The boats will start from Van Buren street, Chicago, at 3 o'clock, and will complete their course at the entry to the breakwater at this harbor. Sunday morning the fastest boats will begin to arrive.

William H. Bertsch, a former Holland boy, is on his way home from the Philippines, where he spent two years as captain of the Fourth Regiment in special service. Mr. Bertsch is one of the youngest men ever graduating from West Point and has been identified with the United States army for about twenty years. He is in line for promotion to the rank of major.

The second annual warfare against the maple borer is on in dead earnest, and determined efforts are being made to exterminate the pest. Charles Kuhlman has been engaged to inspect every shade tree in the city and expects to cover the ground thoroughly before October. The trees are badly infested, in some instances as many as 17 borers having been taken from a single tree. The borers are often found from two to three inches beneath the bark.

M., and in September he will return to that city to take a position as principal of the central school there. Mr. Damson has a large number of interesting relics and treasures gathered from ancient caves of the cliff dwellers in which he has made explorations from time to time. Mr. Damson relates many interesting stories and anecdotes concerning this section of the country.

The gales that swept over this section of the state Sunday and Monday wrought havoc among the water craft on Macatawa Bay. A dozen launches and sail boats were torn from their moorings and badly wrecked. The steamer Holland was forced to stay in port Monday owing to the high wind and heavy sea. On Macatawa Bay the Baudasia, sixty-foot yawl, was blown upon an old wreck. A hole was stove in the bottom of the yawl. The Minnie May, a launch, was sunk. Several sail boats were blown upon the shore.

Nelson R. Howlett of Grand Haven, one of the wealthiest men in the city was bitten by a dog Sunday and his condition has become so serious that he was taken to the hospital at Ann Arbor for treatment. The dog bit his lip and four stitches were necessary to close the wound. The same dog bit a little girl about a week ago. It has been killed and the brain sent to Ann Arbor.

Mayor Ellis has been invited to talk at the old settlers' picnic at Jamestown soon. The man who invited him told him politics would be tabooed, but he added that the mayor could deliver a patriotic address like the one he gave at Zeeland last fall when running against Diekema for congress. The mayor was under the impression he had made a political speech at that time.—Grand Rapids News.

Senator Smith is making an effort to have a day patrol of the life savers established at Macatawa Park. So many drownings have occurred here this year that a patrol is believed necessary to protect life. It is possible that members of the crew of the Holland station may be assigned to the job as beach guard. Chas. Floyd of this city is advancing the project, and is taking the matter up with Senator Smith.

August 3 has been set as the date for the 4th annual "zeedingsfeest" or mission picnic under the auspices of the classis of Holland and Grand River of the Reformed church. Hit by a stray bullet fired by two small lads who were hunting mud turtles on Black Lake, Miss Huida Muelen, a nurse in the family of Nathan Park, guests at Waukegaw, was seriously wounded early yesterday morning. The bullet was removed from above the appendix where it lodged, and the recovery of the girl is now practically assured. The lads, Harold Hasing, son of a Grand Rapids patrolman, and Frank Lee of Chicago, were on the south side of the lake, a distance of near a half mile from where the girl was walking when hit. Deputy Sheriff Melhorn found the boys and brought them to local headquarters but warrants will probably not be issued as the shooting was purely accidental.

The Agitation for Saloons

By Rev. Edward Niles

Last week's News quoted from Ald. Merson a sentence which gave some the impression that my views on the most practicable temperance measures for Holland had been changed by a visit with my good parishoner to "The Jungles" and the sight there of some 25 men on lumber piles presumably drinking beer.

23 men in the open air on a summer evening, or even the 60 there last Saturday evening at 8 o'clock, the 20 that staid until 8:30, the 2 that were left by 9:30, and who would not be there on a rainy or cold night even in summer, and on no night other seasons of the year, is no justification for the horrors of open saloons.

They work all day long and all evening, every season of the year, offer every temptation of light, warmth, seats, entice those who would never think of carrying baskets among the weeds, are a nuisance on the city thoroughfare, an affront to womanhood passing by.

Those 60 Sunday night drinkers would not begin to support one saloon to say nothing of four.

A man drinking in "the jungles" harms only himself and the few companions who take the trouble to penetrate those wilds. A man behind a bar on 8th street, seducing others to drink as his business, never has been so "regulated" by any city fathers as to be a promoter of sobriety.

Floating Body Picked Up.

Yesterday morning on the way over to Chicago Mate Nels Nelson of the steamer Holland who was on watch discovered a body floating on the waves about twenty miles from shore. A boat was lowered and the body picked up. It was found to be the body of an eight year old boy and has not been identified. The body was brought to Chicago and left at the morgue.

Venetian Night, August 4th

The great event of the summer season at Macatawa Bay is Venetian Day. This year this celebration occurs on Friday, Aug. 4th. In case of interference by rain, the display will be given on Saturday immediately following.

The Yacht Club has already contracted for a much larger fireworks display than heretofore. The display will be put up by the A. L. Due Co. of Cincinnati and consists of 66 numbers, each one of which is guaranteed to create a sensation. During the program there will be a series of set pieces as follows:

Niagara Falls, 100-foot long.
The Northern Lights. Reproduction of this rare and beautiful phenomenon of the Northern Hemisphere.

Performing Acrobat. This represents an athlete, life size, performing on a horizontal bar and going through a series of comical contortions.

Automatic Opening & Spreading fan.
Emblem of Peace.

The American Beauty Rose.
Horizontal Kaleidoscope.

In addition to these set pieces there are a large number of other specialties besides the rockets, bombs and shells. Several of these shells are of mammoth size and have 12 distinct changes of coloring.

The shore decorations will excel if possible, those of previous years. One feature in connection with Venetian Night this year which will make it much more attractive than former years, will be the decoration of 30 or 40 yachts to be anchored about the Bay. These yachts being at Macatawa to take part in the Lake Michigan Yachting Regatta which is to be held Aug. 4 and 5.

Jenison Park will be specially prepared for the visitors on that day, the benches and seats being so arranged that spectators will have the best view possible of the display. Lafferty's band will play a concert afternoon and evening on Venetian Day and there will be a special program in addition.

Prof. Phelps will give a balloon ascension in the afternoon and other attractions will be put on in order to make the afternoon and evening enjoyable to all.

Vandersluis and the Capital

Saturday morning at 8 o'clock a big sale of toilet soap will take place at the store of John Vandersluis. The Royal Soap Co. of Cincinnati, Ohio, in introducing their famous Medicated Royal Cuticle Doctor Soap in this city and county, has selected this store as the distributing point, and are allowing the Vandersluis store to sell the regular twenty cent cakes for 5 cents! This is an unusual opportunity to secure some of this soap at less than cost. In the east window of the store there is a beautiful display made of this soap. This consists of the reproduction of the United States Capital building which is a beauty. The July Clearance sale of summer goods also begins Saturday.

SAUGATUCK.

As many of our people know there is an ordinance against wearing bathing suits on the streets, it would be well for Saugatuck people to inform their resorter friends of that fact, otherwise some arrests may be made.

The fire department is having a lively time these days. Two fires in one week, one at the home of David White, where a match was dropped in a waste paper box, and the other at John Crowe's home, where a burner of the gasoline stove was blown out by the wind and the flowing oil was ignited by the burner next to it. Damage in both cases was very slight owing to the prompt action of the fire department.

For the first time in her history of twelve years the steamer John A. Alier, under command of Capt. Wm. P. Wilson, has failed to make her regular trips. The flange on the steam pipes cracked and for that reason she missed a few trips last week. The breakage of the flange was discovered before she was very far from port, due to her ever watchful commander.

William Rencha of Saugatuck, who runs the launch "Trio," deserves credit for timely assistance to five different people on three different occasions during the past 10 days. August Schmidt, the baker, and his assistant were capsized while boat riding and rescued by him. A young man and woman capsized in their canoes and were nearly exhausted when he rescued them.

He also was near at hand when a young man with ice tongs in his hand fell off the pier and caught his arm in the tongs as he descended. The wound was so serious that, even though he might have been a good swimmer, he would have drowned from loss of blood had not Rencha come to his assistance.

He owns a trio of trained quadrupeds that can circle around the harvest field without the assistance of a driver, allowing Tom to go to a county convention even in the busiest days of harvesting. He also has a reaper that will elevate stump fences; some farmers pull their pine stumps during their more leisure moments, but now they are pleased that during the rush season Tom is available.

Smith of the Butterworth hospital in Grand Rapids and later was surgeon in a Petoskey hospital. He has been in Europe for more than two years. While Mr. Vanden Berg was studying Mrs. Vanden Berg took a course in music.

Dr. J. W. Vanden Berg, for the past 25 years a member of the board of education, has tendered his resignation. There is also a strong probability that Dr. Vanden Berg will resign as health officer of Holland township. The latter move will doubtless result from friction over the refusal of the township board to pay for services and the lack of co-operation of the citizens of the township in the enforcement of the health laws.

NEW RICHMOND.

Miss Jeanette Deneff of Holland has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. Gretzinger.

Mrs. Vera Hall of Hastings has been the guest of the Misses Ruth and Lucile Todd.

Miss Anna De Zwan has returned from a visit to Holland.

One of the most contemplate robberies ever committed in Allegan county was perpetrated last Saturday night at Mrs. J. Scheiderer's place near New Richmond when thieves robbed her of nearly all of her chickens. Mrs. Scheiderer is a widow and lives alone with the exception of a little dog for a companion. The thieves attempted to poison this dog the night before the robbery, but he was saved by his mistress. Evidently they must have been acquainted with the premises, as they took the best chickens she had, that were ready for market and on which she depended for a livelihood. Feeling is high in the neighborhood and there is strong suspicion of the perpetrators of this mean act, and if caught, it will go hard with them. It is the opinion of all that anyone who would be guilty of such a robbery, are best behind the bars, and that is where they will go when caught.

Gathering Eggs.

These are the days when strictly fresh eggs are at a premium and care should be exercised by the farmer to market none but strictly fresh eggs. The eggs should be gathered frequently during the day, for if left in the nests, even for one day during very hot weather, they commence to spoil. When a nest full of eggs is found in the hay mow they should be carefully candled before being sent to market or they may be found to be in the same condition as eggs purchased by Paddy Doolan. Paddy went one day to the store to buy eggs. "What are eggs today?" he asked. "Eggs are eggs today, Paddy," replied the storekeeper looking triumphantly at two or three lady customers, who happened to be in the store. "Faith, an I'm glad to hear you say so," said Paddy, "for the last ones I got here were chickens."

Flavor of Butter.

Expert butter tasters in France maintain that a flavor of the soil on which the cattle browse is always distinctly perceptible in butter, no matter what the special race of the cows producing it may be. Normandy cows sent into Poitou show a change in the flavor of their butter approaching that characteristic of the butter produced in that region, although the resemblance is never complete. Thus they say that, just as there are different cruses of soil and climate, so there are corresponding cruses of butter arising from peculiarities of nourishment and pasturage. The immediate influence of the soil is shown by the fact that in winter, when the cows are nourished on concentrated food not taken directly from the land, the characteristic flavors ascribed to the soil vanish.

To Make Blocks of Milk.

A New Haven, Conn., item reads: As a result of the present scarcity of milk, experiments in freezing that fluid are being tried in this city, with a view to providing a supply against possible recurrence of the present situation. The plan is to freeze the milk into blocks of 250 and 300 pounds, which may be used as found necessary. At the present time milk dealers must depend solely on the daily output from dairy farms and are unable to allow for any sudden increase in demand or fall-off in supply. The new plan, if successfully worked out, will make the dealers practically independent of either condition, as they will have a reserve supply on hand.

LOCKING UP THE JURYMEN

Outrageous and Possibly Illegal Custom That Has Come Down From Old Times.

Some of the shabby brocade of court etiquette has been cleared out of our courts, such as gowns and wigs. Some that still hangs in faded shreds is dusty, but inoffensive. But some surviving practices are seriously objectionable.

For instance, the outrageous habit of locking jurymen up. Why? During the progress of a civil case which lasts three or four days jurymen can go home nights. But when the case is given to the jury, the jury must go into continuous session, under lock and key, until it reaches a verdict. There is no sufficient reason why we should not go home at the end of a day, and come back to our work next morning, just as we men do in any other business. The imprisonment of a jury tends to hasty decisions, to the forced verdicts of weary minds incapacitated for thinking. Much better to drop a difficult case, go home, sleep, come fresh to the jury room in the morning and resume deliberation. If jurymen are in danger of being tampered with after a case is given to them, then they are in equivalent danger of being tampered with during the progress of the case.

The incarceration of the jury is, I hold, against the rights and liberties of citizens.

I am willing to give a portion of my time, without pay, to public business; but I resent the turning of the sheriff's key behind my back. I resent having to walk down to the street to supper (or breakfast!) in military or criminal column-by-tuos. The judge very often has to spend several days in deciding a question of law. Why not lock him up until his mind works to a conclusion?—Case and Comment.

MODERN WOMEN LACK GRACE

Famous Artist Says Fair Sex Never Before Walked or Carried Itself so Badly.

Marcus Stone, R. C., the famous artist, says: "I do not believe that women—or men either, for that matter—have ever walked or carried themselves as badly as they do now, the women with their elbows out, their shoulders up, their necks pushed forward, the men for the most part chestless creatures with sloping necks. Arms were not made to stick out on either side like jug handles.

"Of course, as an artist I am at war with fashion and its constant changes—which prevent woman evolving a dress which expresses her individuality—but especially with the fashion of wearing corsets, which, to my mind, destroy the outlines of the figure and cramp the freedom of woman's movements. Never before in my life has woman been so much imprisoned and laced up as she is today—that is to say, of course, all except the willowy women, whose figures accord with present fashion. How can she move gracefully in a tube which pushes her shoulders up, shortens her neck, and sends her elbows out? The sloping attitude of neck adopted by men and women I attribute to the wearing, especially when young, of high stiff collars. The least pressure on the back of the neck sends the head forward, and thus a habit is formed."

Anne Boleyn's Coach.

"Headless coaches" are fairly numerous. The most famous is the one that drives once a year, on the anniversary of Anne Boleyn's execution, up the avenue at Blicking, her Norfolk home, says the London Chronicle. The coachman and the four horses have not a head between them, and Anne's own is not upon her shoulders, but she holds it in her lap as she sits in the coach all in white. At the hall door the whole apparition vanishes. Anne's father, Sir Thomas, also rides in a coach drawn by headless horses once a year, and his ride is much more exciting than his daughter's. He has to cross forty county bridges during the night and a company of yelling demons pursues the coach to keep the horses going.

Where Asparagus Grows Wild.

Asparagus was not introduced into Britain by the Romans, who applied the term asparagus to tender shoots which, according to Juvenal, grew on mountains (Montani asparagi). The plant is certainly native with us and occurs sparsely on the eastern and southern coasts of England at Anglesey and Pembroke in Wales and around Wexford and Waterford in Ireland. It is no longer found on Asparagus Island, near the Lizard, as all text books of English botany assert, but still grows profusely on some neighboring cliffs of Kynance Cove.—Westminster Gazette.

The Suffrage Flag.

Mrs. James Lee Laidlaw has presented a suffrage banner that was used in the May parade in New York to be taken to London very shortly. It will float over the American detachment in the five-mile parade which Mrs. Pankhurst is planning. There will be 40,000 in the parade, as she has planned it.

The Uplift.

"Is she a help to her mother?" asked one woman.
"Yes, indeed," replied the other.
"She has taught her to say 'culinary art' instead of 'cooking.'"

ARTIST WHO HAD NO ARMS

Miss Sarah Biffen, de Mentholon and Hiles Held Brushes in Their Teeth or Toes.

Miss Sarah Biffen was a conspicuous example of the skill which armless people sometimes acquire in spite of their affliction. She was miniature painter to Queen Victoria and her work was widely known for its beauty and delicacy.

She was born without arms, but as a girl, having a great wish to become an artist, she worked earnestly for years until she could paint by holding the brush in her teeth. In 1821, according to the Raja Yoga Messenger, the judges, without any knowledge of the means she was compelled to use, awarded her the gold medal of the Society of Arts, a prize sought by hundreds of others.

M. de Mentholon and Bertram Hiles other artists who were deprived of the use of their arms. The former had only one foot, which he used to paint with.

Mr. Hiles lost both his arms in an accident, being run over by a street car when he was only 8 years old and when he was just beginning to acquire skill in drawing. He spent two years in patient toil learning to draw by holding the pencil in his teeth, at the end of which time he won a first-class certificate from a local art school.

WHEN THE EYESIGHT FAILS

Then Things Look Good to One That Everyone Else Is Criticising Harshly.

"Everything has its compensations," declared the man whose hair is graying over his ears and who can't read fine print as easily as he could ten years ago. "Yes, sir! Things look good to me that I hear other people criticising like the mischief. Every girl has a flawless companion; everybody's hair looks as if it grew there and didn't have to be pinned on; all my friends are handsome; the streets seem clean and my clothes look new."

"Then, when I put on my spectacles—! But I've learned not to, except when I want to read. When my straw hat gets too spotty my good wife punches me up and says it's time to buy a new one, and when she needs a frock she just quietly hauls my specs out of my pocket, hands them to me pointedly, and stands before me in a good light. Rose-colored spectacles are all right, she tells me, when I'm looking at her face, but she prefers me to inspect her last summer's gown with my strongest, clearest lenses."

Seagulls of Lerwick.

The seagulls are the sparrows of Lerwick, and as such they have a greater share in the town's life than have the sparrows of London. In the morning time you will note that a seagull sits on every chimney pot. Seagulls swoop and hover over every roof in the town. The air is full of their strange, high, plaintive, haunting cries. The children in each house have a pet name for their particular seagull, and having called them by those names, they feed them every day. And each seagull knows what is meant for him. No seagull attached to one house ever seeks to eat the food scattered from the house next door. He does not dare; the other gulls would kill him. The people of the town, if they come across a little pile of rice laid upon the roadway, step over it with care. And at night the seagulls leave their own appointed chimney pots and fly gracefully away to their resting places on the rocks of the Isle of Noss.—The Scotsman.

School Becky Sharp Attended.

If one had to select a single Thackeray shrine in London for a pilgrimage it might well be Walpole House on Chiswick Hall. This was not only the house where Thackeray as a nervous, shortsighted boy was placed at school with Dr. Turner and was so miserable that he tried to run away. It possesses that other interest which makes the scenes of Mr. Pickwick's imaginary adventures more historic than those of Dickens' real life, for Walpole House is certainly Miss Pinkerton's academy, and here is the spot where Becky Sharp scandalously hurled back the dictionary.

Lloyd Sanders, studying Old Chiswick, admits, indeed, that Thackeray borrowed some details for Miss Pinkerton from other houses. But Walpole House is the basis. Here, too, when it was a boarding house, Daniel O'Connell ate his dinners and here Charles II.'s Duchess of Cleveland probably ended her days.

Not His Habit.

One of the best things W. S. Gilbert said was about Rutland Barrington, whose portly, unctuous humor was such an inimitable addition to the old D'Oyly Carte company. During the premiere of a new opera Gilbert was in a box with a party of friends, one of whom turned to him excitedly and said: "Oh, Mr. Gilbert, Rutland Barrington is singing in tune." "Oh, don't worry about that," said Gilbert "it's only first-night nervousness—he'll get over it."

Two and Two.

"Two and two make four," said the ready-made philosopher.
"Sometimes," replied Colonel Stillwell of Kentucky. "And then again they merely make a pair of deuces."

Parcels Post

A country merchant in New England writes to the Saturday Evening Post as follows:

"My experience to competing with mail-order houses leads me to think a parcels-post system would be a benefit to me rather than an injury.

Quite often if one of my customers could buy from a mail order house some small article that struck his fancy and have the article delivered cheaply by post, that would be the extent of his mail order purchases. But he does not want to pay high express charges on the article, so he and his neighbors will pore over the catalogue and pick out enough goods to make a freight shipment. The result is that the mail order house, instead of selling five pounds sells a hundred pounds or more."

An commenting on the letter the Saturday Evening Post says.

"How many other country merchants would find the same condition among their customers with respect to mail order business? Isn't there, in fact, a continual drumming up of trade for mail-order houses by purchasers who wish their neighbors to join them, in order to make up a bulky shipment by freight and avoid high express charges? So far as we know, mail-order houses have never taken any particular interest in the parcels-post. Is this because they are satisfied with a scheme that induces purchasers to buy in bulk? This phase merits consideration.

"The parcels post, limited to rural delivery routes as recommended by the president, would certainly benefit the country merchant. We doubt that an extension of the system would really injure him."

We publish this merely from the fact that the members of our Merchant Association are taking up the matter with Congressman Sweet, and before they push the subject to strong they should be sure of their ground before taking a positive stand. The merchants may be right in their attitude on the question of parcels-post but it is also a well known fact that all the mail order houses are against it and the same can be said of the express companies. There must be a reason that should be investigated thoroughly before taking a stand.

P. M.'S ANTIQUATED ENGINES.

Last Sunday's excursion train on the Pere Marquette railway at Allegan had a hard time getting out of the town and the four attempts to "make the hill" attracted much attention. It was just at eight o'clock when a small engine took its first dash up the grade with five coaches. It got about half way up and had to roll back into town. The second trial was just like the first and so was the third. People watching the fun were highly amused to see the excursionists riding up and down the hill; they were getting their full value of ride. The fourth time was successful. The engine backed the train way up to the postoffice and poked and fired "the old tea-kettle" until it screamed from every joint. Then with long and loud whistles, much clattering of iron, and fair speed the whole train glided up over the hill with comparative ease. It was laughable for the onlookers but rather exasperating for the folk on the train. Strangely enough, another engineer had the same train to take up the hill the next day. He started from in front of the depot, without backing up for a running start, and went up over the hill with plenty of steam to spare. He gave the employees of the depot who were watching a laughing "toot" as he pulled the last car over the crest of the hill. The depot folk said "That just shows the difference in engineers."

SPRAY APPLES THIS WEEK.

The department of horticulture of Michigan Agricultural college today sent out the following warning advice to apple growers throughout the state:

Observations at the college and several different places about the state, indicate that the fall brood of codling moth is flying at the present time and, without doubt, laying eggs which will, in a few days, develop into larvae which is commonly called "apple worm" and which is so exceedingly destructive at this time of the year. This means that fall and winter varieties of apples should be sprayed the week beginning July 24 in order that the poison may be upon the fruits before the worms hatch and they will be sure to get a good dose as soon as they begin their work.

Two and one-half to three pounds of lead should be added to each 50 gallons of Bordeaux or dilute lime-sulphur or whichever fungicide is being used.

Growers should be exceedingly careful to do a thorough job at this time if they expect to satisfactorily control the pest.

GYPSY LIFE HARD.

The gypsy band which visited Allegan last week was one of several which were driven from Kalamazoo two weeks ago. They went in different directions and Hartford had an experience with one of them which outdid the affair in this county. The Hartford band camped just a little west of that village on a school-ground and were busy stopping pedestrians with offers of fortune telling. They passed a riotous night, the climax of which was reached when a "disobedient" wife of a big gypsy brute was horse-whipped by the husband. She refused to go out stealing chickens at his command and received a terrible beating. The humane officer was attracted to the scene, as were a large number of neighbors, and the latter were incensed to the point where they suggested certain treatment of the husband not countenanced by law. One man got a rope and others sought the gypsy. The whole band were so scared that, with the aid of officers, they got out of the neighborhood, in a hurry. It is rather amusing to read of this event. The woman had fearful welts and cuts on her back, probably the marks of the whip; yet her husband declared that his wife had been stealing chickens and other things from a farmer who discovered her, and in her flight she ran under a barb-wire fence and scratched her back as a result. Like all those people, when first questioned they "no canna understand" and "no canna talk," but when the law settles upon them they acquire those faculties with amazing rapidity. Torturous as was the beating which the woman received in the Hartford case, the other women of the band all said that she was a bad woman and deserved the forty ugly welts, from a few of which the blood trickled. The Allegan party, by the way, appealed the case of their young girl and got her out on bail. They furnished a bond to the amount of $60 and declared that they would fight the case. It is quite probable that they will not return, preferring to lose the money rather than spend time in court.—Allegan Gazette.

THRESHED IN JUNE.

Wheat has been cut so early this summer that more or less comment has been made. Some farmers have said that they remember when wheat was not only cut in June but threshed too. The summer of 1896 is remembered as one in which the wheat matured and ripened early enough so that the engine and thresher were on the road the last of the month of June and did quite a good deal of work in the closing days.

SPARKS FROM THE FIRE WASTE

The fire waste of the country is excessive, and is sapping its prosperity. Reduction of the fire waste is an important part of the campaign for the conservation of the national resources.

Fire losses in the United States and Canada in 1910 were $234,406,650, most of them due to carelessness.

Fire losses for the first six months of 1911 were $129,691,750, as against $99,228,900 for the same period last year. If this burning ratio continues, the loss for 1911 will be over $260,000,000. Last year the bulk of the losses came in the last six months.

Fire loss and the cost of fire prevention in the United States amount annually to $450,000,000, or more than the total American production of gold, silver, copper and petroleum in a year.

The cost of fires each year is one-half the cost of all the new buildings erected in a year.

The annual per capita fire waste in the United States is $2.51, in Europe 33 cents. Cause: The latter has better construction, less carelessness, increased responsibility.

If buildings in the United States were as fire proof as in Europe, the annual cost of fire losses and protection would be only $90,000,000.

New York city spends $10,000,000 a year for fire extinguishment and $15,000 a year for fire prevention.

Of 3,875 known causes of fire in Chicago last year, 1,089 were due to careless use of matches. Nearly 10,000 matches are scratched every second of the day in this country, every one a possible fire.

Fifteen hundred people are killed and 5,000 injured annually as a result of fire.

The proportion of insurance capital to insurance liabilities is very much on the decrease. In the past 40 years the liabilities have almost doubled, while only $6,000,000 more capital was invested in the business in 1910 than in 1870.

Fire Marshal Palmer of Michigan has found from his experience with fires so far that many of them are due to carelessness and the accumulation of rubbish in cellars, attics and around the back doors of stores and factories.

In a recent letter to fire chiefs in the various cities of the state, among them Chief C. Blom of Holland, he urged the enforcement of a general clean-up day for Michigan. The day set was last Thursday.

There is a state law that requires the cleaning up of rubbish and other accumulations that often produce fires. It was only last week that such a fire was caused in the basement of the De Pree Hardware company. Local citizens would do well to follow out the provisions of the law and the suggestions of the fire chief and if you have not already made your "clean-up" make it today.

TRIPLE DROWNING AT MACATAWA

Charles Dixon, a wealthy banker of Kansas City, and two of his children, who were spending their vacation at Macatawa, were drowned Saturday afternoon while bathing in Lake Michigan. Another child, Charles Dixon, Jr., was rescued from the water and resuscitated after a short time. The names of the children drowned are Edward Morill, and Carolyn Grace. The group was wading along the shore on the outer sand bar toward the Grand Hotel. Attempting to come directly to the shore instead of following the bar Edward stepped off into the deeper water. His father, in attempting to pull him back to the shallow water, went beyond his depth. It is thought that the other two children plunged into the deeper water in an attempt to save their father and brother. By-standers rushed to the assistance of the struggling group but before they reached the spot all had disappeared except the younger son, Charles Dixon, who was rescued by Rudolph Oterhyde after a desperate struggle with the waves. The rescuer fell unconscious after depositing his burden safely upon the beach. The life savers were on the spot almost immediately after the accident occurred and the bodies were recovered in a short time but all efforts to restore life by artificial respiration proved futile. Monday morning a brother of the drowned man arrived from Kansas City to take home the bodies of the victims of the tragedy.

The bodies of Charles Dixon, his son Edward Morill, and daughter, Carolyn Grace, victims of the triple drowning tragedy were shipped to Kansas City last Tuesday in charge of Mason Dixon, brother of the drowned man. Charles Dixon, Jr. eleven years old, the only one of the quartet to be saved, accompanied his uncle. He is the only surviving member of the family.

DEATHS.

The Rev. William Hazenberg died at five o'clock Friday morning at his home at 699 State street where he has lived for a number of years since returning from South Africa where he had been engaged in missionary work. Deceased was a graduate of the Western Theological seminary of the class of 1875 and was at one time pastor of the Reformed church of Lodi, N. J. From that place he went to South Africa and after spending a number of years there he came to Holland to make his home here. He is survived by his wife who was formerly Miss Lammie Visscher and by one daughter, Grace.

Thomas P. Owen of 7 Seventh street, died Wednesday noon at the asylum at Kalamazoo, heart failure being the cause of his death. Mr. Owen was born at Ventura, October 4, 1873. He was married to Mrs. Alexenia Aldrich in 1902, and she and one child survive him. The funeral was held at the residence Saturday morning at ten o'clock. The Rev. M. J. Badder, pastor of the Wesleyan Methodist church officiated. Interment was made in the Ventura cemetery.

George Catlecart, aged 65 years, died at his home here Sunday, death being due to heart trouble. He was a former Grand Rapids business man but has been retired and living here for the past 15 years. He is survived by his wife and several children. The funeral was held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home. The Rev. J. E. Kuizenga, assisted by the Rev. Edward Niles, officiated.

PAYS STATE MONEY.

Northville, Mich., July 25.—The quarterly report of State Oil Inspector Frank Neal for the term ending June 30, 1911, shows the inspection of 4,780,130 gallons, 100 of which was condemned as dangerous and returned to the refineries.

The total fees collected were $9,637.00, interest $92.28. There was paid out for salaries, office and traveling expenses, $7,299.18, leaving a net balance to turn into the state treasury of $2,430.17. This makes a total net balance for the first six months of $8,525.81.

The kerosene inspection for the three months referred to shows 310,000 more gallons than for the same period in 1910, which is indicative of increased activity in business all over the state.

Besides this, the department has investigated 58 accidents resulting from the use of kerosene and gasoline, the majority of which were brought about through carelessness.

The department has also tested out the oil used by miners in the various coal mines in the state, condemning four lots of it, which were found to be adulterated, contrary to the laws of the state.

NO FREAK SHOES.

The German shoe manufacturers, in convention assembled, appointed a committee to prescribe rules for the making of shoes, the object being to rule out freak shoes. This is a sensible movement. Freak shoes are the cause of ugly and sore feet. There is a deal of complaint among women on this account, and the only remedy is for the manufacturers to refuse to make them. The sad results are not local only, for the effect of a freak shoe extends to the general health. The best test of a woman's good sense is the shoes she wears. These French heels are an abomination. They strike at the entire nervous system. They tend to make a woman morose, quarrelsome and peevish. The intelligent, independent and sweet-tempered woman wears broad soles, low heels and roomy toes. The man looking for a bride had better recognize this fact.

Race Misunderstood.

"Oh, yes," said Mrs. Smith, "my husband is an enthusiastic archeologist. And I never knew it till yesterday. I found in his desk some queer-looking tickets with the inscription, 'Mudhorse, 8 to 1.' And when I asked him what they were, he explained to me that they were relics of a lost race. Isn't it interesting?"

SEVERE PUNISHMENT.

The postoffice department has just issued a strict order regarding un-mailable postcards, which will keep postmasters busy. Cards are un-mailable that contain even the least thing in the shape of a slur, epithet, obscenity, profanity, suggestiveness in a bad way, a dun of any sort, etc. Then penalty for mailing such cards is very severe, reaching as high as $5,000 fine and three years imprisonment.

PAY $2.00 AND $3.00 PER DAY.

There is every prospect that Allegan and the whole county will experience another fall and winter prosperity in all its phases. This is a proper conclusion by reason of abundant crops and a great deal of activity in other lines. As is always true when the harvests are heavy, there is a scarcity of laborers and it has been said that hundreds of dollars' worth of cherries, currants, and all the berries are going or have gone to waste for the single reason that there has been no one to pick them. A good, conscientious workman can earn from $2 to $3 per day from now until late in the fall, and every family ought to be provided with an unusual supply of clothing, wood, and provisions long before the first snow flies. Today and for many days to come there is no reason why a single person in Allegan county should be idle, and of course everybody is thankful for that condition.—Allegan Gazette.

BILL TO HIT PIANO PUZZLE ADS

Publishers in general will be interested in the news that State Senator Andrews of Ohio has introduced a bill in the Ohio legislature to prohibit fraudulent enigma or puzzle guessing advertisements, and to regulate those that are honestly operated. The bill would punish the former by a fine from $25 to $100 or twenty days' imprisonment, and when the prizes are real values would require their redemption by the advertisers at their claimed value at the option of the winners of the contests. The same penalties for the failure of advertisers to comply with this requirement are provided.

It is said that the bill is aimed at piano dealers, especially, who claim to give valuable prizes for the proper solution of rebuses and puzzles, but who only give credit slips which are of value if the winner decides to purchase a musical instrument, generally a piano.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 4, VENETIAN EVENING.

Macatawa club having been awarded the event this year, the annual regatta of the Lake Michigan Yachting association will be held August 4 and 5. The regatta will be held in connection with Venetian Night, this event alone bringing hundreds of yachtsmen.

Friday morning, August 4, at 10 o'clock, the first events of the regatta will be reeled off. Prizes will be awarded under the point system in each class which fills, two yachts being required to start in a class. Measurement and time allowances will be made under the old Seawanhaka rules. In the afternoon of this day the work of decorating yachts and motor boats will be begun. At 8 o'clock in the evening all crafts will form in line for the serpentine parade, the feature of Venetian Night. During the parade a fireworks display, the finest ever pulled off in this vicinity, will be given and the other attractions billed for the evening will be seen. Special prizes will be given for the best decorated yachts and launches. Tuesday morning will see the resumption of the racing schedule. The 35-foot class will race for Cloaroc cup on August 5.

Macatawa has been successful in securing the starting point of the Stratford hotel cup cruising race, scheduled for August 12. The race is under the auspices of the Columbia Yacht club and is one of the most important of the entire season. Dozens of the best boats on the lakes will undoubtedly be seen at Macatawa ready to start in this contest for honor.

The motor boat interests now represented in the club have not prepared their program but will probably arrange for regattas for about the middle of August.

GIRL'S STORY INVOLVES

THREE MEN

Three arrests have been made as the result of the most revolting crime in the city's history and Jim Clarke, father of little May Clarke, thirteen years old, who preferred the charges, together with Barney McDonald, 47 years old, and Eugene Tallmage, 55 years old, are held in the county jail. The charge on which Clarke is held is furnishing liquor to a minor. The other men are held on a charge of statutory rape.

If the girl's story be true, and there seems to be no reason to doubt it, a most revolting state of affairs has been existing in the Clarke home for a long period of time. The two men under arrest have been boarding with the Clarke family at various times since the death of the mother of the little girl some three years ago. The crime is alleged to have been committed many times and extended over a long period of time. Furthermore it seems to have had the sanction of the girl's father.

The girl has also implicated a fifteen-year-old boy in the affair. When examined by the officers he admitted his guilt and alleged that his part in the crime was committed while under the influence of liquor furnished by the girl's father. Clarke's arrest followed the disclosures made by the boy. It is expected that later disclosures will result in Clarke being held on a still more serious charge.

They were all bound over to the August term of circuit court.

My back ached intensely at night and I was subject to dizzy spells. The least cold I caught settled in my kidneys and made me feel worse. ALL TESTAMENT TIMES BROOKLYN TABERNACLE BIBLE STUDIES

FINDING A LOST BIBLE

II Chronicles 34:14-33—July 30
"Thy word have I hid in my heart, that I might not sin against thee."—Psalm 119:11.

IN conjunction with Josiah's reformation and cleansing of the temple, a copy of the book of the Law was found. Presumably this book contained the Pentateuch or five books of Moses. The long period of idolatry preceding Josiah's work of reformation had placed the Testaments of the Lord at a discount, so that evidently the king had never seen, perhaps had never heard of the Divine Law up to this time. The royal copy was doubtless destroyed long before.

The king caused the manuscript to be read in his hearing. It detailed what blessings would come upon the nation of Israel if obedient to God. It also portrayed the penalties which would be theirs if they neglected the service of the Almighty and His Laws and became idolatrous. Deuteronomy 28 is a very clear statement of what appeared to be the penalty due Josiah's kingdom because of idolatry preceding his day. The king was astonished. Evidently Divine judgments were due. Why they waited he knew not. He reflected that possibly something might yet be done to offset the evil. He sent therefore to make inquiry on the subject.

The Book of the Law.

The inquiry came to Huldah, a prophetess of that time, who gave the Lord's answer, saying that all the woes foretold in the Law would surely come to pass because of the idolatrous course followed by the nation. But the message declared that this trouble, this chastisement, would be deferred and not come in King Josiah's day because of his earnest repentance and manifestation of sorrow in connection with the matter as soon as he learned about it.

The Bible Lost Today
It may amaze some when we say that to the masses of the people today, God's Book is lost. What do you say, have we not over a hundred million Bibles in Christendom, and are we not printing more than a million copies every year?

Alas! Bibles we have, but to the majority of the specially cultured they are Bibles no longer—they are the inspired Word of the Almighty no longer! They are studied, believed and obeyed no longer. It is still fashionable to have Bibles; it is still customary to take texts from them—this is done even by ministers who privately confess that they have no faith in the Bible—that they have no more faith in the Bible than in Shakespeare. And the number of religious teachers who have thus rejected the Word of God as the Divinely inspired Message is much greater than the majority of people surmise. Nearly all ministers graduated during the past twenty years from nearly all of the colleges and seminaries of Christendom, in Great Britain, Germany, the United States and Canada—are really infidels, unbelievers. These today are styled Higher Critics, but Higher Critics are really infidels—some of them even profess atheism, denying a personal God, recognizing only nature as God.

How did the Word of the Lord come to be thus lost?

We answer that history shows a long period called the Dark Ages in which the Word of the Lord was set aside in favor of church councils and decrees.

Then came the period of the Reformation. The Bible was translated by the Catholics into the Englishman styled the Douay Version. It was translated by the Protestants into English and styled the King James Version, and once more the Word of God began to exercise a transforming influence upon humanity.

But alas! the errors, the darkness, the superstition of the Dark Ages already in the human mind gave to the Word of God peculiar distortions and made it appear through the colored glasses of sectarianism to mean things wholly irrational and inconceivable.

As a result school men, college professors, Doctors of Divinity, etc., have charged up against the Word of God various doctrines which it does not teach—amongst others Purgatory and eternal torment for all except the "very elect."

Finding the Word of God

Now, in due time, the Word of God is being found. The dust of the Dark Ages is being brushed aside. The Book is being investigated in the light of its own teachings. It is shining with wonderful brilliancy upon the path of the just. We are seeing fulfilled before us God's promise that the path of the just will "shine more and more unto the perfect day." Its bright shining at the present time betokens that the New Day, the New Era of Messiah's Kingdom is nigh, even at the door (Matthew xxiv, 33; I Peter i, 19).

Overisel township has a case of suicide to record this week. Lucas Harmen was a well to do farmer, aged between 55 and 60 years, with a family consisting of his wife and four or five children. There is said to have been some troubles or disagreement of late. The exact nature of which we did not learn. About midnight of Wednesday, he got out of bed, went out doors and did not return. Shortly after his leaving his wife thinks she heard a report, like the discharge of a fire-arm. In the morning a search was instituted and his dead body found in the field away from the house. At his side lay an empty gun. The charge of the gun was lodged in his breast and death must have been instantaneous.

How Ann Arbor was Named

John Havens is spending a couple of weeks in Holland working on a business men's pictorial edition of the Holland City News which will be published within a few weeks. Mr. Havens is a grandson of Mrs. Ann Van Fossen from whom the city of Ann Arbor derived its name. Many years ago Mr. Havens' grandmother then a young woman settled on the spot where the city of Ann Arbor is now located. She and her husband together with another couple were the first settlers. Both women were named Ann. The constructed Ann Arbor upon their clearing that they called Ann's Arbor. Later other settlers came and took up land adjoining the claim and years afterward the name of Ann Arbor was adopted for the settlement.

Justice Notices

This morning in Justice Miles Court Archie Horning pleaded guilty to a charge of assault and battery upon the person of his wife and was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail.

Three hobos were picked up this morning by Deputy Sheriff Kleis and sentenced by Justice Miles to spend ten days in the county jail.

A Suggestion for Holland Church Bulletins.

A delicate hint is given by a pastor who thus moans in his Church Bulletin: Some of the men are complaining to the pastor that they cannot see him in the pulpit. I wonder if the ladies know the reason why?

Dodging the Profanity.

"What are you laughing at, Mabel?" "I've just got a letter from Cousin Fannie." "I never suspected that your Cousin Fannie was much of a humorist. Where is she?" "In Holland. She says she intends to send me picture postcards from Rotterdam and Amsterdam."

SOME GOOD STORIES.

"Ah, sir, we do enjoy your sermons!" remarked an old lady to the new curate. "They are so instructive. We never knew what sin was until you came to the parish!"

An Irish street car conductor called out shrilly to the passengers standing up in the aisle: "Will them in front please move up, so that them behind can take the places of them in front, an' have room for them who are naither in front nor behind."

An old darkey, who had quit the Methodist and joined the Episcopal church, was asked why he made the change. He said: "We is moah orderly in de 'Piscopellers. We hab responsible readin's, an' Roman candles on de altah, an' we burn insect powder!"

The eye of the little girlie was attracted by the sparkle of the dew at early morning. "Mamma," she exclaimed, "it's hotter'n I thought it was. Look here, the grass is all covered with perspiration."

An eminent divine was both a great wag and a great smoker. "Ha, there you are," cried a lady, who surprised him one day with a pipe in his mouth, "at your idol again!" "Yes, burning it."

One of the fashionable east side churches recently witnessed a funny incident at a choir rehearsal. They were preparing for the following Sunday a beautiful selection, the first words of which were, "I am a Pilgrim." It so happened that the music divided the word "Pilgrim" and made a pause after the syllable. The effect was most amusing. The soprano sang in a high key, "I am a Pil—" and stopped. The tenor acknowledged that he was a "Pil—" and when the bass came thundering in with a like declaration, "I am a Pil—" it was too much for the gravity of the singers, and they roared. No amount of practice could get them past the fatal pause without an outburst, and the piece had to be given up.

Last Saturday afternoon the Beters of this city went to Zeeland and played the Zeeland Independents. The locals succeeded in putting one over the boys from the neighboring city in a close and exciting contest by the score of 8 to 6. The locals report that the umpire was decidedly unfavorable to them, giving them the short end of the decisions on all the close ones.

The North Sides want a game with either the South End Independents or the Holland Independents on Labor Day or some other day in the latter part of August.

Sheridan's Wit.

Sheridan was once staying at the house of an elderly maiden lady in the country who wanted more of his company than he was willing to give. Proposing one day to take a stroll with him, he excused himself on account of the badness of the weather. Shortly afterward she met him sneaking out alone.

"So, Mr. Sheridan," said she, "it has cleared up."

"Just a little, madam—enough for one, but not enough for two."

NEW USE FOR SUGAR BEETS.

An entirely new use, and one that may in time become very important, has been discovered for sugar beets. This is the making of them into flour. This flour is now being manufactured in considerable quantities at Suresnes, in France, where an immense dryer has been built for the purpose.

The first part of the process consists in chopping up the beets and drying the water out of them. They contain to start with 72 per cent of water, nearly all of which is removed by evaporation. By this means 100 pounds of dry material is obtained from 357 pounds of beets.

This dry material contains more than 70 per cent of sugar and therefore on being ground to a fine meal is exceedingly sweet and adapted to the making of cakes and puddings. The sugar beet flour is estimated to contain something like 82 per cent of pure nutriment.

A Unique Declination.

A young woman prominent in the social set of an Ohio town tells of a young man there who had not familiarized himself with the forms of polite correspondence to the fullest extent. When, on one occasion, he found it necessary to decline an invitation, he did so in the following terms:

"Mr. Henry Blank declines with pleasure Mrs. Wood's invitation for the nineteenth, and thanks her extremely for having given him the opportunity of doing so."

English Coffee.

The American opinion of English coffee is not exalted, remarks a writer in the Daily Chronicle. A visitor from across the herring pond sat down to breakfast in a London boarding establishment. The landlady came bustling in with the coffee-pot.

"It looks like rain," said she, by way of making conversation. "Yes," said he, sniffing, "but it smells something like coffee, anyway."

or your money back

Anyone who has pimples, boils, blackheads, liver spots, open sores and eruptions should know it is because of bad blood. The circulation has become contaminated with matter that has diseased the blood, which is being forced out of the system through the pores of the skin. This condition cannot be cured unless you remove the cause. Bin-Ter Complexion Tablets purify the blood, strengthen the system and make your skin healthy, thus restoring your complexion to its clear youthful appearance. Under the purifying and tonic effect of Bin-Ter Complexion Tablets the system will be built up and your skin cleared, usually in about ten days. Sold and recommended by Gerber-Lipp Co. Send 25c to Bin-Ter Laboratory, 15 E. Washington St., Chicago, for large sample.

PERFECT HEROISM.

Rare Courage of Dr. Franz Mueller in His Tragic Death.

Heroism has been defined as "the brilliant triumph of the soul over the flesh"—that is to say, over fear—fear of suffering, of sickness, of isolation and of death. An instance of this dazzling and glorious concentration of courage is given in Mr. Frederick Rowland Marvin's book, "The Excursions of a Book Lover."

Dr. Franz Mueller of Vienna, who fell a victim to the bubonic plague when that disease was first under bacteriological investigation in that city in 1897, contracted the malady from bacilli in culture tubes. When he became certain that he was infected, he immediately locked himself in an isolated room and posted a message on a window pane:

"I am suffering from the plague. Please do not send a doctor to me, as in any event my end will come in four or five days."

At once a number of his associates, all of them young physicians, with much to live for and with full knowledge of the chances which they would expose themselves, stepped forward and not only offered their services, but in some cases begged to be sent to Dr. Mueller. The patient refused to permit it and died alone within the time predicted.

At the end he wrote a farewell letter to his parents and placed it against the window so it could be copied from the outside and then burned the original with his own hands, fearful that it might be preserved and carry out the mysterious and deadly germ.

VANILLA BEANS.

They Are Not Beans at All, but Pods Filled With Tiny Seed.

The vanilla plant is the only orchid of any industrial value. As orchids go, the plant is not unattractive, for the foliage is much greener and more enduring than in the case of most of the species. It is a climber, and when the leaves are fresh it brightens a small tree trunk wonderfully. The Vanilla planifolia, to give it its full name, is a terrestrial parasite. It climbs from the ground, but once established has feeding stations on the bark all along the line. The leaves—long, very smooth and light green—are alternate, and at the axil of each is a sucker a few inches in length that fastens itself securely to the tree, lying flat against the bark.

The blossoms are inconspicuous. It is the resultant pods that are the vanilla of the industrial world. They are slim pods six to eight inches long and when dried for the market are of a rich, deep reddish brown. These are called vanilla beans, but without warrant. They contain no bean; the seed in them is as fine as dust. These seeds are the black specks that are usually found in the finest grade of vanilla ice cream, the best chefs the world over preferring to grind the "bean" rather than use the extract. Vanilla is found growing wild in the Bahamas, West Indies and Central America. In Madagascar and some of the neighboring islands it has been introduced and now forms an important article of export. But American vanilla is the best.—Hamper's Weekly.

Played No Favorites.

John Addison Porter, once secretary to the president, overdraw his account on one occasion, when he went off on a vacation, and Comptroller Tracewell disallowed it. When Secretary Porter returned to Washington he told the president about it, and President McKinley telephoned to Tracewell to come to the White House. On his arrival there Tracewell was asked why he had disallowed that account, and he replied:

"I disallowed it, Mr. President, because it is my duty as comptroller of the treasury to protect the money of the people from every kind of misconstruction of the law. If you should draw one month's salary in advance I should certainly disallow it."—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Into the Next State.

A disheveled citizen rushed into the police station and shouted for vengeance.

"The motorcar that hit me five minutes ago was No. 41144," he sputtered. "I can prove that he was exceeding the speed limit, and I want a warrant for his arrest!"

"Warrant, nothing! What good would a warrant do me at the rate he was going? I want extradition papers."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Ready Romancer.

"Clumsy of you to fall overboard," said the critical friend.

"I didn't fall overboard," replied the man who never confesses to a mistake. "The biggest fish I ever saw swam alongside, and I couldn't resist the temptation to dive for him."—Washington Star.

Reprehensible Absentmindedness.

"Why are you so very angry with Walter?"

"He proposed to me last night."

"What of that?"

"Nothing. Only I accepted him the night before."—London Stray Stories.
