While lying at the St. Joseph dock Monday morning an emergency order was issued requesting certain members of the crew to aid in removing water buckets. As a result all the firemen, coal passers and oilers refused to honor the request and walked off the steamer.

J. M. Goodwillie, the Chicago traveling man who has twice been tried in Police court in Grand Rapids charged with assaulting a conductor of the G. R. H. & L. M. R. R. company and whose trials resulted in jury disagreements, was Tuesday morning discharged by Judge Cowan at the motion of the prosecuting attorney, who explained that the state had made every effort to convince a jury of Goodwillie's guilt and had twice failed. Mr. Mapes explained that further prosecution would savor much of persecution.

State Geological survey. The special work for this summer is the construction of a topographic map of a section from Bessemer northward to Lake Superior. Mrs. Smith and children will stay in Holland during the summer.

The Holland delegates got in early this morning. Nearly all the well known leaders from the county metropolis were with the party including Postmaster VanSchelven, ex-sheriff Bastian D. Keppel, Andrew J. Ward, Geo. E. Kollen, Charles Mc Bride and others. A Republican county convention always brings to this city some of the brightest, most intellectual and most influential men of the county, and today's was no exception.—G. H. Tribune.

DuMez Brothers entertained the clerks at their store last Friday evening. First, refreshments were served on the third floor of the Du Mez block and then all took a trolley ride to Macatawa Park where an enjoyable evening was passed. Those present were: The Misses Dena Dunnevin, Henrietta Kronmeyer, Reka Cook, Anna Dunnevin, Mamie Nauta, Henrietta Kerkhof, Theresa VanVulpen, Nellie Smith, Reka Kamferbeek, Mary Elenbaas, Mrs. Brinkman; Messrs. Klaas Prins and P. K. Prins.

Great strides have been taken by the Macatawa Park company this year in the way of improvements to this magnificent resort. A large sum of money has been expended in extending the cement walks along the beach out to the lighthouse pier. The driveway which runs parallel to the walk has also been extended to the pier. A complete sewerage system has been installed in the north portion of the park. A large two-story building has been erected on the lake front under the direction of F. K. Colby. The upper floor, which is surrounded with broad verandas, will be used for dancing. The lower floor is composed of bath houses, and it contains about 150 of these. The pavilion will be in charge of Prof. F. Bennett of Chicago and will open July 2 with a dance and reception. There are also a number of minor improvements. The park has chosen yellow and white for its colors and the Macatawa hotel, the new pavilion and many of the cottages have been freshly painted in these colors this season. All that is needed now to make the season a record-breaker is warm weather for about six weeks.

Deputy Sheriff Arie Zanting arrested John Hesener Sunday on the charge of stealing cherries and strawberries from what is known as the Filmore Bird farm at Waverly occupied by Henry Wolcott. Mr. and Mrs. R. N. DeMerrill and their nephew, Archie Johnson, were the victims of a disagreeable mishap last Monday. While automobiling on the park road near W. B. Conkeys summer home one of the automobile wheels got caught in a large hole in the approach to the small bridge that spans the shallow creek at that point, and the vehicle was capsized, throwing the occupants into the 4½ feet of water in the creek and following them over the bridge landing nearly on top of them. The automobilists were drenched but otherwise, strange to say, escaped without injury. The machine was considerably damaged, the wheels being broken, the side lights wrenched and the back part battered. Mr. DeMerrill has asked the township to settle the damages and has placed the matter in the hands of Attorney Arthur VanDuren.

With Fairbanks running for vice-president a decrease may be expected in the democratic vote in Holland and vicinity this fall, as the numerous members of the family of that name will hardly allow political affiliations to stand in the way of votes for their namesake.

J. H. Davenport & Son have completed plans for a new residence for Rev. J. T. Bergen of Holland. The house will be of brick with 12 rooms and thoroughly modern. The cost will be about $5,500. The firm is also preparing plans for the remodel of the home of Dr. Oscar Beert of Zeeland. The work includes the addition of six rooms and the cost is estimated at about $2,500.

Consternation has been struck to the hearts of the loiterers who insist on "hanging round" the church entrances. Marshal Kamferbeek and Nightwatchman Van Oort gathered four of them into the embrace of the law last Sunday night and the assessment made against each of them by Justices VanDuren and Devries Monday morning was $5 and costs. The motto of the marshal is "move on or get pulled."

For twelve exciting innings the All Stars and the Holland Juniors struggled for supremacy on the base ball diamond last Saturday afternoon. "Doc" Vandenberg, the rocket box artist from New Holland and "Legs" Vandenberg did star stunts in the points for the All stars and Becker and Fik did like service for the Juniors. DeFeyer was the hero of the batting list. Score: 6 to 4. Tomorrow afternoon the two teams will again lock horns and both sides are prophesying easy defeat of the opposition.

All passenger steamers plying between Chicago and the ports of Holland, Grand Haven and Muskegon have just been inspected by officers of the marine department of the Chicago custom house. The hulls and boilers of these vessels, like those of freighters, are inspected annually by officials of the United States steamboat inspection department, but since the Slocum disaster extra precautions have been taken and a most rigid search for irregularities has been made. On all of the steamers inspected, life preservers, crafts, small boats and fire hose have been found in proper number and condition. The authorities are insisting that a fire drill be carried out by the crews of all steamers at least once a week. All of which insures safety to those who take the all-water route from Holland to Chicago on the Graham & Morton line.

CAPTURE THREE OF OUTER FORTS

JAPANESE DRIVE RUSSIANS FROM PART OF PORT ARTHUR DEFENSES.

HEAVY FIGHTING MAY BE NOW IN PROGRESS

St. Petersburg Anxiously Awaiting News from Seat of War—Another Russian Disaster Rumored—Advance of Mikado's Troops.

Tokio, June 29.—It is unofficially reported that the Chikwanshan, Chitanshan and Sochoshan forts, southeast of and part of the Port Arthur defenses, were captured on Sunday after an all-day fight, beginning with an artillery duel. Sochoshan, it is added, was first captured and the other forts fell soon afterwards. The Russians retreated west, leaving 40 dead. The number of wounded had not been ascertained. The Japanese force consisted of all branches of the service. The Japanese lost three officers and a hundred men killed or wounded and captured two guns and a quantity of ammunition. The officials here do not confirm the report.

Marquis Oyama, the commander in chief of the Japanese forces in Manchuria, and Lieut. Gen. Kodama, his chief of staff, start for the front July 6. Their exact destination is withheld.

Declare Battle Is Certain.

St. Petersburg, June 29.—The whole city is awaiting with breathless interest news from the opposing armies in southern Manchuria, grappled in the decisive battle of the campaign. But those fully appreciating the almost impassable country through which the Japanese columns are advancing, and the difficulty of moving large bodies of troops into position, hardly expect the battle to begin in earnest inside of several days, although admitting that heavy fighting between the advance forces may now be in progress. The papers, with the exception of the army organ and the Novoye Vremya, are unanimously of the opinion that a pitched battle is now certain.

Another Russian Disaster.

St. Petersburg, June 29.—A report has just reached here that the Russian ironclad Netron Menia rammed the Russian battleship Navarin at Cronstadt Wednesday afternoon. The circumstances and the extent of the damage have not yet been ascertained. The Navarin is a battleship of 10,200 tons displacement and 9,000 indicated horse power, and carries a crew of 630 men. She was completed in 1895 and was last commissioned on Saturday. The warship has a belt of compound armor 16 inches thick, 12 inches of the same armor above her belt, 12 inches on her bulkheads and 12 inches over her heavy gun positions. Her armament consists of four 12-inch guns, eight six-inch guns, 14 quick-firers and four smaller guns. The Netron Menia is a coast defense ironclad of 3,340 tons displacement. She is an old vessel, having been completed in 1865, but was supplied with new boilers in 1897. The armament of the Netron Menia consists of 14 six-inch guns and probably a few smaller quick-firing guns. Her armored belt is 3.5 to 4.5 inches in thickness and she has the same thickness of armor over her battery.

Japs Continue Advance.

Haicheng, June 29.—The Japanese are continuing to advance from Siu-yen and Fengwangcheng. Gen. Oku is also moving north from Senuchen. Gen. Samsonoff is contesting his progress, but is not offering serious resistance. The Japanese force advancing from the Motien pass is composed of at least three regiments and ten batteries of artillery. A force of equal strength is advancing from Fenshui pass on the high road to Liaoyang. The flank move on the latter is supported by a column marching from Saimatsza.

It would appear that confusion has arisen from the use of the words "Motien pass" in Gen. Kuropatkin's dispatch of June 27. The Motien pass, known as the "Gate of Mukden," is easily located, but troops would not be likely to advance from there on Haicheng or Tatshekiao, as they would have to move nearly 100 miles southwest after getting through the pass. On the other hand, there is a Motien pass nearly east of Haicheng and about 40 miles from that town. It is possible that Motien pass has been meant when Motien pass was mentioned. It also seems probable that the reference to Ta pass in Gen. Kuropatkin's dispatch meant "Dalin pass," or "Daling," otherwise Da pass, which is about 25 miles southwest of Tatshekiao.

It was announced from Haicheng Tuesday night that a heavy engagement was expected Wednesday near the village of Simoucheng, 15 miles south-southeast of Haicheng and an equal distance due east of the railroad. Simoucheng is about 30 miles from Motien pass.

Noted Burglar Captured.

Chicago, June 29.—In a running fight with policemen early Wednesday morning a man believed to be Thomas Barry, the notorious safe-blower, was shot. He is dying at the Englewood Union hospital. Although the wounded man gave his name as Collins when he was being operated on at the hospital, the name Tom Barry was found on his underwear.

SCENE OF ACTIVITY IN THE RUSSIAN-JAPANESE WAR.

The lighter rectangular figures indicate the approximate position of the Russians. Those in black show general location of the Japanese. The curved line with arrow marks the direction in which the latter are reported to be attempting a movement around and behind Kuropatkin's army to cut off his connection with his base at Mukden. The star indicates position of Tatshekiao, which may be center of great battle.

PROHIBITIONISTS BEGIN CONVENTION

CHAIRMAN STEWART CALLS NATIONAL GATHERING TO ORDER AT INDIANAPOLIS.

TEMPORARY CHAIRMAN CASTLE MAKES SPEECH

Attacks Both Republican and Democratic Parties—A. G. Wolfenberger, of Nebraska, Selected for Permanent Chairman.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 29.—The tenth national prohibition convention opened Wednesday in Tomlinson hall, with 4,000 delegates, alternates and visitors present. The hall was decorated with the national colors, many large flags being used. Over the platform hung the pictures of Abraham Lincoln, Clinton B. Fiske and Frances Willard. Around the hall, suspended from the galleries, were pictures of Hale Johnson, Samuel B. Pearson, sheriff of Cumberland county, Maine, who gained a high place in the estimation of prohibitionists by his vigorous enforcement of the law.

The convention was called to order by National Chairman Oliver W. Stewart, of Chicago, in introducing Rev. George H. Peake, of Sandusky, O., who made the opening prayer.

Miles' Name Cheered.

Chairman Stewart introduced W. S. Doan, of Indianapolis, who welcomed the delegates on behalf of the prohibitionists of the city and state. When he mentioned the name of Gen. Miles there was a burst of applause. When he concluded a Delaware delegate moved three cheers for W. S. Doan, "the next vice president of the United States," which were given.

National Chairman Stewart made a brief reply. He said the convention just assembled was the only one that had a real issue to present to the American people.

Speech of Stewart.

Mr. Stewart introduced Homer L. Castle, of Pittsburg, temporary chairman of the convention. Mr. Castle denounced the republican and democratic parties for their toleration of polygamy in the west. He also spoke of the trust question and denounced the liquor evil. "There is but one party left," he said, "with the absolute monarchy existing to-day in the republican party expressed in its imperialism, militarism and commercialism on the one hand, and democracy, with its absolute anarchy, want of consecutive thought on any subject, upon the other hand, there was never a clearer call for a party who can stand before the American people, sure of the needs of our great land, positive of its position on public questions and fearless in its espousal of the cause of right."

When Mr. Castle, after his denunciation of the democratic party, shouted: "Nor will we wait to see what they will do," there was a tremendous burst of applause, which broke out several times.

An invitation to the St. Louis exposition was read by W. M. Godwin, a Missouri delegate, signed by President David R. Francis.

The committee on permanent organization held a brief meeting and selected A. G. Wolfenberger, of Lincoln, Neb., for permanent chairman and W. G. Coldenwood, of Minneapolis, for permanent secretary.

The resolutions committee organized by electing Joseph P. Tracy, of Illinois, chairman, and I. H. Amos, of Oregon, secretary. A subcommittee of 13 was appointed to consider all proposed planks and make an initial draft of the platform.

LYNCHING IS ATTEMPTED

A MICHIGAN MOB TRIES TO AVENGE AWFUL CRIME.

Crowd Makes Demonstration Before Jail at South Haven, But Prisoner Is Spirited Away.

South Haven, Mich., June 29.—An attempt has been made to lynch Charles L. Allison, a well-known citizen and Sunday school worker, who was arrested Tuesday on the charge of criminally assaulting four-year-old Edith Secor. When arrested Allison was taken to the city hall, where he was placed under guard of six men, heavily armed. A crowd surrounded the building and several demonstrations were made, but the doors of the building were locked and they could not get in.

The demonstration continued during the evening, and early Wednesday 50 citizens went to the door, demanding admittance. They shouted that they were prepared to break down the door and lynch the prisoner. The officers on guard telephoned for help. A posse which the sheriff had sworn in during the afternoon arrived soon after and a fierce fight ensued in front of the city hall, and it was over an hour before the men were driven away. Many were severely injured, but it is not thought there were any fatalities. The prisoner was spirited away through a basement door and taken to Paw Paw.

DEPORTATIONS CONTINUE.

Colony of Cripple Creek Exiles at Denver Now Numbers Over Two Hundred.

Denver, Col., June 29.—Thirty-nine men who were deported from Cripple Creek Tuesday night under military escort arrived in this city Wednesday, joining the colony of exiles already established here. This colony numbers over 200 men, and they have organized a local union affiliated with the Western Federation of Miners.

It was Gen. Bell's intention to debark the 39 men Tuesday night at Colorado Springs, but as the authorities of that city strongly protested, the train was forwarded to Denver.

Up to date 133 men have been forcibly deported from Cripple Creek district by the military. In addition hundreds fled to avoid arrest and incarceration. About 60 union miners, against whom, it is said, criminal charges will be filed, are still in the custody of the military at Cripple Creek and Victor.

Tornado in Nebraska.

Beatrice, Neb., June 29.—A small tornado struck Beatrice late Tuesday afternoon, wrecking a number of buildings and doing a great amount of other damage. The same storm struck Holmesville, seven miles southeast of here, wrecking many buildings and killing a Mrs. Harris and her son. Several other members of her family were injured.

Convention of Y. P. C. U.

St. Joseph, Mo., June 29.—The fifteenth annual national convention of the Young People's Christian Union of the United Presbyterian church opened here Wednesday and will adjourn Sunday. The attendance will reach 2,000. Rev. R. M. Little, of Chicago, president of the convention, called the meeting to order.

Gunboat Launched.

Manila, June 29.—The gunboat Woodruff, the first war vessel built by the army under the direction of the quartermaster's department, was launched here Wednesday. The vessel, which is named after Lieut. Woodruff, who was killed by Moros, will be used by Gen. Wood in the rivers of Mindanao, during his campaign in that island.

It Is a Mistaken Idea

To give too much time to the selection of a Piano; this time could better be spent in selecting a dealer. It should not be hard to size him up by the very appearance of things; for instance, if he be disposed to depreciate his competitor, its pretty strong evidence he hasn't much to offer for himself. One may well have reason to be suspicious of a dealer who promises very much more than is provided by other dealers in a like business. Select the dealer right and the good plan follows. Look up or work. Ask any of our customers how they like the Raymond. They all agree its the finest instrument they ever saw. We can suit you in price and style. $300 to $425.

CHOSEN TO LEAD BY REPUBLICANS

NATIONAL CONVENTION NOMINATES THEODORE ROOSEVELT FOR PRESIDENT

Senator Charles Warren Fairbanks, of Indiana, Named for Second Place on the Ticket—The Platform—Synopsis of Proceedings.

Chicago, June 24.—Theodore Roosevelt was placed in nomination for president of the United States in the republican national convention Wednesday by former Gov. Frank S. Black, of New York. When at 11:05 the orator named the candidate "Theodore Roosevelt" one of the most remarkable demonstrations ever seen in a national convention began. A roar from 10,000 throats filled the hall. Cheers, songs, whistling, megaphone discord and hand music broke forth when Mr. Black finished his nominating speech and placed Roosevelt's name before the convention. A short time later a similar demonstration occurred when Senator Fairbanks, of Indiana, was named by acclamation for the second place on the ticket.

Hon. Joseph G. Cannon, of Illinois, speaker of the house of representatives, was the permanent chairman of the convention.

The report of the committee on credentials interested the convention only so far as it dealt with the Wisconsin situation. Senator McComas, of Maryland, chairman of the committee, read a report of the investigation of the contest. The report, which was adopted, closed with a declaration that the "stalwart" faction, led by Senators Spooner and Quarles, Representatives Babcock and Judge Emil Baensch, the four delegates-at-large, is the regular republican party in Wisconsin. This national endorsement of the faction headed by the two United States senators from that state evoked prolonged applause.

The Platform.

Following is a synopsis of the platform:

The platform declares it to be the duty of the party to uphold the gold standard and the integrity and value of our national currency; favors legislation which will encourage and build up the American merchant marine; says a navy powerful enough to defend the United States against any attack, to uphold the Monroe doctrine, and to watch over our commerce is essential to the welfare and safety of the American people; promises a continuance of the republican policy with reference to the exclusion of Chinese labor; declares that the civil service law shall be thoroughly and honestly enforced; favors ample pensions for soldiers and sailors, and liberal administration of pension laws; favors international arbitration; pledges the party to insist upon just and equal protection to American citizens in foreign lands; commends the "open door" policy in the orient; eulogizes the late President McKinley and expresses deep sorrow at his death; commends in strong terms the administration of President Roosevelt. On the question of race discrimination the platform says: "We favor such congressional action as shall determine whether by special discrimination the elective franchise in any state has been unconstitutionally limited, and, if such is the case, we demand that representation in congress and in the electoral college shall be proportionately reduced as directed by the constitution of the United States. The platform says: "Combinations of capital and labor are the results of the economic movement of the age, but neither must be permitted to infringe upon the rights and interests of the people. Such combinations when lawfully formed for lawful purposes are alike entitled to the protection of the law, but both are subject to the laws and neither can be permitted to break them."

The tariff plank is as follows: "Protection which guards and develops our industries is a cardinal policy of the republican party. The measure of protection should always at least equal the difference in the cost of production at home and abroad. We insist upon the maintenance of the principles of protection, and therefore rates of duty should be readjusted only when conditions have so changed that the public interest demands their alteration, but this work cannot safely be committed to any other hands than those of the republican party. We have extended widely our foreign markets, and we believe in the adoption of all practicable methods for their further extension, including commercial reciprocity wherever reciprocal arrangements can be effected consistent with the principles of protection and without injury to American agriculture, American labor or any American industry."

JURY RETURNS A VERDICT.

Steamship Company and Employees Held Responsible for Slocum Disaster.

New York, June 29.—The inquiry conducted by Coroner Berry and a jury into the General Slocum disaster was concluded Tuesday, and after nearly four hours' deliberation a verdict was rendered in which the directors of the Knickerbocker Steamboat company, the captain of the Slocum, Capt. Pease, the commodore of the company's fleet, and others were held criminally responsible. Warrants for their arrest were issued. The mate of the Slocum, according to the jury, acted in a cowardly manner and the misconduct of Steamboat Inspector Lundberg, it is recommended, should be brought to the attention of the federal authorities.

The charge in each case was manslaughter in the second degree. Bail was fixed by the coroner in amounts varying from $1,000 to $5,000.

The directors of the company are: Frank A. Barnaby, president; Charles E. Hill, vice president; James K. Atkinson, secretary, and C. DeLacey Evans, Robert K. Story, Floyd S. Corbin and Frank G. Dexter.

CAR STRIKES AUTO.

Terrible Accident in Suburb of Chicago—Man and Wife Are Killed.

Chicago, June 27.—An automobile outing terminated in instant death Sunday morning for Mr. and Mrs. George E. Dixon, well known residents of La Grange and leading members of the Episcopal church of that suburb. They were killed in Austin avenue, in Austin, when their automobile collided with an electric car on the Aurora, Elgin & Chicago railroad. Immediately following the collision the gasoline tank of the automobile exploded, and the flaming fluids saturated the clothing of the two victims. Before the fire could be extinguished both bodies were burned almost beyond recognition. As a dramatic climax to the double tragedy, the brakes of the electric car became unmanageable and the car, crowded with horror-stricken and fear-bemused passengers, ran wild of its own momentum for almost a mile.

HANGED BY A MOB.

Alleged Assaulter of Woman Is Lynched in Mississippi—Victim Places Rope Around Neck.

Eupora, Miss., June 27.—Staring Dunham, a negro wanted on the charge of criminally assaulting the 14-year-old daughter of John Wilson, a white man, near Bellefontaine, two weeks ago, and attempting to criminally assault three young ladies named Dunn near this city, all during the course of the same day, was hanged in the public square here Sunday by a mob. The noose was placed about the negro's neck by the little Wilson girl, who positively identified him as her assailant. The negro was then placed upon the back of a black horse and, at a signal from the leader of the mob, the little Wilson girl led the horse from under him. Over 3,000 persons, white and black, witnessed the hanging.

He was sentenced to pay a fine of $300 or serve six months' imprisonment.

Diseases Caused by Measles.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Tonic and Nervine Cured After Thirty-one Years.

"I was a perfectly healthy young man up to February 1865. When my regiment was in Camp Randall I was taken sick with the measles and I did not enjoy good health up to the time I used Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and Tonic in 1896. Doctors have told me it came from inactivity of the liver. I cannot say how many physicians did treat me but have had all kinds. Dieting has never helped me. Biliousness, attacks of headache, rheumatism, nasal catarrh, hay fever, asthma, and chronic diarrhoea; have all taken their turn with me. Thanks to the Nervine and Tonic I am completely restored to health. I have also used Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills with good results and I think that the Dr. Miles Remedies are perfect."—Rev. Hiram Bender, Sparta, Wis.

"I want to say a few good words for Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. I have been troubled very much with insomnia since I made the change to the new paper and on account of this have tried various remedies without relief. I was finally induced by a wholesale druggist, a personal friend of mine, to try Nervine. I can assure you it has done me a lot of good. I do not find it necessary to use it regularly now but occasionally when I find that I am excessively nervous and restless I again take it up as I always keep a supply on hand. It has never failed to give me the desired relief."—A. Hugin, Publisher "Daily Free-Press" Milwaukee, Wis.

The counties will be entitled to representation in said convention, as follows:

Ottawa County, seventeen delegates.
Muskegon County, seventeen delegates.
Dated, Grand Haven, Michigan, June 27th, 1904.

By order of Senatorial Committee.
FRED A. HUTTY, Chairman.

Will the Spring Be Made

You have seen, probably, if not you may have read of the attitude of the tiger as he is about to spring. He is in a waiting humor then—waiting for developments that will warrant him in leaving the safety of his abiding place for the uncertainty of the onslaught. If the right conditions arise, the spring will be made.

Thus it is with this country every four years. During presidential campaigns the industries are in a waiting attitude—waiting for developments. The business men are afraid to furnish the impetus that will lead to the spring into business activity. Therefore, as, while they are waiting, the commercial and industrial conditions are merely breathing to keep in life, instead of actively crowding onward, times are dull. A spring into activity is the only thing that will cause a change from dullness to sharpness, from depression to liveliness, from business death to business life. Will the spring be made? It will if Roosevelt and Fairbanks are elected. So the commercial leaders seem to think. Why then should not your vote help elect these men?

But there is a difference between the tiger and the country. When the tiger springs, havoc generally follows. When the country springs into commercial activity prosperity follows: Let it spring.

Warner For Governor

Fred M. Warner was all there was to it for the governorship nomination at the Republican convention in Detroit yesterday. When the roll call was being made he showed such strength before the end of the call of counties was reached that Hon. G. B. Horton, one of the other candidates arose and made a motion that Warner be the unanimous choice of the convention. Quick as a flash Congressman William Alden Smith, who had just finished a hopeless but strong fight for primary reform, seconded the motion of Mr. Horton in behalf of Kent, and Gen. Duffield seconded it in behalf of Wayne. It was strictly Warner's big day and the enthusiasm that greeted the announcement of his success was a premonition of the rousing campaign that will be put up in his behalf—a campaign that will certainly mean a brilliant victory for the entire Republican ticket. Following was the ticket nominated:

For Governor—
Fred M. Warner of Farmington.
For Lieutenant Governor—
Alexander Maitland, of [Negaunee].
For State Treasurer—
Frank P. Glazier of Chelsea.
Secretary of State—
George A. Prescott of Tawas City.
Auditor General—
Dr. J. B. Bradley of Eaton Rapids.
Attorney General—
Charles A. Blair of Jackson.
Superintendent of Public Instruction—
P. H. Kelly of Detroit.
Member of State board of Education—
L. L. Wright of Ironwood
Land Commissioner—
W. H. Rose of Clinton County.

The Fifth district caucus was presided over by Gen. W. Green of Ionia, with Frank A. Rodgers of Grand Rapids as secretary. The honors were passed out as follows: Vice president of convention, Benjamin A. Mulder of Holland; Member of committee on resolutions, William Alden Smith of Grand Rapids; members of committee on credentials, B. F. Hall of Belding; member of committee on organization, Dr. C. M. Sinclair of Grand Rapids.

Regarding the probability that Justus S. Stearns would bolt the ticket, it can be stated authoritatively that Mr. Stearns will not do so. In the course of a conversation with B. A. Mulder of the News last evening he said: "Well I guess I am the only defeated candidate that never gets sore." This sentence is but a sample of others equally emphatic and all indicating a resolution to stand by the ticket. Nothing different should be expected from Mr. Stearns as he is too good a republican and too sensible a man to join the ranks of the bolters.

P. H. McBride, G. J. Diekema, D. B. K. Van Raalte, B. A. Mulder and N. J. Whelan of the Holland contingent arrived home from the convention last night and E. P. Stephan, delegate at large, arrived this morning.

Republican County Convention.

The Republican county convention held at Grand Haven Monday was a harmonious and enthusiastic gathering, with just enough spice and ginger to make it interesting. There were no hard contests over the selection of delegates to the state nominating convention at Detroit and the judicial convention at Saginaw; but when the nominations were being made for the Detroit convention the friends of Warner saw to it that the right men were selected. There was a little clash between the first and second district for the honor of delegate at large, the first district standing for E. P. Stephan and the second for Colon C. Lillie. Both are avowed Warner men. Stephan had the votes and won.

The feature of the convention was the contest for state senator between Robert Alward and Suel A. Sheldon, Mr. Sheldon winning by the decisive vote of 145 to 62.

Hon. G. J. Diekema was chairman of the convention and opened the proceeding with a rousing speech. His recital of the excellent record of the party and his allusions to Roosevelt and Fairbanks were liberally applauded. Jacob Glerum, city clerk of Grand Haven was secretary and A. Lahuis and L. P. Ernst were tellers.

Chairman Diekema appointed the following committees: Credentials, W. I. Lillie, A. Stephan, Suel A. Sheldon; permanent organization and order of business, Arthur Van Duren, F. A. Hutter, L. P. Ernst; resolutions, M. A. Sooy, H. F. Harbeck and Leon Park.

A motion by Geo. E. Kollen to appoint a committee to select the delegates was lost and the old way of choosing them by application in open convention was taken up.

The Ottawa county delegation to the state convention at Detroit, June 30, was made up as follows: Delegate at large, E. P. Stephan of Holland. First district, E. P. Kirby, J. F. Corl, W. I. Lillie, Grand Haven; D. B. K. Van Raalte, P. H. McBride, Benjamin Mulder, Holland; John B. Pruim, Spring Lake; John Owens, Olive. Second district, C. C. Lillie, Tallmadge; Millard Durham, Coopersville; Suel A. Sheldon, Wright; Charles M. Moore, Polkton; Philo Chappell, Wright; Edwin Brown, Crookery; A. Lahuis, Zeeland.

Colon C. Lillie was selected as delegate at large for the judicial convention at Saginaw on September 7. First district is as follows: N. J. Whelan, Arthur Van Duren, George Kollen, Charles McBride, L. Y. DeVries, Holland; George W. McBride, Dan F. Pagelsen, Grand Haven. Second district, M. A. Sooy, Zeeland; Lucas Slaughter Wright; L. P. Ernst Coopersville; Leon Park, Georgetown. W. I. Lillie, Grand Haven; J. A. Garfield, Jamestown; G. J. Diekema Holland; Joy Heck, Zeeland.

Upon motion of Mr. C. C. Lillie of Coopersville, a vote was taken to determine the choice of convention for state senator. The vote showed the following result: Sheldon 145, Alward, 62, Lugers 1. Mr. Sheldon was then requested to appoint a committee of three to select delegates to the senatorial convention. Mr. Sheldon's choice resulted in selection as follows: D. B. K. Van Raalte, G. J. Diekema, John Owens, Jacob Glerum Herman F. Harbeck, John Corl, C. C. Lillie, C. E. Kelly, Harry Doesberg, Henry B. Shuster, Charles Bean, R. L. Johnson, Fremont Brown, M. C. Durham, N. Whelan, W. H. Beach.

The following set of resolutions were read and adopted by the convention without a dissenting vote.

Resolved by the delegates of Ottawa Co. in convention assembled, That we hereby ratify the action of the National Republican Convention at Chicago in the nomination of President Roosevelt to succeed himself as President of the U. S. and Senator Fairbanks as vice president, that we confirm their action in the adoption of the platform and adopt it as our rule and guide in the coming campaign.

The startling news has been flashed through the country that for the first time in generations, Chicago politicians have allowed a good thing to get away. The men who did it are Robert B. Jones and Daniel Cormody shining political lights of the nineteenth ward. While fishing in Macatawa Bay this week they hooked a turtle as big as an Idelwies dishpan; but scarce had they exchanged looks of exalted elation, when Mr. Turtle snapped the hook and camly slid from sight leaving the Chicago statesmen, for once, speechless. The gentlemen are guests of P. T. Mc Carthy at Virginia Park hotel.

Old friends and readers of the Holland City News: I thought I would drop a few lines as I hear so many people reads and looks for a letter in the News from me. Well since the arrival of a boy, my wife has been pretty sick but I am glad to say she is recovering. All the rest of us are well and doing fine. It is a little quiet here but lots of people are coming in looking for Claims. I have located A. DeGroot, Howe, Gramen and Johnson all from Sugar factory at Loveland, formerly from Holland. Mr. DeGroot was so well pleased with the land I showed that he filed next morning on it. It is 20 miles out right in hard coal country and no better land in the U. S. I also located Fred Nash of Holland, so he will be a ranch man from now on. It took the boys 15 days to drive over the mountains it being too early to cross the bank after they were 36 miles from Steamboat. It took them 6 days to go around. I just received a letter from Abe Any and I am glad to hear how all my old neighbors are getting along. Lots of deer, and there has been lots of Bear killed this spring. Close with best wishes to all.

Citizens Protest Against Removal of City Offices

Mrs. D. Van Houten, of 287 West 13th St., says: "I had constant heavy aching pains through the joints, in the muscles of my exertion and if I stooped or lifted anything heavy sharp twinges caught me in the region of my kidneys. I could not rest comfortably in any position and when I first got up mornings I felt as tired and worn out as I was the night previous. I tried a great many remedies but if any of them benefited me it was very temporary. I was advised to use Doan's Kidney Pills and went to J. O. Doesburg's drug store and got a box. I did not take them before I noticed an improvement which steadily continued until I was in good health."

FRUIT AND FLOWERS

BIRDS AND INSECTS.

A Presentation of the Fruit Grower's Case Against the Birds.

We have actually listed 8,500 species of insects from New Jersey, and at least 500 more will be found, but of these less than 10 per cent are in any way injurious to the agriculturist. Of the injurious species none of our scales is food subject for birds, and few of our injurious plant lice.

Now, a bird is not beneficial to the agriculturist merely because it eats insects—in fact, its habits may be such that it is really injurious. To be of direct benefit to the fruit grower a bird must feed upon insects that cause him injury. An excellent example of this type is the American cuckoo, which feeds by preference upon tent caterpillars, fall webworms and other hairy larvae. This bird is not a fruit eater at any time; hence its benefits are positive, and it deserves every possible encouragement.

Many insectivorous birds are indiscriminate feeders. They take anything that comes in their way, and some of them eat more beneficial and harmless species than those that are harmful. In fact, this must be so if we consider the small number of really injurious forms in proportion to the whole number.

As a matter of actual fact, is the grower of tree fruits actually beholden to birds in any way and could he not do entirely without them?

Not a bird tackles the San Jose or pernicious scale or any of the other fruit scales. I know of none that eats apple lice, peach or other root lice or grape leaf hoppers. There is no bird that gets effectively at the peach borer, none that digs out the round head apple borer, none that gets at the sinuate pear borer, none that takes the pear psylla, none that eats curculionids enough to save a plum crop and none that exercises any effective control over the codling moth. Now, here we have most of our chief orchard pests, and if every bird were given an absolutely free hand and if each did its best the fruit grower would yet be apt to lose fruit or tree, or both, according to the species of insect involved.

In other words, no matter how many birds are in an orchard, the fruit grower would yet have to spray just exactly as he does now, and were every bird removed he would not have to spray much, if any more.

The robin is especially mentioned here because this bird has become so numerous and so bold in our state that it is now a veritable pest to the fruit grower. All kinds of small fruits are taken, beginning with strawberries and cherries in spring and ending with grapes in the fall. Thousands upon thousands of dollars' loss was caused by them in the summer of 1903. It is fair to question what benefit they rendered in return.

The answer is positive. To the horticulturist they rendered none at all. In the entire list of insects found in robin stomachs there is none that is a real orchard pest, and there are none that feed upon small fruits that could not have been much more cheaply controlled by the horticulturist had they occurred in troublesome numbers.

I would not for a moment suggest any general relaxing of the protection now accorded to any bird, but it is fair to realize that as some of the protected birds make no return for the fruits they destroy the fruit grower should be allowed to protect his property, but no more. There should be no opening that would allow of wanton destruction.—Dr. John B. Smith, Entomologist of the New Jersey Experiment Station, Before the State Horticultural Society.

To Lift Out a Tree.

The jacking shown in the illustration is used for lifting out dead peach stumps and small grubs of all kinds. Any handy man can make one. The upright is two and a half feet long, three inches thick and eight inches wide. The bottom plank is one and a half feet long and the same dimensions as the upright. The brace is of same material and is twenty-two inches long and put in place as shown in the cut. Cut into the upright and the base enough to give a good shoulder to the brace. Secure the same with one and a half inch bolts, and if made of good hard wood it will stand the strain of the strongest team, according to American Agriculturist. The advantage of the jack is that it raises the object to be pulled straight up.

The Effective Gladiolus.

One of the most attractive and effective of flower beds is that of gladiolus. Under the manipulations of the hybridizer gladiolus has developed a flower stalk varied in form and color beautiful beyond expectations. Under good cultivation the bulbs increase rapidly, and large showy beds in the lawn or garden are possible with a small outlay of money.

CREAMERY ICEHOUSES.

Modern Construction Favors Insulation of the Walls.

A reader of Cold Storage Inquires of that paper, "Can we build an icehouse for a creamery without covering the ice with sawdust or packing material of any kind?"

To this inquiry Madison Cooper, the refrigerating expert, answers:

"It is comparatively simple to construct an icehouse even on a small scale, such as would be required by a small creamery, without using packing material around or on the ice. This can be accomplished by insulating the floor, walls and ceiling of the room with from ten to fifteen inches of mill shavings, dry sawdust, cut straw or any similar packing material. It is immaterial what form the building takes and whether built with gable roof or flat roof. If you use a flat gravel roof, it might be advisable to have an attic story above the ceiling of the ice room, which will give space for the circulation of the air by providing suitable ventilators on the ends and sides of the building. This will protect the ice room from the sun beating on the roof. A gable roof will give slightly better ventilation than a flat roof by placing a reasonably large ventilator at the peak of the roof and silt ventilators of liberal proportions at the ends. With a gable roof the ceiling of the ice room may extend up to the rafters and ventilators be placed in end of each gable. This makes an economical construction, more so than a flat roof. If you desire to make the building more fireproof than the shingle roof would be, the roof may be covered with slate or with galvanized iron.

"The construction of icehouses by insulating the walls instead of using covering material on the ice will be more universal in the future than in the past, even on the small capacity icehouses. The loss for meltage is no more than with the old method of covering the ice with sawdust or similar material, and the advantages are so great that, even though the building cost more at first, it would be cheaper in the end. In constructing a building with insulated walls care should be taken that the walls be made air tight both on the exterior and interior surfaces by using a good grade of insulating paper."

Feeding For Milk Production

Many farmers frequently feed pumpkins to dairy cattle with satisfactory results, while others feed them with comparatively little benefit, says Professor Watson of the Pennsylvania experiment station in American Agriculturist. It has frequently been observed that pumpkins may be fed with good effect if the cows do not have good pasture. Pumpkins are frequently given to dairy cows to supplement insufficient pasture during the latter part of the season. Undoubtedly they may be fed most advantageously in connection with other foods. Nearly all of the succulent cattle foods are fed with the greatest economy with other foods with the exception of pasture grasses and soiling crops.

Corn and Cob Meal.

The New Jersey experiment station several years ago made experiments to determine whether it is more economical to grind corn, cob and all, for milk cows than to feed ear corn. In this experiment one cow was fed twelve days ear corn that had been run through a feed cutter, and another was fed corn and cob meal. This process was then reversed, giving each cow the other form of grain. The yield of milk on the corn and cob meal ration was 9.3 per cent greater than with the ear corn, while the yield of butter fat was 4.9 per cent greater.—Breeder's Gazette.

Corn Stover For Cows.

Two hundred and eighty pounds of cornmeal and 392 pounds of wheat bran fed in connection with 2,374 pounds of corn stover produced at the Wisconsin experiment station 1,120 pounds of milk, from which fifty-seven pounds of butter were made.

Feed Ration For Dairy Cattle.

For dairy cattle, if it comes to a choice between bran and oats at $22 for the former and $25 for the latter, then the bran is much the cheaper, says Breeder's Gazette. By feeding the cows corn and cob meal, bran and oil-meal a highly satisfactory ration of concentrates may be prepared. Unless the cows are milking heavily a ratio of 1 to 6 is eminently satisfactory.

Cows on Pasture Need Grain.

Feed some grain to cows on pasture. It may not apparently be of advantage in the summer, but the cows will winter better.—Farmer's Advocate.

Supplemental Summer Feed.

Good pasture grass carries an ample supply of protein, but is deficient if at all in the carbohydrates. Theoretically this would call for corn alone, but we add bran to extend or dilute the concentrated ground corn. Also give the cows a little hay for its hygienic effect. Cows are as crazy for dry forage in summer as for grass in early spring.—Hoar's Dairyman.

Grinding Feed For Dairy Cows.

While there is considerable difference of opinion as to the advisability of grinding grain for some farm animals, it is generally conceded that it pays to grind for the dairy herd. A cow giving a large flow of milk needs all her energy to secrete her milk and to digest the large amount of feed which must be used for that purpose. It is for this reason important to make the process of digestion as easy and rapid as possible. A good grinder, with suitable power to run it, should be part of the equipment of every well conducted dairy farm.—Missouri Experiment Station.

AW, SHUT UP.

The man who speaks a dozen tongues, when all is said and done, Don't hold a match to him who knows how to keep still in one.

The talker cops some good things here, things much to be desired. The silent man cops these and more, and doesn't make folk tired.

Oh, you can have life's good things brought right to you if you will; Throw out your chest, put on a frown, and just keep still.

The man who's known as "silver-tongued" may fool folk for a spell. Some few may take him at his word, believe all he may tell. About himself for just awhile; but soon he'll make a slip. And he'll be nicely put away, knocked out by his own lip.

Oh, you'll get money in the bank and dollars in your till. If you'll put on a thoughtful look, and just keep still.

Full many men are dead and gone who died for want of breath. And many who while still on earth have talked themselves to death; More sharper than a serpent's tooth is man's own reckless tongue. When hung inside an open face and all too loosely swung; Close up your face and open your ears and drink in to your fill. This sage advice; throw out your chest and—just keep still!

In public life's few lower rounds are some who chew the rag. And some from dewy morn till night sail in and punch the bag. Because they like the sound of it; but list awhile, you'll find The louder is the noise it makes the more it's filled with wind; Be good and hush and you will get a great reward, you will; Throw out your chest and smile, or frown—but—just keep still.

WHAT is it you think that you can never forgive?" From her position on the hearth-rug the business woman spoke patiently to the girl in the deep chair. She was a strong, slight woman, and wore strong glasses, with heavy gold rims to them. The cork grip for constant use betrayed the fact that the business woman looked on life with near-sighted eyes. The girl before her looked on life with lovely eyes—though, just at present, they were rather marred by weeping. The girl sobbed, and the woman repeated her patient query:

"What is it you can never forgive?"

"Oh, Molly, Molly! He was positively brutal."

"It is not like Jack to be brutal. He must be"—she stopped and looked at her watch. "I shouldn't decide hastily about it, Madge, if I were you. Jack is a pretty good sort. It is not safe to expect perpetual top-notch from anybody. Good-by." But out on the street she completed the sentence prudently had checked in the parlor. "He must be bothered about money matters—badly bothered." She walked slowly past his uptown office, then turned and walked resolutely back to it. The elevator sat her down before a ground-glass door. The boy in the front office took her card, went a few steps, hesitated, and came back to her. "The orders were sharp, miss. He was not to be interrupted on any account." The eyes behind the strong glasses grew grave.

"I will take in my own card," she said to the boy; tried the handle of the door and, as it yielded, walked quietly into the private office of Mr. John Holden. A voice, harsh with indignation, greeted her roughly:

"Didn't I tell you, sir, that I was not to be interrupted?"

Molly came around to the front of his high desk, leaned one shoulder against the upper corner, and fell to flicking at the dust with the brim of her soft hat.

"Molly!"

"Yes—I heard you were mixed in your matter"—she stopped his start with a gesture—"It's all right. I've plugged up the leak." Then, significantly, "Cotton?"

"Yes." He hesitated, looked at her, and took the plunge.

"I've been dancing to forbidden music; now I'm going to pay the forbidden fiddler." He spoke with grim self-disgust. Molly went on flicking lazily at the dust.

"How deep do you go?"

"Down to ruin."

"Sure? Let's have the figures before we pass on to the dramatic." She paused, and added, "There are others."

John Holden bent his head.

"Don't I know it!"

"How near can you come to it?" Molly persisted.

"By straining my credit until it cracks, within five thousand."

He could not see the fierce relief that leaped into those anguish-stricken eyes behind the glasses. A black hat dropped softly to his desk, a leisurely hand went to her pocket, her tone was coolly matter-of-fact:

"That three thousand I came into is still in the bank. Can't we mortgage the old house on Royal for two?" She opened her check book and reached a pen from his desk.

"What are you going to do? What old house? Your home? Wait, Molly, Molly! You must be mad to think of such a thing."

"I'm not mad, most noble Festus."

"Don't you know I wouldn't do that—I couldn't do that?"

She filled in the check while he expostulated.

"Don't be absurd, Jack. How many times have you pulled me out of a hole?"

"I never have—you don't get into holes. Well, but that's not worth speaking of. By the Lord, I won't touch that. I've got some manhood left—in spite of cotton."

She blotted the check, and put it under a paper-weight. "Don't take yourself so tragic"—her voice thickened.

She cleared it and again added: "There are others."

And again Jack bent his head. He had indeed given hostages to fortune.

"I should have thought of that before," he muttered, humiliated. Molly, leaning against the desk, while she glanced over some papers she had taken from her pocket, quoted softly: "The moving finger writes, and having writ, Moves on; not all your piety or wit Shall lure it back to cancel half a line, Nor all your tears wash out a word of it."

"Here's the deeds, Jack. You get the mortgage in shape and I'll drop in to sign up as I pass this evening. Oh, I know it's bad; but you can give me your note. See here, old fellow, don't take it like that. Don't I know how you feel?"

"Molly, Molly! How did you ever get hold of it?"

"Why, Madge called me in this morning. She was a bit cut up. It seems that when you left last evening you forgot—something. I—er—inferred that you were badly bothered, and the—er—inference naturally suggested cotton."

"Molly," he insisted, following her to the door, "I'm not worth all this—"

She laughed. "Don't say how much you are worth until the post office slot is selected. You may get a fancy price yet for your rats' nest."

Jack started happily. "Why, I hadn't thought of that." Then, sobering, "I'm not worth the risk you are taking, dear girl."

Molly's fingers tightened on the door-knob.

"Oh, I don't know," she said, hurriedly. "You are a pretty good sort, Jack." She steeled, and added: "You won't forget about the state of things on Rampart. It seems silly, but Madge is really distressed."

"Poor little girl," he said, tenderly, and Molly, safe behind her glasses, went forth to receive with steady patience the severe remarks of a long-waiting, exasperated employer. All during the day she turned the other cheek, and yet other cheeks. She could not afford to lose her job now. On the way home she went around by the clerk's office and secured copying to be done at night. She was getting ready to pay off that mortgage. Jack's note was as good as gold, but life is uncertain, and she would relish a bit of extra work just at this time.

Molly's mother objected to the night-work. She preferred her daughter's pleasant society to the few dollars to be earned by the drudgery.

"Surely, Molly, it is not necessary, with your salary and the legacy."

"Oh, mamma, dear, you don't understand," Molly explained, humorously; "I've been going in for pills."

But mamma did understand—enough to silence further protest. A mother's eyes are not to be baffled by even the most baffling of gold-rimmed glasses. So, without being plagued about it, Molly took up her load and carried it true.

It was several weeks later that she encountered Jack and Madge on a corner, where they were waiting for a west end car. They were in a joyous mood and greeted her gaily. She gave them as gay as they sent, and went home to her copying. She had been making transcripts for an hour before it occurred to her to apply the salve of truth to her ugly wound.

"Why, you see," she said then to her inmost soul, "it is up to me to be, gratefully, the dog under the table."

DAVE BLOM

General Items

This is the way Editor Randolph "booms" his section of the country in the Crowley Signal, the leading daily newspaper in southwest Louisiana. There is nothing small about Col. Randolph and he is equally resourceful, whether it be doing a drawing room pink-tea-stunt, a brief space as a "rooster" at a base ball game, or a shouter for Acadia "dirt." Anent "dirt," Randolph says: Uncle Bill Cousins, the gardener on the Abbott lower farm who claims that he can plant carpet tacks in this rice belt soil and harvest railroad spikes, again sits down and takes his pen in hand to let you know that he hasn't quit raising garden truck. Uncle Bill relates that a housewife in lower Prairie Hayes let her year-old baby play in the dirt in the front yard one day last spring while she picked a mess of spring beans for supper and attended to some household duties. When she came to dig the baby out of the Acadia parish dirt where he had been playing so contentedly she found he had grown a full beard and was old enough to vote for Will Egan for Representative. Such is the power of Acadia parish soil, according to your Uncle Bill.

Infidels have been given an opportunity to earn $1 an hour by sitting in church and listening to Rev. Thomas Henry Scruggs of the First Baptist Church of Provi, Utah. Mr. Scruggs has publicly offered to pay any infidel who attends his Sunday services at this rate. The offer became effective June 26. Those who desire to take advantage of it must present themselves to Mr. Scruggs, register and submit to an examination to prove they believe in infidel doctrine and set a time when they will be in church. Mr. Scruggs says the purpose of his offer is to induce infidels to study Christian teachings.

Edwy Reid, editor of the Allegan Gazette, generally strikes the right chord when he gets on the trail of things which he thinks are detrimental to his town. In last week's issue he is after street carnivals and in part discourses thusly thereupon: "The attendance has not been large, and it is to be said to their credit that most of the substantial people of the surrounding country have chosen to stay at home about better business. The worst features of such affairs are the excessive drinking in saloons and the disorder upon the streets at night. While a carnival like this provides a certain amount of amusement of a very cheap kind, its general effect is demoralizing and degrading. Especially at night, the streets were filled with a crowd of the lowest and toughest, mainly rustics, and indecency and insult were permitted which would at any other time have subjected the perpetrators to arrest. Other people may with consistency complain of these things, but the defenders of carnivals can not, for a carnival is an invitation to license and lawlessness, to disorder, drunkenness, and riot. May it be many a day before Allegan has to bear the infliction she has now for the third time endured."

Holland now has double daily service to Chicago on the Graham & Morton line by two of the finest steamers on the lake the Puritan and the Holland. Puritan leaves Holland every night at 9 o'clock, and Ottawa Beach at 10 o'clock. The Puritan will leave Chicago every morning, reaching here about four o'clock in the afternoon. The Holland will leave Chicago every night at 8 o'clock and leave here every morning at 9 o'clock, and Ottawa Beach at 10 a. m. The boats make connections with but two Pere Marquette trains, the one arriving from Chicago at 2:20 a. m. and the one leaving Ottawa Beach in the afternoon. The boats will all be met by interurban cars on their arrival here, the first morning car leaving for Grand Rapids at 5:15 and making connections at the waiting room for Saugatuck.

Olympia Pavilion held the center of the stage at Jenison Electric Park yesterday. It was the opening day P. L. McCarthy's place of entertainment and ceremonies of a befitting kind marked it. It was also Modern Woodman day and members of that order from Grand Rapids were there in abundance. Their crack drill team gave an exhibition and their band furnished music. It was also Sunday School day as the Wealthy Avenue Baptist church of Grand Rapids picnicked there. Tomorrow will belong to South Congregational church of Grand Rapids, as it is the day set for the annual outing of the congregation.

St. Francis Church Dedicated

St. Francis Catholic church was dedicated last Sunday forenoon in the presence of a large congregation, many visitors being present from Byron Center, Saugatuck, the Macatawa Bay resorts and Grand Rapids, over fifty people coming from the latter place.

Right Rev. Henry Joseph Richter, Bishop of the Grand Rapids diocese, conducted the ceremonies. First, the Rishop, led by four acolytes, and attended by Rev. Father Eickelmann, Rev. Father Schmidt and Rev. Father Gallagher of Grand Rapids walked around the outside of the church chanting a hymn, while the Bishop sprinkled the church with holy water as an indication that all that is dross and earthy was banished from the church in order that it might be dedicated to the service of God. Then followed the service in the inside, after which the doors were thrown open and the congregation entered. So many were there that some could not gain admittance and had to be content with witnessing the services from the outside. Solemn high mass was celebrated by Father Schmidt, assisted by Father Gallagher, Father Eickelmann and Father Corbett. The St. Mary's male choir of Grand Rapids furnished music, the singing being beautiful and impressive. Rev. Father Schrems preached the dedicatory sermon. It was an eloquent exposition of the purposes of the dedication, delivered with great oratorical effect. The explanation of the speaker was lucid and complete. Bishop Richter made a short address congratulating the congregation on the fact that they had succeeded so well in their efforts to erect a house of God. His words were of an encouraging nature and expressed deep gratification for the result attained.

The church is built of brick and presents a neat appearance. The interior was in an unfinished state Sunday, but rapid progress is being made with the improvements and before long it will be in good condition.

Rev. Father Eickelmann, pastor of the new church will conduct services next Sunday morning at 8 o'clock.

Death of R. Oostema

The death of Roelof Oostema, one of the well known pioneer residents of this city, occurred last Sunday night at one o'clock after several months illness at the age of 69 years.

Mr. Oostema's birthplace was Gronigen, The Netherlands. When he attained the age of 18 years he came to this country with his parents, locating first at Grand Haven, then at Graafschap, from where deceased came to this city. In 1865 Mr. Oostema served in Co. I. 25th Michigan Infantry and was later transferred to Co. K. 28th Mich. in which he served with honor until the close of the war. He followed the carpenter trade on his return here and in 1895 and 1896 ran a grocery store.

Besides his wife Mr. Oostema is survived by the following children: Mrs. Gerrit Raterink, Kent City; Miss Lena Oostema, Texas; James of Gold Creek, Colo.; Jennie and John, living at home; P. F. Oostema of this city. A brother, Klaas Oostema of Laketown and a sister, Mrs. Anna VanDyke of Grand Haven, are the other surviving relatives. The funeral was held under the auspices of the G. A. R. Post on Thursday afternoon at 1:30, o'clock from the house and at 2 o'clock from the Ninth street church, Rev. A. Keizer and D. R. Drukker officiating.

Interurban Appropriates

Fourth of July Thunder

Nearly all of the Fourth of July thunder in evidence has been appropriated by the G. R., H. & L. M. R. R. company, and there will be something doing every minute for three days on and around the western terminal.

The fun will begin Saturday at Saugatuck. The citizens of that village, on account of the celebration to be given at Jenison Electric Park on the fourth, will have a celebration of their own Saturday. Smith's Ruben band will furnish hilarity and music; the Australian snake eater will indulge in her favorite repasts; and Prof. Galosher will make a balloon ascension and parachute drop. A brilliant display of fireworks will be given in the evening. All of the summer homes will be gorgeously illuminated, and a raval display will be given on Kalamazoo River. The festivities will close with a grand ball at the new Park hotel.

Sunday afternoon the scene will be shifted to Jenison Electric park. In the afternoon and evening the Idealistic Concert Orchestra, directed by Prof. F. W. Lobdell of Grand Rapids will give the celebrated descriptive selection "The Forge in The Forest," in which will be included the wonderful "Anvil Chorus." Accompanying the rendition of this great masterpiece will be a grand electrical display, arranged especially for the orchestra. This selection has met with unbounded approval wherever it has been presented and will prove a rare treat. It will be given Sunday afternoon and evening.

On the Fourth the greatest celebration west of Grand Rapids will be held, and the entire country touching the interurban will be given a great holiday. All of the cars owned by the company will be put in commission to take care of the crowd. Besides the presentation of "The Forge in The Forest" in the afternoon and evening there will be a balloon ascension at 5 p. m. In the evening at 8 p. m. will take place a moonlight balloon ascension, the only one ever attempted in Western Michigan. During the ascension and the parachute drop the searchlight of the steamer Post Boy will be turned on the scene and the aeronaut will, while in mid air, touch off red fire and fireworks.

All day and evening of the fourth excursions will be made on the bay and on Lake Michigan by the steamer Post Boy, which will have a band aboard.

Fourth of July Temperance Celebration

Come and join in our 4th of July celebration, which will be held under the auspices of the Holland and Ottawa county Temperance people. The band will begin playing at 10 a. m. corner of Eighth and River streets and then will march to the Grove on corner of Columbia Avenue and 9th street. The opening address will be made by Mayor Geerlings, president of the day. Other prominent speakers have been secured. Speaking will begin at 10:30 a. m. Bring your basket dinners and enjoy a good time. Free coffee will be served. The committee
