New Ticket System Started by Police In Zeeland City

Arresting Officers Now Designate Judge That Violators Must Contact

ZEELAND (Special) — Zeeland's traffic violation system has been brought into conformance with most Michigan communities by Police Chief Elmer Bos.

Under the new system arresting officers designate which of the two Justices of the Peace violators must contact, a move that will make it possible for justices to study the summons before the violator appears for settlement.

Formerly the justices knew nothing about a case except what was put on the ticket, a policy that made it difficult to properly assess fines.

Four copies are now made of each summons. One copy goes to the violator, the other to the judge, one is kept by the Zeeland police and the fourth copy is sent to police of the area in which the violator lives.

Biggest advantage of the new system is that judges will know what cases are supposed to appear before them, and after one week can send a warning and after two can issue a warrant.

Reports from the files of Justice H.C. Dickman recently include a drunk and disorderly charge against Joe Kornolje, 38, of 53 Lincoln Ave., Zeeland. Kornolje paid $53.90 on the charge.

Lee Wiersma, 19, of 160th Ave., Holland, failure to have car under control, $53.90; Jacob John Cepelina, 18, of 116 Stewart Ave., Grand Rapids, disorderly conduct involving fireworks, $13.90; Mrs. Laura Rice, 63, of Shrewsbury Miss., property damage accident involving disregard of officers signals and lights, $15.

Jay Datema, 18, of 325 East Main Ave., Zeeland, speeding 40 in 25 zone, $10; Thomas A. Glochski, 20, of 700 Madison Ave., Grand Rapids, speeding 45 in 30 zone, $17.90; Gaylord L. Smith, 35, of 4560 Jefferson Ave., Grand Rapids, running traffic signal, $9; Olin S. Strouse, 23, of 970 Lincoln Ave., Zeeland, running traffic signal, $9; Melvin J. Koster, 18, route 1, Holland, driving without due caution, $9; Herman Vander Leek, 44, of 235 West 22nd St., Holland, running traffic signal, $7.

In the court of Justice Egbert J. Boes, Duane Kloet, 17, of route 3, Zeeland, paid 107.90 on charges of driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

Other fines include Jack Jelma, 34, of 442 12th St., Grand Rapids, running red light, $9; Warren Dale Andrews, 25, of 1224 Logan St., Grand Rapids, running red light, $9; Richard Dengate, 17, Grand Rapids, running red light, $9; Gerhard A. Ritsma, 17, of 578 South Shore Drive, Holland, running red light, $9.

Donald Steenwyk, 27, of Grand Rapids, driving without lights on left side of highway, $10; Lester A. Strong, 25, of Grand Rapids, running stop sign, $7.

Owners 'Get the Bird' When Dogs Kill Chickens

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Alton Burke and Walter Lilly of route 1, Hudsonville, have found that it can be expensive to let their dogs run loose.

Three dogs, two of them owned by Lilly, have been established as the dogs who have killed more than 150 chickens belonging to John M. Boss, also of route 1, Hudsonville, during the past two weeks. Monday night, Boss shot at one of the dogs and the animal did not return home.

Blendon township officials reported to the Ottawa County Sheriff's Department that the owners will have to pay Boss for the chickens killed at the rate of approximately $1 a bird.

The other two dogs have been disposed of by their owners. It is against state law to allow dogs to run loose.

Mrs. Overway Files Suit, Seeks $50,000 Damages

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Mrs. George Overway, 463 Harrison Ave., Holland, has started suit in court, seeking $50,000 in damages from Kenneth Van Rhee of Zeeland.

Van Rhee is the driver of a car which hit Mrs. Overway's husband last year on Sunday, Sept. 6 at 2:40 a.m. on the corner of River Ave. and Ninth St. Overway was thrown several feet through the air and died following the accident.

Police Waste Little Time in Burglary Case

Quick work by Ottawa County deputies brought about the arrest of a 33-year-old Holland man on a charge of breaking and entering in the nighttime, less than 24 hours after the burglary was reported.

Bias Duron, route 4, was arraigned on the charge before Municipal Court Judge Cornelius Vander Meulen Monday and was bound over to circuit court after he waived examination. Bond of $500 was not furnished.

Duron is accused of taking a guitar valued at $200 from the home of Clara Jesiek, route 4, early Saturday morning. The guitar was recovered at Duron's home Saturday afternoon and he was arrested early Sunday morning.

Two Injured in 'U' Turn Mixup

ZEELAND (Special) — Two Grand Rapids residents were taken to Municipal Hospital for treatment of injuries suffered in a two car crash at 12:15 p.m. Tuesday two miles west of the city on M-21.

Evelyn L. Burba, 38, of 1955 Argentina Dr. and her son Ted, 9, were released after treatment for head injuries and lacerations.

Burba was driver of a car headed east that crashed into the side of a car driven by John E. Vander Veen, 49, of 1038 Wern Ave., Grand Rapids that was attempting to make a 'U' turn on the highway.

Vander Veen told officers he had pulled to the right shoulder of the road, and across the highway in front of the oncoming Burba auto. Witnesses said Mrs. Burba could not avoid the crash.

Receive Minor Injuries In Car, Truck Accident

Two Muskegon women received minor injuries Tuesday afternoon when a car in which they were riding collided with the rear of a pickup truck on River Ave. near 10th St.

Joyce Laird, 24, and Betty Mael, 24, both of Muskegon, were treated for lacerations by a local physician. Driver of the car, Donald Laird, 24, also of Muskegon, was not injured. He was issued a ticket for failure to keep an assured clear distance ahead.

Damage to Laird's car and the pickup driven by Gerrit DeWeerd, 49, of 162 East 26th St., was estimated at $400, police said. The impact shoved the DeWeerd car into other cars waiting at a stop light. The cars were not damaged.

Local Person May Be Out $3,500

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Someone in Holland may be out $3,500 — if a story told city police here Thursday by a Grand Haven man is true.

Cyrus Wise, 79, of 29 Franklin St., walked into the Grand Haven police station at 7 Thursday night and reported that $3,500 had been stolen from his apartment — but that the money didn't belong to him.

Wise told police that he had been given the money by a friend in Holland for safekeeping. But he refused to divulge the friend's name.

Why? His friend's wife didn't know about the transaction, Wise explained, and he didn't want to get him in "hot water."

Wise declined to say why he did not contact the Holland man himself. But Grand Haven police are asking anyone in Holland who has any knowledge of the strange deal to contact them immediately.

ALLEGAN (Special) — Mrs. Edith Small exchanged the first words with her husband since the shooting of Jules Lack on May 29 when the two met Tuesday afternoon in a small anteroom in Allegan court house, according to Small's brother, Robert.

They were crowded together in the room and Small inquired about their three children. They joked briefly about their love letters that were introduced in evidence, and parted with Mrs. Small calling:

"Good luck, Ken."

Small's parents visited him in his cell at the Allegan county jail Tuesday night.

Bypass Paving Starts; Rendering Works Closes

One more link in the extensive highway network around Holland is on the home stretch.

Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler announced today that work has started on the 3.9 miles of dual 24 foot concrete pavement for a US-31 bypass from south of Holland east and north to M-21.

The project, expected to cost $574,833, leaves only the 7.1 miles M-21 Zeeland bypass from Vriesland to near the Black River bridge for completion to finish four lane travel from Grand Rapids.

Final grading operation on the Holland bypass started Wednesday as contractors moved in six heavy "Touneapulls", big underslung earth movers capable of carrying 14 yards of sand.

The Touneapulls, along with three bulldozers and a crane, are finishing up grading near the Holland Rendering Works plant, within 200 yards of the intersection.

Operations at the plant have stopped, and former owners A. P. Kleis and Sons will have all personal property off the site by Saturday. It is the first time in 49 years that operations have ceased at the plant.

Kleis plans to build a new plant on a yet undetermined site, and in the meantime will move materials to other rendering plants in the area. Practically all the employees, some of whom have been at the plant for 20 years, will remain working during the interim period.

Completion date for concrete paving on the Holland bypass is Dec. 31.

Meanwhile, work has started on a 60 foot span crossing a small Black River tributary where the Zeeland bypass crosses Paw Paw Dr. 1 1/2 miles west of Zeeland.

The four-lane wide bridge is being built by Canonic Construction Company of South Haven. Engineers are currently awaiting a pile driver for the two-abutment span.

With much of the grading already completed on the M-21 section, work is being concentrated on the mile-long stretch near Vriesland where more than 1,300,000 yards of fill are being brought in.

With the roadbed resting in the peat bogs, the entire section 104 feet wide must be dug out—sometimes as deep as 35 feet. Starting at the eastern end of the bog, cranes are almost out of the deeper sections of peat.

After the peat is dug out, fill is brought in from a nearby hill raising the entire roadway several feet above the old level.

D. E. Lancaster, engineer on the job, said next operation will be "jetting the fill." This operation consists of dropping one inch pipes at 10 foot intervals to the bottom of the fill under hydraulic pressure.

Then water is pumped into the pipes to assure that the fill is tightly packed. "We should start that in about three weeks," Lancaster said.

Wife Bolts Again As Brother Tells Of Meeting Lack

Character Witnesses Describe Dentist at Slow-Moving Session

ALLEGAN (Sentinel Reporter) — Dr. Kenneth Small is expected to take the stand this afternoon and tell the jury how he cracked under the strain before driving across Michigan to kill his wife's sutor, 45-year-old Jules Lack, New York playboy industrialist.

And the tension bristled this morning in the 65-year-old Allegan court house in anticipation of Dr. Small's trip to the stand.

Just four minutes before the court adjourned for the daily noon recess, Dr. Small's wife, Edith, ran from the court room for the second time during the four-day-old trial while Dr. Small's dentist partner, brother Dr. Robert Small, told of seeing Edith and Lack in Florida.

Dr. Robert Small started his testimony at 11:50 after a comparatively slow-moving morning of Defense Attorney Leo Hoffman's character witnesses. Only five witnesses—two of them recalled—testified this morning.

Explaining more of Ken's "dazed condition" after Edith returned from Florida April 6, Dr. Robert Small told how Ken left the office a couple of days after Edith's return.

"He was preparing to treat a patient," Robert said, "when he dropped a piece of equipment and said: 'I can't go on. I don't feel well and I have to go home. Take care of my appointment.'"

That was on Tuesday and Ken left for Florida on Thursday after stopping at Robert's house Tuesday night for a two-hour talk, Robert testified. "Ken told me that he had to get away—go to Florida for a while—and that he would tell me more when he got back," Robert said.

Robert said that he told his brother about meeting Edith and a man he recalled was Jules Lack when he was down in Florida during March.

"I think I met him," Robert testified that he said, and discussion on the subject ended there.

When Ken returned, his brother said, he worked only mechanically in his dental clinic, and talked constantly of divorce during lunch periods and other breaks.

Robert said he told Ken about his impressions of Lack on the few occasions he met him in Florida.

"Ken, I've met this man—he's an older man—a smooth person," Robert said he told Ken. Robert testified that he felt Lack was putting up some sort of a "front"—talking about air conditioning all the time despite the fact that he was so new in the industry.

Robert testified to the remainder of the conversation:

Robert—"Let her go. She'll be hurt by him. I can't believe he was what he presented himself to be. For a man supposedly wealthy, he stayed in a motel on the causeway—far from the beach. He seemed to be looking for low rates in Florida."

Ken—"She seems to believe everything she hears and sees."

At this point, Robert said, Ken mentioned Edith's desire to take a trip to Europe during the summer and that he would have the children for about six weeks. This conversation took place after Edith had filed for divorce.

Then came the bombshell that sent Mrs. Edith Small running from the court room at 11:56 a.m. Still testifying on the conversation, Robert said the European trip rang a bell and he told Ken: "Well, that ties in

The child was sleeping on the floor near the ice box in quarters for the Texas transients on the George Hayes farm, route 2, Fennville.

The floor in the quarters was unsteady, and walking around on the part of many farm workers caused the old ice box to fall over on the sleeping child. The transient workers could speak no English.

Surviving besides the parents are eight half-brothers and sisters.

After proofs were submitted in court Friday afternoon, the judge, court reporter, the parties involved and their attorneys and a television technician of Grand Rapids visited the Sovis home in Grand Haven to inspect the television set.

Sovis contends the sale of the new set was not to be completed until he was satisfied with the deal. His old set was sold in the meantime and now he is seeking $200 which he figures the old set was worth.

Son of Former Probate Judge Admitted to Bar

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Edward P. Kirby, son of the late Edward P. Kirby who served as Ottawa Probate Judge before 1920, was admitted to the Michigan State Bar before Judge Raymond L. Smith in Circuit Court today. He was admitted on motion of Jacob Ponstein, Grand Haven attorney and associate municipal judge.

Kirby, 33, lives at 520 Washington St. with his wife and two sons, 4 and 5. He was born in Muskegon and spent most of his life in Detroit and Iowa. His grandfather was a pioneer shipbuilder in Grand Haven, coming here from Ireland.

Kirby's father served as probate judge for Ottawa county from 1901 to 1916. Kirby was graduated from the University of Michigan law school last year, just 53 years after his father was graduated from the same school.

During World War II, Kirby spent three years with the U. S. Army and was severely wounded in France. His wife, the former Rose Butler of Whittemore, Ia., was an Army nurse and cared for him 15 months in a Springfield, Mo., hospital. He is a member of St. Patrick's church.

Marriage Licenses

Ottawa County John Adamson Ewart, Jr., 26, and Caryl Jane Curtis, 23; William Burton Victor, 35, and Florence Ellen Stam, 31, all of Holland; Robert L. Bolthouse, 20, route 1, Spring Lake, and Helen Cleone Kaufman, 18, Grand Haven, 60 days suspension.

"WHAT A DEAL!"—That was the impression of two hopeful young publishers, 11-year-old Brian Taber (left) and Ronnie Gibson, also 11, when they saw The Sentinel's big rotary press. But they'll have to get along without it when they start publishing their "Weekly Planet."

'Publishers' Plan Start Of Weekly (?) Paper

Life has been a little more difficult than usual for the last couple of weeks at the Paul Taber and Norman Gibson households at 559 Elm Dale Ct. and 147 West 20th St., respectively.

And it will probably stay that way unless 11-year-old Brian Taber and his co-editor, 11-year-old Ronnie Gibson, give up their idea of putting out a newspaper.

Neither boy is absolutely certain just what will go into the paper, nor for that matter does either one care to predict the date of the first issue. But they are convinced of one thing—they're going to publish.

Tentative plans call for the initial appearance of the "Weekly Planet" July 10. And for every week afterwards "until we get tired of it."

The boys admitted that they lifted the name for their publication through extensive reading of "Superman" comic books where the hero works for a newspaper called "The Daily Planet."

Brian and Ronnie, who are both in the sixth grade, have no aspirations to be journalists, however. They're simply going into the business "for the money."

After all, they want to be scientists someday. And since two of their business ventures have failed already, they figure they've been through the mill. Furthermore, it takes lots of money to buy astronomy and chemical equipment to keep up their hobbies.

Those two business failures were a circus and a magic show. The two boys started the circus last summer and the magic show a couple of weeks ago. But both folded after only the boys' nine-year-old sisters showed up for the first performances.

"We plan to circulate about 75," Brian estimated with the air of a veteran executive. "My dad has some equipment that we can print them on."

"We are going to deliver them door-to-door and try to pick up subscriptions," Ronnie cut in. "We're going to print any news that we can gather ourselves and sell the paper for a nickel."

They didn't have any plans for advertising unless the popularity of their publication creates a demand.

What gave them the idea? Of all things, they were playing tennis. But an automobile accident broke up the game and, according to Brian, they figured they'd like to tell the neighbors about it when they saw something that exciting. Thus, the birth of a newspaper.

If all goes well of course, they may be making headlines someday themselves. They have a lot of big plans like rocket trips to Mars and such.

And who knows. The newspaper might last. Until they get tired of it, that is.

Zeeland Wins, 2-1, To Break Tie for Third in League

ZEELAND (Special) — Striking out an amazing total of 20 batters, John De Mey, imported Zeeland Chix hurler, slammed down the Holland Flying Dutchmen, 2-1, Friday night with a three-hitter at Zeeland Athletic Field.

De Mey, who beat Grand Haven in the only other contest he pitched for the Chix this season, is a product of Calvin College in Grand Rapids. But he's almost invincible for the Chix—and Friday night he was in almost perfect form as he pitched to only 30 Dutchmen—just three more than the minimum 27, in a nine-inning contest. He did not walk a batter.

The close contest broke a tie for third place in the Southwestern Michigan Baseball League with the Chix taking over the third spot with a 4-3 record and the Dutchmen dropping to fourth on 3-4.

Grand Haven has finished its first-half schedule with a record of 6-2, and only second-place South Haven, with a 3-2 mark, has a chance to tie for the title.

For a while, it looked as if two of the three Dutchmen hits might win the game. They went ahead, 1-0, in the fourth when third baseman Bob Van Dyke rammed a single into left field, went to second on a wild pitch and came home on Ron Forney's two-base blast into center.

That lead held until the sixth when Dutchman pitcher Jim Boeve loaded the bases by yielding a single to Howie De Jonge and walks to Junior De Jonge and Edwin Bredeweg.

Catcher Ken Wiersma socked a single into center scoring Howie De Jonge and Junior De Jonge came romping home with the eventual winning run when centerfielder Lou Humbert pitched one over catcher Ron Boeve's head.

That was all the scoring although the Dutchmen threatened to tie the game in the seventh when Van Dyke singled for the second time, moved to second on a wild pitch and to third on a passed ball. But De Mey bore down to strike out two and nail the third on an infield roller to the pitcher's mound.

In all, the Chix nicked Boeve for nine hits, two of them by Tony Diekema, but he scattered them well and almost overcame the 20-strikeout obstacle thrown up by De May. Van Dyke collected two of Holland's three hits.

Earlier, this season, the Dutchmen battered the Chix in a 12-8 slugfest that was in direct contrast to Friday night's pitching duel.

In the 18th century so little was known about bird migration that some people believed that birds wintered on the moon.

Let's Plant Beauty--Daisy Important In In-Between Weeks of Gardening

During these in-between weeks, before the annual flowers get well under way, the prolific daisy is indispensable. If you have a small garden, limit your choice to one of the many Shastas, and let that be Mount Shasta, a chrysanthemum-flowering type, which blooms from June until frost. For earlier perennial daisies choose leopardbane (Doronicum), and the painted daisy (Pyrethrum). All daisies should be divided every third year.

Shastas highlight the border-gardens at the Wayne Tice place at 950 Grandview Ct. just off Lugers Rd. where a fanfare of color will soon begin in the two 200 foot borders of annuals and perennials, banked by shrubbery, smoke trees, and evergreens. The drive encircles a rose garden. The home's foundation planting includes yews, mugho pine, hydrangea, savin Juniper, and arbutovite. A potted grapefruit tree inclines itself against the back of the house which overlooks a terraced yard where bloom masses of nicotiana and beebalm. The Tices make constant use of a very large cold frame from whose seemingly endless stores early seedlings make their debut and tender cuttings retire for a safe winter.

Low white fencing sets off and calls attention to the excellence of the front lawn of the T. F. Coleman's place at 638 Graafschap Rd. For this thick green turf they have used golf greens grass and keep it clipped short. Every two or three weeks they use Seattle to keep out all quick grass, crab grass, weeds, and clover.

Quite a lot of color is still found at the Arthur Visser home at 663 Graafschap Rd., which boasts of a lovely rock garden and ivy pond set in front of twin evergreens. Roses entwine their tendrils along the roof of a summer house and a large flower garden against a background of hollyhocks introduces a very well kept vegetable garden. Mr. Visser enjoys the gardening here and has used much artistry in planning it.

At 669 Graafschap Rd. we found a beautiful garden where dolphinium, tritomas, and lythrum were adding notes of grace. The gardener here is Mrs. Shashaguy.

Among her Regal lilies was one that bore 16 blooms. The evergreens about the house are neatly trimmed and the whole yard is well groomed.

At a time such as this when most of our gardens are at somewhat of a standstill, it is well to consider foliage, as good foliage neatly kept is as important in the attractiveness of a garden as are the colorful flowers. You will appreciate now the foliage of your like shape of its leaves giving variety and relief from monotony in the form of your shrubs. Groupings of the plantain lily (funkia) Hogg, whose green and white leaves are slightly curled, will bring a cool touch and contrast into the foreground of your border and be a pleasant substitute for flowers when they are scarce.

Between the crescendos of color, the condition and beauty of leaves is important too in the edging of your garden. For the formal garden we suggest English boxwood, pachistima, germander, or the ivy in a natural or sheared state; for edging the informal garden; might choose candy-tuft, dianthus, coralbell, or the unusual enchantment of strawberries. A rule to follow in edgings is this: for the formal, let it be binding; for the informal, a fringe.

Dog Notes

by Peter Boggs

The Greatest of All Dog Stories
The greatest of all dog stories is also one of the oldest of all dog stories. Most of you know it. But it will do you no harm to hear it again. I tell it, in this series, to show how long and how joyfully a dog can remember his absent master. Here goes:

When Ulysses left his petty kingdom to embark on the Trojan war, he said goodbye to his chum dog, Argos. For twenty years the king was gone. He was mourned as dead. Suitors sought his supposedly widowed wife, Penelope, in marriage. His friends half-forgot him. But Argos did not forget; and he did not cease to wait eagerly for his master's return. The dog grew old. Nobody at court cared for him. His bed was a heap of muck in a barn yard.

Then, at long last, Ulysses came home. He was in the rags of a beggar. Twenty years had changed him so greatly that his friends his courtiers and even Penelope did not recognize him as he limped into the domain that once had been his.

But, from the muck-heap the ancient dog lifted himself painfully. He made his feeble way to the supposed beggar, trembling and crying with happiness. He licked the wanderer's hands in rapturous greeting. Then he fell dead at Ulysses' feet.

If you readers know a better dog story than that, go ahead and tell it. I'll print it.

Shedding Not Slick

Several of you have written to me, during the past month or two, saying you are afraid your dogs are ill because their hair has begun to fall out in wholesale quantities. Not once in a thousand times have such owners any reason for alarm. "Shedding" is a process as natural to dogs in spring and summer and, sometimes in autumn, as for you to discard your furs or heavy overcoat during the same seasons.

It is Nature's way of keeping a dog cool in hot weather; and of shedding and then renewing his worn-out last-year's coat. Be patient and in due time—usually when cold days set in—the new coat will begin to sprout, and will grow fast and luxuriantly.

Meanwhile, there is still further need for patience along another line. For your furniture, your rugs, and your clothing are likely to be strewn with dead hairs and (in case of long-haired dogs) with tufts of colorless fur. There will be extra work for the clothes brush, vacuum cleaner, and broom. That is one of the chief mishaps which dog-owners must put up with.

REDISCOVERING

CENTRAL AMERICA

Whatever comes out of the Gua-temalan fracas, the situation there has served as a lesson in American geography. We the American people have once more become conscious of Central America.

Most of us had virtually forgotten that there is such a region on this hemisphere. We knew it was there, from the vague recollections we retain from grammar school days, but to most of us
Central America was not "real"
as the North American continent
and as South America.

If the mental image of the geography of this hemisphere could be laid bare, as it exists in the minds of most of us, the picture
would be that of North America
and South America, land masses
of about equal size, separated by
the Isthmus of Panama and the Panama Canal.

As the newspapers have been publishing the map of Central America, the national mental image has of necessity undergone change. The middle area is small as compared with the continents
to the north and to the south, but it is much larger than most of us
remembered from grammar school days.

And though it is small, to the tiny nations that make up the area
it is of course of transcendent importance. Each little country feels itself the hub of the universe, and
the passion of nationalism that animates the minds of the citizens
of those countries is as full of international dynamite as such a thing is anywhere in the world.

Moreover, the forces bent on world domination saw clearly that the position of Central America
between the two continents made it a strategic spot from which to operate. Those forces counted on the mental blindness that had developed among the millions of the two continents. But it looks as if they were too eager and counted
too much on lethargy to the north and to the south. By acting prematurely, as they seem to have done, the Communists have shaken
the people of the Western Hemisphere awake. In addition to getting a lesson in geography, those people have given a lesson in geopolitics at the same time. Both lessons should prove valuable if they are translated into action.

Growing Through Bible Study
Acts 17:10,11; 1 Timothy 4:13-16;
2 Timothy 2:16; 3:15-17
by Henry Geerlings

The Christian has a book which contains all the information he requires in order to accept, to understand, and to tell to others the work of God in redeeming man
from destruction. If our relation toward God and toward righteousness
is the supreme concern of life, then the Bible becomes a book we dare not neglect. It is well for us to read good literature. It deals with life itself, even with our own life.

Some of our early American
fathers—Jefferson, the Adamses, Clay, Franklin, Webster—were ardent scholars of Aristotle and Plato. Many historians uncover much information and point to it as the source of inspiration for these early fathers as the explanation of America's hidden power.
But what about the Pilgrims, the people of the 13 colonies and the leaders of the Revolution? They were not outstanding intellects.
They were plain, common people.
Yet they spoke the same basic language as Jefferson and Franklin and Webster. Many historians seem to ignore the fact that the book of the colonists was the Bible.

We find all the American documents from the Mayflower compact to the Declaration of Independence were inspired and drawn from the Scriptures. They were based on teachings from the Deuteronomy, the 91st Psalm, the 55th chapter of Isaiah, from the prophetic writings of Amos, Hosea
and Micah, from the Sermon on the Mount, and the Lord's Prayer,
and from the 11th chapter of the Hebrews and the 13th chapter of 1st Corinthians. America's hidden power lay in the earnest devotion
of the common people to the Word of God and their zealous desire to keep the Bible as the center of their lives, the heart of their homes.

Growing Christians' use of the Bible helps to grow in knowledge,
because the Bible is a collection
of 66 books, the most varied and venerable literature, bound together by their having a unity that springs from their being the history of God's revelation to man
and man's gradual understanding of God and His way of life. They were written during many centuries by many writers—chroniclers,
prophets, philosophers, apostles
and laymen. These books of the Bible which were written centuries apart make up a library representing different stages of religious development. Glimpses
one may have of other religious books, such as Koran or the Vedas,
make more apparent the superiority of the Bible and the fact that it is inspired by God. No other book is so profitable to teach, to reprove, to correct and to equip
people completely for being and doing good.

The Bible brings us in tune with God. As we read its contents there comes to us an understanding and appreciation that would otherwise be denied us. The story is told of an old shepherd and his violin. The shepherd watched his sheep, staying close by them, in a very lonely section of the Northwest.
His only companion were his dogs
and his violin. On Sunday afternoons he usually listened to a symphony orchestra through the small radio he possessed. His violin became hopelessly out of tune
so he wrote to the leader of the great orchestra asking if on the following Sunday would he please strike "a" so that he might tune
his violin. The following Sunday afternoon, as requested, the orchestra leader paused in his concert, told the story of the old
shepherd and then struck "a".
Stringed instruments quickly get out of tune. The action of the atmosphere and the constant vibration in playing, relax the strings
so that they need to be retuned frequently. We are much like the violin. We too, soon get out of tune with God. The wear and tear
of life so affects our disposition
that we need frequently to be re-tuned in harmony with God. And there is a standard necessary by which we may tune our lives.
Christ is that standard and we must go to the Bible to find Him.
When we read and study that divine Word we soon find ourselves
again in harmony with the will
and spirit of God in Christ.

How do we grow through Bible study? We grow in knowledge, in skill, in spirituality, in appreciation of the Word. We grow as we do. Through practice we become strong. Within the Word is found the food for souls, within the world to practice what we learn.

Eye Witnesses
Testify First Day
Of Murder TrialHostess, One Guest
And Gardener Give
Versions of Shooting

ALLEGAN (Special)—Testimony from eye witnesses in the first degree murder case against
Dr. Kenneth Small, 31, Detroit
dentist, highlighted the first day
in Allegan Circuit Court Monday.
The Detroit dentist is charged with slaying Jules H. Lack, 48-year-old
New York industrialist, last May 29 in a home overlooking Lake
Michigan south of Douglas, culminating marital troubles which developed over Lack's attentions
to Small's wife.

Giving the most detailed testimony was Dennis M. Carroll, Jr., Chicago mortician who was a guest in the home of Mrs. Vivian Gates where the shooting occur-
ed. He described his associations with Jules Lack as that of a friend, but not a close friend.
He said he had met Lack about four years ago and the two men
usually had lunch together when Carroll was in New York, often at the "21 Club." When Lack was in Chicago, he would usually call
Carroll and make a lunch date.
"He never mentioned Edith Small. The first time I knew of her was when he introduced her
that Friday afternoon," he said.
Carroll who had previously invited
Lack to a week-end party at Carroll's summer place in Wisconsin transferred the invitation to the Gates home when plans were changed because another friend
was launching a boat in Lake
Macatawa that weekend.

Carroll testified he told Lack
to bring his guest along, but would have withdrawn the invitation if he had known she was Edith Small.

"Why?" he was asked.

"Because she was a married woman," Carroll answered.

Carroll said he learned more about the situation when he accompanied Lack and Richard Mc-Mahon to Saugatuck the morning of the murder so that Lack could purchase some sports clothes.
Carroll said Lack confided he was helping Edith Small over a rough time in her life because she was having trouble with her husband.

Defense Attorney Leo W. Hoffman questioned Carroll at length
on details of the shooting, particularly with regard to Dr. Small's
"ranting and raving like a crazy
man" just after the shooting. Carroll admitted he had used those words when he was questioned the next day or so, but added, "That was my opinion at the time."
Then he summed up his feeling
about the whole case by saying,
"I saw an innocent man murdered,
premeditated in cold blood."

Carroll also testified he had removed effects from Lack's body
after the shooting and found $190
in bills in the pocket which was forwarded to New York.
Hoffman questioned Carroll
about Lack's bank book and a specific deposit of $10,000 in an account in Chase National Bank,
but the prosecution's objection
was sustained.

Mrs. Vivian Gates, Chicago divorcée, in whose home the shooting took place, testified she and four of her guests were in the library in a card game when Jules Lack saw a figure approach the house and said, "You have a guest." Mrs. Gates said Dr. Small whom she did not know had already entered the house by the time she approached the front door and said, "Is Edith Small here?" Then as he looked through the library door he added, "Yes,
I see she is. . . and Jules Lack."

Mrs. Gates said she did not see a gun, but as Lack rose there was a shot, followed by another shot and she ran outside for help. She admitted she previously had said
Small acted like a crazy man. "I never saw a crazy man," she said
"but I assume that's the way one would act." She said that Small later was quite subdued as officers arrived.

Talkative Charles Parkinson,
Mrs. Gates' 77-year-old gardener,
was the most dramatic witness for the day. Sheriff Walter Runkel rapped for order on two or three occasions as Parkinson's gusty remarks caused a ripple of amusement through the courtroom.

When Parkinson saw Small
come toward him in the yard, gun
in hand, the gardener said, "Why don't you shoot me, I'm old enough." He said Small answered,
"This gun is empty. I've done my work. He's not going to take anybody else's wife. I've seen to that."
He said Small handed him the gun
which Parkinson gingerly took in both hands and then buried it near the garage until officers arrived. Parkinson also testified hearing a woman scream, "Why didn't you kill me? Why didn't you kill me?" He identified her as Edith Small.

Other witnesses called by Prosecutor Dwight Cheever were Mrs.
Ida L. Sherman who rented a cottage to Small on the day in question; Mrs. Helen Steenecke, who occupied the cottage next door
and had seen Dr. Small there, and George Thomas who occupies the house just north of the Gates home. He testified having seen Small's car there, also the police cars.

When Dr. Albert De Groot, Kalamazoo medical examiner who conducted a postmortem on Lack,
was called, Hoffman said the defense admits the facts of the shooting. He objected to detailed questions of Prosecutor Cheever and Dr. De Groot's testimony was kept short. Dr. De Groot explained the course of the two bullets,
stating the one that hit the left

People Wonderful--
And Here's the Proof

Combine the pluck of one man
with the friendship and initiative
of a group of factory workers and you get a story that belies much
of what is said about the modern world.

The story reaches back to the spring of 1953 when doctors told Alvin De Boer of Holland that a diabetic condition required removal of his eyes. Alvin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman De Boer,
was in his sixth year as an employee at Chris-Craft corporation.

In August and September last year his eyes were removed. De Boer, 26, admits this was the low point, particularly because he was married and the father of a two-year-old boy.

But in the meantime something
was going on at the plant that was to completely change the situation.

No one quite knows who started the move, but before long several fellow workers and members of the plant management had plans:
Alvin was not going to be forgotten, and no outside agency was going to be brought in to aid.

Instead, by the time Alvin was ready to go back to work there was a job—taking over and organizing the plant concession.
The plant, that employs about 750 persons, had had no real concession. Employees purchased candy bars and cigarettes from dispensing machines. During the noon hour a local dairy brought in milk.

First move was to build about 10 sales boxes that would replace the dispensing machines throughout the plant. Alvin's job was to keep them full so the fellows could buy on the "honor system."

This was a start, and spurred
by the fact many fellows weren't too interested in picking up all
their change, the business prospered
and soon called for expansion.
Another conference, and this time
Gerald Mannes of Maple
Grove Dairy volunteered to turn over the factory milk route to Alvin. Some of the guys got together and built a counter and a portable selling stand.

With the part-time aid of his younger brother, his father and his wife, Clara, Alvin is now able to support his family—and thus far there's been no aid from any outside agency.

Although one worker said Alvin
has "got more fight than any two men I know," he doesn't feel that way.

To him there's nothing heroic,
it's just "one of those things."
"Anyway," he adds, "I feel pretty good and that helps."

Alvin spends far more words on the "other guys" than he does on himself. "It's because of them,
every one of them from the top
person in the management to the fellows out here in the shop, that I can support my family in an ordinary manner."

So every day from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., Alvin De Boer is by his stand—testimony to a great guy
and a great bunch of buddies.

ventricle of the heart caused death. The other entered the arm and chest. Photos of the body were not admitted as evidence on objection of Hoffman that a photo
cannot indicate the course of a bullet.

Dr. C. C. Corkill, Douglas physician who was called to the Gates home but found Lack already was dead, was on the stand only about 30 seconds.

Both prosecution and defense
objected freely to each other's line
of questioning. At one time when Carroll was on the stand, an entire series of questions, asked by Hoffman was objected to, one by
one. Most of the objections were sustained by Circuit Judge Raymond L. Smith.

Prosecutor Cheever said two
other witnesses, Mr. and Mrs.
Richard McMahon of Chicago, apparently have chosen to ignore subpoenas. He said they told him
by telephone some time ago they had planned a trip to Europe and
were reluctant to postpone it.
Cheever said Michigan and Illinois
do not have reciprocal statutes
and he cannot force them to appear.

Softball Reopens
With Main Auto,
Bareman Victories

Barber Fords got the home
runs but Main Auto got the scores as City Softball League action reopened Monday after a week layoff. Main Auto squelched Fords 5-2.

Hapless Gra-Bell didn't profit
from the vacation as they took it
on the nose 15-2 from Bareman
Service in the second game at Van Tongeren Field.

Fords two runs came on roundtrippers by Gord Barnes and Vern Fuder. But with no one on base and the other hitters limited to three safeties, the Ford
homers were almost wasted.

Mel Koenes singled for Main Auto in the opening frame, stole second, went to third on a wild pitch and scored on an infield out.

In the fourth Ernie Prince blasted a double, Jun Maatman
was safe on an error and Ted Vandenberg singled to score
Prince. Ralph Bouwman was safe
on a fielder's choice, and all three scored on Bill Vryhof's double.

Dependable Jason Ebels hurled
a five hitter in winning, while Norm Boeve allowed just seven hits in absorbing the loss.

Gra-Bell led for one whole Inning in the second contest, as Norm Scheerhorn and Rog Overway
singled to account for one run.
Bareman failed to tally in the first, and it wasn't until the second that they caught fire.

But when they did start, they weren't fooling. Before the umpire said "yer out" for the third time, Bareman had combined nine walks, two home runs, two singles
and a double into 12 runs.

That took the starch out of the Gra-Bell attack as the truckers
failed to score again until the seventh when they pushed one run across the plate.

In the meantime Bareman had chalked up three more.

Joe Berens went the distance
on the mound for Bareman giving up five hits. Bob Stille and Rog Overway combined pitching duties
for the losers. Big man at the plate for the Bareman was Louis Altena with three singles in three trips, and Chet Warner and Joe Berene with home runs.

Grand Haven Clips Zeeland Chix, 7-5

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Staving off a ninth-inning rally, the Grand Haven Athletics finished the first half of their Southwestern Michigan Baseball League schedule Thursday night and eliminated the Zeeland Chix from the running for the first-half title 7-5.

The Athletics finished the first half with a 6-2 record and only the South Haven Merchants with a 3-2 mark and three games to play have a chance to tie Grand Haven. Zeeland is now tied with the Holland Flying Dutchmen for third with a 3-3 record—a tie that will be broken when the Dutchmen travel to Zeeland tonight.

Wednesday night, the Athletics trounced cellar-dwelling Cedar Springs, 14-6.

Zeeland scored three runs in the top of the first, but Grand Haven came back with a run in the second and went ahead with three in the third. Meanwhile, the Chix were held scoreless from the second until the ninth when they finally broke Loren Cook's spell for two more runs.

Grand Haven added a single run in the sixth and two more in the eighth to insure a victory.

The Athletics collected a dozen hits while the Chix could only garner half a dozen. Gene Talsma went all the way for Zeeland and was the losing pitcher.

Wed in East Saugatuck Church

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Irvin Schipper

Miss Doris Joyce Kalmink, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kalmink of route 2, Hamilton, became the bride of Wayne Irvin Schipper Wednesday, June 30, in East Saugatuck Christian Reformed Church. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schipper of route 5, Holland.

An arch decorated with white flowers and seven-branch candelabra formed a setting for the double ring rites, performed by the Rev. Stanley Schipper of Gary, Ind., uncle of the groom. Mrs. Justin Brinks was organist and Mrs. Robert Van Den Belt, sister of the groom, sang "Because." "I Love You Truly" and "A Bridal Prayer."

The bride chose a gown of nylon over satin, with lace collar and long sleeves pointed at the wrists. She wore a fingertip veil and carried a white Bible with an orchid. Her only attendant was her sister, Miss Bernice Kalmink, who wore a gown of pale orchid taffeta with matching bolero. She carried a yellow colonial bouquet. Harris Schipper attended his brother as best man. Ushers were Austin Kalmink and Robert Van Den Belt.

At a reception for 90 guests in the church basement, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Lohman were master

Padnos Company Installs Baler

The light gauge metal baler, recently installed at the Louis Padnos Iron and Metal Co. plant illustrates what incidental advantages may come to a community along with progress within its industries. The powerful piece of equipment is capable of chopping and compressing half of an automobile body down to a compact orange crate size in less than five minutes.

"Every metal industry has a scrap residue resulting from its manufacturing processes," said Seymour Padnos. "This is inevitable and many times the amount is astonishingly high and literally the margin of profit may depend on the economic disposal of this scrap. The only way to handle light metal scrap profitably is to crush it into compact bundles. The farther such a baler is away from a factory site, the greater cost there is in transportation. Thus a town like Holland has an attraction for light metal industries as they are assured of prompt and economical disposal of scrap."

"This also applies to paper," Padnos said. "Where there are no paper balers in the community, there is no incentive to collect paper, with the present extremely low price that paper brings."

The new baler is located on ground between Pine and River Aves., which formerly was waste land. Piling for this structure go 50 feet deep to secure proper anchorage.

Grand Rapids Bride Honored at Shower

A miscellaneous shower honoring Miss Donna Mae Tiesenga of Grand Rapids was given Friday evening at the Stanley Curtis summer home at Jenison Park.

A model sailboat on a sea of blue with tiny life preservers inscribed "Donna and Art" highlighted decorations, along with a suitcase filled with gifts for the bride-elect.

Games were played and a two-course lunch was served. Assisting Mrs. Curtis were Mrs. Ben Nash, Mrs. Floyd Angel and Mrs. John Ter Vree.

Also attending were Mrs. Willis Nash of Kalamazoo, Mrs. Warren Schuitema, Mrs. Gerrit Tiesenga and Miss Marcia Tiesenga of Grand Rapids, Mrs. Harold Dykema of East Lansing, Mrs. Vernon De Pree and Miss Caryl Curtis of Holland.

Miss Tiesenga and Arthur Sidney Veltman will be married July 23 in Grand Rapids.

Dutchman Slams One Into Stands With Two on Base

Say, but those stands at River-view Park are still rockin'. Not only did the Dutchmen have by far the largest crowd of the season to observe "George Zuverink Night," but they put on their most exciting performance to send the capacity audience home happy.

Down 5-4 with two out in the last of the ninth, it was third baseman Bob Van Dyke who shook the whole park by bombing a fast ball into the left field stands for a home run with teammates Paul Mack and Jim Boeve on base to give the Dutchmen a 7-5 victory over Cedar Springs.

That one blow climaxed a long, uphill battle that saw Holland tie the game in the bottom of the fifth only to see the Flannels take over again with a single tally in the eighth.

Many of the fans spilled out onto the field to congratulate Van Dyke as he trotted in from third. "It's just like the old days," one fan remarked.

For the team that is scraping the bottom in the Southwestern Michigan Baseball League, Cedar Springs put up a good battle. But the Flannels fell to their seventh straight league defeat while the Dutchmen evened their record at 4-4 in finishing their first-half schedule. They are currently in fourth place.

The Flannels didn't commit an error. And their pitcher Meinkl, although yielding 11 hits, scattered them well and pitched over some rough spots.

A single by Mack, a double by Ron Fortney and Al Dykema's single gave Holland a two-run lead in the first after the first Cedar Springs batter had led off with a triple and eventually nailed at home by catcher Ron Boeve.

Cedar Springs used three hits to pick up a tally in the second, and probably would have scored more if it hadn't been for a neat double play started by Van Dyke with the bases loaded.

A single and a double tied the game for the Flannels in the third and when they slammed pitcher Jack Kempker for a single, two walks and a triple for two more runs in the fourth, Manager Russ Woldring sent in Jim Boeve, who held the losers to two hits and one run the rest of the way.

Singles by Lou Humbert, Fortney and Van Dyke put the Dutchmen back in the ball game, but until the ninth, it looked like that was all the farther they were going. Dykema doubled with one out in the eighth, but never advanced.

Boeve got wild in the eighth and Cedar Springs went ahead on two walks and a single. He started the Dutchman rally in the ninth, too, with a single with one down and Mack followed with another safety. After Humbert fanned, it looked dark until Van Dyke leveled his blast.

The line score:

Cedar Springs—

001	200	010	—5-10-0

Drobac Romps to Singles Crown In Castle Tourney

Attention in the Southwestern Michigan Closed Tennis Tournament focused on doubles competition this week after Michigan State College star Stan Drobac romped to the singles crown Saturday.

Drobac was No. 1 seed for the Castle Park tourney, and deserved it as he went the entire distance with two-match sets. The former MSC net captain and state men's champ whipped Jim Farrell 6-3, 6-4 in the finals.

Directors A. A. Stagg Jr., and Dick and Bob Steketee said doubles events will be run off Saturday. "We ran off 30 matches last Friday so we ought to be able to finish 20 odd doubles events—with good weather, Dick Steketee said.

Bud Donnelly and Phil Farrell were picked to win the doubles crown, although they were closely followed by second ranked Denny Telder and Jack Vredendael and 20 to 24 top flight doubles combinations.

Saturday's singles race presented some of the finest tennis seen in the Holland area in a long time, and there was a good crowd on hand to witness it.

Drobac crashed through the early rounds of the tourney with a couple love-games and no contest that pushed him beyond six games. Peter Paulus, a University of Michigan standout was Drobac's semi-final victim 6-3, 6-4.

Finalist Farrell took the measure of Denny Telder of Grand Rapids 6-3, 6-4. Farrell is a Kalamazoo product.

In the quarter-finals, Drobac defeated Ed Foster 6-4, 6-4 while Farrell outlasted Bud Donnelly of Kalamazoo 6-2, 3-6, 6-4. Jim Fowler, Kalamazoo ace, was upset by Tedder 6-2, 3-6, 6-4 and Paulus beat MSC No. 2 man Dave Brogan 6-2, 7-5.

NO MORE BAD CURVES HERE — County officials say work is about two weeks from completion on a pair of bridges on Adams St. (east 16th St.) near 104 Ave. The two bridges, one of which formerly stood at an angle to the highway, will be 24 feet wide and the entire roadbed will be raised and straightened. Pictured is the larger bridge at the eastern approach being constructed by Canonic Excavating Co. of South Haven. (Sentinel photo)

Colleges

Seven or eight youngsters at Lawndale Ct. had big doings last week. They staged a backyard circus at the Fred Meyer home complete with all kinds of acts. They charged five cents admission and the response was pretty good because when all was said and done they had almost $1 profit.

What to do with the money? One by one, they rejected certain well known charities. Finally, one little girl suggested "Rest Room Haven!" That was it.

Incidentally, the Rev. Paul E. Hinkamp will be happy to receive contributions of any size for Resthaven Home.

Add: Unsung heroes. Ben Lubbers did his good deed for the day one day last week when he helped rescue a chap by the name of Israel whose boat upset in Lake Macatawa at Kollen Park. Ben was in his boat and the whole thing was fairly simple.

A group was discussing the incident Friday in the city engineer's office. It remained for Wilson Diekmann to submit the following headline: "King Ben Saves Israelite."

The bids that trickled in to the city hall this week for three new cruisers for the police department (under $1,800 with trade-ins) looked pretty good to the councilmen. Some joked that next time maybe the manager or clerk should advertise for nine cars, one for each councilman and the mayor.

That snazzy new layout that Hospital Director Fred Burd uses in giving talks these days on the need for a new hospital addition looks like a real primitive with buildings in assorted bold colors, trees, walks, drives and lawns.

Somebody said it looked like something Grandma Moses had done.

Fred said some of the lines weren't very good. They were wavy.

"Just say grandma was feeling poorly that day," another said.

Add notes at the hospital: Toni Sikkel of the records department has just been elected president of the Southwestern Michigan Medical Records Librarians Association. The meeting was held in Kalamazoo.

In a recent wedding story in the Sentinel, the program at the reception mentioned a budget read by so-and-so. To old-timers in Holland, the term budget used in such a case simply means a collection of jokes substituting names of those present.

But to newcomers, it poses quite a puzzle, and at least a couple of persons speculated, whether the newlyweds read the family budget for the approval of the guests. The dictionary (Websters) gives no light on the humor angle, and even the financial angle runs No. 4 to other definitions involving pouches, wallets, sacks and leather bottles. But in this day of high cost of living, there's little doubt as to what budget means to the average person.

One more helpful hint: Mum-budget means silence.

A nine-year-old gave his father a present last Christmas—the very first present he had personally bought and financed. It was a glinting golden necktie clasp.

As dad enthused, the boy said in an explosion of honesty, "I ought to tell you I didn't buy that tie clasp in a jewelry store, but it DID come from the most expensive part of the 5 and 10 cent store."

On Father's day, the boy gave his dad a fountain pen. "This didn't come from the 5 and 10 cent store," he asserted, "It came from the corner drug store. It's a $4 pen, reduced to 99 cents but I got it for 66 cents!"

Noticing the fatherly frown on dad's brow, the boy added: "There was a new clerk, so I turned the sign upside down."

Reopening of 16th St. Still Two Weeks Away

ZEELAND (Special) — Work on both bridges at Adams St., (East 16th St.) near 104th Ave. has practically been halted because of lack of steel, county officials said today.

The bridges, only 30 yards apart, cross two branches of Big Creek.

Shipments of steel have been held up and did not arrive until early this week. And when the steel is here it will take another week to complete the structures.

Construction of the bridges eliminates a bad jog in Adams St. at a point where several persons have been killed in recent years. The two-lane highway had narrowed practically to a one lane passage and was at an angle.

Canonic Excavating Co. of South Haven has the contract for constructing a bridge at the eastern approach. The 24-foot structure is built on piling with a concrete bed covered with asphalt.

The western approach bridge needed only to be widened from 16 to its present 24 feet. This bridge rests on cement abutments, and will also be covered with asphalt.

County officials said the entire section of roadway will be raised, eliminating a slight dip at that point. The road will then be regaveled, graded and new blacktop applied.

Work started on the project May 17.

Seventh Inning Coliseum Run Beats Hulst, 3-2, in Legion Field Feature

ZEELAND (Special) — The weather was good. The crowd numbered 750. And both home teams won.

That! how the Zeeland Softball Association celebrated the 15th anniversary of Legion field Thursday but it was Coliseum that really put the shine on events as they whipped Hulst Bros. of the Holland league, 3-2.

Coliseum displayed the brand of ball played in the Zeeland League as they scored twice in the fourth inning. Terry Kraai, who won the most valuable player award in the men's contest, slammed out a triple with two men on base.

Hulst's Bob Vork turned the tables in the fifth inning as he tripled with two on.

Tension mounted as the game went into the final half of the seventh inning with the score still tied at 2-all. With two men out, Kraai drew a walk. He went to second on a sacrifice, and reached third on a passed ball. Glen Nykamp stepped in as a pinch hitter and slammed out a single sending Kraai home with the game winning score.

Both winning pitchers, Owen Aukema and loser Larry Knoper hurled four-hit ball.

In the opening contest Drenthe girls easily took the measure of the Benton Harbor Twin City Wildcats 12-2.

The visitors, remnants of a team that won the state class B softball title last year, were jittery in the opening inning as Drenthe jumped to an early lead.

Honors for the night went to Babe Brinks, the strong right hander who allowed only four hits and got three herself, including a home run. Brinks drops in six runs and scored twice, winning the outstanding player award in the girls division.

Also instrumental in the Drenthe win was Babe's sister, Pat, who got three hits and played a bang-up game at shortstop.

As special features at the contest, officials offered awards to families fitting certain classifications. Winners were:

Largest family — Mr. and Mrs. Mart Geerlings and Mr. and Mrs. Nick Voss, both with eight children. (duplicate awards).

Four Boats Towed In by Coast Guard

Holland Coast Guardsmen towed in four boats in distress, during the weekend, including one 30-foot motor cruiser, according to Chief Francis Kelly.

The first run was made late Friday night when the lookout spotted a 17-foot speedboat in trouble approximately two miles out in Lake Michigan. The boat, owned by Richard Von Allsburg, Grand Rapids, was towed in.

A red distress flare fired shortly after 6:40 a.m. Saturday brought the Coast Guard crashboat to the side of the 30-foot yacht "Jolla Lynne," nearly three miles out in the lake. Owned by John L. Marley, Chicago, the boat was reported to have run out of gas.

A third run was made at 7:40 Saturday night when an outboard owned by Richard Bergsma, 50 East 20th St., was towed in after it had hit a floating object in Lake Michigan disabling the motor.

Sunday afternoon, a 12-foot sailboat, owned by John Beeman, Macatawa Park, was towed back to its mooring after it had pulled loose, floated down Lake Macatawa and capsized. No one was in the boat at the time.

Father of Accused Detroit Dentist Collapses in Court

Character Witnesses Say Dr. Small Was 'Even-Tempered' Man

ALLEGAN (Special) — Jacob Small, 62, collapsed in the courtroom Wednesday as he waited to testify in defense of his dentist son, 31-year-old Dr. Kenneth B. Small, on trial for the murder of his wife's suitor, New York playboy industrialist, Jules Lack.

He was taken from the jam-packed Allegan court house as Defense Attorney Leo W. Hoffman was launching a dramatic, emotion-filled case for the Detroit dentist. His condition, however, was reported as "not serious."

Prosecutor Dwight M. Cheever rested his case Tuesday afternoon and did not bring Dr. Small's wife Edith back to the stand Wednesday.

Instead, he decided to rest his case, reserving the right to call rebuttal witnesses.

Hoffman said the "pain on Small's mind" was like a "physical blow" after Mrs. Small returned from a Florida vacation last spring where she met Lack and "like a bolt out of the blue" told Small she wanted a divorce.

"Small was an affectionate father, an indulgent husband. He had a good disposition and was not given to temper. If there was any criticism, perhaps he was too indulgent. Perhaps he planned too much for his family," Hoffman said.

He said Small was afraid of what would happen to the children if his wife married Lack and said her refusal to give him a second chance caused him "mental torture."

Hoffman said Small was unable to believe his wife was unfaithful but the breaking point came when she went to the summer home on Lake Michigan where Lack was shot May 23.

She had told Small she was going to Chicago to visit friends and then called from Fennville, which is near the summer home, to check on the children.

"The word 'Fennville' was the breaking point," Hoffman said.

As the trial droned into its third day, many people were turned away from the 65-year-old court house. Every available seat was taken by anxious spectators whose fancy has been caught by the first-degree murder trial.

Hoffman put 11 witnesses on the stand before the court adjourned for lunch at noon and all of them testified to the effect that the Smalls were an extremely happy couple before their marriage started to hit the rocks. Most of them testified that Dr. Small was an "even-tempered, affectionate" husband.

First witness of the morning was Dr. Small's mother, Mrs. Jacob Small, who took the stand in lieu of her husband who was scheduled first before his collapse.

"Ken was the best son a mother could have," she testified. She told how the family was only in "modest circumstances" and that Ken had to give up many things to earn enough money to go to dental school at the University of Michigan.

She broke down several times during her testimony, especially when relating how she and her husband shopped for an engagement ring for Ken during his whirlwind courtship of Edith after graduation from dental school in 1914.

The Smalls had a very happy marriage, the dentist's mother said, and Dr. Small spent a lot of time with his three sons, even "babysitting while the maid was on vacation."

When Ken returned from Florida, she said, it was evident that he had gone through much mental anguish over his marital troubles. He stayed at his parents' home on his return and when chastened for talking back to his father, Mrs. Small said her son sobbed—"I'm sorry, I'm just all dead inside."

Herb Josephson, a building contractor in Huntington Woods near Detroit, and his wife were one of the first couples to meet the Smalls in Detroit. Both testified that the Smalls "seemed ideally happy" and were "a perfect couple."

Mrs. Henrietta Eder, a maternal aunt of Dr. Small, said that when the Smalls visited her at a hospital on Feb. 17, they seemed so happy that "the world was theirs." She went to Florida on April 6 and went to the Jacob Small home when she returned May 4 and "shocked to see Ken's appearance."

Warns Against Too Much Elements in Fertilizers

ALLEGAN (Special) — Boron, copper, manganese and zinc should not be added generally to commercial fertilizers, cautions A. D. Morley, Allegan county agricultural agent. Study and care are needed.

Paul Rood, Michigan State College extension soil scientist, points out that the 10 elements are divided as follows: Primary—the nitrogen, phosphorus and potash referred to in fertilizer numbers; secondary—calcium, magnesium and sulfur, often added in mixed fertilizers, and the trace elements boron, copper, manganese and zinc—never are needed.

The USDA Agricultural Research Service warns that trace elements should be fitted to the crop, soil and other conditions and that even small amounts may have bad effects in some cases. Soil scientists expect present use of 12,000 tons of trace elements a year to increase as soil reserves are depleted and we learn more about the deficiencies.

Four Youths Pay Fines In Grand Haven Court

Ronald Schmidt, 18, of Grand Rapids, paid $15 fine and $5.50 costs for allowing an unlicensed minor to drive his motor vehicle on July 10. Ronald Whitcomb, 17, Grand Rapids, driver of the automobile, was charged with driving with no operator's license and paid $15 fine and $5.50 costs. These two were arrested by city police.

Muck Farmers Field Day Set for July 27

Four hundred visitors from all over Michigan are expected at the Michigan State College experimental muck farm near Bath on Tuesday, July 27, for the annual Muck Farmers Field Day.

Plans are shaping up for everything from soil fumigation for nematode control to operation of a mint distillery, according to A. D. Morley, Allegan county agricultural agent. Hybrid onions, grain growing on muck, automatic irrigation, chemical weed control, new insecticides, and fungicides and new ways to place fertilizer will be features. Turf and rotation studies, comparisons of minimum and conventional tillage and use of nitrogen on corn and wheat will be others.

Youngsters 18 and under are formulating plans for the big horse show July 31, at Henry Boersma's Maple Brook Farm. The youngsters do all the work—from the planning of classes, buying trophies and ribbons to choosing judges and all other details.

Friday evening, July 23, Holland's championship Windmill Chorus will give a concert in the Castle Park Amphitheater through the courtesy of Holland Chamber of Commerce.

A wonderful moonlight dance was held Tuesday night on the Dance Dune. This is a weekly event, with dancing for children the early part of the evening.

A popular weekly feature now underway is the Thursday night recorded concert on the dune. Ambrose Holford, of the music department of University of Tennessee at Knoxville, provides the lovely recorded music, which is enhanced by the beautiful Lake Michigan setting.

Macatawa

Hotel Macatawa's activities have come into full swing the past two weeks. Guests from all parts of the country have arrived to spend their vacations in the atmosphere of rest, for those who desire it, and activity for the others.

Sunday evening was devoted to the new traditional concert. It was a highly entertaining, varied program. Participating were Bob Almsworth, St. Louis, Mo., accordionist, who presented an enlightening talk on the instrument itself, and played numerous compositions. His interpretation of "Tico Tico" and Chopin's "Fantasie Impromptu" was a delight to the audience. Genevieve Aleksunas, Chicago pianist, presented a varied program of Rachmaninoff, Debussy, Ravel, and Chopin. Her technical facility and general musicianship were appreciated by the music lovers present. J. Smith Urban, manager sang a group of songs, which completed the program.

The park is the scene of perpetual activity, the beach during the day, the ballroom at night. Square dancing Monday evening drew a capacity crowd as did game night Tuesday. The amateur show last Wednesday night displayed many talents among the guests and employees. Outstanding was a group of Negro spirituals from the kitchen staff who hail from Bakesstone Gap, Va.

Hitch, Hilltop Notch Legion Wins

Home plate looked like a reviewing stand in American Legion Junior Baseball League play Tuesday night.

While pitcher Wayne Westenbroek held First National Bank to two runs, his Holland Hitch mates paraded across home in every inning behind a 17-run fusillade.

Everybody got into the hitting act — particularly Ron Van Dyke, Bill Sandahl and Dick Plagenhoef who pounded out a trio of singles apiece. But nobody got extra base hits as all 15 hits off Hilton and Klaver were singles.

Westenbroek struck out 11 batters to notch the win.

In the second contest Hilltop bunched five runs in the third inning and scattered five more throughout the other stanzas to whip H. E. Morse 10-5.

Wyngrand and Faber cracked doubles for Hilltop while pitcher Kest scattered the eight Morse singles.

Stoel and Northuis shared in Morse pitching efforts to stop the 10-hit Hilltop attack, but Stoel was charged with the loss.

INVESTIGATE 'ACCIDENT'—Twelve members of Holland's Police Auxiliary received some on the job training when they were called upon to investigate an "accident" early Tuesday evening. The accident actually never occurred but was set up by the Holland police department. Two wrecked cars, provided by Veneklaas Auto Parts, were towed to 14th St. and Harrison Ave. One was placed against the curb (background) and the other was rolled to the middle of the intersection (foreground). Two officers (center), Bud Borr and Donald Oosterbaan, acted as drivers of the vehicles. The auxiliary members questioned the two, checked for witnesses, measured skid marks, and checked other details in investigating an accident. Holland Police Chief Jacob Van called the experiment a success and gave the auxiliary officers valuable experience.

ALL FOR GEORGE — Above, George Zuverink does something he repeated many, many times Monday night—shaking hands. The kids kept him busy signing autographs too—for an hour or more. Below, he shows some of that Zuverink form, and it's probably no surprise that Mayor Harry Harrington looks a little frightened behind that catcher's glove. Thumbing another imaginary strikeout is Don Leonard, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor. (Sentinel photo)

Huge Crowd Sees Gifts Presented, George as Umpire

It was a big night for George Zuverink.

An estimated 1,500 fans turned out at Riverview Park Monday night to honor the big Tiger pitcher as a local boy who has made good where so many fail—in major league baseball.

He was praised by many—and showered with a host of gifts from the various organizations around town. But he still remained a humble George Zuverink—willing to umpire a couple innings of the ball game while the fans concentrated on the Dutchmen and forgot about him.

"You have tasted both victory and defeat," said Mayor Harry Harrington in introducing Zuverink. And as the honors and gifts continued to flow, it was truly one of Zuverink's greatest victories.

"Holland has missionaries in many fields," Harrington said. "And we're glad to include you, George—in the sports world. It shows once more that a man can hail from a small town and still go places."

And then came the gifts. There was a mixer from the Chamber of Commerce that brought a long "ooohh" from Zuverink's wife, Laraine, who was sitting in the grandstands. There was a barometer from the American Legion. C.C. Wood represented the Chamber while Dell Koop presented the Legion's gift.

Making a joint presentation from the fraternal groups were Paul Fortney of the Moose, Lou Borgman of the Elks, Ike Kleins of the VFW and Al Roels of the Eagles. It was a .22 caliber rifle complete with carrying case, shells and all the equipment.

Zuverink's old employer had representing the Holland Furance representing the Holland Furance Company, gave George an electric shaver and a billfold with his name engraved in gold. And "Yocum" Wolrding, not at the game, offered "gun shells for the season."

His own relation, represented by George's brother-in-law Lloyd Maatman, presented a flash camera and case. To Zuverink it meant "lots of pictures of my little daughter." He was referring to three-month-old Dawn Mara.

Finally, from Peter Hiemenga, a long supporter of the Dutchmen and Holland baseball, came a $25 gift certificate to a local sporting goods store from the sponsoring Dutchman Boosters Club. Acting as master of ceremonies throughout the program was Club President Gabe Kuite.

Zuverink's wife and parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Zuverink of 266 Lincoln Ave., were all introduced to the biggest crowd Riverview Park has seen in quite a spell.

Coming out of the stands to offer his congratulations were Donald S. Leonard, candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination. He was sitting with a group of about 50 members of the Holland Kiwanis Club who attended the ceremony and following game in a body.

For the first two innings of the contest, Zuverink was the arbitrator at first base. He even allowed for the crowd, borrowing Ned Stuits' cap while Stuits trotted over to watch third.

After that, he still wasn't through. There were the kids—and they weren't there just to hear him talk. They wanted something they could keep and show some of their friends who weren't there. So Zuverink obliged with his autographs.

Perhaps standing out in the entire ceremony were Zuverink's words at the ceremony:

"You lose some, but your day will come and you'll win 'em too." George Zuverink won Monday night.

Holland Man Receives One Cent Tax Refund

Russ Rutgers of 39 East 20th St., is wondering how the federal government is ever going to balance the budget—and he has good reason.

Monday he received an income tax refund check for a measly one cent. Yes that's right—one penny. "They never will be able to balance the budget because they won't be able to cancel that check," Russ said. "I'm going to keep it as a souvenir for my grandchildren."

Russ estimates it cost the government 20 cents in postage, etc., to mail the check.

Local Doctor to Attend Dedication of Memorial

Dr. and Mrs. E. Vanderberg expect to leave Friday for Mackinac Island where they will attend dedication of the new Beaumont Memorial on Saturday.

The memorial is a reconstruction of the old American Fur Company retail store built on the original foundation of the structure where Alexis St. Martin was shot accidentally in 1822 and received his first medical care from Dr. Beaumont, then Army surgeon at old Fort Mackinac. This accident left a permanent opening in St. Martin's stomach through which Dr. Beaumont conducted experiments that became the foundation for today's knowledge of the digestive process.

Dr. and Mrs. Vanderberg were accompanied by Dr. and Mrs. Gelmer Van Noord of Grand Rapids.

Voters at the School District No. 1 Fri. meeting returned Clarence Yntema and Nelson Van Koevering to the board for three-year terms at the annual meeting Monday in Zeeland High School.
