Holland Park in Works Program After War Ends

Submission of Projects To F.W.R. Is Delayed By Governor's Actions

Lansing, Mich., July 9.—Governor Van Wageningen's feud with the parks division of the conservation department today had temporarily delayed submission of a $1,231,688 proposed post-war park improvement program to the federal works reserve.

The building committee of the administrative board asked the full board Tuesday to approve submission of the list of 13 projects. No action was taken because the governor asked the matter to be "laid on the table" for two weeks pending his investigation.

Members of the building committee said the list of proposals "doesn't commit the state to anything." They said the federal works reserve had asked for submission of possible projects "without regard to priorities or urgency" so Michigan could be figured in initial national planning.

Projects listed included Holland State park, $116,093 improvements; Muskegon State park, $289,510 improvements.

Hospital Board at G.H. Approves New Setup

Grand Haven, July 9 (Special).—At a special board meeting in Municipal hospital last Thursday, the offer of the W. K. Kellogg foundation granting financial assistance to expand the clinical laboratory and x-ray facilities, was approved.

This will provide complete diagnostic facilities to people of the community and the services will be provided on a basis within the means of the majority of the people. The foundation will subsidize any deficit in the operation during the three-year period. Their experience is that the two laboratories should be on a self-supporting basis within a 12-month period.

The funds furnished also will include the purchase of an electrocardiograph and library books.

Grand Haven, July 9 (Special).—Mrs. Clarice Davis, wife of the late Erl J. Davis, who operated the Arbutus bank hotel at Spring Lake up until about six years ago, died suddenly in her home at Spring Lake Tuesday about 9:30 p.m. of a heart attack.

Mrs. Davis died about eight years ago and Mrs. Davis continued operating the hotel for about two years after his death. She came to Spring Lake about 25 ago and spent part of her time at Spring Lake and the other part in Evanston, Ill.

Surviving are a cousin, Philip Kinsley of Chicago, who is expected to arrive today after which funeral arrangements will be made; a foster daughter, Mrs. Bessie Nelling of Grand Rapids.

Holland Motorist Fined By Justice at Allegan

Allegan, July 9 (Special).—Three who combined too intense celebration of the week-end holiday with car-driving appeared in Allegan county justice courts Monday morning to plead guilty to charges of driving while intoxicated.

Bernard Dehaas, 52, Holland, appearing before Justice Volney W. Ferris was assessed $50 fine and $8.75 costs. Also appearing before Justice Ferris was Jacob Heibie, 68, of Dor, who paid $59.95 fine and costs in lieu of serving a 60-day jail term.

Percy Chandler, 42, colored of Grand Rapids, was sentenced by Justice Howard Champlin of Plainwell to pay a fine of $50 and $8.75 costs, or serve a 30-day term. Up to late Monday afternoon, Chandler had not paid.

Lack of Fireworks Provides Holland With Quiet Fourth; Many at Picnic

Celebration of Independence day in Holland Saturday was unusually quiet. With fireworks outlawed and with very few "bootleg" fireworks there were almost no explosions to mark the day which a few years ago always was a riot of noise.

Residents generally decided to conserve rubber and either stayed at home or took short trips in their cars instead of the custom a few years ago in putting on as much mileage as possible on holidays.

Despite the not too ideal weather for picnicking Saturday, Holland state park at Ottawa beach was crowded and all possible parking space inside and outside of the park was utilized. Park Superintendent Carl Van Weelden estimated 40,000 visited the park on Saturday and 14,000 Sunday. Fishing was slow and swimming was at a minimum because of the 65-degree temperatures of the water, but the beach swarmed with people and campers. Tunnel park also attracted large crowds Saturday.

The Warm Friend tavern was crowded to capacity over the week-end and several were turned away.

With July 4 marking the official opening of the resort season, Chamber of Commerce Secretary E. P. Stephan said today that the outlook was quite bright in spite of threatened gasoline rationing and other things affected by the war. In checking auto licenses at the tavern parking lot he said he found very few out-of-state licenses, only two from Indiana, two from Illinois and two from Ohio. This is in direct contrast to other years when about half of the cars on a summer holiday week-end would be away from Michigan. That no cars were here from the east was significant considering the gasoline rationing there.

About 2,500 attended the annual Christian school rally Saturday at Kardux beach. Activities opened at 10 a.m. and concluded about 5 p.m. A half-hour program was given by the school band under the direction of Stuart Ludlow. Games and sports were in charge of a committee headed by Robert Evenhuis.

Speaking on "The Glory of God," Dr. Harry Jellima of Indiana university, stressed the fact that there should be liberty, freedom of thought and freedom of religion for the sake of the glory of God and not because men wanted to be free from responsibility. "Man should live his life the way God wants him to," he said.

The Rev. John De Haan, Jr., of Grand Rapids who spoke on the subject, "Christian Education in Our Modern Crisis," warned against the menace of atheism which is sweeping the country now more than ever before. He warned against the danger of communism and brought out the fact that "even though we are fighting side by side, the atheistic propaganda has not ceased but is thriving more than ever for lack of opposition."

Youth Confesses Crimes at G.H.

Specifically Charged With Breaking in and Robbing Restaurant

Grand Haven, July 9 (Special).—In a confession obtained by the sheriff's department Wednesday afternoon, Hio Donseler, Jr., 18, 627 Elliott Street, admitted a series of breaking and entering jobs which have been going on in Grand Haven city for some period of time.

Donseler admitted that on or about Dec. 25, 1941, he broke and entered the Mosher studio on Washington St. and took a camera, films and developing material. He claims he got in through a side door that was unlocked while repairs were being made to the studio.

On March 9, 1942, he claims he broke and entered Seifert's bowling alley on Columbus St., which he entered through a coal chute window and took about 50 pennies out of the cash register and a few packages of cigarettes. The same night he said he broke and entered the lunch room operated by Michael Calogerakis on Seventh St., by going through a window and took $20 out of a cracker box which was under the counter.

Mr. Calogerakis reported $33 missing when he first made his complaint. On May 30, 1942 he stated he entered the home of Ben Hudson, also on Seventh St., and took $15 out of a pocketbook which was in a dresser drawer.

Donseler was picked up by officers of the sheriff's department shortly before noon Wednesday and in the afternoon signed a confession. Later in the afternoon he was arraigned before Justice George V. Hoffer, and specifically charged with breaking and entering, in the night time, the lunch room of Michael Calogerakis. He waived examination and was bound over to the present term of circuit court under bond of $2,000, which was not furnished. He is being confined in the county jail to appear in circuit court either Saturday or Monday.

Auto Climbs Guy Wire, Overturns

Mrs. Geneva Vander Vliet, 588 Washington Ave., and her four-month-old twin sons, Dave and Dan, escaped serious injuries in a novel accident Wednesday afternoon when the car which Mrs. Vander Vliet was driving jumped the curb on Garrison Ave. between Eighth and Ninth Sts., ran up a guy wire and turned over on its side.

Mrs. Vander Vliet suffered a slight cut on her wrist and the babies were unharmed, not even crying.

Mrs. Vander Vliet had made a left turn onto Garrison Ave. from Ninth St. and apparently looked back to see if the babies were all right when the car jumped the curb and began its "ascent" up the guy wire which was very near the road. The right front and left side of the car was damaged.

Truth Wanted By Americans, Hoffman Says

First Duty Is to Support Nation's Armed Forces And Quit Criticizing

Washington, D. C., July 10.—"What the American people want is the truth; nothing less," Clare E. Hoffman, fourth district congressman, writes in his weekly Washington news letter on the subject, "Yes, We Are on Our Way, But Some Forget."

"They are paying, sacrificing, fighting for our national existence; our rights as individuals. Yet, here in America, a few editors, columnists and radio commentators, some of whom were ardent interventionists, wanting us months ago to send an AEF to all parts of the world, forget that our first duty is to support our fighting men and are wasting their time condemning those they are pleased to term isolationists," he wrote.

Congressman Hoffman's comments continue.

"A man who stands for America; who seeks nothing except the defeat of our enemies, the preservation of our constitutional form of government, is belittled and criticized because he will not join with them in their drama, laudable but futile, to make all peoples adopt our form of government; to feed, clothe and house, at the expense of our people, everyone in the world."

"Vice-President Wallace would have our people give a pint of milk a day to each of the 35,000,000 people of India, the 180,000,000 in Russia. But it is my guess that not one of those editors, columnists, or radio commentators who endorse Wallace's program and union now, have ever, or would ever, feed or milk a cow."

"They condemn those of us who insist that our fighting men, their support and preservation; that the defeat of our enemies must first be accomplished; that it is futile to plan for a super United States of the World, in which we are to be on the giving end, all others on the receiving end, before the war is won."

"My suggestion is that they quit their day-dreaming, their mooning; that they listen to the common sense advice of the horny-handed sons of toil; use a little common sense and buckle down to the winning of the war, leaving their discussions of what we should do for other countries, other peoples, other nations, until we have made secure the safety of our own."

"For what were fighting — the dreadful situation which confronts us. We are fighting this war, spending billions of dollars, sacrificing thousands of lives, to protect and preserve this nation; for your freedom and mine. We have all the war that even the most ardent interventionist could ask."

"A member of parliament, referring to Churchill's statements made prior to the fall of Tobruk, said: 'No minister of defense in the full knowledge of the facts as we know them today could possibly have made the statements Mr. Churchill made to the effect that we were on equal terms with the enemy in Libya. They are untrue and inaccurate.'"

"Speaking in parliament upon his return from Washington, Churchill admitted that the British had lost in Libya, in the preceding two weeks, more than 50,000 men and a great mass of material, large quantities of which have fallen into enemy hands, and he added that the empire was in mortal peril."

Writing on the subject, "The House Is on Its Way," the congressman commented.

"After voting $80,000,000 for the Florida ship canal—$80,000,000 which was badly needed for munitions of war—the house suffered a change of heart and, despite vigorous protests from the administration, forced the senate to join it in ending the CCC. That organization has done a great deal of good, but congress apparently realized that our first objective is the defeat of our enemies and that every dollar, every effort, must be devoted to that end."

Cooperation Is Urged in Drive

Holland Mayor Wants Ottawa County at Top For Rubber Salvage

Mayor Henry Geerlings today called attention to the extension of the nation-wide rubber drive and urged continued cooperation on the part of local residents. He said:

"President Roosevelt has extended the rubber drive to July 10. Ottawa county is second on the list in this state. We did a very good job. It is worth the extra effort to get busy for a couple more days and be on top."

"Michigan's part in the campaign, which has steadily gained momentum, has been estimated at nearly 20 million pounds of rubber contributed. The first fortnight of the campaign ended with 'Salvage for Victory' committees in every county exerting every effort to push the total higher."

"Spectacular efforts have marked the campaign since the start, with county and city councils pitching in with enthusiasm. Throughout the first two weeks there was considerable excitement. Hillsdale gave a rubber ball; a pond at Petoskey was drained; a ton and a half was drained out at Budd Lake at Harrison; a horse-drawn parade was held in Jackson; truck trips to farms were carried out in Mason. Special radio and broadcasts were made several times and even motion pictures aided in the promotion."

"Continued cooperation of Michigan citizens is assured, and county and city salvage committees are counting on the continued support of committees appointed by the oil industry. An average of close to 3.5 pounds per person has been gathered thus far—a noteworthy contribution to the war effort."

"If we all make another attempt it is possible a considerable amount can yet be gathered in. A quota of five pounds per person is set up for the state."

Religious Liberty Is Held Most Vital Of All Freedoms

Rights Guaranteed to Americans Pointed Out In Address to Rotary

Speaking to members of the Holland Rotary club at their regular weekly luncheon Thursday noon at Castle park, Paul O. Strawhecker, Grand Rapids attorney and former member of the Grand Rapids board of education, discussed the "Freedom of Conscience" and named "freedom of religion" as the most important of all the "freedoms."

"We hear a great deal today about 'freedoms' in general without considering what they are of where they came from," he said. "We also repeatedly hear that most everything we have is inherited from some other country, race or people—that we are indebted to others for our great American liberties. At least of the greatest 'freedom' of them all, this is not true."

"This greatest of all human rights is as American as the Stars and Stripes and has an American history and tradition of nearly 300 years. It is the right to worship Almighty God according to the dictates of one's own conscience—the sacred American constitutional right of freedom of religion."

Mr. Strawhecker told about the exile of Roger Williams by the Puritans in Massachusetts in 1635, only 15 years after the Mayflower compact, because he dared to preach that man's conscience belonged to God and not to church or state. With a few sturdy souls, Roger Williams founded Rhode Island in 1636 as the first organized government dedicated to freedom of religion. He also pointed out that the Virginia bill of rights, of 1776 which preceded the Declaration of Independence by about three weeks, guaranteed this freedom to the people of Virginia forever. When the Continental congress established a government for the Northwest territory in 1787, the first freedom mentioned was that of worship.

"I do not believe that it was by mere chance that religious freedom was mentioned before all others," he said.

"When the United States constitution was submitted to the states for ratification, many of them, notably Virginia, asked 'Where is our bill of rights?' The constitution never would have been ratified if it had not been agreed that the first congress would draft and submit a bill of rights to the people for adoption."

"The first congress kept faith and drafted the 10 amendments," he said, listing the first amendment as providing freedom of religion.

"Why was freedom of religion named first of the great liberties? The reason to me is clear—freedom of conscience is the foundation of all other human rights."

"Freedom of speech and press, the right to assemble and petition and all other freedoms and rights, whatever their name, can not exist in fact without complete and unrestrained freedom of conscience. How can speech be free when the man who writes is a slave?"

"The Atlantic charter mentioned social security, freedom from want and fear but failed even to note that man must be free in his mind as well as his body. 'America stands alone before the world today. It is up to us to see that this greatest of all our liberties does not perish from this earth.'"

Food Checkup Is Being Conducted in Ottawa

Grand Haven, July 9 (Special)—The war production check-up, as conducted by the community committees of the A.A.A. program, is well underway, being better than half done Glenn E. Taylor, chairman of the Ottawa county A.A.A. reported today.

This is very gratifying, because these reporters are busy farmers themselves, find it necessary to work this in at odd times and rainy days. In several cases, women are doing the reporting, he said.

"These workers find it necessary many times to get their information from the farm women, since farmers are working early and late on the food for freedom drive. They report that women and children are helping out in ever increasing numbers in every capacity, haying, cutting grain, cultivating crops as well as helping with fruit harvest and chores."

Sugar Bonus Is Granted by OPA

Washington, July 9.—Ration stamp No. 7 will be good for a bonus of two pounds of sugar between July 10 and Aug. 22. It has been announced by the OPA.

In addition institutional users will get 7 per cent of their normal sugar consumption for September and October instead of the present 5 per cent, and industrial users will get 80 per cent instead of 70 per cent.

Since sugar rationing began, the ration has amounted to one half pound per person weekly. The bonus provided by stamp No. 7 is the first increase and follows reports of bulging sugar warehouses in many sections of the country.

Stamp No. 5 currently is good for the purchase of two pounds of sugar for the period ending at midnight, July 25. Stamp No. 6 will be good for a two-pound purchase for July 26 to Aug. 22. Since each of these stamps covers a four-week period, the basic ration of one-half pound per person weekly was unchanged.

Stamp No. 7, however, will permit purchase of the two-pound bonus, in addition to the allotment provided by Nos. 5 and 6, any time between July 10 and Aug. 22.

The value of stamp No. 8, which will go into effect after Aug. 22, will be announced later.

Vos Letter Tells Life in Australia

Life in Australia is proving interesting to American soldiers, according to a letter received recently by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vos, 97 West 19th St., from their son, Osborne Vos, now stationed in that country.

In his letter, he wrote that street cars are called "trams" and autos are called "motor cars." "They have most of our makes of vehicles except for the newest ones. They are all driven from the right and all traffic proceeds on the left of the street as in London. It is almost typically English here as to speech, ancestry, architecture, etc.," he said.

"I have had some very interesting conversation here with civilians, Aussie soldiers and airmen. We are learning some of their thoughts and customs. The food seems to be like ours. Of course, they like their tea and pastries (meat pies)."

"Taverns or bars are called Pubs. Milk bars are the places we buy ice cream, etc. On the whole, I feel tops but miss U.S."

Vos also revealed in his letter which bore no date or place from where it was written that he had been promoted to staff sergeant and that now he is trying for a commission. The letter bore a censor's mark.

Temptation and Sin
Genesis 3:1-13, 23, 24

By Henry Georlings

Of all living creatures the serpent was most suited by its natural characteristics to be used as a tool for the accomplishment of the evil purpose of Satan. It is by nature stealthy, seductive, treacherous and venomous. Milton calls it the "fittest imp of fraud." Back of the visible serpent, the prince of evil, who had been expelled from Heaven. He is called in Revelations, the old serpent and the deceiver of the world. He was swift to take advantage of Adam and Eve, because they were inexperienced and unacquainted with the craftiness of Satan, and even unaware of his existence.

He was exceedingly subtle, that is, sly, cunning, deceptive. We are not told how this conversation was carried on, though it seems not to have occasioned any surprise to the woman. He appeared to the woman first and not to the man. It may have been because she was the weaker of the two, and more susceptible to the attractions in this particular temptation. His first word was to suggest that God was unkind in limiting her liberty in that he did not grant her permission to eat of every tree.

Eve made the mistake of not repulsing Satan at once. Instead she was willing to discuss the matter with him. Satan has won half the battle when he has taken ear. It would have been wise for her to call her husband. The two could have handled the situation better than one. It seems that up to this point they had observed the prohibition cheerfully, not counting it a hardship. But the moment Satan insinuated that God was harsh she began to think there was some truth in it.

Seeing how pliable Eve was Satan ventured a step farther and declared that she would not die if she partook of the forbidden fruit. In the first instance he questioned God's goodness. In this instance he flatly denied the truthfulness of his words. The woman made no attempt to check his assault upon God. And yet Satan was not wholly in error, for God's threat did not mean that she would drop dead if she transgressed. The seed of death would be lodged in her, but she would live on, though the instant the sin was committed her spiritual life ceased, and her relationship of love and trust toward God was at an end.

Adam and Eve had known goodness and rejoiced in it. But now Satan told them that they would be as God himself, knowing both good and evil, if they would eat of the fruit of this tree. They did come to that knowledge, but it was to their sorrow. The allurements and the thrill of such knowledge was too much for her to resist. She craved that wisdom, and she craved for her husband, the advancement that would come to him through the same experience.

Notice the three reasons why the woman partook of the fruit of the tree—it was good for food; it was a delight to the eyes; it was intended to make her wise. Now only one of these could be known from the sight, namely, that it was a delight to the eyes. The fact is she saw the other promised advantages only through the eyes of the tempter. She was ready to do anything he asked, so hypnotized was she. Her eyes were opened. She knew more than she had known before, but she did not as yet feel the consequences of her disobedience.

Her husband approached at that time, or she went in search for him. She was eager to have him share her experience. Their love for and trust in each other made him unsuspecting, so that he ate at her request without hesitation. Suddenly the consequences of their evil act swept over them. Possibly they were wiser than formerly, but their innocence had departed. They became conscious of sin and felt ashamed. They felt that they were no longer pure and fair and happy in their mutual innocence and love. They knew they had done wrong and they stood self-condemned. Their efforts at protection were futile. In his state of innocence he did not seem to realize that he was naked, but something registered in him and aroused his conscience as soon as he did what God had forbidden.

The consciousness came from within and was evidence that he began to feel the consequences of sin and of guilt. The next impulse on the man's part was to find an excuse for his disobedience and he blamed the woman. The cowardice and baseness of the attempt of a strong man just crowned lord of the whole earth, to find shelter beneath the weakness of a frail woman, his own wife. But as a matter of fact, Adam placed the blame, not on the woman so much as on God Himself. He more than insinuated that if God had not given him this woman there would have been no sin.

Nurse's Aides Being Registered

Mrs. J. E. Telling, chairman of the Ottawa county chapter of the American Red Cross, announced today that registrations for the Nurse's Aide lay committee at the Red Cross office, 6 East Eighth St. Registration began Monday and will conclude Friday. The office is open from 10 a.m. until noon and from 2 to 5 p.m. each day.

This week will be the only opportunity local women will have to register as nurse's aides. Those registering must appear in the office in person and those desiring information may call the office by telephone. Since many registered nurses have entered the service, there is a definite need for nurse's aides in Holland hospital, it was pointed out.

Requirements for aides consist of an 80-hour course which is completed in seven weeks and thereafter aides put in 150 hours of service annually in hospital work. There is no remuneration for this voluntary service.

The 80-hour instruction course consists of 34 hours of care of the sick in hospitals which includes one hour of lectures and demonstration and one or more hours of practice daily for five days a week. Forty-five hours include supervised practice in the hospital three hours a day for five days a week. One hour of the 80 is devoted to examinations.

Capt. J. E. Drenner Has Been a Sailor 30 Years

Capt. J. E. Drenner, skipper of the ferry Kollen park operating between Kollen Park and lake resorts, is a veteran with almost 30 years of sailing experience. Although this is his first summer at Holland, he is no stranger "in these parts," having spent the past four seasons in ferry service at Grand Haven. Previous to that he ran ferries for 25 years at Silver Beach, St. Joseph.

Hailing from Milwaukee, Wis., Capt. Drenner was a railroad conductor for some time before taking up sailing. Asked which work he enjoyed most, he grinned and said, "Well, railroading is more steady, but sailing is more fascinating." He comes from a family of railroad men and is the only one who ventured out as a sailor.

Capt. Drenner has operated a number of boats including the Jerome I, II and III, which he sold each time for a bigger or better boat. He has owned the Wolverine for 10 years.

The Wolverine is 62 feet long with a 14 foot beam and is equipped with a galley and canteen. It has a capacity of 70 passengers and is well equipped fore and aft with seats and life preservers. Assisting Capt. Drenner in sailing the Wolverine is Seaman Walter Dalsey of Benton Harbor.

At the close of the passenger season, usually Labor Day, the ferry is enclosed and Capt. Drenner is engaged in hauling fruit across Lake Michigan from Benton Harbor to Milwaukee, Racine and Sheboygan, Wis. The boat is able to carry 1,200 bushels of fruit in a single load.

The Wolverine covers the 10-mile round trip to Lake Macatawa resorts at a speed of about 10 miles or nine knots per hour. A warning whistle is blown as it approaches the Kollen park dock. Stops are made along the lake when persons wishing to ride signal the ferry. The Wolverine also stops at Central Park to accommodate residents there.

Capt. Drenner has been making five round trips daily since Tulip Time, and has averaged about 20 passengers a day. Wednesday is the busiest day, he says, when more people use the ferry to go to Sunday school picnics at the beach or private parties. It is not uncommon for families to leave their cars at Kollen park and ride the ferry to the beach for a picnic supper and novel outing, he said.

Present schedule for the Wolverine calls for leaving Macatawa park at 1:10, 3:10, 5:10, 7:10 and 9:10 p.m. daily except Sunday. Trips are made from Kollen Park to Macatawa at 2, 4, 6 and 8 p.m. daily, except Sunday. The boat is open for charter after 10 p.m. any weekday night. On the 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. runs passengers are taken out into Lake Michigan for a distance, providing the weather is favorable.

The ferry docks at the boat-house where the Drenners reside next to the Kilcare building at Ottawa beach. The course takes the passengers past the beautiful lake front homes with their landscaped grounds and graceful willows, "The Mooring" at Pine Lodge, Waukoo and the lighthouse on Gold's Point, Central Park, Virginia Park, Campbell's boat yards, Jensen Park, Macatawa Bay Yacht club and Jeslek Brothers' Boat Co. The Wolverine docks in front of the Macatawa hotel at Macatawa park to accommodate guests there.

Piling is being put in at Waukoo, Getz Farm, Macatawa and Central Park according to Capt. Drenner.

A group of about 35 Chris-Craft employees enjoyed an outing on the ferry Thursday night as guests of the harbormaster.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

THERE is no time when menu planning requires as much imagination and inventiveness from the standpoint of appetite appeal as in the summer. Meals must be nourishing and properly balanced with regard to vitamins and minerals and they must also have even more than usual eye and appetite attraction.

By keeping an eye on the week-end specials in the food stores, the housekeeper can assemble menus that have a costly look but actually are economical.

This week-end the best buys are beets, beans, cabbage, cucumbers, lettuce, potatoes, rhubarb, squash and tomatoes for vegetables, with avocados, cantaloupes, cherries, honeydew melons, peaches, plums and watermelon listed as the more attractive items in fruits.

Chickens under four pounds, fowl, ribs of beef, porterhouse steaks, boneless chuck pot roasts, chuck steaks, plate and navel beef and legs of lamb offer the best meat buys.

Prepared by Marion Rouse Budd, the following menus are suggested for Sunday dinner:

Never Took a Lesson in My Life: Artist Mills

Ottawa Beach Cottage Has Interesting Hobby In Painting With Oils

That the world is full of interesting people and that talent lurks in hidden corners was amply proved the other day by Charles F. H. Mills of Grand Rapids who, with Mrs. Mills, spends his summers in their comfortable cottage high in the sand dunes at Ottawa beach. Painting pictures of which any professional artist might well be proud, friendly Mr. Mills modestly considers himself an "amateur."

A visitor at the cozy cottage, dubbed the "Lark" by its owners, is immediately fascinated by the decorative hand paintings with which Mr. Mills has adorned the walls. The bright red sail of a fishing boat against a light hazy background in which a Dutch windmill and other buildings are featured forms a striking picture on the wall above a studio couch opposite the door. Asked whether the painting is hand work, Mr. Mills quietly replies, "Yes, they're mine." It is then that the guest notices that examples of the artist's work in oils are evident throughout the home, from the attractive boat scene which forms a covering to shut off the fireplace to the many smaller pictures of desert scenes and rugged nature which are found in nooks and corners around the room.

In the four or five years that Mr. Mills has pursued his hobby he has turned out about 100 pictures, painting sometimes from imagination and then again sketching some scene that strikes his eye before putting it on canvas. He began his hobby, Mr. Mills jokingly says, "to keep from going crazy and to have something to do."

A musician by trade, the wiry middle-aged artist has never had an art lesson in his life, a fact that his work seems to deny. Mr. Mills has directed choirs in various Grand Rapids churches and for five years was organist for All Souls' church there. He also gave private voice lessons.

Idea for some of his paintings are taken from magazines as is illustrated by his vivid Egyptian scene, titled "Wings Over the Nile." A graceful native boat, the center of attraction, was taken from a magazine photograph. Mr. Mills copied the boat on a larger scale and added his own background and various small details to form a realistic picture.

Quoting Titian, the Venetian painter, Mr. Mills said "Nature is man's poorest model." Then he added, "You know, you have to change nature to make it look the way you want it by putting in a tree where its not or taking out a telephone pole that's not wanted."

Mr. and Mrs. Mills have spent the past four winters in the Palm Springs, Calif., cottage of his sister at the foot of Mt. San Jacinto of which he has made several striking paintings. Other scenes along the Pacific coast, the highly colored Painted Canyon and towering redwoods were also painted during his leisure moments in the winter.

Mr. Mills has painted many small pictures, about four by six inches perhaps and varying in size, of desert scenes and the beautiful western "smoke" trees. The smoke tree has no leaves and is a very elusive, difficult thing to put on canvas according to Mr. Mills. Besides small pictures of the west, which Mr. Mills says he can "dash off" in about 20 minutes, he has done a lovely large picture showing the smoke trees in bloom with their feathery purple flowers.

Other large pictures which are remarkably natural include a vivid Italian scene, scenes of Lake Michigan and the white sand dunes, and several good boat pictures. A scene along the rocky Nova Scotia coast also decorates one wall of the room. Several attractive scenes of Mexicans sleeping under cacti have been framed in palm fronds by Mr. Mills.

An unusual feature of Mr. Mills' hobby is the fact that he makes his own frames for his paintings, using regular frame stock of light gold so as not to detract from the beauty of the picture itself. No cheap "dime store or barn paint" is used by Mr. Mills who has enough pride in his work to use only the finest oils which assure permanent colors. The canvas for a sailboat study in blue and white has a linen back which costs $4.50 a yard. An interesting picture of "just water," showing green highlights in a rolling sea was painted on cardboard, but Mr. Mills doesn't use cardboard anymore as dampness affects it more rapidly than canvas. Some of his smaller pictures are done on canvas stretched over cardboard to stiffen them.

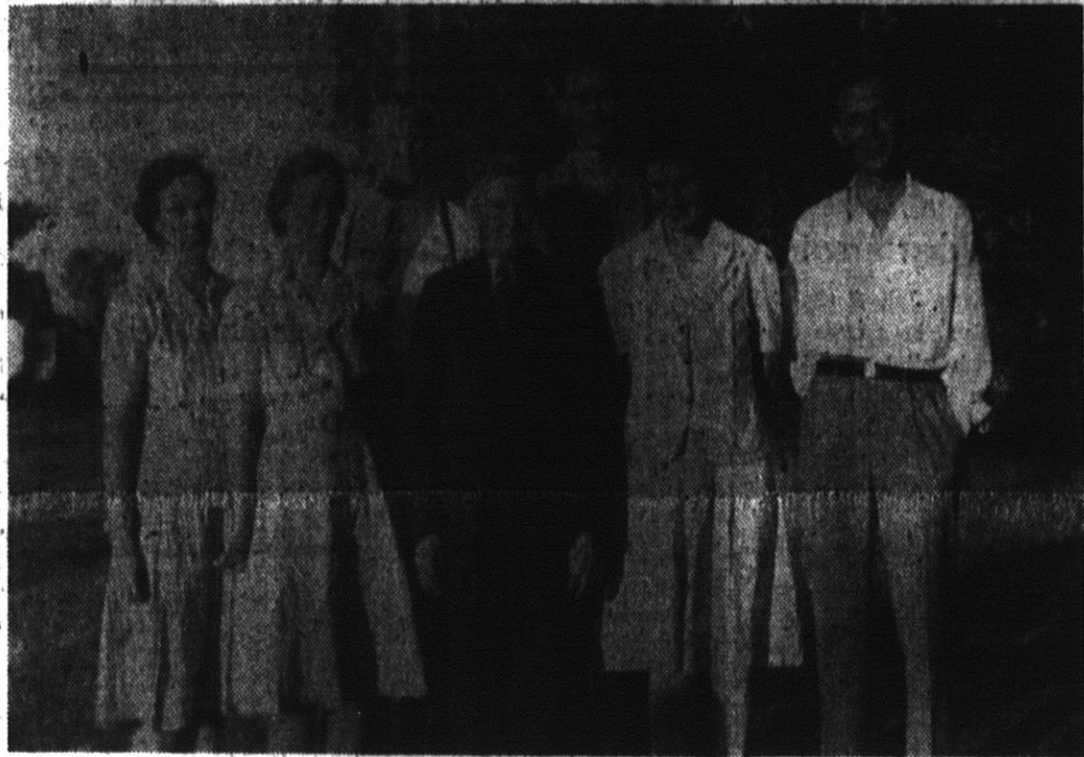

The war may interfere some in getting materials, Mr. Mills said. He has been told that oil paints will be increasingly hard to get, especially white. However, he said he had plenty of white, which an artist uses more than any other color, on hand and was not worried about a shortage at present.

Mr. Mills has never tried to sell any of his paintings, doing them just for the fun of it. In past years he exhibited several pictures in an amateur display at the Grand Rapids art gallery but of late he has not been around Grand Rapids enough to show other works.

Genial Mr. Mills, a bit reticent about his accomplishments at first, also revealed that he had studied music abroad, but added laughingly, "That's so long ago I don't want to say when it was." Asked if he was an ardent crossword puzzle fan, several of which were lying on the table in the neat cottage, he said "No, I leave that up to the ladies. I used to do them sometimes but I get fed up on them. They sit around and ask you one word and before you can answer they want to know another."

Mr. Mills and sweet Mrs. Mills (don't spell it "is" or they get mad, he says) Patterson who is a bacteriologist in Detroit,

The Steffens boys took a 2-0 lead in the first inning when Jim Crozier walked and scored on Tony Bouwman's single to second base and Henkle Buurman, who singled to right field, romped home when Handweg was put out by the third baseman.

Two runs for the Pure Oils came in the second frame when Bill Ten Have slammed a homer to right scoring Wayne De Neff before him. Steffens garnered six runs in the second inning to strengthen their lead 8-2. De Witt and Woldring both doubled to center and Pres Bos got a single to center. Pure Oils got another run in the third when "Moose" Van Wieren poled out a homer to left field. In the fourth, Steffens scored two more runs when Bouwman came in on Fred Handweg's homer to center field.

Going to town again in the fifth they scored four tallies. Chet Johnson, Pres Bos and Jim Crozier all scoring on Buurman's triple to center. Buurman scored on the shortstop's error. A single run for Pure Oils in the seventh when Al Hietbrink scored on H. Van Wieren's triple to right completed the scoring.

Steffens used Pres Bos as pitcher with Tony Bouwman behind the plate. Batteries for Pure Oils were De Neff, Van Wieren, and Conklin, pitching, and Ten Have catching. Bos allowed eight hits and the Pure Oil pitchers let their opponents slam out 16 hits.

In a thrilling second game, Dykema's took a 3-0 lead in the first inning, got another run in the fourth, and led all the way till Hulst's got one run in the sixth. The remaining four runs for Hulst's came in the seventh and eighth when a last minute rally won the game.

Scoring for Dykema's in the first were Wes Vryhof, "Corky" Weener and Clarie Van Lier. Vryhof and Weener came in on Van Lier's single to right and Van Lier scored on a wild pitch. In the fourth Weener walked, advanced on Koopman's single to right and scored on a wild pitch.

In the sixth Hulst's got one run when Ed Hulst doubled to center and scored on Griep's single to left. Their rally in the seventh netted them three runs to tie the game. Markers were chalked up by Don Hulst, Ade Woldring and Harry Hulst. The winning run in the eighth came when Bill Prince scored on Woldring's triple to right field.

Batteries for Hulst's were Ade Woldring and Mel Scheerhorn and for Dykema's Ed Bos and Lee Koopman. Bos allowed 10 hits and Woldring gave up five.

Van Lente of route 4, became the bride of Donald James Slager, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Slager of 19 East 14th St., Holland. The Rev. William Van't Hof performed the double ring ceremony at 7 o'clock before a settling of trees of heaven and wood ferns near the rock garden.

She also played the traditional Lohengrin and Mendelssohn wedding marches as the bridal party assembled.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a colonial styled gown of white embroidered organza fashioned with a sweetheart neckline in the tightly fitting bodice and very full ruffled skirt. Her fingertip veil was caught with a taira of orange blossoms and she wore a single strand of pearls, the gift of the groom. The bride's flowers were roses, snapdragons and baby's breath arranged in an all white colonial bouquet.

Airport Flag Has Colorful History

Other speeches were made by Blanche Harbin, William Telling, air warden, and Dick Nieusma, supervisor of Park township.

The flag that had been floating over the airport since June 12 was one that belonged to Mrs. West's father which he brought back from the Civil war in 1861. It was in all the engagements of his company and was full of bullet holes. Mrs. West's father, Philip J. Steinhart, was hospital steward and corporal and served as a recruiting officer on the Old Atlanta at the Brooklyn Navy yard and was paymaster's clerk on the North Carolina which cruised 22 months on the Mediterranean sea.

This old flag always was raised by Mrs. West's mother, Anna M. Steinhart, in honor of all the training ships that used to anchor in front of her cottage. The ships always would salute the flag with canon fire and some of the officers always came on shore to visit her and bring little gifts. The last time she raised the flag was in July, 1922. She died Nov. 16 of that same year. When the officers came in the spring of 1923 they went to Pilgrim Home cemetery and placed a large bouquet of roses on her grave.

Mrs. West's father who died June 14, 1889, was a cousin of Ambassador Laurence Steinhardt of Russia.

Union Twilight Services at G.H.

Grand Haven, July 9 (Special)—A series of union twilight services is planned under sponsorship of the ministers' association, to be held from 9 to 10 p.m. Sunday evenings at Kelly Park on Water St. The series will begin on July 19 and will continue through Aug. 16.

Prominent guest preachers will be featured for these outdoor meetings, from among ministers vacationing in western Michigan. Musical interest and support will be given to the programs by the summer band directed by Everett Kinsinger and by a community chorus being organized by Palmer Quackenbush.

The outdoor location selected for these meetings is one of special suitability and beauty. The park itself, with its lovely lawns, is a beautiful place on the Grand river water-front. The slope of the lawn near the street side will provide a place where people may sit comfortably, spreading blankets if they desire. Those who desire to bring folding chairs will find the level area lower down very convenient. A speaker's platform will be constructed at the center, just behind the coast guard monument. The audience will sit facing the expansive view toward the dunes across the river or out the harbor, an inspiring scene at the sunset hour.

Through the cooperation of the American Legion, the parking facilities adjoining their club building will be available for parking cars, in addition to the parking to be permitted on one side of Water St.

Rev. J. V. Roth and Rev. Albert Hellinga are the committee of the Ministers' association in charge of plans and arrangements. They believe that Kelly Park offers excellent possibilities for an enlarging program of religious and cultural programs which might be featured in Grand Haven's summer program.

Speakers will be announced from week to week. It is probable that the first speaker will be the Rev. Dr. John E. Kulezenga, formerly of Western Theological seminary at Holland, and now for some years professor of theology at Princeton Theological seminary.

City Construction Shows Big Drop At Half-Year End

Total Is 228 Thousand Dollars Under That of Six Months of 1941

The half-way mark in Holland's 1942 building activities was reached June 30 with the amount of money being spent for building work far behind that of last year, but this is apparently due to the curtailment of construction because of the war.

As of June 30, the unofficial total for the first six months of the year in applications for building permits filed with City Clerk Oscar Peterson was $135,229.25. For the same period in 1941, the six-month total was $363,361.65, hence this year is behind the 1941 record by $228,132.40.

A record number of applications for building permits was filed during June, they totaling 63, but the total value was $31,842, or $30,919 less than for June, 1941, which totaled $62,761.

New home construction was resumed in June with six applications for permits to build new residences being filed. Their total cost was $19,400. Total number of new homes for which application has been made since Jan. 1, 1941, 42 new homes had been applied for. One of the six applications provide for the construction of a $200 garage.

Reroofing of homes led building activities in Holland for June with 20 applications totaling $2,842, being filed with the clerk. There were two applications to reroof buildings at a cost of $470 and the application to reroof a warehouse at a cost of $183.

Fifteen applications for permits to carry out exterior repairs to homes at a cost of $2,812, also were filed. There were eight applications for permits to carry on interior repairs to homes at a cost of $2,485.

Two applications were filed to construct new garages at a cost of $450 three applications to remodel garages at a cost of $100.

Factories will be remodeled in two applications at a cost of $350. There was one application under the following classifications: Loading platform, $250; new church ceiling, $1,500; new plant bin, $300; enlarge cafeteria interior, $500.

Building activities this week totaled $2,445 in the eight applications for permits which were filed with the city clerk. The amount is $19,077 less than those of last week which totaled $21,522. Value of the permits for the week of June 12-19 was $4,596.

The list of applications follow: Thomas Fitzpatrick, 119 West 20th St., new floor on sun porch and new steps, $10; Paul Fitzpatrick, contractor.

Holland Precision parts, West 24th St., enlarge cafeteria interior with Hydrate blocks, $500; Ruben Nyenhuis, contractor.

Clarence De Fouw, 200 West 10th St., reroof house with asphalt roofing, $150; Mooi Roofing Co., contractor.

College Ready To Train Pilots

Men Subject to Draft Are Eligible for C.P.T. Program to Begin Here

Dr. Wynand Wichers, president of Hope college, today said the civilian pilot training program on the local campus is ready to begin as soon as a sufficient number of applicants have been enrolled.

He pointed out that the C. P. T. program offers opportunities for men subject to selective service to receive training for non-combat service as glider pilots, utility pilots, service pilots or instructors.

Training in ground work will be given at the college and flight instruction will be given at the local airport under the direction of the Northern Air service of Grand Rapids. The government pays a trainee's expenses for the course when he has successfully passed preliminary physical and mental examinations.

Running in eight week periods the courses are open to two age groups, the 18-27 age group for those who do not pass physical or mental examinations for the air corps enlisted reserve, and a group of those from 27 to 37 years of age.

Persons interested in the training program should apply immediately at the college office. Dr. Bruce M. Raymond is college coordinator for the program.
