City Obligations At Present Time Influence Move

$300,000 Would Put Holland Over Feasible
Indebtedness Limit

In a communication to City Council Wednesday night, the Holland Planning Commission which has been studying public library needs in Holland city recommended that the Library Board work closely with the Board of Education to incorporate a new city public library into the plan of the new high school.

After studying library needs and site and financing of a new library, the commission felt it was not possible at this time for the city to stand the burden of $300,000 for a new library. The city already is obligated for the following: Civic Center, $500,000; hospital, $500,000; elementary schools, $900,000; water improvements, $2,700,000; total, $4,600,000.

The commission also pointed out that in addition to planning for a 3½ to $4 million high school, the city faces the probable cost of $1,000,000 for an enlarged sewer plan.

The state equalized assessed valuation for the city of Holland is $43,887,015. Using the rule of thumb figure of 10 percent as the maximum figure for bonded indebtedness which is advisable for a municipality to carry, the commission said it is obvious Holland would get far in excess of the prudent limit.

The commission listed the following reasons why incorporating a public library into the new high school building would be feasible.

1. Site cost already met.
2. Parking facilities already provided.
3. Maintenance cost divided.
4. One heating system.
5. More reference material all in one spot.

6. Mutual advantages to teachers, pupils and general public.

7. Mutual use of audio-visual projection room facilities, class and study room facilities by youth and adult groups alike. Records, sound-proof rooms for record players and microfilm reader could be used for teaching purposes as well as general purposes.

8. By working closely with the Board of Education, the elementary school library programs could be integrated as branches of the public library as reading rooms, points of distribution and story hour programs.

9. From a taxation angle, the Christian school people will be receiving a real service for their tax dollars.

10. Holland already has a new seminary library, a library at Hope College, two high school libraries. Shouldn't we conserve our trained personnel, source material and maintenance cost by integrating the public school and city library programs?

11. A closely knit alliance between the Board of Education and the Library Board would stimulate adult education through new techniques which the combined staffs are trained to give.

Council filed the report for further study and requested the clerk to provide copies of the report to council members and the Board of Education.

Hamilton Family Injured in Crash

Five persons including four members of a Hamilton family, were injured Friday night in a two-car collision at the intersection of Port Sheldon Rd. and 72nd Ave.

Most seriously injured was Mrs. Juella Poll, 34, who received a compound fracture of the right arm and facial lacerations and body bruises.

Her husband, Earl, 38, suffered several fractured ribs and multiple lacerations. The two are in "good" condition today at Holland Hospital.

Their two children, riding in the Poll car, received minor cuts and bruises. The driver of the second car, Stanley Milanowski, 20, A.D., escaped with minor chest lacerations.

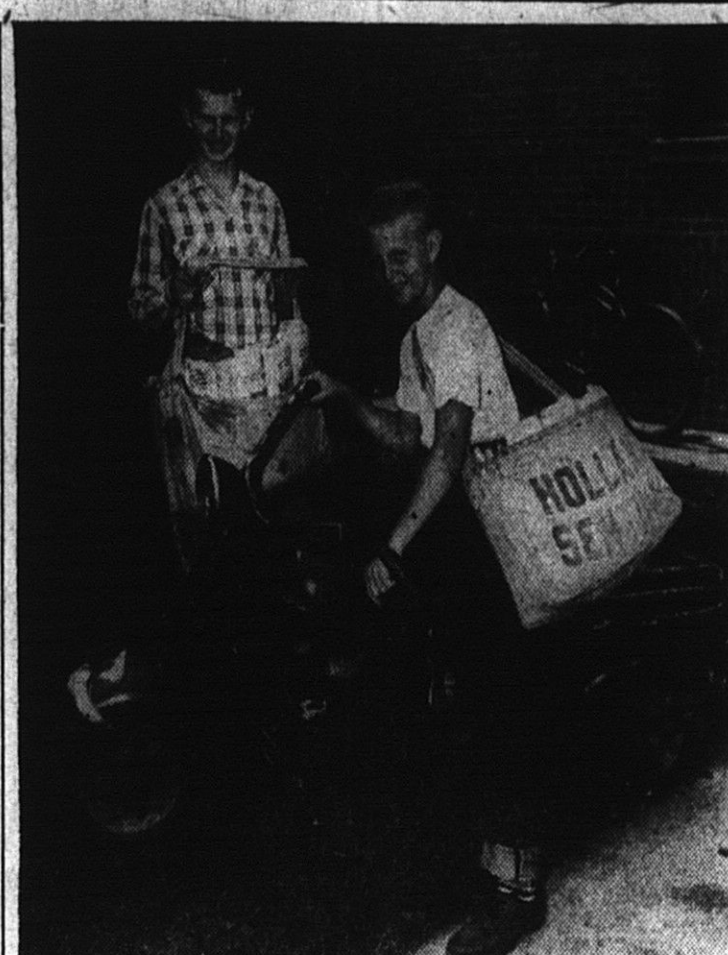

Poll was southbound on 72nd St. and Milanowski was westbound on the Port Sheldon Rd. when they collided in the intersection. Poll's car rolled into a nearby field and tipped over.

The entire side of the Poll car was tipped off. Ottawa County deputies said both the Poll '51 model car and Milanowski's '49 model car were total losses.

Revoked License Charge Brings Fine, Three Days

GRAND HAVEN (Special)—Blas Duron, 35, route 4, Holland, arraigned before Justice Frederick J. Workman Thursday afternoon, pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while his license was suspended, and was sentenced to pay $20 fine, $4.90 costs and serve three days in the county jail. The arrest was by the sheriff's department last Saturday in Holland township.

He was brought before Ottawa Circuit Court on a bench warrant April 11, 1955, for violating his probation, at which time his probation was extended for another year and required to pay $50 costs in 90 days.

AUDRED PETROELJE (left) and his brother, Wayne, have worked up quite a Sentinel business in Zeeland. Audred, who will be 19 years old next week, is "retiring" after delivering Sentinels almost eight years, developing his route from 51 back in 1947 to 115 customers at present. Wayne, 11, has been a Sentinel carrier since the first of the year with 51 customers. He will get half his brother's customers, working a route of approximately 110 customers. Audred is in the plastering business for the summer and expects to enter Hope College in the fall. Gerrit Petroelje, father of the boys, substitutes for both of them on occasion. Zeeland Proposal On Area Planning Is Well Received

A communication from Zeeland Mayor Robert S. DeBruyn to City Council proposing a joint advisory commission to coordinate the planning and development of the Holland-Zeeland area was referred to the Holland Planning Commission Wednesday night.

Mayor DeBruyn's letter called attention to the rapidly changing area between Holland and Zeeland, and proposed that Holland city, Zeeland city and Holland township unite to study development in the area.

Mayor Robert Visscher said Holland would be glad to cooperate with Zeeland and the township in this matter and said the mutual effort could be most beneficial to overall planning. "And if we work out plans for sharing our water with Zeeland, it will be considerably more than laying a garden hose," the mayor said. Laughter greeted this quip which referred to the statement of a Grand Rapids commissioner some weeks ago that the water needs of Zeeland could be met by laying a garden hose from Holland.

Council also passed a resolution to be sent to U.S. Sens. Potter and McNamara and U.S. Rep. Ford calling attention to a resolution passed Jan. 19 in which Holland joins with other port cities in Michigan urging improvements in connecting channels in the Great Lakes area in preparation for ocean trade after the St. Lawrence seaway is completed.

City Clerk Clarence Greengood read a resolution passed by the Council of Livonia June 13 requesting the state legislature and house to investigate the high price of gasoline in Michigan and why the basic price should be higher than in Ohio.

A letter from State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs acknowledged Council's resolution on speed on the US-31 bypass. The letter stated that the matter has been referred to the safety and traffic division and a joint survey with the State Highway department will be made in accordance with established procedure. The clerk also reported a letter had been received from the Michigan State Highway department permitting use of land at Fairbanks and M-21 for highway purposes.

Council granted a license for operating a dancing academy to Phil Osterhouse, and instructed the city attorney to study the ordinance with a view to making some changes.

William Mokma was granted a permit to move a house from 49 East Ninth St. to the second lot west of the creek on the north side of East 14th St. The moving has the approval of the building inspector, city engineer, BPW superintendent and the park superintendent.

A report from the Insurance Audit and Inspection Co. relative to the ordinance requirement for the city of Holland as co-insurers on sidewalk construction work was referred to the city attorney for study.

Hope College Receives Grant From U.S. Steel

Hope College has just received a grant of $1,000 from the United States Steel Foundation. Dr. Irwin J. Lubbers, college president, said today. Dr. Lubbers was notified of the award by Roger M. Blough, Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the foundation.

Blough's statement read, "The financial plight of privately supported education continues to be serious. Our increasing population and the commensurate increases in the number of students seeking a better education, as well as the long deferred needs for more educational facilities are established facts."

Dr. Lubbers said the money was given from a fund of $220,000 to be distributed among approximately 200 colleges throughout the United States. According to Blough, the Foundation evaluated institutions in all 48 states. He said, "Each was considered on its own merit, but annual support of all is beyond the resources of this Foundation. Although many worthy institutions were excluded in the 1955 program. It was possible to provide new aid for more than 160 additional colleges and universities."

Driver Injured In M-21 Accident

A Saginaw man was critically injured early Saturday when he was thrown from his car as it rolled over on M-21 three miles east of Hudsonville after failing to round a curve.

John Shannon, 22, of 816 North Michigan Ave., Saginaw, was rushed to St. Mary's Hospital by ambulance. Authorities would only say his condition was "fair" and the extent of his injuries was undetermined.

For the third time in a week Ottawa County deputy Bud Gysen was at the scene of an accident shortly after it happened. This morning's accident occurred shortly after 3:30 a.m.

Gysen was enroute home when he spotted the accident and found Shannon lying several feet from the car in the ditch. Heavy mist made it difficult to spot the accident alone Shannon.

From tire tracks deputies figured Shannon drove straight off the road and starting rolling a few feet after he hit the soft shoulder. Parts of the late model car were scattered along the 315 feet the car rolled before coming to a stop at the base of a telephone pole.

A trucker, Guy Venterlo of Chicago, enroute to the Windy City with a semi from Grand Rapids was also at the scene shortly after the mishap occurred.

Venterlo immediately lit flares and placed them several hundred feet on either side of the mishap to warn cars driving on M-21 through a dense mist.

Gysen helped place the injured man in an ambulance and rode with him to St. Mary's hospital as other deputies arrived to take care of the accident scene.

City Finally Gets Shower, but Heat Wave to Continue

Rain Settles to Light
Sprinkle in Short Time;
Relief in Sight, Though

It finally came.

Holland got a nice shower starting about 11 this morning, but it didn't do much in the way of shoving down the mercury.

For a few minutes the water came down hard, but it soon settled down to a light sprinkle.

What the rain did do, however, was to furnish some hope that the week-long heat wave that has blistered the entire nation was due to break up.

Even the Weather Bureau was sighting some possible relief, but not before Saturday.

Forecast for tonight was warm and humid with a chance of scattered thunder showers Friday afternoon. And even with this, the experts predicted the temperature would get up to 93 Friday.

This morning just before the rain it was 87 degrees in Holland while Holland State Park recorded 84. Water temperature was still a warm 70.

Although there's no doubt that it is hot, Holland residents should feel fairly secure if they take a look at Detroit.

There they've really got a problem—severe water shortage. "God help us if we have another day like Wednesday," one city official said.

And there was a lot of water pumped in Detroit Wednesday—722,850,000 gallons, far exceeding the old record set last July 27. It was the first time the city had ever pumped more than 700 million gallons.

Despite the record water consumption, however, new restrictions on water use that were put in effect last week apparently conserved enough to keep faucets from running dry in some of the harder-hit sections.

Around the nation the heat was both humorous and serious.

In Chicago, a merciful employer issued an order that his employees could wear shorts to work. Irving Rosman set the pace by showing up in a natty pair of Bermuda shorts. About 80 of his 400 employees followed suit, including pretty secretaries who sported white tennis shorts and high heeled shoes.

But Judge Irwin J. Hasten of Chicago's Women's Court ruled the heat was no excuse for scanty attire. Women were forbidden to appear before him in anything but a skirt.

On the serious side, James Brown was injured when a keg of ice slid on him from a refrigerated freight car in New York. Another Gotham resident, trying to escape the heat by sleeping on the roof of a Bowery hotel, was seriously injured when he rolled off and fell 17 floors to the street.

Besides dragging out the record "White Christmas" and playing it six months early, those who are suffering from the heat might take a look at the weather reports from some other places around the world.

Buenos Aires, Argentina, had its first snowfall in 37 years and Mendoza, Argentina, shivered through its lowest temperatures in 22 years—6 degrees below zero.

It was precisely the same temperature in Hell and Paradise, cities in Norway that had equal readings of 59 degrees.

And a "heat wave" gripped the North Pole. The temperature was near zero, but the sun was so hot that Soviet scientists in the region went sun-bathing on the ice floes.

Gary Man Pleads Guilty to Felony

GRAND HAVEN (Special)—Noel Leon Willis, 27, Gary, Indiana, pleaded guilty in Ottawa Circuit Court Wednesday afternoon to a charge of breaking and entering in the nighttime. He allegedly broke into the Cities Service Oil Co. terminal office in Spring Lake township last Dec. 16, which was one of a series of offenses in which he was involved around that time.

He was apprehended and brought before Lake Criminal Court at Crown Point, Ind., on June 23 on a charge of burglary, second degree, to which he pleaded guilty and was sentenced to serve two to five years in the state penitentiary. This sentence was suspended by the court and he was placed on probation for three years. As Ottawa County had a detainer for him he was released to custody of his attorney, Thomas D. Galasini of Gary, Ind., and brought into Grand Haven Municipal Court Wednesday morning, where he waived examination and bound over to Ottawa Circuit Court. He was immediately arraigned and pleaded guilty to the offense. As he is now on probation from the Lake Criminal Court of Crown Point, he was released upon payment of $50 costs.

He is married and has five children. State police conducted the investigation on the Spring Lake job.

TWO YOUTHS INJURED — Two Chicago bound youths were seriously injured Wednesday night when their motorcycle slammed into a car on US-31 near the Old Saugatuck Rd. south of Holland. The driver, Roy Hagstrom and his passenger, George Murray, both 17, are in "good" condition today at Holland Hospital. They each suffered a compound fracture of their left legs and possible internal injuries. South Haven State Police said the boys were heading south on US-31 when a car driven by Arlene Slater, 31, of 14741 64th Ave., made a left hand turn in front of them. Officers indicated Allegan County Prosecutor Dwight Cheever would be contacted today pending filing of charges. Trooper Bill Ogden, left, makes out his report as he views the demolished 1946 model motorcycle. (Sentinel photo)

He was treated immediately by Dr. Kenneth Miller of Saugatuck, and rushed to a Gary hospital by ambulance. There, he was listed in critical condition.

Saugatuck Police Chief Joe Dempski said the assailant was unknown at first, but that investigation identified him. He said state police would go to Chicago to pick him up when the warrant is issued.

Next Monday, July 11, was set by Mayor Stewart Miller as the date for a special council session for discussion of electrical department expansion. Recommendation of engineers for improving distribution lines, adding to the diesel plant and installing automatic controls at the hydro plant have been under consideration by council for several weeks.

City Assessor Clare Wise, serving as spokesman for the city's four members of the board of supervisors, reported briefly on the status of the squabble over the site for the proposed million dollar county hospital. Wise said the situation is "getting to a point where the need for the hospital outweighs the added expense of putting it at the county farm."

The council decided to await further developments before taking a stand on the matter.

Clerk Instructed To Seek New Bids On Certain Phase

Local Firm Awarded
General Construction
Work for $655,000

City Council Wednesday night approved several contracts for the new addition to Holland City Hospital involving an expenditure of $794,629.

The approved bids follow: General construction, low base bid, Martin Dyke and Sons, Holland, $655,000; plus alternate No. 1, lead deep therapy, $2,000; total, $657,000.

Electrical construction, low base bid, Kent El-citric Co., Casonvia, $98,978.

Refrigerators, low base bid, Chrysler and Koppin, Detroit, $17,431; less reach-in cafeteria, $695, and less reach-in floor pantries, $600; net, $16,136.

Refrigeration systems, low base bid, W. H. De Mattia, Detroit, $6,602; less cafeteria refrigerator, $377; net, $18,290.

Mechanical contractors, low bid, Lamson Corp., Syracuse, N. Y., $18,290.

The resolution which Council passed also included a provision that Holland Plumbing and Heating Co. be allowed to withdraw its bid, and that all bids on mechanical construction be rejected and bids returned to all bidders. The clerk was instructed to advertise for new bids on mechanical construction, which will be opened Tuesday, July 19, at 2 p.m. in Council chambers.

Hospital Director Fred Bur explained that approval of bids was delayed until this week since federal authorities did not require positive action June 30 other than a resolution by the Hospital Board. Otherwise, plans had called for a special council meeting before July 1. Federal funds for the local hospital project are listed at $482,000.

After the Hospital board had passed the resolution, low bidder on mechanical construction informed the board of a clerical error in transposing figures from work sheets to the final tabulation sheet, thereby calling for an amended resolution. City Attorney James E. Townsend said such a bid could legally be withdrawn before bids actually were approved.

The Hospital board made it clear that the recommended contracts do not include all the work needed, but that more than sufficient funds will be available from the sale of bonds and federal funds to guarantee payment on all contracts recommended. Announcement also was made that a special committee is working to raise enough additional funds to let the remaining contracts to complete the project.

Allegan Council Studies Changes

ALLEGAN (Special)—City Manager P. H. Beauvais was instructed to obtain cost estimates on re-vamping the street lighting system in downtown Allegan during Monday night's city council meeting.

Council members, agreeing it was a top priority improvement, discussed briefly the various types of modern lighting fixtures available which provide more light at less cost.

The council also voted to advertise for bids on a two-way radio system which would link all city departments. The Civil Defense department will share in the cost of the system, Beauvais indicated.

Next Monday, July 11, was set by Mayor Stewart Miller as the date for a special council session for discussion of electrical department expansion. Recommendation of engineers for improving distribution lines, adding to the diesel plant and installing automatic controls at the hydro plant have been under consideration by council for several weeks.

City Assessor Clare Wise, serving as spokesman for the city's four members of the board of supervisors, reported briefly on the status of the squabble over the site for the proposed million dollar county hospital. Grand Slam in 1st Shoves Dutchmen Behind for Good

Just one hit.

That's all Grand Rapids Sullivan needed Monday morning to score just as many runs as the Flying Dutchmen produced with 11 safeties.

A grand slam home run put Sullivan's out in front for good at Riverview Park as the Dutchmen dropped an 8-4 decision.

It wasn't a lack of hits that beat Holland as the Grand Rapids squad managed only seven off starter Rog Smith and Dave Schreuer.

Two walks, an error and Shultz's homer over the right field fence made it 4-0 for Sullivan in the first.

An error, a walk and Ron Boeve's single gave Holland a run in the bottom of the first, but that was all until the seventh when Schreuer doubled and scored on Bob Van Dyke's triple.

Rightfielder Carlson tagged Smith for a home run with the bases empty in the second and four singles gave Sullivan two more runs in the sixth. Two walks and an error produced the final tally in the ninth.

The Dutchmen rallied for two runs in the bottom of the ninth on singles by Ken Van Tatenhove, Van Dyke and Boeve, but starter Dick Virkstis put out the fire by getting Max Doolittle to tap a grounder to the mound.

Holland entertains Zealand at Riverview Park Thursday night in the makeup of a rained-out Southwestern Michigan League game.

Too Much Rain at Jasper -- But It Doesn't Bother the Trout

By Phil Rich

JASPER, Alberta, June 25 — Today we came back here to see if Ken Alexander could show us some more speckled trout, Eastern brook they call them. The spot we had chosen with streams and lakes galore was hit by hot weather and mountain runoff. The result was murky and muddy streams and no chance for a fish to see a bait, and besides with all the food washed in, what respectable and well fed fish would be hungry for our lures?

First, I'm not sure I did say earlier that we had 33 miles of pavement going to "Entrance" (a town and 12 miles of gravel with plenty of construction. Also that we saw a mule deer with great ears, then 12 cow elk and one calf; soon five more elk and before long a big bull moose. A few miles along we saw a big bull moose walk down to the lake. We watched. He walked in and swam right up along the road for a mile or more while we just coasting along keep him company.

Another thing I didn't mention was a moosehide hanging in the general store at Entrance. It was made by the Smokey Indians and on s. for $30. I couldn't find one to fit. These coats are heavy, good wind-breakers and warm. Only trouble is that they weigh a ton when wet. But I had Bill Collings in mind and his water-proofing silicone product, which has made leather bet- ter than rubber. But I can still remember the moosehide neck-lugs, Indian smoke - tanned which I got on the Yukon river. My wife finally discovered what the smell was and I gave them away and/or put them in a secluded spot. Anyway, they didn't have my size on the jacket.

George and I got back to Jasper, the town of, we stayed at the Alpine Hotel. The man gave us a nice cabin: fireplace, living room with davenport (chesterfield here) kitchen with stove and dishes, ice-box, two bedrooms and a bathroom. The lot $9 a night . . . for two. Knowing we were going fishing we signed up for two nights. This brings us down to Ken. He had been our guide one day and we liked him, and the 20 trout he piloted us to, so we called up Jack Raeside, who has boats on 12 lakes, and asked him to find Ken He did. Shortly we met Jack down at the Astoria Hotel and he found Ken uptown. The deal was made in minutes and we went in to have ice cream (George's favorite dish) with Ken and to meet his wife.

At 7 a.m. we met Ken again at the river where we are assured by George Andrew — although he is conscious of the "aldorf Astoria). Breakfast over, we hit it up the trail headed for J. J. ernia lake, two - and - one - half miles in, or half a mile from Marjorie (our earlier love and limit catch 1 lb.). Hibernia is up a steep trail. We spent two hours there without a strike despite all kinds of baits from flies to spinning. Even tried minnows after catching three of them on flies. Minnows are illegal in these lakes because of the "dumping habit" which puts the wrong breeds in trout lakes. But minnows caught there would be all right.

We decided to again go back to Marjorie. Here we soon had fish in a short time we got enough for lunch. George catching four and I catching only one. So we cooked them up and had a shore dinner. One of George's trout is a record for the trip — it weighed in at two pounds which is good for a "speck" and was at least 15 inches long. These trout are fat.

In the afternoon we had a little rain. Some had fallen previously, but it was dew compared to what now fell. It rained and it rained. George and I had rain-coats, but Ken had none. His suede coat was soaked. He donned a fishing jacket and kept rowing (in the park, guides cannot fish). It got colder. A thunderstorm pounded us twice and hard. We spent a few minutes under a spruce tree and then went at it again.

The water ran down my throat around the plastic coat collar. It soaked the seat, it ran into the top of my boots (eight inches) from my cap and from the pants. Finally we gave up after numerous strikes and two or three more trout. Ken was soaked to the skin, I was half wet and George was at least 30 per cent. It was getting late so we pulled out for Jasper downhill about two miles.

At Ken's house after a warming drink, he showed us a very swell blonde table he had made of formica and wood with iron legs — a low job which would be shown in the modern stores anywhere with pride.

Ken is quite a boy. He not only served in the air force in England but also spent some 15 months in the air base near Ketchikan, Annette Island, Alaska. We swapped notes on fishing in those parts. He gave me a goat horn taken in this range and his wife sewed on a button which had pulled out of fishing kit. They have a boy about six or seven and a seven-month - old baby. Their home is clean and neat and well furnished and shows a lot of hard work in making it so attractive.

Ken is not only a pleasant person to have around but also he wants to please the customers. He will stay as long as anyone. He told me of an Englishman he guides who always wants to get in the full eight hours of fishing. He can fish with anything, says Ken, and it is a pleasure to go along. He gets the fish. That always pleases a guide. Besides Ken knows every flower, shrub or tree in the wilds. Today we saw miniature - lady slippers.

By the time we had made it back to Alpine we were ready for sleep. In the morning we could linger and decide to add the trout to our breakfast. George Averill proved a good cook and turned out a very palatable breakfast. Overnight we had dried out all equipment and now repacked for the trip out to Calgary.

Down the road a ways, we noticed that high water had washed out half of the road. In several was gone and a hole six feet deep extended up to the middle of the pavement.

Up here women are honored by the naming of lakes — many of which have feminine handles. On the way down we passed Sunwapta summit, 6,694 feet. Saw two girls and a boy going skiing in the snow just starting at the road. There was a snowstorm raging at the Columbia ice fields. We went through Peyto pass at 6,785 feet and the mountain top was up three or four thousand feet beyond that. It took us about eight hours to get to the Calgary area, but it was Sunday and this included a puncture - tire change, lunch etc.

The 12 inches of snow May 30 broke off a few million trees up here. I found out that the elk chew the popple bark in winter. This causes the black marks up to a 7-foot level I have previously described. I like the title "The Valley of the Crooked Trees," one we passed near Jasper. So our adventure now turned to the south and west where we hope to have better fishing reports and see more interesting place if any!

Chix Fireworks Blasts Allegan

ZEELAND (Special) — The Zeeland Chix had big bundles of fireworks in two innings Monday morning and that was plenty to blast Allegan Blood Brothers, 17-7.

Held scoreless for the first three innings, the Chix exploded for nine runs on seven hits in the fourth inning as 13 batters paraded to the plate.

After a pair of hitless innings the Chix started bombing again, using four hits for seven runs in the seventh. Two hits in the eighth added a final tally.

Allegan nicked starter Ted Boeve for single runs in the second and third, but Gene Talsma topped them for three innings. In the seventh, however, Allegan used three hits for three runs, and added a pair of useless tallies in the ninth.

Starting pitcher Woodruff went all the way for Allegan despite Zeeland's 15-hit onslaught.

Next game for the Chix is Thursday night, when they travel to Holland to play the Flying Dutchmen in the makeup of a rained-out Southwestern Michigan League game.

Mayor Speaks on 'Our Sacred Honor'

Between 3,000 and 4,000 gathered at Legion Memorial Park Monday evening for the annual Fourth of July celebration sponsored by the American Legion posts. A display of fireworks was the biggest attraction, and roadways for miles around accommodated parked cars for the aerial views.

The program opened with a concert by the American Legion band after which Mayor Robert Visscher gave the Independence Day address on "Our Sacred Honor," based on the last lines of the Declaration of Independence on "We pledge our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor."

Mayor Visscher interpreted "our sacred honor" as the people's responsibilities to the government on local, state and national levels. "George can't do it alone; he needs your help," the mayor said. "Too many people are offering destructive criticism instead of digging in to get a job done. Consequently, they're impeding George, not helping him."

The mayor pointed out that lots of things can be done on a local level, following the line of our forefathers who sacrificed greatly for the great cause. "Let's get constructive in our criticisms and offer to help those in office get a job done," the mayor said.

First Sentinel Edition Appeared 60 Years Ago

Eighteen hundred and ninety-five was the year the supreme court said the government had no power to tax incomes. A New Jersey Democrat, Grover Cleveland, was in the White House.

The young Queen Wilhelmina was in her first years as ruler of the Netherlands. In Russia the last of the Tsars was crowned. China signed a treaty giving Japan some obscure islands called Formosa and the Pescadores.

That same year in Holland the first edition of a new newspaper appeared. Although undergoing three changes in name, the paper became The Holland Evening Sentinel.

Each edition was about four pages—tabloid size. The staff included Editor Klook, a retired Methodist minister, his two daughters and a son plus two newsboys.

One of the first newsboys, A. Ralph Van Raalte, recalled today that his route included exactly one half of the city. "Everything west of River Ave. up to the outskirts of town—16th St., that is."

"But the paper grew rapidly," recalls Van Raalte. "In a short time I carried only Eighth St."

Published at that time in McBride Building, where Peck's Drug Store now stands, the offices were moved to 190 East Eighth St. when Klock sold the paper to Roland C. Easley. The Sentinel was also published at 21 East Eighth St. where Western Union now stands, and at 35 East Eighth St. where now is an IGA store.

Biggest event in the early years of The Sentinel was consolidation with the old Holland Daily Times which was published by M.G. Manting.

A stock company was formed to finance the new venture and Frank M. Sparks became the first editor of the Sentinel under the group. The paper was published at the Times' plant where the Owl Restaurant now stands.

Charles A. French, successful publisher of several Michigan papers, purchased the paper in 1927, moving the plant to the present site.

French linked the paper with the United Press Association, and thus with principal news centers throughout the world. He also expanded coverage of local news and made the paper a full size newspaper.

In 1895 the Sentinel's little hand rotary press reflected a city of 5,000 with lumber mills on the main street. As the masthead changes to "Sixty-First Year" today, the efficient Sentinel plant is testimony that the newspaper is now geared to a modern city of 16,000 persons.

Milwaukee Gypsy Edges MBYC Boats In Queen's Race

The 102-year-old Queen's Yachting Cup again slipped through the grasp of Macatawa Bay Yacht Club Saturday as two MBYC boats were first to cross the line in the Milwaukee to Holland race but gave way to The Gypsy of Milwaukee in corrected time.

Harold Sears' Revenge led the 23 vessels that finished, while Hugh Schaddelee's Hilaria was second. But Joe Schoendorf's Gypsy beat them by minutes after the handicapped was figured. Schoendorf's time was 11 hours, 21 minutes and 19 seconds.

The Hilaria's corrected time was 11:21:25. The Revenge had the fastest actual time with a 12:19 crossing.

Originated in England, the Queen's Cup has been awarded in a number of United States and foreign races. This is the 15th time it has been awarded for the Milwaukee-Holland crossing.

Two boats used motors to finish the rugged 80-mile race.

Winner in the division II-classification was Interlude, a Milwaukee owned yacht. Finishing second was the Luxon, owned by Robert Luxford of LaCross, Wis., and Macatawa Bay, while Rojahn II, piloted by Harvey Meador of Muskegon, was third.

Two Muskegon boats, Jack Sargeant's Jack Elain and Jack Medendorp's Be Be Too, lead the pack in division III, followed by Clark Field's Reverie, a MBYC boat.

"Universal class winner was The Eilema of Milwaukee, owned by Jack Briner. Second in the class was Questa, owned by R. C. Scorsman of Milwaukee while the Swannee, also a Milwaukee boat owned by Randy Coleman, finished third.

Craft competing in the classic ranged from 35 to 60 feet. Fleetwood, last year's winner owned by Nick Gies of Chicago, was not entered.

Adults Can Take Swim Lessons

Adults who have always wanted to take swimming lessons have an excellent opportunity to do so right now.

And the best part about it is that the lessons are free.

City Recreation Director Joe Moran has announced that he will run two free periods for the first three-week swimming section. Starting times of the periods are 3:30 and 4:15 each afternoon.

Swim lessons start today so adults who want to enter the free periods should start Wednesday. They must furnish their own transportation to the instruction grounds at Chippewa Point on Lake Macatawa on the way to Ottawa Beach.

Moran said that parents could bring their children along for free lessons, too. Instruction will be given on all six levels—beginner, intermediate, swimmer, and junior, advanced and senior life-saving.

Volleys

The cute picture of a state trooper holding a tiny girl in Dutch costume which appeared in The Sentinel's Tulip Time edition this year appears on the cover of the Michigan State Police Post-Ex for the May-June issue.

The photo, taken during the 1945 festival by Sentinel Photographer Al Bransdorfer, shows, Trooper George Catton of the Clinton post helping the little girl to a better vantage point. "All officers are pushovers for kids," the caption reads.

City Manager Herb Holt was seen riding a bicycle the other day—and quite ably too.

It seems he was out making a survey of parking meters, checking the one-hour, two-hour, 12-minute limitations, and found a bike much preferable to driving a car or walking.

The bike belonged to a city hall janitor.

Whenever a new through street is designated in Holland, motorists usually go through quite an educational process. Persons taking the new stop street, if they are wise, use extra caution, particularly at those intersections where signs have been reversed.

Patrolman Clare Van Langevelde was cruising on 22nd St. the other day and cautiously crossed Van Raalte Ave. after noting the coast was clear. But a Van Raalte Ave. motorist was incensed at what he thought was failure to stop for a stop street and he turned the corner and ran down the squad car.

"You ran a stop street and I want this reported!" he stormed. Clare said, "Let's check that intersection."

A few steps back to the crossing revealed the new placement of the signs. "It seems you're in error. Would you like that reported?" Clare asked.

The motorist was quiet and apologetic and willing to let the matter rest.

Do you know what a palindrome is?

According to the dictionary, it's a word, verse or sentence that is the same when read backward or forward, such as madam, Hannah, Junius C. C. Wood dredged this one up: "Able was I ere I saw Elba."

Try rewriting that from the last letter to the first and you'll again have, "Able was I ere I saw Elba."

Know any others?

That snazzy new time-temperature sign at First National Bank is attracting a lot of attention these days. The five-second change is just long enough for people to get caught up easily on that vital information.

But while the sign is on the sunny side of the street, the temperature given is more along the lines of the official temperature in the city and not the result of direct rays of the sun on any thermometer.

A little investigation into the mechanical end of such a sign reveals that it has 325 40-watt lamps in the numerical panel, 351 silver contact points to control lamps, 19 electric motors to operate mechanism, a half mile copper wire for each unit, and weighs about 1,500 pounds. A self-correcting timing device gives exact-to-the-minute time, without fail. Temperature reading, likewise, is never-wavering—completely unaffected by wind, direct sunlight or heat from buildings.

Incidentally, that flag which flies over First National Bank has special significance. Bank president Henry S. Maentz said it once flew over the U.S. Capitol in Washington. It was obtained through the courtesy of U.S. Rep. Gerald R. Ford, Jr.

The Sentinel last Readers Digest in the new July issue. It was that classified ad that brought a chuckle all around when it came into the office. It was the one about wanting another rider in a car pool to downtown Grand Rapids—must be controversial and take the opposite side of any argument.

We understand the chap who entered the ad ended up with a satisfactory addition to the party.

A nice long holiday week-end is coming up. Just take it easy if you're out on the road. We'd hate to lose any Sentinel readers.

Laff for the day:

A retired Navy captain on the administrative staff of a southern university still clung to his rank. And when a young veteran named Brown said to him, "I'd like to talk with you about entering the university, Mr. Smith," he was enraged at being addressed "Mr."

"CAPTAIN Smith to you, young man!" he stormed.

Looking him straight in the eye and standing at attention, the young veteran snapped back, "And in that event, COLONEL Brown to you, sir!"

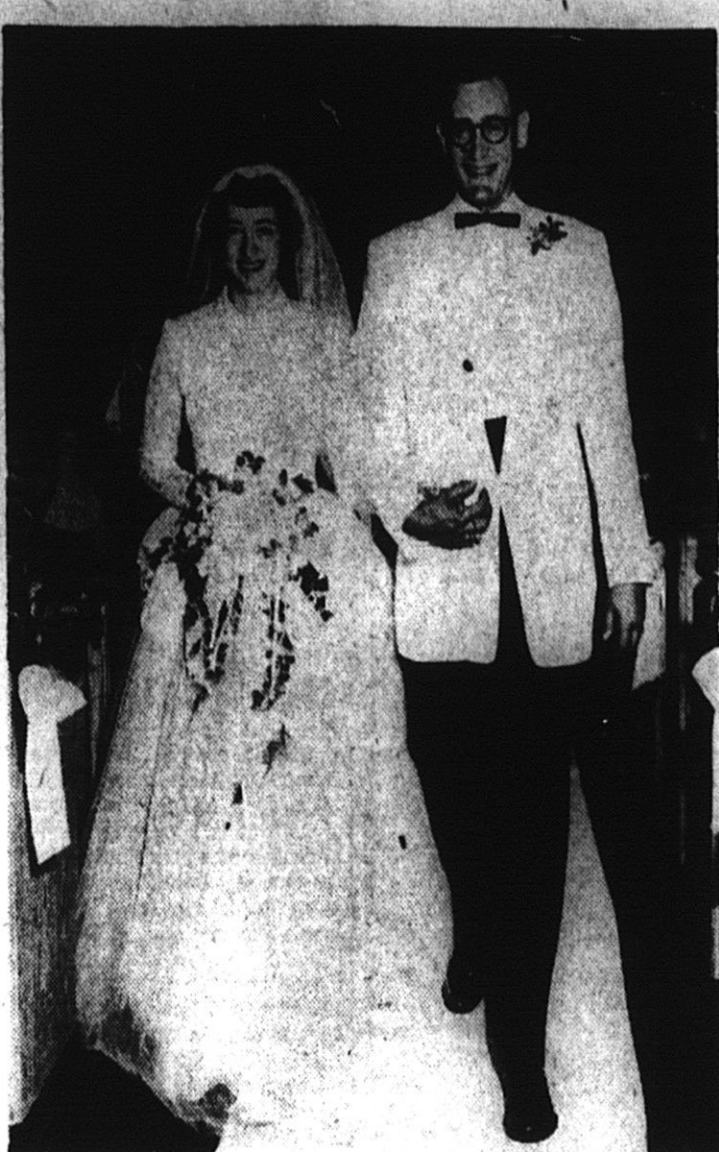

The boss, W. A. Butler, rushed from the office Thursday and took off for The Castle for the Rotary club luncheon. He was interested in the Mackinac bridge film scheduled to be shown.

When he got there, he found the luncheon was being held at the Warm Friend Tavern. Wednesday's Sentinel had listed the local hotel correctly.

Why boss, don't you read the Sentinel?

The United States uses more electricity than any other country.

Grace Church Scene of Rites

Miss Marguerite Jean Williams became the bride of William Hill Hatfield in Grace Episcopal Church in an evening wedding Saturday, June 18. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. William C. Warner before the altar which was decorated with bouquets of white carnations, white peonies and stock.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. L.M. Williams of Holland and Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hatfield of Winter Haven, Fla.

Mrs. Leonard Kuite, church organist, played the traditional wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Lester Schaap.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of imported tulle taffeta covered by an overskirt and bodice of tulle. The close fitting bodice had a deep V neckline bordered with lace medallions, and tiny shirred sleeves. Lace medallions formed a border on the tulle overskirt. A capulet of tulle with a tulle of seed pearls held in place her fingertip veil. She wore elbow length mitts of shirred tulle. Her flowers were white roses, feathered carnations centered with an orchid.

Miss Janet Rudolph of Glenn Ellyn, Ill., as maid of honor, wore a ballerina length gown of pale pink tulle with overskirt of orchid nylon net. Tiny rosebuds were scattered over the close fitting bodice and skirt. She wore a matching headband and carried a bouquet of light pink roses.

Miss Helen Hatfield of Kansas City, Mo., sister of the groom, and Mrs. Trammell Pickett of Winter Haven, Fla., as bridesmaids, wore gowns similar to the maid of honor in deeper shades of pink with ruffles of nylon net over bodices and skirts. Matching headbands and cascade bouquets of roses completed their ensembles.

George W. Hatfield served his brother as best man. Ushers were Bryan J. Boyle and Robert Cozens of Winter Haven and James Hubbard of Chicago and Macatawa. Linda Williams, niece of the bride and David Stegler, nephew of the bride, were flower girl and ring bearer.

A reception for 200 guests was held later at Waukazoo Inn with Mr. and Mrs. Syl Paulus as master and mistress of ceremonies.

The bride attended Holland High School and was secretary to Dean Warner until her marriage. Mr. Hatfield attended Bolles Military Academy at Jacksonville, Fla., Winter Haven High School and the University of Alabama.

20 Merchants Furnish Hamilton Team Uniforms

HAMILTON (Special)—Twenty local businessmen have outfitted the Hamilton Merchants with new uniforms for the Hamilton Softball League.

Six teams are playing in the Tonight, a fleet of about 30 of league, which has games on Tuesday and Thursday nights at 7 and 8:15 p.m.

They were married last Friday, June 24, in Ninth Street Christian Reformed Church by the bride's father. Palms, ferns, candelabra and bouquets of white gladioli and stock provided a setting for the double ring rites. Jackie Ortmann, cousin of the bride, was organist and Clarence Oosting was soloist.

A ballerina-length gown of chantilly lace over satin was worn by the bride. Her fingertip veil of French illusion was held by a tiny crown of iridescent sequins and seed pearls. Library Adventures

The publication of a new biography of Walter Scott, by Hesketh Pierson, calls attention once more to the writer who was the most famous novelist in the world in his own day. Walter Scott has "lost face" to a considerable degree in this age of realism in fiction; as the most romantic of romantics he wrote in a tradition that is now more or less discredited.

But in his own day, that is during the first third of the nineteenth century, he was without a peer in world fiction. In the whole history of the novel there has perhaps been but one writer who was equally popular in England and throughout the world—Charles Dickens, whose first book was published four years after Scott died.

Why write a new biography of Scott at this time when romantic fiction is more or less discredited? In this connection it is interesting to note that not longer than three years ago another biographer, Edgar Johnson, published a monumental two-volume life of Dickens, Scott's successor in popularity. Are the biographers trying to stage the return of romance in fiction?

It could be. But in the case of Hesketh Pierson's new life of Scott it is probably merely an attempt to win the attention, and the dollars, of that considerable body of Scott readers still in existence. Pierson is a professional biographer and he was probably merely looking for a subject that would sell.

He has done a professional job, but not one that will set the literary world on fire. Any student of Scott who is looking for the real thing might better go to a book that was published a century and a quarter ago, namely J.G. Lockhart's "Life of Walter Scott."

Lockhart was Scott's son-in-law and he had access to a wealth of family material that no other biographer could consult. His life of the great novelist is usually regarded as the second greatest biography in the English language. Boswell's "Life of Samuel Johnson" being the first.

But Pierson's biography will at least serve to remind the reader generation of today that there is no writer in the contemporary world in any country who even begins to enjoy the acclaim that Walter Scott had in his own day. Kings and prime ministers and queens and generals and statesmen humbly begged for the notice of the great story teller. For once the writer was honored as the equal of royalty and statesmen. Yet he had come up from the ranks of Scottish commons. What he achieved was done solely through the power of his pen.

A more important fact of which the new biography is a reminder is that Walter Scott's head was never turned by the adulation that was heaped upon him. To the end he remained the same kindly friend of the world that he had always been. He made so much money that he could build for himself a home that was almost a medieval castle, called "Abbotsford." There he entertained the great of the earth, but he was at the same time always the intimate of simple shepherds and laborers. And he probably befriended and helped more struggling writers than any other man in literature has done.

His story, as all the world knows, ended in what the last Winston Churchill book calls "Triumph and Tragedy." The triumph was world acclaim; the tragedy was the loss of every cent he had, so that he even had to mortgage his beloved Abbotsford. He wrote himself to death trying to pay his debts. That attempt, that almost succeeded, was in the end the greatest triumph of all.

DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE

Monday, Fourth of July, in mechanized America, thousands of persons will hop in the family car for a typical holiday outing, many unmindful of the significance of the great day in our history.

The Declaration of Independence was a momentous document in our annals. Through the stirring document the brave colonies as one severed their ties with their homelands and declared their own right to "Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness."

The Declaration of Independence, according to the Almanac, was adopted by the Continental Congress in Philadelphia, on July 4, 1776, and was signed by John Hancock as president and by Charles Thomas as secretary. It was established first on July 6 in the Pennsylvania Evening Post. A copy of the Declaration engrossed on parchment, was signed by members of Congress on and after August 6, 1776. On January 18, 1777, Congress ordered that "authenticated copies, with the names of the Members of Congress subscribing the same, be sent to each of the United States, and that they be desired to have same put upon record."

Authenticated copies were printed in broadside form by Mary Katherine Goddard in Baltimore, where Congress was then in session.

NO SHORTCUTS

The American Medical Association, in a report to the nation, declares Americans are losing out in physical stamina and vigor as compared with the peoples of Europe. Cutting down its research to percentages and fractions, the association reports that we on this side of the Atlantic are deteriorating in muscular vigor, and in general physical health, as compared with the people of the nations from which most Americans are descended.

A similar fact, not based on scientific research, was shown some years ago when an appalling number of young men were found to be physically unfit for military service.

Casting about for a cause, the AMA suggests that Americans are increasingly avoiding the work of using their muscles. Two or three generations of failure to use the body to capacity is beginning to take its toll. At least that is what the scientist-sociologists of the AMA think.

We are becoming a nation devoted to shortcuts. Fifty years ago children walked a mile, or even two miles, to school; today they ride in a comfortable school bus. Once boys and girls had their regular home chores; now the oil burner is turned on by a button, and the woodbox has become obsolete.

In an earlier day boys and girls played their primitive games; today indeed there still are plenty of games, but more and more youngsters spend their time as spectators while specialists play. By applying the seat of his pants to the seat of a bench, a boy does not develop muscular vigor.

All along the line, according to the AMA, we Americans are trying to make shortcuts, but it does not work. Nature does not recognize shortcuts; when muscles are not used, they deteriorate, if not in one generation, then in the next.

The AMA does not say so, because it was dealing only with physical vigor, but the same principle applies to the mind. Mental qualities that are not used deteriorate. In things of the mind we are still more given to shortcuts than in things of the body. We are becoming a nation of "digest" readers, for instance. Reading a whole book or even a complete article is too much work; we turn to a summary instead, in half-digested form.

One of these days a group of psychological scientists comparable to the AMA in things physical are going to make a similar study of our mental standing. What will their findings be?

Cotton frequently is called a contraband of war because it is the principal ingredient of smokeless powder.

Habakkuk's Faith Tested

Habakkuk 1:1-6, 12, 13; 2:1-4

Henry Geertlings

The Bible is filled with the names of men and women who seem to have a very inconspicuous place in the establishment of the kingdom. But I wonder if we would say that the people in this land of ours whose names rarely get into print are doing little or nothing toward making our country strong. The fact is, that most of the world's work is done by obscure people. Their names are not heralded abroad.

Habakkuk was a man like that. One cannot read this bit of prophecy of his without feeling he was the kind of a man who was much concerned about and deeply interested in the work of God among the Jews. It has been thought by some that he held a conspicuous position as a prophet. There are those who gather from the last sentence in his short prophecy that he was a member of the temple choir. However, it is not likely his prophetic utterances would have found a place in the Scriptures unless his services had been more or less prominent. But the obscurity of his name and life story is of less consequence than the stirring message he has left to the world. It is supposed that he was a contemporary of Jeremiah.

His frankness is rather startling. We wonder how he could speak to God as he did. However, to the prophet's credit was his willingness to be directed. He did not want to remain in doubt. He wanted the purpose of God to be made clear. He was sure that if he knew God's purpose in using the pagan Chaldeans in punishing Israel, he would see through what God was doing, and easily supplant his doubt with faith. Though he found fault with God he was willing to let God explain.

He put God on the spot. He accuses Him of inconsistency. He reviews his high conception of God, and points out that God has not lived up to it. He has allowed reckless destruction, as Jerusalem is besieged by Chaldeans. How can God use pagan people to overpower and suppress Israel? How can He justify His ways with His people? How can He let the wicked prosper at the expense of His people?

Using the figure of fishermen with their nets, he attempted to clarify his complaint about the ways of God. As fishermen look on all they catch as within their power to be used as they choose, so the Chaldeans regard the people of Jerusalem. As their conquerors they treat them as their selfishness suggests. The prophet reaches the limit of blame, when he says that God tolerates idolatry. As fishermen worship their nets, so the Chaldeans worship their war implements. They set them up as idols. How can God let Himself be supplanted by these pagan people?

As a sincere doubter who never lost hope in God's having a sound reason for all He did, the prophet tried to throw off doubt and find faith. He was open to an explanation. That was his hopeful trait. He really put himself to considerable inconvenience to give God a chance to explain His ways. He was ready to take God at His word. If necessary he would reverse himself, going before the people to whom he had boldly declared his complaints about God, and telling them God's explanation of His ways.

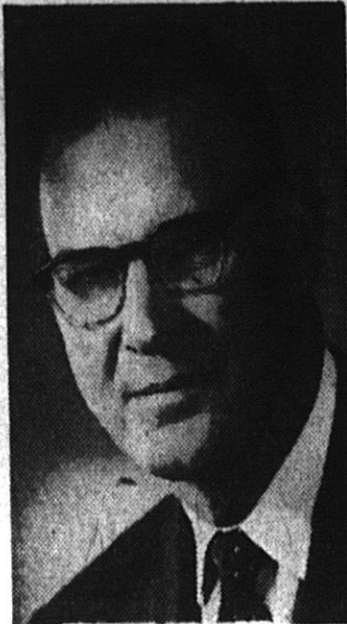

He preferred to uphold the honor of God, to be able to uphold his own complaints. His stand for God, his declared faith in God would be of far greater worth to the people than any other attitude he could show. There is something challenging to us in this picture of the prophet on his watchtower. We too should give God a chance. No hindrance should we allow between us and what God has to show. We should always be alert and receptive to the facts and truths about the ways of God. Any impulse to complain should be held back until we understand what the purpose of God is.

God's answer was too important to be lost. It was to be written clearly as a permanent record. It was to be in large letters easy to read, so that any who passed by could read it. The fate of the Chaldeans was indicated. Though God used them to punish His people, that fact did not prevent them from meeting their fate. The great truth in God's answer was that the righteous in Israel would come through in sad times, living on because of their faith, justified in the presence of God.

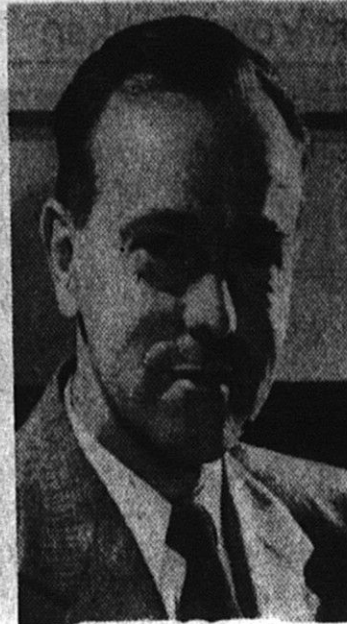

The purpose of God was the establishment of Israel in faith and their return to righteousness. This purpose was so high and holy that it justified ways which trouble the prophet. God's use of the Chaldeans did not free them from guilt. This is the marvelous doing of God. It is too much of a puzzle for most of us to understand. But regardless of anything that takes place, we can continue to trust God. His ways are all just and His purpose pure.

Bosch Again Heads Five-Man Board of Public Works

Randall C. Bosch, Holland businessman, Tuesday was reelected president of the Board of Public Works in what will probably go down with the past year as the most difficult years of the board's history.

Adrian Klaasen was elected vice-president by the five-man board that includes Henry S. Maentz, James H. Klompars, Donald Vink.

Several years of preliminary planning came to a head during the past year when contracts for the new $3,000,000 Holland water pipeline project were let.

Most of the major contracts for the project were approved in two separate sessions of City Council, one on Feb. 2 and the other on June 1.

Contracts that were approved included construction of the lake intake pipe, a $283,440 job won by the Luedtke Engineering Company of Frankfort.

Low bidder on the transmission line carrying the water from the filtration plant to Holland city was the Charles F. Smith and Sons Co. of Kennett Square, Pa., with a $669,228 figure. A portion of the transmission line over Black River will be constructed by the H. W. Hunter Co. of Plymouth, Ind., on a $61,500 bid.

General construction of the main filter plant on Lakewood Blvd. is under bid to the C and C Construction Co. of Fort Wayne, Ind.

RANDALL C. BOSCH

on an $842,792 bid. Filter equipment will be installed by Roberts Filter Manufacturers of Darby, Pa. for $218,400.

A 1,500,000-gallon steel reservoir near the filter plant will be built by the Chicago Bridge and Iron Company of Detroit on a $51,870 bid.

A special station on the beach level to house pumps is under contract to Getman Brothers of South Haven for $228,470. Pumps for this unit will be supplied under a $33,290 contract with Peerless Pump Division; Indianapolis, Ind.

The De Laval Steam Turbine Co. of Detroit is supplying the higher pressure pumps which will pump the water from the filter plant along the transmission line to Holland. The contract is for $27,490.

Within the city extra distribution mains will be laid by the Omer Brandon and Son Co. of Wyandotte, Mich., on a $174,033.53 contract.

Other smaller contracts awarded include $41,639 with General Electric of Grand Rapids for electrical controls, motors and switch gears, $243.50 with Coffman Brothers of Grand Rapids for auxiliary generating equipment, $14,072 with Owen-Ames-Kimball of Grand Rapids for landscaping, and $43,632 with Luedtke Construction Co. of Frankfort for a 400 foot drain line extension into the lake from the filter plant.

The intake pipe is currently being laid into Lake Michigan at the rate of about 200 feet a day. Already 1,200 of the 4,240 feet have been laid.

The first pumping station will be located on the beach, just north of Tunnel Park. These pumps will lift the water to the filter plant directly east, just over Lakewood Blvd.

After treatment, the water will be pumped into the transmission pipe or into the storage reservoir. The transmission line extends from the plant south to Perry St., and directly east along Perry St., crossing the Park Township airport property.

After crossing 152nd Ave, the line crosses private property until coming alongside the Ottawa Beach road about by Pine Creek, where it follows the road to Jefferson St., one block west of River Ave.

After turning south for a block the line will follow Howard Ave. to River Ave., turning south again on the west side of the bridge. A 220-foot suspension will carry the lines over the river, before the pipeline turns to follow Pine Ave. up to Seventh St.

The main transmission line ends at Seventh St. and Pine Ave., where the city distribution system will take over. Using smaller pipes, the distribution main goes south on Pine Ave. to 19th St., thence a branch west on 16th St. to Van Raalte where it turns east to River Ave.

The distribution main joins the present system for most of 19th St. to Columbia Ave. before turning south on Columbia to 25th St. where a left turn to Lincoln Ave. is made.

Final part of the distribution main extends south on Lincoln to 30th St. and back to College Ave. where it joins with an existing line to extend back several hundred yards to the west.

Throughout the entire length there are numerous "T" joints and other unions to enable new lines to be cut in.

Anyway You Look at It, It's Hot in These Parts

One thing everyone will remember about Fourth of July, 1955. It was hot.

And despite the extra heavy traffic as thousands flocked to the beaches, there were no serious traffic accidents in the southern half of the county. Only recorded accident was a minor collision Friday night.

In Holland proper, there were no traffic accidents of any kind.

Sheriff Jerry Vanderbeek credited constant patrol of the highways in holding the accidents to such a low point.

He praised the work of Holland's auxiliary police in assisting regular officers, especially on night shifts. At least four cruisers were on the road starting Friday afternoon until Monday morning.

Traffic was cleared away from American Legion Memorial Park within 20 minutes after the fireworks display Monday night.

Deputies and city police were stationed on East Eighth St. at Russ' and at US-31 and kept traffic moving.

As for the weather everyone agreed that it was too hot. Searing the area was a 95-degree high Sunday and Monday after Saturday's top of 94. Sunday night's low was 65 and Monday night's bottom 71, a trifle warm for comfortable sleeping.

Out at Holland State Park, everyone was glad it was over Tuesday morning.

"We're all tired out," said Park Manager Clare Broad. Then he explained why.

Total attendance counted for the four-day holiday period was an astounding 61,223, and Broad pointed out that that figure is extremely conservative because on Saturday, Sunday and Monday all the parking spaces were gone at 10 in the morning and visitors had to walk in.

The park's counter records only vehicles. Breaking an all-time record Sunday was the number of camp registrations. It was 531 and for a short period tent campers were being turned away. Broad said that he could not recall that happening before.

Almost the entire new oval area was filled with tent campers. Trailer spaces were completely filled Friday. In all, the park can handle 208 trailers.

Visitors counted Friday were 10,038; Saturday, 15,848; Sunday, 18,340 and Monday, 17,097. Monday, all the parking spaces were taken by 9 in the morning.

The huge weekend brought total park attendance for the year to 550,462 to break the half-million mark. Total camp registrations for the year are more than 1,150.

Broad praised campers and picnickers for their splendid cooperation in keeping the park clean and the swimmers for making it easier for the busy life-guarders who were on duty.

The fishing remained good over the weekend and good perch catches were reported off the piers and channels. Reports from the Big Bayou this morning indicated that walleye pike started to hit well Sunday.

Kollen Park was crowded a 11 weekend, especially Sunday, with the parking lot near the water filled to capacity along with the spaces along the roads. The lot near 12th St. was also jammed as hundreds took to the outdoors for picnics.

At Tunnel Park, most of the people took advantage of the shade because it was just too hot for sunbathing. Those who did stay in the sun found it necessary to take frequent dips to keep cool.

Only minor personal injury accidents were reported at Holland Hospital, and the list shows what most people were doing during the weekend.

Causes of various injuries were listed as piece of glass, piece of board, slivers in foot, dog bite, broken pop bottle, hit on leg with stone, fell off play horse, rusty nail.

Holland's Community Ambassador Tired, But Thrilled at Departure

by Nell Salm
QUEBEC CITY, Canada, July 3—Greetings from Quebec. Your community ambassador has at least arrived this far in her efforts to reach Great Britain in the noble cause of promoting good will between our two countries.

The excitement in the Hotel Saint Louis has reached a fever pitch. Various members of the Experiment in International Living (the organization which Community Ambassadors travel under) are running through the lobby clutching baggage tickets, filling in travel forms, beseeching group leaders with an endless stream of questions and generally contributing to the prevailing atmosphere of bedlam. Tomorrow is the big day. We board the Greek Liner, the S.S. Columbia right after lunch. Then—Europe, here we come!

I am no less excited than any of my colleagues, but perhaps I'm a little more tired. Last night I spent aboard a Canadian Pacific Railroad car en route to my last stop this side of the Atlantic. Among unyielding coach seats, chattering Frenchmen, and the train's arrival at the station in the wee, small hours, I slept not at all. Sleepless or not, though, I have enjoyed my brief view of the Canadian cities of Montreal and Quebec.

Montreal is modern and progressive. Quebec is old and has a definitely foreign flavor. Narrow, cobbled streets, horse-drawn carriages, stone buildings blackened with age, the curious architecture featuring many towers and turrets—all make it seem hard to realize that Quebec is indeed a part of America.

The week before I left home I received a letter from my English "sister." Her name is Angela Deane and her stationery was headed "The Manor House." Her family lives in the country near Norwich, about 7 or 8 miles from a popular sailing region on the North Sea. It sounds a little like something out of a Galsworthy novel—gracious living with a capital G. But the motto of the experiment is "expect the unexpected" so my family may turn out to be different from the picture I have in my mind. I rather hope so. I ain't a gracious lady. But I have to be. I'll try.

And now—let me see. My luggage is properly marked, passport safely tucked in purse, camera loaded, clothes folded and packed as neatly as possible around shoes, bottles and other protuberances. I guess I'm all set—except for a good night's sleep. And I intend to start on that right now.

"I'll write again when I reach 'the other side.' Look for my letter, won't you? Your weary but happy ambassador, Nell Salm.

Elzinga-Volkers Notches Victory

The lowly single again emerged as the key to winning ball games Tuesday as Elzinga-Volkers got them at the right time to edge Holland Hitch 2-1, in American Legion A League play.

Dave Bos set up both Elzinga runs with a pair of triples in the second and sixth innings. But it took a timely single by Ron Van Haitsma in the second and one by Tom Bos in the sixth to bring Bos home with the winning runs.

Hitch got the long slams—notably a round tripper by catcher Ron Van Dyke in the sixth frame. But Hitch lacked the well-timed single and two runners were left on base.

Jim Kaarl hurried a three hitler in winning for Elzinga while Allen Walters did a creditable job getting tagged for five in listing.

H. E. Morse won a 7-0 forfeit in the first game when Padnos Iron and Metal failed to show up.

George Hyma, 86, Dies at Hospital

George Hyma, 86, died at Holland Hospital Tuesday afternoon after being admitted in the morning. He lived at 346 Pine Ave.

Mr. Hyma was born in the Netherlands and came to the United States with his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hyma, at the age of 12. He lived in this community the rest of his life, and on June 20, 1954, he and Mrs. Hyma celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary. He was a charter member of Trinity Reformed Church and served as an elder and Sunday School teacher there for many years. When the family moved to their present address they transferred their membership to Third Reformed Church. Mr. Hyma was employed as a cabinet maker at Holland Furniture Co. until his retirement several years ago.

Surviving are the wife Alice; three daughters, Mrs. LeRoy (Ruth) Hill, of Aurora, Ill., Mrs. Esther Hyma, at home, and Mrs. Alvin (Eunice) Bos, of Holland; one son, George A. Hyma, of Dearborn; five grandchildren; one brother, Henry, of Holland, and a sister, Miss Jennie Hyma, also of Holland.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 2 p.m. in Third Reformed Church chapel with the Rev. Christian H. Walvoord officiating. Burial will be in Pilgrim Home Cemetery. The body will be taken from Nibbelink - Notter Funeral Home to the home Thursday noon, where friends may call from 3 to 5 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis Markluer

First Christian Reformed Church chapel at Zeeland was the scene of the wedding of Miss Janice Sturing and Jarvis Markluer Tuesday, June 7. Candelabra, ferns and baskets of white gladioli and delphinium formed the background for the double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Anthony Rozendal.

The bride is the daughter of James Sturing, 35 South Park St., Zeeland, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Markluer of Holland.

Miss Fannie Brinkman played organ music and accompanied Warren Plaggenmeyer, soloist.

Attending the couple were Miss Carolyn Sturing, sister of the bride, and Roger Rotman, Paul Hoeksema, and Ken Riddering were ushers.

A lace bodice, scalloped neckline, and long sleeves tapering to points over the wrists were features of the bride's gown. The full skirt of net over satin terminated in a chapel-length train. She carried a colonial bouquet of white roses and carnations.

Her attendant wore a strapless gown featuring a pink lace bodice, matching lace bolero and net skirt over tulle. She wore a blue carnation headpiece and carried a colonial bouquet of blue carnations.

The groom's mother wore a blue lace dress and red rose corsage. Assisting at the reception were Mr. and Mrs. Mel Haveman as master and mistress of ceremonies; Miss Shirley Winkels and Miss Margriet Guichelaar in the gift room; Vern Edwards and Carol Gort at the punch bowl. In charge of the guest book was Marilyn Witteveen. Pouring were the Misses Joan Kragt and Suzanne Haverkamp.

Wayland Recalls Long-Time Feud On Carnival Site

WAYLAND (Special) — The year Superior St. merchants "seeded" from the rest of the Wayland business district was recalled this week with the announcement that the annual Cowbell Carnival would be a street fair once again, this year.

John Ward, who began his 16th year Saturday as Wayland's chief barber and deflator of stuffed shirts, said the feud between Main and Superior St. businessmen went on for years before it finally came to a head in the decision to secede.

Ward, whose barber shop on Superior St. has been Wayland's open forum for more than half a century, said the location of the town's annual fall festival was behind most of the ill feeling between Main and Superior St. establishments.

For many years, the fair was held on Main, right in front of the various businesses located there, while Superior St. firms, claiming they contributed as much as anyone to the event, fumed.

Thus, this year's announcement that the event would be moved from the village park back to Superior St. was greeted with glee and amusement by the old timers on the street.

It brought to mind the year they seceded. Ward believes it was in one of the years shortly before War I. Main St. merchants had raised $150 to finance the annual event "on their street." This was the last stand for Superior streeters who promptly passed the hat, raised $350 for the festival of their own, to be held on a different date.

A Main street attempt to mediate, and the offer was made to move everything to Superior St. Superior was satisfied with the offer and postponed its plans for a festival of its own. But, as Ward recalls, when the merry-go-round and other carnival equipment arrived in town, it was unloaded "as usual . . . on Main St., right in front of the library." Once more it was necessary to mediate.

The carnival committee played its trump card with an offer to hold the fair's stellar attraction, a balloon ascension, on Superior St. The rebels were mollified and harmony was restored . . . but only temporarily.

The balloon ascension was the primary attraction and people came from miles around for the event. Superior St. was jam-packed all morning long as preparations were made for the big hot-air balloon to carry its pilot off and up into the wild, blue yonder.

The huge crowd was so anxious to see the ascension, however, that the pilot and his helpers announced, prematurely as it turned out, that everything was in readiness.

They had failed to inflate the bag with enough hot air. As the mooring lines were cast off, the balloon rose only a few feet, hung motionless for a moment and then, as it was caught in the breeze, moved slowly toward the hotel on the corner of Main and Superior Sts. The pilot, hanging from the balloon in a sort of parachute harness, was lucky to escape with his life as he was swung against the building.

Slowly the balloon rose with its pilot half-scrambling, half-walking up the side of the hotel. Another gust of wind caught it, carried it up and over the building where it promptly began settling to earth . . . right in the middle of Main St.

After the incident of the balloon, it was a long time before relations between Main and Superior St. returned to normal. After Main St. became US-131, Superior St. gained an unexpected ally in the state highway department. For a few years traffic was re-routed around the main block while the carnival was in progress, but the highway department eventually vetoed this and the carnival was held for many years on East and West Superior. From 1949 until this year, the Cowbell Carnival was held at the village park.

This year's carnival — set for Aug. 26 and 27 — will be held on Superior. According to the Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the festival, outside concessions will be barred this year. Any local individual or organization will be welcome to set up concessions along the street, but there will be no "skin games."

A queen contest, ox roast, tractor pulling tournament and the usual free entertainment are scheduled, but no balloon ascension something that would make Superior Street's victory complete.

HOLLAND MAN DROWNS — A large group of swimmers and sun bathers gathered around a group of men working over the body of Robert Harley Buhr, 37, route 4, who drowned in 16 feet of water in Lake Michigan near Tunnel Park Monday afternoon. Buhr was pronounced dead upon arrival at Holland Hospital. Fellow swimmers and Coast Guardsmen worked on Buhr until Sheriff Jerry Vanderbeek and deputies arrived with the resuscitator from Holland. Deputies kept the resuscitator on Buhr as he was carried down the beach and rushed to the hospital. Conflicting stories had Buhr going to the rescue of another person when he went down and others said he was swimming with a group when he sank.

A Holland man drowned in Lake Michigan Monday and two others narrowly escaped the same fate.

Robert Harley Buhr, 37, route 4, was found in 16 feet of water off Tunnel Park after he had been down at least 25 minutes. Efforts to revive him proved futile.

Buhr had gone to the beach with Hazel Jurries 445 West 20th St. earlier in the day. Ottawa County deputies said one story had Buhr going to the rescue of another person when he drowned while others said he was swimming several hundred feet off shore when he went down.

Two others, Gerald De Weerd, 15, of 27 Lakewood Blvd., and Shirley Reece, 25, of Grand Rapids, were treated at Holland Hospital after being rescued from Lake Michigan.

DeWeerd was swimming off Tunnel Park Monday, and Mrs. Reece near Ottawa Beach on Saturday. Buhr's body was taken to Dykstra's Funeral Home and later removed to Bobcan Funeral Home at Flat Rock where services will be held Friday afternoon. Burial will be in Oak Ridge Cemetery at Flat Rock.

Boy Found After Extensive Search

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — It all ended all right, but for 3½ hours Monday hundreds of people searched the waters and the beaches at Grand Haven State Park for a missing four-year-old boy.

Little Douglas McIntyre, son of Mrs. Wilma McIntyre of Ada, was reported missing from the south end of the beach at 4 p.m. A general search and reports over the public address system failed to locate the youngster. State police, sheriff's officers, city police and park personnel joined in the search, and life guards searched the waters to a four-foot depth. Coast Guardsmen patrolled the area.

Before long 100 persons joined in the search, looking underneath tables, cars, etc.

Then somebody figured maybe the boy wandered down the beach, and a search of the shoreline south was continued. At 7:30 p.m. the child was found about five miles south of the park, still heading in a southerly direction toward Holland.

When he was returned to his mother, she had to be treated for shock. Two other children, 6 and 8, were with the family group at the beach for the day.

Pair Returned To Ottawa Court

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Two men who were returned to Ottawa County from other states were arraigned in Municipal Court Friday afternoon.

Jay Groenewoud, 23, Spring Lake, who was returned by Undersheriff Harris Nieuwma from Pennsylvania early Friday morning was charged with non-support of his wife, Mary, and their two children, ages 1 and 4½ months, at their home in Spring Lake since May 23. Groenewoud waived examination and, unable to furnish $500 bond, was remanded to the county jail to await arraignment in Circuit Court on July 11.

Eldon Lee Avants, 28, 3200 Oakwood Ave., Alton, Ill., returned late Thursday afternoon by State Police Trooper Richard Sheppard and deputy Sheriff Al Hilbrand, from Terre Haute, Ind., where he had completed serving a term at Terre Haute Penitentiary, was arraigned also Friday afternoon on a charge of forgery. He also waived examination and is awaiting arraignment in Circuit Court on July 11, unable to furnish $500 bond and confined in the county jail.

Avants allegedly forged a $45 check drawn on Coopersville State Bank Aug. 21, 1934, which was made out to his order, and endorsed by him. Avants' case was investigated by the state police.

Miss Aber Wed to Donald Van Ingen

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Louis Van Ingen are at home in Northville, Mich., following their honeymoon. They were married June 11 in the Methodist Church at Clarkston.

The bride is the former Rosemarie Aber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Muenzer of Toledo, Ohio, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Van Ingen of Holland. Both the bride and groom are teachers at Northville. White spring flowers, candles and ivy decorated the Clarkston church for the double ring wedding rites, performed by Rev. Atkins. Music was provided by Adele Thomas, organist, and Mr. and Mrs. Orio Willoughby, vocalists.

Miss Kay Robinson and Al Rauschenback attended the bride and groom as maid of honor and best man. Guests were seated by David Karsten and Ron Schipper.

A gown of Italian lace and nylon net was chosen by the bride.

Her fingertip veil was held in place by an Italian lace crown and she carried a colonial bouquet of white daisies, lily of the valley and carnations.

Miss Robinson's gown was fashioned of blue dotted Swiss. She carried blue and yellow daisies and wore a crown of flowers in her hair.

Assisting at the reception for 150 guests in the church parlor were Mrs. Carl Light who served punch, Mrs. Dale Van Hoven who cut the cake and Misses June Cooper and Roberta Kellogg who poured.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Van Ingen have been teaching in Northville for two years. She is a graduate of Michigan State Normal College at Ypsilanti and he is a graduate of Hope College.

Another Rubber Check

Another bad check issued on a local bank for $15 was passed in Hamilton Thursday. Holland police said a total of five bum checks, each made out for $15, have been cashed in the local area in the past week. They repeated a warning to be especially careful of cashing checks in that amount and drawn on either the First National or Peoples State Banks.

Fourteen employees of the Holland post office received safe driving awards last week from the National Safety Council which has carried on a program on safety the past year at the local post office under the direction of Arnold Hofmeyer, clerk at the post office.

Gerrit Veurink, with a record of 18 years of safe driving certificate of the group of 14 drivers, all of whom received a safe driving certificate of billfold size, plus a lapel pin denoting the number of years.

Besides encouraging courtesy and safe driving habits, the program requires that the driver may be involved in no accidents for which he is responsible in order the qualify for the award. For instance, if he escapes a fender in backing to a loading dock, he is responsible, but if another car hits his parked truck, such an accident is not counted against him.

Others besides Veurink are Leonard Van Liere, 16 years; Arthur Van Raalte, 13 years; John Smith, 11 years; Ernest Bedell, 10 years; Max Welton, eight years; Jerome Kapenga and Fred Van Dyke, seven years; Lyell Wagnveldt, six years; Willard Oosting and Boyd Vander Ploeg, two years; Marinus Rozeboom, Edwin R. Bos and Julius Kamphuis, all one year.

Appraisal Question Referred to Lansing

State Rep. George Van Peursem Friday forwarded a Board of Supervisors resolution requesting legislative action on independent appraisals to the Legislative Service Bureau in Lansing, following a meeting Friday in Grand Haven.

Present besides Van Peursem were State Sen. Clyde H. Geerlings, Prosecutor James W. Bussard and members of the special appraisal committee.

The committee has sent several months studying plans for an independent appraisal to determine true cash values on property in Ottawa county. Under existing laws, prosecutor Bussard ruled it was illegal for a county to carry out such a program. This opinion was later upheld by the Attorney General.

Last Monday, the board passed a resolution requesting the legislature to amend state tax laws to permit county-wide appraisals. Sen. Geerlings said there should be some action on drafting a bill by mid-July, but that January would be the earliest that there could be any action in the legislature.

Grandstanding...

By Jack Kule

Draw straws, use the ouija board and then flip a coin for good measure.

The way it looks from here, that's the only way to determine who's going to win the crazy Southwestern Michigan Baseball League title this year.

As this is written, Grand Haven and Holland are tied for first place with 4-3 records, although the Zeeland-Grand Haven game Friday night will have broken that tie by the time you read this.

But the way it's been going through three weeks of league games, I defy anyone to pick out a favorite. And that means straight down through all five teams.

Take the games of the past week as an example.

Last Thursday, the Grand Haven Athletics finally managed to edge into first place by nipping the Zeeland Chix, 1-0. That tied them with the Dutchmen at 3-1.

Friday night, the Chix took care of the Dutchmen by a 4-2 count. That shoved the Dutchmen into second place.

But Monday morning the Dutchmen were right back in a tie for first again because fourth-place South Haven had knocked off Grand Haven, 4-1, Saturday night.

But this time there was a new addition to the first-place knot. Now it was a three-way proposition because Fennville had beaten Zeeland, 13-12, in another game Saturday night.

Everyone breathed a sigh of relief when they saw that Grand Haven and Holland were due to clash Monday night. This should settle something, they thought.

It did — temporarily. Holland shaded the Athletics, 8-7, and the Dutchmen were back on top all alone again.

But the pesky Chix knotted up second place Tuesday night by blanking Fennville, 7-0. That put Fennville, Grand Haven and South Haven all even at 3-3 — just one game behind the Dutchmen.

Grand Haven took care of that situation by turning the tables on the Dutchmen Thursday night, 8-6. That left two-way ties for first place and second place.

Just to show how close the race is, the Zeeland Chix are in the cellar with 2-4, but are only 1½ games behind the league — leading Athletics and Dutchmen. Second-place Fennville and South Haven only trail by half a contest.

It's been a season of splits. For instance, Holland has split with Grand Haven and Fennville and Grand Haven has divided pairs with South Haven, Holland and Fennville.

All of this should discourage anyone from trying to predict who's going to be on top when the season ends Aug. 6.

So don't take it as too big a surprise if the cellar-dwelling Chix have knocked off league-leading Grand Haven in Friday's game.

If they have, it will simply be another upset that really isn't an upset.

Back with the Flying Dutchmen after a discouraging term as property of the Boston Red Sox is Bob Van Dyke, a 1934 graduate of Holland High School who played in three sports.

Van Dyke signed last summer on June 18 and traveled to Florida for spring training in March. Then he was sent to Boston's Bluefield, W. Va., team, a member of the Class D Appalachian League.

Everything went along fine there, Bob says, until the class A and B farm clubs started shipping some of their hands down. That put some of the players at Bluefield out of a job, Van Dyke included.

They had a place for Van Dyke, however, but it wasn't in organized minor league baseball. He was sent to Hannibal, Mo., where he joined a semi-pro outfit.

It was pretty horrible there, Bob testifies. Both the playing field and crowds were bad. Average crowd, he says, in a city of 22,000, was from 20 to 35 people.

"They needed money when the season started," he said.

Van Dyke wanted to move to another team pretty badly, but the Boson could only promise another release a couple of weeks ago.

"When I left, they said the team wouldn't last until the Fourth of July," Van Dyke said.

Now playing in the Dutchmen outfit, Van Dyke may play semi-pro ball in Wisconsin if he gets the chance. Another possibility is some college in the fall.

As for now, he's glad to be back. They keep up their athletic efforts even though Uncle Sam is their employer.

That's the story of Pfc. Robert Roos, son of Mrs. Ruth D. Roos of 230 Cambridge Ave.

Roos ran off with Triathlon crown at the 1935 Military District of Washington Track and Field championships held at Fort Belvoir, Va., June 2 and 3.

A supply instructor at Fort Belvoir, Roos left his job to win the two-mile run and marksmanship events.

For that effort, he was presented a special award.

Thought it was pretty early I noticed that the Zeeland Chix have a baseball game scheduled for 9:30 Monday morning and the Flying Dutchmen at 10.

But the junior softball league in Zeeland went that an hour better. The West End Tigers will clash with New Groningen at 8:30 a.m. on Firecracker Day.

You've got to get up pretty early in the morning to beat these lads.

Polkton Farmer Uses Economical Pasture Program

Alfalfa-Brome-Ladino Pasture Keeps Milk Flowing for Owner

By Eugene F. Dice
Assistant County Agent
Alfalfa - brome - ladino pasture keeps the milk flowing on the Marvin Luben farm in Polkton Township.

Marvin, his two sons, and a full-time hired man, operate a 160-acre dairy farm two miles south of US-16 on 96th Ave. There are 145 acres of crop land on the farm. A herd of 29 Holstein dairy cows plus the replacement heifers and calves constitute the livestock program. The herd has been built up to high production through Dairy Herd Improvement Association testing.

A rotation pasture program provides the high producing herd with fresh pasture throughout the pasture season. Old hay fields, about to be plowed up, provide pasture for the herd during the September period when alfalfa is storing up food.

Fields on the Luben farm are evenly divided into 24 acres each. Each year, 24 acres of oats are seeded to the alfalfa-brome-ladino mixture. Two hundred to 300 pounds of 5-20-20 fertilizer is applied at planting time.

The first two or three years, each seeding is harvested for hay. Following this, the field is devoted to pasture for one or two years. Each fall, the pasture and hay receive 200 pounds of 5-20-20 per acre.

The pasture field is divided into four six-acre lots by use of electric fencing. Each leads onto a lane which leads to the dairy barn. The herd of 29 cows pastures a lot for 3 days and then is turned into a different lot. In some seasons, the cattle are left an additional day in each field. Except for early spring when growth is rapid, there is little need for clipping the pasture since the cattle eat a maximum of the growth and leave very little. In 1955, the first lot pastured for three days, later produced enough forage to harvest 400 bales of hay. Whenever clipping is necessary, it is done on the last day the lot is pastured. Each field gets a 10 to 14 day rest between rotations. This results in a continuous new growth of high protein feed with a high water content and keeps the milk flowing evenly throughout the season.

This program allows Luben to pasture more than one cow per acre, and occasionally, as this year, to harvest a few hundred bales of hay from the same pasture acreage. An additional seven acres is in permanent pasture for the replacement stock. The young stock is now pasturing the sixth season for a 1948 seeding of alfalfa-brome-ladino.

A daily feed of dry hay is used early in the season to prevent bloat from the succulent legumes. From the higher production of forage crops, Lubens are gradually increasing the size of their dairy herd.

Errors by Raphael third baseman Bill Vryhof, singles by Baker and Les Doornweerd and a sacrifice fly by Jim Doornweerd made it 3-1 for Moose in the sixth. An error by Vryhof put Walt Hudzik on base and still another miscue allowed him to score the final run in the seventh.

A double by Jas Ebels in the seventh and a single by Mel Koenes put two Raphael men on base. Then an error by Moose first sacker Don Hulst let Ebels score and Don Hulst let Ebels score and sent Koenes all the way to third. Norm Boeve then stole second to put Numikoski in real trouble.

Then Leroy Tooker slammed a single into center to score Koenes, but center fielder Baker cut down Boeve at the plate.

Ebels started for Raphael and took the loss. He was relieved by Boeve in the sixth.

Vandenberg Buick scored three runs in the first and two in the third, then held off Holland Furnace rallies.

The losers got two runs in the fourth and single tallies in the fifth and sixth, but Max Baker survived streaks of wildness to win a four-hitter.

Raphael Rally Falls Short as Moose Win, 4-3

Raphael gave it a try and almost made it but two runs weren't enough Thursday night as the Moose hung on for a 4-3 City Softball League victory.

Vandenberg Buick, which has found only a couple of league teams to beat this season, nipped the visiting Holland Furnace Co. squad of the Recreation League 4-3, in the second game.

A pair of infield hits gave Raphael a 1-0 edge over Matt Numikoski of the Moose in the second, but the losers didn't get another hit until the seventh, when a cluster of three failed to beat a 4-1 Moose margin.

The Moose tied the game at 1-1 in the fourth when Stu Baker doubled and moved around on two errors.

Errors by Raphael third baseman Bill Vryhof, singles by Baker and Les Doornweerd and a sacrifice fly by Jim Doornweerd made it 3-1 for Moose in the sixth.

An error by Vryhof put Walt Hudzik on base and still another miscue allowed him to score the final run in the seventh.

A double by Jas Ebels in the seventh and a single by Mel Koenes put two Raphael men on base. Then an error by Moose first sacker Don Hulst let Ebels score and Don Hulst let Ebels score and sent Koenes all the way to third. Norm Boeve then stole second to put Numikoski in real trouble.

Then Leroy Tooker slammed a single into center to score Koenes, but center fielder Baker cut down Boeve at the plate.

Ebels started for Raphael and took the loss. He was relieved by Boeve in the sixth.

Vandenberg Buick scored three runs in the first and two in the third, then held off Holland Furnace rallies.

The losers got two runs in the fourth and single tallies in the fifth and sixth, but Max Baker survived streaks of wildness to win a four-hitter.

Chicago Resident Dies of Injuries Received in Crash

Mrs. Catherine S. Pinkerton, 79, of Chicago, who suffered multiple injuries in a three-car accident south of Douglas on June 24 died at 7:15 Wednesday in Holland Hospital.

She suffered a broken leg, broken elbow and an eye injury when a car driven by Thomas Van Holst of Grand Rapids crashed head-on into an auto driven by Mrs. Pinkerton's daughter, Mrs. Margaret P. Child, also of Chicago.

A county medical examiner reported that Mrs. Pinkerton also had bronchial pneumonia at death. Van Holst was fined $54.30 for reckless driving Friday by Justice Winfield Adams of Fennville, route 2, as a result of the accident.

Six persons were injured in the accident when Van Holst's southbound auto failed to stop for another southbound vehicle driven by Fay Coffman of Grand Rapids, hit its left rear fender and skidded into the left lane of US-31, crashing into Mrs. Child's northbound car.

Mrs. Child and Mrs. Pinkerton were on their way to The Moorling near Holland for a summer vacation.

Funeral services will be at 10 Saturday morning at the St. Cajetan Church and burial will be at Mount Olivet cemetery.

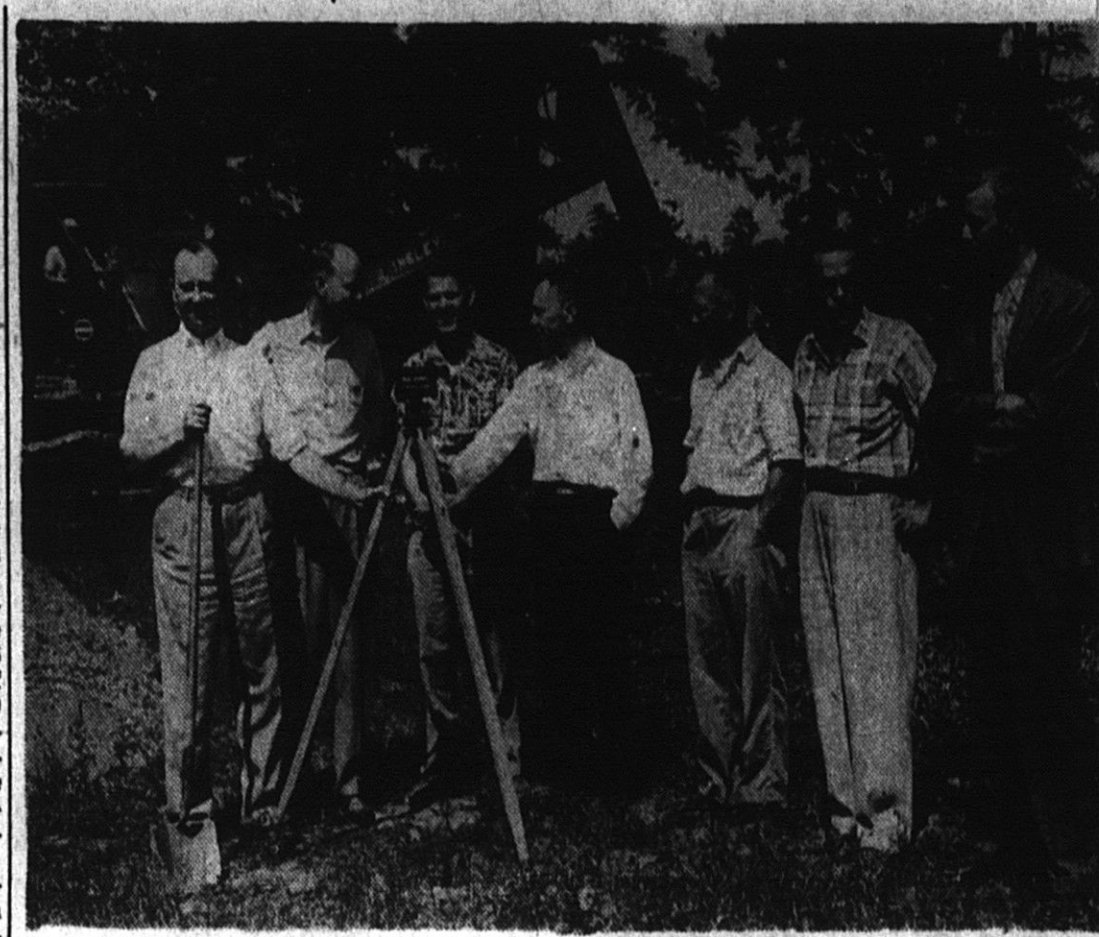

A resident of Chicago for 60 years, Mrs. Pinkerton was born on April 19, 1876 in Canada. She is survived by Mrs. Child and three grandchildren.

Author Reveals Counter-Spying Flaws Aren't New

The recommendations of a Hoover Committee group for a more effective counter-intelligence behind the Iron Curtain should not have come to the nation as a surprise.

For years, other agencies as well as private American citizens have been warning their countrymen that the Communist world is far ahead in the way it fights the "underground war."

Prominent among these watchdogs of our security is Leland Stowe, author and foreign correspondent, who has been director of the News and Information Service of Radio Free Europe at Munich, Germany.

In a shocking lecture for a small Michigan audience, Stowe revealed not so long ago that thousands of spies, saboteurs, terrorists and other subversive agents are involved in the Soviet attempt to turn West Germany into a Communist stronghold.

One year and a half of thorough research, the author said, had supplied him with overwhelming evidence that at least 2,400 paid and trained spies and other agents are poured from East Germany into West Germany each year. In addition, several hundred Red couriers pass the Iron Curtain from both sides every week, he said.

The movements of these men, Stowe pointed out, are cleverly directed by both the M.V.D., Russia's secret police, and its East German equivalent, the S.S.D., headed by notorious Ernst Wolfweber. There are three "Apparate" which either serve as training organizations or as channels through which sabotage, espionage, and terrorist actions are carried out, he said.

Many young people, the author continued, are smuggled into East Germany or Czechoslovakia where they are trained in agitation methods or follow courses at spy schools and sabotage schools. The Communists even use misleading advertisements to attract discontented people from West Germany for these courses, Stowe declared.

He asserted this was not "just sensationalism." There are far too many fires in the ports of West Germany and other parts of Western Europe. Each year, Stowe said, a vast amount of shipping is destroyed. The saboteurs obviously do this as a kind of "training."

"The underground battle in West Germany really is one of the great stories of our time," the expert concluded.

"There are, of course, ways of fighting back. But as long as the Soviets have more people, a better organization, and unlimited funds, the battle will be a desperate one, and there will be no cease-fire. Moscow's power already reaches into every West German community."

"Therefore, don't kid yourself. Don't be fooled by the political developments. It's how much the Communists have underneath that counts."

Wednesday's report of the Hoover Committee task force matches Leland Stowe's appeal in deadly seriousness. Mr. Hoover reportedly thought it urgent enough to hurry the documents to the White House himself. One newspaper reveals they already have produced "many red faces" in intelligence agencies.

League Race Tied After Grand Haven Nips Holland, 8-6

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Erupting with four hits and five runs in the bottom of the seventh, the Grand Haven Athletics blasted their way to a tie for first place in the Southwestern Michigan Baseball League here Thursday night.

Trailing 6-3, the Athletics rocked the Holland Flying Dutchmen with the five-run barrage that brought an 8-6 lead. That score was the eventual winning margin as neither team picked up runs in the eighth or ninth.

Both Holland and Grand Haven now have 43 league records while South Haven and Fennville are tied for second at 3-3.

Grand Haven can move into undisputed first place with a victory over the Zeeland Chix in Zeeland tonight. The other tie will be broken Saturday night when South Haven meets Fennville.

Singles by Ron Boeve and Art Hagge produced the first run of the game in the second, but Grand Haven used an error and three singles to make it 2-1 in the bottom half.

That's all the scoring there was until the sixth, as Dutchman Duane Westenbroek and Pete Fisher traded steady pitching jobs. Holland knocked Fisher out in the sixth, scoring four runs on two hits, two errors and three walks. Reliable Ken Cook was called in to put out the fire after Fisher had control trouble.

Two hits cut the Dutchman lead 5-3 in the bottom of the sixth, but Ron Boeve got that run back with a home run in the top of the seventh.

Batting from the top to the bottom of their batting order, the Athletics sent Westenbroek to the showers in the seventh, bringing in Rog Smith. The inning saw four singles and two walks.

The Athletics collected a total of 12 hits while the Dutchmen were held to six.

The standings:

	W	L	Pct.
Holland	4	3	.571
Grand Haven	4	3	.571
Fennville	3	3	.500
South Haven	3	3	.500
Zeeland	2	4	.333

Damson, playing his first year in the under 15 division, was pushed three sets by Jack Hulst in winning, 2-6, 9-7, 6-0.

Supervisors Still Ponder Proposed Site for Hospital

Expected to Adjourn Today Subject to Call of the Chair

ALLEGAN (Special) — Allegan county's Board of Supervisors is expected to adjourn its June session today, subject to the call of the chairman, without taking any definite action in the controversial county hospital proposal.

The postponement is proposed to give the three committees working on the project time to meet with architects, engineers, financial and legal advisors regarding the next steps to be taken. Chairman Gerritt Lampen indicated the board might be called for a one-day "clean-up session" within two weeks.

The board took no action on an advisory ballot suggested by Prosecuting Attorney Dwight Cheever as a method of resolving the controversy over where the hospital should be built — at a city site where municipal water and sewer service is available, or at the present county farm where such utilities would have to be constructed at county expense.

Cheever has submitted the ballot to the joint committee for study. It would offer voters three choices, asking them to indicate their preference for the rural site or the city site and, if they chose the latter, whether they preferred the city of Oshtemo or Allegan.

Cheever also spoke before the board on the financial and legal steps which must be taken before the bond issue — which would total nearly a million dollars — is submitted to voters. He said that bond company advisors indicated to him that interest rates are up substantially over last year and that relatively short term bonds are being recommended.

A one mill tax for 10 years probably would fall short of the amount needed. He suggested levying one mill for five years and two mills for the next five, to balance off the tax load with the current two mill sinking fund tax for a new court house. Cheever also pointed out that the special election would have to coincide with a general or municipal election within the county. Oshtemo's city election in December would present the county with its first opportunity for the special election.

Other action during Thursday's session:

Approval by a 27-7 vote of the joint committee's recommendation that letters protesting the rural site for the proposed hospital be placed on file and made a part of the record.

The building committee's request for authorization to seek bids for redecorating county offices in the court house and old county building lost by a tie vote, 17-17.

The board approved the education committee's recommendation that the $5,500 appropriation for the county normal school be rescinded when it was explained that the amount exceeded the limit set by state law. The committee indicated it would report later on the proposal to move the normal school from Allegan to Saugatuck. The Saugatuck school board has indicated that it would cooperate in such a move, although it must first be approved by voters in the district.

Hope College to Launch Drive for Student Rooms

Hope College is making plans for a drive for rooms for approximately 150 new students, it was announced by Prof. Clarence Kleis, chairman of a faculty committee.

The drive will be conducted the week of July 14 and will continue until the emergency is met. Kleis said the emergency arises from the necessity of tearing down the "T" dormitory, the Emersonian House and 12 units housing married students. These buildings must go to make way for construction of the new men's dormitory scheduled for construction this year.

Kleis said the emergency arises from the necessity of tearing down the "T" dormitory, the Emersonian House and 12 units housing married students. These buildings must go to make way for construction of the new men's dormitory scheduled for construction this year.

According to Rein Visscher, college business manager, the "T" dormitory and married students' barracks were temporary structures completed in 1946 to care for the great influx of veterans following World War II.

The drive will include a personalized campaign conducted by Prof. Edward Wolters, Lambert Ponstein and Lawrence Green of the college faculty. Home owners within a reasonable distance from the college will be contacted during the campaign. Kleis said student rooms will be rented on a semester contract basis by Hope College rather than by the individual student. Students will be subjected to rules prescribed by the dean's office and will be subject to regular college discipline.

Members of the committee pictured above are seated, left to right, Dean Milton L. Hinga, Chairman Kleis and Prof. Wolters; standing, Prof. Henry ten Hoor, Prof. Ponstein and Prof. Green.

Clyde H. Geerlings, director of alumni and public relations, also is serving on the campaign committee.

Dutch Migrants Seek Church Aid In Holland Area

The Dutch are going full speed in organizing the migration of 17,000 of their countrymen to the United States under the Refugee Relief Act. In doing so, much of their attention is focused on Western Michigan.

Following a visit of the Dutch migration attaché stationed at Washington D. C., a Church World Service official from the Netherlands is now touring the Holland area.

"The CWS," says retirement officer Boudewijn S. Sjollesma, "is a World Council of Churches agency. It's one of the voluntary organizations engaged in finding sponsors, jobs, and living quarters here for the 17,000 migrating Dutch refugees."

"My office in Utrecht, fourth largest town of the Netherlands, collects data on the background of applicants seeking support from our organization. The New York bureau then distributes this material among the American equivalents of the Dutch churches these families belong to. They're finally giving the actual aid."

Churches thus partaking in the Refugee Relief Act program, Sjollesma said, are the Reformed, Congregational, Methodist, Presbyterian, and Episcopal churches. Other religious denominations and secular organizations also have representatives in the Netherlands.

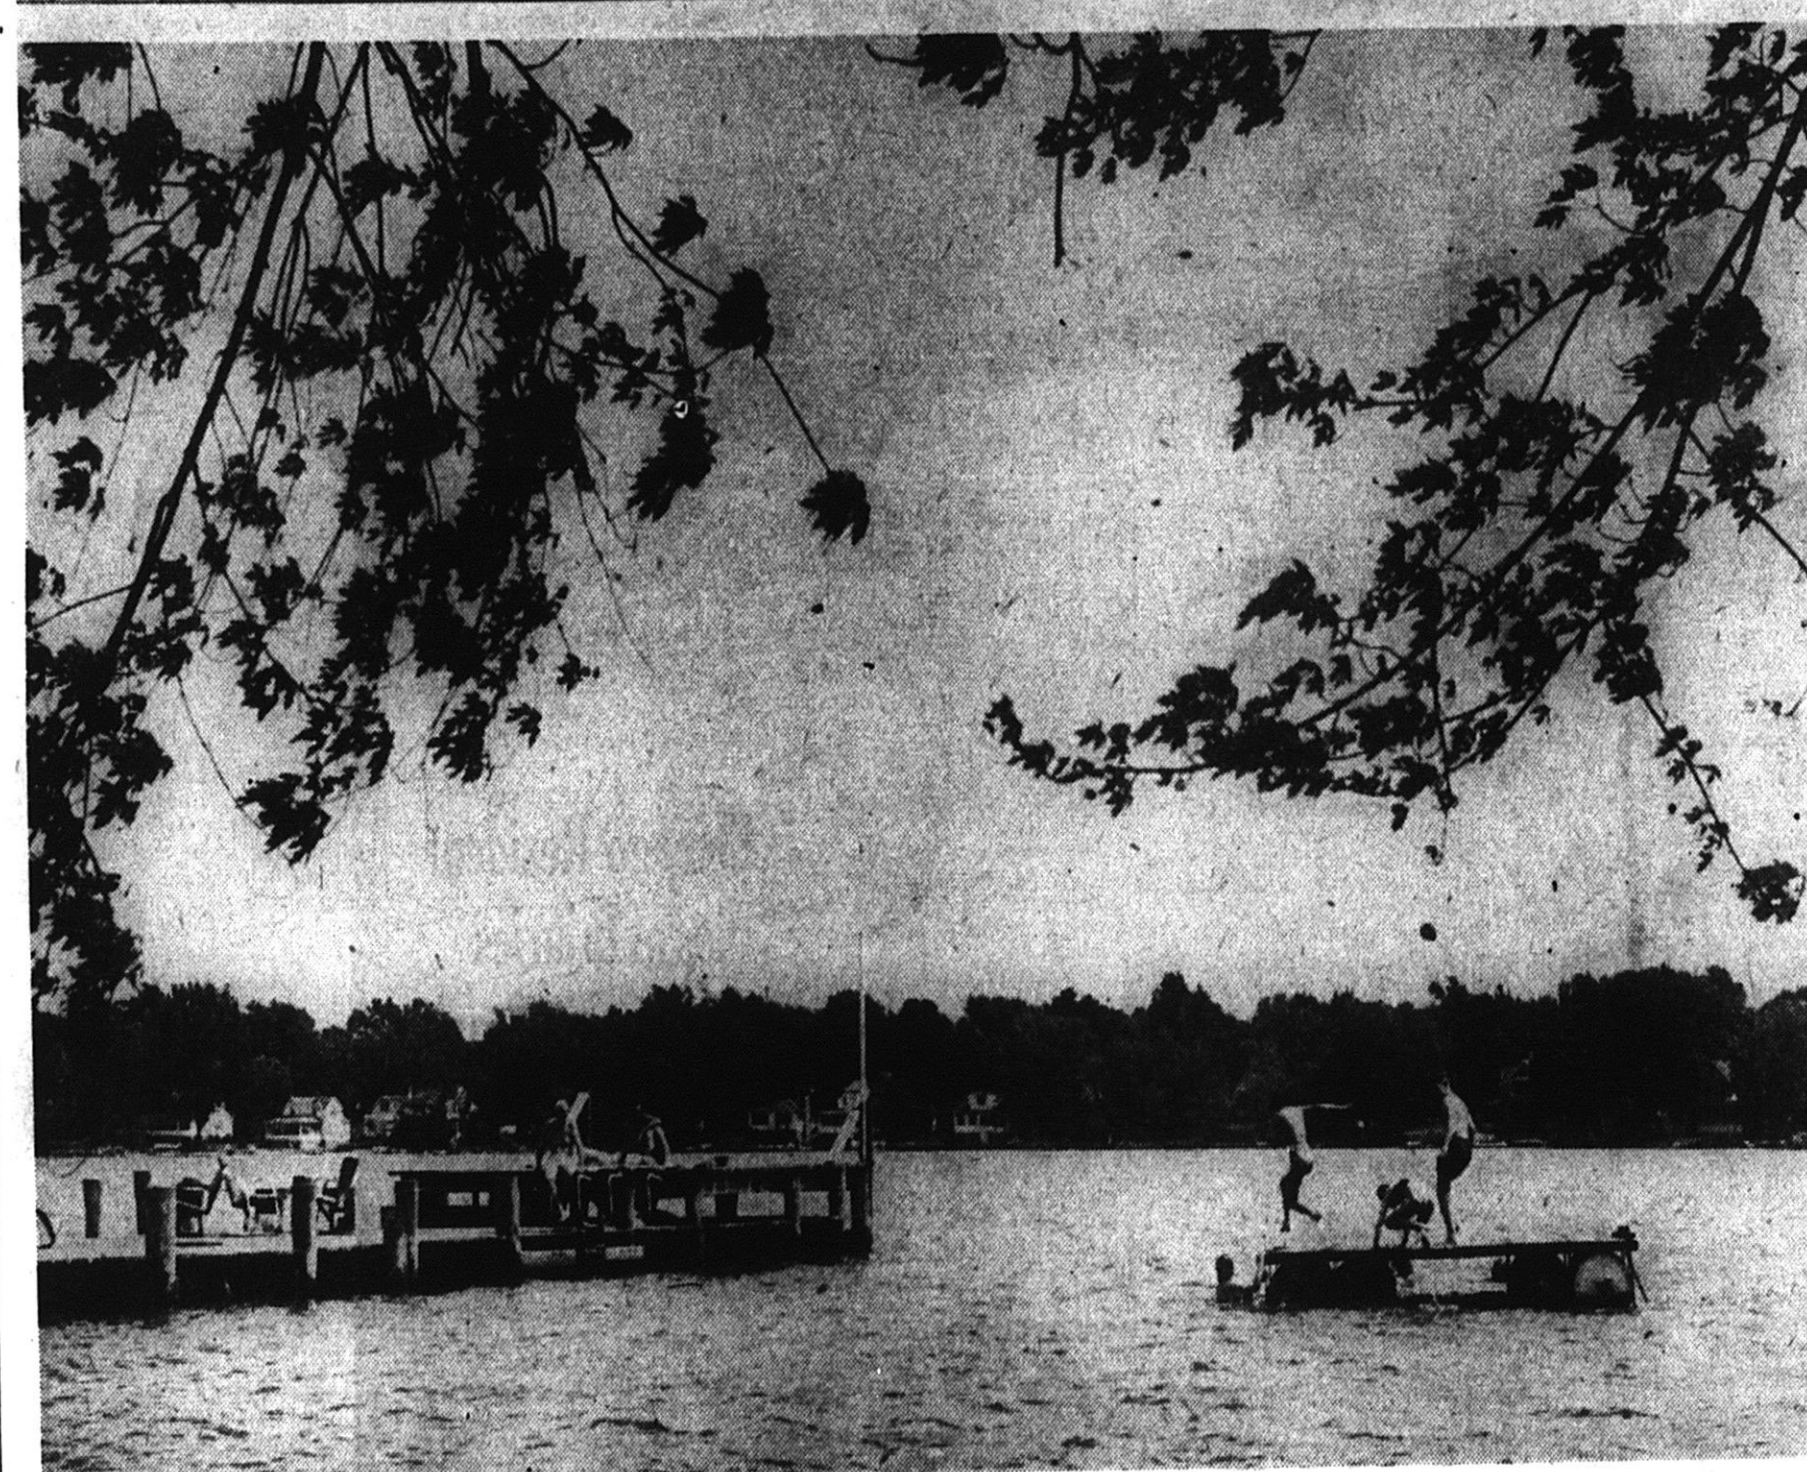

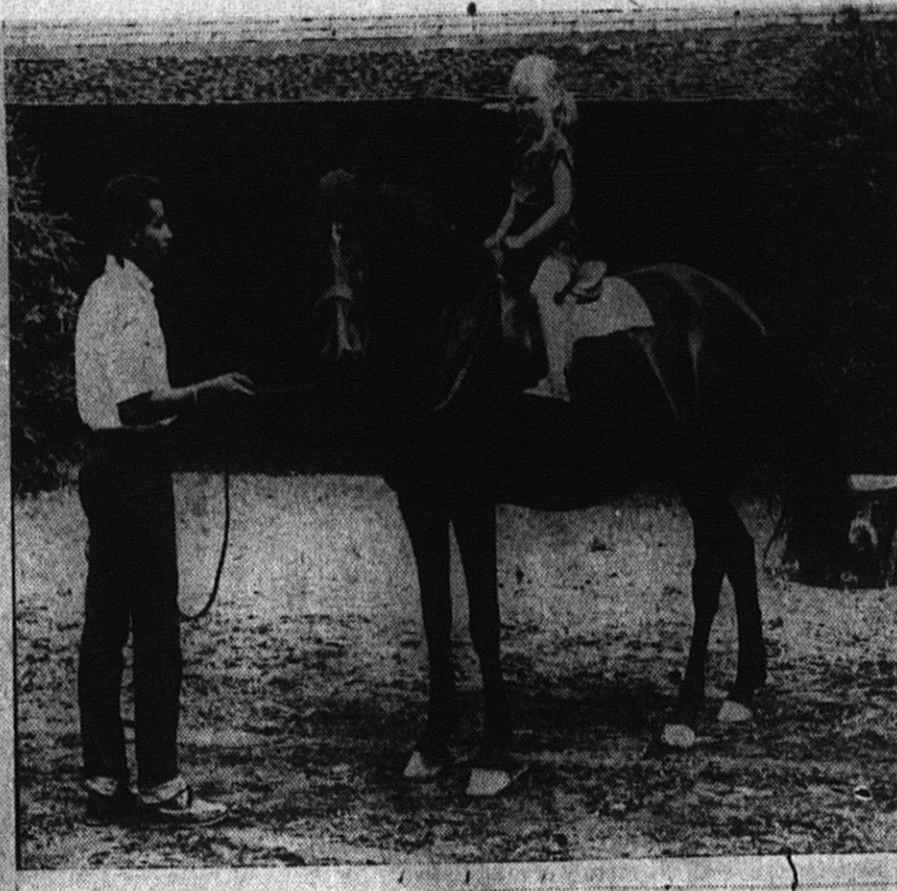

Sjollesma said he's come to the United States to personally answer questions of many church groups whose co-operation might be hampered by the lack of first-hand information on the socio-economic background of the refugees concerned.

"I have tried to explain," Sjollesma said, "why many residents of the former Dutch East Indies, and also many war victims or victims of the 1953 flood have a much better chance of beginning a new life here than they have in their own, overpopulated country."

"Of course, it's difficult to say whether I've had any success. But wherever I went, I felt people were willing to co-operate if only they could fully understand the problems involved."

Besides Holland, Sjollesma has visited Hamilton, Grand Rapids, Pella, Ia., New York City and Washington, D. C. He'll sail home next week.

FUN ON THE FOURTH — Whether it's swimming, picnicking, boating, riding or what-have-you, it's a sure thing that it's a lot of fun on the Fourth. Many Holland residents and visitors got an early start on the long weekend and jammed the state park and other resort spots. Typical scenes, which were seen over and over throughout the weekend and the summer, are these pictures, taken at favorite vacation spots in the area. Quirk in Schedule To Delay League's 1st-Half Champion

A quirk in the schedule had everyone in the Southwestern Michigan Baseball League wondering where they stood today.

Officially the first half of the schedule should be all over for the five teams in the league since second-half contests start Thursday when the South Haven Merchants play Grand Haven.

But the schedule-makers overlooked a first "h" game and buried it where nobody noticed it in the second half. That's going to delay anything definite on a first-half champion for the rest of the month.

Here's the way the situation stacks up:

Holland, Grand Haven and South Haven are in a three-way tie for first, the latter climbing up from second place with a 14-13 victory over Fennville Saturday night.

Fennville has a 3-4 mark while Zeeland is in the cellar with 2-4.

Each team except Zeeland has one game remaining on the first-half schedule. The Chix have two. That makes a total of three games that haven't been played in the first half schedule.

Two of those contests were rained out and will be made up within the next week. Zeeland will play in Holland Thursday night and Grand Haven will play in Zeeland next Tuesday evening to make up the washed out tilts.

Under ordinary circumstances, this would determine the first-half champion by Tuesday night.

But league members were astonished earlier this week when they discovered that the third remaining first-half contest, a game between Fennville and South Haven, wasn't scheduled until July 30, a date when only three games are left in the second half.

"It's our own fault," admitted Les Poorman, business manager of the South Haven Merchants. "We sent our schedule in late and that's how it happened. But I don't think we can play the game before the scheduled date. We're all booked up."

As it stands now, any team could share in some kind of a tie for first. In fact, it is possible for all five teams to finish the first half in a snarled deadlock—all with 4-4 records.

And after what's happened so far this season in the way of upsets, league members are inclined to think that that might just happen.

But they'll have to wait until July 30 to find out.

The Standings:

	W	L	Pct.
Holland	4	3	.571
Grand Haven	4	3	.571
South Haven	4	3	.571
Fennville	3	4	.429
Zeeland	2	4	.333
