School Needs Listed for Maplewood

Group Recommends New School at Site At 35th and College

A citizens committee studying the needs of Maplewood school district has submitted a report which recommends a new school development on school-owned property in the vicinity of 35th St. and College Ave., plus an urgent need for city water and improved sewage disposal at the present school on 48th St. Total program would cost in the neighborhood of $250,000.

The report on school construction needs was drafted after months of study by the committee consisting of Howard W. Kammeraad, chairman; Lloyd W. Andersen, Gary P. Beckman, Dale Mossburg and Clifton Spyer. School enrollment in 1951 totaled 288 and in 1959 enrollment reached 483. The kindergarten has met in Maplewood Church for several years.

Recommendations call for two class rooms for each grade one through 7 plus a kindergarten room. Eighth graders have been going to city schools. Of the 15 classrooms needed, nine are available indicating a need for six more classrooms. If the three rooms in the 75-year-old section of the school are abandoned, nine new rooms are needed.

It is recommended that the three old classrooms be demolished because of health, welfare and safety of the children. The six remaining classrooms there, two rooms built in 1940 and four in 1952, should be operated as a school for grades one through six. A new multi-purpose room, small locker room and kitchen should be constructed, the report states.

The present school has three wells and the flow is far from sufficient to meet the needs. The second well has never produced fresh water since it is in a salt water strata and is used only in emergencies when pressure is very low. As evidence of the lack of water, low water pressure is common during school hours and at times the toilet room fixtures are inoperable. The report states that a water source for a school building of this size should produce a minimum of 50 gallons a minute.

"The water situation is extremely grave, and the seriousness of it cannot be overemphasized. The health and welfare of 275 children are at stake," the report reads. It added that once an adequate supply of water is obtained, a much larger septic tank and tile field will be needed as the present system is not handling the present minimal flow.

It was also stated that Maplewood Reformed Church has made kindergarten facilities available at an inconvenience to itself. While the arrangement has been a satisfactory stopgap measure, the situation should not be allowed to continue any longer than absolutely necessary. Permission must be applied for and the state has granted it, strictly on a year-to-year basis with each year supposed to be the last one. Annexation problems have delayed and protracted the situation. Once this is stabilized, state approval is doubtful.

A basement room in the old school building is also a temporary classroom on a year-to-year basis for state approval. It has but one legal exit and natural lighting and artificial lighting are inadequate. Ventilation also is woefully inadequate. The surface water occasionally rises above the basement floor, and when this happens as it did during the past year the floor must be mopped twice daily, and the room is constantly damp.

The new 4½-acre site which lies between Central and College Aves. and runs from 35th to 40th Sts. is large enough to accommodate a large elementary school although slightly smaller than the five acres recommended by the state.

The site is adjacent to the playground originally obtained by the Maplewood Playground Association and decided to the township in perpetuity for playground use. There is a possibility of an agreement between the city and the school district for the common development and use of the school and playground property with each contributing to the cost and both school and community using all facilities. Most children attending a school on this site would be within walking distance, thus easing the transportation problem.

The report also pointed to a trailer park which is a new element in the Maplewood picture. Enrollment the past year fluctuated between 15 and 22 and more can be expected in the future. A $3 permit is required per trailer per month of which $2 is allotted to the school district.

Three Held After Lively Boat Binge

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — A 17-year-old Spring Lake youth was charged with grand larceny today following a four-day binge involving theft of two boats plus fuel and supplies in several areas.

Frank Smith of Spring Lake was held in the county jail today while his two companions, a 16-year-old Spring Lake youth and a 13-year-old Ferrysburg girl were held elsewhere, the boy in Grand Rapids and the girl in a detention home in Whitehall.

The trio was picked up by Coast Guardsmen and sheriff's patrol about 11:30 a.m. Saturday in Lake Michigan between Holland and Port Sheldon riding in a 19-foot Chris Craft cruiser belonging to the stepfather of the 16-year-old youth and towing another boat stolen for use in emergencies. The two youths had told Coast Guardsmen in Grand Haven they were headed for Florida. The 13-year-old girl was not in evidence at the time.

The trip started about 3 a.m. Wednesday when the two youths took the boat owned by the stepfather of one youth from its mooring place at a Ferrysburg livery. The stepfather was up north at the time. In the ensuing three days, they picked up girls, had joy rides up and down the lake and fueled the boat from gas tanks they removed from boats at different liveries. They also stole a battery on Friday. Early Saturday morning they stole another boat valued at $2,100.

Coast Guardsmen checked with liveries after the two boats left Saturday morning and learned they had been stolen.

The mother of the 13-year-old girl reported the girl missing Saturday afternoon.

Police are requesting Probate Court to waive jurisdiction, in the case of the 16-year-old youth.

Face Lifting Set at Dump

The city dump is undergoing something of a face lifting as caretakers shift to a new system of modified landfill which will eliminate dump fires except for shrubbery, stumps and tree branches.

But before the landfill begins in earnest, Sam Stephenson and Roger Stroh of city sanitation's office baited 150 stations at the dump in an effort to kill off or reduce the rat population.

In the new program, a large trench is dug and all trash and rubbish are dumped into the trench. Then a bulldozer buries the trash and digs another trench. The first trench now being used is at the north end of the dump. As time goes on, the trenches will move south and west.

The sanitarians have arranged with City Engineer Laverne Serne to use a caterpillar tractor equipped with a front end loader of the street department. Stephenson said the difference between a landfill and a modified landfill is in the degree of compaction. The bulldozer used here is not the type for the compaction usually associated with a landfill.

Rules for dumping remain the same. The city dump is for trash and rubbish, not for garbage. It is only a matter of time before the existing "open face" of the dump will be covered, Stephenson said.

Vandals Shoot Out Lights at Airport

Ottawa County deputies Friday were looking for young vandals who shot out three runway lights Thursday at the Park Township Airport.

Deputies said the culprits shot out two green lights at the end of a runway and a red light at the top of a power pole near the end of the runway. All the lights shot out were on the northwest corner of the airport.

Deputies emphasized the great danger caused by this malicious destruction to pilots approaching or taking off from the airport at night. Any persons caught tampering with runway lights at the airport will be prosecuted, deputies said.

Rembrandt Reproductions At Library

Selected etchings and drawings of the great Dutch artist Rembrandt are being displayed for the remainder of the month and perhaps longer in the display cases at the children's entrance to Herick Public Library.

The reproductions of Rembrandt's originals appear on small size mats roughly 10 by 12 inches. The display was arranged by the Rijksmuseum in Amsterdam with the intention of acquainting Americans with Rembrandt's lesser known works.

Between 1626 and 1669, in the course of 44 years, Rembrandt executed about 300 etchings and 2,000 drawings. As an etcher, Rembrandt was probably the greatest artist the world has ever known. He used the etching needle both for the simplest subject and on intricate biblical representations.

His drawings, however, were mostly preparatory studies and casual jottings, and only in a few cases were they fully developed independent pieces of art.

Although the Rijksmuseum display lists some 50 reproductions, only a part of them are displayed. All the originals are in the Rijksmuseum except two which are in Vienna and in the Louvre in Paris.

Bolling Gets Wooden Shoes From Firemen

Frank Bolling, Detroit Tigers second baseman will receive a pair of wooden shoes from the Holland Fire Department Saturday in Briggs Stadium, but the firemen hope he doesn't have the same fate that other Tiger wooden shoe recipients have had in the past.

Last year the firemen gave

Frank Bolling

Harvey Kuenn a pair of shoes and he was traded. Simon Pauwe, Holland fireman said, the same thing happened when Vic Wertz received a pair while Jack Tighe was fired as Tiger manager after getting his shoes and Paul Richards received a pair and then later was sent to the minors.

Pauwe said Bolling commented on the shoes Kuenn received last year and the Holland firemen voted to give Bolling the shoes this year. The firemen pointed to Bolling's personal tragedy this year with the death of his son at birth and of his father-in-law's death in an automobile crash.

Discharged Wednesday were Johanna Boersma, 208 West 27th St.; Mrs. Robert Bareman, route 2; Mrs. Valencia Katz, 62-82 Saunders St.; Rego Park, N. Pair Escapes Injury As Car Is Hit by Train

Two Grand Rapids persons escaped injury by jumping from their stalled car just seconds before it was struck by a 65-car freight train at 3:45 a.m. Saturday at the Chesapeake and Ohio crossing on 32nd St.

Calvin J. Dykman, 21, driver of the car, told Holland police he saw the train coming about two blocks away and started across the tracks. The car stalled with the front wheels on the tracks, Dykman said.

Police said Dykman told his passenger, 20-year-old Lynn Hoekzema, to get out of the car while he tried to start it. Dykman got out of the car seconds before it was struck by the train. Holland police said the 1959 model car was a total loss.

Weyna-Murray Vows Spoken

SAUGATUCK (Special) — Miss Margaret Mary Murray of Saugatuck became the bride of John Michael Weyna in a ceremony performed by the groom's brother, Father Timothy Norman, O. S. B., Marmion Abbey, Aurora, Ill.

The wedding was held in the St. Peter's Catholic Church in Douglas June 25 at 11 a.m. White gladioli and stephanotis decorated the altar and white satin ribbons marked the family pews.

Mr. and Mrs. James Goodwin Murray of Saugatuck and Ocean Springs, Miss., are the parents of the bride and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Leo C. Weyna of Chicago, Ill.

The bride's father escorted his daughter to the altar for the double ring rites. She wore a white silk organza gown embroidered with Venetian lace. It featured an empire silhouette and chapel train. Her veil of English illusion was clasped by a double tiered beaded and sequined crown. Her pearls were a gift from the groom.

Miss Murray carried a bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley, white orchids and stephanotis entwined with ivy.

Mrs. Murray chose a blue silk organza over tulle, a dress with a pale blue hat and shoes to match. Her flowers were gardenias. The groom's mother wore a lace and shantung dress with a champagne shaded net hat. Her corsage was made of white roses.

The bride chose blue for her attendants. Each wore Copenhagen blue organza gowns slipped over tulle and which fell to street-length and were accented with net hats and bouquets of blue iris and daisies.

Attendants included Mrs. William Bale of Saugatuck as the matron of honor, the Misses Beverly Phillips and Joan Kattner as the bridesmaids and Miss Rose Ann Murray as the junior bridesmaid.

A niece of the groom, These Weyna of Chicago was the flower girl and walked down the aisle holding a basket of white rose petals. Her Copenhagen blue organza gown set over tulle was matched by a circlet of flowers for her headpiece.

Phillip Weyna served his brother as best man and the ushers were Allen Shaw and William Murray, a brother of the bride.

Miss Wanda Klos of Chicago was the soloist and Mrs. Joseph Hanacek of Douglas played the organ.

A buffet and dancing was open to the 150 guests at the Hotel Saugatuck following the ceremony. Miss Ruth Ann Sergeant of Battle Creek and Saugatuck had charge of the guest book.

The new Mrs. Weyna changed into a gold sheath dress with a matching jacket and white accessories. The newlyweds will reside at 1078 Thorndale Ave., Chicago following a honeymoon on Mackinac Island.

The bride was graduated from Saugatuck High School, Gulf Park College in Gulfport, Miss., and the School of the Art Institute in Chicago.

Her husband was graduated from St. George High School in Evanston, Ill., Loyola University and School of Art Institute in Chicago.

The groom's parents entertained in the candlelight room of the Saugatuck Hotel June 24.

Jail, Detention Home On Allegan Ballot

Holland city voters in the three precincts in Allegan county will vote on propositions to provide a new county jail and detention home for Allegan county at the Aug. 2 primaries.

City Clerk Clarence Greengood, who has received absentee ballots for Allegan county, said it involves two mills on county equalized valuation for three years. This would amount to $152,000 a year.

All voters may vote on the one proposition which would permit the county to raise millage limitations. Only property owners may vote on the proposition creating the sinking fund.

Allegan county at present is in the process of building a new court house.

Detachment From Holland Requested

Spokesmen Want Vote Sometime This Year; Proposal Lost in June

The South Side Farmers group Thursday night approved plans to request a new election for detachment of part of the Maplewood area from the City of Holland.

The election, scheduled for sometime this year, probably will include the same 3½ square miles of the Maplewood area which sought detachment in the June 13 election, although this was not definite. The June proposal was defeated by 196 votes.

Co-Chairman John Schurman and Gradius Geurink Friday issued the following statement:

"The South Side Farmers Group feels strongly that a very important moral issue of property rights and constitutional rights is involved and are determined to pursue the matter until justice is obtained.

"We believe the people of principle residing in Holland and in Fillmore Township will help us in obtaining the detachment of our farms from Holland."

Schurman said the election will be requested for sometime after the Aug. 2 primary since that date is a bit early.

In order to put the issue up for election the group will need the signatures of 35 per cent of the property owners in the area seeking to detach from the city, at least 25 from Fillmore Township and 1 per cent of the voters in Holland, Schurman said.

On June 20, Mayor Robert Visscher sent letters to Geurink and Schurman suggesting that they work with city representatives in solving the problems on the basis of mutual understanding.

"I know it is difficult for you, as country folks, to reconcile yourselves to a change in government affiliation which also makes you city folks, and I want to assure you that we of your city government will most sincerely take an understanding attitude toward your feelings in this regard," the mayor wrote.

Mayor Visscher was of the belief that Holland is in a much stronger position to uphold farming pursuits and preserving the countryside as well as saving farmers from loss of land value than any other political affiliation.

Schurman said Friday that the mayor's suggestions offered no real solution to the problem at hand.

Seek to Halt Noise, Trouble

GRAND HAVEN — City Attorney Howard W. Fant has advised property owners in an area near Lake Michigan and the state park that court action is a solution to the noise and disorderly nuisance in the area each summer.

The property owners made a list of complaints at a City Council meeting, including speeding on streets in the area, house parties at which teenagers at cottages keep neighbors awake, immoral acts in the cottage area, drinking in the streets, bad language and burglaries.

"Start suit against the owners of cottages that rent to kids to get a quick buck," in an attempt to obtain an injunction," Fant said. "This might prevent them from renting to house parties. In violation, the cottage owners would then be brought into contempt of circuit court."

Road Death Toll Soars in June

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Six persons lost their lives in traffic accidents in Ottawa County during June, according to the Ottawa County Sheriff's Department. Two had been killed during the first five months of 1960.

City Planning Group Okays Subdivision

The Holland Planning Commission Tuesday afternoon approved preliminary plans for Marlin Acres, a new subdivision on East Eighth St. east of Holland Heights. It also considered three optional plans for the Lemmen development in the Apple Avenue Area but took no action. Consideration was given for the future of 20th St. and possibilities of a turn-around south of Hazel Ave.

The commission expressed no objection to sale of city-owned property in the vicinity of the city dump, provided proper provisions are made for utilities and street department needs. City Engineer Laverne Serne mentioned that the city may need additional area for dumping snow in the future.

Possibilities of opening Plisman Ave. between 24th and 29th Sts. also was discussed but no action was taken.

The planning consultant reported he had reviewed the new proposed Holland township zoning ordinance and felt there would be no occasion for any objections on the part of Holland city.

Ernest Phillips advocated access from US-31 on the Lakewood overpass to provide better access to Holland State Park.

Attending the meeting were Acting Chairman Clarence Klaasen, Phillips, Serne, Lawrence Wade, Henry Weyenberg, Ward Hansen, Herb Holt and Gordon Streur.

Children Add Treat to Play

Three children gave a refreshing treat to the audience attending the Red Barn's fourth production of the season "Life With Father" Tuesday night.

Greg White, David Showers and William Dyras, son of the producer James Dyras and leading lady Dorothy Lee Tompkins, as the charming trio of boys gave the age-old play authenticity.

Lee Speich entered the stage with a swish as the unwelcome visiting aunt. Her dynamic personality dominates the other actors even when she has no lines or specific action.

Another favorite was Robert Minford. His portrayal of the Rev. Dr. Lloyd bordered on the ridiculously funny but he carried a thread of satire throughout the performance.

Dorothy Lee Tompkins was unconvincing in her role as Mother Day. The steady plodding pace of the play accentuated the part's illogical reasoning until it became tedious. Her portrayal exemplified the lack of spontaneity which was prevalent throughout the evening.

Father Day's role as head of the family was maintained by the continual blustering, blistering of John Le Grande. His characterization of the gruff, yet warm-hearted man was good.

A dusty stage floor distracted from the performance since every time the father stamped his foot a miniature cyclone was born.

Maid were played by Linda Graves, Evie Shaw and Ann Aldrich and Majel Swishelm as a visitor looked and played the part of the young, innocent and yet eternal female.

Pat Likewitz played the role of the good-hearted cook with a flourish and Robert Schaweker was the 17-year-old Clarence. His mannerisms were not always typical of a teenager but the young love scenes with Miss Swishelm were charming.

Dr. Humphreys and Dr. Somers were played by Bruce Hall and Robert Faro.

Porter Family Honored At Picnic at Kollen Park

A picnic was held in Kollen Park Tuesday evening so friends could greet Mr. and Mrs. George Porter and son, John, of Coshocton, Ohio, who were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Turner and family.

Also present were Mr. and Mrs. John Oliver, Cheryl Ann, Sharon Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. Reggie Troglio, Dennis, Gene, Judy, and Sandy, Mr. and Mrs. Jim McKnight, Mary B., Jimmy, Bennie, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Hennickson, Dale, David and Jan, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Turner, Mike, Ronnie, Laura, and the guests of honor.

New Mexico Teacher Is Honored at Garden Tea

Miss Nellie Lam, teacher in the Gallup Christian School for Indian children in New Mexico, was honored at a garden tea held Tuesday evening on the lawn of Mrs. B. Altena, 39 West 28th St. Forty-seven women of the Prospect Park Christian Reformed Church attended the event.

Miss Lam told of the growth of the Gallup Christian school, a private school which is supported by Christian Indian families for children in the first four grades. She plans to return to her work in New Mexico in August.

Boys' Sports School Pleases Parents and 190 Youngsters

Letters from appreciative parents, cooperation from the boys and steady improvement in the knowledge of various sports by 190 youngsters has given the Holland boys sports school a big lift this year and plans call for an increased program in 1961.

Ted Boeve, sports school director, has been gratified by the success of the school this year and pointed with pride to letters received daily from parents complimenting the program and listing how the sports school has helped their sons learn cooperation and how to follow instructions.

Boeve also reported that the boys have been extremely cooperative in the four-week school this year and have showed rapid improvement in the sports that are being taught. Boeve said this was the smoothest year of operation.

The eighth annual sports school will close Friday with awards being presented to the first and second place teams in softball, baseball, basketball and shirtil football and golf.

The softball and baseball tournaments were held Tuesday and the basketball and shirtil football were to be held today and Thursday. The tennis, golf and track tournaments were held during the last round of instruction in the respective sport.

Plans call for the sports school to be increased to include boys through 15 years of age next year. Presently the school is for boys, eight through 13.

Boeve said the older group of boys (12-15) will meet in the morning next year and will have more actual game situation and will receive more detailed and advanced coaching. The younger boys will meet in the afternoon.

This has been the first year that the sports school has operated with six fulltime instructors both morning and afternoon. Besides learning the fundamentals of the various sports, the boys had a fishing expedition to Kollen Park, went swimming and hiking at the Saugatuck oval and received instruction in rebound tumbling. The boys were transported to Saugatuck by bus.

A series of movies on all-star football and baseball and how to build big leagues were shown to the group.

The boys sports school is sponsored by the Holland Recreation Department. The registration fee was $5 for Holland youngsters and $10 for boys living out of town.

Don Piersma, Co. Eckstrom, Carl Selover, Harold Streeter, James Jebb and Paul Mack and Boeve were the instructors. They all were given different colored caps and were well-known sights walking in groups daily from Holland High School to the 22nd St. athletic field.

Board Okays New Building

The Board of Appeals processed considerable business at a lengthy meeting Monday night in City Hall.

A good share of the time was spent on a hearing in which Roland V. Spaek petitioned the board for permission to erect a four-apartment house at 1063 Meadow Lane in Central Park area. Spaek's attorney represented him. After a long discussion, the board denied the application.

The board okayed the applications of three doctors for a dental and medical building on the southwest corner of 26th St. and Michigan Ave. after a revised parking lot plan was submitted. The plan was okayed subject to a five-foot setback on 26th St.

The board discussed go-kart racing at the Gradus Geurink farm in the Maplewood area, which members considered contrary to conditions imposed when the board granted permission last July to R. D. Burns and L. H. Hoffman to develop a recreational area on the Geurink property. At that time it was understood that such vehicles would race separately against the clock rather than competing with others. Getrink, who was present, was advised to file an application incorporating plans, safety precautions and other information.

The board set Aug. 8 as public hearings on applications of Roger Brink and the Berean Church. Brink is seeking to remove top soil from his farm on route 3 and the Berean Church seeks a variance on parking lot regulations.

Laverne Serne was reelected chairman for another year. Roy Heasley was named vice chairman.

CD and Red Cross Stage Mass Feeding for 100

An exercise in emergency mass feeding for 100 persons was staged in Kollen Park Tuesday night under joint auspices of the Red Cross and Civil Defense as the final lesson for a special canteen class taught by Mrs. Orlie A. Bishop.

The aim was to serve nourishing food on a balanced diet to large numbers of people as quickly and efficiently as possible. Food was served in paper cartons put on a paper plate. Only "silver" was a soup spoon for soup and a plastic spoon for coffee.

All food was prepared in the Red Cross kitchen and transported to the park where it was set up on a picnic table. The line moved rapidly.

The menu consisted of hefty sandwiches of tuna or chopped corn beef mixed with sweet pickle relish, tasty soup made of beef bouillon cubes and fresh vegetables, Canned fruit ccktain and coffee. Sweet pickle relish was used in the sandwiches instead of salad dressing since the emergency exercise is geared to food service without refrigeration.

Most "diners" found one sandwich and three cartons of soup, coffee and fruit cocktail quite sufficient for normal appetites, although seconds on sandwiches were available later. Many people who were invited to participate in the exercise were back home within an hour. A basket was passed to defray expenses.

The class in mass feeding started May 31 with Mrs. Bishop as instructor. There were 10 hours of class training and six hours of exercises. Class members were Mrs. Gladys Aldrich, Mrs. Lillian Borchers, Mrs. Glen Van Valkenburg, Mrs. Ed Nyland, Beatrice Johnson, Mrs. Floyd Ketchum and Mrs. Fred Raffenaud of Holland, John J. Bosch and Mrs. Agnes Groenhof of Zeeland.

Brower-Oosterhof Vows Exchanged

Miss Elizabeth Joan Oosterhof chose June 25 as her wedding day because it was also the 30th wedding anniversary of her parents.

She was united in marriage with Keith La Mar Brower at 2 p.m. in the sanctuary of the Third Reformed Church. A large bouquet of white chrysanthemums and gladioli and a smaller bouquet of white gladioli and peonies stood on each side of the chancel.

The parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Willis M. Oosterhof of 751 Central Ave. and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Brower of 14000 Tyler St.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a floor-length gown of white slipper satin fashioned in princess style with sweetheart neckline, lace puffed sleeves, and a chapel-length train. Lace was used for the mitts which began above the elbow and ended with points at the wrists. Her fingertip veil was of imported silk tulle which fell from a headpiece of white roses formed of tulle. Her only jewelry was a double strand of pearls.

She carried a white Bible topped by a corsage of white rose buds. The Bible was a childhood gift from her paternal grandparents, the late Rev. and Mrs. A. Oosterhof.

The bride's youngest sister, Ruth Ilean, served as junior maid of honor. She wore an afternoon-length dress of pink embroidered silk organza over rose pink slipper satin with headpiece to match of satin and tulle. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink feathered carnations and pink rosebuds.

Vern Brower, brother of the groom, served as best man. Ushers were the bride's brother, Albert Oosterhof, and Richard Miner.

After a period of organ music played by Prof. Roger Rietberg he accompanied the soloist, his wife, who sang "The God of Love"

My Shepherd Is." The Rev. Russell W. Vande Bunte performed the double ring ceremony during which Mrs. Rietberg used "O Perfect Love" as a prayer song.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Oosterhof wore a pink lace street-length dress with a bolero, a matching pink feather hat and white accessories. The groom's mother wore a dress of dusty rose crepe with lace accents, matching hat and white accessories. Both wore corsages of pink rosebuds and white carnations.

Among the honored guests was the bride's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Bessie M. La Due of Ionia. She was dressed in a print nylon jersey and wore a corsage of pink and white feathered carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Todd were the master and mistress of ceremonies. Mrs. Todd is a cousin of the bride's father.

The reception was held in the church parlors which were decorated with white, pink and red flower arrangements. Mary Todd had charge of the guest book. Miss Margaret Friedrich and Vern Brower served at the punch bowl.

Two aunts of the bride, Mrs. Stewart M. La Due of Ionia and Mrs. Stan Seemer of Lansing poured coffee at the bride's table. Also assisting at the table were Miss Janice La Due and Miss Peggy Todd, cousins of the bride. Another cousin, Robert Todd, had charge of the gift table.

The new Mrs. Brower changed into a plain green skirt and green plaid jacket ensemble and wore a white rosebud corsage for her wedding trip to Yellowstone National Park.

The newlyweds both are graduates of Holland High School and Hope College. They will reside in Minneapolis where the groom will complete his graduate work at the University of Minnesota.

The groom's parents entertained at a luncheon following the rehearsal.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION

Senator John F. Kennedy looks like the winner as we go to press today after a whirlwind campaign due to the fast methods of transportation today.

Times have changed so that it is possible to cover a lot of ground in a short time. With 761 delegate votes being the magic mark it looks like the next problem is the naming of the candidate for vice president who will appear on the ticket with Kennedy.

The proposed platform already approved by the full platform committee, its ratification became a reality last night. It looks like the convention is well on its way and that the Democrats will wind up their convention well within the four days as scheduled.

From this convention there will no doubt appear some politicians who will wind up with a lot by reason of their swinging their votes to Kennedy.

Many people may wonder why they took their time and spent their money to travel to the convention. Oh well, it is a nice time to see our country along with all of our problems. We still think that it is the best country in the world.

Amos Warns Against False Security
Amos 6:1-4
By C. P. Dame

Along our highways there are many warning signs but not all people give heed to them. Many people who are warned about their morals and souls disregard them. Some nations that were warned against complacency and lawless living paid no attention and suffered. There always is need for a man of the type of Amos to arouse people and tell them about the dangers which they face.

1. Leaders have a great responsibility. Some leaders are aware of it, while some are not. Amos pronounced a woe upon those who were at ease in Zion. The hill on which the temple in Jerusalem stood was called Zion. The name stood for Jerusalem, the capital city of Judah, where the leaders of the nation lived. Amos also pronounced a woe upon the leaders who trusted in the mountain of Samaria.

The city of Samaria (the capital of Israel) was built on a mountain that was strongly fortified. The city was besieged three years by the Assyrians before it fell. The leaders of both nations were complacent in critical times. There was no reason for being complacent. Three prosperous cities, Calneh, Hamath, and Gath, had fallen to the enemy, because of their wickedness. These cities seemed to have been impregnable, but they were captured. Israel and Judah were more guilty than these cities and yet they had been spared. The prophet saw danger ahead but the national leaders were blind to the future.

II. Luxurious living hurts a nation. Amos was shocked at the way the rich lived. They slept on beds "made of wood and inlaid with ivory." In Amos 3:15 we read of "houses of ivory," the houses were full of expensive furniture. These rich loafers sponged themselves out on couches. They ate the lambs of the flock and the calves "out of the midst of the stall." These pleasure-seeking leaders invented instruments of music so that they could listen to frivolous songs at their drinking festivals where they drank wine in great bowls.

We are living in times of extravagance and foolish spending. The good life is a life of ease, luxury, and of much play and travel. So often luxurious living becomes sinful living. Readily does luxury blind people to the misery sin causes. Amos complained about the luxury-loving leaders who showed no concern "for the affliction of Joseph"—the kingdom of Israel.

Men should be brotherly. Wealth makes it possible for those who have it to show the brotherly spirit but often they don't do it. Luxury blinds them. Recently our newspapers told about a "party pitched by J. Paul Getty, American oil magnate and perhaps the world's richest man" in Guildford, England, which cost more than $30,000. An aide of Getty estimated that while the party was going on from 10 p.m. to 4 a.m. Getty's oil interests alone netted him about $57,000 profit.

III. Sin destroys nations. Amos predicted that both Israel and Judah would be destroyed and this happened. The prophet said that the faithless leaders would first go into captivity and this took place. Only the poor in the land were left. The Assyrians captured Samaria and took the leading people into exile from which they never returned. The leaders were in a large measure responsible for the downfall of Israel which took place in 722 B.C. Today we still speak of the Lost Ten Tribes. Sinful living leads to tragic consequences.

School Districts in Area Stage Annual Elections

School districts in the local area held annual elections Monday. All named one or more board members. Some have special millage elections while others voted on bond issues, transportation and other items.

West Ottawa
West Ottawa district voters returned Harvey Knoll to the school board for a three-year term and William Sanford for a one-year term, receiving 157 and 156 votes, respectively.

There was an overwhelming vote to continue the 2.75 mills for special operating, 147 to 20, and to provide transportation for students within the district, 155 to 10.

After the election, the board met and offered to accept 11th graders of the Harrington district into West Ottawa schools next fall. Supt. Lloyd Van Raalte said the action was taken with the understanding that the Harrington district provide its own transportation and that the people of the Harrington district continue active work toward an ultimate solution of their educational problems. The West Ottawa board does not feel that sending children to another district on a tuition basis is a satisfactory solution, Van Raalte said. Harrington school will have an estimated 18 ninth graders next fall.

Elm Disease Taking Toll Of City Trees

Dutch Elm disease is taking its toll of a large number of elm trees in Holland. Park Supt. Jacob De Graaf said today.

For a fifth consecutive year, the local park department requested aid from the State Department of Agriculture in taking a survey of elm trees on city property and park property in Holland. These representatives have been working with the four-member forestry staff of the local park department for a week and a half.

Although final figures are not available, it appears that more trees are tagged this year than last year. De Graaf said a yellow tag on an elm tree means that samples of the tree have been taken. These samples are tested in laboratories at Michigan State University. If tests prove positive, a red tag replaces the yellow tag, meaning that the tree must be destroyed.

So far, park department personnel have been able to remove its own affected trees.

As for trees on private property, such tests and orders come under the jurisdiction of state inspectors. No active drive has been made to check private trees, although owners may request tests.

The loss of elm trees along Holland streets has been a gradual process. There is no known cure for Dutch Elm disease. The only alternative is to remove the tree and burn the wood.

Frissel New School Board President

Jack Plewes Elected Vice President; Board Hires Four Teachers

Harry Frissel was elected president of the Holland Board of Education at its monthly meeting Monday night. Frissel, who was named to the board two years ago, served as vice president the past year. He succeeds Carl C. Andraesen.

Jack Plewes was elected vice president. James A. Hallan was re-elected secretary and Bernard Arendshorst was re-elected treasurer.

Retiring President Andraesen

thanked the board for its cooperation the past year, a period significant for passing a bond issue for a new high school. Supt. Walter Scott commented on the unique opportunity of having worked with nine different presidents during the nine years he has been superintendent here. The board adopted a policy more than a decade ago to have presidents serve only one year.

Andraesen commended the board on its thorough work and close cooperation and said the vote usually was unanimous on all issues. Wendell A. Miles moved that an expression of appreciation for Andraesen's leadership through the year be included in the minutes.

The board approved contracts for four more new teachers, action which completes the entire teaching roster for next year with the exception of two positions, a high school math teacher and an elementary teacher.

The new teachers are Cathryn Janssen of Zeeland, a teacher with 29 years of experience who will teach early elementary; Suzanne F. Lynn of Holland, with one year's experience who will teach early elementary; Lucille Visser of Grand Rapids, with one year's experience, who will teach later elementary; and Charles M. Vanden Berg of North Muskegon, with two years' experience, who will teach later elementary.

Miss Janssen received her training at Western Michigan University and the University of Michigan; Mrs. Lynn from the State University of Iowa; Miss Visser from Western Michigan University; and Vanden Berg from Muskegon Community College and Hope College.

Building Consultant Arthur Read reported briefly on progress on plans for the new high school. Working drawings are in progress on the field house, classroom units, auditorium and library. Floor plans and elevations are in progress for the arts building and shop building, although it is not intended that these buildings will necessarily be bid at the same time as the rest of the school plant. A completed plot plan and working model of the entire assembly for all buildings except the shop and art buildings will be submitted for formal board approval by the end of July.

Quotations are being solicited for clearing the proposed construction site of trees and brush. The deadline is July 18.

A request from Arthur C. Hills for the American Legion Band to use the high school music room for summer rehearsals was granted subject to the usual rental arrangement for non-school activities, consistent with policy.

A revised insurance plan submitted by A. W. Hertel, agent on record was referred to the buildings and grounds committee.

Buildings and Grounds Supt. Ed Prins submitted a report for the past year, pointing to in-service training for maintenance men, changes in the general program because of the addition of another school during the year, and plans for the new high school. The report also pointed to continuing research on heating and substantial savings made the past year through installation of automatic devices.

Vern Schipper reported on summer school this year and on the adult educational program in general. He said developmental reading classes for elementary students had 12 sections of 10 students each; speech correction, 31 students; Junior High reading, three sections of 30 students; senior high reading, two sections of 30 students; arithmetic, seventh graders, three sections of 30 students; arithmetic for eighth graders, three sections of 33 students; advanced arithmetic, 14 students; Junior High typing, 30 students; high school typing, 34 students.

Speak Vows in Zeeland Church

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Lee Windemuller

A double ring ceremony performed June 16 united in marriage Miss Mary Ruth Nykamp and Gary Lee Windemuller. The rites were performed by the Rev. Edward Tanis before baskets of mums, gladioli and pompons, candelabra and palms in Faith Reformed Church of Zeeland.

Robert De Young, accompanied by organist Mrs. De Young, sang "The Wedding Prayer" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Nykamp of 344 East Central Ave., Zeeland. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Windemuller of 825 West 25th St. are the parents of the groom.

When given in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing a gown of net and chantilly lace over satin designed with three-quarter length sleeves, square neckline, sequin-trimmed bodice and floor length skirt. She carried a white orchid on a white Bible.

Mrs. Marilyn De Jonge, sister of the groom, was matron of honor. Mrs. Della Ter Haar, sister of the bride, and Miss Geraldine Krans were the bridesmaids. They were attired in sheath dresses of blue lace over taffeta with jeweled, bell-sleeved jackets. Their bou-

Schipper said between 450 and 500 were enrolled in driver training and 200 in the music program. He said the special economics course failed to materialize but there are hopes it will be in operation next year. Eight students had paid fees this year and six have indicated they would enroll next year if the course is offered. This course had called for four weeks of intensive classroom training followed by a field trip in which students would talk with leading businessmen and government leaders.

Schipper also reported on the adult education program, and indicated that these extra programs all point to an eventual junior college for Holland. Miles said with growing summer programs, there might be consideration for revision of state statutes which might provide the necessary funds for a more intensive program.

Supt. Scott pointed to the necessity of resolving several things during the July-August period. These include tuition figures, a review of transportation, a meeting with the Lakeview board on steps taken in reorganization, and secondary school planning.

The board approved a lease for the Bosman store for another year at the present rate of $150 a month.

All members were present with the exception of Bernard Arendshorst. Frissel gave the invocation. The meeting adjourned at 9:50 p.m.

Probe Breakin At Yacht Club

Ottawa County deputies Monday were investigating a breakin at the Macatawa Bay Yacht Club on South Shore Dr. which occurred early Sunday.

According to detective John Hemple, thieves entered the building by removing a screen from a window on the west side of the building and opening the window.

Hemple said a quantity of liquor, one case of beer and about 10 pounds of meat from a walk-in cooler were taken by the burglars.

The breakin was discovered by employees Sunday morning. The breakin took place after 2:30 a.m. Sunday, Hemple said, when sheriff's deputies checked the building and reported everything in order.

Two Members Added To Fennville Board

FENNVILLE (Special) — Fennville school district added two new members in Monday's election, naming John Case and Russell Hoyt to four-year terms with 119 and 108 votes, respectively. John De Breal was unopposed for a three-year term.

A proposition to pay board members $50 a year not including the secretary and treasurer carried 165 to 41. The board did not reorganize Monday night.

Gidley school district between Fennville and New Richmond voted to annex to the Fennville district today.

Work sessions will be held Monday and Wednesday nights and Saturday afternoons until the Fair. A work session will be held Wednesday at 6 p.m.

The horse stalls for the harness horses are being completed and the grounds will be mowed and cleaned during the next week.

A new office building has been constructed on the grounds. Ben Dirkse is in charge of dust control at the grounds and plans to use a special dust repellent.

Ottawa Young Republicans Have Meeting

The Ottawa County Young Republicans met Monday night at Cumerford's with Martin Dykstra of Zeeland, chairman, presiding.

He presented Rep. Riemer Van Til who introduced Ed Ellis, county campaign director from Grand Haven.

Campaign techniques and canvassing systems were outlined in the interesting talk by Mr. Ellis.

An invitation was extended to the group to attend the Coast Guard Festival in Grand Haven on Aug. 6.

Mrs. Marge Van Wyke announced the date of the county Republican picnic to be held in September and asked for volunteers to assist at the Ottawa County Fair booth.

Miss Mary McLean, delegate to the State Board of Control, reported on the meeting held in Wayne County, June 25.

A letter was received from Bill Kuhn, member of the Labor Committee of the 14th District Young Republicans, requesting an audience with the group on Friday of this week.

An informal discussion followed and refreshments were served.

Zeeland Missionaries Among First Evacuated from Congo

ZEELAND (Special) — Reports of widespread violence in the 12-day-old Congo Republic have caused Rev. and Mrs. Angus Brower of Zeeland a great deal of anxiety.

The Browners, recently returned missionaries from Kitwit province of the Congo, left several close relatives in the Congo when they returned June 4. They were among the first evacuees from the Congo in the face of impending strife and unrest.

Rev. Brower's brother, Arthur and his family, along with Mrs. Brower's mother and sister remain in Kitwit, about 700 miles south-east of strife-torn Leopoldville.

Rev. Brower said that there has been no indication so far of any serious trouble in Kitwit since he and his family left. He has not heard from his brother since leaving, however.

The Browners received a letter from Mrs. Brower's mother, Mrs. Anton Anderson, Monday. Mrs. Anderson stated that Independence Day, June 30, passed quietly in Kitwit.

She and a group of missionaries had been invited to a festival by the leaders of the Partis Solidarite Africaine in Kitwit province. She said the party leaders were friendly and served a "very nice meal."

However, the letter sounded an ominous note in regard to a radio broadcast July 2 by Antoine Kasenga, president of the PSA in Kitwit. Kasenga stated that the Congolese would accept help from any country that recognized their sovereignty, especially the Soviet Union.

Rev. Brower said that early uprisings in January 1959 surprised most missionaries. At that time certain Congolese factions demanded immediate independence from Belgium. This, Brower said, was the first indication of impending trouble.

Early uprisings led to the deaths of several white persons in the Leopoldville area, but Belgians fought back and quelled the uprisings.

Belgians, reacting to the demands of the Congolese for immediate independence, tried to set up elections of native government officials, Rev. Brower said.

The plan apparently was geared toward a gradual independence. Elections had been promised by November 1959, but the Congolese demanded freedom first, Rev. Brower said. In effect, the natives said, "Give us freedom, then we'll vote."

Rev. Brower said that the Congolese were not, and still are not, prepared for independence. The ignorance of the Congolese is appalling. At the beginning of 1960, there were only three natives in the entire Congo who were university graduates, Rev. Brower said.

As recently as five years ago, the only schools in the Congo were schools operated by missions. These mission schools were not adequate. It was possible with the facilities available to give the natives only a sixth-grade education.

Local native governments further added to the limitations on education by passing laws making it illegal for children over sixteen to attend school. Often the parents of young children were opposed to sending their children to mission schools.

"As a result, Rev. Brower said, a youngster often would not start school until the age of fourteen when he had a real desire to learn. Before he had begun to learn, he had attained the maximum legal age and had to be forced out of school."

Native witch doctors were influential in keeping children out of school, Rev. Brower said. A witch doctor would merely interrupt a class and threaten to place students under a curse if they continued in school. The students would then proceed to scatter.

Rev. Brower said that many of the early uprisings and violence were caused by young people who could not find jobs and were too old to attend the schools.

Rev. Brower also noted that about the beginning of 1960 various spiritual cults arose sporadically in many areas of the Congo. The cults exerted a great influence on the Congolese and had a direct bearing on present anti-white feeling among the natives.

Many cults advocated getting rid of the whites. When this was done, they said, native spiritual leaders would return from the dead, driving big new automobiles. So effective were the cults, Rev. Brower said, that in many cases new roads were built to the edges of native cemeteries.

Rev. Brower reported the rise of one cult near Kitwit in which natives drank a "poison cup" to prove their innocence under native laws. Over 200 natives died as a result of this practice, Rev. Brower said.

The Belgian government tried stopping the practice of witchcraft and resorted to whipping natives severely.

While cults succeeded in stirring up trouble throughout the Congo, Rev. Brower said that they were instrumental in creating only occasional anti-white uprising in Kitwit.

Mrs. Brower said she was threatened once by a native while on her way to church. The native grabbed her Bible and threatened her with a club. Friendly natives were of no help, she said, since they lived in mortal fear of the cults, whom they believed to be working under a devil's spell.

Communists exert a powerful influence on the Congolese, according to Rev. Brower. Natives often cite Red China as an example of communist progress. They reason that cars were never built in China until the communists took over. If communism can do that for China, it can help the Congolese, too, they said.

Rev. Brower quoted a native Congolese newspaper of Kitwit province.

GIRLS POLISH TROPHIES — Four members of the trophy presentation committee for the annual Michigan State Western Horse Show are busy polishing a few of the 50 trophies to be awarded at the show set for July 16-17 at the Allagan County Fairgrounds. The Kal-Val Saddle Club of Kalamazoo is sponsoring the show. Sally Nyberg, Carolyn Henderson and Gale Webb, all of Allagan, and Sandy Williams of Hamilton (left to right) are polishing.

vince. The Solidarite Africaine, as saying, — "What can America do to help us? In America they kill black people like dogs." He said the newspaper had reference to the Little Rock, Ark., school integration problem and the violence resulting from this incident.

The very fact that the natives have begun publishing newspapers is in itself, Rev. Brower said, an indication of communist intervention in the Congo. Until a few years ago there were no newspapers in the Congo, he said.

Politically the Congo is still very primitive, Rev. Brower said. There are at least 200 different parties. Almost every town and province has its own political organization. Party differences usually result in party splits with the formation of a new party. Often entire villages are formed this way, Rev. Brower said.

If one man cannot be chief over a village, he will take several of his loyal followers, move to a new region and form a new village.

The present violence in the Congo can be traced directly to the former positions occupied by whites and natives, Rev. Brower said. Whites formerly were held to be superior to the natives, and it was a very common practice for white men to marry native women.

Rev. Brower said that in nearly all cases such marriages were condoned by the natives. It was considered a step up on the social and economic scale for native women to marry white men.

However, with Congolese independence, the natives have asserted their equality with their former peers. Where white men used to take native women, now the Congolese have determined that they shall have the white man's women.

Rev. Brower expressed surprise at the revolt of the military against Belgian officers. Soldiers, now the greatest offenders in the Congo, were solid backers of the Belgian government prior to Congolese independence, he said. The complete reversal of the allegiance of the Congolese troops was shocking, Rev. Brower said.

However, native Christians provide a ray of hope for the new Congo Republic, the Browners said. Christian natives in Kitwit vowed that the missionaries would not be harmed. "They told us that they would protect us with their lives," they said.

Congolese faith in witchcraft is more than matched by the Christian natives' faith in Christian teachings, Rev. Brower cited the example of a former witch doctor turned Christian. The native was beaten by members of a spiritual cult with clubs and strips of a truck tire Ground pepper was rubbed in his eyes, blinding him for over a month. He was slashed with knives, and pepper was rubbed into his open wounds.

Rev. Brower said the native told his tormentors that if it was God's wish to spare him no one could kill him. The native maintained that the Belgian soldier who scared off his attackers was not a soldier but an angel, Rev. Brower said.

The Browners expressed a keen desire to return to the Congo. "There is still much work to be done there," they said. Their one fear was that it may be hard for missionaries to return due to the increasing demand for specialized missionaries such as doctors, nurses and technicians.

Rev. Brower has spent 27 years in the Congo. His wife has been there ever since she was three months old except for brief furloughs in the United States. All but one of their five children were born in Africa.

Until they can return to the Congo, the Browners will keep hoping for the safety of their relatives still there.

MEMORIAL CONCERT TUESDAY — The Holland American Legion Band under the direction of Arthur C. Hills presented a memorial concert at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday honoring the late Mrs. George E. Kollen, donor of the property. The

Memorial Concert Held For Donor of Kollen Park

A special memorial concert for the late, beloved Mrs. George E. Kollen, donor of Kollen Park, was played Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. in the new band shell of the park by the Holland American Legion Band under the direction of Arthur C. Hills.

Mayor Robert Visscher recalled the early days when Mrs. Kollen deeded the property to Holland city for a park for the people of Holland. He traced the many events over the years in which Kollen Park became one of the loveliest of city parks anywhere.

Mrs. Kollen's son, John, a professor in the music department at the University of Michigan, was at the memorial concert and acted as a guest conductor of the band.

The Holland American Legion Band, now in its 40th year of consecutive concerts, was in its first year in 1921 when Mrs. Kollen presented the property to the city. The band, oldest of its type in the United States, has enjoyed an enthusiastic following at park concerts each week during the summer.

The new band shell has given the band an excellent place to play and on most Tuesday evenings a beautiful sunset in the west provides a dramatic setting. The band shell was made possible by contributions of people and business firms in Holland and was the result of a drive sponsored by the Holland Band and Orchestra Boosters Club.
