NEW FIRM ESTABLISHED IN HOLLAND

IS INCORPORATED FOR $20,000.00;
CALLED WOLVERINE ADVERTISING COMPANY

Vandie Van Den Berg, of Holland and
J. H. Bailey, Kentucky Launch
New Enterprise

The Wolverine Advertising Co. is the name of a new corporation organized with a capital of $20,000. The firm was launched in this city for the purpose of going into the poster advertising on a large scale, and for that reason a chain of cities with bill boards in Michigan have been secured, the privileges purchased, and that class of advertising will be the main feature of the company's business.

Included in this chain is the Van Den Berg Poster Advertising Co., that has been in existence in Holland since the fall of '71, and was handed down from father to son, ex-Alderman John Van Den Berg being the originator. The company is organized under the firm name of the Wolverine advertising Co. with headquarters in Holland.

The personnel of the company are J. Bailey of the Donaldson Lithographing Co., of Newport, Ky., president, John Vandenberg, better known as Vandie, treasurer and manager, Thos. N. Robinson, secretary. This company has purchased the Poster boards of the Twin City Adv. Co. of Benton Harbor, and will operate plants in Benton Harbor, St. Joe, Niles, Buchanan, Berrien Springs, Eau Claire, Baroda, Millburg, Coloma, Hartford, Watervliet, Bangor and Lawrence, and will add several more to this already large list. Holland of course is included in the list.

Mr. Bailey is a whirlwind in his line and represents one of the largest poster advertising companies in the United States. Vandie has made a success of poster work not only in this city but also in the south. For many years he handled this line in connection with the elaborate sign art work in which as an artist he excels.

Attorney Thos. N. Robinson, although not a sign writer with the brush and pencil can paint the prettiest work of art that it is possible to make. No doubt these three artists in their particular lines will pull together and make this new departure in Holland a success. Surely if energy plays an important part in advancement these men deserve to be successful.

FRANK DYKE SECURES MANY CONTRACTS NEARLY THIRD OF A MILLION IN CONTRACTS FINISHED IN PRISON CITY

Frank Dyke of the Dyke-Jonkman Construction Company was in the city yesterday for a flying trip.

For the past year or more he has been going outside of the city to get business, as Holland did not afford any great building opportunities for the past few years. He struck out for Jackson, Michigan, and there landed a contract for a large school amounting to $234,000. Shortly afterwards he built a large Overland Sales garage, costing $15,000. After that he landed three more jobs in Jackson aggregating $20,000 and Saturday he was given the contract to remodel the Otsego hotel at Jackson at a cost of $18,000. The latter without out a competitive bid which speaks highly for the Holland firm.

Last year this same firm built a $150,000 college building for Calvin college and five years ago this same firm built the Holland High school at a cost of $100,000. This school has been a model to pattern after and many cities who contemplate building schools come to Holland to get some idea of what a real fine school is like.

Mr. Dyke and Mr. Oosting built a school in Potosky that is practically a duplicate of the one in Holland.

WHEN HOLLAND NEARLY STRUCK AN IRON MINE

NOT ENOUGH TO MAKE A BLAST
FURNACE PAW HOWEVER

From De Hollander of the 10th we learn that Messrs. Aling & Co., are mining forty tons of iron ore from their beds near Holland. An experiment will be made to determine whether it will pay to put up a blast furnace there. If it proves a paying thing Holland will have reason to congratulate itself.—Saugatuck Commercial file copy of 1870.—These blast furnaces were very much talked of in those days in fact a public meeting was held and stock subscribed but it was found that the iron was not there in large enough quantities to make it pay. The iron mines so called at that time were located across the river and iron can still be found there in small quantities.

City Champions Eighteenth Street team will play tonight at 7 o'clock at 19th street grounds. They will cross bats with the West Michigan Furniture Co. team, also a strong aggregation. The city champions have played 12 games and have won the whole dozen. Judging from the record base ball scouts may soon draft some of them in bigger league company.

LOCAL EXPRESS NOW UNDER ONE HEAD

BERT ADAMS OF THE ADAMS EXPRESS IS AGENT OF THE CONSOLIDATION

All Business Done In Holland City
State Bank Building and Depot

The American Railway express embracing the American and the Adams Express Co. of Holland have been consolidated. The American has moved its affects from the Holland Inter-urban station to the Adams Express Co. in the Holland City State Bank building.

Bert Adams who has been with the company for several years both in Fennville and Holland is the agent.

Gerrit Bouwman of the American Express Co., is cashier and Mrs. H. T. Adams is clerk.

Sometime ago the Adams Express Co. built a large office at the depot. Jake Vrieling will be day agent there and William Top night agent, each having a helper.

The company will maintain three wagons to do delivery work. It has been so arranged that the heavy packages will all be taken care of and delivered directly from the depot, while the lighter packages will be handled from the down-town offices.

Mr. Adams of the new company declares that the Holland public is bound to be delighted with the new express service that this company will give. Time saving will be one of the chief features and all shippers are certain to notice the difference, he states.

A thing that is not generally understood is the fact that there has been no consolidation of the exchange, travel and financial departments of the companies. All of these maintain their individuality and travelers checks, travel routings and other features offered can be secured of the old companies the same as before the consolidation.

ARREST MAN AND WOMAN

Sheriff Dornbos and his officers have arrested J. Anouse and Anna Gellersma on the charge of lewd and lascivious exhibition. The woman was arraigned in Justice Dickinson's court at Grand Haven and bound to circuit court and furnished a bond of $200 for her appearance. The man was arrested later in the afternoon.

MAKING UNIQUE AUTO AUTO TOUR BY TRUCK

Ashton Dodd of Dover, Ohio, with three companions passed through this city yesterday morning on a unique tour in Michigan. The party traveled in a Republic truck which carried camping equipment. They pitch their tents alongside the road at night and travel by day. The party will go to Mackinac on the West Michigan pike and on down to Detroit over the East Michigan route. All were delighted by the the gravel roads of Michigan.

BICYCLING IS REVIVED IN GRAND HAVEN

There has been a revival of bicycling in Grand Haven this season, especially among the boys and girls of the town and the great sport of twenty years ago seems to be coming into its own again. Scores of bicycle riders are now seen on the streets every evening. If the revival continues touring will probably come into its own again when the wheelmen often made trips as far as New York.

KEPT MARRIAGE A SECRET FOR SIX MONTHS

DRAFT BRINGS OUT FACT AND ANNOUNCEMENTS ARE SENT.

The draft has brought more things to light than any other system possibly could.

A new fase of the draft has just been discovered by the belated announcements of a marriage that took place last Christmas day.

The announcement just received by friends conveyed the fact that Ray B. Knooihuizen of New Holland was married to Miss Edna McIntyre on December 25, 1917.

During this time the groom had been staying at the home of his parents, and the bride did likewise. The bride is a winsome young lady teaching in a school near Harlem, and is highly shot of by the pupils and her friends. Even the parents of the couple did not know the fact of their marriage until the announcement was received.

And here is where the draft comes in. Raymond is one of the boys to go to the front shortly to fight for Uncle Sam, and the secret could be held no longer and for that reason announcements were quickly gotten out and sent to friends who are sending congratulations by the scores even at this late day. The couple are certainly adepts at keeping a secret.

Miss Wilma Vanderhill of Holland is visiting at the home of A. Nagelkirk on Sweet street Grand Rapids for a week.

Mrs. Joe Skinner and two children of Holland are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lamoreaux—Fennville Herald.

FISH WARDENS DECLARE NETS MUST STAY OUT

STATE OFFICERS CHARGE FISHERMEN WITH BREAKING PROMISES MADE COMMISSIONER

Want Hoover To Know; Are Willing To Leave It To Any Jury

Most of the fishermen along the shore, except some at Grand Haven are obeying the law and using legal mesh nets, declared Game Wardens C. M. Smith and Frank Salisbury today. "These fishermen are also going to obey the law, or they are going out of business."

This statement was made by the wardens Tuesday morning in reference to the seizure of the nets of illegal mesh from C. Ver Duin company and Clark Deremo this week. The latter they declare made no protest, but the former company was inclined to lock horns with the state officers on the question.

"In a statement yesterday" said Mr. Smith, "it was hinted that the fishermen would take the matter up with Mr. Hoover, because we were blocking the attempts at the conservation of food. The department will be very glad to have this matter taken up by Mr. Hoover. As a matter of fact Mr. Hoover is now acting in the capacity of food administrator, because we are at war with a nation that has broken its promises. I don't think he will give very much consideration to an appeal from any one who is breaking his agreement."

The game and fish wardens were not particularly pleased with the statement made by certain fishermen and they stated that they would be glad to hang one or two of the nets seized in the Tribune window with a rule at hand so any one might measure it who wished to do so. They also stated that they would be willing to try the cases of the fishermen before any jury.

"It is only a matter of justice to the state and the law-abiding citizens that we state our case briefly," declared one of the wardens today. "We seized these nets because they are illegal. The mesh is under 2 1/16 inches. The law provides that the mesh for these nets must be no smaller than 2 3/4 inches. However early this year the fishermen had a conference with Commissioner Baird at Lansing, when the fact that many of the smaller mesh nets were in the lake and were they ordered out the industry would be crippled, and the increase in the food supply badly handicapped was brought out.

"The fishermen agreed to purchase the legal mesh nets as soon as possible. Thereupon the fishermen agreed with the commissioner that if he would permit the use of nets not under 2 1/16 inches, they would live up to the agreement."

"Now we have come along and upon measuring the mesh of nets taken out of the lake, we find the mesh of 2 1/16 and smaller. The agreement with the commissioner has not been kept in this case. We stand right on the law, and are going to see that it is obeyed. These nets will not be fished. Small undressed fish have nothing to do with the conservation of the food supply. The nets have been seized and they are available for anyone who wishes to measure them. They will not go back into the lake."

The game wardens laughed at the stories of shrinkage and declared that if linen was shrunk so markedly by water, that when collars which were coiled in laundries would soon choke their owners to death.

When Deputy Game and Fish Wardens C. M. Smith, Frank Salisbury and Mac Short went to the water front to visit the tugs, a little incident occurred which indicated the feeling somewhat. Will Krause of the Ver Duin company objected to the measuring of the nets by Deputy Short. Personal conflict was threatened and Deputy Salisbury put the fisherman under arrest for interfering with an officer. He appeared before Justice Tubbs and paid a fine of ten dollars and costs.

The visit of the wardens to Grand Haven and the seizure of the nets renews the old controversy which the department thought was settled last spring. Warden declared Tuesday that as far as they knew all other firms were using proper nets.

TAX CAMPAIGN IN HOLLAND IS NOW ON

FIRST TWO DAYS BRING IN A TOTAL OF OVER EIGHT HUNDRED DOLLARS

Amount To Be Collected Is $73,010.92;
Campaign Will Close On August 15

The mid-summer tax collecting campaign is on in the office of the city treasurer in the city hall. The tax gathering campaign began Monday morning and on the first day the sum of $389.01 was collected. On Tuesday a total of $492.81 was gathered in by Mr. Appledorn.

The total amount of taxes to be collected this summer in July and August is $173,010.92. Of this amount $101,010.92 is in city taxes and $71,000 is school taxes.

The tax campaign that started Monday will continue until the fifteenth of August. During those six weeks the city treasurer, assisted by the city clerk, will have to take in the money with which to run the city and the schools for the coming fiscal year.

The amount not collected before the fifteenth of August will be penalized in the usual way by the addition of a collection fee and later the amounts left uncollected by this method will be added by the city assessor to the December roll, adding of course appropriate interest percentage for each intervening month.

The amounts collected during the first two days of the campaign are about the usual amounts for the beginning of tax gathering. Most of the money came in very small amounts, so that a considerable number of parcels of property have already been accounted for.

LEMON EXTRACT AND NEAR BEER DON'T MIX WELL

The police a few days ago were advised by Kardux and Karsten that a man from the rural districts had called for his third bottle of lemon extract and was coming for another flask. The man was followed and was noticed to go into a near beer parlor. The police watched the individual and noticed that after ordering a glass of "suds" without the "stick" in it he took it to a remote table and dropped in a little of the lemon. There was however not enough good feeling in the near beer and lemon extract combined it seems to have any noticeable effect. When the Bevo parlor proprietor noticed what was going on he ordered the man out.

WILL NOT STAND FOR RE-ELECTION

The annual school meeting of the district in Zeeland will be held next Monday evening at 7:30 in the assembly room of the high school. Two members are to be elected for the board of education for the term of three years. The terms of office of C. J. Den Herder and Dr. W. G. Heasley expire, but Dr. Heasley says he will not stand for re-election under any circumstances. Mr. Heasley has served the board for six years.

ANNUAL MITE BOX OPENING HELD

The Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the M. E. church held their monthly meeting in the church parlors Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Mc Clellan conducted the devotions. After the business session Mrs. Harry Harrington took charge of the program. Miss Hazel Fairbanks gave a very interesting review of the Study Book "Under the Crescent and Among the Knaals." Mrs. Inez Brondyke rendered a fine vocal solo. All enjoyed the Mystery Box game.

This was the annual mite box opening and the results were gratifying. A plea was made for old jewelry, silverware, etc. to be sold for the benefit of the society's school for war orphans at Grenoble, France. Such contributions may be given to Mrs. Harrington, Mrs. E. Fairbanks or Mrs. B. Harris.

MILK MEN ASK THEM TO PREVENT DELAYS AND LONG STOPS

The milk dealers who are supplying the people of Holland are asking their patrons to cooperate with them in giving better service. They declare that in many homes they are compelled to wait for empty bottles and that this prevents them from serving the rest of their patrons early. Often it is necessary to wait until the woman of the house finds the empty bottle and washes it. Such a short wait may seem unimportant to the woman, the dealers declare, but when it is remembered that there are perhaps twenty or thirty such little waits in a single forenoon it becomes a serious matter.

What the women of the home ought to do, the milkmen declare, is to have the bottles washed in plenty of time, and set them on the porch with a tick in it so that no time needs to be lost. In these days of conservation they can do much to conserve the time of the milkmen and thus make the service better.

Born to Dr. and Mrs. Alle D. Zuidema, of Detroit, Tuesday—a daughter.

MILK DEALERS MUST OBEY ORDINANCE

The board of health has issued an ordinance that Sections 11 and 22 of the city milk ordinance will have to be enforced, and after Friday of this week the milk dealers not complying with the ordinance will have to appear before a justice of the peace to answer violations charges. These sections require that the license and name of owner appear on the milk wagon or other vehicle in which milk is delivered. All persons offering for sale or selling milk within the city of Holland come under the provisions of the ordinance. The licenses should have been taken out and displayed as long ago as June 15, but it appears that some have so far neglected it. Therefore the city inspector has been ordered by the board to investigate and make complaints after Friday against dealers who do not comply, taking them before a justice.

GEORGE BEIDLER MAKES HASTY TRIP FROM CALIFORNIA TO HOLLAND

George Beidler of California made a flying trip to Holland to look over his property at Waukazoo and supervise some of his interests in Chicago. Said Mr. Beidler: "I am just in love with Holland and intend to come back here some day to spend my summers as before, but not until after the war." Mr. Beidler visited Holland Hospital for which cause last winter, he sent a liberal donation. He will leave tonight for Pasadena, California.

FORMER HOPE MAN MAKES GOOD RECORD

Leonard F. Yntema, having been granted a furlough for a few days, has returned to Holland to visit his parents. Mr. Yntema was employed as Inspector of Airplanes and Airplane Engines, Signal Service at Large by the Aviation Section of the Signal Corps, U. S. A., in November, 1917. Owning to Mr. Yntema's exceptional training in Chemistry he was assigned to the Equipment Division Laboratory of the Signal Corps, then located at the National Bureau of Standards at Washington, D. C.

Not unlike other units of the Army, the laboratory grew rapidly and finally moved to a completely equipped, five-story building of their own at Pittsburgh, Pa. This was in April of this year.

During the interval that elapsed between his employment and the move to Pittsburgh, Mr. Yntema had proved his exceptional ability, both as a chemist and organizer, so he was placed in charge of the Non-Ferrous Section of the Chemical Work. He has recently been promoted to Chemist with a substantial increase in salary.

Mr. Yntema's colleagues at the University of Illinois have also recognized his ability as chemist and in appreciation thereof have elected him into membership in Sigma Xi, the greatest honorary scientific society in the U. S. Only those directly connected with the production of airplanes in this country realize the importance of the chemical work attached to it. Chemists of Mr. Yntema's ability are exceedingly scarce, and although he is not in uniform, he is doing more for his country in this capacity than if he enlisted and went to the front.

The war department has recognized the value of chemists to the extent of employing them only on chemical work.

Seventy-five passengers can be accommodated, and the management provides an experienced crew.

The Jesiek brothers have an enviable reputation for constructing various kinds of craft. In fact, the Macatawa plant has turned out almost every conceivable kind of boat, including canoes, rowboats, gasoline launches and speedy sailing yachts.

CHURCH VERY PROSPEROUS IN NEW PLACE

The new Central Park Reformed church which was recently rededicated after the building had been moved from its old site in Graafschap to the new location at the pretty Black Lake resort bids fair to become a prosperous institution. Already since the removal to the new site the congregation has been increased by six new members and by two families from other organizations, and the prospects are, according to an officer of the church that the increase in membership will continue.

The congregation is working harmoniously after a somewhat stormy career in the old location. The dissension that arose because of the proposal to move the building has disappeared and the people of the congregation are looking forward to a fruitful career. This new spirit was shown at the rededication exercises held a week or two ago at which addresses were delivered by Dr. J. E. Kuizenga, Hon. G. J. Diekema, Rev. M. Flipse, Dr. H. E. Dosker and Hon. Luke Lugers.

For a number of years the congregation has been without a pastor, the last man to serve the people having been Rev. Mr. Wolvius who later went to Randolph, Wis., and who is now stationed in Kalamazoo. During the summer the church is being served by Theological Student Van Lierup.

In moving the church from Graafschap to Central Park the always vexing language question has also naturally settled itself without any friction. At present English services are held afternoons and nights, and Dutch services in the afternoon. At the old place all the services were in the Holland language. The church has an active choir under the leadership of Herman Cook.

The job of moving the church building was done by contractors Door & Van Dyke and it was a creditable piece of work.

Miss Winnie Prins and Mr. James Pierce were married Thursday evening at the home of the bride's parents on the corner of 18th and Pine Avenue. Rev. J. Walkotten performed the ceremony. Miss Ella Prins and Henry Pierce, brother and sister of the bride and groom were bridesmaid and best man respectively.

The happy couple were married under an arch of evergreens, Mrs. Harry Prins played "Hearts and Flowers" as the bride and groom marched to the altar.

The bride was dressed in a gown of white taffeta and Georgette, and carried a bouquet of carnations and ferns. The newly-weds will make their home in this city.

ZEELAND FIRE PROTECTION IS NOT ADEQUATE

As a result of a recent disastrous fire Zeeland wants better fire protection. The Zeeland Record calls attention to this need as follows:

"The fire which completely destroyed the residence on Harrison Avenue, occupied by Dan Meeuwse and owned by Henry Vredevelde, brings home to every person very forcibly the question of whether there is not considerable room for improvement in our protection against fire. The loss to Mr. Vredevelde is to a very large extent due to inefficiency somewhere.

"We are of the opinion that this matter should be taken in hand at once and means employed to prevent a recurrence of the situation. If we have been informed correctly the beginning of the trouble lay in failing to arouse the exchange of the telephone system altho continued attempts were made, and after finally getting the response the information given was not correctly conveyed so the firemen went on a wild goose chase for a few minutes which meant considerable in dollars to Mr. Vredevelde.

"Then we are informed the men who hauled the hose wagon were nearly exhausted when they reached the scene of fire. Why were they so exhausted? Were half-dozen firemen compelled to haul the wagon? When fired firemen reach a fire tardily which is fanned by a strong breeze as was Saturday's occurrence, then no blame should be attached to these men. The trouble lies elsewhere. We believe it is right up to the officers in charge of the fire department to devise means for perfection and submit them for approval thru the right channels. We believe a system should be devised whereby every fireman could be reached independently.

LOCAL MERCHANTS WILL COOPERATE

Local merchants declare that they are not trying to evade the law with regard to the price of bread. The schedule of prices as printed Saturday is the official one and the local merchants expect to help along the establishing of these rates in the city in a spirit of cooperation.

It is pointed out that cases of overcharging have often been the result of misunderstanding of the schedule of prices. The local merchants are not law evaders and they will do all they can to help the country in its efforts to regulate the consumption of the essential foods.

HOLLAND BELL RINGERS PLAY FOR SOLDIERS

The Royal Holland Bell Ringer Family left Holland Friday to go to Camp Custer where they will fill a number of musical engagements for the Y. M. C. A. giving their concerts for the soldiers. This famous organization, organized in Holland about three or four years ago by P. H. Brouwer and family is making good in the military camps. Mr. Brouwer showed his schedule prepared by the Y. M. C. A. which requires him to play in fourteen of the great cantonments during the summer, traveling from camp to another.

Mr. Brouwer's itinerary did not include a trip to Holland, but the whole family wishing to visit old friends, Mr. Brouwer secured permission to spend a few days here on the plea that he had to buy new wooden shoes for his company and that these could be obtained only in Holland. The family of Mr. and Mrs. Brouwer and four children appear, at these concerts in native Dutch costume, including wooden shoes and native Dutch headgear.

The "Royal Holland Bell Ringers" have during the past year played in a number of states, going as far west as Wyoming. Several weeks were spent in Chicago where they appeared at various places. During the two closing weeks of the Billy Sunday campaign in Chicago, John Brouwer, the oldest boy in the family, played his cymbal harp at the big evangelistic meetings, the famous Rodeheaver playing the accompaniment to the solos of the former local boy.

For many years the Brouwer family lived in Zeeland while Mr. Brouwer served as correspondent for a number of newspapers, the Sentinel included. At that time he won the reputation of being able to dig up more yarns to the square inch than any other man in the business. And during his visit in Holland this week he gave evidence of the fact that he has by no means lost the knack of picturesque narrative.

G. J. Diekema Is Honored By the State Financiers In Charlevoix 1920

Hon. G. J. Diekema and Henry Luidens, President and Cashier of the First State Bank, Otto Kramer, Cashier of the Holland City State Bank, and Henry Winter, Cashier of the Peoples State Bank, returned Thursday morning from Charlevoix where they attended the State Bankers Convention. They report the most interesting and instructive convention ever held in the State of Michigan.

Mr. Diekema was made chairman of the committee on resolutions, and the resolutions were so favorably received by the convention that they ordered the same printed and circulated among banks of Michigan.

Mr. Diekema was also elected as first Vice-President, which will make him president of the association next year and the State convention will therefore be held in Holland, in 1920.

NETS TAKEN BY STATE WARDEN MESH IS SMALL

Ten or a dozen chub nets owned by G. H. commercial fishing firms, C. Ver Duin company and Clark Deremon of Grand Haven, have been confiscated by State Game and Fish Wardens Salisbury and Smith, under the claim that they contain illegal size mesh. As yet no action beyond the confiscation of the nets has been started by the wardens, it is said.

The law fixes the mesh of chub nets at 2 1/2 inches, permitting 2 1/16 inches to pass, it is claimed. Upon investigation of the nets just taken out of the lake yesterday, the wardens claim that some of the mesh was below that passed by law.

It has been the contention of the fishermen that wet nets are likely to shrink. Some of the fishermen most interested in the latest case declare that the action by the wardens is not only working a hardship to the commercial fishermen but at the same time interfering with the food problem that is now confronting the country. They claim that the difference in meshes in the same net will vary from 1/16 to 1/8 inch in size. Just now it is almost impossible they claim to secure new netting because the government is using all the linen which can be produced. Lead and aluminum is very scarce and very high in price. One of the fishermen declared that everyone else is conserving and these nets should be doing what they can and ought to do to solve the problem.

"We contend," said one of the fishermen Saturday, "that these nets should be fished to help win the war. We fishermen have bought bonds and are doing all we can to help win the war, but we don't like this action in face of decreasing food supply. If they are withdrawn they will not be helping increase the food supply. The game warden should permit these nets to be fished, at least while the war lasts."

Certain of the fishermen hinted that an appeal in the matter might be taken higher, and perhaps to Mr. Hoover, himself.

When informed of the attitude of the fishermen the representatives of the game and fish department had little to say, beyond the claim that the nets were illegal and could not be fished in the lake. Prosecutions and confiscation will follow every case found they declare.

Newberry and Preparedness

Truman H. Newberry is no new convert to Preparedness. He has preached it for twenty years,—he has practiced what he preached.

He stood for preparedness away back in 1894, when he helped organize the Michigan Naval Brigade.

As Assistant Secretary of the Navy under Roosevelt he urged preparedness. Speaking in New Orleans in 1907, he said:

"You can put it in the biggest type you have that we must have a bigger navy, and I hope such enlargement will come soon. It is for you people here to use your influence for more appropriations for the building of battleships and cruisers. There is no doubt that we shall need them and the sooner they are built the better."

While Secretary of the Navy, Newberry contended for a Merchant Marine as a preparedness measure.

"A large number of merchant vessels will be required in the event of a serious war," he pleaded.

He not only talked preparedness, but he prepared.

He put the Navy on a sure foundation. On our entry into the war it was the one branch of our national defense which was prepared.

He backs up his belief in preparedness by being in the service himself. His sons are in the service. His whole family is serving.

Newberry and Preparedness mean the same thing.

Truman H. Newberry is prepared to give Michigan and the nation wonderfully able service in the United States Senate.

LOCAL SCHOOL IS SOLD TO BANK TELLER

A business deal of unusual importance to the city of Holland was closed Friday when Albert Hoeksema, for many years savings teller in the First State Bank, became the owner of the concern that was formerly the Holland Business College and the Simpla Business College. The contract was signed Friday by Mr. Hoeksema and Mr. L. R. Churchill, the former owner, and in September Mr. Hoeksema will have charge of the institution. The name "Holland Business College" will be restored.

Mr. Hoeksema is unusually well fitted by temperament and training for the new position. He has had much teaching experience and his work in the bank has given him an appreciation of business needs in the line of training for a business career that could not have been obtained in any other way. Mr. Hoeksema will make a specialty in his school of preparing students for civil service examinations. He has taken special work in this line and at one time was given a Washington appointment which he did not accept. While a student in the Franklin Civil Service School of Rochester, N. Y., he won the distinction of having the highest standing of all students, which means winning against men from all parts of the United States. Because of this his tuition for the course was returned to him, the school having guaranteed this.

Mr. Hoeksema is a graduate of Hope College of the class of 1901. He then taught for four years in Fillmore District No. 2 and as a result of this work was awarded a life teachers' certificate by the state. Then he accepted a position with the First State Bank, in which institution he has served for the past 13 years.

The new proprietor of the Holland Business College has the confidence of people from a wide territory including Holland and surroundings who have come into business contact with him in the bank, and the prospect of his success in the new venture are very bright. The immediate prospects for a prosperous year next year are said to be unusually good because of the fact that so many young men with business training have been called to the colors whose places will have to be filled by boys and girls who will have to be trained for this work.

About a year ago Mr. Churchill purchased the Simpla Business College of Fred Gaze and the Holland Business College of C. J. Dregman, combining the two under the name of the Simpla.

ACCEPTS POSITION WITH DETROIT FIRM

Wallace Visscher, graduate of Hope College and son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Visscher of this city, has accepted a very fine position with the law firm of Lucking, Hoffman, Lucking & Hanton, located in the Ford building in Detroit. Mr. Lucking of this firm is Henry Ford's personal attorney and the firm is one of the strongest in Detroit.

Mr. Visscher last week graduated from the law department of the University of Michigan. He was awarded the special honor of having the degree of Juris Doctor conferred upon him.

Grand Haven "Y" Work- er Meets Son in Treches; And Old Friend in Paris

When Co. F, Thirty-second Michigan infantry, departed from its home station at Grand Haven last August, Howard Blakely was a bugler in the organization. In the days of the mobilization at the army, Charles M. Blakely the boy's father was with the young soldier as much as possible.

"Howard and I have always hit it up together as pals," the father said, "and when he is ready to go overseas I want to be with him, if I can. If the government would have me, I would enlist in the same company because I want to be with my boy."

The other day company L, 126th U. S. infantry, which is Grand Haven's old company F, an institution with 40 years of honorable history behind it, was at the front on German soil.

Bugler Blakely was in the trenches near the front line. Suddenly he was confronted by a man in the uniform of an Army "Y" field worker. He gazed into the face and forgot for a moment that he was a soldier.

"Dad," he cried. The happiest reunion that trench had seen followed, while father and son stood heedless of the thunder of the big guns and the rattle of the shrapnel.

Back in Paris a day or two before C. M. Blakely called at the headquarters of the "Y" for some supplies. He was directed to a busy man at a desk. Blakely was astonished to find he was speaking to B. Frank Harbeck, former secretary of the Challenge Refrigerator company of Grand Haven. Mr. Harbeck has been a "Y" secretary in Paris for several weeks.

At least two more Grand Haven men in the "Y" service are in the midst of interesting world developments. G. E. McCabe, advertising manager of the Challenge Machinery company of Grand Haven, and J. C. Ackerman, formerly purser of the ferry "Grand Haven" are in Italy and have been assigned to physical training and recreation duty along the Piave river.

Arthur Van Toll, well known local singer and past exalted ruler of the Elks, and Richard Cook formerly of the Cook Mercantile Co. of Gr. Haven, are stationed in the city of Bologna.

Louis Vanden Berg of the Thompson Mfg. Co. was in Grand Rapids Saturday looking after his exhibit at the Furniture exposition.

Miss Wilma Vanderhill of Holland is visiting at the home of A. Nagelkirk on Sweet street Grand Rapids for a week.

Mrs. Joe Skinner and two children of Holland are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lamoreaux-Fennville Herald.

WORK OR FIGHT ALL YE CITY LOAFERS

Holland does not want any drones in its municipal hive. It is either work or fight, and within a few days nobody will be shirking his duty, for if he does he will be harshly dealt with by the authorities.

The first example to be made was of a young man who is 19 years old, by the name of John McCarthy. John has been loafing about with no apparent aim in life for some time and Friday he was arrested by the local police with a warrant issued by Justice Robinson.

The military authorities have promulgated a law as a military measure making loafing a misdemeanor. Armed with this law the A. P. L., the draft board, police force, and the justices in the city have gotten their heads together and thru them every loafer will be arrested, and dealt with according to the provisions made in the law.

Persons knowing the whereabouts of loafers in the city are requested to notify these authorities at once, so that these lazy ones may be made to do their bit or suffer the consequences.

It is either fight, work, or go to jail in Holland from now on, and considering Holland's 300 fighting men already called to the colors no consideration should be given to these pests who are slackers from day to day under our very noses.

WEARY BOY GETS A VERY SEVERE PRO- BATION LESSON

John Mc Carthy, who was arrested under the new loafer act, was put on probation by Justice Robinson, but it is of such nature that he will not soon forget it.

These are the terms. "You are placed on probation for one year and during that time you must report to the Chief of Police Frank Van By every Saturday night. You must stay out of pool rooms for 52 weeks. You must pay over to Mr. Van By $5 each week to be turned over by him to your father and mother going towards their support. You must show a bankbook showing a savings entry of $2.50 each week, the money to be placed in one of our local banks and I assess you $3.60 costs."

The sentence nearly took McCarthy's breath away, but he promised to make good and no doubt he can judging from the many positions that are now awaiting men of all classes.

WEST MICHIGAN FACTORY HEADS PLAN SURVEY

First steps towards the organization of western Michigan manufacturers to facilitate the making of the industrial war survey of this district, were taken Thursday at the meeting of representatives of the Chamber of Commerce of seven counties at the Grand Rapids Association of Commerce.

Ottawa, Allegan, Barry, Ionia, Montcalm and Mecosta counties were represented and the following representatives were appointed to look after the work in their various counties:

A. H. Landwehr, Holland; William M. Connelly, Grand Haven; R. V. Hanchett, Big Rapids; Albert Smith, Greenville; R. Hall, Belding; W. W. Chichester, Allegan; Fred W. Greene, Ionia; and Kellogg Stem, Hastings.

Each representative appointed has pledged himself to assume personal responsibility for the survey in his own town and to co-operate to the fullest extent with the Grand Rapids Association of Commerce, under the direction of which the survey in the tenth zone of the eight industrial district will be made.

The manufacturers present agreed it advisable that they meet often in the future and discuss conditions within the zone.

A. H. Landwehr of the Holland Furnace company one of the speakers at the meeting, reported that while normal production of the United States averages about $35,000,000 the government's requirements alone for this year will amount to $19,000,000 or over 50 per cent of the industrial production to be gotten out through war contracts.

E. A. Clements, of the Globe Knitting company, stated that while one suit of underwear will last the ordinary civilian two years, the average life of a suit of underwear after it has been turned over for wear by men in the military service is but 72 hours.

Among the others to talk were F. E. Ranney of the Ranney Refrigerator company, Greenville and William M. Connelly of the Panhard Motor company of Grand Haven.

LICENSE PIER FISHERMEN

The state fish license law calling for the purchase of a $1 license by all Michigan fishermen is to be strictly enforced this year.

In the past fishing on the piers and in the waters of Lake Michigan and the harbor from row boats has not been strictly enforced. The state commission contends that as they plant fish in Lake Michigan as well as the inland lakes of the state the license fee on fishing from piers should be collected as well as from the lakes of the state. It is urged that hotel and resort proprietors notify guests of the strict enforcement of this law. Deputies will watch the piers to see that visitors from other states pay for the privilege of enjoying the sport.

CHARGE TOO MUCH FOR BREAD IN HOLLAND

Chairman of the Food committee Mr. Wm. Brusse has been confronted with numerous complaints in which the objectors state that some of the local bakers and retailers are charging too much for their bread which is against the ruling laid down by the government.

Mr. Brusse has instructed Chief Van By to investigate this bread question and if any are found to be charging more than what the law allows, he shall make arrests immediately. If you are paying more than the prices given below you are paying too much for bread and the whole-saler or retailer, as the case may be, is subject to arrest. Below are the prices set by Uncle Sam:

GRADUATION IS CLOSING EVENT OF THE YEAR

Central Avenue Christian Reformed church was well filled Thursday evening, when the graduating exercises of the school for Christian Instruction were held and this institution graduated 36 of its pupils.

The program was rendered practically as printed and each number received the hearty approval of the interested audience. The exercises opened with prayer by Rev. B. H. Elnink.

The church was appropriately and patriotically decorated with American flags and a large national emblem back of the rostrum played a very important part in the decorations. Embazoned upon the stars and stripes was this motto, "For God and For Our Country."

Promptly at 7:45 the Central avenue orchestra consisting of twenty-six pieces played the Processional and the pupils marched down the aisle to the platform led by Superintendent Bannink and Miss Bolier. The young ladies were dressed in pure white, and carried daisies, while the young men in contrast to their lady class-mates wore dark blue.

One number on the program that deserved special mention was "The Soldiers of the U. S. A." impersonated by Herman Herspink, Watson Spoelstra, and Edward Heeringa. The lads were dressed in khaki and gave a flag salute that took well with the audience.

Another number that brot considerable applause, contrary to the instruction given by Principal Bannink, who told the audience that hand-clapping should be eliminated, was a patriotic number given by little Miss Margaret Warner and Miss Margie E. Tulst, who were dressed respectively as a Red Cross nurse and a young lady with a knitting bag, also Edwin Tunk and Elmer Nienhuis who represented our army and our navy. The little people rendered their patriotic verses so well that the audience forgot the superintendent's instructions about applause and Central Avenue church resounded with a wholesome hand-clapping that brot the quartet back and they proceeded to sing the first verse of "America," and the new version entitled "God Save Our Men." As the young voices rang loud and clear the audience arose and stood until the song was completed, giving the young folks a rousing encore.

Rev. J. Bolt of Crown Point, N. M., gave the audience and pupils a short talk. He stated "that patriotism in the Christian schools was well founded, because the foundation of democracy was christianity and that the Christian School represented pure patriotism thru the Christianity of Jesus Christ. People criticize the Christian School as a school, claiming that it creates class spirit, but in this they are mistaken, because of the fact that the Christian School stands in all its instruction for real patriotism. They never criticize the schools of the rich who, especially in the East, send their children to private schools in order to remove them from the influences of the children of the common people. In the light of my remarks," speaking to the pupils, "You graduates of the Holland Christian School need never be ashamed because your preliminary education has been received in a school for Christian Instruction."

Following the program Principal Bannink and little Miss Margaret Klaasen handed out the diplomas to each graduate, neatly rolled up and tied with ribbons representing the class colors. The diplomas were packed in a basket held by little Miss Margaret Klaasen. As these documents were doled out they were accompanied with a small bible as a gift from the school board. Anthony Cornelius Westerhof received a framed diploma, because he stood highest in his studies during the year.

There will be several changes in the teaching staff of the Christian school when it reopens in September. Miss C. Bolier who has been teaching the eighth grade and has been serving faithfully for six years has accepted the principalship of the Christian school in Rochester, N. Y. Her place will be filled by Miss Sena Greengood of Holland.

Other new teachers have been added and the teaching staff next year will be as follows: superintendent and teacher of History, Berend Bannink; Miss Johanna Ruigh, graduate from Park College, Parkfield, Mo., is a new teacher who will take care of the advanced class in the high school; Rev. Herman Hoeksema, bible; Miss Anna De Goede, Latin; Eighth grade, Miss Greengood; Seventh grade Miss Jeanette Veltman; 6-1 grade, Miss Anna De Goede, Six-2 grade, Mrs. LeRoy Strong; Fifth grade, Miss Grace York; Fourth grade, Miss Matilda Veltman; Third grade, Miss Elia Nyboer; Second grade, Miss Martha Bos; First grade, Miss Minnie Rineck, graduate from Grand Rapids Kindergarten training school; Kindergarten class, Miss Anna Holkeboer.

The janitor for next year has also been changed, Mr. DeVries having accepted the position resigned by Mr. J. Joldersma.

Thousands of Bottles Used For New Macatawa Sport

It took several loads of empty bottles to stock up a new amusement concern that has been opened at Macatawa Park. This is a unique feature put on by Roy Toren and nothing like it has been seen at Macatawa for the amusement of the public. Young Toren picked up the idea on one of his ball playing trips and has adopted it for the local resort.

It is called "The Bottle Shooting Range" and is located on the Black Lake Front with the sand hill as a background. It consists in shooting, with bottles for targets. The smashing of the bottle provides the necessary thrill to the marksmen.

In order to get bottles enough Mr. Toren had them gathered far and wide and he has thousands upon thousands of the kind of half pint bottles that are no longer needed now that Michigan is dry.

The background is protected by a high fence on the side of the hill which prevent the public from wandering within range of the guns and getting hurt.

W. C. T. U. MEMBERS ENJOY PICNIC

About 50 ladies attended the annual outing meeting of the W. C. T. U. at Virginia Park on Friday afternoon, where they were welcomed by Mrs. McClellan at her cottage. A flower mission program was prepared by Mrs. A. Meyer, who also furnished a victrola on which several appropriate selections were played. Mrs. Blekkink told the story of the life of Jennie Cassidy who was the originator of flower mission work. "The Empty Garden" was read by Mrs. Dubbink.

Mr. Ebelink donated a large quantity of carnations and other flowers which were made into bouquets by the ladies and sent to the sick or shut-ins. Mrs. McClellan was elected vice-president to fill the vacancy caused by the removal of Mrs. Champion from the city. The pot luck luncheon was a great success. Several new members were added to the union. The meeting will be discontinued until September.

STATE IS DRY; WEATHER ALSO MAKES MARK

Ottawa county has been experiencing the most severe drought for the month of June in the history of the Gr. Haven weather bureau. Since the first of the present month the rainfall here has amounted to but three hundredths of an inch, which is practically nothing.

The last rain of consequence here occurred on the three days, May 27, 28, and 29. At that time about half an inch of precipitation was recorded at the Grand Haven station, Observer Schnurbusch states.

Since that time there have been lowery days and threats of rain but that is as near an actual rain we have experienced.

It is believed that all June records have been broken. In other years the month of June has been noted for its rainfall and some of the great floods of the old river days, when the saw mills made the lower Grand River valley famous, occurred in June. It was in June years ago in the early 80's that the big boom came near being swept away and millions of dollars in logs were in jeopardy. Stewart Edward White made the event historic in his "The Riverman."

In recent years the only near approach to the present drought occurred in July of 1916. That was the terribly hot and dry July that will never be forgotten by the present generation. The rainfall for that month amounted to but .19 of an inch.

There are still two days in this month left to bring up the precipitation but as far as it has gone there is nothing in the weather bureau records to equal the present mark set by the month of June.

The effect of the drouth is being felt terribly in rural Ottawa and with the frost damage of last Sunday the farmers in this county have surely been up against it. The damage of the drought in this county will mount into six figures.

According to Allegan papers a large can of yellow paint was dumped in front of the Allegan Grange store, because, it is said the personnel of the store did not give enough toward war causes. The frost of last Sunday morning not only took heart out of many farmers but was bad enough to make some of them change their plans for a year or so. RAINFALL ON

SUNDAY HAD A DEPTH OF 1.54

The first real rain that Ottawa County has had since the 29th of May came Sunday morning and this section was given a thorough and much needed soaking. The month period between Sunday's rain and the last shower in May marked this section has ever before experienced.

Thousands of dollars of damage have been inflicted from the dry spell. From all over the county reports have been coming in for weeks of the damage done by the dry weather. The fine rain of Sunday came just in the nick of time and did great good.

The precipitation Sunday amounted to 1.54 inches. Previous to that the rainfall for the other 29 days of the month was practically nothing amounting to .03 of an inch. The total for the month, figuring in Sunday's rain, has amounted to but 1.54 inches, making it the second driest June in the history of the Ottawa weather bureau. In June, 1887, the rainfall here amounted to but .59 inch.

July was ushered in with possibly the lowest temperature on record, the mercury Monday morning stood near the 50 mark. After the squall at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon the weather turned very cold and fires were comfortable in Holland homes Sunday evening.

A STORY WITH A GREAT BIG MORAL

The value of all working together is illustrated by a story told of an incident that occurred during the Boxer rebellion in China. The American missionaries were all gathered in an old fort where, with fear and trembling, they hoped the hostile Chinamen would not find them. At last the news came that they were about to be attacked. They had ammunition and one big gun; but the gun was not in place where they could use it. They tried to move it with a traction engine that was in the fort, but the engine was old, and broke down. They tried to move it with a few horses they had, but the horses were half starved and no basting could get them to make the necessary effort. Finally someone said: "There are a hundred of us here—men, women and children—let us all get a rope and pull together and perhaps we can move the gun to its place." So the cannon was finally put to good use and the lives in the fort protected until the troops came to the rescue.

...If America is to win the war for liberty it will be by all—men, women and children—pulling together. Buy Thrift and War Saving Stamps.

$1,000.00 CLUB ORGANIZED IN HOLLAND

A Thousand Dollar Club has been organized in Holland. City Chairman of the W. S. S. campaign Percy Ray has appointed the following committee to work out the details of the project and to secure a large membership in the city: Con DePree, chairman, Otto P. Kramer and A. H. Landwehr. The committee started out with vim Tuesday morning securing the charter membership of the club and the first announcement will be made Wednesday.

As nearly everybody knows a thousand dollars is the limit that any one can subscribe in the W. S. S. campaign. Even a multi-millionaire cannot own more than $1,000 worth of the stamps. Many cities have formed clubs in which the plan is to gather together all the people in the city who can afford to subscribe that amount, and Holland proposes to make its club one of the largest of its kind for a city of this size.

Wednesday the first list of names will be printed in the Sentinel. This list will be added to from day to day as new members are secured. The list Wednesday will comprise the "charter membership," and those who wish to get in on it should see Mr. De Pree immediately.

There may be some people in the city who have already bought $1,000 worth of stamps before the club was started. If there are such the committee asks that they send in their names so that they may be added to the list. Or there may be some who are near the $1,000 mark. If there are such they are asked to fill out the full amount now and get in on the growing list. Watch for the list tomorrow, and then, after that, watch it grow.

The formation of the $1,000 club does not mean that the taking of small subscriptions will stop. That will go on with more vigor than ever. Holland is not nearly up to its required mark, and the work will not stop either for small or large subscriptions, until the goal has been reached. Every quarter and every dollar counts.

HOLLANDERS TO HAVE DIVISION IN PARADE

The Reformed churches and societies will form on Front avenue, south of Bridge street in similar order.

The Holland division will be escorted by James Buys, Cornelius Hoffmips and Jacob Steketee, mounted.

TO PLAY TWO GAMES ON FOURTH

July 4th morning at 9 o'clock sharp the Holland Independents will cross bats with the fast Okdale Independents of Grand Rapids. The boys have been practicing faithfully as they have two hard games on that day. They journey to Grand Haven in the afternoon. The Okdale team come very highly recommended and have defeated the Reed's Lake Independents the team which Holland defeated a few weeks ago.

The local team will be somewhat changed due to Battema leaving for camp. Doe Walsh will undoubtedly occupy third base. He guarded the hot corner in his university days and is a real third sacker. Then first will be taken care of by Woldring or G. Battema. Stool of the local amateur team has been added and will play the outfield. This change leaves the Holland aggregation as strong as ever. The locals are yet to be beaten, but the Okdale management promises them a sure defeat. A large crowd is expected to give the locals their loyal support.

CHAUTAUQUA PLANNED FOR THIS SEASON

Holland will probably have another chautauqua this summer. A representative of the Lincoln Chautauqua was in the city Monday to learn what the prospects would be. The local committee last year at the conclusion of the week of entertainments refused to sign another contract, and this attitude was maintained by the committee when it met Monday morning and decided that it will not become responsible for the chautauqua this season. As individuals the members of the committee will do what each one thinks he can do to help the movement along and as an organization the committee has pledged its moral support, but it will go no further than that.

This resolution was unanimously adopted: "Resolved that the committee go on record as being in favor of the Lincoln Chautauqua company giving a chautauqua in Holland this summer and that it favors giving the chautauqua its moral support." This resolution was adopted unanimously, the following men voting: J. Vanderhuis, J. Lokker, Andrew Steketee, Arnold Mulder, Wm. Vander Ven, Gerard Cook, A. Van Zanten, Frank White, Fred Beuwkes, Harry Harrington, B. A. Mulder, Ben Brower, Bert Slag and Henry Geerlings.

The resolution was adopted merely to have some definite statement of the local attitude toward a chautauqua. The committee members individually and as a committee felt very kindly toward a chautauqua. It is an excellent institution of considerable aesthetic value to the city and the committee members stated that they wanted it understood that they have a feeling of welcome for an effort of this kind.

But they decided that they were not going to assume financial responsibility or any other responsibility for it this year as they have been doing in the past. If the company wants to come here on its own responsibility, the members of the committee will be glad to welcome them and they bespeak for the chautauqua the hearty support of the public of Holland. But conditions being what they are, the members of the committee felt that the company would have to shoulder all the responsibility. Whatever work will be done by the men will be done purely as individuals.

The committee hopes that the chautauqua, if it comes to Holland, will be a success. The members felt that a chautauqua is more than a money making institution and that it helps toward the moral and educational betterment of a city. But there will be local organization this summer and whatever action is taken by the company itself, coming here on their own responsibility.

The plan of the company is to come to Holland during the week of July 15. The reason for the attitude of the committee is self-evident when it is stated that last year the net loss of the venture was $324.86.

DO NOT WANT THE SAND DUNES TO BLOW AWAY

A systematic attempt may be made to prevent the historic sand dune at Saugatuck known as Old Baldhead from blowing away. Prof. Sanford of the U. of M. has made the following recommendation in regard to it:

"In another extremity of the forest the writer found the most serious blow which is a double-header, resulting finally in a vast mound known as Old Baldhead, which dune is historical, and another lying closer still to the forest, known as Little Bald Head.

"I believe all these dunes are traveling at a very rapid rate, as evidenced by the removal of dunes at the shores and the blowing out of old ground covering, and other proofs which are numerous.

"It is recommended that if possible cooperative steps should be taken to bring systematic control of Little Bald Head, and it is urged that this cooperative include the Forward Movement, the county of Allegan through its agricultural agent, and the M. A. C. department of forestry.

"Such cooperation will demand a considerable amount of money, which should be forthcoming from many sources, owing to the fact that Old Bald Head rapidly approaches the mouth of the river, and is covering up valuable river shore property as well. Little Bald Head is traveling directly upon Forward Movement forest and is covering it up at considerable speed.

It is recommended that the proper procedure in an effort to establish this dune would call for extensive sand catching, temporary barrier and planting work at the extreme source of the blow, which is not far from the lake shore. A series of barriers and protective cover planting would be required until the top of the dune was reached."

Louis Vanden-Berg of the Thompson Mfg. Co. was in Grand Rapids Saturday looking after his exhibit at the Furniture exposition.

HOW THOSE GERMANS DO PAIR OFF

German male "alien enemies" and German female "alien enemies" seem to be pretty equally divided between city and country in this part of Ottawa county. The registration for those from this city is conducted at police headquarters in the city hall, and for those from the country at the post-office.

The final figures show that not only are there exactly as many male Germans registered from country as from city but also exactly as many female Germans from city as from country. And that in spite of the fact that it is not merely a case of registering men and women, since then it might be explained from the fact that in each case the wives registered of the men who signed up last winter, but all girls over fourteen years of age were required to register.

Of the men when registration was held last winter there were exactly 33 in the country and also 23 in the city. This week when the registration of females closed it was found that there were exactly 17 in the country and also 17 in the city.

No explanation except that it is purely a coincidence is at hand for the balance between country and city in the matter of German population.

It is believed that no single person coming under the provisions of the law regarding alien enemies has been overlooked in the registration, and local officials now know exactly where people of this description may be found. For the most part however, the technically "alien enemies," they are not enemies at all, but loyal Americans who have not yet become naturalized.

THE SCHOOL CAUCUS

There is so great a possibility for a small group of men in Holland to dominate a school caucus and election that it is almost a marvel that high grade men are being nominated and elected year after year. For instance, if fifty men should enter into a combine to nominate and elect three vicious citizens of low morality and of a type that would be a disgrace to our schools, they could put it across so easily that people would wonder why it wasn't done before.

The school caucus will be held Wednesday night in the city hall. It is a safe bet that not more than fifty good citizens who have the interests of the schools at heart will come out to vote. All the others take it for granted that good men will be chosen whether they are there or not. Then suppose a bunch of fifty voters who wished to wreck the city schools should come out and vote unitedly on men who would outrage the general public of the city, nothing could prevent them from being successful.

It has never been attempted and so the people of the city feel secure, but that is no guarantee that it will never be done. And if some such coup is ever pulled off the so-called good citizens who stayed at home will have only themselves to blame.

SOLDIERS ARE ENJOYING THINGS COLLECTED IN THIS CITY

Mt. Clemens Woman Writes To Local Organization About The Work

The Elizabeth Schuyler Hamilton Chapter D. A. R. has been collecting old kid gloves, phonograph records and sheet music for the boys in camp. A considerable number of gloves have been sent, the leather of which is used to line aviators' coats. Also more than a hundred phonograph records have been sent. In a letter to Mrs. Robbins, in charge of this work, Winifred Ferrin of Mt. Clemens thanks the local organization for its work and makes an appeal to its members to keep at it. The letter says:

"My dear Mrs. Robbins: The records came in good condition and have been placed at Selfridge Field and the boys are delighted with them. It may interest you to know that most of the records are kept busy in Army Y. M. C. A. camps at the field. When there are duplicates I give those to the Soldiers' Club maintained down town for the boys in khaki, by various churches and societies, our D. A. R. among the rest. Occasionally there may be triplicates among those received; in that case they are given to the boys in the barracks that have Victrolas. Recently a Victrola has been given for use in the hospital and when I have more records to place down there I will see that they get the best there. I assure you they are greatly appreciated, likewise the coats that are made from the gloves and fur. Wish you might see the fine coats that are being made of the gloves. As to the discontinuing the collection of all the things—by all means do not stop in the good work, for I come in personal contact with quite a number of the boys and they are so appreciative of all we can do. I have told them of the splendid help you have given in this work. So kindly collect from now on until our boys reach Berlin."

"Acknowledging all your kindness and help. Your chapter has surely done well. Yours sincerely, "Winifred Ferrin."

OTTAWA MAN TO MAKE FACE FOR SENATE

"Concrete" Wm. Connelly of Spring Lake Tuesday announced his candidacy for the republican nomination at the August primaries for the office of state senator to succeed Senator Vincent Martin of Muskegon who served this district the past two years. Mr. Connelly did not arrive definitely at this conclusion until today after he had had a conference with some of the influential leaders in Muskegon county.

The senatorial district is composed of Muskegon and Ottawa counties. There is an unwritten law that the senatorship shall go to these counties alternately. But there is another unwritten law that a man when once elected shall have two terms, so that each county is entitled to four years in succession.

Mr. Martin was elected in 1916 to succeed Dr. Edward Hafma, an Ottawa county man. Normally Martin would have another two years of it before Ottawa could have a shot at the office, but his business is such that he decided not to run again. There was therefore some question as to whether Ottawa was entitled to the job or Muskegon. If Muskegon got it again their new man would naturally look for two terms, which would give Muskegon six years.

However Connelly would probably not have entered the race if Muskegon had decided to back a man of its own. But it appears that there is no outstanding personality there who is after the job and it is now agreed that after the Connelly term the two counties shall return to the regular schedule. Moreover Mr. Connelly is known as a strong good roads man and Muskegon is, if possible, more in favor of that policy than even Ottawa and so they are about as anxious to elect the Spring Lake man as this county. It is believed that Mr. Connelly will have plain sailing in both counties.

THIRTY-TWO TO GO IN JULY

The number of soldiers to be sent to Camp Ouster from the first draft district of Ottawa County during July is only 32. The smallness of the draft for that month will prevent class one from being depleted. There will be a considerable number left to apply on the August draft and by that time the new registrants of 21 will probably have been classified. These will be placed at the bottom of Class one.

The date of going to camp has not yet been fixed but it will be some time between July 22 and July 26.

Tuesday morning five men were sent by the local board to Van Oover. They joined a group of some eighty men from Grand Rapids, Grand Haven and northern Michigan who passed through Holland Tuesday noon on their way to the camp.

Regular monthly business meeting of the Star of Bethlehem Chapter No. 40 will be held Thursday night, July 4th as there is a considerable amount of business to be taken care of it is hoped all members who can possibly do so will attend. There will be no Red Cross meeting in the afternoon.

LETTER FROM FRANCE

June 9, 1918

Dear Parents:—

I am having the day off. Did not have to get up early this morning but could sleep as long as I wanted to. We always have services at the "Y" at 10:30 on Sundays and I got up in time to go over. Our chaplain is a fine man and his sermons are always worth while. Among his friends he is called St. John and that name just suits his character. Yesterday we sent nearly three hundred patients on to another hospital. Quite a number went back to the trenches too. Now our hospital is making ready for another convoy and so it goes. One group is sent on and new ones arrive. Yesterday afternoon on my time off another nurse and I went down town to witness the presentations of citations and "croix de guerre" (war crosses) which so many relatives of soldiers who had been killed received. There were also a number of wounded soldiers who received the medal. It was very pathetic to see old mothers and fathers often alone, sometimes together and widows and orphans come forward as their names were called to receive either a medal or certificate in honor of their dead. The general after pinning a medal on a soldier kissed him on either cheek, shook hands and saluted him before going on to the next one. One African as black as night and an Arabian were tendered kisses the same as the Pollus. The old general was very stately during the whole ceremony which was very impressive.

Received a card from Harry yesterday. He is evidently in the trenches from the way he wrote. The Americans are good soldiers if reports are true. Yesterday's paper stated that thirty soldiers fought against two hundred Germans and won the day. That surely is splendid work. Mother, I hope you are well again. Received father's letter a few days ago and was glad to hear from home.

No doubt we will be here at least another year and perhaps much longer. I intend to stay until the end of the war. However if furloughs are granted after eighteen months' service and we are allowed to go home for a month, I surely am going to take advantage of the opportunity. Next month we can don our service stripes which means two little pieces of gold braid on the left sleeve indicating a year's service "over seas." Well, I must write some more letters so will have to close this one. With much love to all,

Augusta.

Somewhere in France

Dearest Mother:—

Today is Mothers' Day and every one is writing to his or her mother somewhere in the dear old homeland from "Sunny France." The "Stars and Stripes" the official paper of the American troops in France had quite a notice about it some time ago, and a request by Gen. Pershing, that every one here write home on that day. I imagine that every one is doing so.

This morning we were all presented with a carnation to wear in honor of mother, and how gladly we all wore them and how proud we were.

Just now there is great excitement here because one of our medical officers has been transferred to the A. E. F. and is forming a mobile unit of 22 nurses and thirty men to take with him. The burning question now is "What nurses will be chosen?" Most of us are quite anxious to go to see really more of the war and experience more of it, because we are located in a quiet peaceful little village undisturbed in certain respects by the war. Of course underneath, it is deeply felt, for I do not think there is a single family here that has not lost some member of their family during the last four years. Some are prisoners in Germany, some have been killed and the women nearly all have to earn their own living and support the children.

It is "Apple Blossom Time in Normandy" just now, and the apple trees are beautiful, but we do not pick the blossoms, for every bit of fruit and food is needed.

Yesterday was the great yearly feast day here, and the village was crowded with people. They came from all the neighboring villages and from quite a distance away. The village was decorated with flags of every description and pennants galore. The bed-patients who were brought out for their daily sun-baths also had their beds decorated with flags and garlands. Now I must tell you what the occasion of all this festivity was. It was the yearly confirmation time of the children of the Roman Catholic church and also the anniversary of the ancient custom of "Blessing the Sea". I do not think there is any other village in France where this is done. The custom of "Blessing the Sea" and holding a memorial service for fishermen and sailors who have been lost at sea is said to be 800 years old. I do not know how it originated. This year they had the great honor of having His Eminence, Cardinal Du Bois, Archbishop of Rouen and Primate of Normandy. First there was a great procession of little children, all dressed in white, with garlands on their heads. Then came the young girls and boys who had been confirmed and the girls all wore long white dresses and veils, and the boys in black suits. Then some acolytes and priests in their distinctive robes, the old padre of the village in his black robes, and then the cardinal in his gorgeous red robe with his gold mitre and crozier. It was very impressive. They marched all through the village, and then to the seashore where a freshly painted boat gaily decorated was waiting for them. The cardinal, the padre, some of the acolytes and priests and a few of the fishermen got in, and the boat was launched. They went out a short distance chanting something and then cardinals sprinkled the sea with holy water and blessed it. Then they came back and paraded through the village again. All along the way as they paraded, the people would kiss the cardinal's ring and mothers would hold up their children to do it. He also stopped at some of our patients' beds, and shook hands with each one, speaking words of comfort and sympathy, which did them good, even if they did not understand what he was saying. In the afternoon there was a reception here for him, and we all shook hands with him, and those of Roman Catholic faith kissed his ring. In the afternoon there was a band concert from 2 to 6 o'clock in the square and on the beach so that all in all it was a great day. Fortunately the weather and tide were very favorable and every one seemed happy.

Next week is the anniversary of our sailing from New York, and we are planning to celebrate by having a big dinner at the Blanquet. I have been here almost a year now, and have had no "leave" or vacation thus far. You know I was to have had a week off just before the great offensive began, but of course there is no chance for that at all now. My duties were changed a few days ago, and I am sure you cannot guess what they are now, so I will tell you. I am "on the mess" as the phrase goes. I am not crazy about it, but it is a change from running a surgical ward of 47 patients. I imagine it will be a good thing for me however because I was beginning to get thin again. The mails are very irregular these days and we are all so anxious to know if an American mail has come in. But this is war and I suppose we should be happy to have any at all. At any rate we are better off than the Australian nurses are in that respect for it usually takes a letter two or three months to reach them. That is rather tough luck I think. Good-night now, dearest and best of mothers. A good-night and heaps of love.

Your own girl,

Esther Fortpaine.

Letter from a Soldier

Co. K, 1st Inf., Lewis Am. Lake, Dear Editor:—

As my regiment has left Hawaiian Islands, and are now stationed temporarily at Camp Lewis, Wash., I would be pleased to have you send me the paper at the latter place.

We sailed from Honolulu on May 31 and arrived at Seattle ten days later. We have a fine camp here and it surely seems good to be back on the old U. S. if only for a short time. The only drawback is the climate, which is mighty cold here, at least so it seems to me. The Red Cross was right on the job, however, and provided us with sweaters and comforters, which proved a god-send to us.

Am feeling fine and hope the rest of the boys from Holland in the service are also. Would like to hear from some of the H. B. C. boys.

Thanking you for your kindness shown me, by sending the home news I am very truly yours,

Jacob Spruit.

SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE

Dear Mother:—

Just a line today to let you know I am well and hope this finds you the same. It is a fine day as it should be at this time of year. I am sure you would be interested in knowing that I have been to the "Front Lines" for a period of days and found that war over here is far different than in the states. I have learned one lesson since I was there and that was to keep my head down. Mosquitoes and rats are very thick in the trenches. Letters are very cheating to us and it pleases us very much to receive them, but write as soon as possible how father is getting along.

France is a beautiful country; they have fine roads, but the buildings are very old and the people themselves are a hundred years behind the age. Even the roofs on the houses and barns are of stone. In most places the houses and barns are combined. They keep their stock and cattle in the same building that they themselves live in. Their teams are very queer for they either hitch two or three horses ahead of one another or else they hitch a cow or an ox together with the horse. There are many hills in France. Well as I must close and go to mess, I will say good bye, hoping to hear from you soon.

I am as ever your son, with love and best wishes,

SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE

Dear Folks at home:—

Sunday night, my night to write letters, so will scribble a few lines before retiring. As usual I have no news to write. The only thing I can think of that will be of interest to you, is the state of my health which by the way is perfect. I am very glad that Erma is with you. I have received two letters from her since she has been there and a card from Ell, but have not heard from the rest of you since her arrival. Well mother when you receive this, I will be almost through here at the school. That means that I will soon have the opportunity to strafe Fritz. The sooner the better for that is what I am here for.

We had quite an entertainment at the school last night. Our company put on a minstrel show (all our own talent) and it was a great success. The jokes and songs were good. The only thing lacking was the dancing. We had no clog dancers. Dad I wish you could have been there to give them a step or two. I thought of you all thru the show.

Just a few lines to Erma and then must close. I intended to write a separate letter tonight, little girl, but it is getting late so must content myself with a few lines to you in this. I really have nothing interest to write you. It is very difficult to write a letter under the conditions imposed by the censorship. Matters that would be of interest to the folks at home we cannot write, which is perfectly proper, for it might also prove of interest to the enemy. However I can tell you about the weather, my health, etc., and I will have to close for lights will be going out in a very few minutes. Will write you a letter in a day or two. Love to you all from your husband, son and brother, Candidate Lloyd J. Purchase, Army Candidate School, American P. O. No. 714, A. E. F.

P. S.—Get busy with your kodak sis, and send me some pictures of the family with its new addition.

Letter from Soldier Boy

Dear Sir:—

I have been receiving the Sentinel, daily and am very glad that altho I am many miles from, I can keep in touch with what is going on in dear old Holland, and to get all the news through your courtesy. I wish to express my thanks to you, and every day I look forward to getting the Sentinel.

Now just a few words concerning army life. The army life cannot be beaten. As you know I'm at Camp Meigs, located in northeastern part of Washington, D. C. It's a quartermaster camp and last week they started a quartermaster school. I was chosen with eleven more from our company to attend this school. There are about 300 attending, all picked out of the various companies. At the present time there are between thirty-five hundred and four thousand fellows in camp and more coming every day. They teach various courses in the school, such as warehousing, subsistence clerical work, etc.

Our hours are from 7 a. m. to 5 p. m., allowing one hour for dinner and also two hours of hard drilling in the early-morning. The rest of the day is studying, classes and practice. We do most of our studying, tho at night as our days are all taken up with other work.

This course will take us from six to eight weeks and at the end of that time we will most likely be shipped across or in various parts of the U. S. We'll also be made some officer at the end of the course. So you see it means hard work for the next six or eight weeks but sure is something worth working for.

Once again thanking you for sending me the Sentinel, I wish to remain an earnest reader,

Private Louis B. Dalman, Q. M. C. Co. 3 A 16, Camp Meigs, Wash., D. C.

Dear Sister Alta:—

Received your letter and was glad to hear that you are all well as I am. We had some rain yesterday and it is dark and cloudy today. The sun tries to shine once in awhile.

Well, mother wanted a flower from France and I went out and picked a couple of field flowers at the front line trench. We are having a picnic all the time, staying in dugouts and in the woods at that.

Just got through washing some of my clothes and I want them to dry before tonight, as I am afraid "Fritz" will think that I hung them out for him and he might walk off with them.

I wish you could see how we live. We have a table under the trees and we surely live fine. Have French Fried potatoes beefsteak and good bread, some times we have butter. We make good coffee. We can hear the guns night and day and sometimes they shell our way and make us run for our dugout.

It makes a fellow feel creepy at night when he is on guard and knows that the Huns have a raiding party out and also hear the large rats running about. You feel like taking a shot at everything at night, but we do not shoot, but keep our hands near our 45-S-W.

Well the Lieut. is here and I want to send this letter with him so I will close and write again soon.

Hoping to hear from you soon, with love, I am your Brother,

Earl Niverson,

H. D. Q. Co. 126 Inf.

WHAT YOU SAW IN THIS PAPER
THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

The Baccalaureate sermon by Dr. Scott, before the students of Hope College, last Sunday evening was listened to by a large portion of our citizens. The sermon was a very interesting production.

A new Holland paper has been started in Muskegon. It is called De Nieuwsbode, and is published every Thursday. Editorially it is an able sheet, at least we suppose so.

Rev. Dr. Abram Messler of, Somerville, N. J., died on the 12th of June. He was one of the oldest and best known of the ministers of the Reformed church, and was the pastor of the late Rev. Dr. A. T. Stewart of this city, when he entered upon his studies.

The city has been crowded with visitors this week who desire to attend the commencement exercises of Hope college.

Ottawa county reports 39 deaths within its borders during the month of May. In the same month Allegan reported 32 and muskegon 30. During the month Grand Haven had eight deaths and Holland three.

Many of the citizens of Holland took a tumble Wednesday night, and then another tumble. It all happened under the canvas of Will Knott's circus. A couple of sections of seats gave way shortly after the performance began, precipitating over one hundred people to the ground in a heap. The seats were rearranged and the people again occupied them only to fall to the ground a second time. Two persons were slightly injured, and the escape of the remainder was marvelous.

HOLLAND WELL ADVERTISED BY PATHFINDER

We have always felt and still feel that the Holland resorts are not appreciated as much as they should be by the Holland people. We take the advantages derived more as a matter of course and as a sort of "divine right," pardon the term, and that is coming to us because Dr. Van Raalte happened to light on this particular spot which was about as good as any half dozen others that possibly were under consideration.

Holland can lay no claim to any of the resort developments as a city. A few of its citizens perhaps, naming the late "Jack" Post, the Walshes, G. J. Diekema, E. J. Harrington and possibly the men who sunk their much needed cash in the first Holland and Chicago line venture, deserve all the praise. The start they made formed the nucleus for the greater developments that followed.

Later millions of dollars were spent in hotels, beautiful summer homes, docks, steamers, Interurbans, harbor improvements, water, and light plants, miles of concrete walks, thru beautiful natural scenery, amusement parks and what not. In short it can be said that, a veritable belt of summer homes is stretched around a beautiful body of water with a shore line of at least 20 miles.

Holland can thank a great deal of its development to the upbuilding and improving of this immense resort property. Outsiders have not alone contributed much by virtue of their building beautiful homes, their paying of taxes and labor, but remember that after it is all complete the up-keep and living constituted no small times items in which Holland again benefits. Yes, and don't forget that many have gone into their pockets to aid institutions that are purely local.

But getting down to the subject, Holland and the resorts are getting some very fine publicity thru the national Press that we should appreciate. Last week the "Pathfinder," writing for the automobile page of the Chicago American-Herald gave a detailed story of his trip over the West Michigan Pike ending at Holland and the local resorts, advising this trip as one of the most enjoyable week-end motor tours that could be taken. Accompanying the article was a detailed map of the direction to follow and the cities that the motorists would strike, Holland not being forgotten. A description of Holland and the resorts were also given.

The same week the Chicago Tribune comes out with a trip much along this line also embracing the Holland resorts and ending the tour here. The Detroit Papers of Sunday all mention Holland and the local resorts and the three Grand Rapids papers give a great deal of space to our watering places. One calls Black Lake "the pearl of them all." Another advocates a Sunday auto trip to Macatawa giving the details as to roads.

The Grand Rapids Herald of Sunday through its Pathfinder, Charles L. Merriman routes a pleasure tour for the Fourth of July which also brings us into a great deal of favorable prominence.

Here is Mr. Merriman's dope on a trip from Grand Rapids to Holland and Macatawa then over the pike to Grand Haven, back over the Muskegon stone road to Grand Rapids, making a triangle tour of it.

"For this week The Herald's pathfinders covered three popular routes in order that our readers might have a greater choice of trips for the July 4th vacation. Each is to a popular Lake Michigan resort center and each totals less than 100 miles for the round trip, which makes just a pleasant drive for the average motorist.

"Our first day was devoted to the route to Holland and Macatawa and Jenison Parks, going by way of Grandville, Hudsonville and Zeeland. We had intended extending this route to include Saugatuck, but after we made the drive ourselves going over one road and returning by the only other available road between Holland and Saugatuck, we are loath to recommend the trip. There is a cement road now being built to connect the two cities and when this is completed it will be one of the most pleasant drives in western Michigan. Meantime it's too rough a trip to afford any pleasure.

"As a substitute for the Saugatuck route we charted the road from Holland to Grand Haven and thence to Grand Rapids, completing a triangle for a total of 90 miles.

From Grand Rapids to Zeeland the road is gravel for the entire distance with only two short rough stretches where fresh gravel has been applied. From Zeeland on to Holland the present route is over a detour which is rough in spots, but regular road will soon be repaired and ready for traffic.

"From Holland to Jenison Park and Macatawa a detour also has to be followed which is sandy and rough in places. Officials in charge of the new cement road now under construction at this point informed us that they hoped to have it ready by July 1, then detour will not be necessary.

"The drive from Holland to Grand Haven is one of the prettiest we have discovered this season, the ground lying level for miles and the gravel road running like a ribbon between fields of growing crops. The road is better than the average, being well turmpiked and smooth, though not any too wide. The only bad spot is about one-half mile just south of Grand Haven, which at the present is sand ruts. This stretch, however, is soon to be improved."

One thing is certain, it pays, from the

TO BE
PRESIDENT'S GUEST

Representatives of all nationalities attending the guests of President Wilson at the White House, at Mt. Vernon, will be held at Washington's tomb.

H. G. J. Diekema has received and accepted an invitation from a committee composed of the Secretary of State, the Secretary of War and the Secretary of Navy to be present as the President's guest and to represent the Americans of Dutch origin at the occasion.

IS KILLED IN ACTION ON THE FRENCH FRONT

Hundreds of people in Holland were shocked Sunday when the news reached the city of the death in action of Lieut. Carl A. Johnson, who was killed in action in France. Details of the tragedy have not yet reached Holland.

Mr. Johnson was at one time a student at Hope College. For a year or two he was a representative of the Grand Rapids News here, that paper being published by his brother. He took an active part in many things in Holland and was very popular here.

Lieutenant Johnson would have been 27 years old had he lived into July. He has been a soldier since he was big enough to shoulder a rifle. He was born in Minneapolis, the son of the late Charles A. Johnson. There he entered the newspaper business as a young man in the mechanical department of the Minneapolis Tribune and plugged along until he became night editor. Later on he went to the Chicago Record-Herald and from there came to Grand Rapids with his brother and became business manager of the Grand Rapids News.

When 17 years of age he enlisted in the national guard of Minnesota and served there so long as he remained in the state. When trouble began to brew in Mexico, Mr. Johnson enlisted in Co. L, Thirty-Second Michigan Infantry, as an enlisted man. Before the company left Grayling for the Mexican border he was given his warrant as corporal and later as sergeant. He has served all through the eight months of border duty and upon his return home was commissioned first lieutenant in Company M of Grand Rapids battalion. He went away with the troops in the service of his country to the greatest battle field of all time. He was a good soldier, efficient as such and yet loved by his men. He passed through the long, hard training at Waco and was the happiest man alive when the One Hundred and Twenty-Sixth sailed for France.

THE PRICE

The death in action in France of Lieutenant Carl A. Johnson is a tragic fact, and words are wholly inadequate to make the meaning of this death clear. Those of us in Holland who loved him and respected him for his splendid manhood know that he made the sacrifice gladly. He loved life as much as any of us, but there was something he valued more than life and it was that something for which he died.

His death is part of that price we are paying and will continue to pay in greater measure as the war continues. Pathetic though the snuffing out of a promising young life would be under any circumstances, if it were an isolated event it would not mean something personal to each one of us. But it touches us all when it is remembered that it is but a hint of the universal sacrifice that the American people will be called upon to make. They will make this sacrifice gladly when the need arises, as the former Hope College boy has done, but each death, if it is not to be a meaningless sacrifice, will have to make the determination of all the rest of us more fixed to attain the end for which such as these have died.

standpoint of publicity to get our bad roads improved as soon as possible, to get these improvements completed with all possible speed, and to keep the roads in repair after they are improved. It was very noticeable that the Pathfinder's writeups in the two Chicago papers and also in the Grand Rapids Herald gave very minutely the bad spots in the roads to avoid and detours that had to be made. They did not forget the bad stretch going into Grand Haven, the detour on the Zeeland and also the Macatawa Park road, they slammed the road leading into Ottawa Beach proper. The thing for Holland to do is to advocate road improvements, and vote for road improvement. Another thing we must do is to appreciate our parks more, cater to the wants of our summer visitors more. Give them what they want for surely it will pay in dollars and cents. Believe us, the resorts are refreshing places for even Holland people to go to these days, in this war turmoil. They are about the only spots left where one is not directly confronted with the war atmosphere that hangs as a pall over the nation. Holland should appreciate that which has practically been given to them.

HOLLAND BOY
FLIES OVER
HUN LINES

Mr. G. J. Diekema just received a letter from his son, Willis, who is a pilot in the 91st American Aviation Squadron, in France, stating that he has been flying over the German lines since the first of June in the Observation Departments; that they have located many German artillery bases and have encountered many German machines. Explosions of bombs from anti air craft guns occasionally fill the air, but thus far his machine has not been touched.

"Just before taking his first flight over the German lines, he wrote the following letter:

"Dear family: In an arbor of green, with thousands of little wood flowers peeping their heads through between the brown colored leaves of last fall and the new green grass of the early spring, with a glorious warm sun shining and the notes of song birds ringing overhead, how can I be aught but happy!

"Midst the roar of big guns in the distance, the whirr of aeroplane motors overhead, the news of a violent drive on the western front, the information that our ships will be ready for us in a very short time, and that we will 'move up,' how can I be aught but happy!

"After aigh unto a year of preparation, and the seasoning of a world of experiences, pleasant and unpleasant, the spring flowers of our real military career are budding, and the sun shines full upon us, strengthening us for the storms of wind, hail and rain, that still are coming.

"We came here for a purpose. To help accomplish it will soon be our opportunity and as I write, I vow allegiance to my original conceptions as to the duties of a man in such a time as this.

"Lovingly, "Willis."

FLAG AT HALF MAST
FOR LIEUT. JOHNSON

The flag on the city hall was placed at half mast Monday from 12 o'clock to 1 on my authority in honor of Lieut. Carl A. Johnson, formerly of Holland, who died in action in France in the service of his country. I feel that it is appropriate that Holland as a city should officially recognize the sacrifice which this splendid young man has made. Hundreds of people here knew and loved him and the news of his death in action brought the war closer home to all of us than it has ever come before. Placing the flag at half mast is but a small mark of recompense for the sacrifice of a young life, but I trust that it expresses in some small way the heartfelt appreciation of the people of this city and their sympathy with his sorrowing relatives, some of whom are also well known here.

HOLLAND RESPONDS WITH FORTY AUTOS

Nearly 200 persons journeyed to Black Lake Saturday to attend the annual picnic of the DeMolai commandery of the Knights Templar which was held on the Landwehr estate.

A platoon parade on Eighth street was the main event of the day and four platoons of 12 men each marched. Games were played and nearly the entire number cooled off in the waters of the lake. A basket lunch was served and at 7 o'clock the fun broke up and the return trip started.

The Landwehrs and the Holland members were voted royal entertainers.

Many Knights from Saugatuck and Fennville were also present. At least forty autos were ready to receive the women guests at the depot when the special Interurban car came in, but not as many came in that way as had been expected and ten cars were ample for that purpose. Nearly half of the Templars came by auto from Grand Rapids accompanied by their families. More cars were needed after the fancy drill was over at Centennial park when the marching men were all taken to Hazel Bank.

CAMPAIGN IS STILL ON FOR
SALE OF W. S. S.

Campaigners in the interest of the War Savings Stamps did not drop out of the running over the week end. While no active selling was carried on over Sunday, the committee in charge of the sale of the stamps in this city and district has been busy arranging the plans for the present week.

Chairman Bouwerman has received some complaints from persons who were inclined to be peeved because salesmen had not called upon them. If there are any others in the city in the same state of mind the chairman urges them not to wait, but to come into headquarters and subscribe for all they can possibly see their way to do.

This is a matter which requires no invitation and which should require no urging. Thus far Holland is still considerably behind. The campaign has been extended until Saturday July 8.

A son was born Tuesday morning to Mr. and Mrs. John Bekken. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Steketeo of Sturgis, Michigan, are visiting in Holland.

DECK HAND JUMPS FROM STEAMER CITY OF GRAND RAPIDS

Reports have come to Holland that a deck hand had jumped from the deck of the "City of Grand Rapids" as she was leaving Chicago harbor Friday night for her return trip to Holland.

The story brought to Holland is that the man was talking to a companion and jokingly said "I feel just like going overboard". Sighting the action to the word he made a dive and disappeared in Lake Michigan. He came to the top and life preservers were thrown to him but he did not seem willing to grab them, although within reach. Then he disappeared. The Sentinel called up the Graham & Morton officials at Holland and was informed that nothing of such a nature had been heard but that the boat had not yet arrived. The report however was not denied.

SUCCESSFUL RIFLE SHOOT IS HELD

A very successful shoot of the Holland Rifle club was held Wednesday afternoon on the local range. Fourteen took part in the shoot and twelve of them made scores of 60 or over, only two falling below that score. The scores were as follows: A. Ekblad, 80; C. A. Bigge, 78; Wm. Davis, 63; Chas. Van Zyl, 63; Lou Bouwman, 67; M. Vander Bie, 62; Wm. Welding, 70; R. S. Porter, 60; Jake Fris, 40; Lewis Mause, 65; Gerrit Knoll, 63; Albert Vos, 72; Dick Homkes, 63; J. Meedoor, 63.

G. & M. COMPANY LOSES VALUABLE MAN

L. H. Sebastian, for many years superintendent of motive power of the Graham & Morton Line, has been "commandeered" by the United States government. Sebastian was so valuable a man in his line of work that the government decided they needed him and he has been appointed supervising engineer on the Great Lakes. His work will consist in overseeing the construction of boilers and engines of the vessels being built by the government on the Great Lakes for the U. S. Merchant Marine.

Mr. Sebastian will make his headquarters at Cleveland. He has been with the Graham & Morton company for many years. He supervised the construction of the "City of Benton Harbor" many years ago and has been with the company ever since. Being an exceptionally able man in his line the company parted with him regretfully, but cheerfully released him when Uncle Sam said he was needed to help win the war.

MUST QUALIFY TO BE OF FOUR MINUTE CALIBER

To be a four minute speaker requires some extemporaneous ability and a man must go through some experiences in order to become qualified. For instance the government asks that in order to join this organization the speaker must have gone thru at least three speaking campaigns that relate to the war.

The four minute men who are now qualified to be called such are proud of their sobriquet and are having luncheons every Monday in order to become still more efficient Orators.

Last Monday a luncheon was given by the Ladies Guild of Grace church in the parlors and next week Monday a similar affair will be held. A war menu is always the first consideration of course. The qualified four-minute men now are the following: E. D. Dimment, A. H. Landwehr, J. A. Kelley, C. H. McBride, H. Geerlings, H. Winter, A. Van Duren, A. Leenhouts, E. Ray, P. T. Miles, Rev. Bowerman, E. P. Davis, E. E. Fell, Con DePree, G. J. Diekema, Rev. Wm. Wyckoff, E. Brooks, Dick Boter, F. Bolhuis, P. T. McCarthy, H. Pelgrim, Jr., Prof. J. E. Kuizenga, Rev. P. P. Cheff, Rev. H. Veldman, Prof. A. Raap, Thos. N. Robinson.

RIVER BOAT HAS NOW BEEN DISCONTINUED

The Fruit Growers Association have discontinued boat service on Grand River until the raspberry season. At that time they will again operate for the accommodation of the up river growers.

On July fourth Mr. Cheff will be the Orator of the day at a big patriotic celebration to be given in Oostburg, Wis.

EXPLAINS HIS ARTICLE IN THE CONTINENT

An article recently contributed to The Continent, by Dr. J. T. Bergen, formerly pastor of Hope church and now pastor of a Presbyterian church in Minneapolis, seems to have been misunderstood, according to a letter from the former Holland man. The article was on Premillennialism, but Dr. Bergen's protest was not in the nature of theological discussion, he explains, but was purely a matter of straight thinking and vigorous action in a political and patriotic way.

Dr. Bergen has been extremely active in war work ever since the war began and he was one of those who tried to enlist for active service. He believes very strongly in the justice of the American cause and he wrote about the theological doctrine in question because it was being used in the anti-war cause.

Dr. Bergen writes: "I have never 'attacked' Premillennialism as a belief or as the opinion of certain Bible students and theologians. It is their liberty thus to interpret Christ's Coming. And I never have denied that He will come in bodily form in the near future. Be it far from me! He may come in bodily form at any time. His coming is always imminent, according to His statement. But this is not Premillennialism. I have noted the danger of propagating that belief as a Christian doctrine. And I have denied that the Christian Church stands for it. Especially in these war times, here in Minnesota this belief has been made the ground of opposition to our government at war."

"I care comparatively little for the exegetical or theological controversy involved; but I do care a whole lot for the disloyalty which its literal application engenders."

As an officer of the Staff, speaking in public on the street, my call to arms and my plea for recruits have been met with this fanatical premillennialism, opposing the war against Germany on the ground of their interpretation of the Second Coming of Christ. To promulgate such a theory at such a time as this is certainly dangerous. German agents would not hesitate for a moment to use such a propaganda in their infamous intrigue."

Paul Visscher, who has been home on furlough since Saturday will return to camp Tuesday. Mr. Visscher is in the gas defense service and is stationed at Lakehurst, N. J.

UNITE ON NEWBERRY

His Friends Believe He is the Man to Harmonize All Elements in the Republican Party.

Paul H. King, executive chairman of the Newberry Senatorial Committee, asked for an expression, has issued a statement for the press of Michigan as follows:

"I have been asked for a statement as to the position of our Committee, and am very glad, indeed, to make one, although as a matter of fact it had not occurred to me that one was necessary."

"The fact that a few of our good friends in the Democratic party have met together and decided upon a candidate for United States Senator has got in any way disturbed the friends of Commander Newberry, who are so earnestly and successfully advocating his nomination."

"This action has certainly aroused the spirit of the Republican party in the state. Many republicans do not hesitate to express themselves as believing that the party in Michigan is able to select its candidate for Senator without outside suggestion. Moreover, the attention of everyone has now been called to the necessity of the selection at this time for this high office of the ablest man available."

"It is unquestionably the patriotic duty of every citizen to lend his effort to help bring about the selection of such a man. That is why, I believe, the men of Michigan, irrespective of party in many instances, are rallying to the support of Truman H. Newberry. They know that he has the ability, the broad experience and the vision of the future and that his integrity is beyond question. He is not only in the service himself, but his sons also, and in fact his entire family. He is doing everything possible to help win the war. He is devoting his entire time and attention to his duties in the Third Naval District. His friends believe that he is just the man to unite all elements in the Republican party, and that as Senator he would acceptably serve the people of the whole state."

"We shall go steadily forward with our efforts in his behalf until the day of the primaries. We have literally thousands of assurances of support and we are confident of his nomination and election."

Attendance at baby clinics in Muskegon is so much above expectations that the scores of mothers responding to the calls have literally swamped the workers. At a single session held recently at a local school house 988 babies were brought in for examination.

John Rutgers of the Rutgers Clothing Co. will be the auctioneer at the Red Cross Fourth of July celebration at West Olive tomorrow.

A linen shower was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jake DeVries, 325 Central Avenue, in honor of Mrs. Joe Ross Hanes, Mrs. Hanes was formerly Mrs. Rose Hoogenstyn, well known to many in this city. The house was decorated in red, white and blue, also with hearts and cupid as trimmings. Mr. Hanes is a sergeant at Camp Custer. There were 32 present. Out of town guests were Mrs. Waiereder and daughter Dorothy of Chicago, and Mrs. D. Brondyk of Sue St. Marie. Dainty refreshments were served. The shower proved more productive than any we have had in June from the weatherman.

In accordance with the request of the food administrator no refreshments were served.

Otto Pauels took the interurban car for Grand Rapids today for a visit.

FARMERETTES ENJOY LIFE AT SHELBY

The "Holland Farmerettes" tell about their experiences in the following letter:

Kamp Khnos, Shelby, Mich.
July 1, 1918

Dear Editor:—

We were very much delighted to read in the paper the article regarding the Holland farmerettes at Shelby. This new work which we are undertaking is very interesting.

We are located two and a half mile from Shelby on a four hundred acre farm, owned and managed by N. Demmon and son. The scenery about us is very beautiful, and on a clear day we can see dear old Lake Michigan, sixteen miles away. Our unit is composed of fifteen girls under the supervision of Miss Blanche Pepler, a Columbia graduate, who is considered the most competent in the state, in fact the United States, for this work.

We live in two large tents near a large cottage which is occupied by our competent cooks, Mrs. B. Taylor and daughter Dorothy. Our dining hall is also in the cottage.

We are under strict military discipline. Taps are sounded at 4:30 a. m. for rising. At 5 A. M. we form in line and march to the mess hall. At 5:30 roll call is taken at headquarters and we are assigned our work for the day.

At 11:30 A. M. taps are sounded for dinner and at 1:30 taps are again sounded for work. Taps again at 5:30 P. M. for supper. The taps that seem the hardest to respond to are those at 9 P. M. for bedtime. It is not our custom to retire while it is still day-light but we have to obey or pay a heavy fine. We also are fined for tardiness at meals, and wasting food. The fines collected will be donated to the Red Cross and Y. M. C. A. funds.

Mr. Demmon and son Wilbur are very very congenial and hospitable. They have given us a variety of work to do, such as picking and packing strawberries, gooseberries, and best of all the dark, juicy sweet cherries. Our life out here is more play than work. Every evening some of the girls go to Crystal Lake and others are entertained in the various homes around.

Last Saturday evening we made our first visit to Shelby. It seemed to us that we were well known on account of several remarks which we overheard. Wilbur Demmon kindly conveyed us back and forth in his beautiful Pierce-Arrow machine.

After our return and a few hours' rest, we were suddenly awakened by a terrible storm. It was not long before streams of water were pouring on our beds. Blankets, shoes and clothing were hurriedly pulled out of the whirlpool of water. Soon a line of campers was seen emerging from the tents with their few belongings. For the remainder of the night and Sunday we were quartered in the cottage. Short services were held on Sunday afternoon. Later in the afternoon the Misses Pepler, Smith and Cathcart entertained their new acquaintances Charles Bush, John Oliver and Merrill Pratt. Mr. G. Hunt, ex-Mayor Vanderhulst, Ben Brower and Wm. Vander Ven have also called upon us. If any Holland people motor along the Pike we would be delighted to have them visit us. We are a mile from the Pike, between Shelby and Hart.

With Best wishes from the Holland Farmerettes, we are as ever,
Adelaide Borgman,
Mary Ellen Thornton,
Genevieve Van Putten.
