37 Permits Cover All Construction Types in Holland

Thirty-seven applications for building permits totaling $104,846.25 were filed with City Clerk Oscar Peterson during June, a check on his files revealed today.

The bulk of the value came in two FPHA applications for temporary housing for veterans, one for 13 two-family units on the tannery property at a cost of $56,108 and another for a T-shaped dormitory on Hope college campus at $20,212.

Seven were for exterior repairs totaling $1,535, six were for interior repairs totaling $1,575, four for new houses totaling $15,400, and four for garages totaling $950. Four applications for commercial and industrial permits totaled $83,320. Seven applications totaling $16,315 were filed this week at the clerk's office. Fire Damages Specialty Firm

Grand Haven, July 11 (Special)—Several thousand dollars damage resulted from fire, smoke and water at the Michigan Specialty Co., 22 South Second St., shortly after 7 a.m. today. The fire started on a shelf at the rear of the main floor where unused equipment was stored.

The fire worked itself up the elevator shaft to the second floor and destroyed material and some imitation leather.

The fire department worked for two hours before the fire was brought under control.

The company is owned and operated by Albert F. Vandenberg.

Lafayette Enthusiastic Over Klompen Dance

The Klompen dancers did it again! They went over "big" at the Lafayette, Ind., exposition Wednesday night, that is.

A telephone conversation today between Tulip Time Manager Willard C. Wichers and Mrs. Emily Beatty who chaperoned the eight dancers revealed that the Klompen dance was one of the high spots of Wednesday evening's entertainment.

The Holland group toured Lafayette today and is expected to return to Holland on the 7:20 p.m. bus. It was raining there today, the second rainfall of the week. The exposition's entire program was rained out Monday night.

Vandalism at Veterans' New Houses Reported

Police Chief Jacob Van Hoff today appealed to the city's younger element to respect the property of others, following complaints of vandalism in varying degrees at houses for veterans under construction.

The chief, who also asked co-operation of the parents, said complaints ranged from broken windows, hacking of window sills, theft of lumber and general damage.

Some of the home owners are highly incensed at the destruction and some have even posted signs on the property, the chief said.

Grand Rapids Man Learns Park Closing Is Enforced

Grand Haven, July 11 (Special)—Midnight closing at Michigan state parks means midnight closing, a Grand Rapids man learned today.

It cost him $14.05 plus a possible towing fee to learn this lesson. Herman J. Howell, 42, overstayed his visit to the Grand Haven state park and at 12:30 a.m. today he tried to leave by driving his car through the sand at the entrance. His car got stuck.

Complaint against Howell was made by Park Supt. Wilhelm Beckert. Arraignment was made before Justice George V. Hoffer who assessed fine of $10 and costs of $4.05.

Sand Deposits at State Park Will Be Leveled Soon

More Than 112,000 Visit Popular Beach Here in One Week

Holland State park at Ottawa beach, immensely popular for sunbathers, swimmers, campers and picnickers, will be improved soon. The big sand ridges and hills which obstruct the view from the ovals will soon be leveled.

This decision was made following an inspection Sunday by Arthur C. Elmer, head of the parks and recreation division, and Charles Liesen, district supervisor of the Department of Conservation.

Sand deposits, particularly north of the bath house, have covered walks and roads, and park attendants have spent hours in an attempt to keep them clear. Heavy equipment is expected soon.

A total of 112,991 persons and 27,147 cars visited the park for the week ending Sunday night, according to figures compiled by Park Supt. Searles Vandenberg. The attendance is figured out by multiplying the number of cars by 3.5 and adding the number of persons who walk in, or come by bus on boat.

July 4 was the heaviest day of the season with 42,540 persons and 9,385 cars. Attendance over Saturday and Sunday totaled 36,880 persons and 8,147 cars.

Previous attendance at the park totaled 269,029 persons which with the week's attendance brings a grand total to date of 283,020. Camp permits issued the past week totaled 204. Previous permits were 391, bringing a grand total 595 camp permits. Total number of tents over the week-end totaled 70 and trailers 89.

Attendance by days follow: Monday, 6,975; Tuesday, 5,004; Wednesday, 12,044; Thursday, 42,540; Friday, 11,840; Saturday, 17,700; Sunday, 16,880.

The state department men came to inspect the beaches here at the request of the Chamber of Commerce which had received many requests for improvements.

Sand Leveling at State Park Starts Thursday

Removal of sand deposits on the beach at Holland state park was to start today, following approval by the parks and recreation department of the state Department of Conservation Tuesday noon.

District Supervisor Charles Liesen, who returned to Holland Tuesday for another inspection trip, arranged with the A. Veltkamp Construction Co. Tuesday afternoon to remove the sand. Liesen and Arthur C. Elmer, head of the parks and recreation division, inspected the park Sunday.

Arrangements also were made for a matron in the women's rest rooms at the park.

New Coast Guard Chief Proud of His Four Sons

Chief Boatswain's Mate Glenn W. McGeorge, commanding officer at the Holland Coast Guard station since April 22, has a fine record with the Coast Guard.

He has spent 12 of his 33 years with the organization and during World War II spent 16 months overseas in the Pacific area.

But he casts aside Coast Guard chat and would rather talk about his family.

And he really throws out his chest when he comes to his four sons, Glenwood, 8; Tommy, 5; Kim, 2, and little Gram who was born June 11. With the current shortage in Coast Guard personnel, he says he's well on the way to raising his own crew.

And he isn't kidding about personnel shortages. He has one assistant, MoMM 1/C Edwin O. Fedick, at the station. Chief George Olson, who previously served as commanding officer, now takes charge of the light house. Hence, these three men replace a normal complement of 12.

The McGeorge family came to Holland from Milwaukee where they had been stationed five months. Previously, they spent about 10 years in Chicago at various Coast Guard stations including four years at the downtown station.

Chief McGeorge, a native of White Lake, Wis., took his initial

Panel Completes City Wage Study

The dispute between municipal employees and the city of Holland, which resulted in a one-day strike last May 8, appeared near an end Tuesday and the Rev. Marion de Velder, chairman of the mediation commission appointed by Gov. Kelly, said final recommendations are expected to be submitted to Common Council next week.

The three-man panel, consisting of de Velder, Dr. Irwin J. Lubbers of Holland and Phillip J. Malarney of Muskegon, following several sessions Monday compiled a five-point program which was to be considered by the Ways and Means committee and other boards at 3 p.m. today.

With both the city and the union-affiliated employees abandoning the initial 10-cent increase in favor of a job-classification program, the commission commended the city's action in engaging the Municipal Personnel service of Ann Arbor to establish classification of jobs in the Park and Cemetery department.

The commission also recommended approval of the scale of wages now in force in the Board of Public Works, leaving to the regular grievance procedure the settlement of classification disagreements which still exist.

Pending completion of job classification, the commission recommends that wages in the Park and Cemetery department be set at 55 per cent above the wages paid in January, 1941, subject to the following limitations:

1. No employee shall receive a wage of less than 86 cents an hour except those of past retirement age and seasonal employees who may be engaged at a figure agreed upon by the employer and employee's representative.

2. No employee shall receive an increase of more than 10 cents an hour above his present wage.

3. No employee shall receive less than his present wage.

In the Police department, the panel recommends a uniform increase of six cents an hour, suggesting that the advancement program be reviewed with a consideration of reduction in the period of promotion.

The panel also advocated working agreements between each board and its employees, and offered in the event of disagreement to mediate differences.

De Velder said the commission arrived at the recommendations for park and cemetery employees and for the Police department after a careful and exhaustive study of city pay rolls, the wages paid in 10 representative industries in Holland and of nine cities of comparable size in Michigan, and of wage settlement approved previously by the Board of Public Works.

All wage increases would be retroactive to May 1.

The commission met at 4 p.m. with city employees, at 7:30 p.m. with city representatives and at 10 p.m. with employees.

Grand Haven, July 11 (Special)—Helen V. Langlois, 23, Nunica, was issued a summons by state police for failure to yield the right of way as the result of an accident at 10 a.m. Wednesday on US-16 and Third St. in Nunica.

The right rear of a truck owned by the Standard Iron Metal Co. and driven by Ray Leroy Wolff, 32, of Grand Rapids, was struck by the Langlois car, causing the truck to overturn.

Conservation Move Plants More Than 3 Million Trees

Fiantings Restore Cover to Land And Bind Top Soil

Grand Haven, July 11—Three million trees were planted by farm co-operators of Michigan soil conservation districts in 1945, L. R. Arnold, county agricultural agent reports.

In Ottawa county, farm co-operators with the conservation district planted 1,300,000 trees last year.

In Allegan county, farm co-operators planted approximately 500,000 trees during the past year, A. D. Morley, county agent said.

Arnold and Morley report that since soil conservation districts were started in 1938 more than 18 million trees have been planted in the soil conservation districts. Most of the planting has been of white, jack, red and Scotch pine and Norway and white spruce, although in some localities, shrubs were used. Plantings have been restricted largely to small areas on farms which are not suitable to cultivation or pasture. In some localities, plantings have been made to reduce wind and water erosion.

In some soil conservation districts, harvesting of Christmas trees from early plantings started last winter. This is especially true in the West Ottawa District where a co-operative Christmas tree marketing association has been set up to facilitate the sale of the crop.

All of the conservation districts in the state have some tree planting included as a part of their program.

Don't Dump Lawn Rakings at Curb

Don't dump lawn rakings or other refuse at the curb!

Such was the request of City Engineer Jacob Zuidema who reminded local residents that "clean-up" week has long since passed.

The street department sets aside one week a year just before Tulip Time when city trucks pick up rakings and other debris, but not ashes or tin cans, from the curbs.

Residents are required to dispose of their debris at all other times.

City trucks, however, will pick up waste paper (but have it in securely tied bundles or cartons) Friday, July 19.

Oak Tree Pruner Attacks Groves

Allegan, July 11—The oak tree pruner is working overtime now, says A. D. Morley, county agricultural agent. There are great numbers of oak trees in Allegan vicinity and at this time of year a good many calls come to the county agent's office regarding the twigs that drop from the oaks.

To partially eliminate the pest, the twigs should be gathered up soon after they fall and burned. The insect causing the damage cuts off the twig and rides it to the ground and is rather easy to hold in check if the twigs are gathered and burned several times daily.

Morley said that this is the time in their life cycle when they are easiest controlled.

Dr. Knott Finds People Courteous on Telephone

Ladies, is your day ruined when you telephone a strange number and a voice on the other end of the line sneers "Yaas?" Are your nerves tingled by a blague "Ah, yuh got the wrong number?" Then you'll be pleased to know that generally Holland people are polite when they answer the telephone—even for wrong numbers.

We have this on the authority of Dr. J. Nettington Knott, Jr., II (pronounced Junior the second), of the Sentinel Statistics and Trends department. Naturally we hasten to pass this information along.

Dr. Junior claims that, while it is difficult to establish a norm in a research of this nature, still he is happy to report he was received in good spirits by most of the good burghers he disturbed during the last several weeks. He believes the reply depends largely upon the mood of the answer.

To illustrate, a sleeper summoned to the phone at 3 a.m. to tell some night owl "I am not your wife and I don't care what time you come home" is less likely to be congenial than a 16-year-old taking a call from a current heart interest.

But even under general conditions a caller is met with a variety of answers. There are at least 6,500 telephones in Holland. Almost everyone old enough to talk uses one at least once a day and usually oftener.

Of 44 resident numbers called at random by Dr. Knott's research assistant, the most common answer was a pleasant "hello," (emphasis on either syllable and in any tone of voice). Thirty-three calls were so answered. Six answered by giving the name of the residence, for example, "Smith residence." The "Hello, Mary, Smith speaking" pattern was used by only two call receivers, both were women.

Even in 44 phone calls, some unusual people were discovered. One man, with no hesitation, said "Tis your nickel," and then paused. Another call was evidently to someone expecting a confidential report for her answer was "Call ya back later, I can't talk now." One simply answered with an interrogative "Yaas?" The most confusing call made by Dr. Knott's assistant was met with a series of gurgles and goos. This was finally interpreted when a mother explained that her small son had recently become fascinated by the telephone.

After these preliminary greetings were completed, the assistant asked for a fictitious person called Miss Rachel Smith.

Most people answered this request by politely saying, "I'm sorry, you have the wrong number," or "I'm afraid you have the wrong number." Four people asked what number we were trying to reach while two others simply stated their own numbers. Three people barked the receiver without an answer.

Dr. Knott says that in the case of his telephone research, the majority proves nothing. The correct way to answer your phone, he says, is to give the name of your residence, although many people think this a bit too formal. You should then tell the caller who is speaking, to eliminate questioning or misunderstanding.

You should be polite at all times, he says, and the unforgivable sin of telephoning is to bang the receiver in the caller's ear.

Northern Wood, DCA Win Legion Baseball Games

| Standings | W | L | Pct. |
|---------------|---|---|------|
| Northern Wood | 6 | 1 | .857 |
| DCA | 5 | 2 | .714 |
| Fords | 2 | 5 | .286 |
| Hart-Cooley | 1 | 6 | .143 |

The Northern Wood Lumberjacks continued to lead the American Legion Baseball league today following a victory last night over Fords, 5-0. In the second game of the double header, DCA remained close on the Lumberjacks' heels with a 11-7 victory over Hart-Cooley in a free-playing game. Both games were played in Riverview park.

Northern Wood continued to get sensational pitching to lead the loop. After Dale Artz won two games at the start of the season, Bob Altana turned in a couple shutouts in ringling up three straight wins and last night Artz was on the mound again baffling Ford batters. He allowed only three hits—all singles.

The Lumberjacks had a big inning in the fourth. Pitcher Clyde Kehrer of Fords walked Ke-Sloothaak. Successive singles by Artz, Bob Altana and Con Boeve combined with a second walk and an error gave Northern Wood four runs.

Artz had a perfect day at bat with a single, a double and a walk in three trips to the plate.

DCA had to overcome a 7-3 Hart-Cooley lead to win. The Registers batted Lou Humbert from the mound in the second inning with a barrage of singles. Ken Zuverink came in and held the Registers in check while his mates pecked at the four-run lead.

They cut it down to 7-5 in the third, 7-6 in the fourth and with a five-run rally in the sixth, sewed it up. Zuverink delivered the telling blow—a triple, after Ken Van Tatenhove, Ron Fortney, Jack Van Dorpe had singled and Mike Van Oort, walked.

Ron Fortney had three for three for DCA. Tony Wenzel, Ron Schipper and Stan Wlodarczyk each had two hits for H-C.

Junior Shuck was the losing pitcher. He was relieved by Warren Victor in the sixth.

"NO NEWS—NO CASH"

Representative Cannon, Missouri Democrat, stated the case for all Russophiles when he tried to get the house to rescind its
"no news—no cash" clause from the UNRRA relief bill. He called it a "direct slap at Russia." He was right in supposing that it was directly aimed at Russia but he was all wrong in calling it a "slap." If it was any "slapping" in it, Russia was the one that was doing the slapping, and it was simply slapping itself.

If the case were reversed and Russia were handing out the relief money to us, we would not consider it a slap at us if Russia insisted on full publicity as to how those funds were to be expended. A man who hands out food to the hungry does not have to close his eyes and refuse to notice whether that food probably isn't finding its way, into black markets or into other places for which it was not given. If such a person has any common sense he sees to it that the food actually gets into the mouths of the hungry.

And so with nations. How do we know that the supplies we distribute through UNRRA are handed over to the hungry people of Europe unless our news men have free access to information as to where it is going? We are not accusing Russia, through the medium of this bill, of misappropriating the relief supplies. But, honestly, how do we know that the Russian authorities are not appropriating the supplies for their military establishment or for something else equally far removed from the business of feeding hungry Russians? We simply can't know, and after all the American people are appropriating their funds and denying themselves in their meals to do just that—to feed the hungry of Europe.

Any nation that refuses to let the giver of the supplies have the opportunity to find out what is done with the supplies is thereby disqualifying itself for receiving help. It is just too bad for hungry common people in any of the Russian republics that they cannot share in the UNRRA supplies for those common people have had no voice in deciding on the policy of secrecy. But it is not America that is letting them go hungry, it is their own government. They become the responsibility of that government, not our responsibility.

Congress never did a better thing than putting that "no news—
no cash" clause in the relief bill.
It may be that some innocent people will go hungry as a result of the policy but it will insure more food for many other hungry people who are not afraid to let us find out how the food is distributed. We don't have to be fools in our efforts to save the world from starvation.

Jesus and Supreme Loyalty to God
Exodus 20:3-6; Joshua 24:16, 22-24 Matthew 6:24; Luke 9:57-62

By Henry Geerlings

The Israelites had left Egypt, a land of many gods, and were on their way to live among many tribes, each having many gods.
They needed to be fortified within, in order to throw off the past and be safe in the future from the inroads of paganism. To meet this need God gave them the Ten Commandments, the first of which emphasizes the fact that there is one God and only one.

Among the pagan people of that day polytheism was the most popular form of religion. Men imagined that there were all kinds of gods—gods for their every conceivable interest and need. When they wanted something, they sought a special influence with a special god. So there were shrines and altars everywhere, as the Hebrews discovered when they entered Canaan. Lacking the knowledge of the one true God,
the Canaanites, the Egyptians,
and other peoples worshipped many gods. Through special revelation, however, the Hebrews came to understand the oneness of God and to worship Him alone.

This command to put God first,
and to have no other gods is greatly needed today. Correlated with it is the command to make no image or likeness of any kind to represent God. It seems that men go out of their way to transgress this command, even though they profess monotheism. So various kinds of images and paintings are said to represent God.

The statement that God is a jealous God is an attempt to put into language the exclusiveness
of God and His oneness, barring rivals of any sort. The statement regarding His majesty and power emphasizes the importance of obeying Him and the penalty of departing from Him.

To have no other gods means that we must definitely choose no other gods. Possibly only a few people who took part in a gold rush even so much as thought of their religious life. It was gold they were after, not God. How few people today choose Christ,
when they are considering a position, or a home, or their friends.
This necessity of choice is emphasized in the Biblical records of the days of Joshua. The Israelites had found it easier to drift into the ways of those about them than to the true God, Joshua called them up sharply. They said,
"God forbid that we should forsake the Lord." How modern their sounds! "Of course I believe,"
people say when we urge them to accept Christ, but they go on worshipping money and power and pleasure and ease and their household gods, as their neighbors do.

This decisiveness of choice is clearly shown in the account of the temptation of Jesus. The devil wanted the Master to bow down and worship him. There was no hesitation in the answer of Jesus.
"Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God and Him only shalt thou serve."

When the Israelites were told to have no other gods, they were instructed not to make any image
or likeness that might displace
God. Their choice required action.
Joshua emphasized the same thing. He called upon the people to put away foreign gods, and to incline their hearts to God. Jesus made a decisive choice and then acted according to that choice. He taught that talking and good intentions are not enough. One man said he would follow Jesus where-ever He went. Jesus said, "Foxes have holes and the birds of the air
have nests, but the Son of man
hath not where to lay his head."
Another said he would follow
Jesus but he wanted to bid farewell to his home and friends.
Jesus answered, "No man having put his hand to the plow, and looking back is fit for the kingdom of God."

It unifies life. Nothing is so disconcerting as not knowing what to do. Trying to carry water on both shoulders is a disappointing experience. The missionary who gives up everything and goes into a desolate place for Jesus, has a richer experience than a minister who stays at home. He lives as others do, and yet tries to be deeply spiritual.

Albert Schweitzer says that after making his decision to go to Africa, he feared that he would lose three things as his deepest sacrifices: his financial independence; his lectureship, which he loved; and his music, which was a part of him. To his amazement, however, he found that he was called upon to lecture on his furnished, and made more money than he ever had dreamed of, so that he could largely even pay for his equipment. He found also that his music took on greater depth so that he became an authority on Bach.

Do not be afraid that loyalty to one God will narrow your life. It will make your life one, and bring peace that a divided life cannot know. Paul found that to do this one thing gave his life unity and power, and even pleasure.

Following Christ brings us at last to where He is. Love for Him becomes the hinge of life on which all commands and actions swing,
opening the door of life to heavenly things.

Flying Dutchmen Gain Victory Over Grand Haven, 3-2

Van Wieren Hurls Six-Hitter and Bats In All Holland's Runs

Lefty Clare Van Wieren pitched and batted the Holland Flying Dutchmen to their 13th win of the season and ninth straight Monday night in Riverview Park. He yielded six hits and batted in all three Dutch runs, beating Grand Haven, 3-2.

In the second inning Van Wieren socked a double against the left-field grandstand with runners on second and third and in the seventh he singled to left, scoring a running from second.

Van Wieren's teammates got only two hits. Don Van Lente singled to left in the sixth and Russ Woldring smashed a single through the box in the seventh. Nick Marod of Grand Haven was setting them down with frequent slow balls and a sharp curve.

Grand Haven got six hits, bunting three singles in the fifth for a run after Howie Kueken had slammed a home run into the left-field grandstand in the second.

Grand Haven's Art Fisher beat out a grounder to deep short to get the Dutch in trouble in the ninth inning. But Van Wieren got Ray Wilson on an infield pop-up and fanned Nick Marod. After walking Pinch-Batter Ed Marod, he retired Steve Sluka on a ground ball to Frank Brgladi who threw to second for a force-out.

Northern Wood drilled out seven singles, a double, a triple and a home run Friday night in River-view Park to defeat D. C. A., 6-2. They now have a clear cut shot at the first round championship of the American Legion Baseball league, needing only victories next week over the two bottom teams in the standings.

In the first game of the double header Fords beat Hart-Cooley, 6-5, with Clyde Kehrwecker saving victory for Fords by fanning the last man in the last inning with the bases full.

Fords took a 4-0 lead in the third inning on hits by Norm Jap- inga, Cal Van Wieren, Dewey Bakker and Bud De Vree. H-C whittled the lead to 4-3 with one run in the fourth and two in the fifth but Fords got two in the sixth to lead, 6-3.

In the final inning Duayne Rosendahl, pitching for Fords got two outs and with a runner on second appeared to have things well under control. He walked Ron Schipper however, and hit Stan Wlodarczyk with a pitched ball, loading the bases. Then Warren Victor singled to center driving in two runs and making the score, 6-5.

Kehrwecker was called in from the shortstop position to pitch. He gave Tony Wenzel an intentional pass and then fanned Bud Harper to end the rally.

Rosendahl got credit for the win and Victor was the loser.

In the nightcap Bob Altena scattered six D. C. A. safeties to win. He aided his own cause with three hits in three trips to the plate including a long home run blast over the centerfielder's head.

Altena fanned 11, getting his third straight victory. Ken Zuverink was the losing pitcher.

Young Holland Rider Wins Three Firsts

Howard Plaggenmats, eight years old, won three firsts at an Ionia horse show Saturday.

He was first in the children's class, pleasure horse class and No. 15 musical chair event.

Young Plaggenmats has won many prizes at local horse shows, riding his golden mare, Golden Lady.

Several of the yachts that participated in the Chicago-to-Saugatuck yacht race Wednesday and Thursday lie at anchor in Macatawa Bay. The boats also participated in the Venetian parade July 4 and raced Friday P.M. in the Lake Michigan Yachting association's annual 12-mile triangle event. Five small sailboats are at anchor in the foreground of the lower picture. (Du Saar photo)

Thousands Line Shores Here for Venetian Night

Three local boat owners won first place trophies and a Chicago owner received honorable mention in one of the classes in the Venetian Night parade competition on Lake Michigan Thursday night which attracted thousands of spectators, who lined both shores the length of the lake.

"Ar-Jane," owned by Fred Cochran of the Macatawa Bay Yacht club, carrying a live "Statue of Liberty" holding aloft a flaming torch, won first place in the cruiser division. "Liberty" was flanked by two saluting servicemen at a lower level. The "Jan-de-lind," owned by Edward Lawson of Chicago, elaborately decorated with lights and pennants was given honorable mention.

In the runabout division, the "Annie Laurie," owned by O. W. Lowry of Holland, decorated with evergreen boughs, Christmas tree lights and sporting three Santa Clauses singing "Jingle Bells," took first place.

Winner in the open class was a boat decorated with Chinese lanterns, entered by Carl Harrington.

About 20 yachts, decorated in various ways, entered the competition. Many other boats of all types joined the initial parade. The bulk of the boats expected here from the Chicago-to-Saugatuck regatta, remained in Saugatuck.

Judges were Gould C. Davis and H. L. Hendrickson of the Chicago Yacht club, Duncan Campbell of the Macatawa Bay Yacht club, and Willis Ware and William Terrell of the Columbia yacht club of Chicago.

A defective sky rocket, which backfired, destroyed some of the better pieces scheduled to be shot from a barge from the middle of the lake as a climax of the Venetian night activities.

No one was hurt in the accident which occurred a half hour after fireworks were begun. The backfiring rocket went under a canvas igniting two large spinning wheels reserved for the fireworks climax. These wheels together with other rockets and Roman candles, some rope and the canvas cover were destroyed in the blaze. A somewhat similar accident occurred on the last Venetian night program July 4, 1941.

With ideal weather throughout the day, the shores of the lake were jammed with visitors, many of whom experienced difficulty in finding parking places.

Much of the parking problem on the south shores of the Lake was solved by sheriff's officers who earlier in the day opened Jensen park and cut down several trees to allow facilities for 700 cars. Sheriff's officers were on duty all day directing traffic at the North Shore horse show and helping with Venetian night traffic.

A new method which permits x-ray photography on special 35 mm. film reduces costs in taking chest pictures from $1 per exposure to less than one cent.

We're standing in line, too

MOST materials are hard to get. Some are available only in limited quantities. Others can't be had at all.

With you it's butter and sugar and shirts and many other things. With us it's lead and copper and steel and lumber and brass and textiles — and many other things needed in the manufacture of telephone equipment.

A few months ago it looked as if things might be getting better. But disturbed conditions have tightened up the supply situation. In recent weeks, material shortages have been more critical than during the war.

We have found many substitutes, made some old materials do, and practiced all kinds of short cuts in an effort to meet a situation that is far from normal.

Right now, we hope that most of the orders for telephone service received before the first of this year can be filled by the end of the year. In some areas, of course, we expect to complete many orders received this year. But it may be late next year before we can return to a "ready-to-serve" basis everywhere.

We're moving just as fast as we can, and as supplies improve, we'll get going full tilt.

No Inconvenience In Power Failure At Macatawa Park

Guests Take Incident In Good Spirits, Management Reports

They all had a lot of fun by candle light.

Failure of electric power at Macatawa park for six hours starting about 10 p.m. Friday failed to inconvenience hotel guests, cottagers and the visiting regatta crowd.

In fact, it turned out to be a gala event at the hotel and at Macatawa Bay Yacht club which were overcrowded with guests attracted here by the July 4 regatta. There was no inconvenience at all in the hotel dining room where a modern system of candle lighting provides illumination regularly.

A large store of candles at the yacht club was pressed into service and the guests found dancing by candle light much more fun than had the situation been ordinary.

Sheriff's deputies answered the call and "policed" the park with flares directing traffic and assisting resorters generally.

Water supply at the yacht club was curtailed since water supply is provided by an electric pump and employees were busy today washing huge stacks of dishes.

The hotel help also was busy with the dishes but for another reason. The hotel's electric dish washer couldn't operate without power.

A couple of California arrived at the hotel about 2 a.m. They were met by a doorman with a lantern and ushered to their room by flash light.

Some guests even tried their luck at bowling in the dark or with limited candle light.

No spoilage in refrigerators was reported.

Exact cause of the power failure was not known but it was thought some switches burned out in the Macatawa power house which receives its power from Consumers Power Co.

Water supply was not threatened at Macatawa park which has tanks for a 65,000-gallon supply. Some cottagers were sprinkling their lawns at 3 a.m.

J. Nettington Nettle Over Shortage of Words

All this happened one exceptionally humid day when there was a great deal of nothing to do around the newsroom after the paper had been put to bed.

"You know, I got a book for Father's day," a reporter said, "I always wanted a book. It has a lot of words in it. Sometimes I think there are too many words in the English language."

"Not a bit of it, young man," said Dr. J. Nettington Knott, Jr. II. "As a matter of fact there aren't enough words in the English language. Each word has a precise meaning, but there are not enough for all situations."

"Take the relationship between a young man and a young woman who are seeing a great deal of each other. They are not yet betrothed, so what can you say in English? You can only say 'they are keeping company' and are 'boy friend' and 'girl friend' respectively."

"When this romance has nearly run its course and they become engaged one must borrow from French the words 'fiance' and 'fiancee'. Have you ever considered the distressing sound these words make when anglicized?"

"Now suppose the 'fiancee' takes his 'fiancee' to dinner. He consults her wises over a 'menu', another borrowed word that sounds rather like a very tired and hungry kitten."

"Perhaps they decide to order ice cream with their pie. This combination is called a la mode, pronounced usually all mowed. Could anything be more harsh to the ears?"

"Perhaps, young man, you will realize the justice of my complaint when I tell you a modern, unabridged dictionary lists 550,000 words, selected from 1,665,000 citations."

"When Noah Webster first published his work in 1828, he listed 70,000 words. By 1864 the unabridged version had grown to 114,000; in 1890 there were 175,000. An additional 25,000 words were added in 1900 and in 1909 the vocabulary of the United States had grown to 400,000."

"And not a single word of the 550,000 served to supplant the obnoxious 'girl friend'."

"Go on with your book, young man. Perhaps some day you will fether the word I want!"

Director of the band will be Dale C. Harris and guest conductors will be William De Revelli, Joseph E. Maddy and Maynard Klein.
