a massive gold-headed cane. A large amount of business was transacted during the last day's session. Among the most important was the Rogers bill, a copy of the interstate commerce bill, but the long and short haul clause was stricken out. The Senate bill to provide for cleaning the statutes of obsolete laws failed in the House; $500 was appropriated for the expenses of the Governor and Justices of the Supreme Court at the centennial celebration at Philadelphia in September, this year. The House passed a resolution forfeiting the Marquette, Houghton, and Ontonagon land grant. The Senate failed to pass the bill to prohibit the sale of tobacco to minors and ministers of the gospel, but passed the House bill to tax sleeping car and car loading companies upon their gross receipts. The bill appropriating $1,000,000 for current State expenses, and all other appropriation bills, passed. The House refused to consider the Rogers railroad bill after the Senate had stricken out the long and short haul clause, and it was tabled. The House also refused to take from the table the bill to repeal the act making standard time legal time. A large number of measures failed for want of action in both houses, but nearly all matters affecting the general public were disposed of.

A business men's association has been organized at Luther which is giving promise of doing some good work toward securing manufactures.

—Hiram Zalinski, aged 20, unmarried, was almost instantly killed by a log rolling on him in McNaughton's camp, near Byers, Mecosta County.

—The House bill making it unlawful for insurance companies to combine by means of local boards and underwriters was agreed to by the Senate committee of the whole.

—The finest shipyard on Lake Superior, they say, has been established at Baraga. Baraga is L'Anse's suburb, in a way, and L'Anse wants the new establishment as part of its own boom.

—It is found that the flooding of log-drives kills billions of fish. The fish spawn in the shallow water of the small lakes, and after the floods are drawn off acres of spawn are left upon dry ground.

—Philip Sparling, the dwarf who was so severely injured in a runaway accident at Grand Rapids a few days ago, died of his injuries. The remains were taken to his home in Grand Traverse County for burial.

—The cowboys of the Grayling Cattle Company found the remains of a body on the Manistee plains, about nine miles from Grayling. An inquest will be held, as it is suspected the person was foully dealt with.

—W. J. Miller, of Alpena, is under arrest. Miller was manager of the Union Lumber Company's Bay Shore mill last season, and it is charged that he sold about 350,000 feet of stuff without making an accounting.

—The Bay City, Pinconning and Gladwin Railroad will be completed by Sept. 1. There is a force of 325 men now working upon the line. The Titabawassee bridge is finished and the clearing along the entire line is nearly all done.

—Supt. Thomas, of the East Saginaw public schools, announced, at a meeting of the Committee on the Appointment of Teachers, that he had sent a letter declining the Superintendency of the State public school at Coldwater, having resolved to remain in East Saginaw.

—Pequanning, Baraga County, is a genuine prohibition town. Mr. Hebard, the owner of all the property in the village, refusing to permit the sale of any intoxicants. The village has a population of about 700, and the people are happy, prosperous and continually sober.

—Coldwater is to have still another paper in addition to the three already established and the Sunday paper. About the 1st of July A. Bartholomew will commence the publication of the Eagle. It will be a six-column folio, independent in politics, but in the interest of the Knights of Labor; it will be issued on Saturdays.

—An old cottage house, the former residence of E. D. Moss, of Maple Rapids, burned to the ground. The building was unoccupied, and the fire must have been the work of incendiaries, as no fire had been in or about the house for weeks. The house stood in the south part of Maple Rapids, and was among the first buildings built in the village.

—The new opera house at Shepherd was opened to the public a few nights since, and the boomers of that new town were surprised at the mottoes that adorned the place. In the center of the stage are the words, "In God we trust." The proscenium revealed the words, "All the world is a stage of action on which we should prepare for the eternal world." Over the entrance the visitor reads, "Jesus saith I am the door—by me if any man enter he shall be saved."

—The lumber manufacturing interests of Cheboygan have taken on a decided impulse in the way of a healthy growth, judging from the indications so far shown this present season, and all the possibilities point to the seasons out far exceeding that of former years. Several new mills have started up and some have dropped out of existence. The number at present in active operation shows a gain of two mills of large capacity over the count of last season, with still another which will be taken to Cheboygan and set up. It is hardly possible to correctly estimate the actual cut that the present season will foot up, but there are several good reasons for assuming that it will be far in excess of last season.

HOLLAND CITY NEWS.

WILLIAM H. ROGERS, Editor.

SATURDAY, JULY 2, 1887.

IGNORANT and illiterate advocates throw discredit on a good cause when they open their mouths to talk.

List of letters remaining in the post-office at Holland, Mich., June 23, 1887: Royer & Lansing, Miss Mary Swift, John Mirrs, William Riley, John H. Skinner, Rev. S. Baron, Mrs. Rossie M. Saxton, Mrs. Larry Germoud.

J. G. VAN PUTTEN, P. M.

It is the only partially concealed object of this month's graduates from colleges and seminaries to conquer the world. Next June there will be an openly expressed desire to be satisfied with overcoming the obstacles which stand in the way of earning a very moderate salary.

At the semi-annual election of officers for the Land and Labor Club of Holland held recently the following officers were elected: President, D. L. Boyd; Secretary, Herbert E. Graham; Treasurer, Anton Self. Executive Committee, J. A. Roost, Dr. J. D. Wetmore and L. J. Tussy. Committee on Rules and Regulations, J. Elenbaas, H. Van der Helde and Chas. Johnson. Committee on Ways and Means, Nicholas Schmid, W. Hayes and Geo. F. Hanson.

"NERI PINE, Esq., a specialist in patent laws, informs the public through the Binghamton, N. Y. Republican that the driven well patent expired over two years ago, and since then there has been no patent upon the device of driving a pipe into the ground and attaching a pump to it. 'The re-issue of the patent,' says an exchange, covered additional specifications, but did not prolong the term of the patent beyond seventeen years from January 14, 1868. Mr. Pine speaks from the law and record, and his advice is solid. Whoever desires to do so can drive an iron pipe into the ground, and use it for a well, ready-made post hole or whatever else he pleases without paying royalty.' Firemen's Herald, June 9.

Testimonial of Ottawa County Citizens.

We, whose names are signed below, visited Kalamazoo and Berrien counties on invitation of the agent, of the Michigan Hedge Co., Mr. C. W. Bennett, to view the work and investigate the business of the company, and its methods and plans of growing and constructing Osage orange hedge fence.

We are aware of the growing need of some material for fencing our farms, and closely watched the Osage fence as grown by farmers who have never had any practical knowledge of the growth and nature of the plant and the proper treatment during its early growth. But we were greatly surprised at what we saw of the Michigan Hedge company's work, in Kalamazoo and Berrien counties. The plant is a very rapid grower, when properly set and cared for, and we were surprised at the great growth we saw of hedge only two years old that would turn all stock.

The company's plans are different from anything we ever saw in hedges, and the completed fences we saw were absolutely stock proof, and about one foot thick, and as handsome as anything we ever saw in shrubbery. We do not hesitate to endorse this fence as practical, cheap, stock proof, and handsome.

A farm fenced with this fence, we believe, is increased in value double the cost of the hedge.

We saw crops growing close to old hedges, and we saw hedges trimmed with a simple tool at the rate of one rod per minute, which is a great feature and overcomes all of the prevalent and prevailing objections. We also find the financial standing of the company is above par and solid in every particular.

Silas Kilbourne, of Grand Haven kit factory, was in town last Saturday.
Mr. E. Myers who has been in Illinois for some time returned last week.
J. Fisher has returned from Montague. He goes north again in a few days.
Strawberries were nearly a failure this year on account of the dry season.
Mr. Wade Rockway talks of going south. Stay in Michigan Wade, you'll freeze in that cold climate.
Mrs. Wisley, an old and respected citizen, died last week. Her children from Chicago and Grand Haven attended the funeral.
Every peach tree old enough to bear in this section is full, and the orchard of Mr. James Edwards is a sight. We wish some of those fruit-growers south of Holland would come up and see how we can do when we take a notion.
Oh yes, that long eared ass at West Olive has inflated his lungs, and let loose what seems to him a melodious roar, but what the people call a cracked imitation of a fiddle. Like the jackass in Esop's fables, now that the lion is dead he can do his kicking, or rather his antagonizing, who wiped the ground with him over the signature of "Binner," has moved away he can "blow." Mr. Bacon is running a boat as we learn, not a skiff, nor does he follow the example of the temperance apostle "H. A." by running a boat called a "schooner," made out of glass with a handle on one side.

LITTLE ROSEBUD.
Little Rosebud bright and fair,
Blooming in the morning air,
Casting glances now at me,
Full of roses full of glee.
Little Rosebud sweet and blest,
Golden locks now on my breast,
For I love my Rosebud fair,
Laughing eyes and golden hair.
Little Rosebud kind and true,
Mischief in those eyes so blue,
Laughter comes so sweet and clear,
Not a sorrow lingers near.
Little Rosebud all my life,
She can never be my wife,
Tho' she is so dear to me,
I'm her papa, don't you see.

West Olive.

Forest fires have surrounded us on all sides since last Sunday.
Owing to the dry and warm weather harvest has commenced.
Frank Marab, of Battle Creek, is visiting at Mr. M. W. Trumble's.
Ben Burr, the largest man in West Olive, has been given up to die by his physicians. He and his family have been removed to Mrs. Denner's home, north-east of here.
School closed last Thursday and a picnic was held at Joscelyn's landing by the scholars and teachers. A large attendance participated and a good time was enjoyed by all. In the closing school exercises the scholars showed, by their speaking and singing, that they had been drilled well by their teacher, Miss Nettie Cherry. The News correspondent attended and went by way of the river, taking an old leaky boat which had to be pulled ashore and caulked with the lining of the coat sleeve of a companion before we half reached our destination. When dinner was served, some of the over hungry who ate at the first table, nearly cheated us out of our meal by cleaning the table of all the choice viands, regardless of anyone. This did not exactly suit the temper of some present.

Ottawa Station.

Harvesting has been commenced. C. L. Waffle made a beginning on Tuesday.
Milo Tubbs, who moved to Grand Rapids a little more than a year ago, has moved back again and is living in his old home.
The long continued spell of dry weather has done serious injury to the growing crops in this vicinity. Oats, peas, potatoes, beans, and grass on dry ground, have all suffered to a large extent, while some pieces have been entirely ruined.
Old Reynard came into our garden that adjoins the house last Saturday night and gobbled up an old turkey and five young ones, and now we are giving our attention to a well laid scheme that will bring his foxship to grief. Complete success in a similar affair on a former occasion begets a lively hope.

The Highway Commissioner overruled the petition to lay a road on the east side of the "Bee Line" ditch that we referred to a few weeks ago. This proceeding adds another instance wherein our wishes and our wisdom have been disregarded. Some of the peculiar features of the transaction are that several of the remonstrators are not freeholders, and two of them had previously signed the petition.

A case of a little unpleasantness occurred a short time ago between two of the christian citizens of Olive Center and vicinity. The occasion was a refusal to bring a bag of feed from town when driving home with double team without load. In a few days this accommodating friend became in need of a good spring tooth harrow and went straightway and made application to the owner of a good one. But the cheek that was lit with the bag of feed was too sore to think of turning the other one so soon, so he turned his back and had the moral courage to say "no sir."

A close observer walking among the willows that grow along the banks of the cold stream of Babylon may notice several good harps hanging there that once belonged to some of our new converts here. We recently heard of one who had traded his off for fire crackers, and attempted to fire one off in church during services, but succeeded in his celebration at the door immediately after leaving the house. Others we hear anticipate trading for what little music can be got out of a Fourth of July fiddle. We seriously regret this condition of affairs as it reflects unfavorably upon the good report that we labored so earnestly to make last winter.

A fire broke out last week in the woods on Section 9, supposed to be caused by some careless hunters. Since that time it has been spreading in every direction, and driven by the changing wind until it has burned over nearly all of the combustible surface that had not been burned by a previous fire. The result has been great damage to fences, timber, etc. Among the sufferers in this respect we mention Moses Buxton, Myric Hoag, Calvin Vost, and the heirs of Peter Fonger. The fences were also all burnt on the premises formerly owned by Milo Tubbs, John D. Wood, and Peterson. The house (unoccupied) on the Wood place burned Tuesday. The fire also run through the orchard doing much injury to the fruit trees. The growing crops within all of the above named inclosures have thus been left without protection against stock running at large, and it will be very difficult, if not altogether impossible to rebuild. Myric Hoag detected a man a short time ago in the act of setting a fire in some rubbish by the roadside. Leaving his wife to put out the fire he rode on and overtook the man and learned his name and place of residence, and when asked why he had set the fire could give no reason therefor. And this man was not a tramp, but one who claims respectability, and keeps a small store somewhere in the vicinity of Zeeland.

Ventura.

Mrs. Shippek and daughter Nellie, left last Wednesday for Chicago.
Mrs. U. H. Joscelyn and sister, Mrs. Tuttle, of Lamont, are visiting friends in this place.
Miss Nettie Owen closes a very successful term of school, in District No. 8, on Friday next.
Frank J. Davis and Fred Lappenga are rusticated at their farm near Port Sheldon.
Among the names of those who are on the sick list we notice Mrs. John DeBoer, Dick Robbins and Fred Knowlton.
Rumor says that a certain young bachelor, of this city, is soon to lead to the altar one of Ventura's fairest daughters.
We overheard a certain young lady of our acquaintance offer a prominent "dude" of this place a pair of her shoes, to wear on the Fourth, his being too dilapidated to do duty on that day, and don't you believe Mr. Editor he declined her generous loan, on the plea that they would be too large for his diminutive feet.
The house owned by Mrs. Vretenburg, and lately occupied by John Horton, burned to the ground last Friday evening about dusk. It is supposed to be the work of an incendiary, and as this is the third or fourth building that has burned in a like manner near here it is time that proper measures were taken to punish the perpetrators.

Letter from California.

303 S. 2nd Street, SAN JOSE, CAL.,
June 18th, 1887.

MR. EDITOR:—By the above address you'll see I'm back again in the "Garden City." The schools are all closed and everybody, not otherwise engaged, has gone, or is going to the coast or into the mountains for the summer. I suppose we shall be flitting again soon. I tell you its hot weather now, the thermometer anywhere from 100 degrees to 120 degrees. If one wants to enjoy the "cool of the day," he has to get up with the early worm that history tells us the bird caught. I didn't put that right, did I? Any way its something about a bird and a worm that got up too early in the morning.

While at Monterey I visited the Carmel Mission, founded in 1770 and restored in 1884. It is built of adobe in ancient Moorish architecture. The dome looks like an inverted butter fowl with a cross on top. I saw the angel Gabriel there, he stands in an alcove devoted to his especial use, with his hands crossed on his bosom, a crown on his head, with the remains of what may have been a star a hundred years ago, and wings that look like a pair of ladies, fastened to his shoulders. His rig has a red waist and brown skirt, he looked kind of rakish I thought. Altogether I don't believe he is the handsomest angel in the "United Kingdom," though I'm not much used to associating with that society so I don't know how the rest look. In 1884 the roof timbers gave way and let the tiles fall through so the Bishop ordered a new roof put on. It spoils its ancient effect, but the inside is "ruins" enough to suit the most fastidious. The vault in which the four friars who founded the church were buried, was opened, and the remains, a few handfuls of dust and two or three bones, were deposited in an urn. It was said a large amount of treasure was buried in the vault. If the report was true the priests secured it. The old paintings brought from Spain look decidedly dilapidated. One of "Peter denying our Lord" has his eye punched out. Another of "Stephen the Martyr" is being hit in the nose with a rock large as his head. I expect if I hadn't been lacking in veneration, I shouldn't have seen anything ridiculous about the pictures and angels, but as it was I laughed behind my handkerchief, I didn't dare let the worshipers, who were there saying over their beads, see me. Mr. B. went about as "solemn like" speaking in whispers. Near the church are the remains of the adobe houses, which were occupied by the Indians and at one side is the cemetery.

The church is built in the valley at the head of Carmel Bay, the surrounding country is beautiful beyond description with mountain peaks and glimpses of the broad Pacific. The Carmel river is a beautiful stream, though now its only a rivulet, the water is clear and white, and the pebbly bottom shows so many shades of color. After visiting the Mission and taking in a drive through the ford of the Carmel river we turned back, and started on the famous eighteen mile drive. I wish I could describe it. Its as smooth as a boulevard all the way, and winds in and out among the foot hills, giving one the most delightful surprises of scenery imaginable. Sometimes its quite close to the beach and again back quite a distance. The coast is very rocky and in some places steep and precipitous. The groves are a peculiar feature of the drive. After leaving the live-oaks and bays, there is a grove called Cypress Grove. The trees are gnarled and crooked beyond anything you can imagine. The tops look as though some very precise person had taken pains to shear them all off smooth and flat, but the trunks are bent and curved by the force of the winds and storms, till you'd say a battle of giants had been fought there, and they in their fury and rage had twisted the trees out of all shape. After you leave Cypress point, you come into a grove of pines, as straight as possible, and all bedraggled with Spanish moss. Now can you tell why such a difference in the trees and in the kind of trees? Its all the same climate, the same exposure, and the same wind and sunshine, and rain-falls, upon the one as upon the other?

About midway of the drive, a little out from the coast, is a mass of rocks upon which hundreds of seals sun themselves. You can hear them bark a long distance off, the rocks are also resting places for the sea birds, gulls, divers and penguins. The seals and the birds live as harmoniously there as the "happy family." One old seal, gray as a rat, seemed to be master of ceremonies, he was perched on top of the rocks and barked and called the other seals, and its too funny to see the great awkward things crawl up, some of them with their babies on their backs. It was near sunset when we reached the rocks, and the birds and seals by the hundreds were coming there for the night. We watched the sun sink into the ocean—a great red ball—it didn't seem so far away, and the rays of light streamed over to us. One place on the beach the sand is as white as snow and tons of it are shipped to San Francisco for the manufacture of glass.

The Chinese have their habitations scattered along, and you can buy of them shells and star-fish, sea-urchins, and abelonas. I made quite a collection of shells but I gathered them myself.

The rock oyster is a peculiar creature, the shell is very pretty; wherever they attach themselves, if anything obstructs them in one direction they'll put out in another, and thus the shell is irregular to a degree of eccentricity. The rocks are covered with limpets of all sorts, some of them adhere so firmly, you cannot remove them without a sharp instrument. I examined the jelly-fish, and I thought what a nasty thing for the human family to evolve from, I don't believe I ever was one. Now if it had been a sea-anemone I could have endured that, for they are really pretty.

I see by the News that Holland is steadily improving, and the Park is one of its regular attractions. If only you had California climate there, you would have a very good imitation of Monterey Bay and the Pacific Ocean. There is so much to see and write about in California that when I begin I hardly know where to stop, but I guess this is as good a place as any so good-bye. Respectfully,

A. E. S. BANGS.

THE life of Henry Ward Beecher, written by Jos. Howard, Jr., and published by Hubbard Brothers, of Philadelphia, is a work which possesses the three prime requisites of a popular and model biography; it is accurate; it is interesting, and it is timely. It is an accurate reflection of that "many-sided man" of whom the author speaks so feelingly in his preface. Take a precious jewel, place it in sunshine, and each of its many polished sides is radiant with flashing light. Mr. Howard has simply taken this brilliant jewel, the manifold mind of a great man, placed it before the public in its true light and the wonderful character stands revealed in all its simple beauty. The book is no fulsome eulogy. Perhaps its greatest value is due to the fact that much of its material is drawn from sources that were accessible only to the great preacher himself, and to the few who, like Mr. Howard, were honored with his confidence and intimate friendship. Both Mr. Howard and his publishers have done their work well and the book will doubtless win the popular success it so richly merits.

Enjoy Life.

What a truly beautiful world we live in! Nature gives us grandeur of mountains, glens and oceans, and thousands of means of enjoyment. We can desire no better when in perfect health; but how often do the majority of people feel like giving it up with disease, when there is no occasion for this feeling, as every sufferer can easily obtain satisfactory proof that Green's August Flower, will make them free from disease, as when born. Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint are the direct causes of seventy-five per cent of such maladies as Biliousness, Indigestion, Sick Headache, Costiveness, Nervous Prostration, Dizziness of the Head, Palpitation of the Heart, and other distressing symptoms. Three doses of August Flower will prove its wonderful effect. Sample bottles, 10 cents. Try it.

Plymouth Church's Slave.

Plymouth Church bought the freedom of a beautiful slave in 1860. She was an octoroon, and would easily have passed for white. Her name was Sarah. Her master, John Churchman, of Staunton County, Virginia, from whom she had repeatedly tried to escape, sold her to Fred Scheffer, of the same place, who, fearing that she would attempt to run away again, gave her permission to go North and endeavor to raise sufficient money among the Abolitionists to buy her freedom. Her fare to the North was paid by Mrs. Scheffer. Mrs. Angelina Harris, who is just recovering from illness at the New York Hospital, said that she had known the girl Sarah long and intimately. "I was in Plymouth Church," said Mrs. Harris, "the night Sarah was brought upon the platform and stood beside Mr. Beecher. The church was packed full of people. Sarah was then not more than 22 or 23 years of age. She was tall and finely molded, and as white as any lady. Yes, before Mr. Beecher had said a word, the money began coming out of folks' pockets. Two thousand dollars, I think, was raised that night, and with it Sarah bought her freedom." After she was free the ladies of the church wrote a little book in which a full account of her life was written. With the money that was obtained from the sale of this they bought a little place for her at Peekskill, where she raised fowls and sold eggs and butter for a living. She is living there still, I think, although I've not seen her for many years, but is now an old woman.—New York Times.

The Penny in Dixie.

For some ten years past New Orleans, St. Louis, and other Southern cities have been trying to bring cents into circulation, and desperate indeed have been the efforts to accomplish this. Several houses have declared in favor of cents, to find their introduction far more difficult than was imagined. A newspaper imported some barrels of the coin and put them forth, only to find out that they returned in a short time. The idea of carrying the measure through by one grand movement, all acting together, failed. The people were not acquainted with cents and refused them; and many dealers, particularly the small ones with whom cents would have come into play and who would be most benefited by their circulation, held back. But although these spasmodic efforts failed, the end sought for is being slowly but surely accomplished. The cent, which could not be forced suddenly on the community, is growing into favor. A large number of houses are now willing to accept it and make their change accordingly, and the public is beginning to recognize that the cent is of some value after all. Strange to say, as at the beginning of this movement, the small dealers still hold back. Copper will be taken in payment by almost any large dry goods house in the city, but the candy or banana peddler on the corner opposite ignores this movement and is afraid of the copper currency.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

How a Woman Reads a Comic Paper.

It is not often that a woman buys a comic paper to read on an elevated car, but when she does it is curious to observe her. She looks as solemn as though she was reading the obituary of a near and very dear friend. She glances at the cartoon on the first page to commence with, and after a feeble attempt to comprehend it she turns to the last page and reads very carefully an advertisement of some new style of corset. Then she opens anywhere, and looks at a comic picture without reading the accompanying description, and reads the inscription of another illustration without looking at the picture.

She peruses a mild squib on women, and her lip curls with gentle scorn, while her lips move as though she were saying, "He thinks he's smart, doesn't he?" She forgets her momentary resentment, however, in going over a reading notice (top of column, next to pure reading matter) of a preparation to beautify the female complexion. She finally strikes Lydia Pinkham's portrait, and tosses her head, as if to say, "I've seen that picture in lots of papers before, and it ain't a bit funny, though this paper claimed to be original."

After looking in vain for a department of marriages and deaths, she seems to hesitate about throwing the paper away or keeping it, and finally folds it up carefully and puts it away in her hand-bag, thinking that some of the "men folks" at home might like to look at it.—Texas Siftings.

It is a singular fact, but a fact nevertheless, that mill employees will risk a limb when attending running machinery, rather than put themselves to the trouble of taking a single step which would put them in a position where the work could be done with equal dispatch and perfect safety.

A Multitude of Ailments.

The ailments which afflict the kidneys and bladder are so numerous that merely to name them would fill a space far outrunning the limits of this article. Suffice it to say that they are both obstinate and dangerous. To their prevention Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is well adapted. The stimulus which it lends to the action of the kidneys when they are lethargic, serves to counteract a tendency in them to lapse, first, into a state of pernicious inactivity, and afterwards into one of positive organic disease, which soon destroys their delicate integuments, poisons the blood, and causes death. A double purpose is served by this depurative. It promotes activity of the kidneys, and expels impurities from the blood which have no natural channel of outlet except those organs. Constipation, biliousness, fever and rage, rheumatism, and dyspepsia are also remedied by this medicine of thorough action and wide scope.

By the Shore.

One day, when the ocean was at rest, and its waters sheened and sparkled under the summer sun, an old man walked upon the sandy shore and sat down in the shade of a rock, to be alone by himself. Above him was the blue canopy through which the eyes of living men have never penetrated—at his feet the waters which had rolled across a world to lap at the sandy shores of a continent.

And there was a lapping, and a lapping, and a grieving, and a sobbing as the waters laved the sand and fell back to break into patches of foam and go swirling along the shore, never to rest. And the old man fell into a reverie, and whispered to himself:

"It is like the life of a child—sunshine, tears, griefs, complaints. He, like the ocean, may seem to sleep, but there is no rest. The pulses never cease their throbbing—the heart never stops beating until death comes."

Then a cloud rose slowly out of the sea and climbed into the heavens, and the waters fretted and foamed and dashed about. Along the sands the lapping and grieving changed to an angry rush to reach a higher point, and the great patches of foam which floated away were no longer of snowy white. And the old man whispered:

"It is like the life of a man—trouble, sorrow, adverse struggles. He is the shore on which the ever-changing ocean of life is flinging its tide, and he, like the shore, must be solid and steadfast."

And again the sky cleared, the vexed waters were smoothed by the hand of peace, and the summer sun tipped each wavelet with an edge of gold. And along the sand there was a lapping and a lapping, and the waters sobbed and grieved again as they fell back to rest for a moment. Then the foam drifts were as white and pure as the mantle of an angel, and the tide kissed them tenderly as it bore them away. And the old man whispered:

"It is like the last days of an old man—one who has been ennobled by faith—strengthened by love—purified by forgiveness. His sun of life goes down in a blaze of glory; his pulse sinks to rest as the vexed waters have grown quiet; the lapping of the waters are the whispers of his dead; the sobbing and the grieving are the tears of those who will never see him more on earth."

And as he closed his eyes and slept, or seemed to sleep, a child came down to the shore to look with wondering eyes upon the calm and glorious sea—to place its hand confidently upon that of him who felt it not—to whisper in the ear of him who heard no sound:

"And the foam-drifts—white and pure, and without taint, are the souls of those who have lived in the faith and died pure in heart, drifting into the placid ocean of the great and grand hereafter."—M. Quad.

Life in the Paris Sewers

It is possible for a short time to the robust, but the majority of refined persons would prefer immediate death to existence in their reeking atmosphere. How much more revolting to be in one's self a living sewer. But this is actually the case with those in whom the inactivity of the liver drives the refuse matter of the body to escape through the lungs, breath, the pores, kidneys, and bladder. It is astonishing that life remains in such a dwelling. Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" restores normal purity to the system, and renews the whole being.

QUEEN ELIZABETH style is expected to come in again about 1888. This is indeed a ruff.

"Her face so fair, as flesh it seemed not, But heavenly portrait of bright angel's hue, Clear as the sky, without a blame or blot, Through goodly mixture of complexion due, And in her cheeks the vermeil red did show." This is the poet's description of a woman whose physical system was in a perfectly sound and healthy state, with every function acting properly, and is the enviable condition of its fair patrons produced by Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription." ## Shoes for Ladies' Wear.

A lace boot or shoe comes nearer fitting the foot than any other. They clasp the instep, keeping the soul of the shoe well up to the arch beneath, and stay the ankle, both of which will enable the wearer to walk better and with far more ease than when, as is always the case more or less with a buttoned shoe, there is too much room given the foot at those two points. Not that over-tight lacing is advocated, but just so much as will cause the foot to feel the support of the shoe. Ladies who walk a great deal, especially those having high insteps hollowed out underneath, will certainly find more ease in a lace shoe than in a buttoned one. Dealers will often tell us that they are not in fashion, but they can always be had or made. Skaters need a lace shoe for the same reasons. Gentlemen are wiser than we in this respect. The majority of men have learned to appreciate the merits of a lace boot and now wear them.—Cleveland Leader.

The Universal Measures.

The metric system of weights and measures, according to Mr. Jackson, of the Paris Geographical Society, is now obligatory by law in the Argentine Republic, Austria and Hungary, Belgium, Bolivia, Brazil, Chili, Colombia, Denmark, Ecuador, France and colonies, Germany, Greece, Italy, Mexico, Netherlands, Norway, Paraguay, Peru, Portugal, Roumania, Spain, Sweden and Switzerland, with a total population of 241,973,011. It is optional by law in Canada, Great Britain and Ireland, Persia, and the United States, with 97,639,825 inhabitants. It is often used without having legal value in Egypt, British India, Russia, Turkey, Uruguay and Venezuela, with a combined population of 333,266,386. The system was first established in France in 1793, and standards were adopted in 1799.

The treatment of many thousands of cases of those chronic weaknesses and distressing ailments peculiar to females, at the Invalid Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., has afforded a vast experience in nicely adapting and thoroughly testing remedies for the cure of woman's peculiar maladies.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the outgrowth, or result, of this great and valuable experience. Thousands of testimonials, received from patients and from physicians who have tested it in eye-magnifying and obstinate cases which had baffled their skill, prove it to be the most wonderful remedy ever devised for the relief and cure of suffering women. It is not recommended as a "cure-all," but as a most perfect Specific for woman's peculiar ailments.

As a powerful, invigorating tonic, it imparts strength to the whole system, and to the womb and its appendages in particular. For overworked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly blessing, being unequalled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nerve, "Favorite Prescription" is unequalled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, exhaustion, prostration, hysteria, spasms and other distressing, not to mention common, attendant upon functional and organic disease of the womb. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a legitimate medicine, carefully compounded by an experienced, skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate organization. It is purely vegetable in its composition and perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system. For morning sickness, or nausea, from whatever cause arising, weak stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia and kindred troubles, its use, in small doses, will prove very beneficial.

"Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of leucorrhoea, excessive flow, painful menstruation, unnatural suppression, or falling of the womb, weak back, "female weakness," antenatal hemorrhage, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration of the womb, inflammation, pain and tenderness in ovaries, accompanied with "internal heat."

As a regulator and promoter of functional action, at that critical period of change from girlhood to womanhood, "Favorite Prescription" is a perfectly safe remedy, and can produce only good results. It is equally efficacious and valuable in its effects when taken for those disorders and derangements incident to that later and most critical period, known as "The Change of Life."

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine in connection with the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and small laxative doses of Dr. Pierce's Purgative Pellets (Little Liver Pills), cures Liver, Kidney and Bladder diseases. Their combined use also removes blood taint, and abolishes cancerous and scrofulous humors from the system.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee, from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrappers, and faithfully carried out for many years.

THE art of not hearing should be taught in every well-regulated family. It is fully as important to domestic happiness as a cultivated ear, for which so much time and money are expended. There are so many things which it is painful to hear—very many which, if heard, will disturb the temper, corrupt simplicity and modesty, detract from contentment and happiness—that every one should be educated to take in or shut out sounds, according to their pleasure.
