RESORT SEASON LAUNCHED HERE WITH PROGRAM

Thousands Watch Holiday Events From Shores of Macatawa

Four Escape Burns When Fireworks Explode Accidentally

Holland opened the summer season with an all-day Fourth of July program on Lake Macatawa which attracted thousands of townspeople, tourists and resorters to the lake's shores.

Climaxing the day at 9:30 p.m. was a big display of fireworks shot from a lake barge in the middle of the lake. When about half of the display had been shot, suddenly, fireworks started going in all directions and it looked as though a serious accident had occurred.

The big explosion, however, proved to be only a box of small bombs going off. One bomb was accidentally ignited and then set off the rest. Two-thirds of the box had already been shot and the "bombing" lasted only a few seconds.

Those on the barge at the time the premature explosion were John Van Tatenhove, Wallace Kuite, Vernon Hertz and Sea Scout Jesse Gressler.

The four were prevented from receiving burns or serious injuries by the fact that a large canvas was covering the exploding fireworks. The canvas caught fire but the four men quickly brought the flames under control.

Some of the larger pieces of aerial fireworks was lost in the explosion together with the "Good Night" piece with a result that thousands stood by waiting for the remainder of the fireworks.

Mr. Van Tatenhove who had charge of the fireworks regretted the fact that the "accident" prevented those who lined both shores of the lake from seeing the more beautiful pieces which had been saved for the last.

Capt. Charles Bontekoe of the Holland Coast guard station, reported that the coast guard put out a fire at 1 a.m. this morning on the lake barge from which Fourth of July fireworks were shot.

Mr. Van Tatenhove, who had charge of the fireworks, said that he and his committee remained on the barge for about an hour, and that when they left everything seemed to be all right.

Captain Bontekoe said that the fire had probably started from a spark which lodged between the boards and which did not start burning until the men had left.

He and Emmett F. Foster, motor and machinist mate and Ivan E. Evans, seaman, second class, went to the barge with a speedboat and extinguished the fire with lake water.

Another feature of the evening was the water sports circus featuring fancy aquaplaning, jitterbug riding, ski jumping and novel water skiing by Charles R. Sligh, Jr., and his troupe. In the group besides Sligh were August Genaine, a Swiss boy, former ski instructor at the Sun Valley winter resort in Utah, George Good, former Hope college athlete, Mort Roberts, Bill Telling, Bud Pickard, skiing soldier from Fort Custer and "Madame X."

The other evening event was the Venetian night parade with prizes awarded to the best-dressed boat. Vic Watkins of Muncie, Ind., won first with his "Phyllis E," J. W. Hobeck, second, with "Miss Edith" and Charles Sligh, Jr., third.

Judging the boats were John Arendshorst, O. S. Cross, Vaudie Vandenberg and L. H. Henke.

Arendshorst and Vandenberg also judged the fishing contest held during the morning with prizes awarded for the biggest fish caught in Lake Macatawa before noon.

First prize of $5 went to John Hilbink, 198 West 14th St., who caught a 22-inch silver catfish. His fish weighed four pounds and two ounces. His brother, Ray Hilbink, 220 West 13th St., was second with a black bass which weighed 14 ounces.

Sailboat races for the crescent class sponsored by the Macatawa Bay Yacht club were first on the day's program. Frank Fulk of Terre Haute, Ind., took first in this event, Judd Bradford, second, and Delwyn Van Tongeren, third.

A novelty power vs. sail race, also sponsored by the Macatawa Bay Yacht club was the first event of the afternoon. Charles Sligh, Jr., won first in "Lili Britt III," Bill Tahaney second in the "Aloha II" and Lester Harrett third in the "Inez Less."

Also on the afternoon program was a water-ski performance and a power boat parade following.

Photographer Catches 'Explosion'

Although the lives of four men were endangered at the time, the accidental explosion of a quantity of fireworks at the Holland Chamber of Commerce's Fourth of July celebration on Macatawa bay last Friday night created an unusual display for the thousands of Hollanders, tourists and resorters who lined both sides of the lake. The unusual picture, shown above, was caught by the photographer during the explosion of the fireworks.

FLAGS TRAIN, SAVES TRUCK

Driver Grabs Flare When Trailer Becomes Stuck on Track Here

Tragedy was averted shortly before 8:30 p.m. July 2 when the driver of a Muskegon truck flagged a train after his truck became stuck on the tracks near the plant of the Michigan Gas and Electric Co. on 12th St. between Lincoln and Columbia Aves.

The driver, apparently not familiar with the gas company roads, turned onto the tracks after loading his trailer with creosote. The right dual wheels of the trailer straddled the west rail of the main track of the Pere Marquette line and, due to an elevation of the sidewalk at the crossing, the trailer could not clear.

Bert Calhoun, 161 East 12th St., and his neighbor Bernard Doktor, 165 East 12th St., saw the predicament and were the first on the scene.

With a Chicago passenger train due in ten minutes and his truck hopelessly stalled for the moment, the driver snatched a flare from his truck and ran up the tracks to about 18th St. and signaled the train to stop. Behind him came the night watchman of the gas company with a red lantern. The train halted and slowly approached the scene. In keeping with state law, the train sent a flagman back down the route to warn any other trains. Often a long freight arrives around that time.

By the time the train stopped, a local wrecker had arrived and soon had the trailer over the sidewalk. Because of the large flasher signals at the 12th St. crossing, the truck could not negotiate the curve onto 12th St. and continued down the tracks to 11th St. The train was delayed about 10 minutes.

Police Holding Minor While Case Is Probed

Holland police picked up a minor about 3 a.m. today who was found prowling near the corner of Columbia Ave. and Eighth St. On him were found two packages of cigarettes which he claimed he stole from his brother's house.

Upon visiting the oil station located on the corner, police found the front door unlocked and the safe open. They suspected at first that someone had left the door open on purpose so that the boy could enter. They were continuing their investigation today.

OFFICIALS FIND LAKE VICTIM IS WANTED KILLER

Fifteen-Year Old Manhunt for Slayer of Father Ends in Grave

Identification Made From Chipped Tooth and Missing Finger

Indianapolis, Ind., July 10 — Capt. Walter Eckert of the Indiana state police announced Wednesday, a body found in Lake Michigan near Holland, Mich., had been identified as that of Wilford Carson, Liberty, Ind., sought for 15 years as the slayer of his father and three other persons.

The body of a man buried as Lloyd Cain, who had drowned in the lake, was exhumed last week for Indiana authorities to examine after Holland police recalled similarity between it and pictures of Carson.

Eckert said known identifications of Carson, including a wedge-shaped front tooth and an amputated little finger, checked with those of the body. He said a brother-in-law of Carson, Spencer Stephens of Liberty, and Detective Fred Foster, positively identified the body.

The announcement capped a manhunt for Carson begun in 1926 when he was sought for fatally shooting his father, Clinton Carson. He also was accused of slaying Alonzo Whalen, a retired farmer of near Kokomo, and of two others.

Local officials have not received any official notification of the identification of the drowning victim as that of the wanted murderer. Police Officer William Van Etta who was deputy sheriff at the time the body was recovered from the lake near Eagle Crest, said Wednesday he had not heard from Indiana police officials since they were in Holland last Saturday when the body was exhumed a second time for identification purposes.

Credit for the identification of the drowning victim as that of the Indiana murderer goes to Van Etta who is interested in police and detective work. While searching through police "wanted" circulars at police headquarters about a month ago Van Etta noted a similarity between Carson's likeness and that of the drowning victim.

He contacted Indiana state police with this information with a result that Detective Foster came to Holland a week ago. On July 2, Carson's grave in potter's field of Pilgrim Home cemetery was opened. Pictures of his teeth were taken and were taken back to Indianapolis for identification purposes.

By a strange coincidence Carson's death occurred on the 13th anniversary of the shooting of his father. His body was taken from Lake Michigan on the early morning of Aug. 3, 1939.

He had been seen alive the day before as he had rented a room at a tourist home on Ottawa beach and had gone to the beach late in the evening.

The slaying occurred Aug. 2, 1926, at the Carson home near Liberty. Two years later Carson was sought as a suspect in the slaying of Alonzo Whalen, a retired farmer leaving near Kokomo. A man identified as Carson had been living at the Whalen home but escaped a police raid. Carson also has been named as a suspect in two other slayings but no definite evidence linking him with these killings ever has been unearthed.

For several years after the late Rev. J. M. Lumkes, former pastor of Fourth Reformed church, was in Grand Haven Monday for the first time in 50 years.

Mrs. Lumkes, who lives in Chicago, was called here by the death of her brother-in-law, M. P. Nienhuis of Montello park, which occurred last week. On Monday to her brother-in-law, M. P. Nienhuis and Herman Bos, she made the trip to the county seat. She recognized only one familiar spot in the whole city.

Mrs. Lumkes left Grand Haven when she was 21 years old. Since that time she lived in Holland, Iowa, Chicago and other places where her husband had charges. He retired and later died in Holland. Since his death, Mrs. Lumkes made her home in Chicago.

Record Holiday Crowd Invades Holland Area

Busiest and Best Fourth of July in Many Years Is Reported

Thousands of tourists who were in Holland and this area for the Fourth of July three-day weekend had left for their homes.

The Chamber of Commerce, hotel and restaurant owners and others who have any connections with the resort business, reported today that this was the busiest and best Fourth of July Holland has had in several years.

Everyone, especially those who were visiting here for the first time, was well impressed and many promised to return or make Holland their regular Fourth vacationland. It was reported that some tourists drove nearly a hundred miles farther north and then decided to come back and spend their time in this city.

Hotel Netherlands and the Warm Friend tavern both reported the best business in recent years for the Fourth. Both were filled and the tavern dining room was exceptionally busy. In some instances, guests were turned away because accommodations were not available.

THREE INJURED IN CAR WRECKS

Two Motorists Are Given Traffic Tickets After Holiday Crashes

Three persons suffered minor injuries and two motorists were given traffic violation tickets by local police as the result of several Fourth of July accidents in Holland.

Miss Virginia De Witt, 19, of Owosso suffered a cut on her knee in an accident which occurred between cars driven by Donald R. Moore, 26, also of Owosso, and Doyle A. Stroops, 26, of Traverse city on US-31 in front of Windmill park at 9 a.m. Friday.

She was a passenger in Moore's car. Police were informed that Moore who was driving south on River Ave. sought to pass Stroops' parked automobile but could not because of oncoming traffic and the former vehicle struck the latter.

Three cars were involved in an accident on River Ave. near 15th St. Friday at 11:30 a.m. Cars driven by Burton C. Bowgrene, 32, of Geneva, Ill., and Jernyn Lee, 26, of Batavia, Ill., had stopped in the line of traffic for the signal light at 14th St. and River Ave.

A car driven by Harold L. Michelsen, 18, 40 East 17th St., crashed into the rear of Lee's car shoving it into Bowgrene's vehicle. Michelsen was given a traffic summons for failing to have his car under control.

Marlyn De Vine, 22, of Lafox, Ill., a passenger in one of the two other cars, suffered an elbow injury.

Another accident occurred near 15th St. and River Ave. July 3 at 3:30 p.m. in which three cars were involved. Harry Murley of Chicago had halted his car behind that of Mrs. Lester Den Uyl in the line of traffic and a car, driven by Martha Lono, 43, North Liberty, Ind., who told police she failed to notice that Murley had stopped his car, crashed into the rear of this vehicle.

Donald A. Smeenge, 18, route 6, Holland, was given a traffic summons for failing to have his car under control following an accident July 3 at 1 p.m. on River Ave. between 15th and 16th Sts.

Police were informed that Smeenge, driving the car of Mrs. Richard Smeenge, drove into the rear of the parked car of Herbert Koster, 22, route 1, Holland. Eleanor De Vries, 21, West 19th St., a passenger in one of the cars, suffered minor hurts.

BERNHARD PILOTS PLANE OVER OCEAN

According to news dispatches received in Holland Monday from London, Eng., Prince Bernhard of The Netherlands who just returned from the United States and Canada, disclosed Sunday he had piloted a U.S. bomber during much of his journey across the Atlantic.

(Prince Bernhard accompanied Crown Princess Juliana when she paid a recent visit to various educational institutions in the United States where she received honorary degrees. Princess Juliana and Prince Bernhard spent two days in Holland during which time the royal princess was given an honorary degree of bachelor of laws from Hope college.)

"I had a very quick trip," he said on a BBC radio program which was transmitted to The Netherlands. "It was a great experience to pilot this marvelous plane through enormous space."

He assured Dutch-speaking people that President Roosevelt's description of the United States as the "arsenal of democracy" was no empty phrase.

Surviving are the widow of Baltimore; a daughter, Mrs. Dena De Haan of Grand Rapids; two brothers, Albert of Holland and John of Muskegon; and six sisters, Mrs. Henry Meyer of Graafschap, Mrs. Peter Schuitman of Muskegon, Mrs. Henry Boss, Mrs. Henry Sprick, Mrs. Leonard Kammeraad and Mrs. Henry Vander Veen of Holland. Another brother, Ralph of Holland died three years ago.

The body is being shipped to Michigan and burial will be made either in Holland or Grand Rapids.

Appointed to Post KALKMAN QUILTS LOCAL COUNCIL DUE TO HEALTH

Alderman of First Ward Says He Resigns Due to Ill Health

Council Pays Tribute to Retiring Official in Resolution

Cornelius Kalkman, Sr., 165 West Eighth St., tendered his resignation as alderman of the first ward Wednesday, July 3 to common council which accepted the resignation and appointed Albert P. Kleis, 225 Lincoln Ave., to serve out his unexpired term.

Kalkman, in a communication, wrote that he had considered resigning for some time "because of impaired health and I feel that there is no alternative other than to follow my physician's advice."

Motion to accept the resignation was made by Ald. Ben Streffens and was supported by Ald. Henry Ketel. By action of these two aldermen, council also passed a resolution of tribute to Kalkman's services as alderman and instructed City Clerk Oscar Peterson to send him a copy.

NEW MOVE TO IDENTIFY BODY

Cemetery Grave Reopened in Search for Wanted Murderer

For a second time this week the body of a partly identified man who drowned in Lake Michigan in August, 1939, was exhumed Saturday forenoon at Pilgrim Home cemetery in a new attempt to identify it as that of Wilford Carson, 39, of Liberty, Ind., who is wanted in Indiana for murder in connection with the shooting of his father back in 1926.

Fred Foster, a detective for the Indiana state police, together with a second officer, returned to Holland Friday night and made arrangements with local officials for reopening of the grave this forenoon. He brought an Indiana resident with him.

Name of this person was withheld because it was felt that, if Carson is still living, harm might come to this person who at one time was acquainted with the hunted murderer. When he viewed the body this forenoon, this unknown person said it "looked like Carson" but was unable to make a positive identification.

The second Indiana officer took more pictures of the dead man for identification purposes.

Coroner Gilbert Vande Water, Cemetery Supt. Howard Reising and local police officers were present when the grave was opened a second time.

At the time of the drowning, the body of the unidentified man was partially identified from his fingerprints as that of Charles H. Lloyd of Tampa, Fla., or Edward Neil Cain, a former North Carolina convict. The man's body was taken from the lake Aug. 3, 1939. Attempts to locate relatives or friends of the dead man proved futile.

FORMER LOCAL RESIDENT DIES

He succeeds Hugh Holloway, who was inducted into service with the June contingent. Kissinger's home is in Muskegon.

Library Will Not Open on Sunday in Summer

Sunday reading room hours at the Holland Public Library will be discontinued during the summer according to an announcement by Mrs. R. F. Keeler, who has been in charge of this project. Arrangements for the library to be open on Sunday afternoons are made by the local D.A.R. chapter.

Kalkman, in a communication, wrote that he had considered resigning for some time "because of impaired health and I feel that there is no alternative other than to follow my physician's advice."

Motion to accept the resignation was made by Ald. Ben Streffens and was supported by Ald. Henry Ketel. By action of these two aldermen, council also passed a resolution of tribute to Kalkman's services as alderman and instructed City Clerk Oscar Peterson to send him a copy.

Council's action in appointing Kleis as Kalkman's successor was unanimous after Ald. Bernard Arendshorst, supported by Streffens, moved that Kleis be appointed to office.

Arendshorst stated that Kleis was well qualified to serve as first ward alderman, having formerly held that position before the boundary lines of the wards were changed.

"Mr. Kleis has good judgment and has had long experience in the work of an alderman," Arendshorst stated.

After serving 16 out of 18 years as first ward alderman, Kleis retired April 16, 1941. He was one of two aldermen who retired because of a new charter amendment which provided new boundary limits for the city's six wards. James A. Drinkwater of the old second ward was the other alderman who retired.

Under provisions of the charter, two aldermen will be elected in the first ward, one for the two-year term and the other for a one-year term, in the 1942 city election. No election for alderman was held in that ward this year.

Kalkman was serving his fourth term as alderman. Three full terms and one year of his third term was served as alderman of the old second ward. When the ward changes became effective, Kalkman joined Arendshorst as first ward alderman.

His present term of office would expire in April, 1942. He was first elected March 6, 1934, to succeed John Wolman.

Kalkman, fiery champion of the common man, was not present Wednesday night when his resignation was submitted by City Clerk Peterson. Seldom silent during council controversies, Kalkman became known for the "wisecracks" and attacks he aimed at his colleagues and others who opposed his views.

He carried on an extensive fight for the city's purchase of the so-called tannery property on West Eighth St. as a site for a civic center. Following a "straw" vote this spring in which Holland voters approved the action, council purchased the property from the Armour Leather Co.

"I deeply regret that this action has become imperative and I will miss the old associations more than I can express," Kalkman's resignation pointed out.

"I wish to thank each and every one of you for your past considerations and I am confident that my sincere loyalty to the humble taxpayer will be shared by you and his interests receive your continued support."

BUILDING WORK FOR HALF YEAR SHOWS RECORD

Figures for Current Year Soar Towards New 1941 Mark

Practically assured of a new record for 1941 building activities in Holland because of the high figure for the first six months of the current year, it now becomes a question of how far in excess it will exceed the 1940 mark.

Unofficial tabulation of the applications for building permits on file at the office of City Clerk reveals that for the first six months, ending June 30, value of the permits totaled $363,361.65. This is considerably in excess of the figures for the past several years.

The figure for all 12 months of 1940 amounted to $450,208. Thus with six months remaining in 1941, only $86,846.35 in permits are required to at least tie last year's record.

This year's six months total is $37,284.65 ahead of the 1940 total of $286,077 and $186,461 in excess of the $176,900 figure for 1939. Six months totals for other years were $126,801 in 1938; $217,451 in 1937 and $35,941.75 in 1936.

For June alone, value of the permits was the second highest of the current year. They amounted to $62,161.

This is an increase of $25,126 over June (1940) of $37,035 and $37,425 ahead of June (1939), $24,736.

Building activities of the past month were aided by four applications for permits to erect new industrial buildings in Holland at a total cost of $30,000.

During June there were only five applications for the erection of new homes here at a total cost of $18,500. Two of the applications called for construction of new garages at a cost of $500.

This brings the number of new homes in Holland since Jan. 1, 1941, to 42. For the first six months of 1940, 45 applications for permits to build new homes had been filed and in 1939, 36 applications were filed during the first six months.

In the past month, 43 applications for building permits were filed with the city clerk. Thirty applications were filed in June, 1940, and 36 for June 1939.

Other large permits of the past month included one for $2,000 to remodel the basement of a store, one for $3,000 to construct a new warehouse.

Five applications provided for interior remodeling of homes at a total cost of $600. There were eight applications for permit to make exterior repairs to homes.

Five applications provided for remodeling of buildings at a cost of $457, three applications for remodeling of churches at a cost of $1,590 and three applications for remodeling of buildings as a cost of $264.

Five applications were filed for the construction of new garages at a cost of $1,125. There was one application to convert an old barn into a three-room cottage at a cost of $1,000. One application provided for enlarging a garage at a cost of $300.

Still another application provided for the remodeling of a salesroom and office of a local industrial firm at a cost of $800.

DUTCHMEN WIN IN CLOSE GAME ON HOME FIELD

Victory Over Chicago Nine Comes After Rally in Eighth Inning

Playing unusually good ball, the Holland Flying Dutchmen Thursday night at Riverview park surprised the Famous Chicago baseball team with a 6-5 victory, their fifth on the home field this season.

Lloyd Driscoll, pitching his first game of this season, held the visitors to seven hits while fanning three and walking eight. Paulus, visiting hurler, allowed ten hits, walked three and struck out nine.

The Dutchmen could not get ahead of the Chicagoans until the eighth inning. In the first half of each inning, the visitors would score a run and in the second half, the locals would tie it up, but they were unable to move into the lead.

Finally in the eighth inning they broke the jinx and scored two runs in one inning, the first time during the game. This gave them the one-run lead which decided the victory.

Jones, the first man up in the ninth, singled to left, but he was thrown out going to second on a double play, the first of the game, which also caught Krause at first. Lavorsie then singled to center and Driscoll, whose elbow was bothering him, rather than take a chance on allowing another run, asked to be relieved. Left Fielder Bob Vanden Berg, changed places with him and struck out the last man.

Harry De Neff, local lead-off second baseman, brought in half of the Dutchmen's six runs. In five trips to the plate, he got to first in each instance except one.

Cook led off for Chicago with a walk and scored on Villani's single to left. De Neff singled to center his first time up for Holland and came in on Driscoll's single to the same field.

Sullivan got on on Vanden Berg's error in the third, scoring later when the throw went to first. The Hollanders had to wait until the last half of the fourth for their next run when Bob Vanden Berg walked and came in on Teusink's center-field single.

In the fifth, Hogan scored when he walked and came in after a fly. De Neff scored again in the fifth when he singled to right field and was driven in by Driscoll's single there.

Hogan scored again in the seventh when he walked and came in after another fly. Wenzel brought in the tying run this time when he reached first on a first baseman's error and came in on Vanden Berg's single to center.

Cook put the visitors out in front for the last time in the eighth, doubling to left and scoring on a single to center.

The locals broke the jinx by scoring two runs when Serier got his first single to center and scored on Van Lente's single to right. De Neff, who had walked, went to third

URGES CHANGE IN BELL SIGNAL

Common council July 2 decided to request the Pere Marquette railway and the interstate commerce commission to change the type of signal bell at the railroad's Eighth St. crossing.

Ald. Bernard Arendshorst reported that complaints had been received because the bell rings at midnight from 20 to 30 minutes "for no apparent good, while a train remains stationary at the depot."

He said he and City Attorney Clarence A. Lokker had conferred with Agent Frank Miller and had been informed that money had been appropriated to make this change.

However, the commission has certain regulations about crossing signals, Arendshorst stated. He moved that a resolution asking the change be adopted and forwarded to the railroad and commission.

SERVICE OF A LIFETIME

The other day R. A. Howlett, of Montello park, arrived at the age of retirement after a period of service with the H. J. Heinz company that may come near to setting a record in modern industry. He had been continuously with this company for 47 years—which means that he must have joined the company when he was 18. Such length of service with one company may not be unique, but it certainly is unusual.

There was a time when such a record was not nearly as unusual as it is today. The relationship between employer and employee was of course much more settled in the eighteenth and first half of the nineteenth centuries, not only in America but in most of the rest of the world, than it is today. That was not all to the good; when employees stay on in one place from childhood, until old age because there is no opportunity to do anything else, there is little significance in length of service with one concern.

But that has not been true for a long time now. When a man stays with the same concern for nearly half a century it usually means that the relationship between employee and employer was mutually satisfactory. And this ideal condition is obviously only sadly lacking today. The fact that length of service has become unusual rather than the expected thing is an unfavorable commentary upon the industrial world today.

For the rapid turnover of labor is obviously an economic waste not only for industry but for employees too. Persons who range from one job to another, whether they are in minor positions or in executive offices, are usually in the long run losers. It is often necessary, but it is just about as often an undesirable necessity.

There is a quieting stability in length of service that is sadly needed in the industrial world. As compared with farming as a whole,
industry as a whole gives the impression of being in a constant state of turmoil—largely because on the farm the ideal of a life job in one place is often taken for granted, while in industry, since the industrial revolution has turned the world upside down, jobs have come to be regarded by both workers and management as being somewhat temporary in their very nature.

If this record of the Montello
park citizen could become the rule instead of the exception, industrial conditions would be far less chaotic than they are today and better for both employer and employee.

SECRECY SURROUNDS
ESCANABA ARRIVAL

Grand Haven, July 10 — Strict secrecy surrounded the operation of the U. S. Coast Guard Cutter Escañaba following her return from a month's stay at Manitowish, Wis., shipyard.

Meager official information available was that the cutter underwent "routine drydocking after the ice season as well as incidental repairs." Damage to the ship's propeller, suffered during the ice-opening activities, was repaired, it was known. Rumors that the vessel is undergoing extensive armament additions were labeled as unfounded.

"A large number of changes in personnel have been made, and many old faces are missing," it was reported officially. Like other Coast Guard units on Lake Michigan, the ship has had men transferred to Atlantic seaboard duty,
it was indicated.

"A program of future duties has been prepared, but details are not available at present," it was said.
The ship is expected to remain in port several days.

Christianity Expands in Asia
Acts 19:8-10, 23-32

By Henry Geertlings

There are several practices of the Apostle Paul that we are able to recognize very easily. One of them was to locate the synagogue in the town or city immediately on his arrival there. Another was to preach the gospel to the Jews first.
That was not only because he was a Jew, but also because the Jews were God's people and his work was primarily with them, and after that, through them with the Gentiles. And still another was his eagerness and determination to preach the gospel, even in the face of bitter persecution. Of course when the opposition became so intense that his life was in danger, he moved on to another city. But he had to be preaching Jesus. He was conscious of the call he had received, and the carrying out of it engaged all his powers.

Following his usual custom,
Paul started at Ephesus in the synagogue. After three months he was compelled by the usual trouble with Judaizers to retire from the synagogue and continue his meetings in a lecture hall, the philosophical school of Tyrannus. We know nothing about this man,
whether he may have been a sympathetic hearer of Paul or simply a person who rented his hall as a commercial transaction. In this school Paul continued for two years. It is possible that Tyrannus met his disciples in the morning hours, while Paul worked at his tent-making, and that the growing church met in the afternoon and evening.

The length of the stay in the synagogue was the longest on record in all Paul's wanderings.
When it is remembered that he had stopped in the synagogue
nearly a year earlier, and that Aquila and Priscilla and Apollos had been preaching there over the intervening months, a very great tolerance on the part of the Ephesian Jewish community is indicated. Indeed, it was from pagan sources that Paul's trouble arose in that city when it came rather than from Jewish sources. Trouble with the Judaizers did arise, however, and it was of sufficient complication to compel the abandoning of the synagogue.

As long as Paul preached in the synagogue he would have had access to an unusually large congregation, since the Jewish community in Ephesus was large. The attraction of the synagogue there for Greeks must have been even greater than in the average community,
so that Paul addressed himself to a larger and larger group of those who heard what he had to say with the gladness of discovery.

Paul's major trouble in this city came neither from the Jews nor from the Roman authorities. It came from the Gentiles. It took the form of a popular riot of such dimensions as to cast the riots
at Thessalonica and Philippi into the shade. It was the plot-ting of the vested interests, as at Philippi, which incited the riot. It was not from religious grounds that the riot arose, although the silversmiths cloaked their frenzy
in the robes of familiar religious slogans and loyalties. It was on the ground of threatened profits.
The worship of Diana or Artemis was one of the universal religious cults of the Roman world. A whole month was set aside in her honor. It was therefore an easy matter to associate the worship of Artemis and the temple, which was one of the seven wonders of the world, with all that was best in their civilization.

The skill with which Demetrius,
the silversmith, made the transfer from selfish business agitation to patriotism and religion is instructive. It is as good as cities.
Demetrius was really interested in profits. He pretended to be interested in his land and flag and the right to worship God. On this basis a mob which went about shouting the slogan "Great is Diana of the Ephesians" was quickly stirred up. The word "on to the theatre" was passed along.
The theatre was large enough to accommodate about twenty-four thousand people. It was the place of the regular assemblies of this democratically governed city, and it was here that extraordinary assemblies would naturally be held.

The mob is very good evidence of the extent to which Paul's preaching in Asia had been successful. The church and those attracted to it had grown to such an extent that an inroad was made into the buying of images used in the temple ritual. Considering the size and wealth of Ephesus and the number of pilgrims who came to the city, this influence had to attain considerable proportions before it was important enough to attract attention.

It was the most natural thing in the world that the gospel should interfere with the unrighteous business that was carried on in support of corrupt worship in Ephesus. It certainly lessened the profits of the idol-makers. It proved in short order that many of the people were not so much interested in the worship of Diana as they were in filling their pockets with the gains accruing
from an unprincipled business.

age done. It was empty except for court Saturday morning to a charge of entering, without breaking, in the daytime, and each was released on his own recognizance to appear July 26

tering in the nighttime, which was set for Saturday morning,
has been postponed until July 26,
for further investigation. Law-

the filling station of William Ball

Lighted Cigarette Held
as Cause for Car Fire

Grand Haven, July 10 — Fire originating from a lighted cigarette which was thrown from the driver's seat only to blow back into the rear seat to ignite the upholstery, destroyed an automobile on M-50, three miles east of US-31 last Friday morning.

The car was owned by Martin
Edward Sook, 21 years old, Grand Rapids, who was traveling alone.
Windows in the car were wide open, and the strong draft fanned
the flames beyond control before Cook could summon aid, state police said.

MANY FARMERS
INSURE WHEAT

Grand Haven, July 10 (Special)
—771 Ottawa county farmers
availed themselves of the opportunity to insure their 1941 wheat harvest. A small percentage of these have already reported prospective losses which will be adjusted as soon as harvest begins.

Ottawa county wheat growers will soon be able to take out insurance on their 1942 wheat, Mr.
Taylor, chairman of the Ottawa
county AAA committee announced.
In this county farmers may insure for 75 per cent of their established bushel per acre yield, at a cost of approximately seven-tenths bushel per acre premium.
Yields and rates vary according to the wheat history for the farm.

Mr. Taylor advised that community committees would soon
have the data for individual farms
and prepared to insure wheat farmers.

In Michigan 42 losses have been adjusted and approved and 2,680 bushels of wheat will be paid in premiums to cover these losses.
The average wheat yield for Michigan is 19 bushels per acre and the premium rate a little less than 1 bushel per acre.

Mr. Taylor pointed out that the Federal Crop Insurance Corp. offered an all-risk insurance, the only one of its kind. It makes it possible for wheat growers to be sure of wheat in the bin next year
as soon as the seed is sown this fall. With wheat prices at 85 per cent of parity or higher, wheat growers are going to take advantage of this plan.

AAA TO AID IN
STORING GRAIN

Grand Haven, July 10 (Special)
—Recent provisions have been incorporated into the AAA farm program to aid cooperating farmers in repairing their old granaries or building new facilities for storing grain on the farm, according to Glenn E. Taylor, chairman of the Ottawa county committee.

Farmers should be preparing storage space on the farm to take care of the record crop of corn and wheat expected this year, and the possibility of a shortage of terminal storage and railroad cars mean that the farmer who has provided good bins for his crop at home won't have to worry about where to put it.

The AAA has been amended to allow farmers cooperating with the program to assign their 1941 payments in order to finance the purchase, construction, or repair of storage structures for all grains on the farm. Besides this, farmers who provide additional farm storage for wheat by building new or repairing old granaries this year, may obtain a seven-cent per bushel storage allowance in advance at the time the loan is approved, provided of course, that the wheat is stored in the new or repaired structures.

These new provisions will give every cooperating grower the opportunity to put his granary in good condition immediately, or if a new granary is necessary it can be constructed before the grain is harvested. Farmers providing good storage space on the farm will find it much easier to secure a loan should the anticipated shortage of terminal storage develop.

Mr. Taylor stated that all storage bins should be thoroughly cleaned before the new grain is stored. Suggestions and recommended practices for this will be available at the county AAA office
very shortly.

To Raise Money to Buy Uniforms for Local Unit

C. C. Secretary-Manager Offers Services for Project Here

In an attempt to raise money to be used in the purchasing of summer uniforms for members of the local unit of the Michigan state troops, the secretary-manager of the Holland Chamber of Commerce today offered his services on behalf of this project.

Representatives of the home guards recently called at the Chamber of Commerce office with a request for aid in obtaining summer uniforms for the unit. Eventually the state will furnish uniforms but they will not be received until September and will be too warm for summer use.

The group feels that they should not be asked to go into their own pockets and furnish money for this uniform. In fact, the secretary-manager said, many of them cannot afford to do so.

The home guard unit is a voluntary organization that replaced the national guards when they were called to the army for federal training. They are, the secretary-manager said, a patriotic group of men whose only aim and purpose is to give Holland and vicinity the protection that "we always felt we had when the national guards were with us."

"Inasmuch as they give of their time and services freely without remuneration, Holland should show its appreciation by furnishing them with these uniforms."

"If our people feel that this is an important organization we will be pleased to have them send in their contributions to the office of the Chamber of Commerce and we will turn it over to the home guard officials. You can bring your contributions to the office of the Chamber of Commerce or mail a check to the Chamber of Commerce, payable to the Holland Home guards."

"We sincerely hope that there will be a ready response to cheer this group on in their efforts which some day may be a very important function."

The unit includes about 65 men and it has been estimated a complete summer uniform or coat less than $5 per man or a total amount of about $300 will be needed.

Activities of the local state troops can be seen each Monday night by interested local citizens. Weekly drills are held from 7:30 to 9 p.m., similar to the ones which were given national guardsmen when they were still in Holland.

When weather permits this weekly drill is held on Graves place between Central and College Aves.

28-YEAR-OLD TWINS CELEBRATE "FIRST" BIRTHDAY TOGETHER

Twenty-eight-year-old twins had the novel experience of celebrating their "first" birthday anniversary together on July 4 when Mrs. Elmer De Boer, 184 East 10th St., paid a visit to her newly found twin brother, John A. Simons, in Battle Creek.

The twins met last April 20 in Holland for the first time in more than 25 years. The children were separated when they were a little over two years, the girl taken by Mr. and Mrs. C. Dekker of Holland and the boy going to the Coldwater orphanage. Later the Dekkers wanted to adopt the boy but were given the impression the baby had died.

The required birth certificate in connection with his draft questionnaire brought Simmons to Grand Haven last April. There he learned for the first time that he had a twin sister residing in Holland.

Mrs. De Boer and her husband returned to their home here Tuesday night after a five-day visit with the Simmons in Battle Creek. On the first morning of the visit, the song, "My Sister And I" was dedicated to the twins at Battle Creek. During the visit the two couples visited many places in and around Battle Creek. They witnessed the balloon ascension in Marshall, saw the Cascades in Jackson and visited various plants around Battle Creek.

Her father was a blacksmith and for some time worked in Grand Rapids. The family later moved to a farm in the Overisel community across the road from the present De Witt school.

She was married to the late H. J. Ten Brink about 50 years ago. He died eight years ago in Holland.

Following their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Ten Brink moved to a farm near Allendale where they lived for several years. Thirty-four years ago the family moved to Holland and established its home at 137 East 15th St.

The farm near Allendale is now owned by her oldest son, Eugene Ten Brink. Eleven children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Ten Brink and all are still living.

Girl of Lodi, N. J., Is Wed to Rev. D. Ivan Dykstra

Details were received here today of the wedding of Miss Kathryn Wisse of Lodi, N.J., to the Rev. D. Ivan Dykstra of Stone Ridge, N.Y., which was solemnized recently in First Reformed church of Lodi by the pastor, the Rev. Gerrit Rientjes. Both Rev. Dykstra and Rev. Rientjes are graduates of Western Theological seminary.

Mrs. Dykstra is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Wisse of Lodi and has been a teacher in Lodi high school. Rev. Dykstra is the son of the Rev. B. D. Dykstra and Mrs. Dykstra of Orange City, Ia.

The bride wore a dress of dotted Swiss, colonial style, with short puffed sleeves, a v-neckline and a long train. Her fingertip veil was attached to a cap of the same material and trimmed with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of lilies.

Miss Josephine Wisse, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a maize dotted Swiss gown with square neckline, short puffed sleeves and a tiara of pink roses.

Miss Ava Dykstra of Orange City, sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. William Manners of Hasbrouck Heights, sister of the bride, and the Misses Ann and Betty Wisse of Hasbrouck Heights cousins of the bride, were bridesmaids. Miss Dykstra and Miss Ann Wisse wore pale green dotted Swiss gowns and Mrs. Manners and Miss Betty Wisse wore peach dotted Swiss gowns in the same style as the maid of honor.

They wore tiaras of peach gladioli and carried colonial bouquets. Soloists were Mrs. Roy Webber and Mrs. Charles Hasbrouck of Stone Ridge. They were accompanied by Johnson Lowell, Lodi high school teacher and organist of the Second Reformed church of Lodi.

The church was decorated with palms and white bows at each pew. A reception for 150 guests was held on the lawn of the parsonage.

The couple will spend several days in Boston and then go to Stone Ridge where Rev. Dykstra is pastor of the Marbletown Reformed church. During August they will visit the groom's parents in Iowa.

Mrs. Dykstra is a graduate of Beaver college, Jenkintown, Pa., where she received her B.S. degree. Rev. Dykstra is a graduate of Hope college and Western seminary. He also attended Yale university.

It appears, he continued, that all this has been brought about over a breach over the Brake banking bill which prohibits chain banks in Michigan. According to Miles, the governor vetoed the bill and has since been trying to get house members not to override his veto.

As to the 300 pieces of legislation which were to become effective this year had the adjournment been established, Miles said: "My opinion is that the public would be better satisfied if the legislature didn't pass any more laws and would feel better if it repealed some it already has."

Sen. Earnest Brooks was not in town today and could not be reached for comment. He voted against prolonging the legislative session.

FISHERMEN SEEKING SUBSTITUTE FLOATS

Grand Haven, July 10 — Used aluminum floats are much in demand by the fishing industry because of aluminum requirements of the national defense program.

There is a strong possibility that wooden net floats or a new type of plastic float will be put into use when aluminum floats are no longer available.

The plastic float costs seven to nine cents each, about the same as aluminum when still obtainable and have been developed to withstand water pressures at 1,000 feet depth. They are made of clear, mottled or colored plastic to enable owners to distinguish their own floats in the tangle of nets sometimes resulting from lake storms.

Buoyancy is about the same as aluminum and the floats are attached to net cords by means of eyelets in the ends. They are moulded in halves, cemented together with a plastic or metal partition in the center to add strength. Principal objection to the old wooden floats is that they become waterlogged and lose buoyancy.

The plastic floats will withstand any depth pressure which may be encountered by fishermen in Lake Michigan, Huron or Erie. Lake Superior fishermen sometimes fish in 1,250 feet of water.

Greatest depth in Lake Michigan, according to Capt. Claude Ver Duin, secretary of the Michigan Fish Producers Association, is encountered near the Manitou Islands, and approximates 900 feet. Muskegon and Grand Haven fishermen encounter maximum depth of 420 feet on the Milwaukee course. Capt. Ver Duin says Lake Huron offers about the same depths as Lake Michigan and Lake Erie is much shallower.

TWO REASONS GIVEN FOR VOTE

Miles Contends 'Cheaper' for State Legislature to Recess

Rep. Nelson Miles of Holland said today that he voted for the recess of the state legislature Wednesday night until Oct. 9 for two reasons.

First, he said, all during the sessions there were rumors afloat that the legislature should stay in session and recess from time to time on the grounds that under the defense program the federal government would be making continuous demands on the state.

Secondly, he said, statements were made on the floor of the house that the government might have to call another session within 30 or 60 days.

The 90-day recess allows the governor to recall the legislature at any time without cost whereas a special session following adjournment, if it were called, would be expensive, Miles explained.

Of course politics are connected with the situation, he said, as the governor is "jockeying" for political position and members of the house are doing the same thing.

It appears, he continued, that all this has been brought about over a breach over the Brake banking bill which prohibits chain banks in Michigan. According to Miles, the governor vetoed the bill and has since been trying to get house members not to override his veto.

As to the 300 pieces of legislation which were to become effective this year had the adjournment been established, Miles said: "My opinion is that the public would be better satisfied if the legislature didn't pass any more laws and would feel better if it repealed some it already has."

Sen. Earnest Brooks was not in town today and could not be reached for comment. He voted against prolonging the legislative session.

NEW PARALYSIS CASE REPORTED IN THIS COUNTY

No Epidemic Is Expected This Year by Health Department

Grand Haven, July 9 (Special)—The Ottawa county health department reported today there is a severe case of infantile paralysis in the county—the first to be reported since October, 1940.

Past experience with this disease leads the department to feel there will not be an epidemic this year because of last year's outbreak. The department also feels there are usually a large number of missed cases which are mild and do not result in paralysis. If these light cases were recognized, it might be possible to get a more true picture of its epidemic nature, the department reported.

"At present it is necessary to caution the public to be aware of the presence of the disease, to get early medical attention in case of illness. Fatigue should be avoided, since it appears that the disease is much more severe in case it is contracted by an individual who has lowered his resistance by too strenuous work or play with accompanying fatigue.

"Early signs of the disease are intestinal upset, marked irritability, pain in muscles which are involved, stiffness of the neck, painful back, and twitching of the face or jerking movements of the body. "Since this is the first case, and it is possible that the disease will not make its appearance again this season, it is not necessary to take any further precautions than have been stated above."

LIST CHANGES IN INSURANCE

Grand Haven, July 10 (Special)—Changes in the federal crop insurance corporation's 1942 program, including a commodity note plan for payment of premiums, make it easier for farmers to insure their 1942 wheat crop, according to Glenn E. Taylor, chairman of the Ottawa County AAA farm program committee.

Besides the note plan, other changes provide that: Owners and operators who insure one farm in a county must insure all their farms in that county; an individual need make only one application regardless of how many farms he insures; and the insurance will be in force until noon of Oct. 31, 1942, instead of Oct. 1.

This year the wheat grower will sign a commodity note when he applies for insurance. The note authorizes the corporation to deduct the amount of the premium from any indemnity the farmer might receive, or from his AAA payment of his wheat loan, whichever is made first. In the past the farmer had to make a separate premium payment for each farm insured or sign a separate assignment for each insured farm by which the corporation would deduct the amount of his premium from his AAA payment.

These changes and the note plan will make the insuring of wheat and paying of premiums less involved by reducing the number of forms the grower generally signs in making this payment, Mr. Taylor commented. Last year, 771 county farmers insured their 1941 wheat crop. Over 15,000 farmers in Michigan insured their 1941 wheat crop. The total insured acreage was over 144,000 acres for the state.

Three Slow Contests Feature Softball Play

Three slow games, all one-sided marked the three-game softball series at Riverview park Tuesday night.

The Dykema Tailors whipped the Ferrell Hamburg team from Grand Rapids handily by a 5-1 score. The Ferrells made six errors which partly accounted for their loss.

Armour Leathers pulled the biggest upset of the evening, defeating Hulst Markets 8-2 for their first league victory.

In the second game, Steffens Food Markets continued their no-defeat string with a 12-5 win over the Pure Oils.

Van Ens, speed-ball Ferrell hurler allowed only five hits but these were good for five runs because of his own and teammates' errors and because one hit was a home run by Claude Dykema in the fifth which also scored Vern Kraai.

Wisinski brought in the losers, only run in the sixth. Westerhof rounded the bases on errors and wild pitches in the fourth and also reached first on an error in the sixth. He scored in that inning as did Van Gelderen who singled.

The Armour Leather boys started off with a "bang" and kept "banging" all the way through while Hulst got under way only in the fifth when Hulst, who had singled, and Van Dyke, who had walked, scored on different singles.

Pauwe led off for the Armour with a triple and George Hulst followed him with a homer. With two down in the same inning, Scheerhorn and R. Weener, who singled, and Van Dorpe and Bekhuis, who reached first on errors, also scored.

Scheerhorn planted another homer in center field in the fourth and Brown brought in their last run in the seventh when he walked and scored on Pauwe's double.

Steffens' first, third and fourth innings were too big for anything the Oils could equal. Tony Bouwman's triple in the first drove in both Overbeek and Woldring and Woldring's triple in the third drove in Overbeek and Buurman. Tony Bouwman, S. Bouwman and Johnson also scored in the third for Steffens and Woldring, Handweg and S. Bouwman in the fourth.

Conklin, Schrottenboer and Elenbaas scored for the Oils in the third before three men were left standing on base. Conklin's triple in the sixth drove in S. Rutgers and he scored later himself on a single.

Non-scoring players: Armour—Bloemers, Corky Weener and Van Lier. Hulst—Westerhof, Sjaarda, Tuls, Griep, J. Bouwman, Slager, Vander Ploeg and Woldring. Steffens—De Witt, Steffens and Bos.

Luxurious Yacht Moors at City Docks This Week

Norwegian Captain Says Ships Are Best He's Seen on Lakes

One of the best examples of modern cruising luxury is the Harriett B, 90-foot yacht owned by C. B. Hayes, 74, of Jackson, which now lies in Holland harbor and aboard which the owner expects to entertain several Holland friends this week-end.

This large yacht, which has a 141-foot beam, moored at the Kollen park slips Tuesday night and was to move to the board of public works dock after a freighter left there today. There it will anchor for an indefinite period, at least until the end of this week.

Mr. Hayes of Hayes Industrial which is now manufacturing airplane wheels, has had his vacations definitely cut or he would probably be aboard his ship at present. He plans to arrive here from Jackson Friday.

Home ports for the Harriett B are the Detroit Yacht club and Trenton, Mich. Hayes has used his ship almost exclusively on the Great Lakes and this summer decided to cruise on Lake Michigan. The boat stopped at Port Huron, Mackinac Island and Portage Lake, where the owner left after visiting friends, before it reached here. Its next stop may be at Grand Haven.

This is the first trip on Lake Michigan and to Holland for Capt. Raymond Munson, tall and likeable Norwegian, and his crew of four men. His comments were that he liked Holland "very much" and that the city's slips were "the best docks I've seen in a long time." He also made complimentary remarks about the cleanliness of the city.

"The system of slips is excellent," he said, "but for our boat they're a little short." (The longest slip is 50 feet while the boat is 90.)

Captain Munson has worked for Hayes about two years, but also skipped other millionaires' vessels since coming to the United States. His motto concerning boats is "They're nice when they're kept nice," and the Harriett B is conclusive proof that he lives up to that motto every inch of the way from up forward to the back aft cockpit.

His crew consists of his brother, Olaf Amundsen, steward, who has retained the original family name; Alfred Nelson, Norwegian chef who has not been back to Norway for about 20 years; and Leonard Messer and Carl Wilkins, American sailors.

Captain Munson last saw the land where he was born when he visited there for about six weeks in 1923. He and his brother, two years younger, are naturalized American citizens and have been for several years, and are married to American women.

In expressing their appreciation for being an American, especially at present, Munson said:

"We wanted to be Americans since we were that high," designating a height of about two feet.

"In Norway they first heard of America in stories of Buffalo Bill and the Indians and at an early age wanted to come over and shoot Indians."

Munson left Norway as a galley boy on a passenger vessel, but he saw most of the globe before finally reaching America at 15 years of age.

His brother has also seen more of the United States than most people, having sailed on both sides of the continent and having visited all but three states—Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota.

The Harriett B is driven by two Diesel engines and also carries one for electric current for stove, refrigerator and hot water heater.

Sides of the ship are dark gray, which is an unusual color for this type of vessel but which is one of Hayes' favorites. Small boats on the Harriett B include a dinghy and starboard launch.

Part of the deck was painted while the ship lay at the slips. The interior was also recently redecorated by the crew, mostly in cream and blue. Woodwork is of Honduran mahogany.

All of the most modern conveniences are present on the Harriett B including separate showers and baths for the crew, the guests' stateroom, and the owner's stateroom. Sea-going decorations are to be found throughout with the latest colors and combinations of colors used. Chartreuse, duobonnet and blue are combined, for example, in the main lounge with other lighter colors, and the aft deck furnishings are all in blue and white. Stateroom and lounge floors are entirely covered with beautiful blue carpets. Beds, chairs, tables, davenport and all other furnishings except the small piano are exceptionally large and sturdy.

ARCHIE M'CREA DELIVERS TALK TO LOCAL CLUB

Muskegon Editor Speaks to Rotary Club Group at Resort Meet

Using as his theme "Whatsoever a man soweth, that also shall he reap," Dr. Archie M'Crea, editor of the Muskegon Chronicle, addressed members of the Holland Rotary club at their first July meeting in the Castl' park hotel July 3.

His topic was "Looking Backward to See Ahead," and several times during his speech he referred to a bowing alley sign which he remembered from his young days, "If you can't pay, don't play."

What a tremendous reviving of the world would come if the conception got into the minds of men that we shall reap what we sow, he said.

If the principle is true, then we can look backward and derive some ideas as to where we are going, he added.

What's ahead for business, he asked, now that the upward trend is amounting to a boom? "Are we approaching a new level of prosperity we can depend upon?"

"No," he answered his self-prompted question. "Out of this kind of preparedness there can be no true prosperity. True prosperity, he said, is not found on the mortgage of sweat and toil of young men to destroy the work of men's hands. Another question he asked was, "Shall the triumphant dictators continue to rule the world?" Again his answer was, "No, because they never have."

They have built themselves up to enormous power, but they have built themselves on force and violence, he explained, and some day force and violence shall destroy them.

"It's only a question of how long it will be. History will catch up with them. The day of the dictator is already set and his doom is already sealed. Of that we can be sure."

In answer to the question, "Shall American democracy survive?" he said, "The fate of the American republic will be determined by the quality of men that make it up."

Trace the history of any democracy, he said, and you will find that the time it began to decay was when men lost sight of the principles of equal privileges and took to selfish interests.

One of the important principles of democracy, he pointed out, is to put liberty above one's own wishes. "When the time comes when principles (of democracy) are not supreme, then we are nearing the time when the Fourth of July shall have no significance."

"The immediate future will be determined by the seeds we sow."

Grand Haven, July 10 (Special).—According to William A. Kieft, city pound master, chickens, rabbits and ducks, valued at $27 were killed by dogs running at large in Grand Haven, in a foray at Sixth and Columbus Sts. Monday night.

One dog owner has agreed to pay her share of damage and the other will be billed for damages sustained, according to Mr. Kieft.

Twelve chickens, five rabbits and two domesticated mallards were killed at the Myron Rose home, 525 Columbus St.; two rabbits were killed and rabbit pen extensively damaged at the Arie Van Coevering home, 107 North Sixth St., and one rabbit was killed at the Jay Brook home, 611 Columbus St. The raid was reported to the Grand Haven city police Tuesday.

Sheriff William M. Boeve is seeking the cooperation of Conservation Officer Forrest Lavoy to relieve a condition in Chester township where a number of sheep and a few lambs have been killed by the combined raids of dogs and foxes. Dogs attack the sheep which are finished by the foxes, numerous in that section. The foxes attack the lambs by themselves. ## WORD IS RECEIVED THAT MOTHER HAS REACHED AMERICA

Fennville, July 10 (Special).—Paul Van Lonkhuijzen, 17, a Netherlands refugee who is spending the summer with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Bast, was overjoyed at word received that his mother had landed safely in New York, where she would visit relatives before coming to Michigan to join her family.

Paul's father, Rev. John Van Lonkhuijzen and three children, Mary Jane, 21, Maurice 20, and Paul all American citizens, left their home and all their furnishings and belongings, save what two cases would hold, in Zeist April 13th. The route out of Europe was difficult requiring eight days and nights to reach Lisbon by way of Berlin, Switzerland, France and Spain. They waited five weeks in Lisbon for Mrs. Van Lonkhuijzen, a native of the Netherlands, who had difficulty securing a passport and finally, yielding to her persuasion they came to America for fear of being put into concentration camps.

The family have three other children who have been here several years receiving their education. John Jr., 26 and William, 23, in Lansing and Calvin 22, an art student in Chicago.

The pastor and three children returned to the Netherlands 13 years ago following the death of his first wife.

He says the spirit of resistance is still high and people still hope for and believe in a British victory with American help. He says he has witnessed British flyers being forced down on Dutch soil are hidden by the people and then sent back to England by secret means.

There was still enough food for the Netherlands to be comfortably fed but in Belgium conditions were bad. There is no meat, no bread and many are living on carrots and other vegetables.

ASSESSED FINE

John Kormoele, 29, Zeeland, pleaded guilty when arraigned before Municipal Judge Raymond L. Smith Wednesday to a charge of being drunk on the Fourth of July. He was fined $10. He was arrested by Holland police on River Ave., at 3:30 a.m. Friday.

A standard railroad rail is 39 feet long.
