HOLLAND, - MICH.

Jeweler and Optician.

A Belding young man sizes up his wife's qualities as follows: "There is gladness in her gladness when she's glad—there is sadness when she's sad—but the gladness of her gladness nor the sadness of her sadness is nothing to her madness when she's mad. There is kicking in her kickness when she kicks—there is licking in her lickness when she licks—but the kicking of her kickness nor the licking of her lickness is nothing to her nixness when she's nix. There is crossing in her crossness when she's cross—there is glossing in her glossness of her gloss—but the crossness of her crossing nor the glossness of her glossing is nothing to her bossiness when she's bossy."

FRIDAY, JULY 11.

Lake and Marine.

Customs officials of Chicago have compiled a list of the passenger-carrying craft running out of Chicago, with the total number of passengers each may carry. The Lake Michigan boats are considered, and of these there are twenty-nine with a total capacity of 23,177. The biggest carrier in the fleet is the whaleback Christopher Columbus, which is licensed to carry 4,000 persons. The smallest is the tug James Hay, which may carry 50 persons in the excursion business but which as a tug carries but four. The steamers Puritan and City of Milwaukee of the Graham & Morton line and the Virginia of the Godrich line break even in the contest for second place with 2,000 each. Other commodious vessels with the numbers they may transport are: City of Chicago, 1,900; C. H. Hackley, 1,500; City of Racine, 1,100; and Indiana, 1,000.

POOR OUTLOOK FOR PEACE.

Railroad Managers Fail to Settle with Committees of Freight Men.

Chicago, July 9.—Reports from the first of the conferences between officials of the various railroads and the striking freight handlers Wednesday morning indicated that the promise of a truce in the big strike was vanishing.

Railroad officials refused to treat with committees from the freightmen's union who came to them without authority to act immediately upon conditions of agreement. The employers demanded that their conference be with committees composed exclusively of men who were employees of the roads in each case before the strike commenced.

TO SEEK POLE IN AUTO.

Capt. Bernier, of Montreal, to Use Machines of Russian Invention on Arctic Trip.

Capt. Bernier, of Montreal, head of a Canadian exploration party, will seek the north pole in a new way.

No airship or monster balloon for him. He has hit upon a new idea, and will go skipping through the arctic regions in automobiles adapted from a Russian invention.

Instead of wheels, these automobiles will be fitted with rollers adapted to ice going. Such inventions have been used with success on extensive ice packs, and Capt. Bernier will make use of this knowledge in his quest for the north pole.

The captain's plan is to anchor his vessel in the ice pack off the coast of Siberia at a point which he calculates will drift him to the nearest point attainable to the pole.

When that point has been reached he will disembark working parties, who will carry wireless telegraph outfits, with which his ship is also to be furnished. The parties will drill holes in the ice and plant poles as landmarks as they proceed and establish their first station and storehouse about 50 miles from the ship.

The road having been made as practicable as possible, the automobile sleigh will be put into commission to stock the station with supplies. In the meantime other parties will be working on toward the second 50-mile station, and so on.

There will be a second automobile in reserve for use, where two can be usefully employed, as well as dog sleighs with a team of 30 dogs.

The sleighs on which the motors are to be placed will be so constructed as to be capable of being used for navigating open stretches of water where such cannot be avoided.

In case rough ice is met with, says a New York Herald special, that presents an insurmountable obstacle to the automobiles, the machines will be disconnected, taken to pieces, and portaged, a work with which Canadians, who will form a large proportion of the exploring company, have been familiar since infancy.

ANTAGONIZE FOREIGN GOODS.

British People Loyal Turn from American or German Wares to Those of Home Production.

Frederic Emory, chief of the bureau of foreign commerce, the other day made public the following interesting extract from "Commercial Relations for 1901." Most noticeable perhaps of all prevailing trade conditions in England, says Consul S. C. McFarland, of Nottingham, is the antagonism against foreign goods which has sprung up among the British people. The British people are nothing if not loyal. There is a disinclination to purchase American or German wares, and many lines of goods are now sold without comment which one or two years ago were advertised as of American make or "American style." The Diamond Match company parades its goods under the old English name of Bryant & May; the American tobacco trust calls itself the English Tobacco company and advertises its goods as made in England by British workmen; the proprietary medicines which were first introduced as American discoveries now blot from their advertisements everything which might identify them as importations from the United States. But despite all prejudices, continues the consul, and solely because of merit and cheapness, American trade in every line continues to develop.

Philadelphia, July 5.—As has been the custom for years, the city of Philadelphia celebrated the one hundred and twenty-sixth anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence in this city by holding patriotic open air exercises in Independence square. The celebration was of unusual interest, because of the presence of Lieut. Gen. Nelson A. Miles, who delivered the oration.

New York, July 5.—Tammany Hall on Friday celebrated the one hundred and twenty-sixth anniversary of American independence. The programme differed little from that of the Fourth of July celebrations held at the Wigwam in former years.

HEAVY FLOODS IN IOWA.

Situation in the State Is the Most Serious at Any Time in Ten Years.

STREAMS OVERFLOW THEIR BANKS.

At Des Moines Two Hundred Persons Have Been Forced to Abandon Their Homes—If Levees Give Way Hundreds of Acres of Residence Property Will Be Inundated.

Des Moines, Ia., July 9.—The flood situation in Iowa is more serious than at any time in ten years. The Des Moines, Iowa, Raccoon, Cedar and Skunk rivers are from seven to fifteen above low water mark and the lowlands are submerged. Hundreds have been made homeless.

In Des Moines 200 persons have already been forced to abandon their homes and have suffered the loss of horses, cattle and hogs. Truck gardeners have suffered the loss of crops of an estimated value of $3,000. At Des Moines and elsewhere throughout the central section of the state continuous rain has fallen for 24 hours, the precipitation at Boone and Fort Dodge being reported as nearly four inches.

Rivers continue to rise rapidly and are filled with driftwood. False work on a concrete bridge has gone out here and two other bridges are in danger. A bridge across the Des Moines river near Boone is reported to have gone out. Levees in Des Moines are weakening, and if a break occurs hundreds of acres of residence property will be flooded.

From Atlantic comes the report that the west half of Exira is inundated and that Barytown is in similar condition. Onawa has experienced a rain almost amounting to a cloudburst, as a consequence of which trains can neither enter nor leave Sioux City from the south.

At Marshalltown the Iowa river has reached its highest point and numerous washouts have delayed trains on the Northwestern and Great Western.

The Des Moines river is rising two inches an hour. Many persons are being removed from their homes in small boats. Similar rescues are reported at Marshalltown and elsewhere. At noon the Des Moines river was 16½ feet above low-water mark.

Floods and Washouts.

Omaha, Neb., July 9.—The rain which began falling Tuesday evening continued up to noon Wednesday. Reports which are being received show the conditions in the flooded districts to be worse than at first reported. Morning trains were from one to five hours late into the city, and some of them had been abandoned entirely.

Terrific Storm in Illinois.

Peoria, Ill., July 9.—A terrific rain and electric storm swept over Peoria and the adjacent country.

Rain fell in floods for several hours and the damage wrought is extensive. All the railroad lines entering the city are more or less affected. The Lake Erie & Western through freight, due here at four o'clock, went through a bridge at Farmdale, six miles east of here. The engine and several freight cars are piled in the bottom of Farm creek. The engineer was fatally injured and the fireman lies buried in the mud beneath the engine. It will be several days before traffic is restored. The Toledo, Peoria & Western passenger train, due here at six o'clock Tuesday evening, struck a landslide 12 miles east of here and the engine was derailed. The damage to the timothy and oats crop is very heavy. Several inches of rainfall was recorded.

Pray for Rain.

Santa Fe, N. M., July 9.—A special mass for rain was celebrated in Agua Fria, and similar masses will be held in all the parishes of this section, as the drought is shriveling up the crops.

Cloudburst in Pennsylvania.

Easton, Pa., July 9.—A cloudburst in the upper Bushkill district of Northampton county did a vast amount of damage. Only meager details are obtainable at this time owing to washouts and the destruction of telegraph and telephone lines. Charles Abel, a farmer, who with his wife, was returning from the harvest field, was struck by lightning and killed.

Heat in the East.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 9.—The mercury is still hovering in the nineties, but thunderstorms and cooler weather are predicted for Thursday. Six deaths from the heat and ten serious prostrations have been reported since Tuesday. In nearly all the prostrations the condition of the patients is said to be serious and some are in critical shape. The mill-workers are the greatest sufferers and many have been obliged to stop work.

Six more victims of the heat were reported up to one o'clock, making 11 deaths since Tuesday. The mercury was 88 degrees at one o'clock. New York, July 9.—This was the hottest day of the year in this city. The weather bureau thermometer showed a temperature of 91 degrees at one o'clock, and there was little or no breeze. Six deaths from the heat were reported during the morning.

Guests of the King.

London, July 7.—The poor of London to the number of 500,000 were King Edward's guests Saturday afternoon. They were scattered in about 400 halls, schools and parks in varying numbers, the greater number of the royal beneficiaries being at Steyne, where no less than 45,000 enjoyed a dinner such as they seldom partake of. Motion for a new trial was overruled. Miss Morrison, who has gone through three trials, took the sentence with little show of demonstration.

Wind and Rain.

Bloomington, Ill., July 9.—A terrific wind and rainstorm struck northern McLean and Livingston counties, accompanied later by a tremendous rainfall and terrifying lightning. Reports coming in at a late hour do not tell of serious damage, except to the oats crop, which had only partially recovered from the effects of recent storms.

Over Their Banks.

Sioux City, Ia., July 9.—Much damage is being done by high water south and east of Sioux City. All the small rivers are over their banks and large tracts of low lands are under water. Traffic on the railroads through the flooded region is almost at a standstill, owing to numerous washouts.

A Damaging Storm.

Hope Church Dedicated.

Dr. Van Raalte, the stout-hearted christian gentleman who led the pioneers of '47 to this country from the Netherlands, founded here in Holland what his heart most desired—a city of churches. Sunday was the day set for the dedication of one of these churches and from all the other churches of the city people and pastors came to take part in the dedicatory exercises. The new Hope church was formally given over to the service of God, to the carrying out of His will.

The afternoon exercises were opened by an organ voluntary by Miss Amy Yates, and the choir directed by Dr. A. C. V. R. Gilmore, sang a grand anthem. Prayer was offered by Rev. J. T. Bergen, and Rev. W. C. Johnson read the scripture lesson. Then the audience arose and in unison responded to the dedicatory service and prayer led by the pastor, Rev. J. T. Bergen. Miss Grace Yates sang a solo and Dr. J. W. Beardslee, chairman of the building committee, preached the dedicatory sermon. He said in part:

"In all ages there had been a yearning of the human heart after God, and for a place where this yearning could be satisfied, 'Noah built an altar immediately after the flood. Moses, at God's command, built a tabernacle that signified divine presence; and Solomon carried the idea of a place of worship to its logical conclusion when he erected the renowned temple, set with jewels and plated with gold. From that day to this men had chosen to make more manifest the thoughts and adoration of God by erecting and dedicating to Him some of the most magnificent buildings of the world.

"Three great thoughts are applicable to every church. There must be a place where christians can worship unitedly, and this place should be made as attractive as possible. Secondly this place should be designed to its original purpose, to be the center of all helpful influences of all classes of people. Hope church should be true to its mission, being the pioneer American church, to be a typical American church. It must appeal to the people, it must develop socially and civilly as well as spiritually. It should minister to all the wants of the people. Thirdly, it must be ever true to the great gospel that points out but one way for sinful people to find rest and peace—Jesus Christ."

Rev. Adam Clarke in behalf of the M. E. church and Rev. G. H. Dublink in behalf of the Third Reformed church extended greetings and the exercises were closed by an anthem by the choir and a duet "How Sweet the Name" by Dr. A. C. V. R. Gilmore and Miss Grace Yates.

In the evening addresses were made by Dr. G. J. Kollen, of Hope college; Rev. S. Vander Werf, pastor of the First Reformed church; Dr. Garrison, pastor of the Christian church of St. Louis, Mo.; and Hon. G. J. Dickema, superintendent of the Sunday school.

Ex-Senator Suel A. Sheldon, of Berlin, the Ottawa county man who kept them all busy while a member of the state senate, has been written up as follows by the Detroit Journal:

"Ex-Senator Suel A. Sheldon, of Berlin, Ottawa county, peered over the balustrade in the lobby of the Russell for a glimpse of Senator Kelly, of Muskegon. Senator Kelly succeeded Sheldon in the state senate, and now the ambition of Sheldon is to succeed Kelly two years hence. Up in that district the custom is to pass the place from Ottawa county to Muskegon county and back again.

"Ex-Senator Sheldon is a large man who wears a Macabre badge on a red necktie. Several years ago he was an advertising solicitor on a newspaper, and he was a success at it. His ambition was to own a farm. He realized this ambition and his Ottawa county farm is said to be in an excellent state of preservation and cultivation. He owns several yearlings and other critters, and the big red barn with the weathervane on the cupola is filled with bran, oats and hay.

"I'd just like to cut loose in Detroit," said he last night. "I'd like to show some of the fellows here how we used to get ads in the old days. Why, a business man wouldn't dare refuse us an ad. If he said he couldn't afford it, we'd put it anyway, and then we'd collect when he could afford it. If he'd bust, we'd roast him."

John Wierda Drowned.

The swimming hole in Black River near the Waverly stone quarry claimed its victim Sunday afternoon when John Wierda, a young man of 20 living with his parents on a farm north of Zeeland, was drowned. Wierda was one of a party of eight who left Zeeland about 4 o'clock in the afternoon on an electric car and went to the swimming hole for a bath. He was swimming beyond his depth when without a warning cry he sank from sight. His companions were not expert divers and could render no assistance and it was an hour before his body was brought to the surface. It is thought that he was seized with cramps. The body was brought to Roosenraad's undertaking rooms in Zeeland and an inquest was held Monday morning. The jury consisting of J. Van Hooven, John Elenbaas, E. J. Prulme, J. W. Boonen, Benj. C. Van Loo and I. Ver Lee brought in a verdict of accidental drowning.

Automobiles and Barkers.

Out of the establishment of its free automobile line by the Barry Bros. two weeks ago to carry passengers from the corner of Lake street and Wabash avenue to their North Side docks has grown a competition for east shore business that promises to develop into a bitter triangular passenger rate warfare. Along with the establishment of the free automobiles came the necessity of putting a man on the proper corner to direct the traveler to the new conveyance. This speedily expanded into a regular "barker system, giving more extended information on rates and routes. As a protective measure the Goodrich Line also put a "barker" on the corners mornings and evenings and this in turn started the Graham & Morton Line's criers at work. All three lines are now talking loudly for Grand Haven and Muskegon business, the Graham & Morton Line routing their passengers partially by rail and over a longer route, the Barry and Goodrich lines contemplate retaliation by routing passengers lake and rail or all lake to Holland and contiguous territory.

Entered Into Her Rest.

Mrs. Thomas Sullivan departed from this life on Monday, June 30, 1902, after a lingering sickness of the stomach. Only those who were acquainted with her can estimate the terrible loss we suffer by her death. She had attained the age of 70 years and leaves her husband and four children to mourn her loss. She has a host of friends in this place as well as in North Muskegon, where she lived until eleven weeks ago when she was removed to her daughter's, Mrs. W. R. Stahl's residence and lived with her in order to receive the regular attendance of a physician. Mrs. Sullivan was a christian lady beloved by relatives and friends. Her memory shall live for years to come.

It was rumored around town last Saturday morning that Peter Meussen of this city was killed in a railroad accident on the Pere Marquette road near Williamsburg, but subsequent reports proved that the rumor was untrue. Mr. Meussen was, however, in great danger and saved himself by jumping. The engine he was firing was struck by the engine of the Petoskey flyer and engineer Pickett was killed. The impact in some way opened the throttle of the ruined engine, and, with the dead body of the engineer on board, the boiler and wheels shot forward and ran three and one half miles to Bates before the steam gave out.

A remarkable answer to prayer was the response to the petition of Rev. E. A. Gay, who some years ago ministered to the spiritual necessities of Southern Michigan towns. The clergyman's narrative as told by Edwy Reid, should forever silence unbelief of special dispensations. Said he: "Brethren, when I first resolved to give myself to the service of the Lord, I prayed earnestly, 'Send me to a place of barren soil, where the work is hard and the returns meager; where there is sin to combat and souls to save; where wickedness abounds and stiff-necked generations come and go, knowing not the Lord, nor caring for His mercy.' I was sent to Allegan. Brethren, I struck it rich."—G. R. Press.

From Fenville comes the following despatch: "There is a large tract of wild land lying between here and Allegan where it has been noticed that some kind of stock, especially horses, do not thrive. The animals grow emaciated when pastured on the uncultivated lands. This week an owner of one of the animals discovered that the mouth, lips and nostrils were completely filled with barbs from a species of wild oats somewhat resembling "Spanish needles." The barbs are provided with sharp beards and an arrow-like point which works into the flesh and sometimes entirely through the lips, leaving the parts sore and inflamed and making it almost impossible for the horse to graze. It is thought the same effect is had on the stomach and intestines, causing the animal to waste away and die or become entirely unfit for labor. During an investigation little arrows was taken from the mouth and lips of one victim. When the land is cultivated the weed disappears."

Tuesday's Grand Rapids Press has the following regarding Bert J. Carr, son of Francis Carr, chief train dispatcher of the Pere Marquette, formerly of this city: "Persons waiting in Union depot yesterday afternoon were treated to quite a sensation when Mrs. Bert J. Carr discovered her husband and another woman about to board the 4:30 train for Chicago. The couple had been married about a year and had lived for the past few months on Sheldon street. Carr is the son of the chief train dispatcher of the Pere Marquette road, but the woman with whom he has run away is not known to the wife, who says she had never seen her before. It appears that Mrs. Carr became suspicious of her husband's actions yesterday and followed him. She learned in some manner that he intended to leave the city and was waiting at the gate which leads into the trainshed when Carr and his companion appeared. The wife called to Carr that she wanted to speak to him and he replied 'In a minute,' as he escorted the other woman to the train. Mrs. Carr waited, but waited in vain, for the train pulled out and Carr did not come back. Mrs. Carr was heartbroken at the time and went into hysterics. Later she was assisted to the home of a friend. She says she has no faith in the world now and never wants to see her husband again. She will not attempt to get him back and denies that she will commence divorce proceedings."

They did us yesterday. Can we do them tomorrow?

HIGH WATER IN NEW YORK

Western Portion of the State Suffers Great Damage from Rain, Wind and Cloudbursts.

CREEKS AND RIVERS MADE TORRENTS.

Towns Under Water and Houses, Barns and Live Stock Swept Away—Genesee Valley Submerged—Crops Destroyed and Trees Uprooted—The Loss Will Be Immense.

Buffalo, N. Y., July 7.—A terrific rain and windstorm swept over western New York at an early hour Sunday. Rivers and creeks rose rapidly, overflowing their banks and sweeping away houses and barns and live stock. The loss will reach into hundreds of thousands of dollars. Telegraph and telephone wires are down, and communication with small towns in Wyoming, Niagara and Cattaraugus counties is difficult to establish. This city was not in the path of the storm.

One Drowned at Arcade.

A dispatch from Arcade says the flood at that place claimed one victim and did many thousands of dollars' damage to property. Minnie Loper, who kept a bakery on the bank of the creek, was drowned early in the day. The downpour and the cloudburst above the village turned the creek into a torrent. The water rose very rapidly, and was several feet deep on the lowlands before any one realized the danger. Miss Loper's bake shop was swept out into the street, but it had not gone far before it fell apart. Miss Loper's body was recovered.

Many Narrow Escapes.

There were many narrow escapes. At Yorkshire, two miles below Arcade, the approaches to the bridge were washed away, but the bridge is standing. Miles of roadway are so gullied or buried in debris that they will have to be rebuilt. At Sanbury, a few miles from Arcade, it is reported that two houses were washed away. From everywhere come reports of live stock killed. The loss to individuals will be very high, and the loss to the town from the destruction of bridges and roadbeds will also be high.

At Portage the river is a torrent a mile wide. At eight o'clock Sunday morning everyone living in the lower part of the town had to abandon their homes. The farms are laid waste, and no field crops can be saved. Houses and barns were swept down the river. The roadbed of the Pennsylvania railroad was washed out in many places.

Town of Pike Under Water.

At daybreak Sunday the town of Pike was under four feet of water. Almost every bridge over creeks in Niagara and Allegheny counties, and in the southern part of Wyoming county was washed away. It is estimated that the damage in this town and in the immediate vicinity will amount to a quarter of a million dollars. Much stock was killed.

Loss at Warsaw $100,000.

Warsaw, N. Y., July 7.—The loss from floods in this city will reach $100,000. Oatka creek, flowing through the center of the village, burst its bounds and, making a channel through the principal streets, carried devastation in its path, wrecking houses and barns, many of which were swept bodily down stream, together with an immense amount of debris brought down from the surrounding hills.

Was with Dewey.

Washington, July 9.—Samuel Boyd, who participated in the battle of Manila, where he served on the Olympia as one of Admiral Dewey's orderlies, was killed by a train at Magruder's Station, Md. He was 24 years old, and was a corporal of marines at the time of the Manila fight. His parents reside at San Francisco.

Brother and Sister Killed.

Waseca, Minn., July 8.—Adam Bishman, Jr., and his sister were killed while milking cows in the basement of a barn. The barn was torn asunder by a windstorm. Two others were buried in the debris for over two hours, but were rescued by the neighbors before they suffocated.

Well-Known Landlord Dead.

Chicago, July 5.—J. Irving Pearce, proprietor of the Sherman house for 20 years, died Friday at the age of 75. Business reverses and death of his wife were the indirect cause of his illness. He was president of the former Third national bank.

Army Officer Suicides.

Washington, July 9.—The war department is advised that Lieut. Col. Charles R. Barnett, quartermaster's department, committed suicide July 5, by jumping from a fire escape on the fourth story of a sanitarium at Battle Creek, Mich.

Aeronaut Killed.

Thirteen Killed.

STORM IN IOWA.

Southwestern Portion of the State Swept by a Tornado That Destroys Crops and Kills People.

Council Bluffs, Ia., July 7.—Southwestern Iowa was visited Saturday evening by the worst storm of the year. In several towns it amounted to a tornado and it is known that there has been a heavy loss of life. The damage to corn and unharvested small grains has been very great. In some places the rain which followed the storm amounted almost to a cloudburst. At Rockwell City the rain fell in blinding sheets for an hour and the whole country is under water. Crops were beaten into the ground and are a total loss in many cases. At Oakland, in this county, there was a deluge of water, accompanied by a heavy fall of hail, which did much damage. Other places send in similar reports of destructive storms, but in the district principally affected communication is cut off.

Whiting, Ia., July 7.—A small tornado Saturday evening demolished half a dozen buildings and seriously injured Mrs. R. W. Campbell and two members of the family of William Barber. A number of live stock were also killed. Trees were blown down in all directions and crops were badly damaged. At Anthon, a town of 1,000 inhabitants, 20 buildings were entirely demolished and it is feared loss of life has occurred.

BIG STRIKE ON.

Nearly Nine Thousand Freight Handlers in Chicago Quit Work and Paralyze Trade.

Chicago, July 8.—Nearly 9,000 freight handlers, at a signal given by members of a secret committee, stopped work and went on strike at 9:30 a. m. Monday. Officials of the Interior Freight Handlers' and Warehousemen's union say every depot in the city is tied up, and that not a pound of freight will be delivered to or taken away from the various houses until the railroad companies concede the demands of the men. The strike order came as the result of a refusal on the part of the various railroads entering Chicago to concede a wage scale contained in a schedule presented by the unions recently.

Two Drowned at Benton Harbor.

Benton Harbor, Mich., July 7.—Two men were drowned here Sunday, making a total of five lives lost here in this way in the past 24 hours. Robert Wilson, of Detroit, was drowned in the St. Joseph river in the morning while trying to swim. Sunday afternoon, Ward Kiser, aged 17, of South Bend, Ind., was seized with heart failure while bathing in Lake Michigan, and drowned before help could reach him.

Three Perish in St. Joe River.

Chicago, July 7.—Three Chicagoans, husband, wife and sister, were drowned in the treacherous sands of the St. Joe river at the Carl Tabor resort, 15 miles south of St. Joseph, Mich., Sunday. In attempting to wade across the river the sister stepped off the end of a sand bar, and the other two lost their lives in attempting her rescue. The victims were Rudolph Steffek, Mrs. Rudolph Steffek and Miss Marie Steffek.

Boat Capsizes; Three Drown.

Detroit, July 7.—Three young boys, Tony Henkel and Oscar Rosenberg, of Detroit, and a boy whose name is not known, were drowned Sunday in the middle channel at the St. Clair flats by the capsizing of a sailboat. The accident occurred about 200 feet from Savage's Hotel, where young Henkel and Rosenberg were stopping.

Wireless Telegraphy.

Washington, July 9.—The navy department has in contemplation a plan to establish a wireless telegraph station in San Francisco harbor. The department now has no adopted system of wireless communication, but expects soon to begin a series of experiments at different points throughout the country with several foreign systems.

A CYCLONE CAUSES RUIN

Cuts a Swath Ten Miles Long and Half a Mile Wide in Racine County, Wisconsin.

MAN KILLED IN HIS WRECKED HOME.

Scores of Buildings Blown Down and Much Stock Killed—Crops Are Under Water—Illinois, Indiana and Other States Suffer from Wind and Rain.

Racine, Wis., July 3.—A path ten miles long and about half a mile wide, extending from the town of Raymond on the east to Husher, in the township of Caledonia, was swept by a cyclone late yesterday afternoon. One man was killed, many persons injured, over 40 houses and barns wrecked, scores of live stock killed and hundreds of trees blown down, while the damage to crops and farm lands cannot yet be estimated. Gus Thysen was killed in his house—a frame building ten miles north of Racine, which was wrecked.

Took a Diagonal Course.

The cyclone swept through the township of Caledonia diagonally. It struck the village of Raymond at 4:30 p. m., carrying the roofs of buildings and many insecure sheds and barns with it, depositing the broken timbers and splintered boards a mile or more out of the town.

Telephone lines are down through the country and farmers are out with horses and wagons. The 40 or 60 people who are left without shelter will be cared for. It is the worst since the cyclone of 1883, which blew away the northern portion of Racine.

Crops Under Water.

Kenosha and Kenosha county was visited by a cloudburst. More than two inches of water fell in three hours. The damage to crops and to property is estimated at many thousands of dollars. Throughout the country the grain and corn is leveled or else buried under the water that is backing up from the streams. The streams are out of their banks and the low lands are completely inundated.

Severe Storm in Illinois.

Minonk, Ill., July 3.—A disastrous wind and rainstorm visited this region yesterday afternoon. A fierce whirlwind laid flat and tangled up all standing vegetation, doing thousands of dollars' worth of damage to the oat crop. The lightning was severe and killed a number of horses and cattle. One and one-half inches of water fell in the afternoon, which makes a total of almost seven inches during the last week.

Kills One in Michigan.

Detroit, Mich., July 3.—A terrific storm swept through the southwestern portion of Michigan late Wednesday afternoon and in the early evening, killing one man, injuring many and resulting in great damage to property. At Leonidas it is reported that a farmer living near there was dashed to death against a telegraph pole. Reports from Battle Creek, Marshall, Mendon, Wasepi, Kalamazoo, Dowagiac and other towns state that wires are down and crops and property have sustained great damage.

Crops Ruined by Floods.

Warsaw, Ind., July 3.—Heavy rains during the last four days have flooded this section and seriously damaged the wheat and oats crops. Many fields of almost ripened grain have been submerged. Lakes and streams have risen over four feet and are still rising on account of the heavy downpour. Tippecanoe river is higher than for 20 years.

Cyclone in West Virginia.

Cumberland, Md., July 3.—The fertile Middle Fork valley, 30 miles below Elkins, W. Va., traversed by a branch of the Tygart's Valley river for a distance of six miles, has been devastated by a cyclone, and houses, farms and forests are wiped out.

Murderers Executed.

Salisbury, N. C., July 9.—Arch Conley, an Indian, and Dick Fleming, a white man, were hanged upon the same scaffold in this city. Conley paid the death penalty for the murder of a young negro last November. Fleming was hanged for committing an assault on a white woman last February.

Died of Her Injuries.

Oberlin, O., July 7.—Mrs. D. L. Leonard, the wife of a prominent Congregationalist minister of this city, died Sunday from the effects of burns received late Saturday afternoon while starting a bonfire.

Will Be Closed Sundays.

St. Louis, July 9.—The board of directors of the Louisiana Purchase exposition has adopted a resolution that during the whole duration of the exposition the gates shall be closed to visitors on Sundays.

Famous Actress Dead.

New York, July 7.—Ada Gray, aged 52 years, the noted actress who made the play "East Lynne" famous in every corner of this country and in England, died at her home in Brooklyn, N. Y., after a long illness.

Killed by the Cars.

Des Moines, Ia., July 5.—Mrs. Robert Seney and 12-year-old daughter were killed and her son, aged nine, and guest, Mrs. P. Banty, were badly injured by a Milwaukee train which struck their carriage at Sioux City.

Made a Record.

NOTHING CAN BE SURE. IS THE TESTIMONY OF HOLLAND CITIZENS.

The stage of uncertainty is over in Holland. There can now be had plenty of positive proof in the testimony of citizens. Evidence of this nature should convince the most skeptical doubter in this vicinity. Read the following:

Mrs. B. Volmarel, No. 85 West 13th street says: "My kidneys bothered me for two years until the dull aching pains through my loins became almost constant. I easily tired and became stiff from sitting or lying in one position for any length of time and I arose in the morning feeling thoroughly unrefreshed and devoid energy. Often I could hardly stand up straight and I walked about in a stooped position. There was also a stiffness or numbness in my limbs. I had seen Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended and I got a box at J. O. Doesburg's drug store and commenced their use. The result was most gratifying, and in spite of my advanced age, I soon began to feel better. Aside from the natural stiffness of the joints in a person of my age, I feel splendid."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S. Remember the name, Doan's, and take no substitute.

FOR HANDLING FRUIT.

Packages of Several Types Popular in Various Regions.

A study of the markets in any large city, New York in particular, shows a great variety of fruit packages. The most popular and satisfactory package for strawberries is the thirty-two quart carrier, now quite universally used. Fruit properly ripened, packed and shipped under favorable conditions usually arrives in these packages in the most distant markets in first class condition.

The greatest irregularity is seen in the peach basket. The bulk of fruit from the south is packed and shipped in the six basket carrier, one of the very best and most convenient packages ever placed upon the market, particularly where fruit must be shipped long distances. Our illustration shows a package of this sort. The crate holds six baskets in two rows, with a rest or partition between. The baskets usually contain four quarts, the entire package containing about five-eighths of a bushel. The crates can be purchased "knocked down" ready to be put together. The baskets are complete and ready for use. The price for six basket carriers varies somewhat in different sections of the country. The average per 100 for carrier and baskets is about $15.

In Maryland and Delaware the five-eighth bushel Delaware basket, shown

GOOD TYPES OF FRUIT PACKAGES. 1, the popular six basket carrier; 2, bushel basket with slatted cover; 3, five-eighths Delaware; 4, one-third bushel New York basket; 5, one-fifth bushel Climax basket; 6, five-eighths Delaware splint cover. Of these the six basket carrier and Climax types are the most universally used and very popular in all local markets.

In our illustration, is quite extensively used. It is conceded by most growers that for fruit of superior quality the six basket carrier is supreme above all other packages. In New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and West Virginia the five-eighth and one-half bushel baskets are quite commonly used. For lower grades of peaches the seven-eighth bushel crate or box is very popular. Few peaches of the Blue Ridge and Alleghany mountain fruit belts are put up in smaller baskets. In Michigan and Missouri the six basket carrier is largely used for the best grades of fruit.

In the western New York peach belt the one-third bushel basket shown is very extensively used for local markets without cover. The baskets are filled rounding full and covered with tarlatan. They are very inconvenient for handling and shipping long distances. These baskets are sold in the local markets with cover for about $30 per thousand. In some sections the five-eighth bushel basket is covered with a splint oval cover, as shown in picture. The common flat slat cover is more generally used, however.—American Agriculturist.

Potato Notes.

Where late planting is practiced it is usual for potato vines to be killed by the frost in the fall. This usually happens before the tubers have matured. If the foliage is destroyed before it has performed its office, the tubers produced are not of the best quality. This is true whether the vines are destroyed by the bugs, blight or frost.

We have received many inquiries recently as to the size of the seed pieces which should be planted. We can best answer these questions by some outline drawings showing how we would cut potatoes. In the first case the potato is cut in two pieces; in the second and third, in three and four respectively. By cutting potatoes as indicated we use about ten bushels of seed per acre. Much of the success with the crop depends on starting right. With a good strong growth at the start the battle is half won. The other half of the battle may be won by proper spraying and tillage, says L. A. Clinton in Country Gentleman.

DUST SPRAYING.

Conservative View of It as Compared With the Use of Liquid.

"In the great apple growing districts of the west and southwest experiments are being made with dust as compared with liquid spraying. The dust is blown upon the trees by means of an air blast."

In view of this fact The Rural New Yorker publishes the opinions of some practical horticulturists on this practice. The secretary of the Missouri Horticultural society says:

I am slow to say much about "dust spray" because I do not yet feel sure that it is as efficient as the liquid. In fact, it has not been tested long enough to say exactly how valuable it is. Our entomologists and best informed men on fungous diseases give it as their opinion that the "dust spray" is not as efficient as the liquid. But it is applied so much more easily and quickly than the liquid that we can dust the orchard twice or three times with the same expense as one application of the liquid. We can get on the ground when it is so wet that we could not haul a load of water.

The hand dusters are easily handled, and the work can be done after a rain or mist or while the dew is on early in the morning. We often dust from 4 to 8 a. m. and give the men a half day for the work. Lime (air slaked, fresh) is the base to carry the insecticides and fungicides. I am sure also that lime is good for both these. It is a good insecticide and it is a good fungicide, and this year we shall test it alone on a forty or eighty acre orchard.

I have used the dust process, first, in a small way three years ago; second, on forty acres two years ago; last year on over 240 acres. This year we shall use it on over 400 acres. I used one pound of paris green to ten pounds of lime; shall use only half that strength this year, as well as lime alone. I used the dry bordeaux for fungicide, one pound to ten pounds of lime. I shall use this year twenty pounds lime, one pound paris green, one pound bordeaux.

We used five hand dusters and one duster to go in a spring wagon. We dusted three times and feel sure that it paid us to do so. We were compelled to use something besides liquid, because we had no water handy, and we shall continue to do so in our young orchards. While I cannot say that the dust is as valuable as the liquid, yet I think, from our experience, that we can prevent the insects and fungous diseases if we will follow it up systematically, especially on our young orchards, where these pests have not yet secured a hold. In an old orchard, badly affected with these troubles, I do not think we could check their ravages so quickly or thoroughly.

WEEDS IN PASTURE.

Don't Overgraze, and There May Be Fewer of Them.

So long as the conditions in nature surrounding the wild prairie grass remain the same they will continue to grow in about the same proportions and to about the same extent. Man, however, changes natural conditions violently. By breaking sod and putting in crops he opens places which afford room for strange plants, weeds, the seeds of which are carried thence to neighboring grazing land. Even then they will not drive out the wild grasses if the latter are left to themselves. On the contrary, if a farm is abandoned weeds may riot for a few years on the broken land, but the sod retakes the soil eventually in the prairie regions, and the weeds are crowded out.

The most common cause of weed invasion of native pastures is overpasturing, whereby the wild grasses are kept down so that they cannot compete with the weeds. The latter, being unpalatable, usually are left undisturbed by the stock. Sometimes there are introduced weeds never found on the prairie, as ironweed, snow on the mountain or milkweed, horseweed and thistle. Others are tough prairie perennials growing among the grasses, but not spreading greatly unless the latter are kept down.

Prevention of weed invasion of pastures is generally perfectly possible by grazing fewer head per acre. Compare the number of weeds in a prairie pasture with those in an adjoining piece of similar land not grazed, but kept to be mowed for hay.

What number of stock per acre can be safely grazed depends on the region. In the "short grass" country fifteen to twenty acres per head must be allowed. In central or eastern Kansas two and a half acres per head is perhaps a limit.

Every farmer can tell by observation when weeds are coming in. If so, it is a sign to reduce the number of stock per acre. No man can afford to raise stock in such numbers that they use up the capital itself (the land) by killing out the pasture grasses which make it valuable instead of consuming the interest only.—H. F. Roberts.

One Thing and Another.

The bean crop of California in 1901 is stated by the president of the San Francisco chamber of commerce to have been 54,000,000 pounds, or 900,000 bushels.

A considerable foreign demand has sprung up recently for corn oil and corn oil cake.

According to official statistics, the honey and wax industry shows little if any increase since 1899.

Wheat screenings with a small addition of corn make good sheep feed.

Plant melons and cucumbers in the open ground toward the last of May.

Protect early tomato plants when necessary with paper, cloth or hay, but they will stand a greater chill than is ordinarily believed.

IRRIGATION ITEMS.

Touching the Sugar Beet Crop, Its Quantity and Quality.

The greater part of our beet land is almost devoid of humus. It becomes hard and cloddy after irrigation. It is therefore all important that no more irrigation be done than is absolutely necessary. Further irrigation cools the soil, making it imperative to irrigate moderately during the spring months. In summer excessive irrigation reduces the quality of the beet crop, decreasing the percentage of sugar. Full irrigation, however, increases the yield per acre.

As irrigation cools the soil it must be carefully controlled while the plants are tender, otherwise the taproot may not go down in search of moisture. This will result in a scrubby beet, with many prongs and a low sugar content.

During August and the first part of September full irrigation will increase the quality of the crop and also the quantity. Late irrigation, however, is apt to produce beets of a low percentage of sugar. After the land is plowed in the fall it should be irrigated before winter sets in if water is available.

Sowing the seed with a drill and cultivating to a depth of five or six inches are the main remedies against the disadvantages of irrigation. Thorough cultivation should be kept up until it is prevented by the growing crop. In other words, cultivate until there is danger of injuring the leaves.

Our contest acre was scant in humus and therefore did not retain the moisture well. If it had not rained immediately after planting, it would have been necessary to irrigate to secure a good stand. This first irrigation, however, must be very late, so as not to cool the underground too much. Irrigation water may be applied freely during July. When the crop has reached the standard in sugar—14 per cent—it is time for the skilled beet grower to look for and secure if possible a large tonnage by increasing the amount of irrigation water to be applied, says a Utah correspondent in Orange Judd Farmer.

Flax in the Northwest.

The grain crop is seeded in May and the early part of June in Wisconsin, Minnesota, the Dakotas and the northwest generally. This year the crop will be late because of a cool April and an excess of moisture, keeping the ground cold. The flax plant can stand considerable warm, moist weather after once established on ground not infected by flax wilt.

In North Dakota farmers generally consider it a new land crop. Of late they find that by careful rotation and the putting of three or four crops of wheat and oats between flax crops the results are quite satisfactory. They all believe, however, that the productive capacity of the soil grows less and that continuous cropping for any considerable length of time is not profitable. It is for this reason that the flax producing section is always found in the states where prairie land is plentiful. In spite of this popular belief as to the heavy draft of flax on the soil Professor Harry Snyder of Minnesota shows that an average crop of flax does not remove excessive amounts of fertility from the soil—i. e., more than the other leading farm crops.

Professor Bolley, also of the North Dakota station, calls attention to the fact that weeds rapidly take possession of flax land and that wheat, oats, corn, potatoes and beets grown upon land affected by flax will do well.—Orange Judd Farmer.

MONEY IN MULES.

An Attractive Possibility For the Average Farmer.

The mule is not raised for his beauty, but is intended for hard service, and this object should be kept in view in selecting sire and dam. The blocky mules, as the trader designates them, are the most salable, whether they be fourteen, fifteen or sixteen hand mules. Some markets call for large mules, while others want the smaller ones. So they are all salable, especially if they are of the blocky type—that is, squarely built, heavy bodied animals.

The great advantage to the farmer in raising mules is in this: They are hardy, healthy, easily raised and come to maturity early. In fact, they are salable from ten days old and as long as they live. You can raise a mule as cheaply as you can a calf. The mule will be ready for market nearly as soon as your calf and will bring twice as much. In this and like counties where our farms are adapted to grass and where but little grain is grown we can finish the mule ready for market while we can only get our cattle ready for the feeder. One can readily see the advantage to the farmer in growing mules instead of cattle, especially in this part of the country.

I refer, of course, to the average farmer, who does not have a great deal of pasture lands and who finds it necessary to make his pastures as well as his feed bring the greatest possible returns. My experience is that a given amount of pasture will carry as many mules as it will sheep or cattle, and the profit is much more on the mules than it is on either the sheep or cattle. There has been more money made by farmers in this county raising mules than by handling any other class of stock, concludes a Missouri correspondent of the American Agriculturist. Young mules are bought from neighboring farmers in the fall, when they are old enough to be weaned. They are kept until ready for market.

Pruning the Peach.

In Michigan peach orchards it is a common practice of the most successful growers to cut out each spring from the center of the tree when pruning, leaving the tree more in the form of a vase than a cone.

A LONG TRIP FOR TWO CENTS.

Circuit of Over 20,000 Miles Over Which a Letter May Travel Under Our Flag.

"Now that the Danish West Indies will become an insular possession of the United States upon the completion of the diplomatic negotiations for their acquisition, and the eastern shore line of this country practically extended over 1,400 miles into the broad expanse of the tempestuous Atlantic, it will prove of interest to show the possibilities of this country as to the carriage of a letter weighing an ounce for two cents," said a gentleman familiar with postal affairs, according to the Washington Star.

"I venture to say that even an off-hand statement of these remarkable possibilities cannot be readily given. Having occasion to go into this question recently, I made a new calculation, which is approximately correct. It is based upon the island of St. Thomas, in the Danish West Indies, as an eastern starting point. Upon the completion of the negotiations American post offices will be established in the islands. We will proceed to the recently established post office at Point Barrow, Alaska, well within the arctic circle, on a parallel far above the northernmost shores of Iceland, and not so very far distant from the north pole itself. Thence we will make an aerial journey to the tropics of the South Sea, at Manila, and then home again to St. Thomas.

"From St. Thomas to New York it is 1,428 miles; to San Francisco, 3,315 miles; from San Francisco to Unalaska, 2,035 miles; from Unalaska to Nome, about 1,000 miles, and thence to Point Barrow, overland, 420 miles, or a total of 8,288 miles from our most eastern Atlantic post office to our northernmost post office amid Arctic ice. The revenue cutter which will visit Point Barrow this summer, when the ice is out of the Arctic sea sufficiently, and which will carry the supplies for the new office, will go around the western shores of Alaska, through Behring strait, and the total distance will be somewhat increased. Actual distances in this remote region cannot be stated with positiveness, but these figures are not far out of the way and are based upon official data.

"Returning southward, overland part of the way, it is approximately 1,500 miles from Point Barrow to Unalaska; thence, it is 2,016 miles to Honolulu; from this island in the sea it is 3,327 miles to Guam, and from that island 1,506 miles to Manila, or a total of 8,459 miles from our arctic post office at Point Barrow to our Southern Pacific post office of importance.

And now for the homeward leap. It is 7,941 miles from Manila to San Francisco, via Guam and Honolulu, and 4,743 miles from the Golden Gate City to St. Thomas, and the complete circuit, as here outlined, approximately 29,431 miles, which a letter might travel, under certain conditions, for two cents under the American flag."

THE FEROCIOUS MOROS.

Inspired by Superstitious Beliefs the Philippine Savages Become Utterly Fearless.

For ordinary occasions the Moro will carry a dagger or two in his belt, while, if he be of sufficient rank, especially when visiting an American officer, his arms bearer, usually some favorite youth, will carry his larger weapon, a modern umbrella for the sun, and an extra supply of lime and betel nut, says Leslie's Weekly. The racial complexity of Moro origin discovers itself in the patterns from his looms, the fashion of his garments, and, to a certain extent, in the carved ivory and silverwork of his weapons' handles. The face characteristics are perhaps mainly Malay, but in some cases there is an undoubted infusion of Hindu blood, while often there are traces of Arab, and sometimes, though less often, of Chinese. The patterns on Moro tapestries belong to the art workers of Hindustan. So does the rather light tapering pantaloons and the fashion of wearing a silver beaten betel nut box at the girdle. The Moro turban, however, conforming to the Mohammedan custom, is yet entirely distinct from the large, carefully wound puggree of India. It is rather a jaunty cap, made by the clever twisting of a gay colored cloth square, measuring not more than a yard.

Considered as a fighting race, the Moros are accredited with great ferocity, and a fearlessness, or rather a relish of death, on the battlefield, begotten of the belief that such a death is a certain passport to that peculiar Heaven which is the true believer's final home.

Warning Against Hawaii.
Comrade Will L. Eaton, 1941 S. King St., Honolulu, Hawaiian islands, writes: "I would like to see an article published in the National Tribune in regard to old soldiers coming down here where there is nothing for them to do in order to make a decent living, thus becoming a burden on the community to the injury to our post, which is small and has all it can do to take care of its own members, when the same comrades can be well cared for in soldiers' homes in America. Common laborers here must compete with Chinese and Japanese who live on about ten cents per day. Even skilled labor has to come in competition with them in many ways. It is a notorious fact, and one upon which a great many unfavorable comments have been made, that there is now being work done at the naval station here by Japanese simply because they are cheap."—National Tribune.

Guilty of Cruelty to Animals.

An interesting case is on trial in Justice Van Duren's court. William Van Tubergen and William Van der Water are answering to the charge of cruelty to animals. They hired a team of P. F. Boone Jan. 4 and shortly after let it return to the barn one of the horses died. It is alleged that it was over-driven. Prosecuting Attorney McBride represents the people and Attorney Leo DeVries and John Roost represent the respondents. B. L. Scott, F. D. Haddock, John Elferink, Jr., Jacob Haan, Jacob Elleman and M. Van Putten are on the jury.

The jury brought in a verdict of guilty in the above case and a fine of $25 and costs amounting to $12.10 was imposed on each in default of which they will have to serve a 60 day sentence. They are arranging to pay the fine.

The new uniforms for the Holland base ball club have arrived. They are white with red letters. The boys will wear them for the first time in tomorrow's game.

"It should be a punishable offense," says Mr. John F. Stowe, "to promise the public a certain return for a certain price, and not fulfill the contract—it should apply to the show business as well as any other transaction." His Monster Uncle Tom's Cabin Co. plays here under a big tent on July 19. Take the children to hear Prof. Bellinger's famous band in the noon day parade. This company should in no way be compared with the cheap production of Uncle Tom's Cabin that have visited us. Mr. Stowe has the indorsement of the clergy and conducts a strictly moral entertainment. The admission is but 15 and 25 cents. This is the first visit of Mr. Stowe's company and he hopes to make many friends upon the occasion.

BIRDS NEST IN MONUMENTS.

The Grant and Linne Statues in Lincoln Park, Chicago, Utilised in an Odd Manner.

Birds have taken advantage of sheltered positions in two Lincoln park monuments at Chicago and built nests. Three families of the feathered tribe have taken up their abode in the Gen. Grant monument, and in the Linne monument in the north end of the park birds have built their nests.

In the Grant monument the birds selected the stirrups and the cuplike nook formed by the figure in holding a field glass in its hand. In their chosen positions the birds are safe from rain and wind storms, but occasionally a small boy climbs the structure and destroys the nests. However, the ambitious sparrows are seldom discouraged. Their human enemy has no sooner finished his plundering than the birds set about to rebuild their homes.

At Linne monument the palm of the great naturalist's hand, hanging at the side of the bronze figure, shelters a pair of sparrows. The nest is snugly situated in the cup formed by the curve of the hand.

Sporting News

Three thousand people saw Greenville shut out Ionia the fourth of July. While the game was a fine one, Ionia lost through costly errors as of old. Negotiations are in progress for two more games but manager Comstock says Ionia will decline as long as Greenville persists in pitching Buckner, who is fast enough for the National league.

The Fennville and Twin City clubs played two games on the Fourth at Saugatuck the Twin City boys winning both, one by a score of 25 to 5. The fans of the Twin Cities are so elated by the recent showing of their club that they have concluded that it will be easy to put the Holland team on their list of victims. It is reported that they have been laying low looking for Holland's scalp and that they are ready to bet barrels of money when the teams meet.

Smothered Hastings. 16 to 0.

There is little to tell of the game with Hastings last Tuesday afternoon at the ball park. The visiting team excelled the Holland boys in but one respect—it weighed considerably more. But in actual playing ability the heavy fellows were bantam weights and couldn't play ball fast enough to keep warm, although the thermometer lingered around the nineties. They used two pitchers during the game but the reputation of both of them vanished into thin air, the first one going wrong in the first inning when Nell Ball knocked a $1.25 ball that dared to aspire to bearing a similar name over the S. W. ¼ of sec 11111 of the high board fence. Jake Van Putten, Jr., who used to throw left-handed ones in this city before he went to Chicago to show the Windy City players how to pitch and who is paying his parents a short visit, was in the box for Holland and backed by good support shut the visitors out. The score was 16 to 0. Umpire, "Tards" Verschure.

White Lakers Make Corrections.

The White Lake players were not satisfied with the accounts of the game with Holland appearing in several papers and a feeling of bitterness has been engendered that they will try and satisfy by blotting Holland from the map in the game to be played here in a couple of week. Here is a sample of the corrections the White Lakers are sending to the state press:

"Sporting Editor Herald: I was reading in your yesterday morning's paper that Karsten struck out 17 of the White Lake men. Well, if he struck out 17, Poppe struck out 20, and he didn't have the fastest independent team in the state behind him either. We held them down to as small a score as they have been held to this season. Give every man his just dues and hope you will please insert foregoing in your paper.

HENRY WARWICK, Manager of White Lake Baseball Team.

The Montague Observer however, is not inclined to find fault and writes as follows:

"Yesterday's game between White Lake and Holland teams proved one of the finest and most exciting base ball exhibitions ever witnessed on the local field. It was a battle royal from start to finish and our boys did themselves proud in holding the wily visitors down to nearly a tie game. The Holland team is composed of a gentlemanly lot of fellows and make a fine appearance on the diamond. In fact they got very little roasting by the girls owing to their good conduct."

Something has happened to the White Lakers since the first of the week, as they have violated all traditions of their historic town by refusing to play a game scheduled for tomorrow. They told Manager DePree that they would come. All of the advertising matter was out, bills were posted, and the fans were ready for a hot time; but a card was received yesterday stating that the White Lakers could not come as some of their men were working and could not get away. They promised to come later in the season. This backdown put Manager DePree on nettles as it meant a disappointment to about 800 fans as well as a depletion of the treasury. So he began scouring the state for another team. He landed Big Rapids but they backed out. Finally Ionia consented to come and from the fans sighs of relief went to the heavens, for if they delight in anything it is a chance to play even with Ionia for the shut-out of yesterday. The game will be called at 3 o'clock sharp. Each team has won two games and comes the rubber.

The Greenville Implement Co. club fresh from a tour of the northern part of the state where it mowed down opposing teams with the deadly precision of a Kansas cyclone has braced itself for another mighty effort and will come to Holland July 22 and 23 with the express purpose of sweeping the Holland club into Lake Michigan.

Won At Ionia.

Holland took Ionia into camp at Ionia Wednesday by a score of 4 to 3. Ball got the best of a pitcher's battle allowing but four hits while Rathbun allowed the Holland boys seven. Besides holding the Ionians down to these few scattered hits Ball fielded his position in grand style, putting Rathbun, who slipped all over the field in an effort to stop bunts, into the shade. Two of Ionia's runs were made in the seventh on an excusable error by Holland. Bunt and run was the combination used by the Holland boys to win the game.

Lost At Ionia.

Holland was shut-out at Ionia yesterday. Rathbun, ignoring the pitcher's custom of not pitching two days in succession, was again in the box and improved greatly over the showing of the day previous. He was backed up by good fielding and as Tony Vander Hill says the Holland team might have played a week without making a score. Karsten pitched a better game than Rathbun and was given good support; so good indeed that the game would have been a tie if it were not for a misunderstanding regarding a put-out on second, which allowed the Ionians to bring in the solitary run that won the game. The Ionia paper says that the game was the fastest and finest ever seen in that city. The teams will settle the question of supremacy tomorrow afternoon at three o'clock sharp at the local grounds.

The Holland club took the Garlands into camp twice on the Fourth of July. Karsten pitched for the forenoon game and backed up by good support shut out the visitors. The score was 5 to 0, Holland doing all of its scoring by a bunching of hits in the second inning. Ball was in the box for Holland in the afternoon, and although he had been sick abed for two days preceding the game he held the visitors as he liked and they were defeated by a score of 14 to 5. The Garlands were overmatched and their manifest inability to do any thing with the locals made the games tedious.

The tailors ironed up the barbers yesterday on the base ball diamond by a score of 28 to 10 and it took but five innings to do it.

Will O'Connell struck out four men in the first inning of the Fourth of July game and thereby caused a ripple of comment in base ball circles as the following from the Grand Haven Tribune will show: "Ed. E. Kraal came down all the way from Muskegon to day to find out how it was possible that O'Connell struck out four Grand Rapids men in one inning in the Fourth of July ball game here. He was instructed by the Muskegon state league manager to sign Billy at hundred per cent if it was a fact. And it was a fact. O'Connell was credited with four strike-outs in the inning referred to because one of the strike-outs was muffed by the catcher and the runner made first. The two men before him had struck out and the man after him also fanned, making four for the inning, as a pitcher is credited with a strike out even should his catcher miss the third strike."

Georgia Minstrels.

Richards and Pringle's Famous Georgia Minstrels continue to large business everywhere and it is likely to do the same in this city at the Opera house on Monday, July 28 for there is a fascination about the fun and music that will draw the people to the theater many times. The "Georgias" have reached the comfortable stage where the main thought of the management is on the frills, the public having the assurance that they like the show. The performance given by these "Sons of Ham" gained its vitality with the introduction of something new each season, and this, their 28th annual tour, a program of novelty is promised of unusual excellence. The usual parade will be given at 11:30 a. m.
