CITY AND VICINITY.

The big show next Friday.

Alderman A. Postma has sold to H. Hazelkamp of Chicago a lot at 17th and River streets.

The condition of Mrs. K. Schadelee, who is ill in the Netherlands, is improving.

Stephen R. Crandell, who several years ago conducted a bazaar store in this city, died last Monday at his home in Big Rapids at the age of 69 years.

The court calendar for the August term will contain a large number of criminal cases. There are also a number of civil cases and the term will probably be a long one as well as a business like one. Court opens on August 7.

Because complaint has been made by the G. R., G. H., & M. Ry., over their property which they claim has been improperly assessed to them in Crockery, Polkton, Spring Lake, Tallmadge and Wright townships and Grand Haven city, the state tax commission has ordered a special review to be held in Grand Haven on July 19. The supervisors of the districts in question will be present.

Ottawa county wants complete rural delivery and Congressman William Alden Smith has forwarded an application to the postoffice department, asking that an inspector be sent to look over the ground to see if the service cannot be installed. The country is pretty well gridironed as it is with rural routes, and so well satisfied are all those who receive the service, that they have made their neighbors anxious to be included.

The hearing in the case of Herman C. Schmedtgen for a bond to keep the peace was conducted by circuit court commissioner C. E. Soule in the supervisor's rooms at the court house in Grand Haven Tuesday. The case of the people was in charge of Dan F. Pagelsen, and W. I. Lillie represented the defendant. Mrs. Schmedtgen was one of the principal witnesses for the people and she gave a very vivid account of the family troubles in the Schmedtgen homestead. The case at times got very stormy and there were some rather amusing situations. The case was a long one and proceeded rather slowly. The jury rendered a verdict of not guilty and Mr. Schmedtgen was released.

Little interest was shown in the election for members of the board of education last Monday only 75 votes being cast. Dr. H. Kremers, one of the six men nominated at the citizens caucus refused to run. Ballots were cast as follows: G. J. Van Duren, 65 votes; H. Geerlings, 67; George Ballard, 33; W. A. Holley, 22; W. J. Garrod, 20; Henry Van der Ploeg, 1. The men elected were G. J. Van Duren, the present secretary, H. Geerlings, at present a member, and George Ballard, the new member to take the place of Dr. Kremers. The members of the board who hold over are Dr. J. A. Mabbs, B. Steketee, I. Marsilje, C. M. McLean, W. H. Wing and O. P. Kramer.

James Campbell, a deputy sheriff of Allegan county, living on a farm in Laketown township, pleaded guilty in an Allegan justice court to the charge of poisoning a $500 dog owned by E. P. Simpson, living near him, and admitted that he brought to an end the life of a dog belonging to Miss Sadie Argo, another neighbor. Campbell was fined $30 and costs, which he paid, but this does not end his bout with the law as Mr. Simpson, through his attorneys, Diekema, Kollen & Ten Cate, has started suit against Campbell for $1,000. Capt. Frank Van Ry of this city, ex sheriff of Ottawa county, took the leading part in tracing the poisoning to Campbell. He found out from whom Campbell secured the poison and from that wove a net of evidence from which there was no escape. Then Campbell made a complete confession. He placed strychnine in fresh meat and threw the meat in Simpson's dooryard. He disclaims all knowledge of the wholesale poisoning of dogs at Macatawa Park.

John Zwemer, Benjamin Wolters and Harm Alderink have returned from a western trip taken to look over some of the irrigated land near Colorado Springs. "That's the place to go," says John, "I never enjoyed a trip better. That irrigated land is fine. No trees, no underbrush, just nice level land covered with short, thick grass, upon which hundreds of cattle roam fat as mud. I went to Denver too. The country out there and around Colorado Springs is fine. I bought ten acres of land, and am going out there in about a month and buy some more. Probably a number of others will go with me. I'd like to get a crowd to go."

M. Notier has purchased a new hearse of Cunningham & Son, Chicago.

Rev. James F. Zwemer has declined the offer of the principalship of the Wisconsin Memorial Academy at Cedar Grove, Wis.

A big three sticker, the A. W. Lucky of Manistee was towed into port this week by the Harvey Watson. She had a cargo of shingles for the Scott-Lugers Lumber Co.

The Grand Rapids Automobile club will make a run to Holland on Sunday, August 20. On September 2 the members will go to Chicago via Holland, taking the Chicago boat here.

The parade with which The Great Adam Forepaugh and Sells Brothers' Enormous Shows will begin is announced to leave the exhibition grounds at ten o'clock promptly, and go over the principal business streets.

Officers VanOort and VanTubergen arrested John VanDyke, G. A. R. Rick, Thomas Mouw and Jacob Drost, charged with loitering about the Central Avenue Christian Reformed church Sunday night. Monday morning, the boys pleaded guilty in Justice Van Duren's court and paid fines of $5 each.

Following is the semi-annual report of the cases handled by Prosecuting Attorney Cross for the six months ending June 30: Total number prosecuted, 151; number convicted, 146; number acquitted, 2; number not pressed 3 These were offenses charged: The total amount of fines and costs collected was $591.35.

In Justice Devries court last Friday afternoon, Henry Muller, the Olive township farmer accused of ill-treating his wife and children, changed his plea of not guilty to guilty and furnished bonds in the sum of $500 to keep the peace. His sureties are K. Van den Bosch of Olive township and H. Diepenhorst of Holland township.

The death of Gerrit Kamphuis occurred Saturday at his home 17 East 24th street. Mr. Kamphuis was 76 years of age and came here from the Netherlands several years ago. He is survived by two daughters one living at home and one in Dakota, and one son in Montana. The funeral services were held Tuesday at the home, Rev. E. J. Blekkink officiating.

C. Braam, sr., received word last Saturday that his daughter-in-law, Mrs. P. Braam, died last Friday of smallpox in the detention hospital at Grand Rapids. She was cared for by her daughter, who is a trained nurse and left her work in the hospital to go to the care of the mother. Two weeks ago, Mrs. C. Braam, jr., another daughter-in-law of Mr. Braam died from the same disease, and the husband had engaged his sister-in-law, who died last Friday to keep house for him and care for his six motherless children.

John Mahon was rearrested by Marshal John Welch Tuesday upon the charge of placing dynamite on the Interurban tracks near the corner of Third and Fulton streets at Grand Haven some weeks ago. When first arrested, Mahon was allowed to go on the day of his trial because of a supposed defect in the papers. Another warrant was immediately sworn out and Marshal Welch has been carrying it since, but not until Tuesday was he able to find the young man and serve it. The arrest was made at the Mahon boat house on the river bank. When brought before Justice Hunton Mahon entered a plea of not guilty. He was remanded to jail in default of the required bond of $650 and trial was set for this morning.

John Zwemer, Benjamin Wolters and Harm Alderink have returned from a western trip taken to look over some of the irrigated land near Colorado Springs. "That's the place to go," says John, "I never enjoyed a trip better. That irrigated land is fine. No trees, no underbrush, just nice level land covered with short, thick grass, upon which hundreds of cattle roam fat as mud. I went to Denver too. ### Saugatuck

Mrs. D. A. Heath and son of Saugatuck are spending a month with Mrs. H. C. Weeks and family.

Mrs. G. L. Azling has just received a draft for $1,000 from the Macabee Lodge in payment of her husband's policy.

We have perhaps the most beautiful location for our school of any town in Western Michigan, overlooking Kalamazoo Lake and the shore adjoining. This with our fine new building and the beautifully shaded grounds serves to make it an ideal place.

During the summer months however there has been no arrangement made to keep the grounds neatly trimmed and in order. Of course to do so would necessitate a small extra expenditure but it would make a most beautiful small park right in the village, that the residents of the town and visitors would alike enjoy and be another really beautiful spot in Saugatuck.

The school directors have put forth their efforts to give us the best educational facilities for the least cost to the tax payers and have ably succeeded.

Now however as the annual school meeting is drawing near, would it not be worth while to ascertain if the tax payers of the district would approve of the small necessary outlay of money to keep the grounds in order during the summer vacation.

The writer knows of many tax payers who would gladly bear their share should the school board deem it advisable to thus expend the money.—Saugatuck Commercial.

W. S. Harbert has made a contract with the dredging company which will put through the new cut to put 150,000 yards of sand on the west end of the low part of the "Ox Bow."

Miss Agnes Rhodes is visiting relatives in New Richmond and Saugatuck.

A marriage license was issued to Hugh McClymont and Emma Newcomb both of Saugatuck.

West Olive

Postmaster Huffy of Grand Haven and Rural Route Inspector M. V. Wright of Columbus, Ohio, made our village a business call with a view of establishing a rural free delivery, emanating from this point. The circumstances demand it and we trust it will be granted.

In an interview with Prof. C. A. Leop. Kohrhammer, who was in town Tuesday, we were informed that he intends to make Germany a visit this fall and expects to remain the coming winter.

Mr. Ben Timmer of Fremont visited Robt. MacNeil for a few days this week.

The Ladies' Aid society met at Mrs. F. L. Norton's Wednesday afternoon and decided to have an ice cream social Saturday evening.

The Misses Bertha and Laura Austin of Dor, have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Abe Boyer, jr.

Uncle Sammy Mountford of Holland, who was at one time one of West Olive's most influential citizens, is visiting friends in the neighborhood.

Harry Hanson is paying his lady friend, Miss Mary Estelle, a visit, and expects to return with or without her to his home in Chesterton, Ill.

A gang of men are repairing the Pere Marquette railroad bridge just south of the station.

Mr. Wm. Mieras of Grand Haven, was transacting insurance business here Wednesday.

Our former school teacher, Miss Kelly, just returned from Chicago, and is calling upon old friends.

The managers of the Y. M. C. A. in company with Atty. Bullin of Grand Rapids, are taking a weeks outing at the popular resort, Port Sheldon.

Hamilton

C. R. Seely of Holland was in town last Friday taking subscriptions for the daily and weekly papers of the Holland Independent and Sentinel.

Wm. Wentzell, jr., and wife and other relatives from Zeeland were guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Wentzell last Sunday.

John Kooyers, Supt. of Centennial Park at Holland, and another gentleman were in town Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fiske, parents of H. W. Parker, who have been visiting here for nearly two weeks, returned to their Bronson home in Branch Co. last Saturday. Mr. Fiske is deputy Sheriff of his county.

Henry Johnson of Holland was in town last week looking after the Heinz Pickling Co's interest.

Mrs. W. Palmer returned home from a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Earl Gillies at Birmingham, Mich., Friday.

Last week we omitted to mention that Mrs. John Boyd and her two children accompanied her husband here for a week's visit.

A new span to the iron bridge across the Rabbitt river at this place has been added to the north approach making the structure 20 feet longer. The improvement will greatly help the dirt approach to the bridge, as a continual rotting away of old slabs and other timbers at times made the approach almost impassable. The added twenty feet of bridge structure will be greatly felt by the farmers.

J. C. Holmes has been under the care of the doctor for liver complaint this week.

CALL OF THE WILD.

The bee in the clover
The bird in the tree,
Are happy and laughing,
As loud as can be,
An' I'm here a-workin',
An', doggone it all!
The meadows and bayous
Are givin' their call.

The meadows are callin';
"The plover is here!"
The bayous are callin';
"Our waters are clear."
And, doggone it all!
I'm here workin'; I wish
I could get just a day
And could hike out and fish!

Could hike out and fish
Where bayous are wide,
And where trout are waiting
Down deep in their tide;
Or I'd love to hie
Beneath a wide tree,
The lazy bird's brother,
The chum of the bee!

The lazy bird's brother,
The chum of the bee;
The bee sleeps all winter
And that 'ud suit me;
The bird hops a twig
The first thing in the spring,
An' don't do a thing
But just perch there an' sing.
—J. M. Lewis, in Houston Post.

THE BLACK ONE

By WADE MOUNTFORTT

"JIM, here's a visitor to see you," said the jailer.

Jim Pitts sprang up and stared through the bars.

The visitor grasped the prisoner's hands and exclaimed: "Oh, James, James!"

Sorrow was written in every line of the visitor's face; the countenance of the one in the cell was sullen.

"Hello, Ab!" said the prisoner.

The men eyed each other a moment. The jailer felt that he must say something.

"Anyone would know you were brothers," said he. "You are enough alike to be twins."

The prisoner seemed embarrassed, laughed and replied: "Yes, we do resemble; the whole family does, but—" He looked at the floor. "But I reckon I'm the black one of the flock." Then, turning to his brother, he asked: "How did you leave everybody at home, Ab?"

The Rev. Abner Pitts was so overcome that he could not reply at first. He pressed a handkerchief to his eyes and leaned against the bar, sobbing. The jailer moved away.

"They are all heartbroken, but mother, and she—she doesn't know, James," said the preacher, trying to suppress his emotion.

Tiger-like, Jim Pitts began to pace his cell. There was no sign of remorse on his face. Once he glanced at his brother with an expression of disdain, then he stopped and said:

"What did you come for?"

"I came to look after your soul's salvation, James," replied the other. "I came to pray with you and offer you the consolation of my religion."

"Why didn't you go to see the governor and ask him to commute my sentence? That's what I wrote you for; that's what I wanted you to do."

"That would have done no good, James," said the brother. "Your crime has put you beyond the pale of earthly clemency, James, you can only look to Heaven now, and think of your immortal soul!"

"You might have got a respite for me; that would have given me some chance to think about religion. It's only eight days now. To-morrow night they will put on the death watch!"

The word caused his brother to shudder; he lifted the handkerchief to his eyes again.

The jailer came and let Abner into the cell. It was night. The brothers, who had not seen each other before in and live an honest life? You know I have never had any show. I got started wrong. Everybody said I was the black one. Give me a show, Ab; if you don't there will be murder at your own door!"

Abner put his hand on his brother's arm and tried to draw him closer that he might plead with him, but Jim pushed him away.

Now the saw was piled vigorously to the other bar, and in a few minutes Jim Pitts began the final preparations for escape. With almost superhuman strength he bent the bars aside, leaving an opening that seemed scarcely large enough for a child to crawl through.

Standing up the murderer drew off his shirt and rubbed soap on his bare arms and shoulders. His muscular body glistened in the dim light that filtered into the cell. As Abner started up from the corner where he was kneeling, he saw his brother standing over him like some infernal apparition. He stood up and faced the desperate prisoner. They were breathing hard and glaring at each other. Abner was about to cry out when Jim caught him in a tight embrace. The murderer jerked the handkerchief from his brother's pocket and drew it tightly across his mouth; the preacher was gagged. In another minute Abner was stripped of his coat and his hands were bound behind him with a sheet from the cell bunk.

Now Abner lay upon the floor watching the movements of his brother. Jim crawled to the bars and listened, panting like a hunted animal. He thrust Abner's coat, hat and Bible out, then he slowly worked his body through the breach in the iron cage. Abner saw the crouching prisoner's shadow dimly outlined against the dark walls of the cell, then it vanished.

The preacher writhed upon the floor and struggled hard, but he could not free himself or cry out. His soul was filled with anguish, and the text, "But if any man walk in the night," ran through his mind. He closed his eyes in a torrent of tears and prayed in silence.

"Keep quiet or I'll strangle you!" muttered the prisoner.

Abner Pitts sank back speechless, his face deathly white.

Jim leaned close to him and said: "Do you want to save my soul?" The preacher's lips were quivering, but he made no reply.

"I'm going out of this jail to-night, dead or alive," said Jim. "I don't want to kill you and I don't want to kill any of the guards if I can help it; but I'm going out dead or alive. Ab, if you mean any of the things you have said to me to-night, and you want to save my soul, this is your chance. I've got two of those bars sawed nearly in two, and it won't take me ten minutes to finish the job. I'm going out, I say, and if you want me to go free and start life over again, you go on praying and keep quiet!"

A thousand things passed through the preacher's mind, but he was helpless. He fell forward, burying his face in his hands, and went on praying.

Jim crawled across the floor, and taking a wire saw from his shoe, began the task that he had labored so hard for many nights. First the saw passed through the soap that hid the tiny crack in the bar, then with a stealthy sound, like the gnawing of a mouse, it ate into the hard metal. The desperate man's hand flew back and forth almost with the rapidity of lightning, while the sweat that streamed from his face glittered on the iron. With a click the saw passed through the bar, and the sound aroused the white-faced man who was kneeling in the corner of the cell.

Abner raised his head and the gaze of the brothers met. The preacher started to get on his feet, but the murderer was at his side in an instant.

"Ab, I'll kill you like a dog if you move or make a noise!" Jim growled in a hoarse whisper. "Do you want them to hang me and send my soul to hell, or do you want me to go out of here

Automobile Expenses.

There is another cause of expense very few motorists anticipate when they buy their first car. I refer to what I might call the entertaining department. No sooner do you find yourself the owner of a car than all your sisters, cousins and acquaintances want to be taken here, there and everywhere. You, the owner of the car, invariably act as host upon all such occasions, and the fact of your being a motorist does not make the hotel proprietor charge you anything less. On the contrary, he usually piles it on, and he naturally argues if you are rich enough to own a motor car you won't grudge him anything he inclines to charge.—Motor News.

Lots More Like It

Plenty More Proof Like This and All From Holland People

No chance for argument here. No better proof can be had. What a Holland man says is the best of evidence for Holland people. Read this case. We have lots more like it.

Garret Kopenga, living five miles southeast of Holland, farmer, says: "I have been subject more or less all my life to attacks of kidney pains and backache. If I caught cold or strained myself from doing any unusual heavy work I was sure to be laid up for a time. The attacks came on at intervals and were very severe, so that it was almost impossible for me to bend over, and if in a stooped position I could scarcely straighten again. I tried a great many different remedies and wore plasters but could get nothing to remove the trouble until I saw Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended and went to J. O. Doeburg's drug store in Holland and procured them. My back was hurting me severely at the time but it required only a few days treatment to relieve me and in a short time the aches and pains were entirely removed."

From this terrible affliction I was rescued by Electric Bitters, which restored my health and strength, and now I can walk as straight as ever. They are simply wonderful." Guaranteed to cure stomach, liver and kidney disorders; at W. C. Walsh's drug store; price 50c.

STEAM LAUNCH GOES DOWN

Vessel Sunk in Hudson River in Collision and Three Persons Are Drowned.

New York, July 12.—Three lives were lost Tuesday night when the steam launch Normandie was sunk in collision near Dobbs ferry with a vessel supposed to have been a tramp steamship in the Hudson river.

Those who lost their lives are Capt. Storm and Engineer Brady, of the launch Normandie, and Miss Gladys Dodge, of this city. J. Green, of New York, was rescued.

The Normandie was owned by C. W. Dumont, of New York, but had been chartered by him to John A. Rudd, of Glenwood.

Mr. Rudd was also on board the launch at the time of the collision, and it was from him that the police of Yonkers received the information regarding the disaster which they have been able to obtain up to this time. Rudd called up the police station at Yonkers on the telephone early Wednesday and gave a brief account of the disaster. He said that he and Joseph Hannigan, of Yonkers, boarded the Normandie at Glenwood Tuesday with Capt. Storm and Engineer Brady. They came over to New York, where they took aboard J. Green, of New York, and the young woman and started for Peekskill. The launch was on its way back to New York when it was run down. He said there was an explosion immediately after the steamship struck the launch and that it is possible that those who lost their lives were injured so severely that they were unable to help themselves.

GAINS FORTUNE THROUGH CRAFT

PROMINENT OFFICIAL OF THE DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE DISMISSED.

Charged with Furnishing Inside Information Which Permitted Brokers to Manipulate the Cotton Market—The Scandal Is Exposed.

Washington, July 10.—As the result of the investigation by secret service agents into the charges made by Richard Cheatham, of Atlanta, secretary of the Cotton Planters' association, that information had been given to cotton brokers in New York by some person or persons in the bureau of statistics of the department of agriculture, Secretary Wilson Saturday made public an official report in which he states that Edwin S. Holmes, the associate statistician, has been guilty of "juggling" the official report. The report says it has been found that Mr. Holmes communicated advance information to L. C. Van Riper, a New York broker, and M. Haas, of New York, who acted as a go-between in conveying information from Holmes to other New York brokers, including Theodore Price. Steps have been taken by Secretary Wilson to prevent any further leakage of the department figures, and an entire reorganization of the bureau of statistics and manner of preparing monthly crop reports has been outlined by him. The papers in connection with the investigation were referred to the United States attorney for the District of Columbia, and he has reported that in his opinion a criminal prosecution will not lie against Holmes. Holmes has been dismissed from the service of the department.

Holmes Extremely Rich.
The secret service agents followed the operations of Holmes into devious pathways. They found he had grown immensely wealthy in a few years, while receiving a small government salary, and that he had made $72,000 on one deal; that he is building a $200,000 apartment house in Washington; that he conducts a millinery store in New York in partnership with one Moses Haff; that he owns real estate in cities outside of Washington, and a large farm in a northwestern state. To what extent Broker Price profited by Holmes' leaks it is impossible to learn at this time.

Will Make No Retraction.
Washington, July 11.—That Secretary Wilson intends to take no step backward in his report on the cotton leak investigation was evidenced Monday by his statement that he was not afraid of any libel suit which might be filed against him by Mr. Price or others mentioned in the report. The secretary added that he had given consideration to Mr. Price's request, as presented through his attorney, William M. Jvins, of New York, "to withdraw the unjust, offensive and unsubstantiated charges and implications," and had reached the determination to take no further action in the matter. He said he would not communicate with Mr. Price or his attorney in any way.

Prosecution May Follow.
Washington, July 12.—Secretary Wilson Tuesday turned over to the attorney general all the papers in connection with the cotton leak investigation. It is intimated that prosecution of the several persons mentioned in the report of the secret service officers will follow.

PORTSMOUTH SELECTED.

Peace Envoys Agree Upon New Hampshire City as Place for Conference.

Washington, July 11.—Assistant Secretary Pierce today announced that the plenipotentiaries of Russia and Japan had agreed upon Portsmouth, N. H., as the meeting place for the sessions of the peace conference to be held outside of Washington. The sessions will be held in the government navy yard at Portsmouth in the new building just completed there. Third Assistant Secretary of State Pierce has been specially commissioned by the president to make all arrangements for the meeting of the plenipotentiaries at Portsmouth, and is preparing to leave for that place to confer with the commandant of the navy yard. The meeting will be held in the general storehouse.

Many Die from Heat.
New York, July 11.—Ten deaths and more than two score cases of prostration resulted from the continuance Monday of the wave of intense heat which reached the city Saturday. Six deaths from the heat were reported from New England points, while there were probably ten times as many prostrations, some of which may result fatally.

Big Trust Deed Filed.
Appleton, Wis., July 11.—A trust deed from the Union Bag and Paper company to the Trust Company of America, New York, on all of the former's property in Wisconsin, New York and Quebec was filed here Monday to cover a loan of $5,000,000.

Ex-Mayor Dead.
Kenosha, Wis., July 10.—Maj. Frank C. Culley, formerly mayor of the city, and a man well known to the literary world, died here Saturday. Maj. Culley was 67 years of age.

Wagon Works Burned.
Owensboro, Ky., July 10.—The Owensboro wagon works were destroyed by fire Sunday night. Loss, $50,000.

SAYS CZAR WILL CALL AN ASSEMBLY

EMPEROR TO TRAVEL TO MOSCOW AND SUMMON PEOPLE ON JULY 19.

GENERAL STOESEL IS MADE A PRISONER

Placed Under Arrest as Result of Revelations in Connection with Defense and Surrender of Port Arthur—Admiral Kruger May Quit.

St. Petersburg, July 12.—The Slavo positively announces that the emperor will travel to Moscow, where, on Wednesday, July 19, he will issue a proclamation summoning the representatives of the people to the Iskrinsky palace, Kremlin. Some of the officials of the court already have gone to Moscow to make preparations for the event.

Stoessel Placed Under Arrest.
The Nashashin prints a report that Lieut. Gen. Stoessel has been placed under arrest at Tsarskoe-Selo in consequence of the revelations made by the commission which has been investigating the defense and capitulation of Port Arthur, and that the sword of honor donated by a number of French admirers of Gen. Stoessel will not be presented. The admiral will probably be court-martialed. At the admiralty he is known as one of the "court admirals." Admiral Avellan's "promotion" to the council of the empire is definite as is Admiral Birlik's appointment as minister of marine. The Nashashin also says that Rear Admiral Kruger will leave the service on account of alleged incapacity in connection with his treatment of the situation created by the mutiny aboard the battleship Kniaz Potemkin at Odessa.

Murdered for Revenge.
The murder of Prefect of Police Shuvaloff, of Moscow, who was assassinated while receiving petitions, according to the latest information, was inspired by motives of vengeance on the part of the assassin, who laid at Count Shuvaloff's door the responsibility for his recent arrest, though there is absolutely no evidence that the prefect personally had any cognizance of the affair.

Private advices received here from Moscow say that the assassin is a student, and that he made an unsuccessful attempt at suicide immediately after taking the life of his victim. His recent arrest was due to his participation in political agitation.

Peasants have overrun and destroyed a large amount of property belonging to the vast estate of the late Grand Duke Sergius, near Doblinsky.

Fear Mutiny; Sailors Disarmed.
Reval, European Russia, July 12.—Being apprehensive of a mutiny, the authorities here have ordered the sailors of the warships relieved of their arms. Serious discontent has been manifested among the crews of the warships owing to the quality of the food supply. The officer who is held responsible for this state of affairs has been placed under arrest.

Kniaz Potemkin Raised.
Kusteni, Roumania, July 12.—The battleship Kniaz Potemkin, which was sunk by the mutineers who surrendered the vessel, was refloated Wednesday, the greater part of the water having been pumped out of her hull. When the vessel was brought to an even keel once more it was found that the mutineers had tampered with her engines and boilers so that they could not be relied upon. Accordingly the big battleship was taken in tow by the Sinope for Vladivostok.

TRAGEDY ON SHIPBOARD.

Negro Kills Crew and Passengers, Twelve in All, of Schooner in Gulf of Mexico.

New Orleans, July 12.—The Norwegian steamer Bratten, Capt. H. Holm, from Ceiba, Honduras, reports a startling tragedy on the small trading schooner Olympia, bound from Utila for Truxillo, via Ruatan, to purchase cattle. The crew and passengers—12 in all, were murdered by a negro named Robert McGill, except one passenger, a young woman, who escaped by swimming ashore after having been struck on the head with a boat oar. McGill is a resident of Utila. He shot all of his victims. He also forced one of the crew of the schooner to scuttle her, and then also shot him. McGill escaped ashore in a dory, and was subsequently captured at El Provenor, Honduras. The captain of the Olympia had $1,400 in gold in his cabin.

Princess Bears a Son.
London, July 12.—Unusual joy abounds within the castles of the royal family of England, for another boy who some day may be king has been born to the prince and princess of Wales. The infant arrived Wednesday and is a lusty youngster. The princess bore the ordeal with fortitude. Her physicians express satisfaction with the condition.

Death of Famous Inventor.
New York, July 12.—John T. Foster, one of the most famous inventors in the United States, under whose direction the first gold pens were manufactured in New York city, and who was associated with Walter Hunt, the man said to have devised the first model of the sewing machine, is dead at Arlington, N. J. He was 85 years old.

FISHERMAN'S LUCK

Preparing his pen with the greatest of care. While others were snatching a wink. A poet sat down in the gray of the dawn. To fish in a bottle of ink.

He thought of the sportsmen who fished there before, Immortal forever to be; He knew of the beauties which swam in its mark. And rigged up his tackle with glee.

A silvery sonnet flashed up from the deep And vanished away from his sight, A ballad and rondeau each nibbled and went, But still he had never a bite.

His rod nearly broke with a heavy blank verse, But failure again was his fate, The size of the fellows who all got away I hesitate here to relate.

The sun, marching up from the east to the west, Looked down on the angler distraught, Then sank to its rest while the poet quit work— And this is the minnow he caught. —McLandburg H. Wilson, in N. Y. Sun.

THE LITERARY PARTNERSHIP

By A. A. MILNE

THE story of Maud and Cecil is instructive. It shows the folly of getting into a groove.

Cecil Haverstone earned a precarious living by writing for the papers. Mostly he made his money with a certain sort of sentimental tale that one paper in particular was always glad to have. In this tale a lady and gentleman of good appearance talked agreeably about things, and at the fifteen hundredth word the gentleman proposed and was accepted. Cecil's chief difficulty was the finding of a different name for his hero each week. The heroine's name was always Ethel. (Cecil had once been jilted by a girl named Ethel; she was now doing penance in his stories, and those who would could read between the lines.) There was nothing brutally direct about these weekly offerings of marriage; no blunt "I love you!" It needed an Ethel with two months' previous experience to understand that this really was a declaration. One week it would end:

"And you?" said Clarence, with a world of meaning in his tone.

"Ethel looked down."

"I wonder what Jim will say," she murmured.

Next week:

"So—so I'm going to Brixton," he finished lamely.

"Ethel raised her beautiful eyes to his."

"Don't go, Reginald," she whispered.

So Reginald stayed, and the proprietors of the Lamplight forwarded a check for $10 to Mr. Cecil Haverstone and begged him to present it within a fortnight. Which invariably he did.

Now, Cecil had a cousin, Maud Arthur, who had a studio downtown. On one sad and memorable day he went to see her. She gave him tea.

"It's ripping of you to come," she said, "because I'm feeling humpy and miserable. I'm now going to bore you with my unhappy tale."

"I've had a blow, too," said Cecil; "but you bore away first."

"Well, I'm going to give up painting. It's too expensive."

"But, my good Maud, what ever—"

"I'm going to devote my undoubted genius exclusively to black and white work."

"There's no opening for real genius," said Cecil, sentimentally.

"O, don't say that, Cecil dear; I read your stories in the Lamplight. Why is she always called Ethel?"

"I once knew a girl called Ethel," began Cecil.

"So that you know there is such a name. I see."

"But you've read the last one, I'm afraid. The paper's gone smash. It was bound to come. No paper could stand the strain."

"O, I am sorry. I suppose it's bunkered you?"

"It has. It was a regular $10 weekly, you see."

"Yes. Well, I've got an idea. Mr. Travers was saying that some magazines are glad to buy illustrated stories all complete. Let's go into partnership. There are two rooms below this that you might take, and we'll write and draw beautiful stories all day."

After a little discussion the thing was arranged. A month later the partnership got to work.

"Now," said Maud, "I've got a lot of drawings knocking about, and we might as well use them."

"It's a pity to waste them."

Cecil looked through them.

"I say," he said, after a bit, "these are nearly all horses. Don't you draw anything else?"

"Horses are my best subject," said Maud, glancing up from a bundle of his manuscript. "Do you only do this sort of dialogue thing? It's good, but—"

"I don't wish to be rude," said Cecil, "but it seems to me that a true artist should be able to draw anything."

"Pardon my plain spokenness," said Maud, "but if a man who calls himself an author can't write a horse story—"

"Never yet," said Cecil, firmly, "has a story of mine so far demeaned itself as to let a horse wander into it."

"Can't you write an adventure tale? I can do a ripping charging rhinoceros. Do!"

"I will not drag a charging rhinoceros into my stories."

"Cecil, dear!"

"I don't know anything about rhinoceroses."

"No, but I do."

"Look here, Maud, surely you can draw a man in a frock coat and a girl in a Paris gown. That's all the illustrating my stories want; and it's all the public seems to want."

"O, I can, of course. Only a lot of other people could do it much better. Whereas—"

Cecil suddenly stopped at one of the drawings.

"By Jove!" he said. "I should think so. This is a charging rhinoceros, if you like."

"There you are!" said Maud.

"Yes," said Cecil, thoughtfully; "I wish I could write that sort of story."

Miss Arthur sat down on the floor and arranged her drawings and Cecil's stories at her feet.

"Now," she began, "let's see what can be done by contrivance. If a girl who dresses entirely on the summer sales can't fix this up, then—"

There was a dialogue of Cecil's in which Ronald, contrary to the usual custom of Ethel's young men, let the public into the secret of his intended proposal. Half way through the story it was made clear that the hero was trying to summon up his courage for the plunge. Maud pounced upon this.

"This will do," she said.

"How ever—?"

"Why, yes. Ronald is palpably nervous about this proposal, isn't he?"

"Well?"

"Why, then, you've just got to put in two extra lines and the thing is done. Ronald, who, when hunting in East Africa, had faced a charging rhinoceros without the slightest quiver, now trembled uneasily at the thought of—"

And so on. Picture of Ronald absolutely quivering facing charging rhinoceros. Underneath the words "Hunting in East Africa, he had faced a charging rhinoceros."

There could be only one end to this; and the constant reader of Cecil's stories will have no difficulty in guessing what the end was. When you live in the same house with a person; when you see her every day, have a fresh opportunity for admiring her cleverness and beauty; when you—but enough. After a dozen stories of his had been gladly accepted Cecil began to see that Ethel was a thing much of the past.

"There!" said Maud one day, as she waved a check in the air, "what do you think of our partnership?"

"It's been ripping," said Cecil; "let's renew it for a fresh term."

"Right O! Six months, and a week's notice on either side?"

He took her hand.

"No," he said. "Forever, my dear."

She raised her eyes to his.

I don't know what the illustration could have been. Rather happily, an uncle of Cecil's died about that time and left him $5,000. They honeymooned around the world.

And now Cecil writes most desperate stories of adventure in the Rockies. Maud's illustrations are much admired. I'm inclined to think she is really bent at grizzlies; in spite of that charging rhinoceros.

MENELIK'S PRIZE TOWN.

It Is Composed Principally of Tents and Rude Quickly-Constructed Huts.

Prof. Rosen, a member of the German mission to Abyssinia, writes: "The population of Adis-Abeba, which the Emperor Menelik has established on four narrow hills, is estimated at 80,000, but is probably much higher. Not more than about 1,000 of the inhabitants live in houses; all the rest use tents or huts, which are quickly and easily erected at any point that may be chosen. As the groups of tents are generally surrounded by open grass land, and three deep, rocky gorges intersect the town, the whole has more the appearance of an improvised camp. Indolent men sit by thousands in front of their dirty huts and lazily watch the grazing mules; women, in dirty, flowing garments, wearily carry water from the muddy brook in heavy jars up the steep path leading from the bottom of the ravine. There are hardly a dozen shops; there is only one small inn. What strikes us as most wonderful and most inconvenient is the lack of any system of coinage; small amounts are paid with cartridges or sticks of rock salt."

A Demand for Feathers.

A London dealer in such wares last year received from India the skins of 6,000 birds of paradise to adorn the hats of the feather-wearing British women and to meet the export need. At the same time he got about half a million humming bird skins and an equal number of those of various other tropical birds. There is an auction room in London where such things are sold, and the recent record for a third of a year was close to a million skins, all told, coming mainly from the East and West Indies and Brazil.

Beware of Them!

No modern grass widow is inclined to run to haysced.

Giving The Boy "Nan Patterson" Literature

And still some people wonder why so many boys and girls go wrong. In a great many instances they are shown wrong examples at home. Here is a case in point:

Among the visitors to the Industrial school at Lansing last Friday was a woman who appeared to be the mother of one of the boys. She carried a big roll of newspapers which she held firmly gripped under her arm, until she was allowed to have a few minutes talk with her boy. Then she handed the papers to the lad.

"I remember how you followed the Nan Patterson trial in the papers, Johnny," she said, "and I have brought you all the papers about it that have come out since they put you in here, so you can read the rest of the reports of the trial."

Is it strange that a boy raised in such environments goes wrong? If his mother pandered to his unhealthy literary ideas by aiding him in the securing of unwholesome literature, she also furnished him vicious literature. For she knows not the difference between a blood and thunder novel and a literary creation of a Margaret Sangster. And if her judgment is as poor in other things as it is in reading matter, she evidently pandered to the boy in other instances that prove demoralizing. The correction of such boys should begin with a correction of the mother.

It is needless to say that the "Johnny" at the Industrial school will have to wait until he gets back home to read about Nan and her troubles, for Superintendent St. John's ideas upon the bringing up of boys differ widely from those of "Johnny's" mother.

Jurors for August Term of Court

The following jurors have been drawn to serve on the panel at the August term of court:

Peter Ball—Grand Haven, 2nd ward.
Peter Balkema—Georgetown.

Hollands Business Holiday a Big One

Hollands Business Holiday was an unqualified success. The business places that did not close were as scarce as hen's teeth and the ranks of the business men were swelled by men from the shops and factories. It was a big day for everybody. The balloon went up without a hitch and the parachute came down with a man intact; the bands played for further orders and the ball clubs played ball; everybody smiled and the concession people laughed, for it was a large day for them.

The heart breaking event of the day was the launch race open to Holland boats. Henry Steketee's launch, with Fred, Andrew, jr., and Henry on the quarter deck won in handsome style and captured the elegant silver cup presented by the Interurban company. Casey DeRoo was second and the redoubtable Robert Slowinski was third. Geo. Steketee was at the wheel.

Members of the Citizens band were inveigled into a sack race by Jacob Lokker who offered a new hat to the winner. Cornelius Dalman won, with Albert Hoeksma a close second.

The log rolling contest was a tie, but Gene Young and Gene Tallmadge had a chance to find out that the water was very wet.

Jacob Lokker kept the crowd busy with athletic contests and small sports and not a minute was dull.

On the ball grounds the clothiers dressed down the hardware men by a score of 5 to 4; Holland succumbed to Zeeland to the tune of Zeeland 9, Holland 2.

The Marie Louise owned by George Stahl won the silver cup given by the Holland merchants for the race between yachts owned by resorters.

San Jose Scale Blights Trees In Holland. Prompt Action Necessary

San Jose scale, one of the most dreaded tree pests known, is in Holland. Nearly all of the apple, pear, peach, plum and cherry trees; many of the rose bushes; and some of the shade trees, such as elm, soft maple and mountain ash in the district comprising that territory lying north of Thirteenth street between Maple street and Central avenue is known to be infested with this destructive pest, and the chances are that the entire city is affected.

The foregoing condition of affairs was made known yesterday after a careful inspection by Prof. L. R. Taft, of the Michigan Agricultural college, state inspector of orchards and nurseries. Prof. Taft came here at the instance of the Holland City News, after the attention of the publishers of the paper had been called to the existence of some damaging blight to the fruit trees in Holland.

Prof. Taft did not have time to cover the whole city, but his hurried view disclosed startling facts and demonstrated the need of hasty action to save many trees from extermination. Following are some of the places inspected and the results:

A. Steketee—Fruit trees affected.

C. Dutton, florist—Apple trees, other fruit trees and elm trees badly blighted. In an effort to prevent the spread of the disease, Mr. Dutton, who understands how to treat them, cut down some trees and sprayed others.

C. Blom, sr.—Apple and pear trees and rose bushes badly seared. May be able to save all.

Frank Hadden—Fruit tree badly blighted.

J. Elferdink—Fruit tree affected.

Mrs. L. Mulder—Large apple trees and other trees affected. Can save.

J. A. Van Putten—Fruit trees.

G. J. Diekema—Rose bushes and trees.

Prof. Henry Boers—Pear and cherry trees. Can be saved easily. Rev. E. J. Blekkink, mountain ash. Well covered with scale, but parasites are counteracting effects of scale. This is the only instance discovered in the city where the presence of these parasites were apparent.

Devries homestead corner of 12th street—Mountain ash.

Nearly every tree in the lots reaching from Frank Pifer's to the corner east of the Third Reformed church, including the homes of P. Winters, John Frakken and James DeYoung is covered with the scale, some of them being in very bad condition.

Centennial Park was inspected closely. It was in good condition, the flowers and shrubbery being free from the blight. A purple leaf plum tree in the southwest corner was found to be affected.

There doubtlessly are many other places where the scale exists, but sufficient was shown by Prof. Taft's limited inspection to cause general alarm. The San Jose scale is deadly in its effects on trees and some plants and if it is not speedily checked it will be widespread in Holland for it goes from tree to tree rapidly. If the trees viewed yesterday are cared for in time nearly all of them can be saved. But something should be done at once. It is probable that the city council will take the matter up. There is a state law requiring the council when the San Jose Scale exists in a city to appoint three commissioners to look after it. These commissioners find out which trees are affected and report upon same. If they find that some trees are too far gone to save they must see that they are cut down. Those that can be saved are cared for by the owners or by men selected by the commissioners. Failure on the part of the property owners to heed the orders of the commissioners render them liable to fine or imprisonment; and failure on the part of the council to do its duty renders the city liable.

Probably the best plan at present for the protection of the trees in Holland would be to have the council take steps to look after the matter. The council might appoint one or more commissioners. These commissioners should preferably be men who know how to care for the infected trees. Then the commissioners could go from place to place, take care of the trees and charge same to property holders. Prof. Taft says that two men could take care of from 150 to 200 trees in a day, and that the ordinary lot could be cared for in about a half an hour. This shows that the expense would not be heavy, and any person having a tree worth saving would be glad to pay the small charge. It would be money well spent.

But if the council doesn't take hold of the matter the next best thing would be for each person to look after his own trees or plants.

Those trees which are partly dead should be trimmed of the dead branches immediately and should be sprayed about the twentieth of August. At present it is difficult to treat the scale effectually as the presence of the foliage renders it impossible to spray thoroughly, especially as only weak solutions can be used without injuring the foliage. The spraying should be done on or about the 20th of August because the lice are just hatching then. Here is the solution:

To one quart of water add one pint of soft or two ounces of hard soap and heat until the soap is dissolved. Add one pint of kerosene and agitate freely for from three to five minutes, or until it forms a creamlike emulsion, from which the oil does not separate upon standing. This is a stock solution and can be kept for any length of time.

In winter a stronger solution is used composed of unslaked lime, flowers of sulphur, salt and water.

Under the present circumstances the best thing to do would be to have the council take hold of it and appoint commissioners to do the work. Then a good spraying outfit could be purchased and being operated by skillful men good results could be obtained at a nominal cost.

If something is not done soon it means wide spread havoc. It does not take the San Jose Scale long to render a tree valueless, and the disease spreads rapidly.

P. M. Breaks Through Bridge At Rabbit River

The regular Pere Marquette freight train which leaves here in the forenoon was wrecked on the long bridge at Hamilton while on its way to Allegan yesterday. At 10:40 in the forenoon after the engine and three box cars had passed over the bridge in safety, two cars loaded with gravel broke through the south end of the bridge and fell fifteen feet below to the sloping hillside. None of the cars touched the water. Three cars remained on the track north of the broken spans. The cars that broke through contained about 70 tons each and the north end of the bridge was swayed south three inches by the pressure. Two brakemen were injured slightly, one was scratched on the arm and the other on the face. There was but one passenger, a traveling man, aboard the caboose. Outside of the shaking he was unharmed.

The passenger train due in Hamilton 11:56 a. m. transferred its passengers across the river by teams on the wagon bridge. Another transfer was made last night. It is expected that the bridge will be ready for traffic soon.

Don't fail to get one of those extra heavy large size bed spreads at John Vandersluis, sale for 98c. Also a cheaper spread for 59c. These are both extra bargains so don't miss them. Only 100 for this sale.

Additional Local

Mrs. Arthur VanDuren caught an eel 35 inches long while fishing at Macatawa Park last Tuesday evening.

Otto Stoeker, employed for the last ten years by the Cappon & Bertsch Leather company, was summoned to Germany this week by the illness of his brother.

The Wolverine Boat Works has received an order for a 50-foot towing tug, to be equipped with a 36-horse power Wolverine engine, from the Tropical Trading company at Guatemala.

A thimble social will be held by the Woman's Relief Corps at the home of Mrs. B. VanRaalte, sr., Wednesday afternoon, July 19. All members of the W. R. C. and friends who desire to go are requested to meet in Centennial Park at 1 o'clock p. m.

W. H. Fallon, observer at the Grand Rapids weather bureau, is to take charge of the bureau to be re-established at Grand Haven and hopes to have everything in readiness to open the station August 1. This station was discontinued two years ago.

Miss Minnie Van der Ploeg has been re-engaged as teacher of the primary department of school district No. 3, Holland township. The principal has not been hired. H. VanLieme was re-elected as member of the district board and J. Osterbaan was elected in place of A. Veneklasen.

Prof. Marshal has resigned the principalship of the Zeeland school to accept a position with the Petoskey school.

L. Houtman has moved to Zeeland and will conduct a cobbler's shop at the store of Elzinga & Co. to succeed R. J. DeHaan, commencing next Monday.

John Raas has bought of Charles H. McBride and William Brusse a lot on Nineteenth street near College avenue on which he will build a house.

A horse owned by S. McClintic, and valued at $300, died last Tuesday evening. It was one of the team of work horses driven by Mr. McClintic.

The three-year old child of Mrs. Jennie Fox died Tuesday afternoon. The funeral was held Thursday afternoon from the home, 89 West Twelfth street. Rev. E. J. Blekkink conducted the service.

Geo. Cathart of this city who accepted the position of foreman of the Wolverine Specialty Co. at Zeeland a short time ago has rented the new residence of Chris. DeJonge on North street and will move to Zeeland as soon as the place is ready for occupancy.

Hereafter when debtors in Michigan pay up their notes they will find that they have no "three days grace," but must pay on the date when their obligations become due. This is one of the most interesting effects of the negotiable instrument bill signed by Gov. Warner. It covers all kinds of papers, and is intended to make the Michigan law conform to that of most of the other states.

The case of B. L. Scott vs. William Brusse is on trial before Judge Padgham at Allegan. Testimony is being taken in open court and will not be completed until this evening. The case belongs to the Ottawa circuit. A large number of witnesses from this city are present. The case was brought to set aside a deed for property at Macatawa park. Charles R. Wilkes appears for plaintiff and Hon. G. J. Diekema and Geo. E. Kollen for defendant.

Grand Rapids Herald: Nicodemus Bosch, who conducts the United States Machine company at Holland, has started proceedings in the circuit court to restrain J. C. DeBruyn, John Hulst and A. M. DeBruyn, comprising the Valley City Machine works, from manufacturing a certain two-spindle radical boring machine. The plaintiff alleges that J. C. DeBruyn is under contract to him to make patterns and charges that he has violated it by using the designs for his own enterprise.

To determine who shall be the additional clerk to which the Holland postoffice is entitled under the recent classification, the United States Civil Service Commission announces that on July 22 an examination will be held. The position is worth $400 a year with opportunities for advancement. The examination will cover the following subjects: Spelling, arithmetic, letter writing, penmanship, copying from plain copy, United States geography, and reading addresses. The age limit is from 18 to 45 years. All persons who have been examined for the position of clerk or carrier within the past year and failed to pass may be reexamined upon filing new applications in due time. For application blank, full instructions, specimen examination questions, and information relative to the duties and salaries of the different positions, and the location of the examination room, application should be made to the secretary of the board of examiners at the post-office.

It cost the city last year $671 for teaming the coal to the main station, and to avoid in the future similar expense steps have been taken to prevail upon the Pere Marquette railway company to lay a track to the main station. The most feasible route is over Sixth street but the residents of that street were averse to having tracks laid for the reason that they thought the company's cars of every description would be allowed to occupy the tracks while they were being unloaded, to the great inconvenience of nearby residents. To consider the matter a joint meeting of the common council, the board of public works and the Sixth street property owners was held last Friday night. The council is not desirous of acting contrary to the wishes of the property owners and considered carefully the plans proposed for laying the tracks without prejudicing the rights of any one, but no decision was reached. However a committee was appointed consisting of Aldermen Kerkhof, Dyke and Stephan and R. H. Habberman, G. J. VanDuren and W. W. Hanchett, of the board of public works, to determine the location of the tracks, should they be laid.

Weeds are getting the start of the sugar beets in the neighborhood of Coopersville and the Holland Sugar company has sent 13 men to assist the farmers of that locality in caring for the beets.

Capt. Poole, keeper of the life saving station, cut his left hand badly this morning. A gasp an inch and a half long was made between the thumb and forefinger. The captain came to the city this afternoon to get the wound dressed.

Elmer Terry, a Tallmadge young farmer, who works on Miss Cora M. Goodenow's farm, was brought before Justice Hunton in Grand Haven Wednesday, charged with assaulting Charles H. Danforth, also of Tallmadge. Terry entered a plea of guilty and was fined $25 and costs, amounting in all to $34.80. The assault took place after a recent school meeting and Terry alleges that his temper got the best of him because of remarks that had been made about him by Danforth. Danforth lost three teeth in the altercation.

A. VerHulst, who was released from the insane asylum at Kalamazoo over six months ago, again became unsettled in his mind last week and Supervisor Roosenraad's attention was called to the matter with the result that Wednesday afternoon Probate Judge Kirby after an examination at the town hall at Vriesland adjudged him insane and he was returned to the asylum. Mr. VerHulst when released came to the home of his brother, C. VerHulst, at Drenthe and early this spring bired out as a farm hand on the place of E. Koers in Jamestown.—Zeeland Record.

Deputy County Clerk Fred F. McEachron of Grand Haven several days ago purchased a colt and because of the animal's disposition to balk the county officer called it "Maud" after the animal which of late has been getting a good deal of newspaper notoriety. Saturday when the officer awakened a glaring placard on his front lawn met his surprised gaze. Upon it read "Five dollars to any one who will take Maud away." All day the telephone bell has been ringing at the county clerk's office bringing inquiries from people who were anxious to earn five dollars and Mr. McEachron threatens to display his under sheriff's badge if he finds the person who put up the sign.

A. J. Eelman was killed by falling into the cellar in Wybe Nienhuis' store in Crisp last Saturday night. He intended to go up stairs but opened the door leading into the cellar and fell down the flight of stairs. He was picked up unconscious. Dr. Van der Berg was called but he was beyond medical aid, concussion of the brain causing death. Mr. Eelman was born in the Netherlands 68 years ago and settled in this country 39 years ago. He was one of the best known farmers of Olive township and at one time held the office of township treasurer and at another time was highway commissioner. At the time of his death he was an elder in the Crisp church and treasurer of Crisp creamery. He is survived by his wife, one son, Wm. Eelman, and five daughters, Mrs. Albert Tanis, of Crisp; Mrs. Shoke, Mrs. Jacob Luidens and Mrs. G. Westmas, of Grand Rapids; and Mrs. C. Rooks, of Sturgis. The funeral services were held Wednesday at the Crisp church, Rev. G. DeJonge officiating.

The life saving crew was called out twice yesterday. The small sailboat Stripe with Prof. Freeark, of Chicago, and A. F. Monroe, of Bloomington, Ill., aboard was flung on its beam ends east of Jenison Park dock about 9:30 in the forenoon while the steamer Holland was passing and the sails caught in the water, holding the boat in a swamped position. Mr. Monroe was thrown in the water under the sails and only his ability as a swimmer enabled him to get from underneath. Prof. Freeark got his feet wet—nothing more. The life savers reached there quickly towed the boat ashore, and took care of its occupants. Shortly after the crew returned to the station they had to put out in Lake Michigan after the Nina, the yacht chartered by Geo. P. Hummer for the season. A party of young people was out in the Nina. The gasoline began to escape from the tank and fearing an explosion the engine was stopped. There was a little lump of a sea running when the life savers went out and towed the yacht ashore.

John Hay a Poet

The stanzas below, entitled "Humility," are from the pen of the late John Hay, better known as diplomat, editor and historian, than as a poet. The verses were written for the World's Christian Endeavor Convention at Washington a few years ago, but have just found enduring place, being chosen now as one of the hymns in the new "Hymns of Worship and Service." The hymn will be sung at Hope church next Sunday morning.

Lord! from far-severed climes we come To meet at last in Thee, our Home. Thou who hast been our guide and guard Be still our hope, our rich reward.

Defend us, Lord, from every ill. Strengthen our hearts to do Thy will. In all we plan and all we do Still keep us to Thy service true.

O let us hear the inspiring word Which they of old at Horeb heard; Breathe to our hearts the high command "Go onward and possess the land."

Thou who art Light shine on each soul! Thou who art Truth, each mind control! Open our eyes and make us see The path which leads to heaven and Thee!

After a delightful river trip from Grand Rapids to Grand Haven and an exciting lake voyage from Grand Haven to Holland John Arendshorst and Sam W. Miller of this city and a machinist of the Sintz Gas engine company of Grand Rapids reached this harbor with the new boat recently purchased from the Sintz Gas company by John and Will Arendshorst and Arthur Stein of this city. The men who made the trip went to Grand Rapids for the launch Monday. They left Grand Rapids at noon and cleared Grand Haven harbor for this port at 7 o'clock to make the 3 hour trip. The gasoline tank ran dry when they were within about 3 miles of Holland harbor. It was then ten o'clock. An offshore breeze was blowing and a drizzling rain came from the lowering clouds. All night long with sail improvised from the canvas boat cover and with paddles torn from the bunkers the youngmen endeavored to reach shore, but it was morning before the boat was beached. Arendshorst walked down the shore to Macatawa and secured the Harvey Watson to tow the boat in. In the meantime considerable alarm had been felt in Holland and scouting parties of which John Bosman's yacht with John, Frank VanRy and B. D. Keppel aboard was one had started out. Bosman's mariner's located the yacht a little while before the arrival of the Watson.

June was the wedding month, but July has come and the marriage licenses are few and far between. Still there may be some of the June brides who have not yet purchased their complete house keeping outfit. They were too busy arranging for the wedding to think of every detail of the furniture but now is the time to take an inventory. You will find that you may want a little more carpet, another table, a few more rockers. Or maybe your fancy will go higher and you will want a bookcase, a library table, a buffet or a hall tree. Jas. A. Brouwer has a fine line of everything. You can purchase on the cash or credit system for cash prices.

During the busy season at Jenison Park the Western Bandit Show company will give performances under a big tent each day.

Cure For The Blues

ONE MEDICINE THAT HAS NEVER FAILED

Health Fully Restored and the Joy of Life Regained

When a cheerful, brave, light-hearted woman is suddenly plunged into that perfection of misery, the BLUES, it is a sad picture. It is usually this way: She has been feeling "out of sorts."

For some time, head has ached and back also; has slept poorly, been quite nervous, and nearly fainted once or twice; head dizzy, and heart-beats very fast; then that bearing-down feeling, and during her menstrual period she is exceedingly despondent. Nothing pleases her. Her doctor says: "Cheer up; you have dyspepsia; you will be all right soon."

But she doesn't get "all right," and hope vanishes; then come the brooding, morbid, melancholy, everlasting BLUES.

Don't wait until your sufferings have driven you to despair, with your nerves all shattered and your courage gone, but take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. See what it did for Mrs. Rosa Adams, of 819 12th Street, Louisville, Ky., niece of the late General Roger Hanson, C.S.A. She writes: Dear Mrs. Pinkham:

"I cannot tell you with pen and ink what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I suffered with female troubles, extreme lassitude, 'the blues,' nervousness and that all-gone feeling. I was advised to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it not only cured my female derangement, but it has restored me to perfect health and strength. The buoyancy of my younger days has returned, and I do not suffer any longer with despondency, as I did before. I consider Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a boon to sick and suffering women."

If you have some derangement of the female organism write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice.

STARTLING REVELATIONS.

Depew, Alexander and Hyde Make Damaging Admissions in Equitable Case.

New York, July 12.—Senator Chauncey M. Depew, appearing as a witness in the state insurance department investigation of the Equitable Life Assurance society, revealed some of the most sensational features that have come out regarding the management of the concern. He testified that the Depew Improvement company, in which he was interested, obtained a loan from the Equitable of $250,000 on property which the state insurance department valued at only $150,000. He admitted that neither the principal nor interest had been paid, and that the Equitable had been forced to foreclose. He admitted that, as a member of the executive committee of the Equitable, he had not advised this loan, but had voted for it. He confessed to making a promise that the Equitable should be made whole, but in the same breath said that promise was not legally binding.

President Alexander admitted that he was in several syndicates that sold securities to the Equitable. In the case of only two of these did he ostensibly pay back profits to the society. These profits amounted to $40,000, but he was forced to admit that the Equitable had not yet got the money, it being in the hands of a trustee.

James H. Hyde admitted participation in eight syndicates that sold securities to the Equitable. He swore positively that President Alexander was in all of these knowingly. He admitted that the $61,000 he had ostensibly paid back to the Equitable had never reached the treasury. Hyde also admitted that several persons carried on the pay rolls of the Equitable really did most of their work for him personally. He confessed that the Equitable paid for the Cambon dinner. He alone signed for the voucher. He said, also, that the Equitable purchased a private car for him for $20,000.

ASSASSINATED.

Prefect of Police Slain in Moscow While Receiving Petition—Assassin Arrested.

Moscow, July 12.—Maj. Gen. Count Shouvaloff, prefect of police here, and formerly attached to the ministry of the interior, was assassinated Tuesday morning while receiving petitions. One of the petitioners drew a revolver and fired five times at the prefect, who fell dead. The assassin was arrested.

St. Petersburg, July 12.—A few details of the assassination of Chief of Police Shouvaloff, of Moscow, have reached this city. They show that the murder was carried out in the boldest manner. It appears that numerous complaints had been made against the harsh measures adopted after the assassination in Moscow of Grand Duke Sergius, and Gen. Shouvaloff set a day on which to receive deputations and petitions for the mitigation of severities. A crowd assembled at the time appointed for presenting these petitions. It was formed in line and passed by the prefect, each petitioner handing him his written plea or making an oral appeal. The assassin presented his petition, and then in an instant drew his revolver and fired. The shots caused a panic, but the detectives seized the murderer and hurried him to a dungeon. So far little information has been gleaned concerning him. It is believed he is an agent of the revolutionary party.

The assassination is considered to be a purely political crime, as the count was not yet 40 years old, and was regarded as being of the best type of the Russian official. He came from one of the most famous families in Russia. The count was a son of Count Peter Shouvaloff, the statesman who represented Russia at the Berlin conference.

Count Cassini Leaves.

Washington, July 10.—Count Cassini, Russia's first ambassador to the United States, after seven years' service here, left Sunday for Europe, and will later go to his new post at Madrid. Gathered at the station to bid him God-speed were nearly every diplomat remaining here, and a number of the ambassador's personal friends.

Law Held Unconstitutional.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 8.—Judge Fremont Alvord, of the Marion county criminal court, Friday held unconstitutional the law passed by the last session of the legislature placing private banks of Indiana under state supervision. The case will be appealed.

Peacemaker Killed.

Wausau, Wis., July 11.—Frank Penickner, while trying to make peace between George Haas and his wife, who, it is alleged, were quarreling, was killed by being dismembered with a big knife which Haas had in his possession. Haas gave himself up.

THREATENED WITH PARALYSIS.
Peter B. Summers, of Kalamazoo, Mich., relates his experience: "I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I lay it to indigestion and excesses in early youth. I became very despondent and didn't care whether I worked or not. I imagined everybody who looked at me, guessed my secret. Imaginative dreams at night weakened me—my back ached, hands and feet were cold, tired in the morning, poor appetite. Fingers were shaky, eyes blurred, hair loose, memory poor, etc. Numbness in the fingers set in, and the doctor told me I was near paralysis. I took all kinds of medicines and tried many first-class physicians, wore an electric belt for three months, went to Mt. Clemens for treatment, but received little benefit. While at Mt. Clemens I was induced to consult Dr. Kennedy & Kegan, though I had lost all faith in doctors. Like a drowning man I commenced the New Method Treatment and it saved my life. The improvement was like magic—I could feel the vigor going through my nerves. I was cured mentally, physically and usually. I have sent them many patients and will continue to do so."

FATAL EXPLOSION OF ROCK POWDER

TERRIBLE DISASTER OCCURS TO RAILWAY REPAIRERS IN PENNSYLVANIA.

Eight Persons Are Instantly Killed and Two Others Are Injured—Bodies of the Victims Are frightfully Mangled.

Harrisburg, Pa., July 10.—Eight men were blown to pieces and two others were injured by the premature explosion of a big blast of rock powder on the Pennsylvania railroad improvements near New Cumberland, at 7:30 o'clock Sunday morning. The accident occurred directly across the Susquehanna river from the scene of the Pennsylvania railroad wreck on May 11, in which 23 persons were killed and many others injured. All the victims of Sunday's disaster were employees of P. S. Kerbaugh & Co., incorporated contractors, who are building the double tracks for the Pennsylvania railroad to connect with the Enola yards.

The Victims.
The dead are: James Wiseman, aged 50, dynamite boss, No. 98 Front avenue, Buffalo, N. Y.; Arthur Green (colored), 23 years old, steam driller, Harrisburg; Robert Thompson (colored), 23 years old, steam driller's helper, Harrisburg; Frank Mullach, a Slav, 43 years old; three Italians and one Slav, known only by numbers.

Not a trace of the two colored men who were killed can be found; and it is supposed their bodies were blown into the river, which is being dragged. An inquest was held by Squire Coble, of Lemoyne. The jury rendered a verdict of premature explosion from an unknown cause, and no blame attached to the contractors.

Horribly Mangled.
All the killed and injured were laborers, aside from Wiseman, whose body was terribly mangled. What could be found of it was identified by the fact that he dyed his hair. His scalp and a portion of his head was found on a hill, 200 yards from the blast.

AN AWFUL DISASTER.

Explosion in a Welsh Mine Kills Over 120 Men—Sixty-Eight Bodies Recovered.

Cardiff, Wales, July 12.—An explosion of fire damp in No. 2 pit of the United National Colliery company at Wattstown, in the Rhondda valley, the center of the great Welsh coal fields, Tuesday morning, is believed to have resulted in the loss of at least 120 lives. Sixty-eight bodies have been recovered. The explosion was followed immediately by the belching of clouds of smoke and dust from the pit shaft, in which 150 men were working. The force of the explosion wrecked the machinery at the mouth of the pit. All communication with the doomed men in this direction is completely cut off. No. 1 shaft, adjoining, has ordinarily afforded communication with No. 2. The 800 men in No. 1 and the few who escaped from No. 2, were drawn up. A rescue party descended, but its work was seriously impeded by the foul air and the falling masses of earth dislodged by the explosion. Heroic efforts have been made for hours to reach the entombed men, but the absence of all sound from the interior of the mine told the tale of the worst disaster that has taken place in South Wales since 1894.

Congress of Baptists.
London, July 12.—Exeter hall was the scene Tuesday afternoon of another world gathering of Christians, when the congress of Baptists, including representatives from every country in the world excepting Palestine and Java, was opened by Judge Willis, president of the Baptist Union of Great Britain and Ireland. The great hall was crowded to overflowing, those present including 500 American delegates and nearly 1,000 visiting Americans.

UNDER THE BAN.

Fraud Order Issued Against Bank in St. Louis by the Postmaster General.

Washington, July 10.—Postmaster General Cortelyou has announced the issuance of a fraud order against the People's United States bank of St. Louis, Mo., its officers and agents, and E. G. Lewis, a publisher, effective July 9. The action bars the company from the use of the mails, after an investigation by the postal authorities as to the details of the business of the institution. The postmaster general in his announcement says: "It is understood that the funds of the bank which have not been borrowed by Mr. Lewis and his enterprises, amounting to about two-thirds of the total amount remitted, are deposited in banks and will be available toward reimbursement of the stockholders, who number upwards of 65,000. It is the intention of the officers of the post office department to cooperate with the secretary of state of Missouri in every proper way for the interests of the investors and depositors."

The immediate cause for the issuance of the fraud order and the beginning of an investigation is a charge that while Lewis has never put a dollar of his own money into stock of the bank he has nevertheless drawn $2,000,000 from the institution for stock and has loaned himself $900,000.

"JOINTS" BLOWN UP.

Three Liquor Dealers Put Out of Business by Dynamite at Iola, Kan.

Iola, Kan., July 11.—With tremendous explosions that shook the country for miles around, three liquor "joints" that had been run openly in violation of the Kansas prohibition law were blown up Monday in this town. The immense charges of dynamite used to destroy the whisky dens damaged several other places of business, causing altogether a loss of $100,000. J. E. Thorpe, owner of one of the wrecked "joints," was injured in the explosions. The "joint" keepers blame the temperance reformers for the wrecking of their places of business, but have no tangible evidence yet on which to base their assertions. Not since the days of Carrie Nation's smashing expeditions have the people of Kansas been so wrought up over the violations of the prohibition law as at present. The three "joints" that were blown up in Iola had been running for a long time and Gov. Hoch had been petitioned to close them.

WILL REENTER CABINET.

Former Secretary of War Root Selected as Head of State Department—He Accepts.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 8.—Official announcement was made here Friday that Elihu Root has been appointed secretary of state. The announcement was made on the authority of President Roosevelt in the following statement given out by Secretary Loeb: "Elihu Root has accepted the tender by the president of the secretaryship of state. He will take the oath of office in a couple of weeks, but it will necessarily be some little time before he closes up his business affairs. He will not go to Washington permanently until some time in September." President Roosevelt is much gratified at Mr. Root's acceptance, and is deeply sensible of the personal sacrifices made by Mr. Root in again taking up the burdens and duties of a member of the cabinet.

Dropped Dead.

Duluth, Minn., July 11.—Ernest Balmann aged about 50 years, whose home was evidently at Calumet, Mich., and who was evidently a man of affairs, dropped dead in the lobby of the Spalding hotel here, in the presence of a score or more guests.

Noted Educator Dead.

Richmond, Ind., July 11.—Dr. Joseph Moore, former president of Earlham college, and an eminent educator, is dead at his home here.

JAPANESE LAND ON RUSSIAN SOIL

CAPTURE ISLAND OF SAKHALIN—BEARING OF ACTION ON PEACE NEGOTIATIONS.

Mutinous Crew of Kniaz Potemkin Surrenders to Roumanian Officials and Is Promised Chance to Find Place of Refuge.

St. Petersburg, July 10.—A landing of Japanese troops on the island of Sakhalin was officially reported Saturday night and startled military circles in St. Petersburg, though it has been realized since the defeat of Admiral Rojestvensky that the Japanese were able to take possession of the island as soon as they thought fit.

The Japanese fleet covering the landing of troops on the island consisted of two battleships, seven cruisers, three gunboats, 36 torpedo boats and ten transports loaded with troops. The Japanese landed at the village of Mere, between Shepivan and Korsakovsk. The commander of the Russian division of troops at Korsakovsk ordered the coast and defense guns to be blown up and all the government buildings burned before retiring. The garrison of the island was too weak to offer an effective defense.

Opinion in St. Petersburg.
St. Petersburg, July 10.—With the Japanese flag hoisted for the first time on Russian soil after 18 months of war, the importance of the landing on the island of Sakhalin is generally admitted, both in newspaper comment and in government circles. Complete occupation of the island is regarded as a foregone conclusion. There is a divergence of opinion with regard to the effect it will have upon the negotiations at Washington, some of the irreconcilables declaring that it makes peace at the present juncture more impossible than before, as Japan will be able to demand the cession of the island and a heavy indemnity as well, which terms of peace will be too costly but the more prevalent view is that Japan has now in her hands enough triumphs to take the game.

MUTINEERS SURRENDER.

Crew of Kniaz Potemkin Gives Up to Roumanian Officials.

Kustenji, Roumania, July 10.—The flag of St. Andrew again floats over the Russian battleship Kniaz Potemkin and the torpedo boat which have proved such terrors to the Black sea communities for a couple of weeks past. The formal surrender of the mutinous crews actually took place at one o'clock Saturday afternoon after a series of discussions and negotiations between the Roumanian authorities and the leaders of the mutineers. The mutineers desired to take off the treasure which was on board the Kniaz Potemkin, but the Roumanian authorities declined to acquiesce. The Russians will gradually be conveyed to any frontier they may select and will then be liberated, the local officials having given an undertaking to this effect. All the sailors wished to surrender with the exception of Matuschenko, the leader of the mutiny, who resisted for some time and wanted to blow up the ship. Seven officers were prisoners aboard the Kniaz Potemkin. They were in a pitiable condition from ill treatment. They declare that Matuschenko himself killed ten officers of the battleship.

Fear Another Mutiny.
Kustenji, Roumania, July 12.—The Russian squadron seems to be delayed here, owing to the fear that another mutiny will break out should the vessels put to sea. The fact that 55 sailors from the Kniaz Potemkin who surrendered have been imprisoned on board the different vessels of the squadron, awaiting trial for rebellion, has caused intense indignation among the crews, and as a consequence there are fears of another mutiny.

PROBE REACHES MANY.

Milwaukee Grand Jury Returns Another Big Batch of Indictments Against Alleged Crafters.

Milwaukee, July 12.—Sixty-seven indictments against 25 individuals, most of whom are former county officials, were handed down by the Milwaukee county grand jury late Tuesday in the municipal court. And the probing of the jury still goes on, the term not expiring until September 1. Tuesday's batch of true bills, added to the 38 returned ten days ago, makes a total of 105 thus far, with the expectation that further probing will result in many more indictments being brought in later on. Tuesday's list contains 20 out of the 21 names returned in the last batch, there being but five names not before reported. Nearly all the indictments charge bribery in the sum of $50, the amounts, it is alleged, having been paid to present or former county officials in connection with the awarding of county contracts for the erection of an addition to the county hospital several years ago.

Brothers Drowned.

Memphis, Mich., July 10.—Orville Glassford, aged 21 years, and his brother, Leed Glassford, aged 16, were drowned Sunday in the Belle river while swimming. Leed got beyond his depth, and Orville went to his assistance. Both became exhausted and sank in 15 feet of water.

Willing to Accept.

The Electric R. R. Co. has accepted the franchise and paid to Douglas the money necessary for posting notices. The prospects now look bright for an electric railroad in four months through this belt of country.

On March 9, last, the state legislature passed a law under the terms of which milk dealers are required to secure a license costing $1. Any person, persons or corporation who shall sell milk or cream from a wagon or other conveyance, depot or store, or who shall sell or deliver milk or cream to a hotel, restaurant, boarding house or any public place is considered a milk dealer.

The board of public works of Grand Haven let contracts for adding power to the city electric light plant. One entire bid amounts to $4,600. The Ball Engine company of Erie, Pa., will furnish the new engine, the Fort Wayne Electric company the generator and electric goods and the Sehette & Koeting company of Chicago the condenser. Prof. John Nies of the Lewis Institute, Chicago, had the matter in charge and recommended the equipment represented by the accepted bids. Mr. Nies is a Holland boy.

The persistence of the Pere Marquette railway company in reducing the operating expenses of its lines has caused the loss of another employee at the Allegan station and the consequent resignation of Mr. Wm. S. Duvall who has been connected with the business several years. Two years ago there were six men employed by the company to do the work at the Allegan station. At that time the force was reduced to four, and now that the Pere Marquette railway company has the only line running into the valley does not signify that it can retain all the business gained during the past two years.—Allegan Gazette.

At the annual school meeting of the Beechwood school on the north side last Monday evening it was decided there should be ten months school the coming year, and that the text books should be changed so as to correspond as nearly as possible with the text books in use in the Holland schools. A resolution was passed instructing the board of trustees to take under consideration the advisability of building an addition to the school house. There are 102 pupils on the roll and as this is altogether too many for two rooms it is probable that when the report of the committee is submitted the electors will decide to build the addition. E. B. Scott and F. J. Bertsch were elected trustees for three years and after the meeting the board organized by electing Geo. H. Souter, director, Wm. E. VanDyke, treasurer, and E. B. Scott, moderator. The school year recently closed has been very successful under the efficient guidance of LeRoy Fear of Allegan the principal and Miss Jeannette Westveer, of this city, primary department teacher, and both instructors have been hired for the next year.

The common council is in dead earnest on the sign question and took action last Friday night looking to the removal of the signs that are in violation of the ordinance and providing for the use of electric signs under certain restrictions. An ordinance was passed to go into effect 20 days from last Friday and when the 20 days are up every sign that is in conflict with the ordinance will have to come down. If the owners object to the downcoming they will have to resort to the courts as the city officials are ready to contest to a finish. The new ordinance designates an electric sign as one on which the letters are made in outline by incandescent lamps, or one which has a continuous border of incandescent lamps, the lamps to be at no greater distance apart than 12 inches, and the sign must not project more than six feet beyond the building. Any person constructing an electric sign must secure permission from the city, making application to the city clerk and paying a license fee ranging from $1 to $2, according to the number of lamps in the sign. Before the clerk issues a license for an electric sign the sign must have been inspected by the superintendent of public works and its construction approved by him. The electric signs when projecting from the building must be lighted on both sides and its illumination maintained for at least one hour every night. The maximum penalty for violation of the ordinance is $100 fine.

Holland Fortunate

A CHANCE TO SEE THE GAME

"CHYUSE"

Next Tuesday and Wednesday
July 18 & 19 at Holland
Fair Grounds

Holland is fortunate. Excepting Grand Rapids it is the second city this side of the great west to have an opportunity of seeing a Chyuse game. By a streak of luck the band of Indians, Cowboys and Mexicans who have been furnishing the sport in Grand Rapids the last several weeks, are enabled to come to Holland. They cannot show in Grand Rapids next week on account of the Port Arthur production, which has leased Ramona athletic park for the week, and so they have arranged to come to the Holland Fair grounds Tuesday and Wednesday and to go to Muskegon for the remainder of the week. The game must be a drawing card judging from the way it has caught on in Grand Rapids. It came there unknown to sportsdom but so fascinating is it that it has drawn good crowds every day. As a drawing card it surpasses all of the other Reed Lake attractions combined and has held the attention of the people every day for 5 weeks. And at that on some days three or four games were given. Following is a description of the game as given by the Grand Rapids Herald:

"Chyuse is almost unknown in the east, but in the west it ranks high among sports. Horses are bred especially for the game just as they are for polo. Men are trained for it even more severely than they are for hockey or football. It is a game which combines the highest of skill in horsemanship, great daring on the part of the riders and science to the last degree.

"The game is played in two periods, each of 15 minutes with an intermission of 10 to 15 minutes. In arranging the field for the play a space about 300 feet long and 200 feet wide is fenced off. None of the players are allowed within this space, the game being played wholly on the outside of it. Each player is mounted on a broncho; each is provided with a wooden lance eight feet long, and all of them distinguished by individual colors.

"In opening the game, the horsemen line up, each beside a pail bearing the colors of the respective players. At the crack of the pistol of the referee they are off on an eighth of a mile race around the enclosed space. Coming back to the point of beginning, they draw up around a tub partly filled with whitewashed potatoes. A spear is driven into one of the tubers and a horseman bearing it on the tip of his lance dashes back around the enclosure and deposits the potatoes in his pail. The one placing the most tubers in his pail is declared winner.

"Of course it is the object of each man to prevent any other rider from circling the space with a potato. As soon as one succeeds in spearing a potato he is at once attacked by others, who are merciless until they have either knocked the tuber from the end of the lance or the bearer has evaded them and deposited it in his pail. When a potato has been once knocked from a spear it cannot be picked up. The rider must return to the tub and try again.

"In order to illustrate how the horses are trained, it might be said that in mere exhibitions of horsemanship, a blanket is placed on the ground. A rider dashes toward it at the full speed of his pony. Going at a breakneck pace, the minute the horse steps on the blanket he is pulled up and before he has passed over, he is stopped, whirled around and is running in the opposite direction.

The company has 30 ponies especially trained to play chyuse. Ten horses are used in the first period, ten others in the second, and ten are reserved for use in case of accidents. Fourteen players are selected, ten to open the game and four to be substituted in case of injuries.

Description of First Game ever Played in Grand Rapids.

Following is the description given by one of the Grand Rapids papers of the first game of Chyuse played in Grand Rapids:

"Chyuse, the greatest of western sports was played in the east for the first time yesterday afternoon, when ten 'cow punchers' entered the game at Ramona Athletic Park.

Jack Tracy and Carson Baker, otherwise known as 'Kit Carson' were the winners of the opening contest, each tying with ten points.

"Kit Carson" "English" Jones, "Dutch" Leish, Jack Tracy, "Long Knife" Emery, Red Cloud, Trotting Elk, Whirlwind, Coyote and "Red Fox" Burns lined up when the players were called.

At the close of the second period, all of the horses engaged in the game were exhausted and a complete change of mounts was necessary.

At the crack of the six-shooter in the hands of Umpire C. A. Daniels the men were off. Jack Tracy was the first to score. By clever riding he eluded his pursuers and circled the field with his potato on the end of his spear.

The period had hardly started when "Dutch" Leish collided with two others. Both rider and mount went to the ground. Leish was hurt in the fall but continued in the game.

Several hours after the game "Dutch" Leish complained of intense pain. A physician was summoned and it was ascertained that he had sustained fractures of three ribs.

At the end of the first period the score was: "Kit Carson," 2; "Dutch" Leish, 2; Red Cloud, 2; Jack Tracy, 1. In the second period was some of the prettiest displays of horsemanship shown during the whole game.

Jack Tracy by daring riding ran his score up four points. "Kit Carson" circled the field five times, however, without losing his tuber so that at the close of the second section, he was leading with a total of seven points. Tracy was second with a total of five.

In the closing period the game rested between Carson and Tracy. At the opening of the period, "English" Jones a Britisher who won medals for bravery in the Boer war and who saw army service in South Africa and India, was pitched from his horse but not hurt. Jones had a new mount at the beginning of this section and was caught unawares by the bucker who unseated Jones in the twinkling of an eye. The Englishman was undaunted by the fall, however, and remounting continued to play.

The Mexicans and Indians were at their best in the final period. Frank Emery cleverly stopped several riders in their dashes for the goals, although the spirit of the contest was still between Tracy and Carson. Tracy outgeneraled his opponents and scored five times.

Carson had a mount which seemed to be harder to handle than his first horse and scored only three times. Jack Tracy blocking him as he came toward the goal which promised to be the winning point. The final results follow:

Jack Tracy 10; Kit Carson 10; Red Cloud 6; Dutch Leish 4; Trotting Elk 3; Frank Emery 1.

Carson and Tracy divided the money prize, each receiving $10.

At the close of the game, Dynamite, a pitching horse was ridden by Trotting Elk.

Five more cowboys have joined the Chyuse outfit which will be at Holland next week.

Future Events Whose Shadows are Cast Before

Things of interest and entertainment happen frequently in Holland these days. Following are some of the events of importance which will transpire in the future:

Forepaugh & Sell's Circus July 21.

Farmers Picnic Wednesday, August 23.

Labor Day, Sept. 4.

Holland Fair to be given by the South Ottawa & West Allegan Agricultural society, Oct. 3-4-5 and 6.

Some of the Players Who Will Be at the Fair Grounds and Who They Are.

The most famous of the cowboys, Indians and Mexicans of the west will take part in the Chyuse games to be played at the Holland Fair Grounds next Tuesday and Wednesday July 18 and 19.

Henry Kassiner known as "Six-Shooter Jack," and "Dutch Leish," both ex-deputy sheriffs of Oregon, are the most noted white players. They are well known throughout the west from their capture of "Rustler Tom" Horn, who out in Idaho shot a young boy for spying on the movements of rich cattle ranch owners whom he was working for. They swam the Snake river with their prisoner and with their six shooters held at bay a band of twenty rustlers who were trying to effect a rescue. Kassiner was the one to pull the rope that hanged Horn.

Frank Emery—"Long Knife" is a famous Mexican scout who served under General Bernard during the uprising of the Nez Perce and Umatilla Indians in 1878, a famous horseman, lariat thrower, and marksman; Fred Baker, a crack all around rough rider and plainsman from Oregon; Bob McKim, a famous scout from Baker City, Ore.; Frank Parr—"Red Cloud"—a champion sprinter, football player, and all around athlete, with a record of one hundred yards in ten seconds flat; Burns Robert Coyote, a Bannock brave from the Pocastello reservation; Whirlwind, a Umatilla warrior, official Indian interpreter of the Umatilla reservation in Oregon and speaker of seven different languages; No Shirt, a Siwash warrior, noted for his bronco busting ability; Trotting Elk, a Nez Perce warrior from the Umatilla reservation, a noted horseman, chyuse player, and a graduate of the Carlisle Indian school. These are some of the riders who will appear on horse back in the games here.

Besides the regular game, the program includes rough riding exhibitions, lassoing exhibition, horse and man races. To make the play fiercer every game, a prize of $10 is given to the winning player in number of potatoes speared and gnaled.

Dynamite, a horse whom the cowboys term the brown terror of the west, will be ridden by some of the cowboys and Indians Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons. A standing offer of $20 is given to any person other than a chyuse player who can ride this horse. He pitches, bucks, bolts, falls and plunges, in fact resorts to every trick of the untamed mustang to unhorse his rider and the exhibition will be worth going miles to see.
