In 1845 Holland was the largest community in the county with a population of 1829.—Times.

The strike is having a depressing effect on the passenger and freight business of all the steamboat lines, having cut off both the feeders and outlets. Freight to be carried by boat from railroad terminals is detained on the rail and shippers are deterred from starting goods owing to the uncertainty that prevails. The question of coal for fuel is not cutting any figure at present.

Being tied across the river from the life-saving station, s'e received immediate help, but the fire was beyond control. The Ross was a comparatively new barge, and valued at $20,000. The loss is placed at between $5,000 and $7,000, with no insurance.

Capt. C. Gardener, U. S. A., who is in charge of Mayor Pingree's potato planting bureau in Detroit, speaks very encouragingly of the enterprise. "Some of our rows are not exactly symmetrical," says the captain, "but the crops are there. I look to see the plan a reasonably successful venture from a financial standpoint. One thing which has been demonstrated by it is the willingness of the rich to help the poor, and the readiness of the latter to earn their living, if they have the chance."

Debs has submitted a proposition to the Railway Union to declare the strike off, provided the old men are reinstated.

A RENEWED PATRIOTISM.

ADDRESS BY HON. C. VAN LOO, AT THE DEDICATION OF THE OTTAWA COUNTY COURT HOUSE, JULY 4, 1894.

The speaker preluded his remarks with congratulations upon the successful efforts of the committee, and then continued:

The aged patriarchs, returning from Babylonian captivity, wept when they saw the foundations of their new temple, which represented a feeble new beginning after departed glory. Not so to day, but old settlers, who knew the little structure of which unhappily only a pictorial representation now remains, weep no tears of regret because the old has passed away and the new has come. The new marks growth, progress and new conditions that gladden us all. The old represented the day of "small things, not to be despised," the plunge in the wilderness, the hewing out of a new home, the struggle for existence, for room, for bread, for new forms of liberty, for larger chances in life, for broader views, deeper experience, and to many of us a religious and civil liberty we could not elsewhere enjoy.

What sought they thus afar? "Freedom to worship God"—that's what the fathers and mothers of many of us sought; sought it too in a strange land, in an unknown, untamed wilderness. And if the struggle was long and arduous for the native born, before fertile fields and comfortable homes and well filled larders were theirs, that struggle had peculiar difficulties and sorrows and more harrowing experiences to him coming from foreign shores. It was a struggle with a new language in which to clothe one's thoughts, with new forms and conditions of labor, with climatic difficulties, and miasmatic influences bringing unknown diseases. A struggle to become worthy citizens of a free country, to divert oneself of prejudices inimical to equal rights and the enjoyment of true liberty.

We cannot take the time now to enter fully upon this subject. We desire simply to call it briefly to your minds, that you may recur to the old, the primitive, the genesis of our country. Thus shall we more fully enjoy the present; arm ourselves more hopefully for the future.

When our fathers cut down a tree in the forest to begin a clearing or furnish a log for a home, they looked up through the opening thus made and saw the heavens—they saw God. Every tree that fell, enlarged the opening, enlarged the heavens, showed more of God. No wonder their hearts expanded, their faith grew, their hope brightened, their aspirations rose, their arm was nerved for the struggle of life. No wonder they were ready to share of the scanty board with every new arrival in the wilderness and lend a helping hand to every earnest struggler for home and freedom.

The little school building, that was at once school house and church and court room and polling place and point of general assembly, in that very fact represented the hospitality, the industry, the submission to law, the love of freedom, the thirst after knowledge, the orderly conduct in all the relations of life of the pioneers of our country. Conditions were there discussed, laws administered, problems solved, that have passed away never to return. In those old court houses were made and filed the records of organization of new townships, new churches, new school districts. In the one just removed were discussed the grave problems of civil war, waged for the unity of this great country, for its freedom, its progress, its advance to a manifest destiny. Its records show what Ottawa county did in that struggle in men and money, and that its duty was fully and patriotically performed, in that the lives of nearly 300 of her citizens were given to cement our common country.

To-day we enter upon a new era. While treasuring up and storing the past, its memories, its achievements, the results of its labors, struggles and privations—our new building represents new conditions. What we to-day possess in county and country and which on this glad natal day we commemorate with joyful hearts, may be to many of us a legacy; an inheritance merely; that cost us nothing; a history, not written in our blood and tears; yet, it did cost heavily to those that made the struggle. It cost blood wrung from dripping hearts, and tears from weeping souls, and pangs from wounded spirits, and cries from despairing minds, and sighs from bereaved humanity. It cannot well be that what has cost so much in our American civilization should have no value, or that its possessors should be careless of its preservation.

NEWSPAPER LAWS.
If subscribers order the discontinuance of newspapers, the publishers may continue to send them until all arrears are paid.
If subscribers refuse or neglect to take their newspapers from the office to which they are sent, they are held responsible until they have settled their bills and ordered them discontinued.
If subscribers move to other places without informing the publishers, and the newspapers are sent to the former place of residence, they are then responsible.
CONCERNING DELINQUENT SUBSCRIBERS:
The latest postal laws are such that newspaper publishers can have arrested any one for fraud who takes a paper and refuses to pay for it. secured for us? That human industry is never unrewarded; that toil is not ignoble, but has the stamp of divinity upon it; that liberty is a fixed condition and common heritage in this country and for all beneath the stars and stripes, save for him who offends against it; and that that liberty shall be limited and circumscribed only by the public weal. Nationality has been secured to us, endowed with sovereignty, to which every man and every state should own and pay willingly obedience and execute that sovereignty unitedly. Home was achieved to take the place of cabin and of pen forever; and he the purest, who is most loyal to that home. Protection was achieved for the weakest, the poorest, the lowliest; and he, henceforth and forever the greatest among us who most readily and effectually yields that protection.

This is our heritage, our possession, at once the achievement and bequest of men descended from Pilgrim and Puritan; of men of Saxon ancestry and Cromwellian mold; of fathers through whose veins coursed the blood of the Huguenots, the spirit of William the Silent. Such men were at once worthy of their task, their task worthy of them.

But to-day we face new problems and new conditions and have to deal with spirit, foreign in every fibre of their being to all heretofore struggled for and achieved. Flood of inimical elements are pouring in upon our shores from all parts of the old world. Like an overwhelming tide they are rolling over the land, to be by us enlightened, elevated, christianized and taught the privileges and prerogatives of freemen, not only, but also the deep sense of duty, the stern, uncompromising submission to law and order, and the fervent self-sacrificing spirit of American patriotism. What cannot thus be assimilated must be kept from our shores; what refuses to be thus assimilated, and seeks to destroy, must perish on the scaffold.

The quality of immigration is in rapid process of deterioration. For many years the great majority of immigrants either spoke our own language or were of that Germanic stock whose instincts and developments of self-government astonished the conquering Caesar and the historical Tacitus. This Republic absorbed all or most of the truly republican spirits of the old world. Such immigration was necessarily intelligent, even if uneducated; quick to learn, if unlearned. It was also potentially, if not actually, thrifty and prosperous—it longed for homesteads, rather than for money. It was the best material conceivable to be absorbed in and help construct a great Republic, and it gave a noble account of itself during the years of the Civil War.

But of late, and more so with every year, we have been receiving myriads whose language is not more diverse from ours than their conceptions of government. They do not comprehend the republican idea. Escaped from despotism, they come here with intent to build up a theory of anarchy—or advanced socialism, differing but little from anarchy. They do not care to build a home or create a farm, but to make a living in our cities by such pursuits and in many cases for such paltry compensation as are held disreputable among us. What to us is sordid poverty, to many of them is comparative wealth. They huddle in wretched hovels, eat wretched food, wear wretched clothes; but many of them save money. They save, but do not invest in farms or productive industries. They open vile saloons; they lend at usurious interest; they are the most dangerous of traders. They band together in secret conclave and oathbound organizations, dangerous to life and property. They are the tools of designing men and of priestcraft everywhere, and hesitate not at crime to gain their object. Their socialistic aims tend to the destruction of home and family; their anarchistic spirit to the subversion of our governmental structure. They have no conception what either home or country mean. They live for self, for animal enjoyment or bacchanalian pleasure. Not long since in a procession they carried a flag through a certain city with the motto, "Beneath this we starve." In this procession a barrel of beer was the most conspicuous object. It was carried and surrounded by numberless men that pay out more money for liquor every day of their useless existence than they do for bread.

Before the Revolution there was a long struggle for a home in the wilderness; then a struggle for Independence; next for equal recognition among the nations; then for continued Union, for liberty and equality before the law. And now, when we dreamed that we might treasure up the past and develop it to the best uses of humanity, to a higher, happier, bolder civilization, we are rudely awakened from our Utopian dream to a new, a more terrible struggle than this continent has known—a struggle that will rock the very foundations of society and will test to the utmost every resource of our civilization. It is upon us; aye, our very civilization, itself the result of all our history, the fruit of all that the blood and tears and heartbreaks of the past have garnered, is at stake. Problems are before us that our fathers knew not of, and that must be met and solved in a spirit dedicated to man's best and highest interests, or our civilization will become a wreck.

The spirit of the French Revolution, intensified by an hundred years of human struggle, is abroad in the land, and our judges, in yonder court room, will be called upon ere long to determine questions of law and of fact strange to all our past, and apply legal requirements and prohibitions, not yet evolved from legislative brain.

Freedom of speech and of press and unbridled license are wide apart, yet they need a strict, definite interpretation in this country—and a firm protection of the one with equally firm repression of the other. Lock the mouth of the anarchistic demagogue before he incite the more courageous revolutionist to destructive action. He is bent on nothing less than a total subversion of all law and order and of the very structure of our government and our society.

Grant had his headquarters, at the Cherry house. Our boat halted and we went ashore to see the historic spot. Some rushed up the bank to be first at the house. Others loitered along to drink in the beauties of the surrounding scene, of wood and bluff and river. A lady of artistic tastes and acquisitions preceded us and as we passed up the bank had taken out her sketch book and materials and was already hard at work, transferring the enchanting scene in its outlines, to her book, to be afterwards filled out and developed. She repeated the act at every beautiful scene or historic spot we visited, and when returned to the boat she had a wealth of sketches, every one the product of her brain, her artistic skill and taste and eye and hand. She had garnered and forever made her own the scenes others had passed, stoically as might an ox, or had but momentarily admired or enjoyed. Suppose an anarchistic spirit had come along and said, to this lady, "Part with your ill gotten gains, divide your wealth, give up part of your plunder, you bloated artistic capitalist!" Suppose he had used force to compel compliance with his demands? What then? Why every old soldier on that boat would have sprang to the lady's rescue and strangled the robber. And do you suppose my anarchistic friend, if there be one here, we shall stand idly by while you rob our country, our society, our citizenship of all it has acquired or holds dear? Nay, verily, we may not let you do it; we cannot, must not let you do it. Aye, millions of patriotic souls all over this broad land have already registered their oath before high Heaven that we will not let you do it.

The American idea of house and home and country is too sacred to differ from that of the foreign socialist and anarchist that we should ever surrender it. A house is not a house unless some one share the domicile. Home is a meaningless term, except it be a sacred spot, where love holds sway, and the fruits of many toil and self-denying effort are stored for loved ones.

A house is a prison, till we have some one share it, some one there that requires our aid, our love, our self-denial. Without that it is a place, a hole, a hole, as a rat may have a hole.

Nay, my socialistic friend, I cannot accept your hole as my home. Your "summun bonum" is selfish, animal pleasure and enjoyment, regardless of others' weal or woe. The patriot's idea is loving self-denial, services for others' good, for the general weal. A fellow-soldier said he stepped as cheerfully into Andersonville prison as he ever performed any other soldier duty. It was all he could then do for his country; struggle and battle were for him cut off. All that he could do was to suffer and to starve and to die. Thank God! such heroic souls are yet plentiful in this country and they will ever be the strong bulwark against anarchy and social ruin.

As the socialist has no home, so the anarchist has no country. One of our writers has pictured the horrors of a man without a country, but this has no horrors for the anarchist. He revels in the idea. His hand is against every man. He has no thoughts of peaceful or legal methods for the righting of any wrong. He takes matters in his own hands, and the world over he grasps revolver or stiletto. Conspiracy and murder are the atmosphere he breathes. For all these no other place so meet as the one erected at Chicago. Every anarchist, not a citizen, should be banished from our soil. We owe this to ourselves and to the world's civilization, against which he ever plots. Be not discouraged. The uplifted hand cannot wield the dagger long. It is fighting geometry and gravitation. It has all true manhood and womanhood against it. It has God against it. It has God against it.

Another danger and one for which the foreign, lawless element is largely, though not wholly responsible, is the desecration of our American sabbath. The rate at which this is now going on must end in its total extinction, to be succeeded by an European holiday, given up to sports, drinking and feasts. The sabbath is one of the institutions that date from the infancy of the race, its necessity grounded in man's nature. Its abolishment can only tend to deterioration of the race, mentally, physically and morally, and sooner or later the Nation will pay the penalty. And at the risk of being deemed as a foggy fanatic, I, in this presence, express it as my firm conviction that unless we return to the primitive—to the Christian American idea of the sabbath, our institutions will crumble and perish. A rail road corporation demands the aid of the law and of our citizenship to protect its property against lawless strikers and destructive employees, while it steals the day God has given to its servants and works them past all endurance of their physical frames. Its Sunday excursion trains thunder past our churches, disturbing all sanctity and solemnity, and then it demands that christian laws and habits shall protect its interests, while it violates the laws of God and man. A week ago last Sunday three different excursion parties were wrecked or overturned in the water and scores lost their lives on a day not their own.

pendence. We should teach the youth the vital morals and spiritual principles on which good citizenship and the future welfare of our country depend. Religion, in the sense of creeds, belongs to the churches, but in the sense of high character, good citizenship, uncompromising subjection to law and defense of the sacred rights of person and of property—belongs to a proper system of education. The fact that we have made too much of the mental and too little of the spiritual; have taught more of manners than of morals, has given excuse for un-American spirits to start their parochial side show to the detriment of our Public School. Let us correct our error, and then insist on the Americanism of our common schools.

Organized capital has been charged with many misdeeds, grasping empires of land, corrupting legislative bodies, and so controlling the channels of trade, commerce and finance that their own coffers were filled at the expense of a burdened and defenceless people, but to-day we are face to face with combinations more dangerous and destructive than all mere monied corporations can ever be. Organized labor is destroying private and public property, stopping traffic, delaying mails and blundering travel. It has turned its back upon all lawful means of redress, set courts at defiance, oppresses unorganized labor and has rung in a reign of terror. It interferes with that freedom of choice which is the birthright of every American citizen. It sets aside the individual's rights to secure which government itself was instituted. These rights are too sacred to be trifled with. It would seem as if organized labor meant to march into the works of capital over the prostrate form of every laborer who does not band himself with them. If such interference with the rights, the safety, the property, aye, the very life of the citizen, were to come from any other source, it would be resisted by all and the whole power of government called in to oppose it. Why should lawlessness from this source be an exception? Why, in such a presence, should officers forget their duty and think more of the next election than the safety and the rights of any citizen?

We must draw the line straight here and demand submission to law, or we are lost. No justification of mobs or lawlessness for any cause must be tolerated; no parley had, no conference held with any man while he is defying the law. Treat with him only after he acknowledges its supremacy and majesty.

Fellow citizens! Let us resolve on this glorious day that this country shall have a new baptism of patriotism, of integrity in every walk of public and of private life, of obedience to authority, of submission to law, of temperance, of morality, and of that christianity that is embodied in the Sermon on the Mount and in the Golden Rule of all right human action and human effort.

Write Your Friends About Home Seekers' Excursions Into Michigan.

As a result of the efforts of the Chicago & West Michigan and some other Michigan Railways, three Home Seekers' Excursions will be run into Michigan this year.

For years past, the State has been drained of its agricultural population for the benefit of western states, by reason of the sale of excursions at low rates, to people desiring a new location or attracted by the glowing (sometimes overdrawn) accounts of the Western lands.

The tables will be turned this summer and fall, and an opportunity offered for farmers, and others, in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, West Virginia, etc., to come to Michigan, with a view to locating in the best state in the Union.

Tickets will be sold on July 10th, August 15th and September 18th, from principal points in above named states, to nearly all points in Michigan at one way fare for the round trip. Tickets will be good to return within 20 days from the date of sale. Stop-off will be allowed on the C. & W. M. Ry. at any point north of St. Joseph and at any point on the D., L. & N. north and west of Lansing.

Write your friends about this opportunity to visit Michigan, and get them to locate here if possible. We are interested in getting settlers into the State, especially along our own lines, which, for the most part, run through as good farming and fruit lands as can be found anywhere. The "Michigan Fruit Belt" is famous the country over, and includes the entire eastern shore of Lake Michigan.

We are doing all we know how to encourage the movement of settlers into the State, and we appeal to you who are reading this, to assist us, for MICHIGAN, THE GREAT STATE 21-4 GEO. DEHAVEN, G. P. A. Cheap! Cheap! What? Binder twine at A. C. VAN RAALTE.

For the camp meeting and assembly at Bay View, the C. & W. M. and D., L. & N. lines will sell excursion tickets from all stations July 9th to 18th inclusive at one fare rate. Return limit August 16th.

MICHIGAN CROPS.

Facts gleaned from the State Report for July.

LANSING, July 11.—The Michigan crop report for July says the returns at hand indicate that the wheat crop of the state this year will be about 15 per cent. less than the crop of 1893.

The reduction is entirely due to decreased acreage. The area planted to corn equals the acreage in average years. In condition the crop ranges from 88 per cent. in the southern section to 97 in the northern. The outlook for oats is promising. The area planted in potatoes has been largely increased throughout the state. Clover meadows and pastures are in bad condition due to insect depredations. The timothy fields are in better condition, but are much below a fair average. Clover sowed this year promises well. Apples promise about three-fourths and peaches six-tenths of an average crop.

Auditor General's Report.

LANSING, July 9.—Advance sheets of the report of Auditor General Turner, show that the receipts of the state treasury from all sources for the last fiscal year were $3,775,991.57; and the expenditures $3,470,451.65. The bonded state indebtedness is adjustable for $10,992.83. The net receipts from direct taxes were $1,135,395. The amount received during the year from specific taxes was $1,088,428.14.

Law Regarding Strikes.

LANSING, July 11.—A statute of the state of Michigan provides against interference with trains by persons other than those in the employ of the railroads. It applies to all who uncouple cars from trains or ditch engines or tear up rails. The penalty is very severe. It provides for a fine not exceeding $200, or imprisonment not exceeding ten years, or both.

In His Bed for Fifty-Four Years.

ST. CLAIR, July 9.—When 10 years old, John O'Connor ran a needle into his breast. Sunday, Dr. W. H. Smith pierced his arm and removed the long, lost needle. Mr. O'Connor prizes the needle, lost fifty-four years ago, and will preserve it as an heirloom.

Big Money at Lansing.

POPULIST TICKET.

Dr. A. W. Nichols for Governor and P. H. Beiden and Henry I. Allen for Senators.

LANSING, July 6.—The state ticket of the populists was completed Thursday morning, their being no contest after the governorship question was settled. Dr. A. W. Nichols was nominated, although Mayor Pingree, of Detroit, had a strong following. The other nominees are:

Lieut. Gov., Perry Mayo, of Calhoun; secretary of state, Elisha Pangborn, of Grand Traverse; treasurer, Edward Brown, of Clinton; auditor general, Robert McDougall, of Hillsdale; attorney general, James E. McBride, of Kent; commissioner of state land office, Addison C. Kelly, of Wayne; superintendent of public instruction, M. O. Graves, of Emmet; member of state board of education, Frederick H. Olmstead, of Isabella; United States senators, P. H. Beiden, of Jackson, and Henry I. Allen, of Kalamazoo.

The platform adopted is the Omaha platform coupled with per diem pensions, the taxation of railroads for municipal purposes, the municipal ownership of heat, light and power plants, a graduated tax on lands held for speculative purposes, the abolition of alien ownership of land, the principal of the initiative, referendum and imperative mandate, woman suffrage and the election of United States senators and judges by the people. A resolution was adopted demanding that the general government prohibit the use of Pullman coaches until the pending strike is settled.

FURNITURE BUYERS OUT.

Promising Opening of the July Season at Grand Rapids.

GRAND RAPIDS, July 11.—The July furniture buying season opened here Tuesday. The buyers are much more numerous than at this time last year, and in fact about as many as when business conditions are normal. All the heavy buyers from the eastern states are present, but the strike tied up some of the buyers from the extreme west. Indications are, however, that sales will be rather light, most of the buyers coming here now to examine the styles with the idea of sending in orders as business picks up. Nearly all report that stocks have been sold down close, and that when business does pick up there will be a big run on the factories.

In the 2:40 trot for two-year-olds, McLane was winner; best time, 2:46. Como won the 2:40 pace in three straight heats; best time, 2:17 1/4.

SAGINAW, July 11.—On Tuesday the 2:19 trot was won by Elfrida; best time, 2:14 1/4. The winner of the 3-minute trot was Monte Christo, whose best time was 2:17 1/4.

GRAND RAPIDS, July 10.—Ardelle Carmel, arrested last winter for removing several hundred dollars worth of goods from the house of William Rindge, where she was employed as domestic, and then setting the house on fire, was convicted Saturday of grand larceny. Fatal Blaze on a Steambarge.

SOUTH HAVEN, July 11.—The steambarge Myrtle M. Ross was partially destroyed by fire while lying in port Tuesday. Frank Smith, aged 18, son of the captain and owner, was burned to death; Charles Connell, chief engineer, was probably fatally burned, and Will Smith and William Leroy were seriously burned. The loss is placed at $7,000, with no insurance.

Gov. Rich After Emmet Rifles.

LANSING, July 11.—Gov. Rich has ordered an immediate investigation of the alleged action of the Emmet Rifles of Jackson, a company of the national guard, in passing a resolution condemning the authorities for ordering the companies of the First regiment into their armories upon aid being asked from Battle Creek last week.

A Steamer Burned.

CHEBOYGAN, July 6.—The steamer White Star caught fire while lying at her dock here early Thursday morning, and was damaged to the extent of $5,000. The captain and crew barely escaped with their lives, and lost all their possessions. The White Star was burned just one year ago in the same way while lying at a wharf in Port Huron.

Militiamen Denounce Gov. Rich.

JACKSON, July 10.—The Emmet Rifles, composed principally of sons of railroad men, adopted resolutions denouncing Gov. Rich for calling out state troops July 3. The action of the Emmets will probably lead to their expulsion from the national guard.

Census Notes.

Above we give a comparative tabular statement of the population of Ottawa County.

In the census of 1850 Blendon was still a part of Allendale, Robinson a part of Grand Haven (then called Ottawa), and Olive and Zeeland parts of Holland township. The census of that year, for Ottawa county, included also what is now Muskegon county; this has been omitted from the above table.

The cities of Grand Haven and Holland were incorporated in 1867, and prior to 1870 are included in the several townships bearing these names.

The increase and decrease in population in some townships during the past two decades is largely accounted for by the increase and decline of the lumbering interest; especially is this the case with Grand Haven city.

The township of Olive experienced its boom between '70 and '74, doubling its population in these four years. This was owing to the so-called D. & M. railroad lands being then thrown on the market.

Robinson, the poorest town in the county, credits its relative large increase in population to the recruiting agency of Cha's Rounge.

The only town that suffered much of a decline is Spring Lake, by reason of the entire withdrawal of its saw-mills.

The decrease of 86 in Holland town is not actual, but owing to the fact that a year ago a strip of territory along the southern limits of Holland city, with a population in round numbers of 300, was detached and annexed to the latter.

The period of '70 to '84, so far as Holland city is concerned, covers "the fire" and its entailments. During those 14 years it little more than held its own, while in the 10 years next thereafter it doubled in population.

Grand Haven city reached its zenith in 1884. Since then, by reason of the complete exhaustion of the lumbering industry, it has been compelled to seek and establish new means of subsistence for its mill hands, and in the mean while suffered a decline. The increase since '90 however shows signs of recuperation.

The net increase in the county since '90 is 3,841. With a population of 39,199 it is fair to presume that Ottawa county, by this census, will retain its two representatives in the lower branch of the state legislature.

By recent legislation the compensation of judges of probate is graded according to population. The present salary of Judge Goodrich is $1,300. If the census had reached 40,000 it would have raised his salary to $1,500.

The population of the 3 incorporated villages in the county is as follows: Coopersville 812, Spring Lake 812, Zeeland 893.

The population of Allegan village is 2,670 and of Saugatuck 756.

South Haven is the largest village in Van Buren county, with a population of 2,450.

The total population of Kent coun-

The Holland Resorts.

The Resort Steamboat Co., Geo. Crawford manager, have bought from Capt. Ed. Napier the steamer Music, the latter taking the str. Macatawa as part payment and $4,000 besides. The "Mac" will be taken to Pine Lake, near Charlevoix, a location suited to her size and trade. The new time card for the str. Music went into effect Tuesday. She will leave Holland at 7:15 and 9:45 a. m., and 2:30 and 7:15 p. m.; leave the Park at 8:10 and 11:15 a. m., and 5:10 and 8:30 p. m. Sundays the boat will make two trips, leaving the city at 9:30 a. m., and 2:00 p. m.; returning leave the Park at 5:15 p. m. It cannot be denied the Music is a decided improvement upon the Macatawa. She is 106 feet over all, was built in '92, and can comfortably carry between 400 and 500 excursionists. Her officers are: Captain, J. N. Upton; engineer, W. Sheshogway; clerk, Ed. Clark.

The U. S. dredge Farquhar expects to complete its work at the harbor this week Saturday. The strong southwest wind which has prevailed for the past two days has delayed the work some.

Abe Ledebor with his family are occupying their cottage on Breezy Point, Macatawa Park.

Landlord Sweet of the Ottawa is planning on entertaining a large number of guests. There will be a number of excursions from various sections in the northern part of the state, where Mr. Sweet is well known, both personally and as a host.

Steps are being taken to organize a summer Kindergarten at Macatawa and a large number of pupils have already signified their intention of attending.

Mayor Hummer and family have settled down at Macatawa for the present.

The "Macatawa Park Assembly" for the season of 1894 will be held August 5-12. The committee of arrangements consists of Rev. J. H. Garrison, D. D., St. Louis, Mo., Rev. E. A. Adams, D. D., Chicago, Rev. J. W. Allen, Chicago, Rev. W. D. Westervelt, Chicago. Director, Rev. Geo. H. Wilson. Director of Music, Prof. Chas. I. Wycoff, Chicago. Further particulars next week.

Mrs. A. Kronmeyer of Hudsonville registered at the Macatawa Hotel this week.

A large picnic party of Zealand came down on Wednesday. Among the number were A. De Kruij and A. Labuis and families, H. G. Keppel and C. J. Den Herder.

"Dick" McKee of Chicago is becoming a familiar figure in the pilot house of the steamboats that ply on Macatawa Bay. He can manipulate the wheel, toot the whistle, and make about as good a landing as some of our experienced captains.

The sloop yacht Fairy, carrying a party of Chicago people, anchored in the bay Wednesday. Among those on board were Tom and Miss May McGuyne, brother and sister of Mrs. F. O. Nye of this city.

A new system of collecting tolls has been inaugurated at Macatawa Park. Gates have been placed at the main wagon entrances to the park, and those who have been in the habit of using the walks for the peddling of vegetables, milk, groceries, etc., to the tenants of the cottages, are required to pay a certain license. A number have already paid up and procured keys by which they can gain admission to the grounds.

Several who have visited the resorts of Western Michigan say that there are more people at the hotels and in the cottages at Ottawa Beach and Macatawa Park than at any other retreat along the east shore.

Mr. Westervelt's cottage, just approaching completion at Macatawa Park, will be one of the most attractive and commodious ones on the lake front.

Quite a large number of the resorters attended the concert given at the Ottawa Beach hotel on Tuesday night. The program as a whole was a pleasing one and highly appreciated by the audience.

It is estimated that not less than 8,000 people visited the resorts on the Fourth.

Bathing is being quite largely indulged in for this time of the year. It is generally conceded that there is no finer beach on the east shore for surf bathing than at the Holland resorts.

The steamers City of Holland, Glenn, Bradshaw, Music and Lizzie Walsh add much to the scenic pleasures of the resorts.

The registers at the hotels show a marked increase in the number of transient guests.

A drawing card to the resorts is the improvement of the Macatawa boulevard, from the city west as far as Central Park. During the past weeks hundreds of loads of gravel have been hauled from the Groningen gravel beds, and the drive along the south shore of the bay is one of the permanent attractions of Holland.

At Macatawa Park nearly all the cottages have been engaged for the season.

The number of Chicago passengers on the boats that step off at the resorts is larger this season than ever before.

Among the Grand Rapids families that have arrived during the week and are occupying cottages are those of Max Thiele, D. J. Doornink, Frank B. Chapin, O. H. Lahm, Thos Doran, and Robert Shanahan.

A meeting of the cottage owners and all others interested in the future of Macatawa Park has been called at the auditorium for Saturday evening. The cottage owners claim that they have some $50,000 invested in property and they are very desirous of seeing the walks kept in better repair and other necessary improvements made. We understand that a proposition will be submitted to have each cottage owner pay so much annually toward the maintenance of the walks and the proper care of them during the winter season.

Assistant postmaster DeKeyser is authority for the statement that more mail matter is passing to and from the resorts this year than at any other time since they were established.

Captain Bradshaw and his younger daughter had a narrow escape from drowning on Sunday afternoon. The boat in which they were rowing capsized and both were left floundering in the water for some time. Miss Bradshaw retained her self-possession and, clung to the boat, while the captain who is an expert swimmer experienced no difficulty in keeping his head above water, until assistance came from some men who were standing on the south shore dock. The only thing the captain regretted in connection with the accident was that he lost his pet meerscham pipe, which had been in his possession for a quarter of a century or more.

A young man who has taken pains to gather the figures says that there are just 47 red-headed women at the park this season and that with the exception of Purdy's roadster so far not a single white horse has put in an appearance.

For the HOLLAND CITY NEWS.

A Correction.

"The Columbia Hose Co. No. 2 did not come out to parade and did not care to enter into a contest with Eagle Hose Co. No. 1. It caused considerable commotion."

The above is from the Ottawa County Times of July 6.

The reason Columbia Hose Co. did not come out to parade on the Fourth is because the committee on invitations notified the members too late, several of them having made arrangements to spend the day out of town.

The committee in making the invitation asked us to contest with No. 1 in the afternoon, for the amusement of the public. Now we would say that we don't contest in that way. Whenever we do, we have a direct understanding with those with whom we are going to contest, without the interference of a third party. When we enter upon a contest we mean business.

Hoping the above explanation is satisfactory, we remain the public's obedient servants.

HOPE FOR THE HAIRLESS.

PROFESSOR BIRKHOLZ, OF CHICAGO, GIVES HOPE TO THOSE AFFLICTED WITH BALDNESS. "A NO CURE, NO PAY" TREATMENT.

Prof. G. Birkholz, of Chicago, the eminent German specialist, who for years has devoted his time and talent to the study of the hair follicles, and who has evolved the most successful treatment for baldness the world has ever known.

He will carefully examine each case and candidly inform the inquirer whether his baldness can be cured and the hair be restored. These examinations are made without charge.

In all cases where there are any hair follicles remaining undestroyed by age or disease the Professor will undertake a cure, and if it does not effect a restoration of the hair he will ask no pay.

The remedy is an important one, and the treatment given by the Professor is his own, and cures where all others fail. If your case has been pronounced incurable do not take it as a final answer until you have seen Professor Birkholz and receive his opinion.

Many persons have small bald spots through the hair. These increase in area and in time produce complete baldness. In such cases the hair follicles need nourishment. Prompt treatment will bring them into activity and restore the hair.

The success that has attended Professor Birkholz everywhere enables him to give a positive opinion in each case presented to him. Those who are bald or are threatened with baldness should not delay treatment, but call upon the Professor at once, 1011 Masonic Temple, Chicago.

Hand this notice to any first-class druggist and he will get the remedy for you at once, if he has not got it in stock.

One and a half teaspoonfuls Horsford's Baking Powder gives better results than two full teaspoonfuls of any other.

A Wonderful Invention.

The latest and most remarkable improvement in food products is the new Horsford's Baking Powder, which has attained such enormous sales in this vicinity during the past few months, and which promises to displace the old-fashioned kinds because of the greatly superior results obtained by its use. This powder excels in three important particulars, viz.: baking strength, healthfulness and purity. One-and-a-half teaspoonfuls will produce better results than two full teaspoonfuls of the best of other kinds. All other baking powders are composed of either alum or cream of tartar, both of which leave a physis in the bread, while this powder is strictly a pure phosphate powder, and is of itself a natural healthful article of food, beneficial to all. Every ingredient is strictly pure. It contains no alum, cream tartar or ammonia.

The populists divided their strength, Kyle and Allen voting in favor of the bill and Peffer and Stewart against it. Port Sheldon.

Our annual school meeting took place on Monday evening with a very slim attendance. The old director Dirk Riemsma was chosen to serve another term, and it was voted that the board get a flag and pole, not a 4 x 6 flag, but a good sized one. So you see that the people are patriotic around here.

The marriage in high life, of which mention was made a few weeks ago, with promise of a full account, did not materialize July 2nd, as announced. Every preparation has been made and a clergyman imported for the special occasion. But alas he had to depart without making two happy hearts one. And yet it was not his fault, for everything was ready and the house had been put in order to do the affair up in good style. It was all owing to the absence of the prospective bridegroom. After waiting a reasonable time the scene changed and there was "wailing and gnashing of teeth." Instead of joy and merriment. Never mind, there is just as good fish in the sea as ever was caught.

Saugatuck.

Very little or no complaint is heard of peach yellows in this section of the county this year. Heroic measures for wiping out the disease were made last year and they seem to have had the desired effect. Unrelaxed vigilance should be the rule this year, for it is when fruit growers begin to feel overconfident that the disease makes the greatest progress.

A month ago the prospects for a good crop of peaches in this section were fine. Now the growers whose orchards are on heavy soil say that the peaches are dropping badly and that the crop will be almost a total failure to them. Those whose orchards are on light, sandy soil, report that the peaches are dropping some, but not enough to make any considerable amount. It is safe to say that the shipments from here will not aggregate more than one half of what they would if nothing had happened.

The annual soldiers and sailors reunion of Allegan county will be held at Baldhead Park commencing Sept. 18 and lasting three days.

THE contract for raising the wrecked United States steamer Kearsarge has been awarded to a Boston towboat company. By the terms of the act of congress the company is to receive forty-five thousand dollars if successful in delivering the ship at the Norfolk navy-yard, and if unsuccessful is to be paid ten thousand dollars.

AMONG the messages of condolence Mrs. Childs has received on the death of her husband is one from the town officials of Stratford-on-Avon who testify to the appreciation in which they hold Mr. Childs' gift of the Shakespeare public fountain. This one generous act alone of the editor gave him a lively fame in England.

Where Bad Roads Lead To.

Bad roads lead to profanity; they make men swear. Bad roads lead to intemperance; men think it necessary to fortify the inner man with a few drinks to enable them to stand a long journey through the mud. Bad roads lead to cruelty; the kindest-hearted driver often has to stimulate a willing team with the lash. Bad roads lead to poverty; the wear and tear on wagons, harness and animals' knock off a large per cent. of profit.—Homer Times.

DIABOLICAL INTELLIGENCE.

Instances of the Treachery and Wickedness of the Elephant.

According to my observation, the elephant is intelligent in a diabolical way at times, but rarely ever up to the mark when its intelligence would be useful. So with its docility. That quality is prominent, no doubt, when the exhibition of it is convenient to the elephant, but one often looks for it in vain when it is needed for the convenience of any other living creature. Then the elephant is a revengeful beast. It is treacherous often, and, with few exceptions, an arrant coward.

How very uncertain the docility of an elephant may be, and how revenge may be substituted for that quality, was illustrated by an event that is fresh in my mind, says a writer in Blackwood's Magazine. A mahout tried to drive his elephant into the center of a newly-excavated tank. The elephant found out with its trunk that a hole of some depth was just before it and would not move. The mahout persisted, and urged the recalcitrant elephant with the iron goad, (the gubbag,) and, after a short conflict, the elephant seized the mahout with its trunk, dragged him off his seat on its neck, and, placing him below its forefeet, trampled the life out of him.

This animal had some reason for being annoyed by its driver, but there is nothing to be said in extenuation of another elephant that, apropos of nothing, tossed me with its tusk. I was feeding that brute in the eventide, when the day's work was done and this toiler, with others, had to be tended and encouraged. I was feeding it with delicacies dear to the elephantine palate, and, without rhyme or reason, that docile and intelligent creature butted me into the air, no doubt with a benevolent intention of impaling me that was frustrated by my offering no resistance to the tusk and by the bluntness of that weapon.

MOTTO TO COATS-OF-ARMS.

The Motto Ought Really Not to Contain More Than Eight Syllables.

The art of composing the motto was subjected to severe rules. The "body" and the "soul" were required to be in such relation to each other that the "soul" should invariably explain the "body." The legend must be concise, neatly turned and ingeniously suggestive—like the "Desdichado" of the disinherited knight in "Ivanhoe," says the Year Round.

It had always to be applicable to the person as well as to the material object forming the "body," and it must not be drawn from things unknown, nor must it be too enigmatic or too facile, too humble, or above all, too arrogant. Again, it was essential that the figure should be agreeable to the eye and its idea to the mind. Finally the device was perfect only when the "body" was unique and the "soul," or motto, in a language which was not the mother tongue of him who bore it.

The motto ought not to contain more than eight syllables. That of our order of the Garter, "Honi soit qui mal y pense," contains only seven; that of our kings, "Dieu et mon droit," only four. The device of Leo X. was a yoke with "Suave" for the motto—"The yoke of the Lord is sweet." That of Henry III., king of France and Poland, two crowns on the earth and one up above, with the motto: "Manet ultima coelo;" that of Charles V., the pillars of Hercules, and the legend, "Ne plus ultra."

Devices went out of vogue in the seventeenth century, and now survive only in the coats-of arms of the older families, where the reader, if he be so disposed, may study them at leisure and examine how nearly they approach the ideal embodied in the foregoing rules.

HIGH HEELS COME FROM PERSIA

A Climatic Necessity There and a Jealous Device in Old-Time Venice.

Heels, it is said, owe their origin to Persia, where they were introduced upon sandals in the shape of blocks of wood fixed underneath, such being the root idea of those deformities to which lovely woman owes so many of her woes, says the New York Journal. A high, unsteady heel, it is an open secret, injures the leg tendons and affects the spine as well as internal organs, which are liable to be displaced by the thrown forward position entailed. In Persia, the first home of the heel, however, these blocks of wood are used simply to "raise the feet from the burning sands of that country, and were two inches high." With the Persian women these blocks were vastly higher than those affected by men, their height being from eight to ten inches to two feet, thus becoming more of the nature of stilts than anything else. Strangely enough, many years after a similar fashion came into vogue in Venice; but the motive in this case was comically different, for "by its means jealous husbands thought they would be able to keep their wives at home." The supports of such shoes in Venice were called "chimneys," and to appease the vanity of the ladies, and doubtless also to sugar the pill, were made highly ornate. The height of these chimneys determined the rank of the wearer, an extra coating for the pill, "the noblest dames being permitted to wear them one-half yard or more high."

How Navajos Produce Dyes.

The Navajos produce the brilliant red of their blankets from bayeta, a bright scarlet cloth made in eastern cities and raveled by the Indians for the yarn. Their gray is the natural color of some of their sheep; so are their white and black. They produce a deep yellow from the alder boiled in water and afterward mixed with impure native alum. A dull red is produced from alder bark. Black is also obtained from the aromatic sumac, yellow ochre and the gum of a species of pine. The last dye is essentially an ink. Most of these dyes are produced by elaborate and laborious processes, but the Navajos also use dyed wools made in eastern mills.

You Have Got the Bulge ON US.

The people all know that we are going to leave town soon, and that we are anxious to close out our stock and the consequence is that they pay their own prices for goods. This is a terrible state of affairs, but it can't be helped, so come in and carry away all you can and pay whatever you can afford.

E. F. SUTTON,

Last June, Dick Crawford brought his twelve months old child, suffering from infantile diarrhea, to me. It had been weaned at four months old and "being sickly every thing ran through it like water through a sieve. I gave it the usual treatment in such cases but without benefit. The child kept growing thinner until it weighed but little more than when born, or perhaps ten pounds. I then started the father to giving Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Before one bottle of the 25 cent size had been used, a marked improvement was seen and its continued use cured the child. Its weakness and puny constitution disappeared and its father and myself believe the child's life was saved by this Remedy. J. L. Marlow, M. D., Tamaroa, Ill. For sale by Heber Walsh, Druggist.

W. H. Nelson, who is in the drug business at Kingville, Mo., has so much confidence in Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy that he warrants every bottle and offers to refund the money to any customer who is not satisfied after using it. Mr. Nelson takes no risk in doing this because the remedy is a certain cure for the disease for which it is intended and he knows it. It is for sale by Heber Walsh, Druggist.

A horse kicked H. S. Shafer, of the Freeman House, Middleburg, N. Y., on the knee, which laid him up in bed and caused the knee joint to become stiff. A friend recommended him to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which he did, and in two days was able to be around. Mr. Shafer has recommended it to many others and says it is excellent for any bruise or sprain. The same remedy is also famous for its cures of rheumatism. For sale by Heber Walsh, Druggist.
