TENNIS COURTS BUSY AT CAMP—Tennis is only one of many recreational attractions at Camp Geneva, the Reformed Church camp located on Lake Michigan about 3½ miles north of Lakeview Blvd. Well-designed courts adjoin cabins which house 28 young people apiece. Swimming, of course, is the main attraction.

Other recreational activity lists a ball grounds, a recreation hall completed two years ago and many miscellaneous activities. Main hub of activity is the attractive chapel seating 600 persons which was built in 1952. Newest addition this year is a shower and wash room in the girls' section of the camp.

Group Studying School Program, Site Locations

A special subcommittee to study school program and location of buildings appointed June 24 at the first meeting of the new 24-member school annexation committee held its first meeting Tuesday night in Thomas Jefferson School.

Principal J. J. Riemersma outlined the curriculum study and the philosophy of education compiled the last two years in a special study which he conducted. Arthur Read submitted maps showing possibilities where new schools may be located in the greater Holland area, and Lloyd Van Raalte, Beechwood superintendent, spoke for northside residents expressing the hope that a new junior high school would be placed north of the river, along with consideration eventually for a high school building.

Considerable emphasis was given to the need for new junior high schools to meet needs of the area if the proposed enlarged school district is to carry on a 6-3-3 program. Future enrollment estimates were given.

Two consultants from the University of Michigan, Dr. Russell Wilson and James Hood, were present. Dr. Wilson complimented the Board of Education and the citizens group for far-sighted planning, and he cited population trends that make action necessary for solving an ever-growing problem.

Committee members present were Mrs. Arthur Hoedema, Jack Plewes, Mrs. Paul Winchester, Mrs. William Pluin, Mrs. Willard H. Connor, Mrs. Clarence Becker, Mrs. Henry Steffens, A. J. Cook, Jack Plewes, Les Deridder, and Gerrit Vanden Bos who represented Don Williams from the Lakeview district.

Committee Chairman Plewes presided and Mrs. Becker served as secretary. Also present were Jay Formosa, new principal at Holland High, Supt. Walter Scott, Vern Schipper and Ed Prins.

The subcommittee will hold its next meeting July 9 at Jefferson School, the same date the entire committee of which Raymond Kootstra is chairman is scheduled to meet in that location.

Two Persons Injured When Car Rolls Over

GRAND HAVEN (Special)—Two persons are in Municipal Hospital as a result of a one car accident at 6:45 a.m. today on US-31, five miles south of Grand Haven in Grand Haven township.

The 1953 car was driven by Emmett Pruitt, 47, of 420 Ottawa St., Grand Rapids, on the divided highway. He was attempting to pass another car when for some reason not yet determined, Pruitt hit the brakes, lost control of his car, went off the left hand side of road and rolled over.

Pruitt suffered back injuries and bruises and his rider, George Bolden, 51, of 131 Grant St., Grand Rapids, received internal injuries and rib fractures. Both were thrown out of the car which was a total loss. They were taken to Municipal Hospital in the Van Zantwick ambulance. State police are continuing their investigation.

Auto Accident Mars Birthday Celebration

One hundred dollars damage to the front end of his car was a birthday present William Apple-dorn, 55, of 267 West 15th St., could have done without.

Apple-dorn, celebrating his birthday today, was driving south on River Ave. this morning. Mrs. Alice Den Herder, 58, of 265 West 21st St., was making a left turn off River onto Douglas Ave., according to police, and thought she had enough time to make it before Apple-dorn arrived. She didn't. Deputies estimated the damage to Mrs. Den Herder's car at $50, and are investigating the accident further.

Reformed Church Camp Season in Full Swing

For the summer season which ends Aug. 30, Camp Geneva, the Reformed Church camp on Lake Michigan north of Holland, expects to entertain 2,000 young people.

Already the three boys' cabins and five girls' cabins are moving toward their capacity of 28 persons apiece, and the 250-foot wide blocked off swimming area echoes with the sound of happy voices. Three full time lifeguards stand on duty, one on the beach, one on the diving platform, and one on the lookout. The young swimmers use the buddy system.

The young vacationers spend their early morning hours in three classes, Bible study, missions activity, and a nature course, most of them offered in a wing of the chapel. From 11:15 a.m. until noon and 2 to 5 p.m. is free time in which the young people can enjoy swimming, ball games, tennis tournaments, ping pong tournaments, or handicraft work in the recreation room, one of the newer buildings on the grounds. All activities are supervised by the recreation director.

In the evening vesper services are held in the amphitheater, and the recreation room and camp storeroom are open for such events as mixers, stunt night, and parents day on Thursday of every week.

First aid for stomach aches, slivers in toes, and occasionally even measles and mumps is administered in the clinic building by a full time registered nurse. The clinic also contains sick rooms.

Camp Geneva will be used three weekends in the fall for adult conferences.

The 38-acre camp is managed by a board of directors who represent different Michigan areas. The new business manager this year is Donald Van Ark who succeeds A. Wierenga of South Haven. Van Ark is well acquainted with Camp Geneva as he formerly was registrar for six years. The Rev. George Douma of Grand Rapids is spending his first year as program director at the camp.

Zeeland Approves Action on Pipeline

ZEELAND (Special)—The Zeeland City Council acted Monday night in favor of participation in a proposed water authority which would build a water pipeline from Lake Michigan.

Despite the failure of Grand Rapids voters to approve the formation of such an authority, the other seven members of the proposed group are apparently determined to go ahead with a restudy of the water situation. No definite estimate has been made of the cost of a pipeline without Grand Rapids, but the leaders of the remaining areas want a complete study of the question.

Council also approved sending a letter to Grand Rapids informing the city government that Zeeland will consider any program of buying water from Grand Rapids which might be offered.

The communities now considering forming a water authority are East Grand Rapids, Grandville, Zeeland, Hudsonville and Paris, Wyoming and Georgetown townships.

Plan Commission Reviews Document At Monday Meet

The new zoning ordinance on which the Holland Planning Commission has been working for three years or more is almost ready to be submitted to City Council.

Final sections are currently being redrafted by Attorney George Adwell of Lansing who was hired to draw up the ordinance and by City Attorney James E. Townsend. After the sections are numbered, the ordinance will be sent to City Council possibly within the next week or two. After Council receives the ordinance, a public hearing will be held before the lengthy ordinance can be officially adopted.

Last reviewing was done at a meeting of the Planning Commission Monday afternoon in City Hall. The meeting was called by Chairman Willard C. Wichers on Monday instead of the regular Thursday meeting which conflicts this week with Fourth of July.

The zoning ordinance was held back for complete study and review more than two years ago when other ordinances were adopted by City Council. These other ordinances went into effect April 30, 1955.

In revising the old zoning ordinance which dates back to 1926, the Planning Commission gave a careful review to present usage of segment of the city the existing living space, lot area, density of use of private property and commercial property. Main aim was to protect the present usage and not to apply restrictions that would work hardship. This applies to business districts as well as residential districts, and aims to provide the climate for values to enhance, not to deteriorate. One study was to provide suitable off-street parking area for the downtown commercial area, and this problem has been solved to a considerable degree in the last year or so.

The study also looked to the future, particularly as to the existing facilities of water, sewage, etc., and the possibility of the use of multiple dwellings and apartments in areas which have existing facilities for such use. Consideration also was given to industrial zoning and the need for providing areas for such development which would not be blocked by residential use, etc.

Under the new ordinance, residential property will be zoned A-1, A-2 and A-3. A-1 provides for single family dwellings with 70-foot minimum frontage; A-2 for single family units with 60-foot frontage, and A-3 for one and two-family use with 50-foot minimum. It is conceded that many existing homes have aspects which are non-conforming, but the ordinance is set up to protect the resident, not to work hardship.

Multiple dwellings will be allowed in B-1 zones. Neighborhood shopping areas are designed C-1, and the central commercial area such as the downtown area will be known as C-2. D-1 will be known as industrial area. This section also has a lengthy section which includes nuisance industries and has a "noise and odor" clause.

A final draft of the zoning map showing the suggested zoning pattern is being made and will be available for the public hearing. The new draft will differ only slightly from the original zoning map which appeared in The Sentinel a few years ago when the Planning Commission presented its final report.

Grand Haven's Swimming Pool Aids Beginners

Hollanders Also Use Pool, Rotarians Told At Luncheon Speech

"Our swimming pool represents a fine investment for our people," R. M. Volkinburg, superintendent of schools, Grand Haven, told Holland Rotarians at a luncheon Thursday at The Castle.

Since the construction three and a half years ago, the swimming pool has been used by 4,500 different people and has been in actual use for 50,000 hours, Volkinburg declared.

The pool, Volkinburg continued, is popular not only with Grand Haven residents but also with people from other areas. "Many Holland groups such as the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, church groups, youth groups, and the like, use our pool," he said.

Volkinburg spoke the day new Rotary officers took over for 1957-58. The new president, James Lugers, took over from outgoing president, Jack Smith. Other officers are: Fred Coleman, vice president; Bruce Mikula, secretary; James Obenchain, treasurer, and Paul Winchester, sergeant-at-arms.

Volkinburg cited three reasons why Grand Haven, despite its proximity to the Lakes, built a swimming pool. First, he said, the swimming pool helps people to learn swimming. "While we are practically surrounded by water, many of our folks do not know how to swim and the Lakes are not suitable for learning. The swimming pool fulfills this need."

Second, he asserted, the swimming pool represents "a fine investment in recreation." "People derive great pleasure by participating in this recreation the year around."

Finally, the school superintendent declared, the pool enables school groups to participate in competitive athletics. "If our people had to choose today between having or not having a swimming pool in our city, I am sure we would overwhelmingly be in favor of it," he said.

The construction cost $150,000 and the maintenance comes to about $6,800 annually, the superintendent said. He pointed out that part of the cost is recovered by the pool fees which are $10 an hour for groups.

Continuing on the popularity of the pool, Volkinburg said the pool is used for birthday parties by many youngsters. Three nights a week are reserved for family use, he revealed.

Giving further information on the pool, Volkinburg said that the pool is 24 by 75 feet and is large enough to be used by 40 people receiving instructions or by 50 people having fun.

During the luncheon, President James Lugers also announced the names of the new board of directors: Fred Coleman, Carl Cook, Charles Cooper, James Lugers, Bruce Mikula, R. H. Nichols, Life director, Jim Obenchain, Jack Smith, and Andy Vollink.

Other officers are: Roger Rietberg and Edgar Hekman, music directors; Jim Lugers and Bruce Mikula, Int'l Club Council representatives; Rev. William C. Warner and Dr. Marion de Velder, co-chaplains; and Jim Ward, club reporter.

HELP FOR TAX STUDY

(Guest Editorial)
When the legislature convenes to wind up its 1957 session, Rep. Rollo Conlin will ask it to authorize hiring a director and co-ordinator to supervise an analysis of Michigan's tax structure. Two weeks ago Mr. Conlin announced that research staffs of the University of Michigan and Michigan State University would undertake digging out the facts and figures with the help of experts from the state tax commission.

For the director and co-ordinator of the study, Mr. Conlin wants a man not connected with any state institution or having any connection with industrial business or other interests in the state. He wants an unbiased and impartial survey. That is exactly what is needed. And it is the only kind of a survey that can have real value.

Carrying that principle still further, Mr. Conlin is going to ask a citizens committee, representing all phases of Michigan's economy, to aid in setting general policy for the tax analysis and reviewing the information obtained. The first phase of the proposed study is finding the facts—how Michigan's tax laws operate, how they affect business, industry and the average citizen, how Michigan's tax load compares with other states, what state services it finances in comparison with the services of other states. There are other matters that enter into the broad study. The answers to the questions suggested will show what Michigan's "tax climate" really is, whether it can be improved and if so, how.

Any such study would have to be done factually and without bias. The current controversy between important industrialists and Governor Williams make it doubly important that it be carried on with complete fairness and no partisan bias. The research staffs of the two state universities can, and will do that. But since the universities must have tax support, it is important that the facts and figures their research staffs produce be co-ordinated by an outsider. That should eliminate any possible basis for charges of bias. It is important to use the staffs of the universities for they are among the best in the nation for the assignment. Using them, moreover, would save the cost, which would be considerable, of bringing in outside professionals. The Michigan tax experts know Michigan better than outsiders do.

The study contemplated is a monumental undertaking. If it is successful, it should bring Michigan a fair and equitable tax structure to replace the hodge-podge that has grown up over the years. Undertaking it is a highly essential step in the interest of improved state government. It is imperative that the legislative grant Rep. Conlin the extra help he wants.

Personalities of the Old Testament
Miriam, a Leader in Israel
Exodus 15: 20-21
Numbers 12:1-10
Numbers 12:13-15
by C. P. Dame

(Based on copyrighted outlines produced by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U. S. A. and used by permission.)

During this new quarter we will study the lives and characters of thirteen men and women of the Old Testament. The Bible portrays the strong and weak points of the characters about whom it speaks. In this lesson we shall study about a woman who had singular leadership abilities.

1. Some families produce leaders. Families are not equally gifted. Some families are well known because of the contribution they have made or are making. The Beecher family and the Adams family are famous because of what the members of these families did and became. Miriam came from a noted family. She had two brothers who became famous, Aaron and Moses. The parents, Amram and Hohebed, had a right to be proud of their three able children. The parents had such a strong faith in God that they were willing to defy the king's command.

We first read about Miriam in Exodus 2 where she appears as a baby-watcher and a quick-witted sister. Her mother had placed her baby brother Moses in an ark in the river and she told Miriam to watch the child. When she saw the Egyptian princess take her brother out of the water she hurried to the scene and offered to get a nurse for the child. Her offer was accepted and she got her mother. God used Miriam to place the child back into his mother's hands and under her influence.

II. Leaders are important. For years there was no contact between Moses and Miriam. Moses was in school and at court and because he slew an Egyptian he was in Midian for forty years. When Moses returned to Egypt and assumed the leadership of his enslaved people Miriam gave her support. Moses was then eighty years old and Miriam a few years older and those two with Aaron became the leaders in the exodus. All three were able.

After the destruction of the Egyptian army by the Red Sea Miriam showed her leadership by leading the women in the dance and in the singing in celebration of that deliverance. Miriam directed the minds of the women to God who had delivered the Hebrews. She is the first woman singer on record. In this story Miriam is called a prophetess. In the Bible a prophetess is either the wife of a prophet or a woman religious leader. Miriam was a prophetess in the latter sense.

III. Leaders may blunder. Miriam surely blundered when she found fault with the wife of Moses. Miriam stirred up her brother Aaron and together they complained of Moses "because of the Ethiopian woman he had married." "Who was she? Most scholars think she was Zipporah, the daughter of Jethro, whom he had married in Midian. Jethro brought his daughter, the wife of Moses to him after the Israelites reached Mt. Sinai. Perhaps Moses did not pay as much attention to his sister after the return of his wife and this provoked Miriam to jealousy. Moses was silent when Miriam and Aaron said, "Hath the Lord indeed spoken only by Moses? Hath he not spoken also by us?" God however acted and made it clear that Miriam was wrong. She became leprous. Aaron saw it and confessed the sin and appealed to Moses and cried to God and asked him to heal her which he did. However Miriam was told to "be shut out from the camp for seven days and after that let her be received in again." These two meddlesome recognized their sin and confessed and were pardoned. The march to Canaan was delayed seven days because of the sin of two people. Sin's consequences effect more people than those who sin.

All three leaders failed to enter the promised land because a use all sinned. Moses lost his temper, Miriam complained and Aaron made the golden calf. God has to use people with faults and weaknesses.

Holland Stops Zeeland For 2nd Straight SW Win

ZEELAND (Special) — H. E. Morse left no doubt in the minds of the Southwestern Michigan baseball League that they are determined to forget the bad start and really get rolling following a 7-6 win over the Zeeland Chix here Monday night.

It was the second straight league win for Holland after three straight losses and it marked Zeeland's second straight loss after three wins.

Holland spotted Zeeland a run in the first but came back with two in the second and held the lead the rest of the game although Zeeland scored with three runs in the ninth.

Dave Woodcock led off the Holland second with a triple and scored the game's first run on a single by John Adams. Adams came home on an error by pitcher Vern Hoeksema and a single by Max Doolittle.

These two runs erased the Chix 1-0 first inning lead. Jack Faber singled, was sacrificed to second, and scored on Ted Boeve's double. Morse added three more runs in the third and took a 5-1 lead. Maury Witteveen singled and was followed by a base hit by Norm Witteveen. Whitey Witteveen was safe on a catcher's error of a sacrifice and both runs scored. Woodcock was safe on an error and on an attempted steal of second was retired but Witteveen crossed with the inning's third run.

Howie De Jonge tripled for Zeeland in the sixth and scored on Ken Wiersma's single.

Con Eckstrom was safe on an error in the seventh and after two field outs scored on a wild pitch. Witteveen came through with a single and scored the inning's second run on a single by Woodcock. Adams also hit safely before the side was retired.

Zeeland came up with a single tally in the eighth. Howie De Jonge cracked a double, took third on an infield out and scored on a fielder's choice.

Two hits in the bottom of the ninth, both singles, two walks and an error produced the three runs. Junior De Jonge led off with a walk and Jack Faber did the same. The same, Howie De Jonge punched home De Jonge with a single and Faber scored on an error of Hoeksema's grounder. De Jonge came home on Wiersma's single to end the scoring.

Jim Boeve went all the way for Morse and struck out 15 batters while allowing nine hits. Hoeksema gave up 12 hits and fanned nine.

Line score:

South Africa, Two Days From New York by Air, Building Tremendously

(In today's issue, the travel consultant of an Airlines, a retired seminary professor, begins his account of a 20,000-mile air tour that took him to South Africa, Italy, and the Middle East. — Editor)

By Dr. Milton J. Hoffman
My great grandfather, James Hoffman, came to this country from The Netherlands in 1847. My grandfather, then a lad of 17, came with him. The family settled near Holland, Mich.

I think I was my grandfather's favorite grandson chiefly because I never tired of listening to his stories about the Old Country. Again and again, he told me about the 84-day sea journey. I recall vividly his description of the

Dr. Milton J. Hoffman

"krijt bergen," the white cliffs of Dover, England. The captain's illness and the incompetence of the first officer caused the ship to go "way off course, even sighting Iceland. This nearly caused a water famine on board. I still recall the names of some of the sailors with whom my grandfather got to be friendly.

This 34-day crossing contrasted sharply with my latest crossing of the Atlantic. We left Idlewild Airport, New York, at 6 p.m. in a KLM Super Constellation. By 4 o'clock in the morning we were in Prestwick, Scotland, but it was actually 9 a.m. by the Scotch clocks.

There was a one-hour stop for refueling and for breakfast for the passengers; then a two-hour flight to Schiphol Airport, Amsterdam. I drove to Central Station in Amsterdam, telephoned my relatives, and boarded a fine electric train which carried me clear across Holland to Wierden, my ancestral home. My cousin met me at the station with his car. In exactly 16 hours 40 minutes after leaving New York I was back among my relatives in the village where my grandfather was born in 1830.

On the flight across the ocean, it seemed to me, the improvement in comfort was almost as amazing as the increase in speed.

On night flights across the ocean, the passengers spend a good part of their time sleeping. But going eastward, to Europe, the night is five or six hours shorter because the plane is rushing toward the rising sun. Coming home, darkness lasts that much longer.

An hour after dinner, the lights are lowered to a faint glow. Then the seasoned air travelers slip off their shoes and pull out their slippers. Most men remove their coats and put on pullover sweaters.

Spanning the broad Atlantic in 10 hours, the passengers wake up a bit early to find the stewardess distributing orange juice.

I enjoyed a good Scotch breakfast of porridge (oatmeal) and kippered herring. Two hours later the plane was flying over the level, canal-bordered, almost flowerbed-designed fields of Holland.

After only a few days with my relatives in Holland, I hopped the KLM plane for Johannesburg, South Africa. Gliding into this metropolis 26 hours later, I was glad to see the airliner did not set down at the small and inadequate airport where I had landed four years ago, but at the new Jan Smuts Airfield with magnificent runways and a graceful and wonderfully adequate terminal building. The name does honor to one of South Africa's greatest statesmen.

How the world has shrunk! Johannesburg, South Africa — one of the remotest spots in the world before the turn of the century — is now less than two days and nights from New York.

What I saw at the airport was what I have seen every day since — a building boom, just as we have it at home. In all the South African cities I visited, new banks, hotels, stores, schools, and government buildings are going up, or old ones are being enlarged, while in the suburbs beautiful new homes are being erected or have been built recently.

This is a very large country. The distance from Pretoria, the executive capital in the north, to Cape-town, the legislative capital in the south, is over 900 miles. The northern border of the Union from east to west stretches 1,600 miles. In other words the Union of South Africa is almost as large as the entire United States east of the Mississippi. Hence there is a wide variety of climate, rainfall, crops and industries. Vast areas have abundant rainfall, while equally vast areas are semi-desert. In the south the winter season often brings heavy snowstorms, while in the north freezing temperatures are unusual.

We have repeatedly seen or heard the word "apartheid," which means separation, so we know that this is a multi-racial country. The earliest white settlers came here in 1652. They were Dutch, and today their descendants number a little over one-and-a-half million. English settlers came during the 19th century and number about one million. The black man came down from Central Africa at almost the same time that the white man was pushing northward from the Cape. There are over 8 million of them today. To them must be added over one million colored, that is mixed, and some 330,000 Asiatics, mostly Indians.

The black people are divided into numerous tribes, most of them living in their own reserves where agriculture, mostly cattle raising, is their chief pursuit. Over one million are employed in the cities, both as house servants and in all types of unskilled labor. A separate article will be devoted to these native peoples.

Until some 30 years ago South Africa was largely an agricultural country. Today the major portion of her wealth comes from industry rather than from farming. Seventy years ago diamonds and gold were discovered in the Transvaal. Both industries are still thriving today. The mineral wealth of the country is enormous. It was my good fortune to travel through the country by automobile for over 1,000 miles. I saw the largest gold mine in the world of Africa. I saw platinum, uranium, chrome, and iron mines. Every city has its own industries. Except for automotive vehicles, South Africa supplies virtually all her industrial needs. In fact, she produces for export, so as to preserve a favorable balance of trade.

South Africa is a Union of four provinces: Cape, Natal, Orange Free State, and Transvaal. She is a member of the British Commonwealth, yet is a democracy in her own right, like Canada.

South Africa's banking institutions are second to none. Foreign investments are welcome, for the country requires tremendous capital for her expanding industries. South Africa stands near the top in per capita expenditure for education. Everywhere new school, college, or university buildings are going up. Magnificent structures they are. Old buildings are being enlarged and modernized. The critical problem is how to train and maintain an adequate teaching staff. In other words, here in the far end of the African continent is a nation that is Western in civilization, culture and outlook.

Hotspurs Battle To 2-2 Deadlock

Holland's Hotspurs came from behind twice Saturday to earn a 2-2 tie in a soccer game with the Grand Rapids Hungarians before 200 fans at Riverview Park.

It marked the first tie for Holland after three straight one goal losses.

The Hungarians started the scoring in the first period with a slow high curveball goal. Holland came back 20 minutes later and Martin Kortekaas managed to kick the ball through the goal to tie the score.

About 10 minutes before half-time, the Hungarians scored their second goal and went into the lead. Wanda Barkho, Holland captain, knotted the score about 10 minutes after the second half started.

From then on the play took on a defensive look and neither team could score. John Amso and John Farndale stood out defensively for Holland.

Holland received an 11-yard free kick, after one of the Hungarians had touched the ball, but failed to puncture the goal.

The Hotspurs will next play the Grand Rapids Dutch July 13 and will entertain the Hungarians, July 20. Both games will start at 4 p.m. at Riverview Park.

Plans are going ahead for Holland to play Lansing in the near future and the Hotspurs have contacted the U. S. Soccer Football Association about plans for a possible league in this area with play starting in the fall.

Feet Oily? Well Just Read This!

Officials at Holland State Park got used to strange requests from tourists, but they were still a bit surprised Sunday when people came up to the Pavilion asking for rags to wipe off grease.

Bathers weren't too pleased with the thick gobs of grease floating around in the water and washed along the shore. Park Manager Clare Broad explained that the stuff comes from freighters on Lake Michigan. He said the problem has come up before, but that it's never been this bad.

The messy water didn't stop many from visiting the park, since the weekend attendance totaled 50,000. Last week's total attendance was 81,300. The year's attendance record of 589,004 is slightly ahead of last year's.

A total of 462 camping permits were issued last week, bringing the total so far this year to 1,094. Thursday was the busiest day in the park's history for camping permits, with a record of 120 permits issued.

For Beautiful Roses

Do you wish to rid your roses of rose black spot? This can be done by covering the ground underneath the rose bush with sweet alyssum or a similar plant. The spores of the rose black spot will not blow in the wind and will be washed off by rain. The ground cover of sweet alyssum will prevent the spores from spashing back on the roses and thus prevent the spread of this disease.

Police Seek Man Who Robbed, Beat Allegan Farmer

Assailant Beats Fruit Grower With His Own Cane, Yanks Telephone

ALLEGAN (Special) — Elmer Bargwell, 83-year-old prominent Watson township fruit farmer, was beaten with his own cane and robbed of about $40 in a daylight attack at his home Sunday morning.

Bargwell, who is being cared for at home by physicians and members of his family, was resting well this morning and considered in fair condition. He was found semi-conscious in his home by his son, Howard, who returned home shortly after noon with his family.

The elderly fruit grower told sheriff's deputies that his assailant was "familiar" but he couldn't recall his name or provide an accurate description. He said the man had parked in front of the house about 10 a.m. and walked into the front room where Bargwell was sitting. They talked a moment and when the visitor realized Bargwell was alone, he took Bargwell's cane and beat him about the head and face and fled with a cigar box containing Bargwell's wallet and about $40 in cash. Telephone wires were pulled loose.

Bargwell, former livestock superintendent of the Allegan County Fair, has been in poor health and had been confined to his home for several months. During the strawberry season, he had allowed people to come to his farm and pick their own berries, then come to the house to pay him.

It was from the cigar box that he made change, and police believe the assailant was someone who earlier had come to pick fruit or at least inquire about it. Bargwell said he thought the man had been there during the last two weeks.

38-Foot Cruiser Explodes, Sinks In Grand Haven

Polaris Owned By Sears and Withey of MBYC

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — The 38-foot Matthews cruiser, Polaris, blew up and was completely gutted following an explosion shortly after 1 p.m. Friday.

It now rests on the bottom of the basin at the North Shore Marina in two feet of water.

The Polaris is owned by Harold Sears and Lewis Withey of the Macatawa Bay Yacht Club and is currently valued at between $15,000 and $20,000. The cruiser is a total loss.

Two new motors installed in the cruiser were being tried out by Fred Crosby, 26, Grand Rapids employee of the Marina. He started one of the two motors and it backfired, exploding the gas tank. He sustained first degree burns on his face and hands and was treated by Dr. Bernard Veenstra, Grand Haven physician.

The Polaris was tied up at a mooring slip across from the Ex-canaba dock when it exploded. The Grand Haven Fire Department used a booster tank and the Coast Guard a pump to put out the fire.

Several workers from the Marina went out in an outboard and pulled the cruiser into the basin. A hole was burned in the bottom of the cruiser causing it to sink. The Marina is a private yacht basin, not fully developed.

Wierda, Mobilgas Hand Co. D Two Straight Defeats

Wierda Upholstery strengthened its hold on first place and Mobilgas Dealers won its fourth straight game as John Van Iwaarden pitched a no-hitter all at the expense of Co. D in City Softball field Monday at Van Tongeren Field.

The Upholstery nine slapped the Guards, 7-4 in the opener and then the Dealers came along in the nightcap and pulled out a 2-1 decision.

The Guards were playing the non-scheduled games to make up for the two weeks they will be gone to summer camp later in the summer.

Five runs in the bottom of the first inning did the trick for Wierda in the opening game. Two walks, an error, a fielder's choice and a double with the bases jammed by Warren Plaggenmars supplied five runs.

The final two tallies came in the third. Ted Schreuer tripled and scored on a passed ball. Ron Bekius walked and scored on a three-base error by the catcher. Joe Berens and Orin Hall combined with back-to-back triples in the Co. D second to score two runs.

Ernie Prince doubled in the sixth and scored on Berens' single and Berens came home later on an infield out after being worked around the bases.

The Guards outbit the winners, 7-4 as Berens hit safely twice and Vern Boersen, Ben Boeve, Prince, Hall and Newt Emmink, each once.

Lou Borgman, Rog Lamar, Schreuer and Plaggenmars made the Wierda hits.

Perk Hamming went all the way for the winners and Doug Wierda was the loser.

Van Iwaarden faced 23 men and struck out 10 in turning in his best pitching performance of the season in the nightcap.

He walked two men in the third inning and one of them, Harry Berens, scored his initial run. He came home on an error by the catcher. Vern Boersen drew the other walk.

Two runs in the top of the sixth inning by Mobilgas wiped out the 1-0 lead and provided the margin of victory.

Ron Bolhuis was safe on a passed ball and scored on a wild pitch. Roy Strenght single and scored the winning run on an error by the catcher.

Strenght, Jerry Price and Van Iwaarden made hits off Berens.

Board Adopts $1.3 Million School Budget

But While Budget Is Higher, Tax Rate Is 16 Cents Lower

The Board of Education at a special meeting Thursday night adopted a budget for 1957-58 totaling $1,364,696.90 of which an estimated $460,000 will be raised by local taxes. State aid will provide an estimated $532,165 and tuition, $256,500. Other smaller amounts come from miscellaneous sources.

Although the new budget is $67,469.72 higher than last year's total receipts of $1,297,227.18, the city tax rate will be lower by 19 cents, which includes a three-cent reduction by the city and 16 cents by the schools. Accordingly, if a taxpayer's valuation remains the same as last year, his overall summer taxes will be 19 cents less for each $1,000 valuation.

Total tax rate on city tax bills expected to be in the mail by July 1 is $35.11 per $1,000 valuation for city and school, compared with $35.30 last year. The new tax rate is broken down as follows: school general operation, $14.16, and school debt retirement, $6.25, for total school, $20.41; city, general operation, $12.58, and city debt service, $2.12, for total city, $14.70.

School debt service is not reflected in the school budget figure. School debt retirement is a separate item listing $6.25 per $1,000 valuation for a new school and school improvements voted in 1953.

Activities will end with a picnic and sports program at Kollen Park on July 19.

Gene Hiddings has been teaching archery at the playgrounds and Merry De Waard will teach baton twirling from July 8 to 12. Miss Norma Koww directs the leatherwork program which is offered every day of the summer playground schedule.

Outdoor Lighting Beautifies Garden

Why not profit by the advantages garden lighting can offer to you and your family? Summer-time is the time to entertain outdoors in the cool air amid pleasant surroundings of beauty and color achieved by careful lighting of flowers, shrubbery and trees. Outdoor lighting of danger spots can give added safety to your family and guests while lighted areas are also likely to discourage intruders.

The following techniques in garden lighting are suggested.

Use flood and spot lights on backgrounds to emphasize the quality of foundation plantings. Use plantings especially planned to conceal the sources of light.

Light shadows with colored filters. Use neon-tubing below the foliage for outstanding effects. Use neon-tubing to provide a reflection of light against plants as well as a silhouette behind them.

Use fluorescent paint on garden structures illuminated with ultraviolet light for startling effects. Insist on portable, inexpensive lighting equipment. Light up the unique features in your yard such as light-colored bark, unusual foliage or interesting shapes. Leave less attractive areas dark. The beauty of garden lighting is increasing interest in outdoor living; longer hours in the open air that outdoor lighting can bring will be welcomed by our family, Watson adds.

Fennville Will Greet New Lights

On Friday, July 5 at 9 p.m., the Fennville Chamber of Commerce president will turn a key that will flood Fennville with 240,000 lumens of fluorescent light, making it the only community in southwestern Michigan to have the new lighting system.

To celebrate the event, at 1 p.m. Fennville's Main St. will be turned into a replica of Maxwell St. of Chicago, where a buyer can find the things he desires at prices he can pay.

The merchandise will be brought to the customers by means of sidewalk counter displays in true Maxwell St. tradition. The merchants will clear their shelves, warehouses, attics, and basements.

Mingling business with pleasure, plans have been made to keep folks jumping from the time Maxwell St. opens until late in the evening.

Street dancing will be included with music provided by Ed Wolters, and John Kliekman's modern musicians. The bands will alternate throughout the evening to give the dancers music of their choice.

The new lighting system consists of 12 steel poles 30 feet high. Each pole will give 20,000 lumens of light.

Instructions were given to Kenneth Gene Artz, 30, of 184 East 27th St., Holland.

Harry Ypma, 74, route 3, Zeeland, had his present restrictions, as to daylight driving only, maintained. No further action was taken in his case.

Owen Carlson, 17, of 150 West 16th St., Holland, and Peter L. Meeusen, 70, of 36 North Colonial St., Zeeland, failed to appear.

CLAIMS BIGGEST SHEEP-HEAD — Joseph R. Smith, 549 West 19th St., landed what he believes to be the "biggest fish of its kind ever caught here" Thursday morning when he hooked a 27-inch sheephead. The fish took more than half an hour to land and weighed more than 12 pounds, Smith said. Smith hooked the fish at the entrance to the channel and reported other fishermen were cooperative in getting out of the way as he ran up and down the dock fighting the sheephead. Smith is a retired Army master sergeant and spends a lot of time fishing.

TOP ATTRACTION — Pony Bill Bushhorn puts his eight Golden Liberty horses through their paces during the lively stable sequence in "West-O-Rama" to be seen on the stage of the Ionia Free Fair, Aug. 5-10. No whips or lead harness of any kind are used.

No One Injured in Two-Car Accident

No one was injured Saturday noon in a two-car accident at New Holland Ave. and 152nd St. that saw one car totally wrecked.

Cars driven by Terrence J. Kruitthoff, 22, route 1, Zeeland, and Elie Williams, 30, of 5289 136th St., collided. Deputies reported that it was an open intersection and vision was obscured by high bushes.

Neither man was ticketed. Kruitthoff's car was described as a total wreck; deputies estimated the damage to Williams' car at $100.

Make Travel Fun

When vacationing this summer, don't try to pack too many miles into each day's travel. Fun, not mileage should be the goal of a vacation. If the number of miles you cover is the important part of your trip, tension and short tempers are liable to be the result.

Three Hurt in Crash In Crockery Township

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Three persons were hospitalized in a two-car crash at 1 a.m. Sunday on US-16 about 200 yards west of the M-104 junction in Crockery township.

George Leo Hughes, Jr., 46, Grand Rapids, one driver, is in St. Mary's Hospital in Grand Rapids for treatment of a fractured right leg, fractured jaw and multiple lacerations. Joseph Bates, 48, Muskegon Heights, driver of the other car, and his daughter, Penny, 8, were treated in Mercy Hospital in Muskegon for lacerations. Both have been released.

State police said the crash occurred when Hughes, headed toward Grand Rapids on US-16, failed to make a left curve, and traveled 219 feet on the shoulder before crossing the center line and struck the Bates car head on. Both cars were considerably damaged. Investigation is continuing.

Hints for Easier Outdoor Cooking

EAST LANSING — If you keep your outdoor meals simple, they will be much easier to prepare. But, any outdoor cooking has some problems which you must solve. These suggestions may help you.

Sandwiches, almost a must on any picnic menu, taste better if they are made on the spot. Besides, it's fun when everyone can make his own. Salad vegetables travel well in a crisper or plastic bag with some ice cubes in it. Carry salad, dressing in a jar and mix it with vegetables just before serving. Dried, evaporated and concentrated milk are easy to carry and use. So are frozen and canned juices.

If you don't have a portable icebox, you can wrap the food which needs to be kept cold in many layers of newspaper and tuck it into a corrugated carton.

Foods which are easy to prepare and carry include fresh fruits, cookies and sheet cakes for dessert; bacon and eggs; and vegetables such as carrot and celery sticks, tomatoes, cucumbers and onions.

You will find that soot comes off the cooking pans much easier if you rub soap on the outside of them before using. As far as the fire is concerned, remember that a good bed of coals cooks better and more evenly than does a roaring blaze.

Corn on the Cob

If you're having corn on the cob on your outdoor menu, you can eliminate knives by melting the butter in a metal container and just dipping the ears into it.

PRIMER FOR AMERICANS

COPYRIGHT 1950.
SIGURD E. LAMMON

You live in the United States of America. You are an American.

Real Americans like their country. They are proud of it. They think it is a good place to live. And they want to keep it good—to keep it getting better and better all the time.

Why is America the way it is? What makes it a good place to live? The answer is simply this:

Throughout our history most Americans have believed that every person has certain rights and duties and responsibilities.

Americans have believed that there are certain things that people should do, and other things they should not do.

They have also believed in certain things that people are, and are not.

These things that people believe are called principles. This book is an attempt to state the Principles of America in simple, primer fashion so that you can understand them, learn them, and remember them.

This is important. It was because earlier Americans believed in these principles and guided their lives by them, that America has grown to be the good place it is.

If all of us learn and remember these principles—if we also guide our lives by them—then we can help to keep America growing better, and better, and better.

And if we follow these Principles of America, we can help make the world a better place to live in, too.

The Principles of America are these...

1. Each Person is of Importance and Value as an Individual.

This is the cornerstone... the foundation of all our other beliefs in a person's right to live his own life, to speak for himself, to choose and change his leaders.

From it comes our hatred of those "isms" under which the individual has no value or importance as a person, but is only one of many unimportant people who have to live the way their leaders tell them to.

Coming directly from that first principle are two other principles that are also part of the foundation of Americanism.

2. We Believe that All Men should Enjoy Personal Freedom.

3. We Believe that All Men are Created Equal.

It is worth noting that the Declaration of Independence expressed the belief that "all men are created equal." It did not state or imply a belief that men develop equally or have equal ability, or that they should ever be forced to an exact equality of thought, speech or material possessions.

That would be equality without freedom. Americans have always believed the two should go together.

From the days of the Declaration of Independence and the writing of the Constitution, Americans have known that even though Life, Liberty, and other unalienable rights are granted to man by his Creator, they require some protection by man himself.

So, in our Constitution, and in other laws of our land, there are set down principles to protect the rights and freedoms and equality of individuals. And these principles play an important part in keeping America a good place in which to live.

4. The Right to Freedom of Speech.

This includes freedom of the press, of radio, of motion pictures, of every means by which man may express his thoughts on any subject.

5. The Right to Freedom of Assembly.

As we believe in the right of individual action, so we believe that individuals should be free to act together for the benefit of all. This is Democracy.

6. The Right to Freedom of Worship.

Not only is the individual free to worship as he will, but religions themselves are free and equal... regardless of their size or their beliefs.

7. The Right to Security of Person and Property.

Not just one, but three Amendments to the Constitution (4th, 5th and 14th) protect against illegal search and seizure, or loss of life, liberty, or property, without "due process of law."

8. The Right to Equal Protection before the Law.

As individuals are equally important, so laws must apply equally to all, without special privileges for any particular individuals or groups.

9. The Right to Freedom from Slavery.

This includes "the right to quit," for no individual may be forced to work for another.

10. The Right to Petition the Government.

The legally guaranteed right of the individual to "petition the government for redress of grievances" is evidence of the American belief that government is the servant, not the master, of the people.

11. The Right to Vote for people of your choice.

This is the individual's most potent weapon in the protection of his rights and freedoms... a weapon that to be effective must be constantly and wisely used.

The Principles of America hold that every man has...

12. The Right to a Good Education.

13. The Right to Live where he pleases.

14. The Right to Work where he wants to.

15. The Right to Join and Belong to an Organization.

16. The Right to Own Property.

17. The Right to Start his Own Business.

18. The Right to Manage his Own Affairs.

19. The Right to Make a Profit or to Fail, depending on his Own Ability.

There are other, similar rights of individual action which are Principles of America, but all of these individual rights may be combined in these two broad principles...

20. Every Man is entitled to Freedom and Equality of Opportunity.

21. Every Man may Earn his Living When, Where, and How he wants to.

There are also Limiting Principles...

Principles of individual freedom sometimes clash with those of individual equality. Therefore our rights as individuals must be limited, and those limitations are themselves principles.

22. The Rights of any Individual shall not Interfere with the Equal Rights of Other Individuals.

Your right to swing your arms stops where the other fellow's nose starts.

23. The Rights of any Individual shall not Interfere with the Welfare of the People as a Whole.

Freedom of speech does not give the individual the right to shout "fire" in a crowded theatre.

24. Every Individual owes Obedience to the Laws under which he Lives.

The individual has the right to talk against a law, to work and vote to change that law, but NOT to disobey that law.

Principles that are Patterns of Behavior...

Many of our principles of individual freedom and equality are guaranteed to us by law.

But we have other beliefs, other general rules of action and conduct that have grown to the status of principles. They have stood the test of time. They have worked. They have become a basic part of the way we live and of the way we look at things.

These principles, too, are foundations of Americanism. They are as true, if not more true, today than they were in 1850 or in 1750.

If America stays free, they will still hold true in 2050.

25. Every Man shall be Judged by his Own Record.

A man's family background, his race or his religion, is not as important as what that man himself can do, for Americans believe a man must stand on his own feet.

26. Every Man is Free to Achieve as much as he can.

We believe that where any boy may become President, where any man may achieve greatness, there is the greatest incentive for every man to do his best.

27. To Achieve anything, a Man should be Willing to Work.

Americans have always known that "you don't get something for nothing," that to get anything takes a willingness to work and to work hard.

28. Achievement also Depends upon the Ability to do a Good Job.

Add to "willingness to work" the ability to produce results and the combination is the basis for most individual achievement in our country.

29. Every Man has the Right to a Fair Share of the Results of his Work and his Ability.

Because of this belief, America has not only produced more goods, but they have been more fairly and more widely shared by more people than in any other country.

30. Security is the Ability of a Man to Provide for himself.

The only true security for any individual is the opportunity, the ability, and the determination to work and plan and save for his own present and future. Self-reliance is vital to individual independence and personal freedom. No man can be "proud and free" who depends on others for his security.

31. When an Individual cannot Provide his own Security, the Responsibility should be Assumed by Others.

We believe that no one should starve, or be without adequate clothing and shelter, so those who have more than their basic needs share the responsibility of providing the essentials of security for those who need help.

32. Every Individual must Deal Fairly with other Individuals.

Honesty, fairness, and personal integrity are virtues that help free and independent individuals get along with each other without losing their independence.

33. Fair and Free Competition is a Good Thing.

Americans have always believed that competition among individuals or groups encourages greater effort which in turn brings greater benefits to all.

34. Cooperation among Individuals is Vitally Important.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER has said: "The freedom to compete vigorously accompanied by a readiness to cooperate wholeheartedly for the performance of community and national functions, together make our system the most productive on earth."

Principles of Individual Responsibility...

Freedom for individuals carries with it an equal responsibility to use that freedom wisely. Therefore, if we wish to remain free, we must faithfully fulfill our responsibilities as free men.

35. The Individual is Responsible for himself and his Family.

He must protect them and provide for their present and future well-being.

36. The Individual has Responsibilities to the Groups of which he is a Part.

He must give of his best to his community, his church, his employer, his union, and to every group in which individuals cooperate for their mutual benefit.

37. The Individual has Responsibilities to his Country.

He must be an active citizen, interesting himself in local, state, and national government, voting wisely, thinking and speaking and acting to preserve and strengthen freedom, equality and opportunity for every individual.

38. The Individual has Responsibilities to the World.

Man's horizons have expanded. What happens in the world affects him, and his actions can affect the world. Today, therefore, each man has a responsibility to act—and to encourage his country to act—so that freedom and cooperation will be encouraged among the people and the nations of the world.

For America's Future

Most of us are still confident of ourselves and of our country. We do not claim perfection. But we have faith in our ability to move forward, to improve, to grow, to provide more and more individuals with more and more of everything they want and need in life...

If we, the people of the United States, want to have more material benefits, we must believe in and follow these two principles:

39. The only way we can Have More is to Produce More; and

40. As we Produce More, we must make it possible for More and More People to Enjoy that which we Produce.

If we, the people of the United States, want to have a better life, spiritually as well as materially...

41. We must stand firmly for our Beliefs, our Rights, our Principles.

WALT WHITMAN, writing nearly 100 years ago, put it this way:

"There is no week, nor day, nor hour when tyranny may not enter upon this country if the people lose their supreme confidence in themselves..."
