Holland's First Brass Band

The above photo was taken immediately after the big fire in 1871. Several of the ruins are still visible in the background. The fact that the two houses on the extreme left side of the picture are the homes of Otto Breyman and Mr. U. S. Clark on Central Avenue across from Centennial Park, goes to show that lots were not selling at $2,000 at that time. The view is on West Eighth street. The little building in the background is H. Konningsberg's saloon; the building to the right is the Nibelink and the Meeram residences, and bounding on the right is the Vander Veen Hardware Store. The little fellow led by the hand is Henry Meengs, the Holland Cleaner man, and his uncle, the old carpet weaver, next to him stands Wm. Finch the moving man. The man with his hands in his pocket is Pete Pfanstiehl, next to him in his shirt sleeves is John R. Kleyn. The man with the prominent white shirt front is Squire H. D. Post.

The complaint was made by Liveryman Fred Stratton, whose horse they rented, and several witnesses were brought to testify at the trial.

With the exception of an instructor in the domestic science department, the board of education has engaged the entire corps of fifty teachers for the ensuing year at salaries aggregating $30,000. Prof. E. E. Fell succeeds W. T. Bishop as superintendent, Prof. O. W. Stephenson continues as principal of the high school. Twenty-five of the teachers are graduates of the state normal.

At the trial of Simon De Kooyers, charged with assault and battery on his youngest sister, Justice Vander Meulen before whom the young man was brought Tuesday afternoon decided to give him suspended sentence. Young De Kooyers had spent five days in the county jail awaiting trial, and becoming thoroughly penitent by the experience, changed his plea from "not guilty" to "guilty." De Kooyers pleaded for another chance and was given it with a lecture and the understanding that another complaint against him would mean 90 days in the Detroit House of Correction.

It will be of interest to several of the friends of Gerard A. Kanter to know that he is at present occupying an important and very influential position at Cedar Rapids, Ia. in connection with an Alliance between organized labor and contractors and that his services as secretary and manager of such organization have been very successful in averting strikes. He is highly commended by the Cedar Rapids local press.

Burk Taylor who has been traveling through the West and South for the past seven months has returned home. He worked his way most of the time and had some interesting experiences. During his trip through Old Mexico he witnessed one of the world famous bull-fights. In the course of the fight five bulls four horses were killed and one man had his leg broken. Young Taylor says that the Mexicans get as enthusiastic about those fights as a fan gets about a base ball game.

A valuable cow of J. J. Grootenhuis of Filmore township that stood too close to a rail fence over which a barbed wire was stretched, was killed by lightning during the heavy thunder storm that passed over this vicinity Saturday evening. Simon Westra of Detroit has bought a house and lot at E. 14th street of G. Van Wyndern. He will move his family to this city in about a month and will make this his home. The deal was made through the Weersing Real Estate agency. This agency has made some fine deals lately and is getting to be one of the most prosperous real estate firms in the city. During the last few years Mr. Weersing has worked up a fine business and has won the confidence of all who have had dealings with him. Through square business methods he has put his firm on a solid basis.

The Democrats of the county are beginning to get busy to get their candidates into the field for county offices. The Democrats do not nominate until the September primaries but there are already several in the field. One of the men that has been mentioned for the democratic nomination for state legislature to succeed to the vacancy caused by D. B. K. Van Raalte is Mayor Brusse, but the mayor has filed no petition as yet. The petitions already filed are those of Earl B. Thurston Chester, for sheriff; Erastus H. Stiles, Polkton, county clerk; Willard Dickerson Tallmadge, for drin commissioner; Peter J. Danhof, Grand Haven, for prosecuting attorney; Dr. Jerry Walling of Coopersville, and Dr. Chas. Chappel of Wright, for Corners; Cornelius Struik of Jamestown and Henry Ernst of Crookery for circuit court commissioners; Gerrit Hesselink, Grand Haven for county surveyor; John F. Wilde of Wright for representative to the state legislature from the second district.

Will Close the Resorts

The places of amusement at the resorts will be closed tighter than a drum Sunday. So says Supervisor John Y. Huizenga, This was the decision of the Holland township board of which Mr. Huizenga and Luke Lugers are members.

It all started because the little picture show at Macatawa dared to open and give the resorters two hours of innocent entertainment.

It is the only day when we can make a little money, so says the picture show man. But the picture show man must live on dry bread and water for the rest of the season if the edict of the township board prevails. The sins of the picture show will be visited upon the merry-go-round, the curio shops, boat livery, ice cream stands, roller coasters, aerial swing, ferry boats, fishing rods, and not even the angels flight up Baldhead is exempt.

How far this is going to go no one can tell. Under the blue law no doubt even traffic can be stopped according to the township board and if one is permitted to do business the other has a right to. No doubt if the lines are drawn in such a manner out it will practically suspend business on the Sabbath day. That suit and counter suits will fill the courts and both township and resort companies be put to enormous expense there is no doubt. It will be a matter of an existence with the resort companies and therefore they will spare no money in fighting the township boards action.

A. J. Nyland today severed his connection with the Eagle Tanning Co., at Grand Haven. Mr. Nyland was formerly a Holland man but has been connected with the tannery there for the past 25 years.

A Democratic weekly paper will be started in the fifth district; the "Observer" formerly the labor organ of Grand Rapids has been merged into a democratic paper. Aldrick Blake of Grand Rapids and Al Toppen of this city will be Editor and business managed respectively. The new Observer will be printed in Grand Rapids.

Our Base Ball team returns to Holland and will play to-day, Friday and Saturday.

A lame back is always worse in the Morning. Holland People are finding relief.

A back that aches all day and causes discomfort at night is usually worse in the morning. Makes you feel as if you hadn't slept at all.

Can't cure a bad back until you cure the kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys—make you feel better, work better, rest better and sleep better.

Permanent cures in Holland prove the merit of Doan's.

Mrs. E. Vanden Tak, 243 E. Eleventh St., Holland, Mich., says: "I have been so greatly benefited by Doan's Kidney Pills that I am pleased to recommend them. I suffered for a long time from dull, nagging backaches and in the morning on arising. I was so stiff and lame that it was difficult for me to stoop or lift. I always felt tired and had but little strength or energy. When Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention, I procured a box from J. C. Doesburg's Drug store and soon after I began their use they drove away my trouble. I can now rest well and I do not have those dull pains in my back."

For sale by all dealers. Price 5 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Many Will See Circus.

Ringling Brothers' Circus is the magnet that will attract hundreds of visitors from this city and the surrounding country to Grand Rapids Monday, July 25. The railroads are offering special inducements in the way of cheap rates.

The program the Ringlings are offering this year is nothing less than wonderful. It is given by 375 artists. Over 200 of them are Europeans, making their first tour of America. There are no less than 100 big acts. Novelties will be presented by the telephoning elephants; the wonderful Schuman horses, from Albert Schuman's German circus—the Lorch family of acrobats; the Arthur Saxon trio of strong men; Robledilo, the Spanish wire dancer; the Manello-Marnitz family of upside-down bellringers; the Alexis family of aerialists; the Dutton company of equestrians; the aerial Klar-konians, and the fifty funniest clowns in the world.

The chief attraction of the menagerie is Darwin, the missing link. He looks more like a human being than some men. Darwin lives in his own house. It has windows, doors, pictures on the wall, electric lights, and a hot water heater. He dines at a table with a complete table equipment. He wears the clothes of a man. He carries a watch and is fond of a soothing pipe. He is a friendly chap and likes to shake hands with visitors. Another attractive member of the menagerie is Jennie, an elephant that has just passed her 214 birthday. When George Washington was still president of the United States, she was brought from the wilds of India to become an attraction in the Zoological Gardens at London, England. She was then 100 years old. She is still in her prime, for elephants have been known to live for 500 years. More than likely Jennie will live to eat peanuts from the hands of Children whose great grandparents are yet unborn.

The forenoon parade is far the best street spectacle the Ringling

The Factory Man's Ambition.

The local post office has been advertising for applicants to take the civil service examination for city mail carrier and postal clerk. Although the examination has been advertised for several weeks, no one has applied, and the Holland postal authorities are making renewed efforts to secure applicants. The growth of the city makes it imperative constantly to increase the working force of the department, and it seems a little strange that there should be any difficulty in inducing men to take the examination.

The lack of interest shown is a rather depressing commentary on the difficulty of arousing the ambitions of the so called working classes. According to assistant postmaster Westveer, any young man with as much as an eighth grade education or even less, stands a good show for passing the examination. This means that a large percentage of men and boys working in our local factories and many of those who are merely walking the streets and supporting life doing odd jobs, have a good opportunity for trying to better their condition. Yet not a single man could be found with ambition or courage enough to make the attempt. The News has in mind several young men with more than an eighth grade education who are living from hand to mouth, but apparently could not work up ginger enough to try for a good civil service position.

Note how a factory employee for instance could better his condition financially. We suppose that the average unskilled laborer in the factory does not work more than 300 days a year. Suppose further that he receives $2.00 a day. This makes his salary $600 a year. Now notice the salary of a postal clerk or mail carrier, and its increase for good service: First year, $600; second year $800; third year $900 and so on up to $1200. This then would be a chance in a very few years to double his earning capacity for any factory hand that cared to make the attempt.

The examination is very simple. It consists of simple tests in spelling arithmetic, letter writing, penmanship, U. S. geography, and reading addresses. A week given to reviewing some of the things learned in the grades would suffice for brushing up for the examination. And a good feature about the whole thing is that if the applicant that passes successfully cannot be given a position immediately he is in line for future positions that may become vacant.

Naturally if a large number should apply positions could not be found for all. But that should not deter anyone from making the attempt. Under the present system of society, life is a struggle financially from start to finish and it is only the man who is unafraid who comes out on top. The poet Grey speaks of the man whom "chill Penury" forbade "the applause of listening senates to command." That was the eighteenth century idea. But America has been defined as another word for opportunity, and no American who has the real stuff in him need make poverty an excuse for lack of power and position. Let him rather blame the crime of low aim.

We wish to apply these observations not only to the condition of the present civil service examination, but desire to give them a broader significance. Opportunities are constantly opening up for the man who dares to try for them. The jobs higher up are not so hard to hold down as the man at the bottom thinks. The attempt to land them is half the battle. In a community like this, where there is so high a degree of educational efficiency, there is no excuse for the apathy that the clerk-carrier examination has shown there exists. A city is only as alert as its average citizen, and there is room for a little more ambition in Holland as well as in other cities.

The Bath-House Petition.

The petition to the common council last week for a public bath house was referred to the committee with a smile. Although the petition was signed by a list of names so long that the clerk had not had time to count them, most of the aldermen seemed to take the matter as a joke. Although we were not connected with the drawing up of the petition the News dares say that the men who started the movement were never more in earnest. The trouble is that they have got ahold of an idea so far in advance of the ordinary man's conception of the civic community's duty toward the public, that most people do not grasp it. It is looked upon as visionary and impractical.

But it is very practical and should receive the council's earnest attention. In the petition similar bath houses in Detroit were named as examples for this city to copy. Perhaps a better model to follow would be Boston, which is very well equipped in this respect. And if those two cities could not furnish ideas enough, Holland has more than one citizen acquainted with conditions in England. Prof. Nykerk, for instance, is in a position to give a great many valuable pointers on public bathing facilities in that country, and we happen to know that he, like all men whose ideas on public utilities are advanced, is very much in sympathy with the movement.

The argument of course is advanced that Holland is too small for that kind of thing. It is alright for Boston, Detroit and other large cities to go into it, but this city is not big enough. That is the same as saying that because we are a relatively small community, for that reason we need not keep ourselves clean. There are no slums in this city, but there are hundreds and hundreds of houses not provided with bath-tubs. We are safe in saying that many look upon a bath tub in the home as a luxury, not a necessity. No one will deny that wholesome community life demands that everyone be given an opportunity to stay clean. Since many are practically debarred from it for economic reasons the city should provide for it.

A further reason applies peculiarly to Holland. Situated as we are on lake and river, there are a number of drownings each year. Already this reason there have been two victims. Boys will go swimming and it is foolish to try to prevent them. It is their natural right, by virtue of their being boys to go swimming. Therefore it is incumbent upon the older people to minimize the dangers of the sport, and this can be done by a public bath house.

The bath house will not be built this summer; perhaps not next summer, or the year after; perhaps not for a dozen years to come. Good things come slowly. But we feel sure that it will come, at least if Holland remains awake; and meanwhile the council and every thinking man and woman should give it earnest consideration.

Fishing tackle catalogues are ripe.

Dirt, flies, disease, death; each follows the other.

Make the flies flee.

A call comes from American harvest fields for more help. Good wages and big crops will help to solve the cost of living.

Even though Stephan in the school election was in the majority, which is funny, he still remains in the minority, which is tough.

The thrifty Dutch also are buying large amounts of American bonds and other securities for permanent and safe investment. The Netherlanders are a canny folk, and when they make a purchase of this kind it is pretty strong testimony to the excellence of the bargain.

"The Aftermath" in Collier's Weekly.

In last week's issue of the Collier's Weekly was a vacation story entitled "The Aftermath" by Arnold Mulder of this city. Although Mr. Mulder has been engaged in newspaper work for several years, having had special articles accepted by the Chicago and Detroit dailies, this was his first venture in the magazine line. The story is not really a story, but is rather a descriptive article telling of a vacation experience. Collier's each year gives a series of prizes for vacation articles to be printed in their mid-summer number, and "The Aftermath" was one of them.

The article is the description of a trip Mr. Mulder took last summer to South Haven, visiting Tom N. Robinson of that place. It was only a short three days' vacation, and nothing startling happened during the visit; but by mixing a little fiction with it to give the story point and climax, the writer succeeded in giving to his readers a sense of the exhilarating joy he felt in the close contact with out door nature during the vacation.

The story tells of how the writer had finally decided to take a short vacation after a seven years' stretch of work, how for a few days he forgot the worries connected with being an editor in boating trips up the river at South Haven and in bathing in Lake Michigan. It tells further how he and Tom and Jack and John—whose real names, by the way, are Tom Robinson, Jack Van Anrooy and John Robinson, swam across the channel at South Haven while the "City of South Haven" steamed up the bay with the steam calliope playing "London Bridge."

The point of the story comes in the latter half. The writer shows how the close contact with stream and beach carried with it a long aftermath of sanity in regard to recreation and relaxation from work, how he learned to appreciate the great natural advantages of Holland, Macatawa Bay and Black River, and how the vacation was a moment of clear vision to him that taught him not to stifle his life between office walls.

The News comes in for a good share of attention in the article and Holland and surrounding lakes are freely mentioned. This is the second time in close succession that this city has been represented in the great national weekly.

Board Members Re-elected.

At the election marked by quietness but with a much larger turnout of voters than last year, the three retiring trustees of the Board of Education, Henry Vanden Ploeg, J. J. Mersen and C. M. McLean, were re-elected Monday. E. P. Stephan, one of the candidates, made a close run, being defeated by Mr. Vander Ploeg by only eleven votes. The election was held in the DeMerill building from 2 to 8 o'clock and the vote stood as follows: McLean, 225; Mersen, 199; Vander Ploeg, 180; Stephan, 169; M. Van Putten, 117; Jerry Leapple, 79.

Dr. Wm. DeKliene a Winner.

The warmest contest that was ever pulled off in Grand Haven in a school board election was the selection of new board members last Monday. Mrs. Nellie G. Squier and Dr. William DeKliene were the winners, the vote standing as follows: Nellie G. Squier, 485; Dr. DeKliene, 444; Martin Stap, 327; H. Z. Nyland, 316. Dr. DeKliene's host of friends in the city had picked him as a winner from the start. He was for years a resident of Holland, during his student days at Hope College, and has many friends here. The chief feature of the issue was the question whether or not the board of education should insist upon normal trained teachers for the public schools. The majority side of the board which was taken to be represented by Mrs. Squier and Dr. DeKliene, have taken the stand that trained teachers were better for the schools and should be given the preference. Their position was also that teachers should take every opportunity for improving themselves.

The opposition, regarded as being represented by Herman Nyland and Martin Stap, stood squarely on the other side of the question, with the argument that old teachers of long experience in the schools were as good if not better than the average normal trained of less experience and should not be discriminated against.

An article by E. Stephan will appear in next week's issue of the News, it being unavoidably crowded out owing to lack of space.

Andrew Allen, 25 years old, of Coopersville probably was fatally injured Tuesday in a fall from the roof of a barn which he was engaged in repairing.

Political Notes.

Luke Lugers, former state senator from the Ottawa-Muskegon district, was in Grand Rapids yesterday. Many of his friends have been trying to induce him to run for representative from Holland to succeed the late D. B. Van Raalte. "I guess I'll wait until Muskegon has had her turn in the senate and then I may be a candidate for my old seat again. Muskegon is entitled to the seat this time and then it comes back to Ottawa. I'll step up rather than down when I get into politics again."—Grand Rapids Herald.

Congressman William B. Wilson of Chicago, who has been resorting in Michigan, before returning home gave out a highly complimentary statement regarding Congressman Diekema.

"Mr. Diekema has become one of the strong men of the house," said Congressman Wilson. "He is eloquent and forceful in debate, independent in action and aggressive. The house always listens attentively to him when he speaks. I know of no member of congress who has advanced more rapidly in influence and in the extent of his importance. He is a private officer of rare ability and probably occupies the chair more frequently than any other member. He has timber in him to make an excellent speaker of the house; and when a change is mentioned the name of Diekema is always suggested among the most available candidates."—Grand Rapids Herald.

Former Grand Exalted Ruler Charles E. Pickett, of Waterloo, Ia., now a congressman, was in the city yesterday visiting W. F. McKnight and Joseph Kerwin, on his way to Detroit to attend the Elks convention.

Mr. Pickett is enthusiastic over the work done by congress, and declares that while the Republicans of his state are not stand-patters but progressives, they believe in President Taft's policies.

The congressman said, in reference to Congressman Diekema:

"Mr. Diekema is highly thought of in Washington. He is an earnest and conscientious representative of his constituents, an able man and one whose past experience will be of great value to this district in the coming year."—Grand Rapids News.

Miss Otilda Ring who Lectures at Free Baking School

MONDAY, JULY 18, 2 P. M.

The Ladies of Holland are invited to visit the Free Baking School at The Van Ark Furniture Co., 23-25 W. 8 St. and meet Miss Ring

The free baking school promises to be the most instructive ever enjoyed in Holland. Miss Ring will illustrate her talks with practical baking tests. She shows in an easy, simple manner, how to have perfect results, with least time, material and labor expended.

The recipes used are by Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill of the Boston Cooking School. All receipts are practical and so thoroughly tested that they are known to be absolutely correct.

There will be baked and served by Miss Ring at the opening class the following tempting baked dishes: White Mountain Cake, Gold Cake, Corn Bread, Plain Muffins. Miss Ring comes highly recommended, and if half is true that is said in her praise, she is sure to prove most enjoyably entertaining to the ladies of Holland. Miss Ring enjoys the distinction of never taking a failure out of the oven. If you are interested in adding to your fund of information of up-to-date baked dainties, don't fail to be present at the opening session.

Each day there will be a change in the dainties prepared, and every class will be a change in the dainties prepared, and every class will be of especial interest as Miss Ring is particularly lucid in her explanation of how failures in baking may be entirely eliminated. This course of lectures is absolutely free; there is no charge whatever.

Chairs will be placed so you may sit in comfort during the illustration.

Don't fail to attend the opening class at 2 p. m.

Don't neglect asking the representatives of K. C. Baking Powder, who will call on you, to show you the "Cook's Book." It is not like anything you have ever before been shown.

Mrs. Vera Lacey is visiting at the home of her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Lacey.

Rev. Wm. D. Vander Werp of

The science of adjusting by hand the subluxations (displacements) in the spinal column; commonly called the backbone, for the purpose of removing pressure from the nerves. The spinal column is the only place nerves pass between two hard or boney surfaces that are movable, therefore, practically the only place nerves can be impinged or the nerve restricted, and it matters not what part of the body or organ is affected, the cause is in the spiyou every place you are affected. Chiropractic is the only science that removes the cause of disease, and is done without pain, drugs or knife. I use nothing but my hands, and it takes but a fraction of a second, the whole object is accomplished when the nerve is released. Paralysis, deaf-

CONFESSING THE SON OF GOD.

Matthew 16:13-28.—July 17.

"Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God."

OUR Master, wisely and with becoming modesty, hesitated to declare his own greatness. He allowed his actions to speak and to tell to his disciples that he proceeded and came forth from God, and that in the performing of miracles, and particularly in his teachings, he was the finger of God and his mouth-piece. John the Baptist was sent to be his special fore-runner. It was he that declared that Jesus was "the Lamb of God which taketh away the sin of the world." It was he that declared that the Master was so much greater than himself that he was not worthy to stoop down and loose the Master's sandals.

But after John had borne him witness, testifying, "This is he," and had declared that he saw the holy Spirit descending upon Jesus like a dove, and that this was a sign given him whereby he might know his Messiahship, then came the time for the Master to bring the matter pointed to the attention of his followers. John had been cast into prison and later had been beheaded. John's prophetic testimony was fulfilled, when he said of Jesus, "He must increase, but I must decrease." The mission of Jesus and his Apostles became more prominent every day, and those who had formerly talked about John were now asking respecting Jesus, whether he was a prophet sent of God, or whether he was the Messiah. Do the rulers indeed know whether this is the Messiah or not? Surely "no man could do the miracles which he doeth unless God be with him" in some special manner.

Our Lord first inquired respecting the general opinion of the people concerning himself. He did this, not because of his own ignorance, but that he might draw out the thoughts of his disciples. They replied that some thought he was John the Baptist; others supposed he was one of the prophets. The ideas of the heathen were gradually making inroads upon the Jews. The doctrine of reincarnation, wholly unscriptural, is suggested in these answers. All the answers, of course, were wrong, for the prophets were all dead and could not reappear until the resurrection. Then our Lord pointedly put the question to his chosen followers: "Who do ye say that I am?" The courageous St. Peter promptly answered as spokesman for the whole company, "Thou art the Christ (Messiah), the Son of the living God." This was the very answer designed to be brought forth. It was the truth, but our Lord hesitated to present it, because it would better come from the disciples themselves and then have his endorsement. His answer to St. Peter was, "Blessed art thou, Simon Bar-Jona, for flesh and blood hath not revealed it unto thee, but my Father which is in heaven."

It was not that St. Peter had experienced a special vision or revelation, but such a great spiritual fact as was then under consideration, at that time could be appreciated only by those who were specially favored of the Father. Indeed, it is evident that the same principle still operates, for we read, "No man can come unto me, except the Father which sent me draw him." Our primary drawing and calling is of the Father up to the time when we accept his grace in Christ and make our consecration to do his will and receive the spirit of adoption into his family as God's children; we are then put into the school of Christ to learn of him. Let us learn the lesson that the special blessings always come, not only from believing in Christ, but also from confessing to and before others.

According to the Greek, our Lord replied to Peter, "Thou art a stone, and upon this rock will I build my Church." The rock upon which the Church is built is this confession which St. Peter made. St. Peter himself was not the rock, but he was one of the living stones built by faith upon the rock of truth. It was this same Apostle who so beautifully explained the whole matter, assuring us that all consecrated believers are "living stones" in the temple of God, whose foundation and cap stone is Christ, in whom we are builded together through the operation of the holy Spirit.—1 Peter 2:4-7.

The expression, "Upon this rock I will build my Church and the gates of hell (hades) shall not prevail against it," is one that is much misunderstood. The gates of hell are not gates to some place of torture, nor gates to purgatory. They are, in the Greek, "gates of hades," and hades signifies a state or condition of death. The passage might well be translated, "The gates of the grave shall not prevail against it." That is to say, Christ Jesus invites the Church to die with him, to share in his sacrifice, in his death, and while, apparently, the gates of hades have prevailed against the Church, against God's people, for more than eighteen centuries, nevertheless, we have the assurance that they shall not forever prevail. The Master's assurance is that by his death he has become Lord of all and has the keys of death and hades. He has the right to open hades, the tomb, and to call forth all who have gone down into it. He assures us that he will do this, as he says, "All that are in their graves shall hear the voice of the Son of man and shall come forth."

Nevertheless, for all these centuries it has required faith to believe that, by dying with Christ, his followers shall yet live with him—that sharing with him in his death they shall yet share with him in his resurrection to the glory, honor and immortality of the Divine nature. So, then, our Lord's words mean that there will be a resurrection from the grave, and since the Church is to be "a kind of firstfruits unto God of his creatures" (James 1:18; Revelation 14:4), her resurrection means, indirectly, this result, the uplifting of mankind, the opening of the grave to every member of the human family.

The giving of the "keys" of the Kingdom to St. Peter has no reference to locks and bars of heaven, over which St. Peter is the custodian. The Church in the present time is the Kingdom of Heaven in its preparatory or embryonic state, and St. Peter was privileged to do the opening work to the Gospel Church. He opened the door to the Jews at Pentecost, when, as the mouth-piece of the Lord, he proclaimed the meaning of the Pentecostal blessing and the hopes then open to every Jew coming. Individually into membership in Christ. He used the second "key" to open the same kingdom privileges to the Gentiles, in that when the due time came for Cornelius, the first Gentile convert, to be received, St. Peter did the work. By preaching to Cornelius the Gospel and by baptizing him into Christ he threw open the door to the Gentiles, as our Lord foretold in the words of this lesson.

St. Peter's commission that whatever things he should bind on earth should be bound in heaven and what things he should loose on earth should be loosed in heaven, is the same that was given to the other Apostles. (See Matthew 18:18.) It does not mean, of course, that the Lord has turned matters over to St. Peter and made him Lord of heaven and earth, nor that any or all of the Apostles were so honored. It simply means this: God purposes to use his Apostles and to so hold up their hands, in all their affairs, that the whole Church may have confidence in them, and may recognize their teachings as of God. If they declared that certain of the commandments under the Jewish law were not binding upon Christians, we must know that their statements were true, and that, similarly, in heaven, the release or change is recognized. And if they bound certain doctrines and teachings, we must know that those are bound and firmly established in heaven. In other words, we must recognize the Apostles as God's inherent mouthpieces.

The time for proclaiming Jesus as the Messiah did not come until after his death and resurrection. Indeed his Messiahship properly dates from his resurrection. He desired his disciples to recognize him properly, and he explained to them about his approaching death and resurrection, but he did not wish them to proclaim this to the world until the due time. St. Peter, perhaps elated with the Lord's commendation of his previous speech, undertook now the role of teacher to the one whom he had just acknowledged as the Messiah. In this he erred. It was in sympathy that he urged that the Master should not think of any steps which lead to suffering and death, but should rather of prosperity and earthly favor, yet our Lord's reproof was pointed. He said: You are my adversary, Peter, when you thus speak to me. You will thus endeavor to dissuade me from doing my Father's will, to hinder me from drinking the cup which my Father has poured for me; your counsel is that common to the world and not of God.

Similarly, the followers of Jesus sometimes need to resist their friends, who thus offer counsel contrary to Divine will and word and providence. These should not be encouraged nor their advice followed. "They need correction from their fellow disciples, as did St. Peter."

The words of Peter furnished the Master an opportunity for calling the attention of his followers to the terms of discipleship. Not only must the Master himself suffer, but all of his followers likewise. This course was provided for every one, and whoever would flee from it would lose the eternal life hoped for. Whoever would take up his cross and follow the Master to death would thereby make sure of his share in eternal life on the heavenly plane. His disciples had already pledged their earthly lives, and for them to withhold them for worldly advantage, would mean that they would lose their souls, their lives. This is not true of the world in general, but merely of the Church, called to be of the elect, Royal Priesthood.

He then assured them of his second coming, when he would come in the glory of the Father and with his angels (messengers)—not again as a man—as a sacrifice. At the time of his second coming he would reward every one of his followers according to the faithfulness of each. He concluded this reference to the coming Kingdom by the assurance that some of them would have an ocular demonstration of his coming power and glory before they would die. This we will consider in our next study.

WHAT YOU SAW IN THIS PAPER

35 Years ago To-day.

The following accident occurred in Overisel on Tuesday: John Scholten, a farmer, and while at work driving his mowing machine, fell off the seat and had one of his hands cut off above the wrist.

At a camp-meeting last summer, a venerable sister begun the hymn—"My soul be on thy guard: Ten thousand foes arise."

She began in shrill quavers, but it was pitched too high. "Ten thousand—Ten thousand," she screamed and stopped. "Start her at 5,000!" cried a converted stock-broker present.

The four hundred dollars reward, offered by the sheriffs of Kent and Ottawa Counties for the capture of Peter Shellen, charged with the murder of Eugene Naylor, induced some of our citizens to go out and capture him, or at least make the attempt. On Saturday, Messrs. Geo. Ostrander and T. V. Wainwright started out on horseback, in the direction of what is known as the "big marsh." This marsh is said to be an awful locality. It runs through both the towns of Olive and Robinson, the M. L. S. R. R. passing through it on the west and the C. & M. L. S. R. R. on the east side; it contains about 15,000 acres, the M. & O. R. R. now being built runs nearly through the centre of it; along this marsh bordering as it does upon the lumbering districts, there are hundreds of shanties; there is also a cave somewhere in or near this swamp, about three miles south east of what is called "Green's place." This locality is renowned as a resort for men upon whose head a reward is placed. The parties that started from here went direct into that neighborhood, having been informed as they claimed, that the object of their chase was roaming around there. They returned late that same evening, but without Mr. Shellen, he not being ready to surrender himself. From their statement it appears that they have been close upon his heels, and that upon another attempt they may be successful.

Thrilling Capture of Pirate Crew.

After trailing the nerviest gang of pirates who have ever operated along this shore for two weeks, the Ottawa county police officers at last captured them on the high seas two miles off Holland harbor. Tuesday the hull of a launch belonging to Henry Bredeweg of Holland, was found cast up on the beach near Saugatuck. The Grey motor and all the valuable fittings had been ripped out of the little craft before she was abandoned. The affair was a complete mystery, but added to this came the raid upon the Saugatuck water front a few nights later, when a launch belonging to George Cook was stolen. Cushions were found floating in the water near where the hull of the Bredeweg boat was found. As the Cook boat was steel, it is thought that the pirates after stripping her of her engine punched a hole in her and let her sink.

The job was pulled off pretty smoothly but the pirates left a clew behind them which resulted at last in their capture. On the same night that the Bredeweg launch was captured, a white sloop lay at anchor south of Holland harbor. Tuesday night when the raid was made upon Saugatuck, the white sloop passed mysteriously south and returned in the early morning.

Then she pulled anchor and disappeared, but her actions had attracted the attention of the life savers at Holland harbor. Deputy Sheriff Salisbury started on a chase after the mysterious craft going as far as Muskegon, where he searched the water front in the hope of intercepting her. But he was doomed to disappointment for the white sloop like a phantom craft had apparently slipped out of sight. Then, too late, he heard that the mysterious yacht had been in Spring Lake, but had pulled up her hook and sailed away. Shortly afterward the Grand Haven life savers, who had been notified of the chase of the pirate crew, notified the sheriff and also Holland life saving station that the pirate ship had sailed from this harbor and headed south.

The sheriff's officers at once took up the hunt again and Deputy Sheriff Dornbos, assisted by Deputy John Kleis of Holland and Deputy Rhoda of Allegan county, secured the launch Nina and made ready for a battle on the deep.

Early in the afternoon, the lookout in the Holland station watch tower picked up the pirateship with his glass and gave her direction to the waiting officers. Instantly the little Nina popped away out of the harbor and headed her nose resolutely for the menacing pirate craft.

Two miles off shore the Nina came alongside of the sloop and the officers hailed the occupants. On the pretence of looking for fish of illegal size the officers boarded the pirate craft without opposition.

Instantly the three men on board were placed under arrest and the sloop was seized in the name of the peace and dignity of the great state of Michigan. A search of the prize revealed the two stolen motors and their trappings, and the boarders knew they had made no mistake. The Nina saucily towed in her captive to harbor and the three alleged pirates were jailed.

They gave their names as George Williams of Chicago, Arthur McGauren of Wilmette, Ill., and Carl Gayle of Milwaukee and were bound over to circuit court by Justice Van der Muelen Friday.

Says the Grand Haven Tribune.—Much of the credit of the capture is handed to Hans Dykhuis, surfman at the Holland life saving station, who with police instinct suspected that there was something wrong in the action of the mysterious sloop. Hans, who was once under sheriff of Ottawa county, was in the watch tower the night the launch at Holland was stolen, and on the night the Saugatuck boat was taken he also noticed the sloop.

He notified the Grand Haven station and ascertained the whereabouts of the sloop, the day she disappeared off Holland. When he saw her again off Holland harbor he called up Deputy Sheriff Kleis, who in company with Deputy Sheriff Game Warden Dornbos, went out in the launch Nina and made the capture. They used the game warden's commission as a blind to search the boat and found the stolen property.

The three prisoners are at present held in the county jail here and their cases will be disposed of at the August session of the circuit court.

George Williams, one of the three men arrested in connection with the launch robbery, was discharged on motion of Prosecutor Coburn when arraigned before Justice Vander Meulen. Williams is a son of a prominent Chicago awning manufacturer, and no evidence of his connection with the robbery could be found, the other two men declaring that he had joined the party after the theft had been made. However, Williams was aboard the "Warm pes" when the Cook launch was stolen at Saugatuck, and immediately upon his discharge here, he was put under arrest by Deputy Sheriff Rhoda of Allegan County on a warrant charging him with the Saugatuck offence. He was taken to Saugatuck for arraignment.

Fans to Organize Stock Company.

This evening there will be a meeting of the base ball fans of this city to make further plans for the organization of a boosters club, that will have for its object that local citizens shall own the Holland ball team. At an initial meeting held in the law office of Attorney M. A. Sooy Monday evening, plans were made for the new venture. The control of the team hitherto has been vested in President Dickerson and other officials of the league. It was decided at the meeting to form a general stock company that will assume the ownership of the team on franchise, and the new organization will call itself the Boosters' Club.

In Traverse City, Muskegon and Cadillac associations were organized with $1,000 capital to take the franchise and secure a team, but Holland got into the league so late that there was no time for such a movement and the team so far has been carried by the league managers rather than by local citizens. It will be necessary to raise $500 for working capital in order to keep the team and for this purpose stock in denomination of $5 and $10 will be sold to the fans and business men, the association to be incorporated as the Holland Baseball association. A committee consisting of Oscar Peterson, George Lage, Con De Pree, John Vandersluis and Cornelius Vander Meulen was appointed to sell the shares of stock and a considerable portion were subscribed at the meeting last night of the necessary $500.

The Boosters club will try to arouse interest among the fans of the city and officers were elected as follows: president, Oscar Peterson; vice president, John Vandersluis; secretary, C. Vander Meulen; treasurer, George Conkle. The officers have announced that they will try to arrange for a big turnout here Saturday afternoon when the team is home, and the following committee has been appointed: James Tilt, William Witt, Harry Vick, Louis Vanden Berg, Patrick Nordhuis, Peter Damstra, Ben Lieveuse, Harry Becker, Andrew Verschure, Ben Wiersma, Fred Stratton, Judd Michmerhuizen, Al Rigterink, John Schouten, E. R. Farwell, Java Ver Schure, Peter Lieveuse, George Smith, Bert Golds, Paul Estelle, Al Brinkman.

All the local fans interested in the venture will be out tonight and the meeting is expected to be a rouser. The men in charge are sure that with local people in control interest in the team will increase a great deal, and with the home sentiment back of them the team is bound to be a winner. All are invited and urged to be present at the meeting this evening.
