Companion Hurt As Car Hits Tree South of Holland

Young Couple Driving
To Grand Haven After Holiday in Chicago

Injuries received in an early morning automobile accident proved fatal Friday for a Grand Rapids young woman. She was Delores J. Oom, 20, of 107 Ann St.

Injured was Lawrence Boylen, 19, 1134 Paris N. E., also of Grand Rapids.

The car in which the two young people were riding was traveling north on M-40, two miles south of Holland. The car left the road on the left side, traveled 250 feet before striking a clump of maple trees dead center of the car. The accident occurred just south of the concrete bridge over North Branch creek. The maple trees are on the bank of the stream.

Boylen told his mother the reflection of the early morning sun on the dashboard blinded him momentarily. Officers, however, believe he may have fallen asleep.

The path of the car took it just south of the cable guard rail, down the slope, through a fence and into the tree. Tire marks show that brakes were applied within 25 feet after the car left the pavement, but dewy grass and wet soil offered no friction.

First on the scene were George and Henry Schutmaat, traveling south, who were attracted to the wreckage by an apparently shorted horn. The car was almost hidden by the heavy foliage of the trees.

When they arrived at the scene, Boylen was 50 feet from the car. He apparently had been thrown clear of the car into the creek and crawled or rolled into the field. The Schutmaats said Boylen was sitting up on the ground, and Miss Oom was wedged in the front seat breathing quietly. They eased her position and she told them her name.

Deputy Earle Tellman, in whose cow pasture the car came to rest, was on the scene shortly after the Schutmaats arrived. He fixed the time of the accident at 7:40 a.m., although there were no eye witnesses.

Deputy Tellman, Sheriff Louis Johnson of Allegan, and Coroner William Ten Brink of Hamilton conducted the investigation.

Miss Oom was taken by ambulance to Holland hospital where she died shortly after arrival. Cause of death was listed as a brain concussion and punctured left temple.

Boylen also was taken to Holland hospital. He received a brain concussion, had laceration on the head, facial lacerations and a cut knee. His condition was described as "fair" by hospital authorities.

Boylen's mother, Mrs. Lawrence Boylen, Sr., and Miss Oom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Oom, came to Holland immediately. Boylen was not informed of Miss Oom's death. He, however, discussed the accident with his mother.

The young couple was vacationing with a group of Grand Rapids young people in Grand Haven. The girls had rented a cottage and the fellows were living in a trailer nearby. Boylen and Miss Oom, who were going steady, returned Thursday for Chicago and were returning when the accident occurred. Deputy Tellman believes they may have got onto the wrong road since US-31 is the normal route.

The shiny maroon convertible, a '47 model registered in Boylen's father's name, is a complete wreck. Officers believe the damage reaches $1,500. Boylen was employed by the American Seating Co. in Grand Rapids.

The body was taken to Creston Funeral home in Grand Rapids. Besides her parents, Miss Oom has a sister, Nancy.

Stop Signs Are Ordered For Ferrysburg Crossing

Grand Haven, July 21 (Special)—Reflector stop signs will soon be placed on both sides of the Third St. railroad crossing in Ferrysburg, where four persons lost their lives in car-train accidents this summer.

This action was taken at a meeting Wednesday of county officials, road commission officials and representatives of the Michigan Safety commission.

The group also recommended similar signs at the Robbins road crossing which has been graded for some distance providing clearer vision for motorists.

These signs will show at night as well as during the day. If this does not solve the problem, further consideration will be given to installing flashers.

Leaving Hospital

Mrs. Hubbel Loomis of Grand Rapids, who was injured in a three-car collision July 5 south of Douglas, has left Holland hospital for her home. Her husband and daughter who also were injured in the crash left the hospital more than a week ago. Mrs. Loomis is chairman of the Kent county Young Republicans.

Deputy Sheriff Earle G. Tellman inspects the wreck of a 1947 convertible in which a Grand Rapids girl, Delores J. Oom, was killed and her companion, Lawrence Boylen, also of Grand Rapids, received serious injuries. The car had left M-40 and crashed into the largest of a clump of maples on the bank of North Branch creek. Tellman owns the land where the tragedy occurred, and was one of the first to reach the scene. The car is figured to be a total loss. This photo was taken just after the wreck, by Clyde Geerlings, Hope college publicity director.

State Parks Plan Film Showings

Holland and Grand Haven state parks have added a new feature for beach visitors, according to Clare Broad, Holland park superintendent. Beginning this week, both parks will show a series of movies on Michigan conservation. The Holland park will show the features each Wednesday night after dark, or about 9 p.m., Broad said. Grand Haven park will show the same features on Thursday nights.

Most of the films, according to Broad, will be sound and color features and will consist of one or two reels. Showings will take 45 minutes, he said.

The feature this week included "By the Land We Live." On July 27, "Michigan's Porcupine Mountain State Park" and "Michigan's Marsh and Shore Birds" will be shown.

The August schedule is: Aug. 10, "Michigan Canoe Trails" and "Michigan Commercial Fisheries"; Aug. 17, "Timber Harvest" and "The Michigan Red Fox"; Aug. 24, "Safety On" and "The Michigan Beaver"; Aug. 31, "Making of a Shooter," which deals with the use of firearms and safety.

Broad also reported that park attendance last week-end reached 23,500 bringing the season's total to 905,756. To date, 860 camps have been set up, which is slightly ahead of last year's total at the same date.

Council Approves Bid to Resurface West Eighth St.

Solons Request Study
Of Sewage Disposal
System for Holland

Grand Rapids Asphalt Paving Co. was granted a contract to resurface West Eighth St. from River to Washington Aves. by Common Council Wednesday night.

The company's bid was 96 cents per square yard for the 12,200 yards involved in the project. Only other bidder was the Michigan Colprovia Co.

A motion to hire an inspection service to supervise the work was referred to the street committee with power to act. Work was recently completed on tearing out old railroad ties and cementing the center section. This work was done by Bowen Construction Co. of Spring Lake.

On suggestion of Mayor Harry Harrington, council requested the Board of Public Works to contact competent engineering services for estimates of the approximate costs of a survey of the sewage disposal plant. Such examination will cover present operations, possible improvements, future expansion and other pertinent necessary information. Mayor Harrington pointed out that the present plant was voted upon in an election April 6, 1925.

On recommendation of the sewer committee, the Elm Valley Milk Co. will be allowed to connect with the city sewer to discontinue dumping wastes in a creek in the southeast part of the city. The agreement provides that the city may discontinue the service at any time.

A letter from the State Highway commission requesting consideration of the proposed abandonment of US-31 from Eighth St. north to the north limits of the city was referred to the street committee, city engineer and Chamber of Commerce. The commission requested passage of a resolution concurring in the abandonment. Mayor Harrington suggested the group consider possibilities of extending M-21 to Holland state park.

A request from Charles Nivison that council waive the five-year restriction imposed 1946 on construction of garage houses in the city was referred to the building and civic improvements committees and the city engineer. Nivison's request involves a garage house at 14th St. and Fairbanks Ave. which he is prepared to sell if rights can be waived.

Clerk Clarence Greengood presented a letter from Alvin S. Kolm calling attention to Public Acts of Michigan, particularly section 22 specifying requirements for seal of registered architect on certain building permits and requesting action to enforce compliance with the act. The letter was filed.

The clerk presented for information a letter from the Municipal Employees retirement system secretary, giving a resume of important changes in the retirement law, said changes to become effective Sept. 23.

Ald. John H. Van Dyke of the license committee announced the committee had denied a request for a license to sell anything at Kollen park since this is contrary to the city ordinance.

Claims and accounts totaled $21,988.65. Other claims are hospital board, $16,831.78; library, $502.11; park and cemetery, $2,542.65; hospital building fund, $8,524.11; Board of Public Works, $15,679.01. The city treasurer reported BPW collections of $38,370.60 and other collections of $146,608.35 which includes $62,383.27 in taxes for the Board of Education.

Neal Caauws of route 4, and Bernard Kammeraad of 234 West 20th St., caught this string of five Northern pike while fishing in Big Bay near Grissen's. Kammeraad, left, says, "Neal caught them all." The five fish are between 24 and 32 inches long and average five pounds each. The men report they were casting with dare-devil lures and had seven strikes. They fished from 9:30 a.m. to 2:15, and stopped for lunch. "There's no doubt about it when one of these strikes," they said.

Parking Meter Rules Amended For Lesser Fine

Penalty Is 50 Cents
Inst. 1 of a Dollar
If Paid in 24 Hours

Common Council Wednesday night passed an amendment to the parking meter ordinance setting the overtime parking fine at 50 cents instead of $1 if paid within 24 hours.

The new amendment also provides that the fine be $1 if not paid within 24 hours. Further provisions include a $1 fine if car is still parked on the second check of the meter and $1.50 fine plus $1.50 towing charge if car is present on the third check. All sums are to be credited to the police fund. This system has been in effect for some time, but now is official.

A new development providing off-street parking for Holland was brought to light with an announcement by City Attorney O. S. Cross that E. C. Brooks, former local mayor, will turn over property on East Ninth St. just east of the bowling alley to the city for use as a parking lot. Conditions are that the agreement continue on a year-to-year basis, that a six-month notice be served to terminate the agreement and that the city pay the $55 annual taxes imposed on the property. The lot will be maintained by the city. Immediate plans were announced for its improvement.

Further parking problems were discussed in an exchange between William Draper, store operator on River Ave. between Eighth and Ninth Sts., and Bertal Slagh, chairman of the Public Safety commission.

Draper, representing merchants in the immediate area, protested "no parking" restrictions on the east side of the street, pointing out that since the traffic signal has been in operation at the post office corner traffic has been much less crowded in his block.

He requested a meeting of merchants and a committee to consider the problems and possibly work out some compromise. He said he had made traffic counts and found heavy traffic only during the noon hour and around 5 p.m. He said meters could be capped during that time. He also suggested eliminating left turns for northbound traffic at Eighth St.

Slagh said parking was eliminated on that side of the street on recommendation of the AAA on the basis of several traffic counts. He said only four parking stalls could be provided at the most. Slagh said he realized the hardship on some merchants and added the commission was working on obtaining adequate off-street parking facilities.

This Thief Must Believe In the Easy Stage System

W. W. Hubbard, who is vacationing at Macatawa, had a nice boat.

He thought so, and apparently somebody else did too. Last week—it was July 5 or 6—somebody removed a $225 mercury outboard motor from the boat as it was anchored near the Macatawa post office.

Last night, somebody took the boat, a 12-foot model of plywood construction, varnished on the inside and painted white on the outside.

Allegan Seeking Laws to Protect Kalamazoo River

City Manager Says Land Owners Filing To Extend Property

Allegan, July 21 (Special) — With an eye to maintaining the Kalamazoo river's channel free and clear through Allegan, City Manager Philip Beauvais today was delving into the city's ponderous supply of ordinances.

He hopes to find out which will give the city power to prevent landowners along the river from filling the river banks to extend their own property.

Beauvais cited Dewey Hult, who, he declared, had filled at the rear of his property on Water street to 40 or 50 feet into the river. By throwing in debris, tree stumps from the M-118 tree-clearing project, and fill dirt, Hult has built a small peninsula which could, if continued, cause serious spring flood in the mill district, Beauvais said. In addition, the fill is a heavy load on one of the city's trunk interceptor sewers and could cause it to collapse, he declared.

One of the manager's current projects is to establish harbor lines along the river in order to put the new zoning ordinance into effect. The harbor lines would decide how far buildings and properties could be extended.

VFW Post Plans Family Picnic

Henry Walters VFW post members voted approval of a family picnic Aug. 13 at Tunnel park.

The matter was suggested at the regular bi-weekly VFW meeting in the post clubrooms Thursday night.

Commander Don Japenga presided and announced that the post received its plaque for outstanding community service. The award was won in competition with posts throughout the United States. The local VFW gained first place for its Christmas program, that includes renovating old toys for distribution to needy children.

Japenga announced that the VFW is starting its old toy collection for next Christmas now, and urges that any merchants or householders who have old toys, contact the VFW post. They will be picked up, Japenga said.

This rare sail boat with "ears," a copy of an early Frisian vessel, may be seen sailing on Lake Macatawa these days. It was brought to Holland by Hollis S. Baker. The "ears" or lee-boards serve like giant butterfly wings, taking the place of a keel. They make it possible for the boat to tack against the wind in limited areas.

TWO HURT IN CRASH

Allegan, July 18 (Special) — Andrew Mays and Miss Doris Taylor, both of Allegan, received bruises and cuts Sunday afternoon when the car driven by Mays collided with one driven by Fred Krug, Hopkins, on the Monterey road. Krug and his passenger, John Blanchard, Hopkins, were not hurt. Sheriff officials said both cars were badly damaged.

A Frisian sail boat, which eventually is expected to become a part of the collection in the Netherlands Museum, is attracting considerable interest on Lake Macatawa these days.

The unique sailing vessel was brought to Holland by Hollis S. Baker, president of Baker Furniture, Inc. It is a copy of an early sailing boat once common to Friesland, northernmost province of the Netherlands. It is rare today, even in the old country.

Originally used for pleasure sailing in the canals of Holland, the boat has an unusual hinged mast which can be lowered for passing under bridges. The hull is an example of Holland craftsmanship with its polished natural wood sides, painted combing and carving.

Tall lee-boards which lift up on each side like giant butterflies take the place of a keel, and allow the boat to tack against the wind in the narrow Holland canals.

The boat's name, "Famke," is a Frisian pet name meaning "Little Woman," according to a former owner in the Hague.

It was shipped here on the Prins Wilhelm, which sailed from the Hague and Rotterdam through the St. Lawrence river and Welland canal to Chicago.

Miss Sue Johnson Wed At Home in Louisiana

Without attendants and in the presence of the immediate families, Miss Sue Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Polk Johnson of Shreveport, La., was married to Ira Lenard of Chicago Monday at 6 p.m. The Johnson home, scene of the single ring ceremony, was decorated with summer flowers. An altar was improvised before the fireplace where Dr. Guy M. Hicks, pastor of the First Methodist church of Shreveport, read the ceremony.

Before the processional Ollie L. Stone, uncle of the bride, played "Clair de Lune" Debussy, and later accompanied his sister, Mrs. J. Hugh Lewing, who sang "Through the Years." Mr. Stone also played the Lohengrin wedding march.

The bride, escorted by her father who gave her in marriage, came down the large stairway to approach the altar. She wore an ankle length dress of white organza. Style feature was the modified Queen Elizabeth collar which extended to a point just above the waist. Tiny pink appliqued flowers and dainty embroidery trimmed the triangular inset which formed the top of the of the straight neckline. The same decoration also trimmed the hem of the bouffant skirt. Circling the fitted bodice was a gathered cummerbund which tied in a large "school girl" bow in the back. She wore a shoulder length veil of illusion gathered in a crown effect at the top and she carried an old-fashioned bouquet. Organza mitts completed her ensemble.

After the exchange of vows, Mr. and Mrs. Lenard cut a three-tiered wedding cake which was topped with a miniature bride and groom. An arrangement of cape jasmine in a silver bowl formed the centerpiece. Aunts of the bride assisted at the reception.

Mrs. Lenard is a former faculty member of Holland high school where she taught English and journalism. She is a graduate of Louisiana Polytechnic institute, Ruston, La., where she was a member of Kappa Delta sorority. She did graduate work at Northwestern university, Evanston, Ill.

Dykemas Outclass Holland Moose

Holland Moose ran into the Dykema Tailor buzz saw in a City league softball contest Thursday night at the 22nd St. diamond and lost an 8-1 decision, after once holding a lead for half an inning.

Three hits and an error sent Jason De Vries across the plate in the top half of the second inning to give the lodgemen an initial advantage, but the tailors put together three safe hits and aided by two errors pushed across three markers in their half of the second.

The hits were closer than the score. Dykemas got eight and the fraternal seven. The Moose committed five errors and the tailors two.

Jim Schurman got tagged for the loss, while Ben Jansen was the winning pitcher. Stu Baker had two hits for the losers. John Batema and Jud Vryhof each hit two safeties for the winners.

Flying Dutchmen Trim Zeelanders For Fourth Time

Lou Humbert Tops Chix Bill Ver Hey; Chilly Weather

The die-hard Zeeland Chix bowed to the Holland Flying Dutchmen for the fourth time this season Thursday night, 7-1.

In football-like weather at Riverview park, pint-sized Lou Humbert bested Zeeland's old-reliable Bill Ver Hey to chalk up his third win of the season against five defeats.

Humbert gave up six hits while Ver Hey allowed nine.

The win boosts Holland's season record to 13 wins out of 20 starts, including the four wins over Zeeland.

Both teams were bashful for the first two and a half innings Thursday night. If there was any advantage in those opening innings, Zeeland had it. Ver Hey didn't allow a Hollander on base until he walked Ron Appledorn in the bottom of the third.

After Whitey Witteveen sacrificed Appledorn to second, Ver Hey picked up Humbert's ground-er and threw to Third Baseman Jack Sheridan to catch Appledorn between second and third. However, after an exchange, Appledorn was safe at third when Sheridan dropped an easy put-out ball.

Appledorn and Humbert scored on Ron Fortney's single to left. Jack Van Dorpe singled, sending Fortney to second. Both runners advanced on an infield out and scored when Harry DeNeff's grounder got past Shortstop Jason Roelofs. Mouse Van Wieren struck out to end the inning.

With a three run lead, the Dutchmen let Zeeland score in the top of the fourth on a walk to Sheridan, a hit by Bern Raterink and an infield out.

The locals tallied once more in the fifth on hits by Van Dorpe, Frank Wlodarczyk and Mouse Van Wieren, and an outfield fly ball.

Holland clinched the game in the seventh with three big runs on hits by Van Dorpe, Greenhoe and Appledorn, and a walk.

Play was loose at times but Zeeland was charged with only two errors and Holland with only one.

Van Dorpe, with three out of five, was the most potent man at bat for Holland. Catcher Gene Schrotenboer had three out of four trips to the plate to lead Zeeland's batting column.

The defeat was Zeeland's 11th of the season out of 16 games. Box score:

Merchants Subdue Holland Furnace

Holland Merchants subdued the Holland Furnace softball team 3-0 in a well played game Thursday night at the 23rd St. diamond. The winners hit safely seven times and the losers got three safeties.

All scores were made in the top half of a wild third inning. Two hits and an epidemic of errors accounted for all three tallies. Ken Cook, Herk Grissen and Paul Cook went across home plate one-two-three. Furnace pitcher Floyd Vanden Belt vainly tried to stem the tide, fanning two batsmen to account for two of the outs in the inning.

Big stickman for the winners was Herb Colton, who collected two of his team's seven safeties. Vern Sikkema received credit as winning pitcher.

The game was a regular city league contest.

MAKING FIGURES "SING"

President Truman once more demonstrated, in his recent speech to the nation, that he lacks the ability to make figures "sing."
Robert Louis Stevenson once said of a story submitted to him, "How I could make that story sing, if I had the writing of it." That is, invest it with appeal and charm.

The president just does not know how to invest economic facts with appeal and charm.

The point is not that his figures are necessarily wrong, simply that he does not know how to make them interesting. It is proverbially more difficult to "make figures and statistics interesting than almost any other kind of matter. Add to that the fact that the president has a flat voice that lacks vibrancy and it is easy to see how even interesting matter from his mouth might be lacking in appeal.

But the main difficulty is lack of imagination. This is not said in criticism of the president; after all, imagination or the lack of it is something that a man is born with. Calling attention to the president's lack of imaginative power is a mere statement of fact.
It is his misfortune rather than his fault.

Public men with no better minds than the president's have had this power of investing figures with appeal. A good illustration is the late William Jennings Bryan. That politician had a more than ordinary mediocre mind for a man so prominent. He was prominent because he could make figures "sing." He won his reputation with figures—sixteen to one silver. From his mouth those dull figures took on the glow of an evangelist's appeal.

The late President Roosevelt had the ability that Mr. Truman lacks. Study Mr. Roosevelt's speeches and you will find that many of them deal with dull, dry statistical material. Mr. Roosevelt possessed the knack of making such material "sing." His political power was based largely on that fact. Another Democrat, Woodrow Wilson, had the same power to a marked degree.

Prayers of Confession
Psalm 32: 1-5; 51: 7-13
By Henry Geerlings

These two Psalms are related.
The 51st is a psalm of confession;
the 32nd is a psalm of praise by the forgiven sinner. David had committed a grave sin. His penitence was a long time in making its appearance. For at least a year, if not more, he carried on his conscience, unconfessed and unforgiv-en the burden of his heinous sin.
During that time Uriah had been slain; he had added Bathsheba to the number of his wives; the child of guilt and shame had been born;
and yet there was no token of sorrow or regret about the king. It must not be supposed, however, that he was quite happy. On the contrary, he must have been ill at ease, and there are not wanting indications that he was really miserable. The thing that David had done displeased
the Lord. Punishment must be meted out. This was accomplished by a visit of Nathan. It was done by a parable. The parable is so finished in its beauty, so admirable in its construction, so perfect in its adaptation to the end which the divine messenger had in view as to stand out as the finest thing of its kind which the Old Testament contains.

Nathan, passing through the palace of cedar, leaves warriors and stated men in the outer chamber, and with a heart heavy with the burden of the Lord, enters the royal closet. He tells his story with touching pathos. In a moment David sees all that he had done. He acknowledges the truth of each and humbled to the very dust, he says that he has sinned against the Lord.

We cannot read this incident
without remarking on the honesty of the biographers which the Bible contains. The sacred writers draw no veil over the errors and imperfections of those whom they describe. They tell of the falsehood of Abraham; the cunning selfishness of Jacob; the petulant hastiness of Moses; the weakness of Aaron; the vacillation of Peter;
and the sharp contention between Paul and Barnabas, with the same unvarnished truthfulness as they describe the excellences for which these great men were remarkable;
and the same historian who records that David was the man according to God's own heart, relates also this terrible story of wickedness; while, at the same time there is no attempt to excuse him.

But we must not overlook the practical purpose which the record of the sins of good men was designed to serve. "Whatsoever was written aforetime was written for our learning;" and even the dullest scholar can be at no loss to discover the moral of such history as that of David's fall. It bids us to be continually on our guard, lest we enter into temptation; for if David fell so fearfully, how among us can be secure? Here was a man of great ability of great piety, and of extensive usefulness, and yet he was guilty of a most revolting sin.
Surely the practical inference is,
"Let him thinketh who standeth take heed lest he fall." No station in society, no eminence in the church, no excellence in character, no mere inspiration of genius, can keep a man from sin; not even the gift of divine inspiration can preserve its possessor from a fall.

We often speak of youth as the most dangerous time of life, but that is not the only dangerous time. It might often seem as if we believed that it was. The saddest moral catastrophes of which the Bible speaks occurred in the history of men who were no longer young. Noah and Lot were far from youth when they fell before the influence of strong drink; and Damas was not by any means a novice when he forsook Paul. So David here was past the midtime of his days when he committed these great transgressions.

But while David's sin forbids any saint to presume on his infirmity, his reception by God, when he returned to Him in penitence, equally forbids any backslider to despair. If after such iniquity he was so graciously received, and had from Nathan the assurance that the Lord had put away his sin, surely any one may return and find forgiveness from the Lord.

David's sin had dire consequences.
His iniquities reproduced themselves in darker and intenser forms. He caused the death of Uriah, and the sword did not depart from his house all his after-days. He was guilty of impurity, and his son Amnon bettered the example of his father; he committed murder. Absalom committed fratricide; he rebelled against the Lord.

God forgives confessed sin. He not only justifies us when we are born again, so far as our sins are concerned which we did ignorantly.
He forgives us everytime we come to Him and need cleansing.
It is a very real experience to wash our hands and have them clean. It is just as real to have God wash and cleanse us.

Van Lente Doubles In Winning Tally In Last of Ninth

Hectic Final Frame Sees Dutchmen Rally To Avenge Defeat

Old-timer Don Van Lente wrote a storybook finish in the last half of the ninth inning for the Flying Dutchmen against the Cottage Inns of Muskegon Monday night at Riverview park.

Van Lente's automatic double with two men on, broke up the ball game, and gave the Dutchmen a 7-6 victory. The ball bounced on the cement and into the centerfield stands.

Going into that hectic last of the ninth, things looked bleak for the Dutchmen who were trailing 6-4, and Mike Skaalen seemed destined for his first loss of the season. However, the locals rallied, aided by a costly error by Muskegon Third Baseman Ed Patronelli, and two walks.

Skaalen led off and was out on a fly ball to center. Ron Fortney walked. Jack Van Dorpe singled to right field. Fortney stopping at second. Loren Wenzel walked to load the sacks. Lou Humbert ran for Wenzel. Frank Wlodarczyk lifted a high fly ball to second for the second out.

Harry DeNeff was same on Patronelli's bobble of an easy grounder. Both Fortney and Van Dorpe scored on the misplay, tying the ball game. Then came Van Lente's game-winning double that sent Humbert across with the winning run.

Van Lente went into the outfield in the first half of the ninth after injured Lou Borgman had batted for Mousie Van Wieren.

The win averted that earlier 9-1 defeat dealt the locals by the Cottage Inns.

The Dutchmen scored one run in the first inning on one hit, a sacrifice and a walk. The locals added three more runs in the bottom of the third on hits by Van Dorpe, DeNeff and Skaalen, a stolen base and two misplays.

Muskegon went ahead in the first of the fifth with five runs on four hits, two walks, a stolen base and a wild pitch Harry Bultema. Stan Yonker, Wayne Cypoks and Larry Kowolic hit safely.

The Cottage Inns tallied their other run in the top of the eighth on a walk, a wild pitch and an overthrow to third by catcher Van Dorpe.

The Muskegon crew was charged with five errors to three for the Dutchmen.

Skaalen allowed six hits, struck out 13 and issued four passes. Kowolic went the distance for Muskegon and allowed nine hits, struck out nine and walked three.

The win was Skaalen's eighth straight without a defeat this season and makes the local season record 14 wins out of 21 games.

Genial Howard A. Darrin, creator of cars, is shown here with his attractive wife and son, Patrick, while spending the summer at Virginia park. Darrin, addressed as "Dutch" by all who know him, has designed one car which sold for $43,000, but believes the average American's taste in cars is the best in the world.

Want a $40,000 Car? Consult 'Dutch' Darrin

Anybody want a $40,000 custom-made car with trappings to make a maharajah happy?

Or a town car with Swiss clocks and vanity cases of solid gold, draped with beaver robes over the gold-plated robe rail with specially designed tooled-leather case for the trunk compartment?

If you do, you probably would be referred to "Howard" "Dutch" Darrin, automotive designer, custom body builder, polo player and water skier, who with his wife and son, Patrick, are spending the summer at Virginia park.

But Darrin isn't working on any $40,000 car at the moment. He has just designed a new streamlined car to retail considerably under the present price range. Tools are almost complete, and the model is expected to go into production soon.

In the years between World Wars I and II, Darrin turned out custom-built cars that sold for $6,000, or $14,000, or $20,000, and even the one for $43,000. He made them for Leopold of Belgium, for Alfonso of Spain, for Viscount Louis Mountbatten, for the Duc de Doudeauville, president of the French polo and jockey club, for Rothschilds of the English, French and Austrian branches, for Clark Gable, Orson Welles, Big Crosby, Hedy Lamarr, Rifa Hayworth, Marlene Dietrich and other denizens of the Hollywood colony.

Perhaps the gilded era reached its roccoco climax in 1928 when he designed a car for Vergil Neal, the Parish perfume manufacturer, a big Darrin won after he was tipped off by a friend that $41,000 was then the highest bid Darrin added $2,000 and got the contract.

Onto a Hispano-Suiza chassis that cost $10,000, Darrin built a town car body as fabulous as the pleasure dome of Kubla Khan. He upholstered it in broadcloth and covered the floor with a beaver rug. He gold-plated the fixtures and trim, installed two clocks and two vanity cases of solid gold. Folding out from the partition behind the chauffeur were a medicine chest, a bar and writing desk. For all its lavishness, Darrin's innate good taste kept the car's magnificence from spilling into gaudiness.

He made $20,000 on the job but in such a creation he feels that a commercial note is a sour note. "If you buy a Rembrandt," he says, "you don't want to know how much Mynheer Van Ryn spent for his canvas, for his colors and his brushes; you don't figure what his easel cost, what he paid for his studio rent, overhead and other expenses of doing business. You just buy a work of art. This car was a work of art."

In 1937 Darrin called the turn on events in Europe, packed up and came home. Back in the United States, he set up shop on Sunset Strip in Hollywood. Clark Gable was his first customer there. It took four months to finish the underslung model and Gable came to the shop almost every day to watch the progress. When the car was delivered he told Darrin, "Dutch, if I charged you for all the time I've spent here at the rate the studio pays me, you'd owe me $200,000."

But the underslung car with cutaway doors was too much for the actor's peace of mind. Every time he stopped for a traffic light, breathless girls tried to clamber aboard. He sold the car back to Darrin after using it only three months.

For all the chichi of his Paris operation, Darrin intellectually never took off the coveralls of a practical engineer. He never sketched off a fantasy and left a production man to work it out. And he thinks the average American's taste in cars is the best in the world.

"When an American buys a car," he says, "it has to fit, and that means it has to fit his family. It also means that when he drives down to the bank in it, it doesn't look like he's living beyond his means. And it has to be cut like Bond Street."

First Week of Day Camp Closes for Blue Birds

More than 100 parents attended the Camp Fire day camp site Friday night, marking the close of the first week of activity. Nearly 80 Blue Birds participated in the successful day camp project carried out at Kamp Kiwanis under the direction of Mrs. Albert Timmer, local executive. A picnic lunch marked the Friday night gathering.

The girls made the trip to the camp each day on buses, members of the Kiwanis club giving them a good start on Monday. Each day the schedule opened with a flag raising ceremony. Classes, both morning and afternoon, were conducted by capable counselors, assisted by Carolyn Miedema, Mary Lou Buis, Virginia Hanson, Delphine Schaeffer, Jean Kromann, Maria Essenberg and Marilyn Poest as junior counselors.

Mrs. Mike Skaalen, registered nurse, was the official on cuts and bruises. She also conducted nature hikes through the woods. The girls learned camp lore and how to blaze and follow trails. Mrs. Ray Fehring taught them how to make their bed rolls and how to put up a tent.

Swimming was supervised by Mrs. Fred Harbin and many of the girls learned to swim. Fourteen passed their beginner's test.

Mrs. Ada Zickler was in charge of hand craft and this activity was an important item in the day's schedule. Among articles completed were bag books, stone flower pots, string holders, shade pulls and leaf books.

The girls ate their lunches out-of-doors. A hot dish and milk were provided. A rest period, during which they listened to stories and sang songs, followed the lunch hour. Miss Gwen Koolker was in charge of this feature.

Special School Election Set For November 2

Board of Education Sets 4 Mills 7 Years For New Improvements

The Board of Education Monday night set Nov. 2 as the date for a special election to raise funds through taxation for elementary school buildings in Holland.

By unanimous vote, the board decided to request four mills for seven years in an effort to raise approximately $750,000 for additions to Longfellow and Van Raalte schools and a new building to replace Lincoln and Froebel schools.

Preliminary plans for additions to Longfellow and Van Raalte schools call for an outlay of $135,000 each, and a new building to replace Lincoln and Froebel schools of $310,000. This would make a total of $570,000 plus cost of land if additional sites are needed.

It would not be necessary to levy a full four mills for the entire seven years, but some leeway is needed to cover costs and interest and attract a good market with favorable rate of interest.

The board will ask the Citizens' school committee for assistance in conveying the story to the public. The committee assisted at previous elections.

The board took action at this time because it feels it cannot allow the school problem to go unsolved any longer. Within three years, on the basis of present census figures, at least three additional rooms will be needed in Longfellow and Van Raalte schools, while Lincoln and Froebel schools, the oldest school buildings in use here, are outmoded.

More than one board member made a point of getting classes out of the basement in Longfellow and Van Raalte schools.

The election was scheduled for November to allow PTA's to aid in promotion after school resumes in the fall.

Need for additional facilities was forcibly brought to attention after Supt. C. C. Crawford presented reports of the school census taken here last May. The census lists 4,987 children through 19 years of age, high point of the last five years.

The figure which nears the 5,000 mark compares with 4,925 in 1948, 4,899 in 1947, 4,859 in 1946 and 4,954 in 1945. Children 0-5 total 1,527 in 1949, 1,525 in 1948, 1,514 in 1947, 1,444 in 1946, 1,479 in 1945, 1,368 in 1944, and 1,271 in 1943.

Children 5-19 total 3,460 in 1949, 3,400 in 1948, 3,385 in 1947, 3,415 in 1946, 3,475 in 1945, 3,822 in 1944, 4,205 in 1943, 3,727 in 1942, 3,135 in 1941, and 2,364 in 1940.

Highest figures lie in children up to three years old, and lowest figures are in the 13-16 bracket, known as depression babies.

Holland's "bend" in figures is in keeping with a study made by Dr. J. F. Thaden of Michigan State college who said the peak of birth increases came in 1947, which will bring a record enrollment in kindergarten in 1952-53 and in the grades the successive years, with a record-breaking class graduating from high schools in 1965.

"There is a need," he states, "a much greater need than existed heretofore, of citizens within their respective communities making thorough studies of their school organization and of formulating plans to meet inevitable educational needs of the immediate future."

Rally In Seventh Wins For Bethel

Bethel Reformed had an uphill fight in downing Wesleyan Monday night at Maple Ave., 7-6 in Church league tilt.

After both sides had been set down in order in the opening frame Bethel caught fire and scored four times in its half of the second. The Reformed club added one more for good measure in the third, only to see its lead wiped out when Wesleyan came to bat in the frame.

Three hits and six runs later Wesleyan was in command, a position it didn't relinquish until the sixth inning.

Bethel tied up the contest in that frame when Chuck Ellender made first on a fielder's choice, took second on a wild pitch and third on an infield out. Elmer Andringa's long fly ball to left scored the Bethel first baseman.

The Reformed boys cinched the contest in the seventh when Lee De Maat scored from third after two errors.

VFW Trampled By Furnace

Holland Furnace lived up to its name Tuesday night by sizzling VFW, 8-3, in City Softball league action.

The contest played at the Pine Ave. field was a thriller from start to finish. And, despite the fact that they lost, it was the Vets who provided most of those thrills—until the third inning.

In the first, singles by Chick Zych, Chet Pienma and Ernie Wehmeyer put two big VFW markers on the score board. However, the Furnace club pushed across a couple runs in the second on singles by John Griep and Mel Sjaarda, and a fielder's choice to Corky Weener.

At that point the score was knotted, but not for long. In the third frame the Heaters really started rolling. And before the attack was halted, the Furnace men had tallied three more times.

Ray Morren sparked the drive with a home run, driving Wally Hasty and Russ Woldring in before him.

Finally, in the fifth inning, Holland Furnace added three more markers for good measure. The tallies were hammered home on Morren's single, a pair of errors and a fielder's choice.

Services at the lake shore chapel Sunday were held at 10:45 a.m. D. Iwan Dykstra of Hope college was the speaker.

Bobbe Mueller has returned from the YMCA camp where he spent two weeks.

16th-Central Battle to Tie

A ten-inning battle between 16th St. and Central Ave. in City Church league competition Monday night still remains unresolved. The game was called at the end of the tenth with the score deadlocked, one-all.

Despite the fact that it was one of those low-hit affairs, the contest was only two innings old when Central took the lead. C. Knoll walked, advanced to second on the next play and scored with the help of P. Vanden Brink's single.

At that point the game's complexion changed; both teams settled down to watch the pitcher's battle—a battle that held both teams to a total of eight hits.

It wasn't until the fifth inning that 16th St. was able to figure in the scoring column.

With storage space at a premium due to a record grain crop, the government is using ships as floating storage bins to ease the farmer's problems. A floating elevator at Jersey City, N. J., speeds the process of storing surplus grain in the ship Benjamin Hawkins, surrounded by heavily laden barges awaiting their turn. The Hawkins is one of 12 ships of the Hudson river reserve fleet turned into a "grain bin" by Uncle Sam to care for the 1949 bumper crop.

Keep Your Cottons Looking Fresh

A few laundering hints may be the secret to keeping your cotton dresses looking as they did when you first bought or made them, advises Florence Rann, extension clothing specialist at Michigan State college.

All that truly washable cottons require is warm water and a good laundry soap. Wash dark colored cottons alone or with other dark colors. This will prevent having unattractive lint spots on a dark cotton. If your cottons do not have a permanent crisp finish, a light starch solution will do wonders.

Rinse your cottons well because little soap particles make fabrics look soiled when ironed and tend to weaken the fibers. When hanging on the line, first shake out the dresses to remove large wrinkles and then pin by the hem at the side seams.

Good sprinkling means good ironing. One of the secrets of good ironing is knowing how much moisture to use. Too little moisture makes it difficult to remove wrinkles, while too much adds to the ironing time. A fine spray sprinkler top distributes the moisture evenly.

Clean Up Patch After Harvest

After harvest is the time to clean up the raspberry patch, suggests J. E. Moulton, Michigan State college horticulturist.

Raspberry growth habits make this clean-up necessary. Each season new canes appear as shoots from the crown or roots and from buds near the base of the previous year's canes. These new canes complete their growth the first summer, bear a crop the next year and then die.

Removal should be done when the canes are dead. If the job is not done, the patch soon becomes choked with dead canes, literally a "bramble patch." Old canes also harbor insects and diseases, such as cane borer and anthracnose.

Michigan State college extension folder F-74, "Hints on Raspberry Growing," gives a pruning program to follow. It suggests that immediately after harvest all old canes be cut out and burned. The folder can be obtained from your county extension office or the bulletin office, Michigan State college.

Don't leave these old canes piled near the planting. Moulton warns. Burn them as they are cut out to check the spread of insects and disease.

Safety Week Goal Is Cut in Annual Farm Mishaps Toll

Observance of Farm Safety Week from July 24 to 30 has been proclaimed by Gov. G. Mennen Williams. The annual week is held to reduce the yearly toll of farm accidents.

In his proclamation, the Governor pointed out, "Accidents resulting from carelessness take a heavy toll in human lives, animals, and property on American farms annually. On the basis of past records, one out of every 17 farm families will suffer a disabling injury as the result of accidents in 1949."

Citing the frequency of accidents, the proclamation pointed out that records show four farm buildings are destroyed by fire every hour. The nation's farm population suffers an accident every 18 seconds during the year. Total cost of the accidents, the facts show, is approximately one billion dollars or about $35 per farm resident.

Agricultural extension workers at Michigan State college and county extension personnel are co-operating to help reach the goal of fewer farm accidents. They are urging careful farm checks to get rid of hazards. The elimination of at least one unsafe practice by each member of every farm family is the major objective of the national farm safety week campaign.

Civic groups, service organizations, and community leaders are planning special observances for safety week in some areas. They believe the reduction in farm accidents will be of benefit to everyone, whether they live in the city or country.

Lime Needs Can Be Determined

Plenty of time is needed advises James A. Porter, extension soils specialist at Michigan State college.

Spreading liming material on wheat ground before planting gives it time to act before sowing legumes next spring, he states. Another bit of advice is to be sure about the lime needs. Testing will give the facts.

If you get your own testing kit from the county agricultural agent, it is possible to test the soil for lime needs in a dozen places in an hour or two. Soil samples can also be taken from five or six characteristic locations in the field and sent to the county agricultural agent or the Soil Science department, Michigan State college, East Lansing. Tests will be made of the lime needs.

Each sample should be taken by mixing five samplings from the plow layer taken within an area 100 feet across. The samplings should be mixed thoroughly in a clean pail and a half teaspoon put in a wax paper to be sent for testing. Samples should be labeled to show where they were taken.

Records in the South East testing association remained high in June, but dropped somewhat from the every high figure for May. The Gerald Foest herd made a fine record, also the Neal Andre herd. Robert De Pree, tester, reports that some members planted sudan grass for pasture from August on to cold weather, and one member made grass silage to insure good green feed.

The association average of 940 pounds milk, 35.6 pounds fat for June, along with past months records will place this Ottawa association among the top ones of the state.

All herds in the association but one, were fed grain in order to hold up the milk flow.

Macatawa Lake Declared Safe

Swimming in most of Lake Macatawa was declared safe Friday in a preliminary oral report telephoned to The Sentinel by Milton Adams, executive secretary-engineer of the Michigan water resources commission.

Adams based his report on findings of a retest of the lake waters conducted by the commission Monday and Tuesday.

"I am happy to say the results look a great deal different from tests taken in July," Adams said.

In general, the questionable area is confined to water frontage inside Holland city proper, Adams said.

"All water lying west of a line drawn between Teling's point and Wyllie's dock on the north shore can be considered safe for swimming," Adams said.

Adams said a complete report will be filed later in the month.

CHECK WIRING

Electrical wiring on the farm should be checked frequently and thoroughly. It's wise to have the power supply to the pumping system come on separate lines. In case a fire should strike, the pump should continue to work even though other utilities may be put out of commission.
