Holland Pair Given Prison Sentences

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Two Holland young men were sentenced to serve 18 months to 15 years in Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson when they appeared for disposition before Circuit Judge Raymond L. Smith today.

Clive Harrison, 21, of 1212 Waukazoo Dr., and Rex Webbert, 19, of 248 West 13th St., had pleaded guilty June 9 to nighttime breaking and entering. Harrison was specifically charged with entering Sneller's Hardware in Holland township about April 24, and Webbert was charged with entering Brewer's City Coal Dock around March 29.

Webbert admitted being with Harrison on the Sneller job and also confessed a break-in at Reliable Garage on March 11 when they obtained $210 in cash. The Brewer break-in yielded $200.

In pronouncing sentence, Judge Smith said, "This wasn't a merry escapade or frolic. It appears you were embarking upon a career. Your punishment should serve as a warning to others that they will be dealt with likewise."

Webbert asked whether the court was using the pair as an example and Judge Smith replied he did not like to use that term. "No doubt, neither of you want to go to prison and perhaps the court would choose some alternative if you hadn't engaged in this activity so extensively. For all we know, if you hadn't been caught, you might have continued until you were caught. This was something carefully planned."

Ronald Lee Post, 20, of Kent county, and Ray Bernard, 18, Grand Rapids, who pleaded guilty June 4 to nighttime breaking and entering, also appeared for disposition. Post, who has had no previous convictions, was sentenced to pay $100 costs. Bernard who has a previous conviction was put on probation for 18 months.

Conditions are that he pay $100 costs, refrain from drinking and obey all laws. His probation may be transferred to another county if the local probation department desires. The pair allegedly entered the Charles Price cottage in Port Sheldon township May 24 and took merchandise and money valued up to $50.

However, he said vacating of the main plant has not been considered and the company has not been asked to relinquish the property. He pointed out that the Parke-Davis facilities are modern and do not constitute an eyesore.

SUMMER PASTTIME — A typical scene at Holland State Park, or any other beach in the area, is a group of guys and gals sprawled out on the sandy shores. Teenagers find that basking in the sun is especially enjoyable when there are a few members of the opposite sex around to chat with. Holland State Park officials say that the sunny skies this week have attracted thousands of young people to the beach, either staying in tents and trailers or just out for a day. (Sentinel photo)

Trees Tested For Dutch Elm Disease

Holland is taking precautions to protect its large crop of shade trees.

Dutch Elm Disease, which affects only elm trees, is the current threat and a member of the Park department accompanied by a state inspector has been checking and taking samples of all elm trees in the city. As samples are taken, trees are tagged.

Park Supt. Dick Smallegange said without a doubt there are some cases of Dutch Elm Disease in Holland and as soon as the tests come back from Lansing there is nothing to be done but cut down the infected trees. Last spring, the park department arranged to have all elm trees in curb strips sprayed, but not all elm trees on private property were treated.

The current inspection program covers all elm trees including those on private property.

Although Dutch Elm Disease poses a threat to Holland's shade trees, (about 20 per cent are elm trees) Smallegange believes the situation here is not quite as serious as in Grand Rapids where crews have been busy cutting down infected trees.

Grand Haven Mall Torn Up

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — At 9:30 a.m. Tuesday, Grand Haven's downtown mall or "Projection 60" was officially closed in a "ribbon-tying" ceremony conducted by Mayor William Creason.

Cleo Cooper, one of the mall planners, said many things had been learned from the experiment. It closed Monday by common consent after 13 businessmen officially registered complaints that the mall was hurting their businesses, some claiming losses of 50 to 75 per cent. On the other hand, some merchants said their business improved because of the mall. Some businessmen hope the mall will be back on a more permanent basis in 1960.

All flower and shrub displays went on sale to the public Tuesday.

Boat Swamped by Waves In Wake of Speedboat

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Three Grand Haven youths escaped tragedy at 7 p.m. Wednesday when their outboard motorboat was swamped by waves from a speedboat in Grand River near the end of Washington St.

Warren Zimmerman, Dean Nash and David Katt got a thorough dousing when water almost filled the boat, but they managed to keep the boat from sinking and limped ashore. They even managed to get the speedboat number which they reported to officers. The speedboat tentatively was identified as belonging to a Livonia man.

In another case, an aluminum 12-foot boat with unmatched oars belonging to Arthur C. Dykema of Spring Lake was reported missing during the weekend.

Deputy Marvin Nelson of the sheriff's department who patrols the waters is investigating both cases.

Driver Slightly Hurt In Two-Car Accident

Mrs. Mary Shaw, 24, of 89 West Eighth St., was treated at Holland Hospital for a possible back injury and released following a two-car accident Wednesday at 6:25 p.m. on Eighth St. between River and Pine Aves.

Holland police said Mrs. Shaw was headed east on Eighth St. and slowing for traffic when the car she was driving was struck in the rear by a car driven by Billy G. Holloway, 21, of 78 1/2 East 24th St.

Holloway was ticketed by police for following too closely. Officers estimated the damage to Holloway's 1952 model car at $450 and the damage to Mrs. Shaw's 1956 model car at $75.

Personable German Envoy Includes Holland on Tour

An experiment in meeting people in the hinterlands has paid off in rich experience for Dr. Ferdinand R.H. Friedensburg IV, German consul in Detroit who paid a visit to Holland, Mich. Wednesday afternoon.

The German diplomat who has been stationed in Detroit for two years said he had felt for some time that his associations in a big metropolitan center did not accurately reflect the feeling and opinions of people all over Michigan. So he planned a 15-day tour of Michigan with stops in more than 30 cities and villages. His visit to Holland Wednesday was next to the last on the list. Only a visit to Benton Harbor remained before returning to his family in Detroit.

In his tour, Dr. Friedensburg said he rediscovered the scenic beauty of his great state, particularly in the upper peninsula and northern Michigan. And he found that the thoughts of Americans in villages and cities are much similar to the thoughts of his people back in Germany. Like in Michigan, the German people are mainly concerned with family life, their work, school, church and civic government.

"Actually, I found the good people of Michigan so friendly and understanding that we can even afford to disagree on some subjects. There was a time in German-American relations that there was no room for anything other than politeness," he said. The diplomat's approach on his tour was simple. He would arrange with city officials for a visit, then place an ad in the local newspaper (in German) inviting people of German-American descent to call. The response ran anywhere from none (the place had no mayor, hence no arrangements) to 250. On some occasions, there even was a band and a beauty queen to participate in the reception.

The visits gave some German-Americans an opportunity to seek information on governmental levels — pensions, war records, civil details. These questions were not generally of a type that would involve a visit to the consul's office in Detroit. Many of them could be answered, and a good share involve future correspondence.

Through these visits the consul has met many city officials and has been exposed to certain democratic processes not likely to occur in a metropolitan center like Detroit. Dr. Friedensburg has loved every minute of it.

Holland's Young Ambassador Sails for 'New Home' in Italy

By Ronald Chandler
Holland's 1958

Community Ambassador to Italy I am writing this first report on my summer's activities to you from the T. S. Arosa Kilm, somewhere in the English Channel bound for Le Havre, France.

I find that my anticipation is mounting rapidly as our growing entourage of seagulls heralds the approach of land soon I will be on a train bound for Paris, where, after a brief stay, I will travel on to meet my host family in Biella, Italy.

It is hard to grasp the significance of the fact that within a matter of two or three days I will be living in a completely different country, where an unfamiliar language and seemingly strange customs prevail.

One of the most important facets of our life on shipboard has been the "softening up" process which the experiment leaders have been putting us through to prepare us for the cultural shock which all of us will experience when we settle down to ordinary living in our foreign homes.

As I will be living in Italy, there will be a larger number of adjustments to be made than would be necessary for someone spending time in a country which is more like our own, such as Great Britain. In addition to daily lessons in the Italian language, our group leader has done his best to acquaint all of the Italy-bound experimenters with the many differences which exist between Italian customs and attitudes, and those of the American people. Most of these differences seem very small at first, but in reality they are usually very important, and if I am going to be at all effective in making lasting friendships with my Italian acquaintances this summer, I think I had best bear in mind the old adage "when in Rome, do as the Romans do."

There is much more to life on the Arosa Kilm, however, than studying languages and social customs. Our "experiment" begins on this ship with its very cosmopolitan atmosphere. The Kilm is owned by a Swiss company, is chartered in Panama, and is manned by a predominantly German crew.

Most of us have made it a point to become acquainted with various members of the crew and listening to the many tales of maritime adventure which the "old salts" relate is a fascinating as well as a broadening experience in itself. I might say as well that the crew seems to be enjoying the presence of American students as much as we enjoy being here.

There are 758 experimenters on the Arosa Kilm going to virtually every nation in Western Europe, and we also have with us a highly select group which is bound for Nigeria. Groups going to India and other points in Asia are traveling on another ship, and the new pioneer groups to Poland and the Soviet Union will be traveling by air. But our own groups here on the Kilm represent the largest single student sailing on one vessel ever sponsored by the Experiment in International Living.

Although a large percentage of the experimenters are from the eastern states, nearly all of the 48 states of the Union are represented by this group of young people on the Kilm. In addition to myself, there are 46 other community ambassadors on board, and five of these are from communities in Michigan. With so many interesting people on the ship, and with our heavy schedule of planned and spontaneous activities, there is little excuse for boredom while at sea.

Our routine on board the ship is varied as much as our talents and resources allow. We are awakened promptly at 7:30 a.m. every day by a 15-year-old German cabin boy who dashes about the corridors ringing an intolerably loud bell. Thereupon, we all spring out of bed (if rough seas haven't already thrown us out) and stumble off to breakfast.

For most of us, the larger part of the morning is free. It is during these hours that letters are written, language assignments are prepared, or a few extra hours in bed are enjoyed. Our group has a language lesson at about 11:30 a.m., and then at 12:45 comes a monstrous, but delicious lunch served in the best German manner.

Parke-Davis Denies Move

DETROIT — A Parke Davis & Co. executive said Wednesday there is no foundation to rumors that the pharmaceutical firm plans to move its main plant from Detroit to Holland, Mich.

Vice president and director of production and engineering T. C. Anderson said Parke-Davis does have additional land adjoining its chloromycin plant at Holland for possible future expansion.

But he said the company has no plans for expansion at the present time. Anderson said the company has had numerous calls from Holland and other Michigan cities since a construction porting service reported two weeks ago that Parke-Davis' waterfront plant here would be razed as part of a project to beautify the Detroit River shoreline.

He said numerous drawings showing new piers and buildings near the main Parke-Davis plant possibly lent support to the rumors.

However, he said vacating of the main plant has not been considered and the company has not been asked to relinquish the property. He pointed out that the Parke-Davis facilities are modern and do not constitute an eyesore.

Astronomy Books Are Popular

Judging from the number of requests for books on astronomy received at the Holland Public Library, star gazing is becoming an increasingly popular hobby in this area, according to Librarian Hazel Hayes.

"Few subjects receive more widespread or sustained interest," the librarian explained, "and numerous books are available at the library for astronomy enthusiasts."

One of the more recent books is "1001 Questions Answered About Astronomy," by James Pickering, an astronomer at Hayden Planetarium in New York. The book includes a vast amount of information on all aspects of astronomy, from how long is a day on Venus to more complicated astronomical concepts.

Informative material about the stars can also be found in two other recently published books — Clyde Clason's "Exploring Distant Stars" and Wolfgang Schroeder's "Practical Astronomy." Both books discuss the sun and the planets, the moon, the stars, comets, meteors, constellations and the instruments used by astronomers.

Other titles which will be of interest to astronomy fans include "Astronomy Handbook," by Leon Hausman; "The Amateur Astronomer," by Patrick Moore; the revised "Pictorial Astronomy," by Dinmore Alter; "The Heavens Are Telling," by Urra Clarke; "Introducing Astronomy," by John Sidgwick; "Sun, Moon and Planets," by Roy Marshall; "Basic Astronomy," by Peter Van De Kamp, and the revised "Olcott's Field Book of the Skies."

Books on the stars and constellations are plentiful. A few of the titles are "The Stars Are Yours," by James Pickering; "The Stars," by Hans Rey; "Dipper Full of Stars," by Lou Williams; "The Prentice-Hall Book About the Stars," by Hugh Wilkins; "The Stars," by Herbert Zim; and "The Stars by Clock and Fiat," by Henry Neely. Books are also available on the various planets, the sun, moon and other aspects of the solar system.

The history of astronomy from the days of Babylon to the present is covered in Rudolf Thiel's "And There Was Light," Patrick Moore's "The Story of Man and the Stars," and G. A. de Vaucouleurs' "Discovery of the Universe." For persons interested in building a telescope and other instruments, the library has "How To Make and Use a Telescope," by Hugh Wilkins, and "Making Your Own Telescope," by Allyn Thompson.

Lake Michigan Down Two Feet

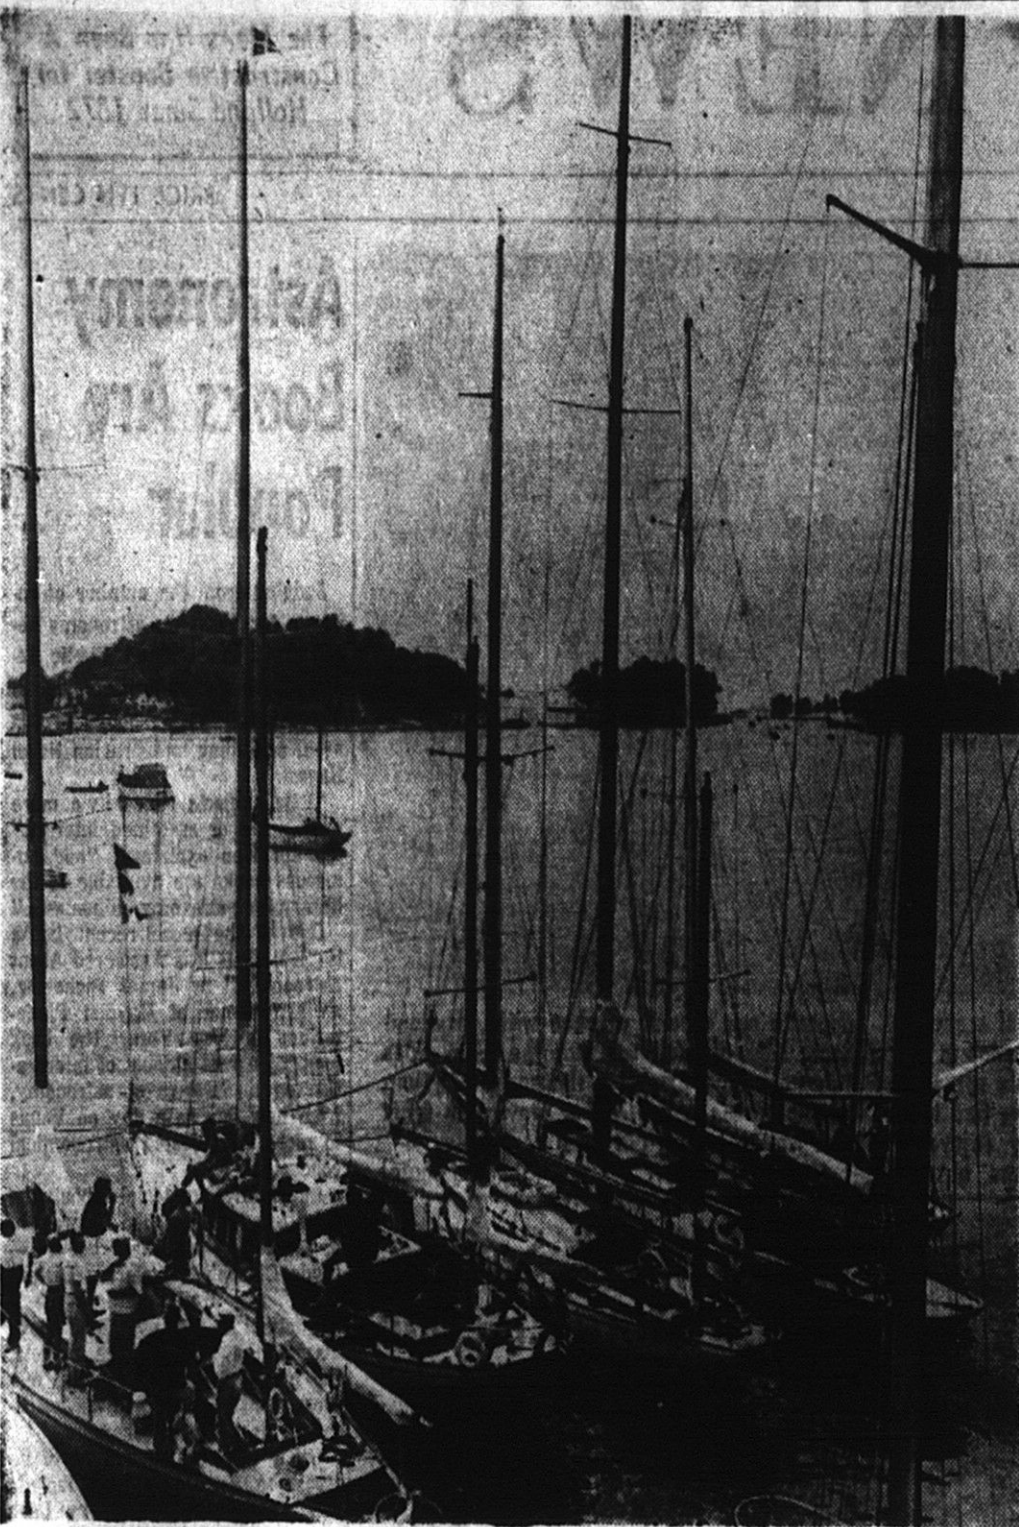

Level of Lake Michigan during June was 578.92 feet above mean tide at New York. This is more than two feet under the average June level of 580.98 feet for the entire record of the U. S. Lake Survey.

Lowest level recorded for the lake was 577.87 feet in 1934 and highest was 583.66 feet in 1886. At present the lake is only 42 foot above low water datum used on all lake survey charts and federal navigation depths.

Lake Superior resumed its seasonal rise at above average rate from May to June but Lake Michigan dropped 84 foot, compared with an average rise of 24 foot. Probable July level will be 579 feet.

Mercury Hits 90 On Fourth of July

Although the sun didn't shine much on Friday, the mercury climbed to a humid 90 degrees which pleased thousands of Fourth of July beachgoers.

Prospects for the remainder of the weekend are not very encouraging for boaters and sun worshippers, for the weatherman is predicting cloudy skies and scattered showers for Saturday and Sunday. The rain from Friday night and Saturday totaled .05 inch. The temperature at 11 a.m. today was 70 degrees.

All parks and beaches in the Holland area were jammed Friday with Holland State Park leading the list with 25,300 visitors. Park officials reported that all parking places were filled by 9:30 a.m., and traffic was turned away at intervals during the day. The air temperature at the park was 76 and the temperature of Lake Michigan was 65 degrees.

The 202 trailer spaces and 187 tent spots at the state park were filled Friday, but officials reported that many campers are leaving today.

The cloudy skies hampered flying activities Friday, according to John Van Wieren at Park Township Airport, who said that low ceilings prevailed in the area.

In addition to about half a dozen planes which landed at the airport, a twin Bonanza Army plane brought Lt. Gen. W. H. Arnold into Holland. He is vacationing at Macatawa Park. A second twin Bonanza came in when the first plane developed motor trouble before returning to Fort Sheridan, Ill.

Holland Posts Fine Holiday Safety Record

Holland area residents evidently took to heart the many warnings urging the use of special safety precautions over the long Fourth of July weekend, with no personal injury accidents occurring in the southern part of the county.

A year, ago, a Holland man died in an automobile accident on July 4, a Holland man drowned in Lake Macatawa on July 6, and five persons were injured in a two-car collision in the city on July 6.

This year, Holland police recorded not a single serious accident in the city from Thursday evening through this morning, and just three minor accidents during that period.

Ottawa County deputies likewise reported the Holland area free of serious accidents over the weekend, with just one minor "fender-bender" on Friday evening.

The Holland Coast Guard station did not receive a single call over the weekend, and Station Commander BM-1 Walter G. Sears commended local boat owners on their fine safety record.

Ottawa County Boat Safety Officer Len Ver Schure, who patrolled in the Sheriff's Department boat throughout the weekend, also stated that local boat operators behaved well during the holiday period.

Harry Griffin, World War Veteran, Succumbs

Harry Griffin, 64, of 124 1/2 East Eighth St. was found dead by neighbors Saturday evening. The body was lying along side his bed. Dr. Warren K. Westrate, medical examiner, said death was due to an internal hemorrhage. It is believed Griffin died sometime Thursday night or early Friday morning.

Mr. Griffin was born in Chicago and had lived in Holland for the last 50 years. He was employed as a packer at the De Pree Co. He served in the Army in World War I and was a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

His wife died June 9 of this year. Surviving are a sister, Mrs. Frank A. Solomon of Gand Rapids and one brother, William J. Griffin of Chicago.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. at Nibbelink-Notier Funeral Chapel. Burial was in Restlawn Memorial Gardens.

The invited guests were Mesdames Nelson Plagenhoef, Sam Plagenhoef, William Jackson, Wilfred Heyboer, William Schuitema, Albert Schuitema, Peter Schuitema, Louis Rohan, Bert Schuitema, Edwin Schuitema, and Fay Van Langevelde, Carla Heyboer, Barbara Jackson, Linda Jackson, and Bonnie Schuitema.

Miss Van Langevelde will become the bride of Lee Schuitema July 2.

Three Hurt In Collision

Three persons were taken to Holland Hospital for treatment following a two-car collision Tuesday at 1:05 p.m. at the intersection of 24th St. and the US-31 bypass when the car in which they were riding turned over on its side after the impact.

Gloria Jean Schurman, 16, of 78 East 23rd St., driver of the car which tipped was treated for an injury to her right leg. Thomas Hamm, 13, of 330 West 21st St., a passenger in the Schurman car, was treated for abrasions and lacerations of the right arm. His sister, Betty, 15, was being held for observation.

Holland police said the car driven by Miss Schurman was headed east on 24th St. The other car, driven by John Vanden Bos, 20, of 696 Lugers Rd., was going north on US-31.

Holland police said both Miss Schurman's 1949 model car and Vanden Bos' 1950 model car were damaged in excess of their value.

Alle De Weerd, 78, Dies Following Long Illness

Alle De Weerd, 78, of route 5, died Sunday morning at the home of his brother, Simon De Weerd, 223 West 15th St., following a lingering illness. He was a retired farmer and a member of Immanuel Church.

Surviving besides the brother are two sisters, Mrs. William Atwood of Milwaukee and Miss Elberta De Weerd of Holland; a sister-in-law, Mrs. John De Weerd and a brother-in-law, Lewis Dymman, both of Holland.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at 3:30 p.m. at Nibbelink-Notier Funeral Home with the Rev. Herbert W. Scott officiating. Burial was in Graafschap Cemetery. Arrangements were by Clarence Mulder and Sons.

Have you ever noticed that American industry, usually quick to meet unusual situations, has largely ignored those unfortunate people who were born left-handed? Out in Pittsburgh, Mass., a citizen named Leo S. Bach not only noticed it but personally suffered from it. Unlike other left-handers, he decided to do something about it. Realizing that American industry had always ignored the left-handers, he formed an organization known as the Left-handed People's Guild. Its purpose is to provide the left-handers with equipment for living that will make it possible to compete with the right-handed majority.

There is, for instance, the left-handed student in grammar school or high school or college. Anyone who has ever watched the contortions through which the left-handers have to go in taking notes or writing examination papers can hardly help deeply sympathizing with them.

There are often at least one or two in an average class. But schools, unless very exceptional, do not provide desks for them that will accommodate them in their work. The new Left-handed People's Guild will encourage the manufacture of such desks and of a large variety of other equipment for living that today's left-handers still lack.

The left-handers have been largely ignored up until now because left-handedness has been considered, a mere bad habit. American industry, in neglecting the left-handers, seems to have thought, "Let fathers and mothers, or the schools, teach the children to use their right hands."

Those who feel that way ignore the fact that left-handedness is not lodged in the hands but in the brain. Psychology today understands that it is unintelligent to try to make a left-hander into a right-hander. Just as unintelligent as it would be to force a right-hander to become a left-hander. In some cases the attempt is considered definitely dangerous and destructive of mental health.

Wise fathers and mothers today do not force their left-handed youngsters to change over to the right hand, and left-handedness is no longer considered a fault, as it once was. It merely means that in the majority of people the brain organization favors the right hand, in the large minority the left hand.

There is still another class, very much smaller than the left-handed minority, whose brain structure is such that the right hand and the left hand are in equilibrium, the people who are ambidextrous. They are perhaps luckier than the members of the other two classes. No one would dream of forcing them to do right-handed alone, understanding that that would be going against nature. Forcing the left-handed child to become right-handed is just as much a violation of nature.

Ticketed for Interfering With Through Traffic

Mrs. Margaret F. Sterken, 43, of route 2, Zeeland, was ticketed by Ottawa County deputies for interfering with through traffic as the result of a two-car collision Tuesday at 10:05 a.m. on James St. just west of Chicago Dr.

Deputies said Mrs. Sterken, coming out of a driveway, pulled into the path of a car driven by Mrs. Jean A. Bosch, 31, of route 2, Zeeland, headed west on James St. Both Mrs. Bosch's 1952 model car and Mrs. Sterken's 1950 model car were damaged in excess of their value, deputies said.

Sunday School Lesson

Sunday, July 13
Social Justice and the Gospel
Matthew 5:17-30, 46-48; 23:23-26
By C. P. Dame
(Based on copyrighted outlines produced by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. and used by permission.)

Being a Christian seven days a week and every hour of the day is not an easy task. The more a person studies the Bible, the more he will realize that much is demanded of the believer. It would be a blessing if some Christians through the study of this lesson would begin to apply the principles of Christianity to every sphere of their lives. The gospel demands social justice.

I. Christ tells us that he came to fulfill the law. In the days of Jesus, the Jews called the Old Testament, "The Law and the Prophets" and sometimes they added the phrase, "and the other books." The Law was the Pentateuch; the Prophets included all the rest of the Old Testament. The enemies of Jesus said that he spoke slightlying of the Law. Jesus said that he had not come to undermine the ethical teaching of the law under which they had been living but he came to fulfill. The moral requirements of the law are still binding upon all. Christians in particular should observe the moral law and do it in the spirit of love for love is the fulfillment of the law. The law of God is here to stay. Jesus did not subtract from this law but he enlarged its scope so that it governs the mind and heart as well as outer conduct.

Some people set aside the least of the commandments and teach others to do likewise — these will be called "the least in the kingdom of God." Others teach and do all the commandments and they shall be called "great in the kingdom of heaven." Jesus stressed not the ceremonies of the law but the weightier matters such as mercy, justice and truth. The world does not pay as much attention to what we say as to what we do. Jesus demanded that his disciples observe a higher standard than was set by the religious leaders of his day. Christians are meant to be superior people.

Today there is too little difference between Christians and unbelievers. Too many Christians measure themselves by the standards of the crowd or the community or neighborhood in which they live rather than by God's demands. The high demand of Jesus is put in the words: "Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect." This means that we are to resemble God — the perfection spoken of does not mean equality but a resemblance — we are summoned to aim at the kindness and goodness which God reveals. The goal is beyond our reach but we can strive. Let God be your model, not the masses.

II. Love goes beyond legalism. Jesus strongly denounced the religious leaders of his day. He was harder on the religious leaders than on the notorious sinners. The reason was that they made so much of little, trivial matters and neglected the big issues of life. Jesus called them blind guides "which strain at a gnat, and swallow a camel." These people were legalists and legalism is apt to be cold and critical and formalistic.

Jesus said that they made clean the outside of the cup but paid no attention to the filth inside the cup. There was no agreement in the lives of these leaders between their teaching and deeds — outwardly they were religious but inwardly godless. When Jesus pointed out to these leaders their faults they got angry. Love was missing in their lives. Is not this the missing virtue in the lives of some church members today? They who love go the second mile, they plan how much they can do for the Lord and their fellow men — not how little.

There is still another class, very much smaller than the left-handed minority, whose brain structure is such that the right hand and the left hand are in equilibrium, the people who are ambidextrous. They are perhaps luckier than the members of the other two classes. No one would dream of forcing them to do right-handed alone, understanding that that would be going against nature. Forcing the left-handed child to become right-handed is just as much a violation of nature.

NEED A HAND?—Three-year-old Jane Dykema offers young Robert Cook some help with his adventures in the sand at Holland State Park. Although some adults at the beach thought the waters of Lake Michigan were a bit chilly, dozens of youngsters were enjoying themselves as they splashed around this week. Jane is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Dykema of 143 West 18th St. and Robert is the 15-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Laverne Cook of 272½ West 16th St. (Sentinel photo)

Vienna Summer School Group Visits NATO Headquarters

Brigadier General James O. Curtis, Jr., U. S. Army officer attached to NATO headquarters in Paris, France welcomed and briefed the Hope College Vienna Summer School group during their short stay in the Paris area. The briefing included talks by several senior French, German, and American officers who also attended the reception given for the Hope group at this international headquarters.

Returning from the NATO briefing session the group stopped for a few minutes at Versailles, which still retains some of the glamour and attraction of former days.

The importance of the Marshall Plan and American assistance to the recovery of Europe after World War II was emphasized at a briefing meeting at the Office of European Economic Cooperation in Paris.

Obviously, the girls in the tour group had to take time out to shop in Paris for perfume, to admire the windows and fashions along the Champs Elysees. There also was time for a visit to the artists section near the church of Sacre Coeur on Montmartre.

Enroute from Paris to Bruges, Belgium the group stopped for a look at the famous Gothic cathedral at Amiens, France. Here, as in Notre Dame and other significant architectural landmarks, the group enjoyed the advantage of having an expert guide. Dr. Michael Fink, of the Institute of European Studies in Vienna, accompanied the group throughout the study tour.

Arriving in Bruges, Belgium, a quaint medieval town about 60 miles from Brussels, the students had a chance to relax before visiting the Worlds Fair. At the Fair special receptions were held at the Netherlands and Austrian pavilions, the Council of Europe, and the European Coal and Steel Community. The group members also had time to explore the fairgrounds on their own during the three days devoted to the Fair.

From Belgium the tour continued to the Netherlands. Amsterdam served as headquarters for tour activities which included a visit to the Ryksmuseum, rides through the canals of Amsterdam, a briefing at the Netherlands parliament in the Hague, and a visit to the Hague Peace Palace.

Through the efforts of Willard Wichers, director of the Netherlands Information Service in Holland, the group had the advantage of meeting with Professor Dr. Landher, librarian of the Peace Palace and was able to attend a special performance of the Holland Festival. Mr. Wichers also arranged for the group reception at the Netherlands pavilion at the Worlds Fair.

Winning new land from the sea is one of the outstanding achievements of the Dutch government. Students spent a day inspecting the land reclamation project at the Zuider Zee. Returning from the Zuider Zee project the tour stopped at Kampen, an ancient trading center dating back to the 13th century.

Apart from the organized tour activities, many students of Dutch ancestry contacted relatives in the Netherlands, or enjoyed finding their names in telephone books.

Borculo

The Rev. James Putt, pastor of the Ontario, California church had charge of both services on Sunday. Infant baptism was administered to Randall William, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Neimeyer; to Patrick Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Blauwkamp; to Joan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Blauwkamp. Mr. and Mrs. L. Vanden Berg and family enjoyed a week vacationing at the Conference grounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Rynsbarger and family enjoyed a week at Ottawa Beach. Candidate Calvin Bolt will conduct the services next Sunday.

The consistory presents the following quartet of ministers for nomination as pastors: the Rev. Arthur H. De Kruyter, Western Springs, Ill.; the Rev. Bernard Top Haan, Everett, Wash.; the Rev. Rits Tadmara, former missionary to Africa, Monroe, Wash.; and the Rev. Hiram Vander Klay, Owen Sound, Ontario, Canada. A congregational meeting will be held Wednesday, July 16, at 8 p.m.

THREE INJURED—Holland Police Sgt. Ralph Woldring (above) checks the accident in which three Holland residents were injured Tuesday in a two-car crash at the intersection of 24th St. and the US-31 bypass. Gloria Jean Schurman, 16, of 78 East 23rd St., the driver of the car above, and a passenger, Thomas Hamm, 13, of 330 West 21st St., were treated at Holland Hospital for minor injuries and released. The driver of the other car, John VandenBos, 20, of 696 Lugers Rd., was treated for bruises of the left leg and knee. Miss Schurman was ticketed by Holland police for failure to yield the right of way to through traffic in the first accident handled by Holland police in the new city territory. (Sentinel photo)

Post Office Stations Are Shifted Again

It was moving day again Tuesday at Holland post office.

Employees manning the stamp windows, who have been shunted from pillar to post during the last several weeks in lobby remodeling, are now in their permanent stations in the eastern part of the main building.

This area with its own swinging doors is known as the finance section in which stamps are sold, parcel post taken in, money orders issued and postal savings processed.

Of the four posts, the first two are for stamps and parcel post and the last two for money orders, postal savings and registry. There is no special window for general delivery and for the present at least, this service will be handled at the first stamp window.

The new appointments resemble a modern bank, rather than an old-time post office. All windows in the finance section are wide open with no iron bars. The decor is in gray tones, almost akin to bleached mahogany wood. Counter tops are of formica.

The local post office still has a long way to go before it is completely modern. In striking contrast to the slick modern fittings in the lobby are some old well worn cases and battered desks in the work area not far away.

When work is completed, the finance section and the western part with access to the postmaster's office and stairway to second floor can be closed off, leaving the lobby and its postal boxes open 24 hours a day.

Engaged

Miss Elizabeth Ann Windemuller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman H. Windemuller of 1460 Ottawa Beach Rd. announce the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth Ann, to Pfc. Richard J. Rhoda, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Rhoda, 563 College Ave.

Mr. Rhoda is stationed at Camp Pendleton, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Saur of Spar-tan announce the engagement of their daughter, Arlene, to Earl Welling, son of Mrs. J. Welling of 323 West 20th St. and the late Mr. Welling.

Weener Chosen to Train For Missionary Pilot

James Weener, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Weener of 6 East 30th St., was recently accepted for training as a missionary pilot at the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. He was one of 12 candidates chosen from among the 24 most promising applicants at a flight camp held at the Moody airport near Chicago.

Six Moody aviation instructors spent five full days in close contact with the group at the Moody airport where each day was spent in flying, work projects, aptitude testing, sports and personal counseling. Candidates ranged in background and experience from recent high school graduates to jet pilots who had flown in many parts of the world.

Applicants were chosen on the basis of spiritual maturity, flying and mechanical ability and classroom performance.

Case Dismissed

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — On motion of defense counsel, Circuit Judge Raymond L. Smith Tuesday dismissed a case brought by Wilbur B. Gleason of Spring Lake and the Hoosier Casualty Co. seeking $10,000 damages from Clyde J. Smith and Kenneth G. Smith of Allendale. The court action resulted from an accident Aug. 23, 1957, in Spring Lake village in which a truck driven by Kenneth Smith allegedly failed to stop for the stop sign and struck the Gleason car. Motion for dismissal was made by defense counsel after proofs were completed for the plaintiff.

De Nooyer, Furnace Keep Softball Lead

Elmer Ribbens hurled the first no-hit game of the season in the Recreation Department Sportsman League and his performance helped to keep De Nooyer Chevrolet tied for the top spot.

The Chevrolet edged Sixth-Grade Bell, 2-1 while Holland Furnace, the other co-leader, was defeating Fris, 5-2.

Ribbens didn't allow a hit but a walk, stolen base and an overthrow of the base provided Sixth-Grade Bell's run in the seventh.

Four runs in the eighth inning broke up a 1-1 tie and gave the Furnace its victory. The rally was highlighted by a three-base-hit by Jay Van Wieren. Winning pitcher Norm Boeve fanned 12 batters. Each team made three hits.

Gord Barendse slammed a bases loaded homer in the first and Gord Brewer added a round tripper as Steffens Market smashed Bethel Church, 8-0. Ken Bauman hurled a two-hitter for the winners. The hits came in the seventh.

Berean Church was awarded a forfeit win in the other game when Immanuel Church was charged by the umpires of unsportsmanlike conduct. The teams were tied at 2-all in the eighth inning when the decision was made.

Road Oiling Starts Friday

Weather permitting, a street oiling program will start Friday in the newly annexed areas. City Engineer Lavern Serne said Tuesday.

This involves treatment of dirt roads in Montello Park, Apple Ave. and Maplewood districts. Streets adjacent to residential areas or in some cases individual homes will be treated.

Serne said the street department expects to use 8,000 gallons of cut-back asphalt which is somewhat similar in consistency to No. 5 fuel oil. There may be some tracking the first day or two, depending on temperature, humidity, soil content and road characteristics. Trucks have been scraping the roadbeds getting them ready for oiling.

Previously, home owners in Allegan county provided their own oiling. Ottawa county areas usually had calcium chloride treatment twice a year.

City Engineer Lavern Serne today enlisted the aid of parents in warning their children not to get too close to the street sweeper machines or other road equipment in paving projects.

Serne said the men use all possible precautions, but sometimes children surround the machines on all sides and nobody wants a child to get hurt.

If parents will just inform the children that it is dangerous to get close to the big machines, the department hopes accidents will be avoided. Road operations have seasonal hazards. In the winter, children like to climb atop snow deposits when snow plows come along. In the summer, it's the street sweeper and the paving equipment. In the fall, it's those big piles of leaves at the curb and the leaf loader.

Allegan Okays Survey Funds

ALLEGAN (Special) — Allegan's city council Monday night approved a special $1,000 appropriation as the city's share of the river basin survey proposed by the Battle Creek - Kalamazoo River Development Corporation.

In urging approval of the funds, City Manager P. H. Beauvais said the city "stands to gain all out of proportion to cost" if the development corporation's efforts to stabilize the flow of water in the Kalamazoo river are successful.

The money will be used to help finance a survey to determine what results could be expected from construction of a reservoir on Rice Creek, near Marshall, in which water could be stored during wet seasons to insure a steady flow of water during dry months. Beauvais indicated the survey would also result in an estimate of the cost of such a project which, ultimately, would be financed by establishment of a special assessment district.

Monday night also was the date set for hearing of objections on paving projects on Vernon, Knapp and Pine Streets. Only one objection was voiced, by a Vernon street property owner, and the council passed resolutions approving all three projects.

Petitions were received from residents on North Main street asking the city to take steps to eliminate a serious traffic condition on Depot Hill, scene of six accidents this year. City Manager Beauvais reported that additional warning signs were being installed and indicated further steps would be taken if the situation did not improve.

Other business conducted by the council included receipt of a letter of acceptance by Mrs. Daniel Conroy, recently re-appointed to the municipal library board; discussion of the state highway department's plan to re-advertise for bids on the paving of M-118 within the city and include widening of Marshall street bridge approaches in this project, and discussion of progress in the matter of the Cook street drain project.

Holland Motor Given Merit Certificate

Holland Motor Express, Inc., has been awarded a certificate of merit in the national claim prevention contest sponsored by the American Trucking Associations, Inc., it was announced today.

Charles Cooper, president of Holland Motor Express, said the award is in recognition of the company's efforts in preventing damage to shipments and for prompt settlement of claims when mishaps do occur.

Last year the loss and damage ratio for Holland Motor Express was only .62, or slightly more than 1/2 of one per cent of total freight revenue. The national average of the trucking industry is more than double this figure, according to Harve Buter, vice president of customer relations.

Buter said the company's program of instruction for drivers and terminal employees in preventing freight loss and damage is responsible for the low claim ratio, and is one of the principal reasons behind the ATA award.

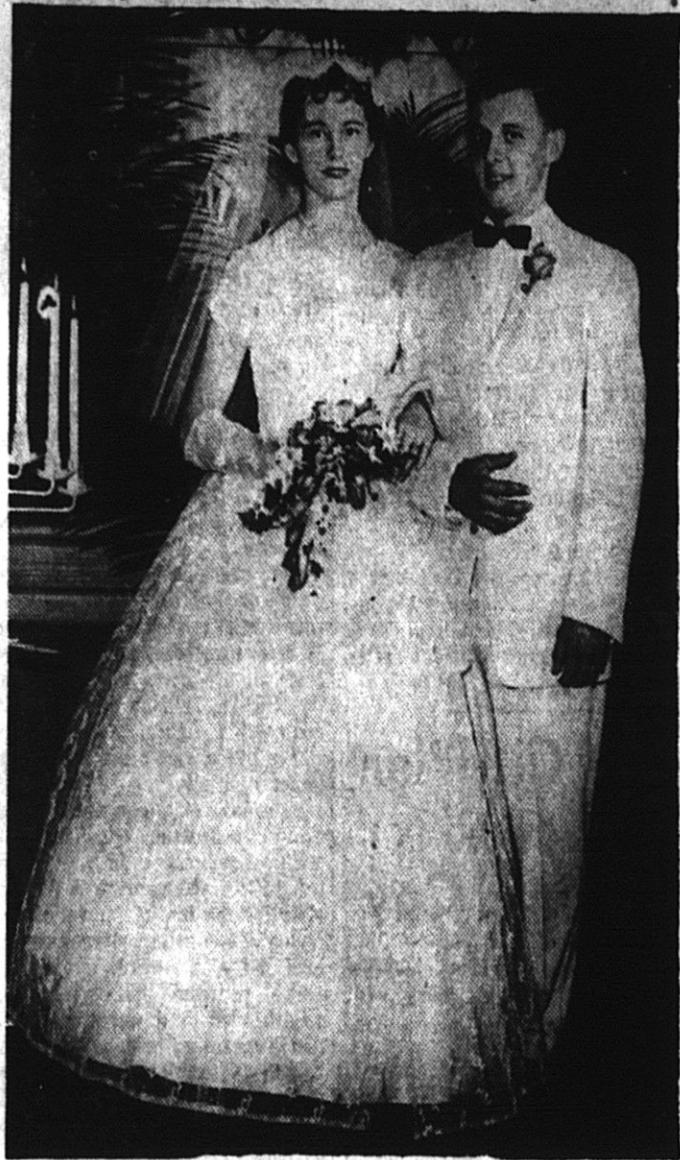

The program last year was spearheaded by a series of educational meetings held at the company's 16 terminals in Michigan, Ohio, Illinois, Kentucky, and Indiana. Verne Fuder, manager of customer service, conducted three meetings at each terminal, and prepared supplemental material for weekly meetings directed by terminal managers and other key personnel. Proper handling, packing, checking, and expediting of specific types of freight was emphasized at the meetings.

A similar program is under way this year, according to Buter, in an effort to reduce the loss ratio further and prevent claims. Currently, 80 per cent of all claims against the company are settled the day they are received, he said.

The ATA award was presented through the National Freight Claim Council and carries the signature of Guy W. Rutland, Jr., President of the American Trucking Association, and John M. Miller, executive secretary of the claim council.

The Holland Motor Express exhibit in the contest consisted of a display of the Lower Fire Rates Listed For Annexes

A majority of home owners in the newly annexed areas will pay lower fire insurance rates as a result of city annexation.

Revised fire rates as determined by the Michigan Inspection Bureau were discussed at a meeting of the Holland Association of Insurance Agents at a noon meeting Monday in the Warm Friend Tavern.

On the effective dates of annexation, dwellings within 1,000 feet of a public fire hydrant may be considered as under "fifth class" fire protection regardless of the distance to the nearest city fire station. If the dwelling is over 1,000 feet from a public fire hydrant, a "fifth class" grade will still apply if the dwelling is located within two miles of a city fire station. All distances are to be measured over public highways.

Thus, all of Apple Ave. district except the southeast corner, all of Montello Park except the southwest corner, and all of the Maplewood area lying between 32nd and 40th Sts., US-31 and M-40 are or will be included in the new classification. Effective date for Apple Ave. and Montello Park was July 4. For Maplewood, the effective date is Aug. 3.

The "class five" rating will entitle eligible home owners to approximately 30 per cent reductions in combined standard fire and extended coverage premiums. The inspection bureau pointed out that no cash refunds are allowed following a general rate change and adjustments must be made on the anniversary date of the policy.

More dwellings will be eligible for reduced rates when a new fire station is located farther south and water lines are extended. Revised rates will be made available later by the bureau on an individual basis for mercantile and industrial risks.

ENJOYING OUTDOOR MICHIGAN—Camping in Michigan attracts thousands of new enthusiasts each year to state parks and forests. There's something about that open fire cooking that just can't be duplicated in a modern kitchen. More than 500,000 persons will use campgrounds in Michigan state parks this year, while thousands of others will "rough it" in state forests.

More People Find Enjoyment In Camping at State Parks

Even though Holland didn't get its first summer hot spell until last week, the camping permits at Holland State Park are about 350 ahead of last year at this time. State park officials reported this week a total of 1,713 camping permits have been issued to date this year as compared with 1,367 through the Fourth of July weekend in 1957.

The increase at Holland is indicative of state park boosts throughout Michigan. Camping, according to the Michigan State Conservation Department, has been on the increase for the last several years. First, Michigan is rich in camping possibilities, and now is one of America's leading states for this type of recreation.

Second, campers these years can go afield armed with dachon sleeping bags, compact air mattresses, tiny but efficient stoves, small and easily handled tents and other handy equipment, most of which has been developed since World War II.

Such camping equipment makes this recreation available to thousands who formerly thought "roughing it" simply meant turning down the electric blanket. Modern conveniences now make camping available to everyone.

The future of camping, however, is not without storm clouds on its horizon. The gathering interest has Conservation officials wondering where everybody is going to camp, in the next ten years.

In state parks, the Conservation Department reports that camping records date back only eight years. In 1950, parks hosted 163,000 campers. But last year, the total was up to 464,000 and facilities were jammed throughout the summer months.

County Has Several Parks for Residents, Visitors

Tunnel Park Spruced Up For Summer

Park Department Operates Under Road Commission

Slowly, bit by bit, Ottawa county is developing a park program. The county has always maintained several county parks, but this is the first year that the work comes under a park superintendent.

Richard Smullenburg, of 391 Chappel Bay Rd. near Ottawa Beach, took over as county park superintendent Jan 1 after spending 11 years with the Holland Park department which is headed by his father, Dick Smullenburg.

Previously, county parks were maintained by the County Road Commission. Smullenburg's program still comes under the jurisdiction of the road commission, but the new program calls for planned development throughout the years. As yet, work is coordinated with the road commission in opening parks, enlarging parking areas, making and placing new tables and new fireplaces.

Two biggest ventures on the county park program are Tunnel Park on Lake Michigan north of Holland and North Beach on Lake Michigan north of Grand Haven. These parks have been operated by the county for many years.

Besides these parks, the department has begun developing Riverside Park on Grand River near 104th Ave. in Robinson township in the vicinity of the county gravel pits. The road commission has put in a road and developed a parking lot as well as boat launching facilities. A weed control program has been initiated, and tables and other facilities will be added from time to time. An area 300 by 900 feet is being developed. Swimming is discouraged here but there is good boating, fishing and there will be good picnicking later in a wooded section.

The department is considering developing a park in Georgetown township, one that would make the most of nature trails and picnicking. This work will probably be started next year.

The department also maintains a small park at Eastmanville on Grand River near the bridge. This spot was developed several years ago. It has four picnic tables and two fireplaces.

Besides the parks, the department cares for two state roadside parks — a newly developed spot on US-31 just north of M-50 on the divided highway, and one on US-16 near the Kent county line. The department also cares for roadside table spots. There are three tables on US-31 between Grand Haven and M-50, five on M-50 and one or two between Zeeland and Hudsonville.

Smullenburg at present has two fulltime employees and three part-time employees. Besides other duties, these men empty the garbage can at picnic sites twice a week, scrub tables once a week and tend the rest rooms every day. Earlier in the season, employees of the road commission aided in setting up tables and doing some of the cleanup work, but these men

PICNICKING IN GROVE — Picnic tables are placed in a grove along side sand dunes in Tunnel Park. During the picnic season, 52 trees were removed in the park and grass planted in the grove. This park has 10 new picnic tables, four new iron stoves and some playground equipment this year. It also has a new lighting system.

are now busy with their own summer program.

What the new park department can accomplish in continued developments will be dependent largely on allocations made by the County Board of Supervisors. If the county residents care for parks as Holland city residents do, it is quite likely that the new park department will launch a program of gradual improvements.

Quite a few improvements already have been accomplished. At Tunnel park, a new sign has been placed on Lakeshore Rd. The park has been cleaned up and Smullenburg and his men have tried to grow grass in the grove. Fifty-two trees have been cut down during the winter and a new lighting system has been installed. Workmen used 50 gallons of paint putting buildings and tables in shape. North Beach Park likewise has been spruced up with an enlarged parking area and all buildings repainted.
