Sheriff Patrols County Waters

Three new patrol boats have been purchased by the Ottawa county sheriff's patrol to be used on county lakes and rivers. Sheriff Bernard Grysen said the boats were purchased for $7,000 including the trading in of older boats. Each boat is an 18 foot inboard-outboard with 110 horsepower engines.

Two of the boats were purchased by bid from the Grisen's Sport Shop, 1826 Ottawa Beach Rd. while the other was purchased from Felix's Marina, Grand Haven. The bids were split because they were very close.

Eight sheriff's marine deputies operate the boats. The boats are run mainly during the evening hours of the week days but during the weekends and holidays they are in operation throughout the day.

Grysen said each boat is equipped with two way radios, dragging equipment, first aid equipment and all other equipment sheriff's cars have.

Two boats are in the Holland area and one boat is stationed in Grand Haven. Grysen said two boats were in the Holland area because Park and Holland townships as well as Holland city share the cost of the program.

The deputies make inspections of other boats, check proper numbering and answer complaints concerning other boats. The deputies also assist boaters who encounter trouble.

Grysen said one other, much smaller boat is leased to patrol the Grand River and other rivers on the east side of the county.

Board Okays Changes for Junior High

The Holland school board Monday night approved a change to a seven-period day with an overall increase of 25 minutes of school for E.E. Fell Junior High School for the coming school year.

The new time schedule which was recommended by Superintendent of Schools Donald Ithman and Junior High Principal John Noe, Jr., consists of seven 50-minute periods instead of six 55-minute periods. The junior high will again open at 8 a.m., but dismissal will be at 3:35 p.m. instead of 3:10 p.m.

The seven-period day is necessary, according to the recommendation, because of an expected large increase in enrollment. The increase, primarily in the eighth grade, would have made the classroom space for science and art insufficient.

Enrollment is expected to rise from 1,051 to 1,115 this fall primarily because St. Francis de Sales school is dropping its eighth grade classes.

The seven periods will reduce the number of students in each class, provide extra classes and give students a chance to take an extra elective.

Noe added that the time changes will not effect the length of lunch hours. Teachers will still have only one free period under the new system.

The board also approved changes in the eighth grade curriculum for the coming school year. One-semester courses in Michigan history and in health will be added to the curriculum.

The exploratory curriculum will be changed from four nine-week courses to three 12-week courses. The printing course for boys will be dropped, and the new program will include mechanical drawing, shop and art. Girls will study home economics, home mechanics and art.

The board also received two annual reports Monday night. The annual census taken in May showed a total increase of 60 children from under one-year old to 19-years old since last year. This included 10 more children under four-years old and 50 more children between the ages of 5 and 19 years.

The city's two speech correctionists, Gail Alderink and Lois Gaiowski reported on their year's work.

During 1964-65 Miss Alderink gave therapy to a total of 107 students in the public schools and 44 in the parochial schools, while Mrs. Gaiowski treated 110 in the public schools and 70 in parochial schools.

Officials are considering bringing eight ducklings to the island to see if the mother would care for them.

Cheff Files $75,000 Suit

GRAND HAVEN—P. T. Cheff of Holland, started a suit in Ottawa Circuit Court Monday claiming a judgment of $75,000 against Julia Terpstra of Holland.

The plaintiff claims that he delivered under an agreement with the defendant, whereby the defendant, was to care for and race a certain standard horse, named "Mike Pick."

The horse was delivered in 1961 and according to the agreement, one-half of the earnings was to be divided between the parties. The defendant now has possession of the horse, and Mr. Cheff has made a demand upon the defendant for possession of the horse. He claims that the defendant has failed to return the horse.

He also claims that the defendant has also failed to account for the share of the plaintiff in the earnings of the horse. The value of the horse is estimated at $25,000 dollars and the plaintiff estimates the value of the earnings at about $65 thousand dollars.

The plaintiff also claims that during the year 1957, he delivered another horse to the defendant, a mare, named "Julia Wick." He claims that the mare was delivered under an arrangement whereby the defendant was to raise the foals of such mare and split the earnings, as well as the value of the issue with the plaintiff.

Seven Buses, One Auto, Are Lost

East 8th St. Building Gutted; Nearby Gas Storage Tanks Saved

The terminal-garage of the Holland City Bus Line and Inter-City Bus Line, 392 East Eighth St., was destroyed by fire Saturday.

Lost in the blaze were seven buses and a 1963 model auto.

Nearby storage tanks, owned by the Standard Oil Co. were wetted down by firemen as a safety precaution. A storage shed, just 75 feet from the destroyed building, also owned by Standard, contained 200 barrels of oil, but was also wetted down and was not damaged by the fire.

Holland Township firemen were called to the scene at 8:40 a.m. by head mechanic James Vredevel, who was the only person in the building when the fire started.

The 24 men of units 1 and 2 of the township department were aided by 15 city firemen who responded to the township's request for assistance.

Owner Alvin Vander Kolk gave no estimate of the damage.

Township fire chief Andy Westbroek said the blaze began while James Vredevel was working on a car, "probably with a torch." Westbroek added that apparently the torch ignited some part of the car. What part was not immediately determined.

The billowing clouds of black smoke and explosions within the building attracted a large crowd. Holland police and Ottawa county sheriff's deputies cleared traffic on several streets near the fire until late Saturday.

Closed to traffic were Eighth St. at US-31, Chicago Drive at Eighth St., eastbound Eighth St. at Garrison and Fairbanks Aves., both northbound and southbound.

Vander Kolk said that four buses were out on runs at the time of the blaze, two on regular runs and two on special runs.

The building's brick walls were all that stood when the fire was brought under control Saturday afternoon. Firemen then pulled down the walls as a precaution against their falling at a later time.

The brick building was 150 feet by 50 feet in size with a wing (40 feet by 30 feet) which was also destroyed. The building was originally the Auto Bow Factory and latter Duffy Latex.

Would you like to know how to profit from high - quality forage?

Profitable forage production today depends on two important principles — high yields and good quality. No longer can we need to be, nor can we afford to be, content with hay yields of only two or three tons per acre.

Many farmers now get alfalfa yields of five to six tons per acre, but that is not all. The real payoff is that this forage is cheaper to produce than any other kind of feed. For hay, the break-even point in yield is about two tons per acre, but profits rise rapidly as yields increase above this level.

As yet, relatively few farmers are taking advantage of today's research know - how, and our hayfields are neglected acres. Only about one out of 10 acres of forage is fertilized. Contrast this to corn acreage of which about 95 per cent is fertilized.

Even with new, high - yielding forage varieties, which have been well fertilized, quality is too often lacking. Why? Many dairymen still fail to recognize that forage must be cut early for high quality feeds.

In growing, harvesting, and feeding forage nothing is more important than early cutting and this is most critical for the first harvest.

Modern, well-fertilized, well-managed forage crops are not only high-yielding but a quality feed that approaches grain in feed value, with a bonus in extra protein. Fertilizing forage increased yields and profits.

Early cutting produces high-quality forage which reduces feed buying and increases profits. Remember you can still fertilize the forage this year.

Fruit growers who are interested in taking leaf samples for analysis should take the samples between July 5 and Aug. 15. If you are interested in taking samples and would like instructions, we have this information and will be glad to mail it to you on request.

July is the time to look in your fields for the new corn virus disease. Corn dwarf mosaic didn't reach Michigan last year but farmers, particularly in southern Michigan areas, should be on the lookout.

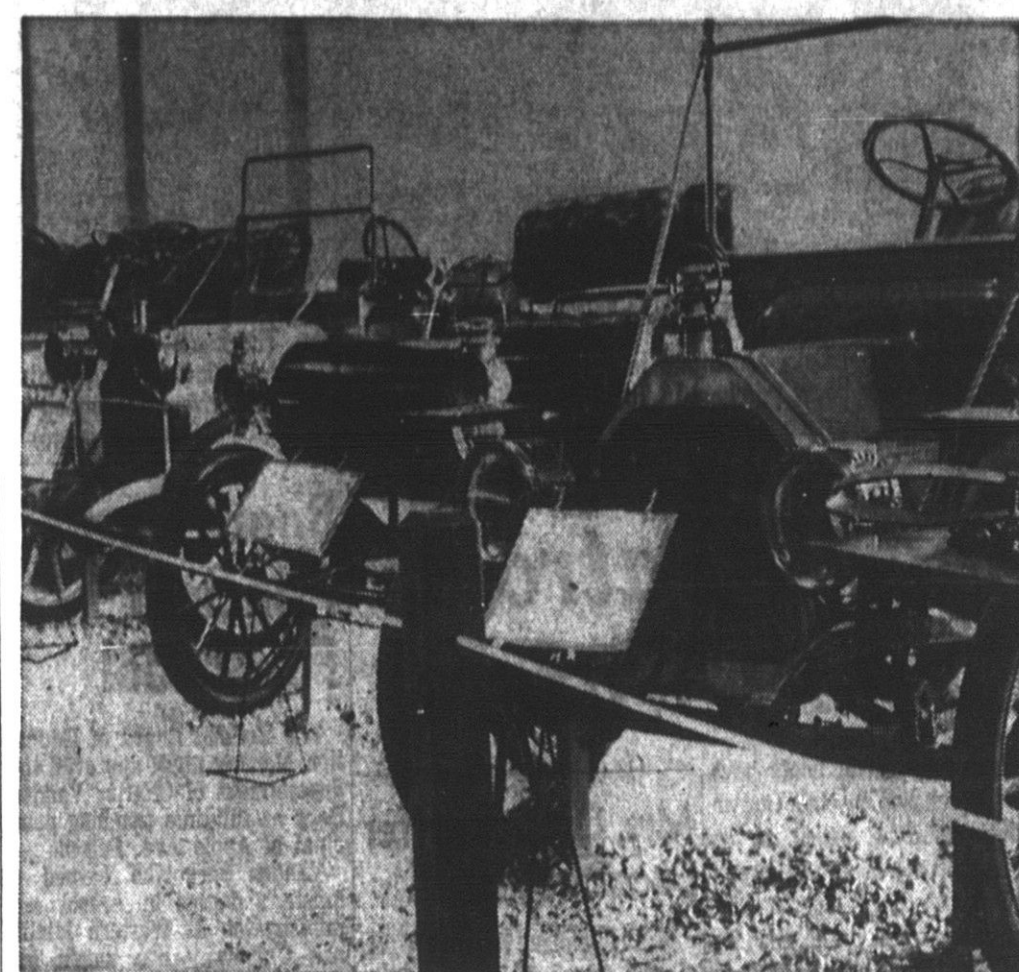

Faint yellow streaking of leaves, followed by reddish purple coloring and stunting of plants is a signal that the disease may have hit your farm. Contact the County Extension Service if you have suspicious plants in your field and they will be checked. Michigan State University plant disease experts are making every effort to keep the disease from crossing into Michigan this year.

Virus - resistant inbreds of Michigan corn varieties may be available for planting in 1966. Few, if any, 1965 seeds have such resistance from the disease which could pose a real threat to the state's corn crop.

The first city university in the United States was the University of Cincinnati. This was back in 1870.

Red Barn First Night Audience Enjoys Musical

It took more than threatening weather to sink "The Unsinkable Molly Brown" at the first night performance of the Meredith Wilson musical at the Red Barn Theatre. Bonnie Hatfield was a tremendous Molly as she romped through 23 scenes Tuesday night.

Audiences are continually amazed at the excellent sets perfected by the stage crews on the limited stage. Effective use of backdrops and flats and finely executed cutouts created the illusion of depth.

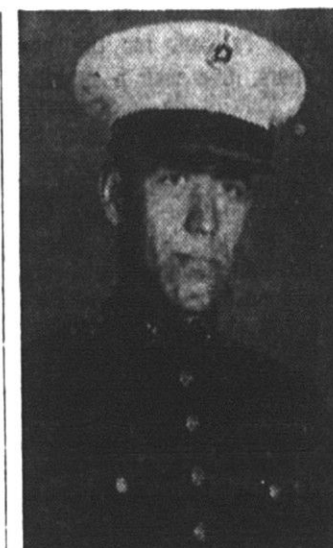

The romance of Molly Tobin and Johnny "Leadville" Brown, played by Ray Dash, who has a flair for musicals, was turbulent as they planned, (mostly Molly) to conquer Denver society after striking it rich.

Bartender at the Saddle Rock saloon was Don Bonevich, a role he enjoyed doing. Bruce Hall was a broken down Shamus Tobin. Molly's father, who urged her to remember her upbringing.

As the leader of Denver's society, Dorothy Lee Tompkins in the role of Mrs. McGlone was properly snobbish. With the help of "the 36" the newly-rich Browns were squelched enough to send them off to Paris to acquire culture. Even Roberts, the butler, played by Don Cranmer, helps put them in their place.

The diamond - in - the - rough Browns appealed to Prince and Princess de Long, Dale Conklin and Patricia Unger, a striking contrast in character, with polish and finesse.

After their return to Denver with their newly-acquired culture and with a "royal flush" of French nobility in tow, the Browns throw a huge party with all the bigwigs invited as well as Johnny's Leadville friends who create a riot that ends the party. It also ends Molly's stay in Denver and she returns to Paris with her royal friends.

A lonesome Johnny sings his "Soliloquy," Prince de Long and Molly sing and dance "Up Where the People Are" which convinces Molly she must return to Colorado and Johnny.

By far the most popular songs were "I Ain't Down Yet," "Belly Up to the Bar, Boys," "I'll Never Say No," and "My Own Brass Bed." Jack Kimmel welded the musical numbers together in his role of musical director with James Dyas, coordinating the entire production as director. Helene Breazeale did the choreography and appeared in several numbers. Costuming by Gloria Gresham was especially effective.

WAY TO A MAN'S HEART

There was a time when young ladies of marriageable age were advised that the way to a man's heart was through his stomach. The implication was that she should prove her wifely qualities by whipping up delicious, rich, and nourishing dishes — or learn to do so — if she wished to capture and hold that one man in her life. The connection between digestion and romance was obvious.

Today the old adage still stands, but with opposite implications. The American Heart Association (AHA) has issued a warning about those "rich and nourishing" foods. It has found that most of them contribute to high levels of cholesterol, the fatty substance in the blood, and that there is a connection between the amounts of cholesterol and heart disease. Those good old foods like meat, eggs, milk, and butter, which were once the symbol of the good life, are now likely to become causes of tragedy.

Today the young lady who wishes to find the way to her man's heart and keep it going will see to it that her pride and joy cuts out the animal fats and substitutes vegetable oils. And she will be sure that he doesn't get too far overweight. The wrong food and too much of it will find its way to a man's heart in a far from pleasant way.

The old adage was a figure of speech. Today it is literally true. Times change. Long hours of manual labor burned the hearty meals that people formerly enjoyed. Today many people do not need the large caloric count. So push hard when you have the urge to draw your chair closer to the table.

Christians Grow
Through Conflict
Romans 7:13 through 8:2
By C. P. Dame

The word "conflict" does not appeal to our luxury-loving congregations. Christianity is a man-sized religion and no one does himself any benefit by playing with it. Only by struggle and sacrifice can a Christian grow spiritually.

I. God's law is good but we are not. Some students of the Bible think that Paul, in Romans 7, describes his pre-Christian life while others think he tells about his own Christian experience after his conversion. This is my belief. Paul's experience is like that of most Christians.

The law played a big role in the life of a Jew in Paul's day. The law, that is the Ten Commandments, is of divine origin, it is therefore good. It reveals sin. The Law told Paul it was sinful to covet. In daily life the law reveals wrongdoing. A man going 90 miles an hour in a car sees a sign saying, "Speed Limit, 70 miles" which tells him he is breaking the law. The law also "awakens slumbering desires" in us. There is something attractive about forbidden fruit. The fact that the law tells us not to do something makes us want to do it. Eve is an example. Paul says that sin seduced him, it is deceptive. Sin deceives young and old. It can't happen to me! But it does and then what? Paul concludes that the law is good.

II. The law creates a conflict. The reason is that man is carnal, that is flesh, but the law is spiritual. In the Christian there is a conflict between the old self which objects to the law and the new self which approves of the law. The trouble is that although the Christian approves the law he cannot keep it as he wishes, he knows but fails to do and when he wants to do the right he often does the wrong. It bothered Paul much that he failed and therefore he wrote, "O wretched man that I am! Who shall deliver me from this body of death?" Paul knew himself far better than we know ourselves.

Sin enslaves. Our generation overlooks the word "sin." We use other words which sound somewhat nicer. In our zeal to banish social sins and injustices, let us not overlook our personal sins—there are many of them—and seek freedom from them.

III. Christ delivers from sin. To the question, "Who will deliver me from this body of death?" there is an answer. "I thank God through Jesus Christ." What learning, culture and philosophy can do, the Lord Jesus does. The church must point people to Jesus Christ who delivers from sin's slavery. "There is therefore now no condemnation for those who are in Christ Jesus." Chapter 8 says in the first verse that there will be "no condemnation" and in the last verse it says that there will be no "separation," for those who believe in Christ. This is indeed a joyful fact. Do you believe it?

BIT OF OLD HOLLAND — A picturesque setting for some old world atmosphere is the Dutch Village on US-31 north of Holland. Interesting shops line the canal with benches and shade trees for relaxation. There is a windmill, Dutch architecture and a real Dutch Hearth dining room. Among the many shops are the Delft shop, import center, smoke shop, candy corner, klompen market and bulb center. Resorters find this attraction especially delightful for children who can stretch their legs while walking along the canal. The Dutch Village is open daily from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. (Sentinel photo)

Plan to Raze 8 Structures Near Channel

Razing of eight wooden structures on former Coast Guard property adjacent to Lake Macatawa and retaining only the small masonry building is planned during this fiscal year.

This information was received by Park township supervisor Herman Windemuller in a letter from Lt. Gen. William F. Cassidy, Chief of Army Corps of Engineers in Washington.

Windemuller had written Mrs. Lyndon Johnson concerning the unsightly appearance of the buildings and the letter was turned over to the Army Corps of Engineers.

Lt. Gen. Cassidy wrote that an evaluation was recently made of the need for these buildings (eight old wooden frame buildings and one small masonry building on federal property) and it was determined that the only requirement was for the small masonry structure.

The general reported only the masonry building will be kept for storage purposes. This building will be maintained in satisfactory condition and will not present an unsightly appearance.

Lt. Gen. Cassidy said. Windemuller, noting Mrs. Johnson's campaign to beautify America, wrote in his letter to the president's wife that the federal government was the chief offender at Holland's channel which otherwise would be a beautiful water highway.

Board Seeks 3 Annexations

The Holland Board of Education has made three recommendations to the Ottawa and Allegan County school district reorganization study committees.

The board proposed annexation to the Holland school district, all of the Federal school district and those portions of the Hamilton school district now in the Holland city limits.

The recommendations, according to Superintendent of Schools Donald Ihrman, are based on guidelines set out by the Michigan Department of Public Instruction. These guidelines call for annexation of areas that are contiguous and have some relation to the larger area.

In their recommendations the board points out that both Federal and Harrington districts are contiguous to the Holland school district with Federal district surrounded on three sides by the Holland school district.

Further, the recommendation says, the areas are dependent upon Holland for services. Persons in the two school districts work, worship and shop in Holland and Harrington school districts will meet with the Ottawa County school district reorganization study committee Friday night to discuss the proposed program.

WOODEN SHOE FACTORY — Visitors to the Holland summer resort area are naturally attracted to the Wooden Shoe Factory on the US-31 by-pass at East 16th St. Wooden shoes for members of the family can be picked up here and the family can watch the shoes as they are made by the skilled workmen. Not only wooden shoes, but novelties and imported Dutch foods are available here. The restaurant also has a soda bar. Children can amuse themselves at Wooden Shoeland which adjoins the factory and restaurant. The factory is open Mondays through Saturdays from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. and the men carve the wooden shoes until 5 p.m. daily.

SHOES ALMOST COMPLETE — It won't be much longer until this piece of wood will be a "klompen" or wooden shoe. It has gone through several preliminary operations at the Wooden Shoe Factory and is now getting its final trim before being sanded and ready for the wooden shoe carver, John Woldring, to smooth out the inside with hand tools. The Wooden Shoe factory is the sole manufacturer of wooden shoes in the United States. Not only are the completed shoes practical for field or garden work, but they are attractive gifts when hand decorated and lacquered. The entire procedure may be seen through safety glass.

LOGS TO SHOES — This shaping machine being operated by Ed Woldring at the Wooden Shoe Factory takes chunks of logs for the preliminary shaping of the wooden shoes that are a "must" for visitors to Holland. From this first step, the shoes are routed out on the inside and finally trimmed on the outside. Visitors are entranced by this process which may be seen every day Monday through Friday from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. (Sentinel photo)

List Members For School Committees

A swimming pool committee under the Holland Council for Inter-School Cooperation was approved by the Holland Board of Education Monday night.

The committee will consist of Harvey Buter, Donald Cochran, Holland Public Schools; Russell Bouws, Jerry Jonker, Holland Christian Schools; Richard Arthur, St. Francis de Sales school; Pastor William Tol, Seventh Day Adventist school; and Donald Ithman, ex-officio member.

Ithman, superintendent of Holland public schools, said the function of the committee would be to recommend a site, size and type of pool, equipment and other details concerning the proposed pool.

In other action James Lamb, the new school board president, announced the board of education committees for the coming year. Lamb added a new committee, the salary committee, to study salaries in the district, area and throughout the state.

Lamb eliminated the school forest committee leaving the care of the forest to the biology department and the school administration, and also eliminated board representation on the junior and senior high school athletic councils. The athletic councils will now be made up of the school athletic director and school principal with Superintendent Ithman serving on both councils.

The committee appointments were: building and grounds—Russel Fredricks, chairman, Harvey Buter, Albert Schaafsma; finance—Albert Schaafsma, chairman, Harvey Buter, Russel Fredricks; personnel—William Gargano, chairman, John Keuning, Mrs. Harriet Heneveld; salary—Harvey J. Buter, chairman, Albert Schaafsma, John Keuning.

Other appointments were: schools—John Keuning, chairman, William Gargano, Mrs. Harriet Heneveld; intermediate school district—William Gargano; inter-school council—James Lamb, John Keuning; and tax allocation board—Harvey Buter.

The American flag was first unfurled officially at George Washington's camp grounds at Middlebrook, N.H.

Court Hears Zeeland Suit

ZEELAND — The city of Zeeland has been requested to appear in Ottawa County Circuit Court July 20 in connection with a suit calling for reregistration of voters in the city.

If the suit is approved by the court the city would be required to reregister all voters in Zeeland.

Michigan Secretary of State James Hare requested the court order in June. City Clerk Leon Van Harn asked the secretary of state for the reregistration last November when he found the voting records "unworkable." Some of the city's records are very old, and others have not been kept very neatly, the clerk explained. Zeeland currently has about 2,050 registered voters.

Local Man to Head Retirement Board

LANSING — Edward Prins, director of building services of Holland public schools, was elected chairman of the Michigan Public Schools Employees Retirement Fund Board at the group's meeting here Monday. Frieda Parmalee of Flint was elected vice-chairman.

Prins was appointed to a six-year term as a non-teaching representative on the board last year by Gov. George Romney.

The retirement board administers the pension funds of all public school teachers and building employees, and under the new state constitution will be a part of the state administrative offices.

Ceremony Unites Couple At Pine Creek Christian

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Gene Timmer

Miss Carol Mae Timmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Timmer, 3315 Butternut Dr., became the bride of Melvin Gene Timmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Timmer, route 1, West Olive, at a double ring ceremony in the Pine Creek Christian Reformed Church last Friday. The Rev. Roger Johnson performed the ceremony amidst a setting of ferns, palms and bouquets of pink gladioli and white chrysanthemums.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, wore a floor-length satin gown with a bell skirt, cummerbund with a bow in the back and a chapel train. An elbow-length veil of silk illusion fell from a crystal crown. She carried a Bible topped with carnations and sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Stanley Sluiter, organist, provided appropriate wedding music and accompanied Herm Kolk who sang "O Perfect Love" and "God Gave Me You."

The maid of honor, Miss Ruth Mokma, and the bridesmaid, Miss Karen Timmer, sister of the groom, wore floor-length gowns of pink brocade with matching headbands. They carried fans decorated with deep rose carnations.

Ronald Bell was best man and Ronald Timmer, brother of the bride, was groomsman.

Dave Visser and Leon Assink assisted as ushers.

The mother of the bride wore a light blue crepe dress with white accessories and a corsage of white pompons and pink roses. The groom's mother was attired in a beige linen dress with white accessories and a corsage of white pompons and yellow roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held for 80 guests in the church parlors. Mr. and Mrs. Larry Dykstra served as master and mistress of ceremonies and Deloris Kelderman and Rhea De Leeuw poured coffee. Mr. and Mrs. Ron Ensing were at the punch bowl, Richard and Janice Timmer, brother and sister of the bride, passed the guest book and Mrs. Robert Sluiter and Mrs. James Brewer were cake cutters.

Arvela Bouwman, Bert Locke, Greg Hemmeke and Viola Kline presided in the gift room. For a northern wedding trip, the bride changed into a mint green, two-piece crepe dress with white accessories and a corsage of carnations and pink sweetheart roses.

The bride is a graduate of Holland Christian High School and the groom attends Michigan State University and is presently employed at the Zelenka Nursery.

The couple reside at 431½ Central Ave.

Castle Club Provides Full Fun Program

The Castle, now being called the Castle Club, opened a week earlier than usual this year to accommodate club members who wanted to take advantage of the June weather.

Carter and Marion Brown, who have operated the Castle since 1917 are sole owners of the Castle Club. Staff members have been with the Browns for many years, others have been grown up in the business succeeding their parents.

Replacing Austin Brown this year as Club manager is Charles T. Henne of Grand Rapids, whose many years of hotel experience prove him of great value. Jacqueline Brown, daughter of the Carter Willie Browns, is the third generation Brown. She is working at the desk this summer.

New gardens have been planted with blooms decorating the dining tables. Modernizing of accommodations has taken place with several early American pieces of furniture from the old Plantation House, brought from Tryon, N. C., to add to the decor of the Victorian parlor at the Castle.

Purpose of the Castle Club and its 1,500 members is to make it possible for Castle Park cottage owners and their guests to enjoy the facilities of the resort hotel. Persons may dine in the Old Timers' room or the dining room. The recreational program is also open to club members.

Tennis, riding, archery, ballet classes, swimming and play classes for the children of all ages is part of a full-time schedule. Dancing on the dance dune, the Amphitheatre program and special events provide Castle Club members with a summer filled with activity.

Unique is the fact that the Castle at Castle Park is the only remaining "summer resort" as such in the area. Years ago the old Macatawa Hotel was torn down and is now replaced with Macatawa Inn, motel, and Point West, restaurant. Waukazoo Inn, also a popular resort in Waukazoo, gave way to a cottage colony instead of the picturesque old inn.

Views From The Campus

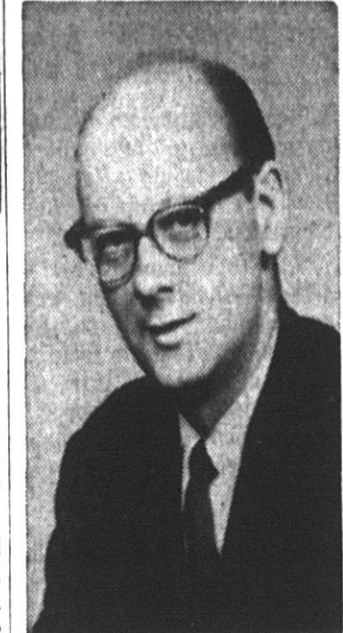

(Dr. Hubert Weller joined the Hope faculty in the fall of 1962 as an instructor of Spanish and was promoted to assistant professor in May, 1965. Weller is a graduate of the University of Michigan, and received his Master's and Ph.D. degrees from Indiana University.

Weller taught Spanish at Ohio University, and was awarded a Fulbright Study Grant to Santiago, Chile, in 1958.

Last week he and his wife, Nancy, flew to Spain to make a study of the surrealism in the works of contemporary Peruvian writer, Rafael de la Fuente.

In the fall, Weller and his wife will live in Lima, Peru, where Weller will teach for a semester. Editor's note.)

By Dr. Hubert Weller
According to a July 1964 Newsweek article, some 5,000 American students were to spend summer 1964 studying in a foreign country. A Readers

Dr. Hubert Weller

Digest article of August 1964 states that 25,000 American students studied abroad during the academic year 1963-64. The past generation has seen a tremendous increase in the number of American students who supplement their educational program in this country by anywhere from three months to an academic year of study in a foreign country. What used to be the patrimony of the rich has come to be an integral part of many young Americans' educational experience. There are many reasons for this.

The United States, since the two World Wars, has become much more a part of the world community. Means of communication have been perfected to such a degree that one can now be on the other side of the Atlantic in a matter of hours or watch live a television show produced in Paris. More and more young Americans are going on to college, and consequently more of them are feeling the urge to go abroad. What's more, the cost of participating in programs of study abroad has been sharply reduced, thanks in part to the existence of charter flights with student rates and the creation of a growing number of foreign study programs organized by educational institutions in this country.

But what is the attraction of study abroad? Perhaps most basic is the desire to learn a foreign language, for there is no substitute for total immersion in a linguistic environment. Anyone who is considering majoring in a foreign language in college owes it to himself, and, if he plans to teach that language, he owes it to his future students, to gain some experience on the ground floor.

There are many other fields of specialization in which experience abroad can be enriching and even essential. And in all of these fields language is a necessary tool. The person planning to go into diplomatic service or international relations must have some first-hand experience on a person-to-person level. There is no better way to make history meaningful than to live it in and its setting for a time. The future business man should have some knowledge of the type of people he will be dealing with in a world in which international commerce is becoming a common place. And one who would be an effective social worker in a large city must needs be fluent in Spanish and know how Spanish speakers feel and think. All of these reasons for study abroad are fairly concrete and utilitarian. There are, however, many others.

We live in a computerized world, where society is in danger of becoming monolithic and uniform. In such a world, we need constantly to remind ourselves that we are many different peoples with many divergent aspirations, interpretations of life, and ways of living. One of the only means for preserving these differences, which, after all, give life much of its color, is to learn to know them and enjoy them. The more varied our experiences, the more interesting we become, not only to ourselves, but to others.

On the other hand, we glory in this wonderful country of ours, but for the most part we do not really appreciate it. Liv-

The bride was attired in a street-length gown of aqua blue chiffon complemented by a matching veil. She carried a bouquet of white roses and white daisies.

Miss Reidsma wore a yellow street-length gown with matching headpiece and carried a bouquet of yellow and white daisies.

For the occasion the bride's mother selected an ensemble of white lace over champagne taffeta accented with a corsage of yellow sweetheart roses encircling a white cymbidium orchid. A corsage of pink sweetheart roses centered with a white cymbidium orchid completed the three-piece aqua blue linen suit worn by the groom's mother.

Before leaving on a wedding trip to Wisconsin, the newlyweds greeted 200 guests at a reception held at the Holland Furnace Lodge. Masters and mistresses of ceremonies were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cooper and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Vanden Bos.

Other reception attendants were Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Buursma, Mr. and Mrs. H. Jalving, Mrs. S. Stoel, Mrs. H. DeVries, Howard Elferink and Joyce Stewart, Linda Speet and Terry Gibson and Bob Sikkell.

The bride was graduated from Holland Christian High School. The groom who was graduated from Holland High School and attended Davenport Institute is employed by Elzinga and Volkens. They will reside at 214 East 25th St. after July 10.

The rehearsal dinner was given by the groom's parents at Il Forno Restaurant in Saugatuck.

ing abroad can be an eye-opener to many of the advantages we enjoy in our land, and of course, to many of our faults.

We can learn a great deal about ourselves by getting to know others. Several years ago I spent thirteen months in Chile as a student. Although I learned much about Chile, I found that, in a broader sense, I really learned to know myself as a person.

In other words, we must strive to be human beings in a world which would make machines out of us, and living with foreign peoples is a means to this end.

Hope College students are offered added opportunities for foreign study by virtue of Hope's membership in the Great Lakes Colleges Association which has established study centers in Colombia, Mexico, Lebanon, Japan, and Yugoslavia.

Bonds Allow Big Savings

The use of general obligation bonds instead of revenue bonds for financing the new Holland Hospital addition will result in savings of $250,000 to $500,000 on interest rates.

The Sentinel Thursday incorrectly reported the figures as $25,000 to $50,000.

City Council Wednesday night approved a plan for financing the addition to Holland Hospital with the bonds, and set Aug. 24 as the date for a special election on the bond issue.

The plan calls for financing the estimated $3,264,136 addition through a general obligation bond issue, and paying the bonds through hospital revenues.

According to the plan which was submitted by the hospital board, two increases in room rates at the hospital in the last two years should allow for financing the addition. The increases in rates provide an additional $4 per patient day for the hospital building fund.

This will leave approximately $300,000 on hand by the time money is needed for purchasing equipment for the addition.

The rest of the money needed to pay off the bond issue, about $3,000,000, would be paid off in about 27 years. This would require about $200,000 each year. This amount should be available, according to the board, from the increases in room rates.

Miss America Well Received

Vonda Kay Van Dyke, Miss America 1965, captured the hearts of nearly 2,200 persons attending the public program in the Civic Center Monday evening.

The program centering on the theme "Christ — The Hope of Teenage America" and Miss Van Dyke's appearance were sponsored by the Reformed Church Youth Fellowship of Trinity Reformed Church.

While it was a quick-witted Kurley Q (Vonda's dummy in her ventriloquist act) who kept the audience laughing with his saucy reports and roving eyes, it was a beaming Miss Van Dyke who impressed the capacity crowd with her charm, versatility and faith.

She not only made Kurley Q come to life with a snappy, humorous routine, but also delighted her audience with her singing.

Seated in the audience were her grandmother, Mrs. Josephine Arthur, and several uncles and cousins from Muskegon.

Turning to the more serious part of the program, Miss Van Dyke augmented the program's theme with her personal testament of faith.

She reiterated "Christ is the most important part of life. He is the answer for those still looking for something."

Vonda recalled events in her life from the time she was a youngster doing her first ventriloquist routines in Sunday school to the point where she felt "I'm doing everything to make Vonda a real good girl" and realized there must be something more.

She said the turning point came when she heard a minister repeat the words "It's not enough to give time and talent, you've got to give your life."

Having learned this, Vonda shared Kurley Q's A, B, Cs for new life with the audience. They are: "A, ask for His help; B, believe in Jesus Christ, and C, confess your sins."

Miss America was introduced by Jim Stroop, president of the RCYF, who also presented Vonda with a bouquet of red roses.

The Rev. Wilbur Daniels, associate pastor of Trinity and general chairman of the activities, acted as master of ceremonies assisted by his wife, Aletha.

In a brief introduction they recalled the idea of such a visit went back to Sept. 12, 1964, when they were impressed with Vonda's religious convictions that won her the Miss America crown.

Prior to that they had heard Miss Van Dyke speak in connection with a Billy Graham program.

Others appearing on the program were the Holland Christian High School Band under the direction of Henry Vander Linde, The King's Men, The Merri-Notes and Peter, Paul and Mounds.

The Rev. J. Kleinheksel led group singing with Mrs. William Zonnebelt as pianist. Soloist was the Rev. John Hains, closing prayer was given by the Rev. G. Van Oostenburg.

Following the program, Miss Van Dyke was honored at an informal reception at Jack's Garden Room Restaurant attended by 50 young people of the church and 12 adults.

She was presented a pair of wooden shoes by Roseanne Schaap at the reception.

The evening program Monday climaxed her day which began with a leisurely trip around the area including a stop at Dutch Village where Miss Van Dyke purchased some Dutch cheese and black bread to be sent to her parents.

At noon she was honored at a luncheon at Hotel Warm Friend attended by local businessmen and their wives. She charmed the members by saying she had never been in a

Official date for accepting bond bids for the new middle school was set for July 20, 1965 at 7:30 p.m. in the library. The budget hearing was set for the same evening at 7 in the superintendent's office.

Final approval was given of the plans for the new middle school and time for receiving bids was set for 4 p.m. on Tuesday, Aug. 10. The official place for receiving of the bids was designated as the school library. John Vander Meiden and John Kuieck, representing the architectural firm of Vander Meiden and Kotellis of Grand Haven were present to answer questions regarding construction and progress. FUTURE TENNIS STARS — This group of children at the Castle Club may be the future tennis champs of their day after expert instruction from "Cap" Leighton, tennis pro, shown here greeting his young pupils. Among Leighton's assistants are Sue Connolly, summer resident of Macatawa and a tennis champ herself (left of Leighton) and Kay Zeller (right) of Winnetka, Ill. During the summer about 500 children will receive instruction from Leighton, who just returned from New York where he conducted the National Tennis School for Teachers at Sarah Lawrence College. There were 230 teachers from the U.S. in attendance and one from Turkey. This is Cap Leighton's 12th season at the Castle. (Sentinel photo)
