Thousands View July 4 Program

Numerous Boats Attracted to All-Day Celebration
on Lake Here

Winning Fisher Dives to Win Prize; Races Are Conducted

Visitors, resorters and townspeople, numbering into the thousands, enjoyed the all-day program of varied events which was held July 4 under the auspices of the retail merchants' division of the Holland Chamber of Commerce.

Perfect weather conditions prevailed throughout the day as the various scheduled events were carried out. Thousands of persons lined both sides of the harbor channel and along the lake shore to witness the program which was climaxed with an aerial fireworks display at night.

A record-breaking crowd visited Holland State park at Ottawa beach Thursday for picnics and other family outings. While the sun was "just right" for sunbathing, the water was somewhat chilly for swimming and only a few entered the water.

The Macatawa Bay Yacht club was a beehive of activity throughout the day as numerous boats arrived and left the club's docks. The club feted numerous entries in the Chicago to Saugatuck race which sailed into the local harbor after finishing the race at Saugatuck.

The U. S. coast guard cutter Escanaba arrived Wednesday afternoon and departed at 5:15 p. m. Thursday for Grand Haven. Throughout the day, numerous persons inspected the Escanaba at the coast guard station.

Two additional coast guard boats also visited the local harbor. The Anctiam from Milwaukee tied up near the coast guard station after finishing her work of patrolling Lake Michigan for boats entered in the Milwaukee to Macatawa race.

The Colfax came to Holland harbor after concluding her duties of patrolling Lake Michigan for entries in the Chicago to Saugatuck race.

Capt. W. H. Arnold of Fort Benning, Ga., won the $5 prize for catching the largest fish before noon Thursday. Captain Arnold hooked a 16-pound carp which broke his line as he was reeling it in. Not to be cheated of his prize catch, Captain Arnold jumped into the water and shoved the large fish up the runway in front of the Holland coast guard station.

Warren St. John won first place in the swimming race for seniors and Harold Ter Beek won the junior swimming event. Then the two winners raced against each other under handicap and Ter Beek won. There were about four entrants in the senior event and about five in the junior event.

Two speedboat races were held in the afternoon. In the first race, Mr. Peters of Waukegan won first place after Charles R. Sligh, Jr., had been disqualified. Sligh was leading the race but he cut his boat too short and failed to cross the finish line. Wally Van Regenmortel of Macatawa park placed second.

In the second race, Peters and Sligh raced to a dead heat. Van Regenmortel won second place and Don Battjes placed third.

At 3 p. m. Thursday, Sligh, Mort Roberts and Bob Walters presented an aquatic performance. In one stunt, the three men on water skis were in tow behind a speedboat. With Sligh and Roberts on each end holding a pole, Walters kicked off his skis and then hung by his knees from the pole.

Then Walters and Roberts were towed behind a boat while Walters with a shorter rope jumped between the wakes of the boat. Sligh gave an exhibition with the "jitterboard" which is seven inches wide and six and one-half feet long. The tow rope is attached to the board instead of being held by the rider. He also gave a demonstration with the surfboard which is 13½ feet long and 20 inches wide.

At the invitation of Sligh, two volunteers tried out the water skis. They were Harold Ter Beek and Wayne A. Riskadahl, the latter being a member of the Escanaba's crew.

More thrills were provided at 7:30 p. m. when the water ski performers took to the lake again for a series of jumps in addition to stunts which were staged in the afternoon.

The barrier consisted of a floating ramp, the high end of which was about 4½ feet out of the water. Bob Walters, towed on his skis, made four successful jumps in which he sailed through the air a distance of about 35 feet.

Sligh performed on the aquaplane at night, taking some very fast, wide turns at 40 and 50 miles an hour—besides standing on his head on the straightaway for about 200 yards.

Headed by a coast guard boat, the parade of the power boats was held at 5 p. m. The parade extended through the harbor channel, and up Lake Macatawa for some distance before it broke up and the boats returned to Macatawa bay.

PHILIP REIMOLD OF N.Y. IS DEAD

Announcement is made of the death of Philip B. Reimold, 37, at Yonkers, N. Y., at 2:30 p. m. July 9, after a brief illness. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Reimold.

He was graduated from New York university and the Babson institute, and was connected with an insurance company as chief engineer of the New York district.

He was born June 28, 1903, in Holland.

Surviving are his parents, one brother, O. S. Reimold, Jr., and two children, Phyllis and Alyce.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at the summer home of the parents on East 16th St., at the convenience of the family. Burial will be in Pilgrim Home cemetery. Friends may view the remains Friday morning between the hours of 10 and 12.

Thousands lined the shores to see this event.

Thousands of persons thronged Macatawa park, Ottawa beach and along the lake front to witness the hour's aerial fireworks display which climaxed the day's program.

Visitors to Kollen park were given a double feature. In addition to the fireworks display, many watched the arrival of the lake freighter George F. Rand with a cargo of coal for Harrington's and the new municipal power plant.

More than 50 power, cruisers and sailing craft visited Macatawa bay over the holiday. The lake freighter Rand arrived in the channel at the time when Sligh was participating in his stunts as part of the water circus and it was necessary for several boat owners to move their boats to allow the freighter to pass. The appearance of the large lake freighter, with all the other crafts, and fireworks was an unusual sight.

Among the visiting craft was the "Realty," owned by Karl Neidecker, commodore of the Chicago Yacht club. The boat was an all-steel craft, driven by Diesel burning auxiliary motors.

The three-masted schooner Atlantic also was a harbor visitor. She is the property of Erwin C. Uihlein of Milwaukee, Wis., and is capable of traveling in any fresh or salt water. The craft has diesel burning auxiliary motors.

A dinner party was served Wednesday night at the Macatawa Bay Yacht club for Lt. Cmdr. J. P. Murray, Lt. O. C. B. Wev, Lt. (jg) F. V. Helmer, Lt. (jg) Hutson, Jr., all of the Escanaba and Capt. Charles Bontekoe, officer in charge of the Holland coast guard station.

NAME HARTMAN BOARD MEMBER IN SCHOOL VOTE

Albert E. Lampen and C. J. De Koster Also Win in Election

Three Trustees Are Named by Over Six Hundred Voters Here

With the reelection of two trustees and the election of a new member at the annual school election held Monday from 2 to 8 p. m. in the G. A. R. room of the city hall, the roster of the board of education from the ensuing year will remain practically the same.

The reelected members are Prof. Albert E. Lampen, 86 East 14th St., and C. J. De Koster, 260 West 17th St. Ernest V. Hartman, 242 West 10th St., will become the new board member, succeeding William Arendshorst, 118 East Ninth St., who was fourth highest in the tabulation of the votes.

Professor Lampen polled the highest number with 474 votes. Mr. De Koster's total was 373 while local voters gave Mr. Hartman 366 votes. Mr. Arendshorst's total was 330 while M. Everett Dick, 113 West 11th St., the fifth candidate, gained 268 votes.

Mayor Henry Geerlings, board secretary, said today that the board will meet Monday at 7 p. m. at the high school to elect new officers and organize for the coming year.

To assure that the tabulation was correct, the election board made three tabulations of the ballots but there was little change in the distribution of the votes.

A total of 639 ballots was cast in Monday's election. This is an increase of 193 over the 1939 total of 446. Voting in school elections of past years included 169 votes in 1938, 650 in 1937 and 424 in 1936.

Multiplied by three, the total number of votes for the five candidates should have been 1,917. However, the aggregate totals for the five amount to 1,814 which means that 103 persons voted for either one or two candidates instead of three as designated on the ballots.

Professor Lampen will commence his third consecutive term on the school board and Mr. De Koster will begin his fourth term next Monday. Mr. Hartman has never served on the school board.

School board members whose terms did not expire this year are Fred Beuwkes, Mrs. Martha D. Kollen, Mayor Geerlings, Albert E. Van Lente, John Olt and Albert Van Zoeren.

Mr. Arendshorst issued a statement Tuesday in which he thanked interested voters and his friends for the support given him at the polls.

"While not reelected, I have no regrets. I have performed my duties during my 12 years of service as I believed they should be carried out. I have protested against un-American teaching in our high schools and this may have caused my defeat," he said.

LARGE OWL RETURNS WITH TRAP HE STOLE IN TAKING CHICKENS

The unwise owl who came back is now the bird in the "guilty" cage at the George Hemwall residence north of the East Shore garage near Goshorn lake at Saugatuck.

Two weeks ago, the owl, which had been killing many of Hemwall's chickens was caught in a trap. When Mr. Hemwall went out to kill the bird, however, he found it had disappeared, trap and all.

Yesterday the owl returned after more chickens, still carrying the trap. This time part of his trappings got caught in the fence and he was captured and put in a small, wire coop.

Conservation Officer Forrest Lavoy investigated the report, but turned the case over to Harry Plotts, Allegan county conservation officer.

Grand Haven, July 11 (Special)—The Harmony Two, 35-foot auxiliary sloop owned by F. L. Foote of Chicago, went aground at the river bend Wednesday afternoon with Mr. Foote and his wife aboard. Mr. Foote has a short-wave radio set on the sloop and upon communicating with the coast guard station with radio telephone, the station boat immediately went out and pulled the sloop into the channel.

Upon his arraignment before Justice George V. Hoffer late in the afternoon, he was assessed costs of $6.85, which were paid after pleading guilty.

BERLIN FAIR'S NAME TO BE UNCHANGED

Grand Rapids, July 11—Officers of the Berlin fair association announced early this week that war or no war, the fair to be held at Marne Aug. 27 to 30 will continue to be known as the Berlin fair.

According to M. Fred Oltman, president of the fair, Marne was originally called Berlin but its name was changed upon the entry of the United States into the World war.

Old timers in this section of the state, however, just couldn't stand having the name of the fair changed, so it was retained.

The sponsoring society which this year was reorganized to comply with state laws, changed its name from the Ottawa and Kent agricultural society to the Berlin fair association.

Two Applications for Building Permits Filed

Louis Pados filed an application with City Clerk Oscar Peterson Tuesday for a building permit to build a wood fence 10 feet high and 50 feet long on Fourth St., between River Ave., and Pine Ave., and to make repairs in the pressure room which was partially destroyed. Cost was listed at $100.

John Swierenga made application to build a 24 by 30 foot residence, one and one-half stories high, of frame construction with asphalt roofing at a cost of $3,200 and also a 12 by 20 foot garage at a cost of $150.

Disturbances on Lake Michigan Are Mystery

Resorters Are Scared as Cottages Are Shaken by Rumbles

A low rumbling noise and a miniature earthquake—still unaccounted for—were heard and felt on Lake Michigan Tuesday night. Many diversified reports of the noise have been given.

Reports as to the time of the rumbling varied, although it was certain that it occurred late in the evening. Almost all of the cottagers were awakened and some were so frightened, they came into town to spend the night.

Some reported that their dishes and other things in their cottages were shaken. Others put more bricks under their cottage for a better foundation.

Grand Haven reported that the steel and concrete shelter pavilion, the lookout, and the pavement at the state park there shook. Cars, house trailers, and windows naturally shook then too. No such violent shocks took place at the Holland state park. It was thought at Grand Haven that the tremblings came from the lake's bottom because shocks did not extend over a few hundred feet inland.

The Holland coast guard station reported Wednesday that the noise seemed too low to be thunder and sounded more like the firing of heavy artillery somewhere out on the lake. They reported that there was no weather change.

Capt. W. J. Petroskey who came over from Wisconsin on the cement boat Daniel McCool said that he heard the strange noise too but could offer no definite explanation. He laughingly discounted all rumors and said that it was probably some left-over fireworks.

It didn't seem so funny, however, to cottagers on Lake Michigan who wanted the residences to stay where they had been built. The lake was smooth and a heavy sea came up, it was reported by some, probably caused by atmospheric conditions. There was no sign of a storm and the fact that a storm might have been brewing over the lake was discounted.

Some said the rumbling began in the afternoon while others say it did not begin until about 8 p. m. About five to eight vibrations occurred every 15 to 20 minutes it was reported.

At South Haven, the coast guard reported after an investigation that the rumbling may have been caused by firing of heavy artillery at Fort Sheridan, Ill.

Chicago, July 11—Residents along the southwestern Michigan shoreline were warned today to prepare for strange "rumbles" the night of July 23.

Coast guards questioned about reported rumbling heard near Holland, South Haven and Grand Haven Tuesday night said that the noise "undoubtedly was firing of heavy artillery at Fort Sheridan, Ill."

They pointed out that the army there was practicing firing three-inch guns that send projectiles about eight and a half miles over the water of Lake Michigan.

They added that if wind conditions are favorable, similar rumbles may be heard the night of July 23, when Fort Sheridan will undertake another practice with its long-range guns.

Grand Haven, July 11—Whether a "seiche" created the series of mysterious tremors and rumbles along Lake Michigan Tuesday night remained uncertain here today.

A "seiche," meteorologists explained, is an upswelling or oscillation of water caused by atmospheric pressure set up during thunderstorms.

Coast guards said that they received many telephone calls Tuesday night immediately after the tremors were felt. Reports that the lake, which had been in a dead calm, was violently agitated, were not confirmed.

Parsons Moves to Stop Sale of Lottery Tickets

Prosecutor Expects Police to Enforce State Law in Holland

Elbert Parsons, Ottawa county prosecuting attorney, took action today to stop the sale of lottery tickets in Ottawa county and particularly in the city of Holland.

Informed that some of the merchants in the city of Holland are issuing tickets on a car-drawing to be held in Allegan county, Parsons wrote Acting Chief of Police Jacob Van Hoff, advising him that he expected the department forthwith to stop this practice in the city.

"Any persons continuing to advertise these lotteries in adjacent counties or to give out tickets thereon in this county, must expect to be prosecuted if they fail to desist upon notice of this warning," he wrote.

"Almost every time I am compelled to advise some 'wistful' individual that it is illegal to conduct lotteries and run various gambling games I have brought to my attention," he said, "the fact that 'they are doing it everywhere'."

"Maybe they are," the Ottawa prosecutor declared, "but so far as I am concerned they will have to restrict their activities to the confines of their own counties."

The Michigan statute which prohibits lotteries is Sec. 28,604,

PROTEST FETE ON LORD'S DAY

The following open letter was sent by the members of the local Ministers Association to S. H. Houtman, manager of the Tulip Time festival:

"Dear Mr. Houtman: "Tulip Time in Holland has come and gone for the year 1940 and your committee is already busy formulating a program for 1941. The Ministers Association of Holland wishes to take this opportunity to commend you and your committee for the very high type of program it has sponsored during the past years.

"We are, however, especially concerned about one phase of your program, namely the place that the Lord's Day has occupied in these last two years. We have been in sympathy with the effort of the committee to make Tulip Time a distinctly Dutch festival. The tulips, the 'klompen', the street scrubbing and many other features have admirably depicted the life of our forefathers in the Netherlands as well as the life of our early settlers here in Holland.

"It has grieved us, however, that the great heritage of this community, the Christian religion of our forefathers, has received so little emphasis. Dr. Van Raalte came to Holland first of all for religious purposes and because of his conviction of religious principles. The sanctity of the Lord's Day was a cardinal principle in the tenets of belief held by these early pioneers.

"During the last two years we have witnessed a sad disregard for the sanctity of the Lord's Day. We sincerely believe that the commercialism of the Lord's Day during Tulip Time will prove to be the entering wedge for an open Sunday in our beloved city. The fact that some of our public institutions and many private establishments have been encouraged to be open for business on one or two Sunday's in the year does not lessen the danger of this becoming a precedent. A great principle is at stake. If one Lord's Day may be used for commercial reasons, why not every one? If the action of the Tulip Time committee establishes this precedent, what can we do to prevent any one else from opening his establishment regularly on Sundays?

"In view of all this, we, the members of the Ministers Association of Holland, hereby respectfully petition your committee to delete the two Lord's Days entirely from your program for 1941 and every year thereafter and that the Tulip Time Festival be limited to these days, Monday through Saturday.

"We trust that your committee will give very serious consideration to this request of the Ministers Association of Holland and that we may be favored with a written reply to our earliest convenience.

Cordially yours,

The Ministers Association of Holland.

Arrange Full Schedule at Playground Centers

Activities at the four playground centers in the city are progressing with enthusiasm on the part of both children and supervisors, according to Leon Moody, director of the annual summer project. The city-wide hop-scotch match held the interest at Washington school Wednesday, and Friday morning at all four centers, will occur the annual doll shows, among the most attractive features of the summer schedule.

Special prizes will be offered Friday for dolls which are judged to be the funniest, largest, smallest, best dressed, and oldest, as well as for character dolls and the largest family of dolls. Women of the community will be asked by the committee to serve as judges in these events.

Sports events scheduled for this week include the softball match Thursday between Van Raalte older girls and the Longfellow group at Longfellow; the Van Raalte older boys will play softball at Lincoln; Lincoln younger boys will play at Washington; and Longfellow younger boys will play at Van Raalte.

Opening with an all-city attendance of approximately 800 children on Monday, July 1, the average attendance at the playgrounds now is estimated at nearly 1,000 children, 75 per cent of whom are between the ages of two and 12 years. The program for the younger children consists mainly of kindergarten activities, including singing, games, handwork and story hours. A popular feature for this group was the amateur hour put on by the children at Washington school Tuesday.

It was emphasized by Mr. Moody today, that children may enter the playground activities at any time and for any period. It is a recreational program open to all children of the city, conducted under the supervision of experienced teachers and their assistants.

The five-week program will continue until August 2, when the schedule will be brought to a close with a gala picnic at each of the playground centers.

GROUPS IN CITY FAVOR WILLKIE, SURVEY SHOWS

Part of Professional and Business Men Predict His Election

Wendell L. Willkie, as the Republican nominee for president of the United States, today received the endorsement and approval of Holland's business and professional men.

In an attempt to learn the local reaction to his dramatic nomination at the Republican convention in Philadelphia, the Sentinel polled local business and professional men on this question:

"What do you think of Willkie as the Republican nominee for president?"

The response was favorable from those who permitted a direct quotation. Several business and professional men declined to comment publicly because of policies of their firms and companies. However, a number of them made complimentary "off-the-record" remarks about his nomination and some predicted his election.

Here are the comments: Mayor Henry Geerlings—"I am greatly pleased with the nomination of Mr. Willkie as the standard bearer of the Republican party. The delegates made a wise choice. They wanted a man of proved executive competence. Mr. Willkie's successful career as an executive in industry offers a splendid guarantee of solving the problems which face us. He has a good reputation and a strong personality. Of all the candidates whose names were before the convention, he is very well qualified to meet the responsibilities of office which will confront the president in the next four years."

Daniel Ten Cate, attorney—"It suits me OK and he will win the election."

Orie S. Cross, attorney—"He's a choice of the majority of the delegates and I'm for him."

Clarence A. Janning, cashier of Peoples States bank—"I think that of the entire number of men the Republicans had, the right man was nominated. If Willkie applies the same business methods he applied to the Commonwealth and Southern Corp., we'll have a good president."

Charles H. McBride, attorney—"I think he is the best nominee, not only in the Republican party, but he will be the best nominee at the election and I think he will win."

Elbert Parsons, Ottawa county prosecutor—"They nominated the best candidate they had."

John Good of The John Good Co.—"He's very good."

John R. Dethmers, former county prosecutor—"I think that it is the best thing that has ever happened to the Republican party since the nomination of Lincoln."

Vernon Ten Cate, attorney—"I think he's the hope for all the Americas."

Clarence A. Lokker, city attorney—"He is the outstanding American citizen and statesman for the job—a very happy people's choice."

Judge Fred T. Miles of the Ottawa-Allegan circuit—"The nomination of Willkie showed a freedom from the old line steam-rolling methods. All in all, I think Willkie is a man of exceptionally good business ability and I think it's about time we had a business man at the head of the biggest business in the United States."

Raymond L. Smith, municipal judge—"We now have an opportunity of electing a businessman who can put business methods in our government."

Alex Van Zanten, manager of the auto license bureau—"I'm for him 100 per cent."

Cornelius Vander Meulen, attorney—"I am enthusiastic about Mr. Willkie's candidacy because I believe it assures a campaign on a clean-cut, live issue, that is 'liberal individualism vs. the benevolent collectivism called the New Deal.' I believe the American people are longing for the chance to do things for themselves instead of having government do it for them and the leadership of Mr. Willkie points that way."

William Arendshorst, investment broker—"He's my choice and the two Republican nominees make an ideal team."

$412,000.00 FOR GEOGRAPHY

Careful and apparently scientific estimates seem to show that Michigan's tourist business this summer will be very nearly $412,000.
That is a bonus the state gets for being located as it is and for having the lake breezes that nature has provided. In other words our geography gives us an added
revenue of 412 million dollars.

There was a time in the history of the state when Michigan's geography was a liability rather than an asset. In colonial times, when immigrations were in progress from the relatively settled east to the middle west and west, Michigan was in the position of an eddy to the side of a stream. The main stream of settlers went along the southern points of the Great Lakes because it was difficult or usually impossible to transport trains of covered wagons over long stretches of water. Hence Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, and many sections much farther west were settled before the peninsula jutting out between Lake Michigan and Lake Huron became the object of the attention of settlers. Michigan seemed a permanent eddy on the edge of the western movement.

This was so true that only a few years before the upward push of the population into this peninsula
congress was told that Michigan was hardly more than a worthless area of swamps. Because Lewis Cass wanted to remove this stigma from the American mind
he called the section a "pleasant peninsula," and that has since been translated into Latin and incorporated in the state motto.

And it has been exactly that that has turned what first was a liability into an asset. For it is not only true that this is a "pleasant peninsula" but the rest of the people of the nation are so convinced of the fact that they are willing to pay Michigan a bonus of $412-000,000 for the privilege of enjoying this pleasant peninsula for a few weeks or months during the summer.

While this is an asset that nature herself has given us, like most of nature's gifts it had to be developed and it will have to be conserved. Without the present splendid system of roads this asset would be worthless, and without the other developments that have been made it would be a far poorer asset. Anyone who makes this pleasant peninsula a still more pleasant place to visit is increasing the state's capital. There is no reason to believe that the annual revenue, large though it already is, cannot be greatly increased.

Job's Struggle to Faith in Life
After DeathJob 14: 13-17; 17: 13-16;
19: 23-29

By Henry Geerlings

It is difficult for us to view religious matters from the standpoint of Job for it seems that we are living in a different world. He lived before a line of the New Testament was written, and it may be also before much of the Old Testament was penned. In that event it was necessary for him to reason the matter of a future life out to something like satisfaction to himself.

We do not take the resurrection and the life beyond for granted exactly, but we look at it from the point of view of the Christian, and our light is intensely greater than was his. For that reason we ought to be able to sympathize with this man, for he had to make for himself a path seemingly that had never been clearly made before his day. The struggle that non-Christian nations have today with this question is very similar to that which the patriarch Job experienced.

In many pagan religions the conception of the future life filled a great space. In some it absorbed the attention of the worshippers
to the exclusion of everything else. But both natural religion and speculative philosophy proved ineffective in their treatment of the future and man's relation to it.
These failed because they lacked the one thing from which faith in immortality could spring—a true conception of God and of man and his relation to God.

It is quite true that Israel had hardly any ideas about the future, but Israel had God, and that was everything. Israel knew that Jehovah was the living and true God. Israel knew that God had made man in his own image, capable of communion with him, and blest only in such communion.
This faith in God was greater than Israel realized. It could not be exhausted in a day. It had treasures stored up in it that only centuries of experience could disclose, and among them was the hope of immortality.

The question which Job asked in his despair finds an echo in many a human heart—"If a man
die, will he live again?" This question is met by the words of Jesus,
"Because I live, ye shall live also."
Every death chamber is an anteroom of the infinite temple. Every death hour is a triumph hour of entrance through an arch of shadows to the eternal day. The grave is but the hyphen between two worlds.

Job answers his own question
in the affirmative, by his knowledge of God's faithfulness to his own purposes. He reasons that if other workmen have a desire to finish and perfect their work, God,
the great master worker, must surely have a desire to bring his masterpiece, man, to the highest perfection of which it is capable.
Having made man, he cannot allow the grave to be the end of his life; for the grave in such a case would be utter ending of his work
while it was yet unfinished.

Human nature confirms the hope of immortality. Our present life is incomplete. We scarcely learn to be of use in this world before we are called to leave it.
When we have gained some need of experience we find our faces veiled in age, and our feet treading toward the grave. All our difficulties point to a greater completeness by and by. We are begun but not finished. Every man discovers that he is equipped for more things than this life calls for. He has powers which this world never drafts into service.
He can get neither time nor space
enough to employ the many powers of his mind and spirit. These are the forerunners of immortality.
These are the pledges God has made of the fuller life beyond.

Now Job was not so much troubled about his own future fate, as about the justice of God. At the worst he looked for rest in the grave but felt that he could not rest with his soul full of questions. Whether suffering or ease was his lot, he was confident that he had done right, and he wanted
the assurance that God recognized this Job's friends had no problem. In their minds, God's justice always brought visible reward to the good and to the evil visible punishment. Therefore, they agreed, Job must be very wicked, if not openly, then through some terrible sin hidden even from himself. To Job this appeared to be beside the point, dishonoring to God as well as to himself. Moreover it juggled with the evidence, for the wicked are not always punished. They prosper and apparently die in peace,
whereas Job cannot even die swiftly.

Job found hope in suggesting that righteousness cannot be destroyed. It exists forever, and God, being the redeemer, will somehow,
somewhere, some time, justify his righteous servants. If this does not happen in the flesh—and it was not happening, for Job had lost not only his wealth and health, but,
far worse, his reputation, then it must happen without the flesh.
Such a hope in a future life was born not of any selfish wish to survive and prosper endlessly,
but of a noble desire to believe that God is righteous.

It is difficult to believe in the goodness of God unless there is a life to come, where the probation of this life is evaluated and rewarded. Job did not regard immortality merely as survival and reward for himself, but as the only basis for a belief that God
was at heart good.

LIST OF TWELVE RACE INSTRUCTIONS GIVEN BOAT OWNERS

The Macatawa Bay Yacht club issued instructions before the opening races to yacht owners and skippers through the race committee late last week. All are self explanatory.

The committee also announced that because the club has purchased buoys of its own, no government buoys in Lake Macatawa have to be observed in racing.

The instructions are as follows: 1. An entry fee of 10 cents per foot of boat length will be charged to all boats participating in races. This charge is to be received by the race committee.

2. The L. M. Y. A. racing rules will govern except where club rules suspend them in so far as they conflict. For handicap ratings, the L. M. Y. A. rating formula governs.

3. A course chart may be obtained from the race committee.

4. Starting signals will be shown from the breakwater end of the starting line or from the club tender.

5. Special instructions relating to starting times, change of course etc., may be announced by megaphone from race committee boat or stand. They must be announced to each skipper individually.

6. Races in one or more classes may be postponed beyond the hour or the day scheduled at the discretion of the race committee according to rule VI of the racing rules.

7. Unfavorable weather shall always be considered a valid reason for postponement and the race committee has been instructed by the board of directors invariably to take the conservative side. In all cases of doubt about the safety of ships and crews, their decision to postpone the race is obligatory.

8. Whenever the weather conditions for the outside six-mile course do not appear favorable before the warning gun, a red cylinder will be hoisted on the yardarms of the club's flagpole. The race will then either be postponed or sailed inside.

9. On Lake Macatawa no government marks have to be observed.

10. Yacht must be filed within two hours after race.

11. Time limits for the 22 square meter class and universal handicap races are three hours for once around course, 4½ hours for twice around course, and 1½ hours for first leg of course.

12. See also course charts and safety rules.

Large Crowds Attracted to Successful Rally Day

With ideal weather and a crowd estimated at between 3,000 and 4,000 persons from all parts of Western Michigan, the Holland Christian schools staged another successful Rally Day at Kardux beach July 4.

Sports and games opened the morning's activities. The afternoon program got under way promptly at 2 p.m. with the enlarged Christian high band playing several selections under the leadership of John De Vries. Due to illness, the Rev. William Kok of Zeeland was unable to lead community singing and the Rev. C. M. Schoolland served in his place, leading the audience in a variety of numbers including hymns, Dutch psalms and patriotic numbers found in a specially prepared booklet.

The minister's quartet composed of the Revs. D. Drost, D. H. Walters, R. Heynen and L. Voskuil, engaged for the week at the Cedar Lake conference in Indiana, reserved this day for the Rally Day and favored with several selections throughout the afternoon and evening programs. This quartet was organized while these four men were classmates at college.

The main address of the day was delivered by the Rev. G. Hoeksema of Chicago who spoke on "The Christian School and the World Today." Standing on a platform bedecked with bunting and American flags, the speaker introduced his remarks with a stirring description of today's world's events, interpreting in a novel way the words of the Battle Hymn of the Republic. He saw in the conditions of the world of today the outpouring of God's wrath, but that for the Christian there should be great comfort in the fact that "His Truth Goes Marching On."

He stressed the fact that the war psychology of today can be a definite boon for the preservation of American democratic institutions. "In the first place," he said, "it forces us to recognize the danger of pagan Nazism to ourselves and our institutions, that we cannot be complacent in our attitude when dangers surround us on every hand. To offset this danger, a militant Christianity is needed, one that will repel the foes of our religious and civic institutions."

"Secondly, the war psychology forces upon us the need of a spirit of sacrifice. War and sacrifice go together. Equally is this true on the support of Christian schools, not only must the soldiers or teachers make sacrifices, but all must be willing to make these sacrifices."

Continuing his address, Rev. Hoeksema pointed out that the conditions of the world today offer a distinct warning to mankind. "Our slogan must be 'Carry On,' Nazism and Communism, as well as materialistic philosophy, are forces operating today which are working toward the overthrow not only of our cherished democratic institutions, but of our Christian faith as well. When the paganism of a Nazi Germany or Communistic Russia takes over the training of youth, the Christian faith is shattered."

"In Europe," the speaker claimed, "many are succumbing to the dictates of totalitarianism, thereby sacrificing individual liberty, if only the new government will feed me and fill my purse." Individual liberty is sacrificed for the food and money. The Christian schools, emblematic of American institutions, must rise as a bulwark, a defense for the preservation and perpetuation of American democratic institutions."

Concluding his stirring address, Rev. Hoeksema stressed the need of patriotism. "We are fighting on the firing line. The perpetuation of our freedom is dependent upon the outcome of this war. Therefore Christian American citizens must rise to the defense so that our Christian liberties, guaranteed by a constitution, can be safeguarded."

The evening's program consisted of additional numbers by the band and the quartet. The Essenberg sisters sang selections after which the motion pictures entitled "Tundra" and "Bombs Over Europe" were shown.

Dr. F. J. Danhof was chairman of the day. In his introductory remarks, he gave a brief history of Independence Day, stressing the fact that world conditions today should give us a greater appreciation than ever before of living in a free United States of America. In alluding to the program of one year ago he recalled that in that year one of the staunch leaders, A. Peters, had been taken by death and that fatherland of many Holland citizens had been engulfed in war.

Poppen Comes Here From China for Year's Furlough

Says Japs Have Gone as Far as They Can in Orient Invasion

The Rev. Henry A. Poppen, missionary from Amoy, China, returned to Holland recently from China for a furlough of a year after spending a few days in Sioux Center, Ia., with his supporting church. Mrs. Poppen, who has been lecturing at the Winona Summer School of Missions at Winona Lake, Ind., met him en route at Sioux Center.

"The Japanese have gone as far into China as they can," Rev. Poppen said here. "They are having considerable difficulty in unifying their conquests because of the action of guerrilla bands which have been operating even as near the coast as Shanghai where the gunfire can be heard."

A golf caddy, he related looked rather tired on the golf course. When asked what the trouble was, the caddy replied, "You no savee. master. Daytime must work and night time fight Japanese."

In his 22 years of service among the Chinese, Rev. Poppen has several times been held up by bandits, robbed and shamed out of an inland station by bands of Communists. He told of the time bandits, robbed and chased out of which he was riding. A bullet grazed his back when he ducked. The guard sitting next to him was killed by the same bullet. Under such conditions, Rev. Poppen has for more than two decades been going deep into undeveloped territory on foot to organize new churches, install pastors and carry on evangelistic work in general.

Since the Japanese occupation, he has been serving on various committees. As chairman of the international relief committee, he was responsible for the distribution of refugees, some 60,000, to inland cities and coastal towns. About 42,000 had to be fed and housed on the island of Kulangsu, an international settlement three and one-half miles in area. Approximately $1,000,000 was contributed by various overseas Chinese and the Chungking National government. Assisting him in this work were the managers of the Chinese Overseas bank, Dutch East Indies bank, Bank of China and the secretary of the Kulangsu municipal council. Various members of the three cooperating missions—both British and American—were active in their support.

Rev. Poppen was elected a member of the Kulangsu municipal council, a body governing the international settlement of Kulangsu. During the time when the blockade cut Amoy off from the mainland, Kulangsu was threatened by a shortage of food and fuel. Rev. Poppen, because of his friendly relations with the Japanese consul general and the general of the Chinese forces on the mainland, was able to procure supplies of wood and fuel through the blockade. At one time as many as 20,000 women stood in line waiting for a 20-cent bundle of wood.

In Rev. Poppen's capacity as chairman of the International relief committee, and as the American representative on the municipal council, he was able to act as mediator between the Chinese and Japanese forces. Through this, many prominent Chinese, suspected and imprisoned through misunderstandings, were freed.

At the time of the occupation he served as secretary of the Chinese Y.M.C.A. He was in Amoy when it was attacked by land, sea and air forces, and escorted 300 women and children across the harbor to safety. They had taken refuge in the Y.M.C.A., and fled with the Japanese only a block away.

The occupation of the city temporarily halted the educational program and all schools closed. The Tung-Wen institute was reopened on Kulangsu with an enrollment of 1,000. Rev. Poppen served as principal. This school for primary and high school boys and girls, was founded by the American consul in 1898 and continues under a board of Chinese and American trustees.

During the last three years, Rev. Poppen also served as secretary of the American mission.

In his work as missionary he was interested in newspaper evangelism and ran a series of religious articles in the local daily papers and also published a quarterly sent to those responding to the appeals in the press.

As secretary-treasurer of the South Fukien Religious Tract and Bible society, Rev. Poppen was responsible for the distribution of Christian literature as well as Bibles and tracts and the publication of the church weekly.

Rev. Poppen was born in Prairie View, Kans., but spent his early boyhood in Sioux Center. He was graduated from the Northwestern Classical academy of Orange City, Ia., in 1910, took his B.A. degree at Hope college with the class of '14 after which he spent one year of his seminary training at Princeton Theological seminary. He completed his course at Western Theological seminary. After his first furlough in 1924, he took his Th. M. at Princeton.

He has been asked by the synod of the South Fukien church to serve on the faculty of the South Fukien Theological seminary upon his return to China.

Mrs. Poppen has been active in church circles and lately has been attending Winona Summer School of Missions at Winona Lake where she lectured and taught for a week.

No dish towels will be allowed at Camp Ottawa this year. All dishes and silverware will be immersed for a period in water maintained at 180 degrees or above, with the dishes drying themselves because of the heat thus absorbed. This is in line with the recommendations of the national health and safety committee of the Boy Scouts of America in an effort to have scout camps conducted in the most safe and healthful manner possible.

Visitors are always welcome at Camp Ottawa on Wednesdays and Sundays. The parking area is being enlarged so as to accommodate the cars of large numbers of parents and friends of scout campers who come to visit and to watch the water sports and other interesting programs at camp.

Scouts of Troops Nos. 10 and 26 of Holland, No. 14 of Spring Lake and No. 104 of Fennville will be at Ottawa from July 13 to 20.

Troop No. 92 of Allegan is the only registration received at the scout office for the third period which begins July 20th.

The fourth period will include scouts from Troop No. 92, Allegan; Troop 31 of Marne; 99 of Otsego; 96 of Hopkins and 23 of Grand Haven.

Troop 96 will also be represented in the fifth period and Troop 105 of Plainwell will attend the final period beginning Aug. 10. Other troops are expected to register shortly so that all six periods will be filled nearly to capacity.

Tunnel Park Is Popular Location for Picnics

Following a full day on Fourth of July, activities are in full swing at Tunnel park, the county park on Lake Michigan which annually is the scene of a record number of picnics, reunions, beach parties and the like.

Already numerous reservations have been made for picnics and reunions, according to Ben Lievense, director of park activities. Many of the large factories in Holland are planning annual picnics to be held at this popular picnic ground.

One reservation for Sunday includes a picnic for the Am-O-Sy club of Grand Rapids for 50 persons. There are two reservations for Wednesday including a group of the Central Avenue Christian Reformed church for 200 and the Second Reformed church of Zeeland, also for 200.

On Thursday the young people of the Grandville Avenue Christian Reformed church of Grand Rapids will have an outing for 200. The Maple Avenue Christian Reformed church ladies also have scheduled a picnic for 50.

The Beukema reunion and the Rooks reunion are scheduled for Saturday, July 13. On Sunday, July 14, the Old Settlers of Olive will gather at Tunnel park for their third picnic. Previously the Settlers held picnics at different locations. About 100 are expected. The First Methodist church has scheduled a picnic for July 16 and Trinity church for Wednesday, July 17. The Retail Bakers' club of Western Michigan will gather at the park July 24, the same date of the Reimink reunion. The annual outing of the Keeler Brass Co., of Grand Rapids will be held July 25.

The Hart and Cooley picnic, which attracted thousands last year, will be held at Tunnel park July 27. Sunday school teachers of Grandville Avenue Christian Reformed church of Grand Rapids will gather there July 31. The Sligh Furniture Co. will have a picnic August 1 and the De Feyter reunion for 75 will be held August 4. The Den Uyl reunion for 100 is scheduled for August 6.

The Maple Avenue school circle for 60 will have a picnic August 6 and H. Lampen reunion for 150 will be held August 14. Third Reformed church will have its annual picnic August 21.

The Holland Furnace picnic, the largest picnic of its kind in Holland, has not definitely selected its picnic date, although the event, as in past years, will be held at Tunnel park.

Mr. Lievense reported that two reservations have been made for next year.

His inaugural sermon will be given Sunday.

TWO UNHURT WHEN AUTO BREAKS POLE

Two Chicago residents escaped injuries about 3:45 a.m. Saturday when the car in which they were riding ran off the highway and crashed into a utility pole at the intersection of US-31 and the old Grand Haven road, north of Holland.

They were Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Cobb of Chicago. Mrs. Cobb, who was driving north, told Deputy Sheriff William Van Etta that she fell asleep at the wheel.

The impact broke off the pole which fell across the highway. Supt. Abe Nauta of the board of public works was notified and he dispatched a line crew to make repairs. The road was blocked until the electrical wires were removed.

I'M A TINSMITH... AND A GOOD ONE!

But it Takes

A HOLLAND ENGINEERING AND INSTALLATION EXPERT

..to give you today's MAXIMUM in LOW COST HEATING COMFORT

So simple to put in a furnace, many believe. A "big stove" in the basement—pipes to wherever you want heat and there you are! True that provides heat after a fashion. But, it's usually inadequate and also leads to much more furnace tending, excessive fuel bills and frequent repairs.

Not so the Holland way! By an intensive room-by-room analysis of your home, Holland's own engineer learns the exact heating capacity you need. He then plans a system with a scientific reason for every detail and submits it to senior engineers at the factory. Finally, Holland's own trained men make the installation exactly as planned.

UP TO 3 YEARS TO PAY

No wonder a Holland system needs so much less fuel—less furnace tending—fewer repairs. No wonder perfect heat in every room is so positively guaranteed by the factory! Yet, part for part, and size for size, a Holland costs less than any other. You virtually buy on your own terms, too; take up to 3 years to pay if necessary. Why not ask the factory branch below for full details?
