Martha Washington.
Martha Washington belonged to the Virginia school of aristocracy, where she was in her girlhood a belle of the colonial court of Williamsburg, and later a beautiful and wealthy widow, to whom the chivalrous Virginians paid devoted homage. She was the daughter of one gentleman of fortune, Col. John Dandridge of Virginia, and the widow of another, Col. Daniel Parke Curtis, owner of the White House, Kent Co., Va., where she married George (then Col.) Washington, in 1759, and brought him a reputation for beauty, wealth and virtue. Her fame went everywhere, and people hastened to Mount Vernon, where she went to live three months after her marriage. She entertained in true Virginia style, with a large number of slaves to do her bidding, and the best product of the country at her command. A chronicler of those days remarked that Mrs. Washington must be as good a commander as her husband to manage successfully an army of servants, tradespeople and guests. Such was the hospitality of those days that no visitor was ever permitted to leave after sunset. Neighbors who lived at a distance—as neighbors did in those days—were kept over night, and breakfasted in state next morning.

The hunt, cards and dancing were the amusements of the times. Everybody kept open house. Washington gave an epitome of the situation and its necessary expenditures in a few words caught from his lips by a contemporary:

"Would any person believe," he says "that with 100 cows, I should still be obliged to buy butter for my family?"

It is interesting to know that Mrs. Curtis, the bride, wore upon her marriage with Col. Washington a wedding dress of heavy corded white silk interwoven with silver threads. It was elegantly trimmed with heavy white satin ribbon brocaded with silver leaves. The dress opened over a white satin quilted overskirt. She wore white satin, high-heeled shoes of the period, with diamond buckles, ruffles of point lace, and an exquisite suite of pearls, necklace, earrings and bracelets. She was attended by three bridesmaids. The same clergyman who married her when Martha Dandridge to Col. Curtis, the Rev. David Mossun, officiated at the second nuptials, and nothing more splendid than the ceremony ever occurred in Virginia. Washington made a most imposing bridegroom, he being six feet three inches in height, dressed in a suit of blue cloth, lined with red silk, with gold lace trimmings, a white satin waistcoat with silver embroideries, knee buckles and shoe buckles of gold. His hair was powdered and worn in a queue, and a dress sword hung at his side. The bride and her ladies rode away from the church, the "little church of St. Peter," in a coach drawn by six horses, decorated with bridal favors, each one guided by a liveried black postillion, while Col. Washington rode his magnificent charger, attended by his body servant, Bishop, who was tall and imposing in appearance and wore scarlet uniform of the English soldiery of the time of George II. and was booted and spurred and armed as well. A gay and brilliant company of men escorted the general, all being mounted on the best horses of Virginia.

Martha Washington and her husband were almost of equal age, there being only the difference of four months, the general being the senior. Both were independently rich, Mrs. Washington adding $100,000 to the general's private fortune. Those writers who make the attempt of holding the revered Washington up to the admiration of posterity as an economist are wide of the mark. Nothing was so good for him and his family—for although the "father of his country" had that adopted heir as his only posterity, he made an excellent step-father to his wife's two children. He loved Martha Parke Curtis, his step-daughter, as fondly as if she had been his own child, and during the slow hours preceding her death from consumption at the early age of 17, knelt often in prayer at her bedside to intercede for her young life. He made a kind and tolerant guardian to his wife's son, and these traits endeared him even more to her than his fondness for herself. That even her prejudices were respected is noticeable from the fact that Gen. Washington sold his kennel of dogs, Mrs. Washington disliking dogs, especially the great hounds presented to her husband by Gen. Lafayette.

Martha Washington would not have been fitted for a place in history as the "first lady of the republic" if she had not possessed a mind of her own, and been capable of commanding her household, and occasionally her husband. It is recorded by Miss Bremer that a guest at Mount Vernon overheard her distinguished hostess giving George a piece of her mind after they had retired for the night. He listened in profound silence and when she had said her say, he answered pleasantly:

"Now, good-night to you, my dear!"

Thirty years after her marriage to Gen. Washington, Martha Washington found herself elevated to the position of the first lady of the land. She was then of mature years, and a month after the inauguration set out in a carriage with her grandchildren, Eleanor Custis and George Washington Custis, to visit the general at New York. She was accompanied by a mounted escort and at Hammond's Ferry was received by a deputation of citizens and treated to an ovation, fireworks and a supper. She was dressed for the occasion in goods of American manufacture. From that point on, every civic and military honor was paid to her. At Philadelphia she was entertained as a guest of honor amid the ringing of bells, firing of cannon and shouts of welcome. Mrs. Robert Morris, sister of Bishop White, one of the distinguished ladies of that period and a resident of Philadelphia, accompanied Mrs. Washington on her journey and became one of her intimate friends. The president left New York in his private barge, manned by thirteen pilots in white uniforms, to meet his wife at Trenton, N. J. When he returned, a crowd had gathered on the wharf, and a salute of thirteen guns was fired as the barge approached the battery. The number thirteen was distinctive, as it represented the number of states.

The president had refused any title, such as that of "His Serine Highness" "The Chief Justice" or his "High Mightiness," as it was used by the Stadtholder of Holland, but the army, accustomed to titles of nobility, conferred the title of "Lady Washington" on his wife, although it was never used by herself or family, and is not consistent with republican principles. As Martha Washington her name was known and honored, although occasionally the affectation of a title was used in ultra-fashionable circles.

At Washington's levees the president always appeared as a private gentleman, without the cocked hat of ceremony, and with no sword. All callers were seated, and the rich pound cake and plum cake of the day was handed around with tea and coffee, and wine, a custom that was imperative in those days in good society. Even Friday evening Mrs. Washington received from 8 to 10 o'clock, and the most elegant and refined people attended those receptions, the license which admits the general public not having been extended. It was the day of a republican court, and rank, character and full dress were necessary to gain admittance.

At one of those receptions, a distinguished New York belle wore a head-dress of ostrich feathers which reached to the chandelier and took fire. The president saw her danger and hastened to her, extinguishing the burning plumes by clapping them between his hands.

The general's pet name for his wife was Patsy. That she made him happy in his domestic relations at all times is gathered from his letters and diary, in which he often alludes to his "domestic felicity."

Martha Washington was of plump figure, full of grace, sprightliness and with an aristocratic bearing that was due to generations of refined and elegant prosperity. The world withheld from her no good thing; she was of a pure and innocent mind, but if there was some haughtiness in her nature, it never degenerated into hardness, but rather added dignity to her mature years. She was never an idle woman, for when she had ceased to fulfill the arduous duties of social life she taught the colored children of Mount Vernon to sew and cut out work every day for the negroes to finish, and knitted colored stockings for everybody on the place, and for numerous friends, who received them as treasures.

Martha Washington was of Welsh descent, which accounts for that rare blending of sterling domestic qualities with the lighter and more brilliant characteristics of Virginia birth and breeding, which were, however, not incompatible with fitness for householding in every branch of which she was versed.

Mrs. Washington survived her husband two and a half years, dying in 1802. A peculiarity of her later years was a marked resemblance to Gen. Washington, which is quite apparent in some of her portraits. A partnership of forty years of such an intimate nature seemed to have developed the similarity of expression and feature which goes far to prove the theory that people closely united grow to resemble each other.

After Washington's death she destroyed her entire correspondence with him, unwilling that the confidence they had shared should ever be given to the public.

The sum of her virtuous and qualifications may be thus estimated: She was worthy to share the pilgrimage and be the life companion of as illustrious a man as George Washington.

OUR NEIGHBORS.

A man representing himself to be a special agent for the pension department is traveling through the state blackmailing pensioners. He travels on foot and goes from house to house in the rural districts.

From a little over an acre of strawberries, Charles Benjamin of Gange, has shipped 150 cases which netted him $225.

An Allegan committee is making an extra exertion to lift our country agricultural society out of debt, and as a method have concluded to hold an Allegan county harvest festival on the fair grounds August 7.

Despite the long-continued drouth peach trees in this section never looked better than they do now and the prospect for a large and excellent crop was never better.—Commercial.

A gang of thieves have been operating in and around Allegan during the past week.

Chas. E. Whitney of Plainwell has been arrested again for violation of the local-option law. This is his second offense, and if convicted he is likely to serve a couple of years in Jonia.

The only rain at Wayland is the reign of drouth, while farmers look blue, the crops are short, and the county continues "dry."

Ottawa County.

Port Sheldon.

This part was visited at 6 o'clock the other evening with a very heavy squall and a slight shower which broke the dryness of the soil. But the fires in the woods began to show their fierceness when the shower came and put a dampness on them.

Rumour says that Ed. Waiter made a contract with J. Jackson for his 8 acres of land and intends to make a farm of it. That's right Ed. get the cage before you get the bird for you cannot run a farm without some help if it is only a wife.

Mrs. Carl McKirdley who has been confined to her bed in a serious condition is in a fair way of recovery. And is getting better by last reports.

Rye has begun to ripen and the voice of the binders will be heard in these parts as soon as the young farmers recover from their jollification on the glorious Fourth.

Pickling is the order of the day at our Month, at the present time and during the holidays. Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Eble and family with Dr. Wm. Bruinsma and wife of East Olive spent the day there and had just about time to get home before the squall struck them. Don't tell everybody; they caught one fish.

NOVELTY
WOOD WORKS.
J. R. KLEYN, Proprietor. 7-tf.

In our ads, two weeks ago we told of our very superior all-steel hand and power feed cutter to be offered at $10 worth $40
Last week we told of the process of galvanizing and its indispensable preservative qualities. Next week we will give you the experience of two representative business firms of Illinois, one of whom has sold 400 and the other 500 Aermotors. The week following we will quote a price on the best pumps made hand, wind mill and irrigating lower than was ever before dreamed of; and the week following that we shall talk to you of steel galvanized tanks, with covers, at the unheard of price of 25 cents per gallon. This is cheaper than wood. They do not shrink, leak, rot, rust or give taste to water.

The Aermotor Company treats the public generously. While state legislatures are passing laws to secure repairs for farm machinery at reasonable prices, IT IS A FACT THAT THE AERMOTOR COMPANY HAS FOR THE YEAR 1905 BEEN COMPELLED TO RAISE ITS PRICES ON REPAIRS BECAUSE SOME OF ITS CUSTOMERS HAVE BEEN ORDERING INDIVIDUAL PARTS TO MAKE UP COMPLETE MACHINES SINCE IN THAT WAY THEY COULD GET A MACHINE CHEAPER THAN BY ORDERING IT ASSEMBLED. People are not compelled to buy repairs. The Aermotor Company was in this respect generous to the farmers. They could buy the repairs and change at less than the machine would cost. But not certain that they assembled in good shape, the motor company has raised the price of certain repairs in future. Not only has the price of repairs been raised, but the price of the machine has been raised. It is now ESTABLISHED IN VARIOUS PARTS OF THE COUNTRY IN ORDER GOODS EASILY ACCESSIBLE. REPAIRS WITHIN EASY REACH. It expects soon to greatly increase this a matter of the greatest importance to those who are purchasing machinery. A wise man will look to it. It can be had at reasonable cost. Our very low prices and high standards of everything connected with water supply and power production by wind, together with the accessibility of a full line of our goods and repairs, will be appreciated. St. Joseph County Crops Suffer for Want of Rain.
THREE RIVERS, July 1.—The average farmer of southwestern Michigan is deeply discouraged on account of the effect upon crops of the exceedingly dry weather and late frosts. The late frost nearly destroyed the entire mint crop, which generally is very large, and also injured the wheat. The hay crop is almost nothing and hay is worth here from $18 to $20. The wheat crop which is being harvested is very light and will average about one-half a crop. Corn, potatoes and oats are in a fair condition, and should we have summer rains will result in fair crops.
The fruit crop in St. Joseph county is fair, but much has fallen off on account of dryness. Peaches will be nearly a full crop. The rain of about 3 inches last Wednesday was the heaviest since last fall, and the total amount of precipitation since January 1, '95, in St. Joseph county has been only about 10 inches. Many wells are dry and the manufacturing establishments cannot run a full capacity on account of the lowness of the streams, which are the lowest now they have been in sixteen years.

ued at $53,150,113, as compared with $70,626,248 in 1884, a decrease of $18,476-135. In the southern counties there is a loss of $19,061,373. In the southern counties the amount paid for outdoor labor was $7,825,891, a decrease of $1-289,507, and for indoor labor $881,571, a decrease of $438,728 compared with 1888. In the southern counties the value is stated at $58,076,696, a decrease of $6,217,237.
SEAMAN JURY DISAGREES.
Detroit Physician Is to Be Given Another Trial at Once.
DETROIT, July 1.—The jury in the trial of Dr. Dennis J. Seaman, the physician who is charged with responsibility for Emily Hall's death on account of a criminal operation, came into court at 9 o'clock Saturday morning and announced a disagreement. The jury was discharged and another trial of the case will be begun this afternoon. It is understood that the jurors stood eight for conviction, four for acquittal. They were locked up for eighteen hours.
DETROIT, July 2.—When the recorder's court opened Monday afternoon Prosecuting Attorney Frazer moved that the case against Dr. J. B. Seaman, who is accused of having caused the death of Emily Hall, the English girl who died in a lying-in hospital here last February, be immediately proceeded with. Fred H. Warren, attorney for the defense, objected, saying that his associate and himself were not ready to proceed with the case. He had no good reason to offer, however, and Judge Chapin ordered that the case be proceeded with, and drawing for jurors began.
DETROIT SMALLPOX EXPENSIVE.
A Hotel Proprietor Secures Damages in a Test Case.
DETROIT, July 1.—The first of the cases against the city for damages growing out of the incompetency of the health board in the recent epidemic of smallpox was decided Saturday afternoon in favor of the plaintiff, M. S. Safford. Safford is proprietor of the Merchants' hotel, where the first case of small-pox developed. He charged that the board of health failed to give prompt attention to the case, which necessitated the hotel being placed in quarantine and the destruction of property and loss of business, and sued for damages. The jury gave a verdict for $850. Other similar suits will now be brought against the city.
Green-Goods Men GUILTY.
DETROIT, June 30.—In the United States court the jury brought in a verdict of guilty against John S. Treadwell and William Derry, the green-goods men who were captured at Hillsdale a couple of months ago, and who were charged with using the United States mails in operating a green-goods swindle. Sentence was not pronounced. Four others were discharged.
Census of the Pottawatomies.
NILES, July 2.—A census is being taken by Indian Agent J. W. Cadman of the Pottawatomie tribe of Indians who live near Dowagiac, for the purpose of establishing their individual claims to $150,000 shortly to be paid them by the government. There are 250 members of the tribe living.
Earnings of Michigan Roads.
LANSING, Mich., June 29.—The earnings of Michigan railroads for the month of April were $2,507,974, an increase of $253,382 over the same month of 1894. The total earnings from January 1 to May 1 were $8,920,191, an increase of $367,987, or 4.34 per cent. over the same period in 1894.
Minister Killed by the Cars.

of poisoning his wife and sentenced to prison for life, was granted a new trial by the Michigan supreme court.

SATURDAY, JULY 6.
At the Resorts.

PEOPLE COMING FROM ALL DIRECTIONS AND A PROSPEROUS SEASON LOOKED FOR.
No year since the resorts have been known on Macatawa Bay has the season opened up more auspiciously than this one. Heretofore it has always been the week after the Fourth of July before the rush came. This year, however, the first of July finds over 100 guests at the Hotel Macatawa with the prospect that on the beginning of next week the number will be doubled.
The people are mainly coming from Illinois, Indiana, Iowa and other southwestern states as the registers will show, while the interior towns of Michigan are contributing their share.
Early in the season all the cottages were leased for the season and in the neighborhood of 20 more have been built since spring in order to supply the demand.

The feature of this season is the new Hotel Macatawa just opened to the public on Sunday. There was no formal opening as that will be dispensed with until later in the season.
Guests came from all directions and on Monday over 25 rooms in this new and modern hostelry were occupied to say nothing of those who had apartments in the old house. The News sometime ago devoted considerable space to a description of the new house and just at this time it is not necessary to repeat it. It can be said, however, that it in every respect meets with the expectation of the summer tourists and regular patrons.
The rooms are now completely furnished, supplied with electric lights and ready for occupancy. On Sunday besides the 100 regulars there were 100 transients for dinner which is an extraordinary showing for the last Sunday in June.

While Mrs. Mary A. Ryder still retains control of the house the management this year is in the hands of Major J. A. McKee. In the office he has as his assistants George Ryder, W. S. Jackson and Peter Danforth.
William Seater will act as chef with Ed. Ogden and George Reed as assistants and Henry Koenigsburg as superintendent in the dining room.
Dan Husted is head porter and will handle the trunks with care.

Every Wednesday and Saturday afternoon and evening an orchestra will furnish music and during the remainder of the time there will be a pianist and violin accompanist on hand and all can dance to their hearts content.

The Macatawa Park company now have the electric light plant in thorough working order and the dynamo has sufficient power for all immediate exigencies. Close to 200 incandescent light will be used in the hotel and about 60 along the walks in the grove and at various other points on the grounds. This week an open air pavilion 70x30 is in the course of construction on the Lake Michigan beach extending over the water.

It will be one of the coolest places to be found on an afternoon or evening and an abundance of opportunity afforded to see the bathers. Refreshments will be served here under the direction of Fred K. Colby with the assistance of Ralph Hawley.

Judge John C. Everett of Chicago and his family occupy one of the Walsh cottages and take their meals with Mrs. Ryder. Mrs. J. E. Gould and children are with them.

Mrs. R. F. Pettibone of Chicago is renewing acquaintance with those whom she met last year at Macatawa.
She will remain during the season.

Among the recent arrivals at the Hotel Macatawa is Mrs. W. C. Armstrong, of Decatur, Ill. accompanied by her daughters Irene, Florence and Eleanor.

The far southwest is represented at the park this week by Mr. and Mrs.
B. R. Davidson, of Fayetteville, Arkansas.

Judge Tuttle has closed up his Chicago court and will recreate at the park for a month or six weeks. He occupies the Sherwood cottage.

R. M. McKee and wife both of whom were great favorites at Macata-wa last season are at home in the Calkins cottage this year.

Alex. Burden of Joliet, Ill. is having a new cottage built on "hill top" overlooking Macatawa Bay. It is one of the most attractive sites on the grounds.

The sloop yacht Margaret with Fred Avery and friends on board is anchored off Jannet Park. This is the yacht owned by the late Senator Francis B. Stockbridge.

Twenty five or more men have been at work during the past week in removing the sand from the sidewalks at Ottawa Beach and removing the ballards. Mr. John Speer is now there looking after matters and expects to have the house open for business on Monday.

A new cottage just completed for W. Davis at Jannet Landing attracts considerable attention.

Abe Ledebuer and family have moved into their cottage at the park and will remain there until the leaves drop in the fall.

The Fourth of July at Holland.

The Fourth was celebrated in a quiet and unostentatious way in Holland.
There were a few fire crackers exploded some double barreled shot guns used and now and then a sky rocket sent into the air. At the resorts there was a big crowd, estimated at 5,000 or more people. Everybody was given the right to make a demonstration of patriotism and there were a number of enthusiastic an exuberant youngsters about. Not for any season in five years has there been so many people at the resorts. They came on rail and by boat and taxed the hotel to their fullest capacity.

The main features of the days program were the yacht and launch races and the contest between the crack shots at Blue Rock birds for a prize.
The latter contest attracted much attention. In the first shoot at 10 single birds the score was as follows: Evert 2, Arleth 5, Arthur Baumgartel 5, O.
J. De Roo 3, P. Dulyea 6.

In the second contest at the same number of birds Mr. Wharton of Grand Rapids killed ten straight with A. Baumgartel and S. Arleth close seconds; seven apiece.

The next contest was at 25 single Blue Rocks which resulted as follows:
Thomas 17, D. Blom 15, Dulyea 17, Chas. Harmon 14, Wharton 23, Bender 8, Baumgartel 16, Arleth 11. Dulyea and Thomas shot off for second money and the latter came out winner.

There was then a shot at five pairs in which Wharton came out in the lead with 8, Dulyea 7 and Walton 7.
In the contest for second prize Walton scooped it in. The last shoot of the day was at ten singles in which the score stood Blom 2, Walton 8, Wharton 7, B. Van Raalte, Jr. 3, Arleth 8, Bender and Dulyea 7, Baumgartel 3, J. Skinner 10.

At a little special shoot afterward at ten birds between D. Blom and Van Raalte the latter carried off the prize with ten birds to his credit.

It was quiet a day in every way, there was no disaster and nothing happened to mar the pleasure of the occasion. Two or three accidentally had their limbs injured by canon fire crackers but so far as we can ascertain there were no injuries of a serious character.

A large cracker exploded in front of Van Oort's hardware store which broke two lights of glass and destroyed some alabastine. The department turned out promptly and there was no conflagration. Happening as it did at that hour of the night there was more or less excitement occasioned.

There was also a little fracas at the Planstiel dock, regarding the rights of the boats to land there, which was amicably adjusted.

The Fourth at Zeeland.

They celebrated the Fourth at Ze-eland. The day was ushered in by the firing of canon crackers and the town was awake early in the morning.
There was the ringing of bells and the crack of anvils. The parade in the morning was one of the features of the program. It was participated in by all the active business men. All trades were represented and there was float containing all the charming young ladies of the village, and all the states were conspicuously represented. In the afternoon there were sack and running matches, wheel barrow races, and various other sports.

The base ball talent was represented by Hudsonville and a local nine the latter came out victorious.

In the contest between the wheelmen Gerrit Veneklasen captured the prize.

There was a display of fire works in the evening which concluded the days celebration. Two Zeeland bands furnished the music and the large crowd went home well pleased with the manner in which they had been entertained.

STANDARD YARD AND POUND

Sealed in the Walls of Parliament and Opened Every Twenty Years.

The originals of our yard measure and pound weight—otherwise, the British standard weights and measures—are sealed or walled up in the sides of the house of parliament at London. The cavity in the wall in which these precious standards are preserved somewhat resembles a tomb and can be opened only by tearing away the wall.
The two articles which are therein so safely cased are both of metal. The yard measure is of bronze, in the shape of a bar, thirty-eight inches in length, thirty-six sections, or one yard, having been marked off upon it with some finely sealed instrument. The weight standard is a cube of platinum, weighing exactly sixteen ounces. Weighty as it is it is scarcely more than an inch in extent on either side, and, if sold for the metal there is in it, would bring nearly two hundred dollars.

Once every twenty years the walls inclosing these standards are torn away for the purpose of removing the two pieces of metal and comparing their length and weight with the official standards in use by the bureaus of weights and measures. These comparisons are made under the supervision of the president of the London board of trade and several other officials appointed by the different branches of the queen's government.

Extremely delicate and elaborate apparatus for making these comparisons are used, and if the units in use by the bureau referred to have been changed, or deviate the least from the standards with which they were compared twenty years before, they are immediately changed, so as to conform with the original bronze and platinum types.
The ceremony of "comparing the standards" was last made in April, 1892.
After the comparisons had been made and no variations detected, they were again walled up with the understanding that they would not be again disturbed until April, 1912.

The Women of Spain.

On Mrs. Lang's showing in the Humanitarian life of a Spanish woman must be dull enough. But of course there is everything in the point of view.
The Spanish woman evidently has neither our ambition nor our uncon-formably developed sense of tedium.
She has no aspirations for a wider horizon, she has no desire for a university education, or a parliamentary vote or a profession to render her independent.
She is perfectly satisfied with life as it is;
she has no responsibilities, money affairs being attended to by her male relatives and housekeeping being looked after by the servants; she has plenty of dancing, flirtation and intrigue, which is carried to a science and is her chief amusement in life. What more can she possibly want? would be her answer to your query as to whether her existence realized her ideal of happiness.

Queer Chinese Beliefs.

The Chinese believe that the water from melted hail-stones is poisonous and that the rain which falls on certain feast days is a sure cure for ague and malarial fever. They once believed that they could whip the Japanese, but this notion has been thrashed out of them.

HE HAD A MORRIS-ROOM.

Late John A. Morris Enjoyed Seclusion
on His Own Yacht.

"I'm only a smooth-water sailor," the late millionaire horseman, John A.
Morris, used to say. He had his yacht, the Cura, named for his wife, built for the shallow waters around New Orleans, and found it almost totally unfit for the rougher element here. His cabins were like the rooms in a house, and all its furnishings and equipments were sumptuous. It was slow and religious, says a writer in the New York Times, but was good enough to go to the races in. When in command of the deck Mr. Morris made it a rule to concede the right of way to every craft he met. "These people are working," he would say, "while I am only out for fun.

It is my business to give way to them." But, with his customary chivalries, he had another reason, which he never mentioned. "By getting out of the way of these people I make them my friends. If anything were to happen —if the Cura were to run down a vessel by any chance, these people would not make much of a fuss about it. They all know me and my boat, and never give way, because they know I shall do it." He snored like a bull. On the deck of the yacht he built a snoring room, where he could bellow and snort without disturbing his guests. The boat was stocked with the finest wines and liquors, cordials, etc., but they were for his friends. He never touched them. He was the finest carver I ever knew. He used the most wonderful knife, and never was known to miss a joint. When the Cura was at New Orleans Mr. Morris turned it over to his young friends. Every day some young lady would receive a note to the effect that the yacht was hers the next day, and as many of her friends as she cared to invite.

OLD SAMOAN WAYS.

Queer Custom of Tattooing Among the Men.

The Samoans are physically a splendidly made race of a deep bronze color; their hair is naturally black, but is converted by frequent dressings of lime, which have a bleaching effect, to a dull reddish tint; this custom obtains both with the men and the women. Their arms and chests are specially well developed from their habit of paddling long distances in their canoes from island to island; in fact, at so great distances from the mainland were these natives seen by early travelers, that this group was christened the Navigator islands. At this time, too, travelers reported that the Samoans wore fine black skeletons reaching from the waist to a short distance above the knee. This report, though without foundation in fact, was due to the custom possessed by these people of tattooing themselves after that fashion, covering about the same part of the body as would a pair of our bathing drawers.

All the men are thus tattooed on arriving at maturity, says Westminster Review, and are not allowed to take unto themselves wives before the painful process is complete. Regular professional tattooers are found among the people, and the tattooing often occupies some months, as the patient only undergoes as much as he can bear at each operation. The designs tattooed are very ancient, and the present generations are entirely ignorant of their significance. This latter fact applies also to the words of their rowing songs, which they sing in perfect harmony and in time to their oars or paddles; the words sung are now obsolete, and, like the tattooed designs, are not understood by the people.

ANECDOTE OF KING WILLIAM IV

Orders a Sentry to Let an Old Man Smoke in Peace.

The following story of a German Diogenes is perfectly authentic. When King Frederick William IV. visited the Rhine provinces in the year 1843 he made a short stay at Wesel, where he called at the house of the oldest man in his kingdom, aged one hundred years. He found him comfortably seated in an old arm-chair, smoking a pipe—his inseparable companion. On the king's arrival he rose to his feet, and stepped forward a few paces, but his majesty made him sit down again, and talked to him with the greatest freedom, the old man puffing away at his pipe all the time. When about to leave, the king asked him if he had any wish that it was in his power to gratify.

"No, thanks, your majesty, I have all I want in the world," was the reply.

"Really! Just think for a moment; we mortals have generally some particular desire or aspiration."

"Well, sir, now I come to think of it, I might have a favor to ask. My doctor insists on my taking a walk every day on the ramparts. Every time I pass the powder magazine the sentinel shouts to me from afar: 'Take the pipe out of your mouth,' and as I walk very slowly, my pipe goes out every time.
Now, if your majesty would be good enough to order the sentry to let me smoke my pipe in peace all the way, I should consider it the greatest kindness you could confer on me for the rest of my natural life."

The order was given, and the old fellow enjoyed the privilege for more than two years, and died at last with the pipe in his mouth.

ONE MAN'S SUFFERING.

The Trials and Tribulations of a Battle Creek Citizen—How He Came to Tell This Story.

(From the Battle Creek Moon.) Among the moulders at the works of the Michigan foundry company can be found Mr. Amos Maynard; he has lived in Battle Creek for over ten years, is honored and respected by all who know him; such is the man who makes this statement, he says: "I have had kidney trouble for years, and it has made my life miserable. The heavy lifting, necessary in my business, made me worse. I have been compelled to lie in bed in a helpless condition for as long as nine days at a time; the greatest pain was in my back, which sometimes felt as though a bayonet was being run through me in the region of my kidneys; many citizens of Battle Creek knew how bad I was. I could not move without the greatest caution, for as soon as I attempted to stoop over, bend to one side, or even turn in bed, the pain was simply unbearable. I wore porous plasters constantly for the little temporary relief they brought me. Whenever I caught the slightest cold it went straight to my kidneys and made me worse. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills, and got some. I have taken in all four boxes of them, and I now feel as active as ever. A few months ago I would have ridiculed the idea of being cured so quickly, and being able to work as I can now. All the long-standing pains are gone, and the former traces of kidney disorders found in my urine have disappeared. I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to many friends who were troubled as I was, and in every case, I have learned they proved as beneficial as with me. Doan's Kidney Pills would be cheap to me at almost any price."

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Preparations for the Second Annual Training Assembly.

LUDINGTON, July 1.—Arrangements are almost completed for holding at this place the second annual training assembly of the Epworth League. The institution located at Ludington was the first of the kind ever undertaken by the league, which to-day is an organization of 2,800,000 members. The prime object of the training assembly is to provide a summer school, combining intellectual and spiritual development and having special regard to the recent great movement among Christian young men and women. The programme is so arranged as to allow during a three weeks' sojourn ample opportunity for amusement and recreation on one of the prettiest beaches on Lake Michigan. Any member of the league may attend the assembly, where, in a large auditorium, is given during a three weeks' session a course of lectures and instruction touching on League, Endeavor, Bible study and Sunday-school work, conference work for young preachers, evangelistic effort, and Christian citizenship. The programme for this year includes the time from July 9 to 28. Well-known religious instructors from Chicago, Detroit, Boston, Chattanooga, and many other points will be present.

HEIR TO $225,000.

Inmate of a Prison Informed of His Luck on the Expiration of His Sentence.

IONIA, Mich., July 2.—Two years ago August Dahner was sent to the Ionia prison for two years for whipping a man who refused to pay him his wages.
Dahner served his time and was released Monday. When he stepped out of prison he was met at the door by attorneys who informed him that a fortune of $225,000 was his when he chose to claim it. It appears that Dahner's uncle was one of the original forty-niners and struck pay dirt in the Calico mining district of San Bernardino county, Cal., years ago, and had increased this wealth. When he died about eighteen months ago he had six living heirs, one of whom is Dahner.
Dahner will go back to his home and then to California to claim the fortune.
When he was sentenced to state's prison he had the sympathy of the neighborhood. Dahner is young and unmarried.

Recovered Her Daughter.

KALAMAZOO, June 29.—At the residence of Phillip Buckhout in West Oshtemo lives Meta Moore, a supposed orphan. Sunday evening a poorly-clad and tired-looking woman appeared at the house, asked for the girl and recognized her immediately as her daughter whom she had become separated from in some unaccountable manner ten years ago. The mother was supposed to have died years ago. Mrs. Moore is poor and had traveled many miles on foot in search of her child.

Rests with the Supreme Court.

LANSING, June 30.—The case of the state of Michigan vs. Bay county, involving the claim of the state for delinquent taxes aggregating about $106,- 000, has been submitted to the supreme court. An opinion is not looked for for some weeks. On the result of the case hangs the right of the state to recover from a number of other counties in which a similar state of affairs exists.

The Plot Failed.

BATTLE CREEK, June 29.—Deputy Sheriff King unearthed a plot to send Amelia Henzleman, an important witness against the alleged train wreckers here, to Germany and to capture the witness in Detroit on her way to New York, whence she was to sail for her home. She claims that she was given her transportation and $100 to leave the country.

Robbed by Tramps.

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 2.—George B.
Culp, the 13-year-old son of a Methodist clergyman at Battle Creek, Mich., was found by a policeman Sunday morning in North Buffalo. The boy ate as if he had been days without food. He had fallen in with tramps who had robbed him. The policeman wins a reward of $50 offered by the boy's father.

In Jail Again.

LANSING, July 2.—John Bodewig and George Johnson, two of the men charged with train-wrecking at Battle Creek during the railroad strike last year, are in jail here. They were rear-rested last week upon a charge of obstructing the United States mails.

The commencement number of the "Anchor" is a very creditable one. Besides an abundance of good reading matter it contains a gist of the commencement week news. Also clever half tone cuts of the faculty, graduating class and the college buildings.

Contrary to all reports Engineer Brooks is still alive. A gentleman who came from New Orleans the other day says that he and his family are still living in the craft taken from here a year or more ago. He seems happy and contented and not anxious to come back north again.

A happy fishing party struck town Monday evening. They left the City Hotel with four minnows and came back with 28 white bass. "Why I caught three at one time, three times in succession," said one of the St. Plunkard company and he showed the string to verify his statement. Many you don't believe this, but its true.

The Grand Rapids Herald reports that there is a ferry war on at the park and that the life saving crew is carrying passengers. The News correspondent has failed to discover any war. People always did go back and forth at the life saving station but no direct change is ever made as it is a violation of the rules of the service.

Frost accomplished not a little damage in this locality last Friday night. On the low lands north of the city corn and other vegetation was badly nipped and in town there was a white frost on the side walks at an early hour in the morning. The clay land south of town escaped any serious damage.

A trunk was accidentally dumped into the drink at the Chicago steamboat dock the other night. On Friday while pushing a car in on the Kline switch, engine No. 165 of the C. & W. M. in charge of engineer Tom Beemis jumped the track and ploughed through the sand for some distance taking the car with it. No one was injured. Both the engine and the car were replaced on the track the same night by the wrecking gang.

Both the West Michigan and the Ottawa Furniture factories closed down for the week beginning July 1st and the employees were given an opportunity to spend the glorious Fourth as they chose. Many of the men who have homes abroad improved the opportunity to visit them or put in the week camping, fishing and in outdoor recreation.

The steamer Obdam of the Netherlands-American line which left New York June 15th arrived at Amsterdam June 28th. This is the steamer on which G. Van Schelven, Editor of the News and Mrs. George P. Hummer of this city sailed. There many relatives and friends in this city will be pleased to learn that they reached the other side of the Atlantic in safety and on time.

In the resume of work for the past year at Clark University, Worcester, Mass., we notice that Herbert G. Keppel of Hope comes in for his share of honors. The subject of his thesis was "Curves and ruled surfaces in N dimensional space" and the Evening Gazette says: that what he had to say added something to the sum of human knowledge. Mr. Keppel has been given the degree he sought for Doctor of Philosophy and besides has some tempting offers as an instructor in mathematics at Princeton and other equally as well known colleges.

Dr. Henry Hulst of Grand Rapids came here on his bicycle on Wednesday.

Some time ago a few of the Holland legal wags who have occasion to visit the county seat occasionally drew up a petition requesting the village council to lay an 11 inch sidewalk through the alley extending from the court house to the depot. The petition received due recognition but the aldermen very liberally extended the width from 11 to 16 inches.

The Discovery Saved His Life.

Mr. G. Gaillouette, Druggist, Beaverville, Ill., says: "To Dr. King's New Discovery I owe my life. Was taken with La Grippe and tried all physicians for a miles about, but no avail and was given up and told I could not live. Having Dr King's New Discovery in my stor I sent for a bottle and began its use and from the first nose began to get better, and after using three bottles was up and about again. It is worth its weight in gold. We won't keep stor or house without it." Get a free trial at H. Walsh, Holland. A. De Kruij, Zeeland.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by all druggists, 75c.
