Van Peursem Says Governor's Plan Stifles Initiative

ZEELAND (Special) — State Rep. George Van Peursem today called Gov. Williams' proposal to change unemployment payments to handle the present unemployment situation a step toward the destruction of the merit system of employers' taxes for unemployment funds.

Under the present system, he said, the tax rate paid by employers is derived from the amount of unemployment the employer has caused, with the least stable employers having the highest rates.

"According to the governor's proposal," Van Peursem said, "the bulk of unemployment payments would be made by the rest of the state's firms, regardless of their particular stability."

From Van Peursem's analysis, the proposed bill would increase an employer's liability for an employee he laid off from two weeks of benefit for three weeks of work to a week of benefit for each week of employment.

Van Peursem pointed out that, although the state unemployment commission lists 230,000 unemployed in Michigan, only 162,000 are actually collecting benefits. The remaining 68,000, he said, consist of those whose benefits have been exhausted, of persons once unemployed but now working and have not notified the commission and of college students having summer jobs and who have found employment since graduation.

Although figures show that unemployment in July is 4 1/2 per cent greater than in June, and the estimate of unemployment can be expected to rise in August when automobile workers temporarily laid off by model change shutdowns are added, Van Peursem said that this is not an emergency situation, and there is no need to alter the philosophy of unemployment payments in Michigan, already the highest in the nation.

"If an emergency situation develops," he said, "the legislature should take other steps than the changing of the entire unemployment concept."

The House voted yesterday to recess until Aug. 9 after deciding the unemployment situation was not critical enough to warrant immediate attention. The Senate, which was waiting for House action on the unemployment compensation issue, quickly followed the lower chamber's example and recessed.

The Senate had been spending its time debating a proposal to give the Secretary of State power to refuse to issue driver's licenses to persons with bad driving records. The measure met stiff opposition, however, from Republicans and was sent back to committee to die.

Over 40 Attend NAM Conference

More than 40 persons attended a district meeting of members of the National Association of Manufacturers Tuesday night in the Warm Friend Tavern and heard reports on NAM development and progress throughout the country.

Two NAM representatives showed a film interspersed with comment which included statements from businessmen and NAM leaders throughout the country. The representatives were Bernard Paine, assistant division manager for the Detroit NAM office, and Howard Woodruff, district representative living in Grand Rapids.

Charles R. Sligh of Holland and Grand Rapids, past president and currently chairman of the executive committee of NAM, spoke briefly of some of his recent experiences and led a discussion period which proved so interesting that the meeting by common consent lasted considerably longer than had been scheduled.

Sligh spoke of his conferences with George Meany on labor problems, a situation which had been widely publicized some months ago. He commented on the reluctance of many businessmen to testify on problems. He said this was particularly true in hearings for the Taft-Hartley bill.

The NAM currently has 21,000 members representing industries of all sizes.

General subjects for discussion were tax reduction ($7.4 billion a year), federal budget reduction ($6.4 billion a year), first general overhaul of tax system in 50 years, stabilization of the dollar, and progress in eliminating government competition.

Guests were present from Holland, Zeeland, Spring Lake, Grand Haven and Coopersville. George D. Heeringa, president of the Holland Chamber of Commerce, presided and G. W. Hawthorn gave the invocation.

Grand Rapids Hospital

FENNIVILLE (Special) — Rudolph Miller, 44, of Douglas, died Friday evening at Butterworth Hospital of a brain tumor.

A group of Holland youngsters are making lovely flower corsages out of wood fiber this summer. Under the direction of Mrs. Barbara Ambellas, the girls make such flowers as gardenias, apple blossoms and carnations each afternoon in Longfellow School.

This is the first time the flower making course has been held and it has attracted about 20 girls, from tots to teenagers.

The pieces of wood fiber are about three inches square and are heated with glycerine to make them pliable and give a natural look, Mrs. Ambellas said.

There are five steps in making the corsages. First, the flowers are cut from a pattern. Then they are assembled. Third the leaves are assembled and then the flower arrangement. Finally a ribbon is added to complete the corsage. Photo above shows the various stages and finished product.

And the corsages when completed, look as real as any flower. But these won't wilt.

Holland All-Stars Lose in Meet

BATTLE CREEK (Special) — Holland's Legion All-Stars were eliminated from zone play in the Legion tournament here Tuesday with a 10-4 defeat by Sturgis in the afternoon game.

The locals were defeated by Ann Arbor, 6-3 in the morning game of the double elimination tournament.

While Holland got the hitting and pitching last year to advance into the finals of the zone play, this year the locals got only spasmodic attempts at each.

In the second game, Holland made only four hits while the winners collected 10 hits off three Holland hurlers.

The winners scored two in the first off starter Tom Aye, who was replaced with nobody out by Ron Kuylers. Kuylers worked until the eighth, giving up five runs and seven hits.

Jim Kaat, who lost the morning contest, finished up and was nicked for three runs and one hit in the final two innings.

Kaat and Dave Klaver sparked the local hitting, each getting home runs to right field.

Kaat's drive in the second with Jim Kool and Dan Bos aboard, scored the first three runs and Klaver's hit was the other tally.

Ron Komejian and Bos made the other two Holland hits. Sturgis was slated to play Kalamazoo this morning and the winner will play Ann Arbor. Kalamazoo defeated Ann Arbor Tuesday afternoon, 6-5.

Line score:

Sturgis ... 200 122 030 — 10 10 1
Holland ... 030 100 000 — 4 4 2
Batteries: Darby, Reid (4) and Strang; Aye, Kuylers (1), Kaat (8) and Altana, T. Stoel (9).

Boat Capsizes

A small outboard motor boat capsized in the channel Wednesday as it was being towed by the cruiser Holiday II Mike Moore, about 13, of Grand Rapids who operating the outboard was pulled into the 42-foot cruiser and the Coast Guard was called to pull the boat in and right it.

Council Adopts Resolutions on Harbor Dredging

City Council Wednesday night adopted resolutions reiterating previous actions concerning dredging and improvement of the channel in Lake Macatawa and its turning basin.

Council's resolution which concerns only part B of proposed harbor improvements covers easements, rights of way and suitable spoil disposal areas necessary for initial work and subsequent maintenance. It also promises to hold the United States free from damages due to construction and maintenance of the project and will pay 25 percent of the cost of dredging.

U. S. Congress only recently approved a $285,000 allocation in its budget for dredging a 21-foot channel in the lake and widening the turning basin. Part A of the proposed improvements concerns widening the channel and installing new revetments in the vicinity of the abandoned Coast Guard station. This part involving far larger sums of money is slated for future development.

Holland's share in developing part B is not to exceed $45,000.

Council also spent considerable time on a request for zoning changes in a residential area in the southwest section of the city. Residents living in the area bounded by Central and Maple Aves. running from 28th to 32nd Sts. had requested that the area be zoned A-1 in the new zoning ordinance instead of the proposed A-2.

The Planning Commission, to which the requests had been referred, recommended that the proposed A-2 zoning be maintained stating it is more reasonable for this area because of the many small-sized lots. The planning board also pointed out that the proposed A-2 zoning actually is more restricted than the present A zoning. Under the present ordinance, lots in this area are zoned both A and B residential.

Spokesmen for residents were Eugene J. Maurina, of 750 Pine Ave., who questioned qualifications for A-1, and George B. Keen, of 128 West 31st St., who was more insistent that the A-1 rating be granted.

Mayor Robert Visscher explained that many lots in the area do not meet qualifications for the new A-1 classification and invited all persons interested to the next meeting of the Planning Commission Thursday, Aug. 2, at 8 p.m. in council chambers. He said Planning Consultant Scott Bagby would have charts available showing lot dimensions, etc., and would be glad to answer all questions on such zoning matters.

The request apparently stems from a fear that two-family houses may be allowed in A-2 areas. Meanwhile, the Planning Commission's recommendation that the proposed A-2 zoning be maintained for the area was received and filed.

Council also okayed a renewal contract with Scott Bagby for consulting services for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1956, for the sum of $1,800 payable $150 monthly for up to 180 hours of professional services during the year. Additional time, if desired, will be paid at the rate of $10 per hour.

Councilman Laverne Rudolph of the second ward and City Manager Herb Holt were appointed to contact property owners in the vicinity of 324 West 12 St. to see if there would be any objection for the county welfare department to use the city-owned house at that address for distribution of surplus foods from the Federal Commodity Credit Corp. This distribution would take place two days a month to welfare cases and some borderline cases which might prevent from going on relief. Use of this property would be on a month-to-month basis and the welfare department would maintain the property including keeping the lawn in good repair and assuming utilities costs.

Council approved an agreement between the city and Ward and Evelyn Hansen providing that the Hansens may remove the so-called Fabiano garage from the alley line between Eighth and Ninth St. running from River to Central. The agreement provides that the Hansens may recover the $2,000 cost of the garage in the event a special assessment project. Removal of the garage would allow alley travel and also allow the Hansens to build an addition at the rear of their store.

Of four bids submitted on sidewalk construction, Council approved low bid entered by L. J. Mannes at a total cost of $1,338.21.

Council also okayed two hospital modifications for the new hospital addition, one for the Lamson Corp. to raise the conveyor belt to provide for takeoff of soiled dish trays from vertical conveyor at a cost of $1,213, and the Illinois Range Co. to change dimensions of the hot food service unit at the mechanical conveyor at a cost of $448.

Injunction Sought To Prevent Picketing

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — A hearing will be held in Circuit Court Monday on a temporary injunction to restrain picket action at the site of a new super market at Fulton and Ferry Sts.

The injunction is sought by C. J. Steketee and Associates of Kent County against Muskegon Building and Construction Trades Council AFL-CIO and Milton Anderson, business agent.

The bill of complaint points out that there is no labor dispute between plaintiff and its employees, and that picketing action is for the purpose of preventing delivery of materials by suppliers who are operating under contracts with unions. Plaintiff charges that the picketing is an attempt to force union organization in plaintiff's firm when such employees have no desire to do so.

Niles BPW Proposes Cut in Electric Rates

NILES—A proposed reduction in electrical rates by the Niles Board of Public Works will come up for final action at the regular City Council meeting next Monday night.

Although the cutback would result in the loss of some $30,000 a year, board members feel lower rates would attract more customers and result in increased usage of electricity by present customers.

Youths Rescued After All-Night Drift on Lake

Four local youths had a trying, all-night experience on Lake Michigan before they finally were rescued shortly before 1 p.m. today by Coast Guardsmen.

They are Mark Mulder, 20, of 90 West 11th St., Reemer "Buzz" Boersma, 19, and Larry Kolb, Jr., 18, both of route 4, and Ron Nienhuis, 18 of 177 Fairbanks Ave.

The four, in Boersma's 17-foot Chris-Craft, saw the Coast Guard dropping flares, etc., in a simulated air-sea rescue maneuver Tuesday night. They went out into Lake Michigan to watch.

At about 11:30 p.m. they ran out of gas and began to drift. They saw a freighter pass in the distance and yelled, but to no avail. They tried to drop the anchor but the water was too deep. They were six to seven miles out and about 12 miles from Holland.

In an effort to get the anchor down, two of the youths took off their trousers and along with the anchor chain tried to reach bottom. However, chain, anchor and the trousers disappeared in the deep water.

Realizing their plight, they decided to huddle in the forward compartment of the boat for warmth and try to sleep. All four slept in the same compartment.

This morning the lake "got a little rough" and rainy and the boys spotted a buoy used to indicate the markers of fish nets. They paddled as best they could and partially tied up to one of the buoys.

Guard and mmmh mnh mmmh

A search was started by the Coast Guard and fanned out as far north as Muskegon and south to Saugatuck under direction of the Grand Haven headquarters. A plane piloted by Art Peters from Park Township airport, went up later in the morning and he spotted the boat. Peters dropped a container with a note inside which read: "Coast Guard coming."

One of the youths went overboard and retrieved the container.

Through a snafu in directions it was some time before the Coast Guard arrived. The Holland Coast Guard boat, ordered to go five miles south and five miles west, went as far south as Saugatuck in the search.

However, it was finally the Grand Haven Coast Guard Boat that got to the youths about seven miles off Port Sheldon. The Holland boat arrived at the scene about five minutes later and took the Chris-Craft in tow.

They arrived back in Holland Harbor at 1:45 this afternoon, the youths tired, cold and hungry, but otherwise no worse for the wear.

VFW, Hulst Bros. Get 1-0 Victories In City Softball

Rog Schutt and Jay Hoffman teamed up to give the VFW their 14th win in 15 games as they pitched and batted respectively in a 1-0 win over Fords in the nightcap of a City Softball League double-header Monday night.

Schutt threw a one-hitter and allowed only two men to reach base while striking out 13. Fords' first baseman Jay Frericks got a single in the sixth inning and Jay Hop was hit by a pitched ball in the first, for the only Ford base-runners.

Hoffman accounted for the only run of the game when he led off the sixth inning with a home run. Until then, Bob Ebels had allowed only two hits. Jim Slaght got a double in the sixth, but it did no damage.

In the opener, a two-hitter by Al Bosch gave Hulst Bros. a 1-0 win over Raphael. It was another pitcher's battle, too, as Raphael hurler Ron Kalmink allowed only two hits.

Hulst Bros. got their only run in the first inning. Jud Gebben was safe on an error, was sacrificed to second by Ron Wetherbee, and scored on Lavern Zoerhoff's single. Al Velthuis got the other Hulst hit, a single, in the fifth, but Kalmink struck out the side to leave him stranded.

A single by Stan Wlodarczyk and a double by Herb Maatman were the only Raphael hits.

Phone Numbering System to Change

New telephone numbers are in store for all Holland telephone customers, Michigan Bell's manager Andrew G. Sall has announced. Next spring, when the change takes place, the telephone numbering system for Holland, Zeeland and Macatawa becomes part of a nationwide numbering plan, the main feature of which is that a name becomes a part of the telephone number.

All Holland numbers will begin with the name "EXport," followed by five numerals. At the same time, Zeeland and Macatawa numbers will be changed to include the names "P R O s p e c t" and "E d g e w a t e r," respectively. The changes will allow telephone callers in all three communities to dial each other direct without using a special code. Special codes now in use no longer will be necessary.

A letter informing local telephone customers of the change will be written to each telephone customer, Sall said. In addition, he reminded business customers to remember the coming change when ordering printed material which displays their telephone number.

About a month after the telephone number changes next spring, Sall said, Michigan Bell will introduce direct distance dialing in the three communities. This will make it possible for these customers to dial many of their own long distance calls without requiring the assistance of any operator.

Meetings Today Leave Matters as Yet Unresolved

The second meeting of the Board of Public Works this afternoon ended at 2:15 in what Board President Randall C. Bosch described as an amicable settlement. Bosch said he was unable at this time to go into detail, but said he had appointed Henry S. Maentz and Donald Vink to work out certain details with members of City Council. Bosch did not comment on the disposition of the five paychecks. Mayor Robert Visscher met with the group.

After months of study, City Council Wednesday night unanimously approved a revised classification and pay plan for all city employees. Council had retained public Administration Service of Chicago in the study.

But while Council's action appeared to be a fairly routine matter involving a minimum of discussion and a long, long resolution, the decision set off a battle between Council and the Board of Public Works resulting in a stormy confab in BPW offices this morning.

Road Commission Buys Right of Way From Local BPW

Property Needed for Eventual New Road in Suburban Park Area

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — The Ottawa County Road Commission Thursday approved the purchase of the old interurban right-of-way west of Holland which is owned by the Board of Public Works of Holland.

The purchase followed a period of study which included a meeting of township and city officials with the road commission. It was the general consensus that interests in this suburban area would best be served if the road commission obtained this right of way. Attending the previous meeting were County Engineer Henrik Stafseth, Road Commission Chairman L. W. Lamb, City Manager Herb Holt, Supervisor Dick Niemusma and Trustee Albert Brinkman.

Ultimate purpose of the right of way would be to develop another road in Park township which has a minimum of east-west roads.

In other business, the commission instructed the engineering department to advertise for bids for improving Marquette Ave. south of Everett St. in Waukazoo. A hearing had been held to hear objections. Bids will be opened July 26.

The commission also ordered plans and specification for a new bridge crossing the east branch of Rush Creek on Port Sheldon Rd. in section 24, Georgetown township. Temporary repairs are being made to the damaged bridge deck to allow limited loading in the next few days. This bridge is about 55 years old. There are several others of the same age badly in need of replacement.

It Just Doesn't Pay To Ignore Barricade

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Harvey Van Dam, of 500 West Main St., Zeeland, has learned it doesn't pay to ignore a highway barricade.

At 10:15 p.m. Tuesday, Van Dam decided to take new US-31 and went around a barrier at Stone school. All went well until he reached the city limits at Robbins Rd. There his car hit a pile of gravel and broke a front axle as well as springing both front wheels.

City police investigated.

Supervisors Will Meet at Allegan For a 'Formality'

ALLEGAN (Special) — Although there is little question but what the outcome will be the same, Allegan county supervisors will hold a special session July 31 to "legally consider" the question of where and how a county medical care facility will be built.

July 9 the board, voting by secret ballot, went on record as favoring an Otsego city site for the proposed million-dollar hospital. They also approved construction of a 140-bed unit, rather than the 120 beds originally suggested.

The board convened again Tuesday to set up machinery for the special election which would be required and learned from Prosecutor Dwight M. Cheever that another, special session would be required first.

Cheever had been advised of the need by Fred M. Thrum, Lansing attorney retained as legal consultant for the million-dollar bond issue. A petition signed by 14 board members called for the special session for July 31. Cheever said the special session was deemed necessary because it would be called by petition, rather than the chairman of the board.

Before adjourning Tuesday, the board voted, 28-2, to go on record as opposing all CIO requests for funds from Congress for the relief of unemployment in depressed areas. The resolution was in response to a request from the CIO Political Action Committee for support of such measures.

The board also authorized the salaries committee to meet with county officials regarding a new salaries schedule on the opening day of the October session.

Approval was given by the board to the bond obtained by Don E. Allen who was appointed county surveyor, June 19, to fill the unexpired term of MacDougal who died after serving 58 years in the post. Allen is also a candidate for the job in the August primaries on the Republican ticket.

Citizens Asked To Stay Home

ZEELAND (Special) — Citizens are asked to remain in their homes and off the streets even after the all-clear is sounded in Zeeland's tornado alert Friday evening.

Civil Defense Director Peter Wolthus, in saying that the success of the alert depends as much on the citizens as on the workers themselves, said that the all-clear siren is a signal to the workers to report to their stations. He asked that citizens remain in their homes for approximately 15 minutes after the all-clear. Radio station WHTC in Holland will advise the people when they will be welcome on the streets again, as well as giving them information on the alert.

The alert is Zeeland's participation in the nation-wide spot alert scheduled by the National Civil Defense in 76 cities. It will be held between 7 and 8 p.m.

In addition to the city's fire siren, the Holland township fire siren will also be sounded. Wolthus said both sirens are being used to make sure that everyone in the area can hear the full-minute wail that will open the alert. The all-clear signal will be an up-and-down sounding of the siren.

Although workers will report to entrances to the city for the purpose of establishing barricades in case of a real disaster, there will be no actual barricades set up and traffic will not be interfered with, Police Chief Al Bos said today.

Ottawa County Farm News

Richard Machiele, County Agricultural Agent

Anyone interested in seeding the wheat variety trials can see them at the George Chittenden farm located on the corner of Leonard and 138th Ave. There are four varieties of wheat grown on these plots: Gnease, a white wheat and three red varieties: Knox, Pennell and Seneca. Because it is impossible to get a good threshing sample of grain in this field we thought it advisable not to hold a twilight meeting. However, George tells me he welcomes anyone who would like to take a look.

A new quack grass killer developed this past year shows some promising results. It had occasion to spray some quack grass areas this spring and every spear of quack grass is killed as of today. This material is called Dalapon. It can safely be used in vineyards, raspberry patches, blueberries at the rate of 10 pounds per acre in early spring and 10 pounds per acre in the fall. Spot applications probably would be most effective and the most economical way of taking care of quack grass.

Last year, 3,700 persons were killed and 310,000 injured while at work on farms. This makes farming the most dangerous occupation in the country. We want to call to your attention that next week—July 22-28 is Farm Safety Week. The National Safety Council estimates that farm accidents annually cost the American farmer $1,500,000 and since accidents are expensive in loss of time and suffering, the theme of the week is especially fitting "Safety Pays All Ways." Every family should take time to discuss hazardous practices and situations on their farm. Money spent in clearing up safety hazards should not be considered an expense but an investment.

Home gardeners who are looking for fruit trees to fit the size of their gardens can take a look at dwarf apple and pear trees. These small sized trees are particularly well suited to small gardens where space is limited or as ornamentals on the lawn or along the shrub border. Dwarf trees are not recommended for planting in orchards intended for commercial fruit production. They are shallow rooted, inclined to be short rooted and are essentially adapted to the garden. Details on selecting dwarf apple and pear trees are included in a new State University extension folder now available at the county extension office. Information on planting and care of the trees is also part of the folder. The folder is numbered F-136 and was written by staff members of the MSU Department of Horticulture.

3 Persons Jailed On Liquor Charges

Three young men received 45-day jail sentences and a sharp reprimand from Municipal Judge Cornelius vander Meulen at a trial in Municipal Court Tuesday afternoon on charges of furnishing liquor to a 14-year-old girl and drinking on a public highway. The alleged offense occurred July 3.

Testimony of the trio had been contrary to that offered by three girls involved in the case and two other witnesses.

VFW Takes 13th Victory; Avenge Earlier Defeat

A double by Lum Veldman in the bottom of the 11th scored Jay Hoffman, who had singled, and gave the Vets win No. 13 in 14 starts, a 1-0 decision over second place Hulst Brothers in City League Softball action Thursday night at Van Tongeren Field.

The victory avenged the earlier season 2-0 setback given the league leaders by Hulst Brothers and added another plank for the Vets in the march for the league championship. Hulst Brothers, defending champ, is now a distant second with a 9-5 record.

In the opener, Raphael's got out of the three-way tie for the cellar with a 3-0 shutout against Mobilgas Dealers on a two-hitter by Ron Kalmink.

For nine innings, Brower was doing the best job. He gave up just one hit, a double to Bill Franks in the third inning.

In the 10th, Brower was nicked for a single by Lee Veldman and then came the fateful 11th.

Veldman scattered four hits, one each in the third, fourth, sixth and seventh innings but Hulst couldn't move the baserunners around.

Veldman's blast came after he had struck out three times previously. In all, Brower fanned 19 batters and Veldman struck out 16.

Franks, Hoffman, and the Veldmans got the Vets' hits while Les Nyenhuis made two for Hulst and Bob Vork and Al Bosch, one each.

Raphael's put over three runs in the fifth on three hits to take the first game win.

Leroy Tooker singled and scored on Herb Maatman's double. Kalmink walked and scored on Rich Wolters sacrifice fly and Maatman came home on Gord Plaggemars single.

Mobilgas got one single in the fifth and another in the seventh but didn't threaten. Bill Forney made the first hit and Bruce Ming the other.

Kalmink struck out 10 batters while losing pitcher John Van Iwaarden fanned four.

The winners picked up six hits with Tooker having a perfect three for three. Maatman, Wolters and Plaggemars had the other safeties.

Library Adventures

By Arnold Mulder

A writer named Fred Rodell has published a book about the United States Supreme Court that serves to deflate the widely held romantic notion that somehow when ordinary lawyers become members of that court they automatically change into legal deities. Rodell's title is simply "Nine Men," and his subtitle is "A Political History of the Supreme Court from 1790 to 1955."

The author, who obviously knows more Supreme Court history than nine out of 10 spellbinders who give the impression that a Supreme Court justice is a kind of disembodied mind and is not subject to the prejudices of human beings, documents his record with a wealth of legal history that is convincing. At least it is convincing as to the main point, whatever may be said about details.

Like a Supreme Court justice, Rodell has his own prejudices. That main point is that a Supreme Court justice is only a lawyer. Nine times out of ten he has had a village background and hence has developed a village mentality. Almost ten times out of ten he was a politician before he became a justice, and his elevation to the Supreme Court usually does not turn him from a "politician" into what is known as a "statesman."

A corollary of Rodell's main point is that most presidents, even the greatest like Washington and Lincoln, often appointed men to the Supreme Court for purely political reasons, not because their appointees were legally and temperamentally best fitted for the job.

Thus Washington named John Marshall to the Supreme Court because Marshall was a bulwark for the Federalist party whose political philosophy Washington wanted to advance. Marshall had only scant legal training, but his appointment was fortunate for America; as a weak young nation we needed particularly to be protected against the revolutionary mob tendencies of the day. Property needed protection, and Marshall went all out to protect it in terms of his own personal prejudices.

But the precedents he and his court established were sometimes of doubtful value in later years when the railroads were protected by the Court in their career of exploitation. Rodell points out that at one point in railroad history six Supreme Court justices had been railroad attorneys before that in decision after decision they interpreted the constitution in favor of their former employers.

Rodell's thesis is that a Supreme Court justice is merely a man, ordinarily a lawyer, who drapes a robe over his coat and pants. The coat and pants are still there, and what is under the coat and pants is the same as what is under the coat and pants of any other citizen. The assumption, widely held, that he is above party is an illusion.

No, the book does not "debunk" the Supreme Court; Rodell is far too well informed to do that kind of a job. But he does believe that the members of the Supreme Court read the election returns and that their decisions in the main are geared to those returns.

The author's admiration for some Supreme Court justices is great, but by the same token his contempt for others is just as great. When a small potato is named to the Supreme Court he normally remains a small potato, in the author's opinion. When a truly great man, like the late Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, has the luck to be named to the Supreme Court, he becomes a blessing to the American people and to mankind. "Nine Men" is a stimulating book, but it is not a book for legal romanticists.

WATER IS BLUER or grass is greener in your own back yard and not always on the other side of the fence. At least that's what Bill Baker found out Tuesday night right off the dock at his Jenison Park home. Baker, who last week returned from a 200-mile northern fishing jaunt without a souvenir, nabbed this 41 1/2-inch, 14-pound pike off his dock. It took him about half an hour to land the fish and he was aided by Ed Nyland, a neighbor. A couple of lamprey eel marks are noticeable on the fish. (Verne Hohl photo)

School Study Is Explained to Planning Group

The progress of area study report on school district problems was presented by Supt. Walter Scott at the monthly Planning Commission meeting Thursday at 7:30 p.m. He pointed out the complexities and need for close co-operation between City Council and the Board of Education.

It was decided that October and November meetings of the planning Commission will be set aside to bring members of City Council and Board of Education together with the Planning Commission for joint discussion of metropolitan problems.

Chairman Willard Wichers explained that revised drafts of the proposed zoning ordinance are being worked out with Planning Consultant Scott Bagby, City Attorney James E. Townsend and Consulting Attorney George Sidwell. Some action is expected within the three next months.

The commission also considered a referral from City Council on a request from residents in the southwest section of the city for a change from the proposed A-2 to A-1 zoning. This section is bounded by Central and Maple Aves. running from 28th to 32nd Sts. Bagby felt that A-2 zoning is more reasonable for the area because of the many small - size lots, and the commission will recommend to City Council that the area remain A-2 in the new zoning ordinance.

Attending the meeting were Chairman Wichers, Mrs. William G. Winter, LaVerne Serne, Stuart Boyd, Laverne Rudolph, Bagby, Scott and City Manager H. H. Holt.

Ambassador Reaches His New Home, Describes Family and French Town

By Larry Siedentop
(Larry Siedentop, a Hope College student, is spending the summer in France as Holland's Community Ambassador. This is his second letter, his first since reaching France. Editor)

Dear Holland:
So very much has happened since I last wrote that the problem of what to tell you has been intensified several times. But choose one must, and I hope that my account is a coherent narrative.

The ship arrived at Le Havre as scheduled, on June 30, and debarcation formalities were quickly carried out in this port, which has been thoroughly renovated since the war.

A special boat-train to Paris was waiting for us, and my first experience with European trains was satisfactory, indeed. They are fast—this one covered the considerable distance from Le Havre to Paris in little more than two hours—and they seem to observe their timetables very scrupulously.

Everyone was, of course, hunched over the windows during this trip to get a first view of the French countryside. The thing I found most remarkable and most different from the U. S. was, beyond the inevitable evidences of age and war damage, that every home had a garden and that every foot of land appeared to be utilized to an almost agonizing degree.

Darkness soon fell, however, and it was not long before we became involved in the suburbs of Paris. The trip had proved rewarding, except that we found our faces, hair, and clothes covered with soot from the smoke of the train, the result of a bad window gazing.

In Paris, we stayed that night at a small French hotel (most hotels here are not French, but are for American tourists), located opposite the entrance to the Sorbonne, the historic University of Paris.

We walked that night, and were at least able to collect some glowing impressions of the grand city.

In the morning several of us rose early and went to hear mass in the celebrated cathedral of Notre Dame. Chance was with us, as a special service of High Mass was being celebrated that Sunday, officiated by the Archbishop of Paris. I cannot begin to reproduce the effect of the chanting of the hidden boys' choir, the deep, emotional strains of the tremendous organ, and, finally, Notre Dame itself. This vibrant structure is not in any sense a museum, but is, as signs outside remind visitors, a house of God. It is a structure with an incredibly rich history, and yet a history that can communicate with the twentieth century—if people take the time and trouble to listen.

That afternoon the group left Paris for Grenoble, where each of us was to find a new home. The trip was to require eight hours, and, as French trains do not generally include a dining car (which are too expensive, anyway), we traveled "French style." That is, each family brings its own provisions, and people climb aboard the train with pieces of French bread two or three feet long, cheese, and wine.

With this sort of feast and the varied French countryside to divert us, the eight hours disappeared. Moreover, our curiosity was not dampened (or better, dirtied) by soot from the smoke, because this train, like more and more trains in France, was electrified. We were dutifully thankful!

It would be folly, however, to ignore the tension that developed as we approached Grenoble, as we approached those unknown people who were to be our hosts for a month. Once arrived and into the station, the tension was immediately dispelled. With face anxiously peering and smiling at the same time, our families stood in groups awaiting us, and they lost no time in making us welcome.

After making hasty arrangements for a group meeting later that week, each of us was quickly whisked off to his respective new home.

My family is a member of the old and proud bourgeoisie, and, as such, it is representative of an important segment of the French nation, a segment which has influence far out of proportion to its size.

The members of my family are cultured, well-read, and extremely conscious of beauty, both in its traditionally artistic forms and in nature. This is unmistakably evident in their home. The house is a spacious town villa about two kilometers from the center of Grenoble, and, although undoubtedly the height of fashion when it was built 50 years ago, it is now somewhat faded around the edges. This is true of a whole line of homes along the "cours de la libération," and it reflects, I think, the fight of the old middle class in France to retain its position against the invasion (here in the form of modern apartment houses) of the working class.

The house itself is three stories tall, and not one of the spacious rooms lacks an original drawing, a reproduction, or some other object of art, although many of them lack the modern mechanical conveniences. The family spends much of its time together in the home, and finds no difficulty in amusing itself without television! Perhaps the only typical thing about my new family is that they are Protestant, whereas the Protestants are a distinct minority in France. There are about 5,000 Protestants in a district minority in Grenoble.

As individuals, the family is no less interesting. Father is a modest, graying gentleman of about 50 whose reticence does not conceal a keen intelligence and sense of humor. He is the "inspecteur" of the primary schools in this "aviation district" (a French administrative district), and such is his reputation in this field that he was chosen by UNESCO to conduct a year's study in Indo-China, a study which led to a thorough reform of the educational system there.

Just as Father reflects his origin in northern France, Mother completely lives up to the fact that she was born in southern France, in the Midi. She is vivacious, lively and deeply conscious and proud of her heritage. She, too, is a very

Benjamin Poll Given Patent

Patent Given for Transplanter Arm

The Commission of Patents recently announced the granting of a patent to Benjamin Poll, president of the Holland Transplanter Company, covering a plant carrying arm, which is the "heart" of a mechanical type transplanter.

The above picture shows Mr. Poll standing beside a tractor-mounted type transplanter which is one of 10 different models manufactured at the local plant located at 341 East Seventh St. Poll is holding one of the new plant carrying arms, as well as the old style arm formerly used and now considered obsolete. Sales of the Holland Transplanter have more than doubled since the new type of plant holder was introduced in 1954.

The new plant carrying arm automatically takes hold of the plant while the machine conveys it to its proper setting position where it is released and dirt is packed around the plant. Both larger and smaller plants can be transplanted properly by this new invention. Poll has been affiliated with the Holland Transplanter Co. since its origin in 1929.

Area Republicans Greet Candidates At Coffee Kletztes

Cobo and Leonard Talk to Residents; Picnic Slated Later

Holland's downtown was abuzz with Republican activity Saturday with the appearance of Michigan's two gubernatorial candidates—Donald S. Leonard meeting with the citizens in Mary Jane Restaurant and Detroit Mayor Albert E. Cobo and his followers in Holland.

Leonard, former Michigan State Police commissioner who has been in Holland on many previous occasions, arrived here Friday night and was on hand promptly at 9 a.m. He even found time to pay a few visits in the immediate vicinity such as police headquarters and The Sentinel.

There was considerably more hoopla in the Cobo appearance. Arriving 35 minutes late, Cobo headed a caravan of some 16 cars all splashed with posters. There was even a small band on a truck which gave forth with snappy martial music. The musicians were from Grand Rapids.

Many local Republicans paid visits to both coffee kletztes and chatted with the candidates—both of them seasoned politicians when it comes to meeting the public.

Leonard's arrival in Holland Friday night climaxed a week of strenuous activity throughout the state. He spent Monday in Oakland county, Tuesday in Macomb county, Wednesday in Livingston county, Thursday in Branch county, Thursday night in Van Buren county, Friday in Muskegon county and Saturday in Ottawa and Kent counties.

Cobo arrived by plane in Grand Haven at 8:15 Saturday and had breakfast with some 125 Republicans in the Eagles hall. His enthusiastic reception there threw his carefully timed schedule for a loss with the result that his arrival in Holland was more than a half-hour late.

Both candidates took occasion Saturday to comment on the unemployment situation, one of the strongest points used by the Democratic opposition. Leonard said from the beginning he advocated a thorough study into all the facts before introducing any changes in current legislation. The governor's plan, he said, was unrealistic and could upset the state's economy very easily.

Cobo, whose backers are emphasizing that he is a 10-time winner from city treasurer to mayor in Detroit, also said he does not favor the governor's plan. He advocates a business-like approach to government problems along with careful study. "If unemployment mounts, we must meet this emergency like any other and do the best for the state as a whole. Government is no different from any other kind of business."

Both candidates pointed out that Michigan's compensation laws already are the most liberal in the nation, and any new laws must be approached from the total state economy—not totally influenced by the automotive trade which represents some 16 percent of the employment.

A Grand Rapids girl received minor injuries Thursday afternoon when a car in which she was a passenger and another car collided on the Laketon Rd., near Laketon Township Park.

Allegan County Deputy Henry Bouwman said the accident occurred when a car operated by Clarence Gilreath, 41, route 1, drove out of a driveway into the path of the Wolters car.

Bouwman said the '50 model Wolters car was a total loss while damage to the Gilreath '50 model car was estimated at $300. Gilreath was issued a ticket for failure to yield the right of way.

Hamburg Pays $25 Fine In New Chris-Craft Case

GRAND HAVEN (Special)—James Hamburg, 25, of 1703 Perry St., Holland, pleaded guilty to a simple larceny charge before Associate Municipal Judge Edward P. Kirby Thursday afternoon and paid $25 fine and $5.40 costs.

Hamburg was charged with taking certain boat parts from Chris-Craft Corp. in Holland over a seven-month period in 1955, the value not exceeding $50.

The new complaint charging simple larceny was issued Wednesday after Chris-Craft agreed to withdraw conspiracy complaints against both Hamburg and Ken Wright of Holland following an offer by the two defendants to destroy the boat involved in the alleged conspiracy. This cancelled a scheduled two-day trial on the joint cases.

Mr. and Mrs. Delbert G. Jacoby and two children of Cleveland, Ohio, are living at 26 East 29th St. Mr. Jacoby is with General Electric.

Mr. and Mrs. Don McDowell of Grand Rapids are in an apartment at 100 East Eighth St. Mr. McDowell is with Hart and Cooley.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar F. Kissell of Evansville, Ind., are living at 125 East Ninth St. Mr. Kissell is assistant manager at the Kresge store.

Mr. and Mrs. Bliss Vanden Heuvel of Detroit have purchased a home at 393 Lincoln Ave. Mr. Vanden Heuvel is a retired salesman.

There have been quite a few storms the past week and one naturally wonders what the people do in those acres of tents at Holland state park during such violent cloudbursts.

Officer Dennis Ende whose family has been camping at the park gave this answer:

"You put your wife and kids in the car and YOU stay in the tent and try to hold it down!"

There's nothing so interesting to youngsters during the summer as construction of some kind in the neighborhood. Whether it's laying a curb, surfacing a street, cutting down a tree or moving a house, it's a signal for the youngsters to gather, accompanied by bicycles, dogs and goodness knows what.

Mostly, these youngsters are well behaved and stay back reasonable distances from the operations. Sometimes they have to be told. Then there are times when youngsters practically adopt the workmen and ply them with drinking water and soft drinks. Sometimes youngsters follow the workmen all around the neighborhood for days.

On occasion, a workman must scrounge for himself when he gets thirsty on a hot day, although usually the good wife at home sees that he had a thermos bottle.

Once some workmen filled their jars from an outside faucet of a private residence. The owner turned off the water.

If you're the picnicking kind—and who isn't—just be careful about the foods you pack and the length of time that elapses before you eat them. State health authorities warn of the upswing of foodborne poisoning during the summer months. Mostly, hot foods should be kept hot and cold foods cold. Be careful of creamy salads or custard-filled pastries. They aren't recommended as picnic fare.

And don't store your food in car trunks or under boat seats. Both locations give germs the warmth they need to grow, multiply, manufacture their poisons and spoil the fun of a family outing. Of course, if they're in an ice chest, it's okay in those locations.

Laft for the day: "If you refuse me," vowed the ardent swimmer on bended knee, "I shall die."

She refused him, and 72 years later he died.

Duck Farm Goes To Heidema Bros.

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — After a year of litigation, the duck farm property of John and Anna Prawdzik on Spring Lake has been turned over to Heidema Brothers of Holland by court order.

Sheriff Jerry Vanderbeek carried out the court order Saturday morning. He barricaded the Prawdzik property with a cable and turned over the keys to the Heidemas. He said a guard would be posted to enforce the order and protect Heidema nights. His action was based on a writ of possession issued by Circuit Judge Raymond L. Smith, authorizing the change of ownership in mortgage foreclosure.

The Holland firm plans to subdivide the 68-acre farm which has some 3,300 feet of lakefront property. The Heidemas expect to tear down the present buildings. They had started civil action last July for a judgement of $10,000 and ejectment of former owners. Last February the court ruled in favor of the Heidemas, and the latter allowed nearly five months for payment which was never made.

Three years ago Judge Smith ruled that the operation of the duck farm was a private nuisance and laid down nine conditions for continuance in operation. The ruling came after 6½ days of testimony in a 1952 civic suit started by residents on Strawberry point.

In 1953, the Pratt Food Co. of Pennsylvania foreclosed its mortgage of $40,000 on a promissory note and acquired the farm as sole bidder at a public auction July 9, 1954. Later the Heidemas took over the Pennsylvania firm's mortgage to protect their own interests for non-payment of bills.

The Prawdziks purchased the property 20 years ago and operated a club in the 21-room house before going into the duck business. When in full production, the ducks consumed 17 tons of feed daily.

Prawdzik also faces an embezzlement charge brought by John Baar of the American Chick Farm of Zeeland claiming that Prawdzik concealed or disposed of 2,100 chicks valued at $350. The chicks were subject to a title retaining note or chattel mortgage.

Canada's first subway, in operation since March, 1954, runs four and a half miles under Toronto's main thoroughfare.

INTEREST LAGS — When Stanley Saunders, area Ground Observers' Corps supervisor, put out a call for volunteers to attend a training session at Allegan on July 9, the response was not exactly "overwhelming" according to Saunders. But Sgt. Louis Greenlee, of the Grand Rapids filter center, carried out his duty anyway. In the audience were Saunders, Wayne Clawson, Allegan GOC post supervisor; Michael Heltzel, chief observer, Mrs. Greenlee, and Mrs. Alma Roltsch, of the Griswold Auditorium staff. Of the 11 GOC stations required in Allegan county, the post at Allegan, which was constructed a year ago, is one of two not yet activated. Stations are manned at Glenn, Hopkins, Hooper, Wayland, Bradley, Douglas, Burdips, Hamilton and Shelbyville.

PARKING LOT PROGRESS — Allegan's $140,000 off-street parking lot, being built along the Kalamazoo river along Brady and Hubbard Sts., was rapidly taking shape last week. Much of the fill for the lot, which will accommodate 140 cars, is being taken from small islands located in the river. A drag line operated by the Clare Harrington Construction Co., of Fennville is doing preliminary work on the project as a sub-contractor to Carl Godwin and Sons. The work is scheduled for completion by late fall.

Two families, the Charles Merriams of Mishawaka, Ind., and Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Lewis of Clayton, Mo., spent several days here and have made reservations for two weeks in August. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Schalk and family of Oak Lawn, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. V. Partin, Marilyn and Virgil of Lake Orion, Mich., are also vacationing at Lakeshore.

In addition to these operators' licenses, the instructors must have ratings from the American Water Ski Association.

Young Dutch Farmer Eagerly Begins Life in New 'Dream Land'—Michigan

The Netherlands faces a problem of overpopulation which she tries to overcome through industrialization and immigration, according to Peter C. Witte, assistant financial counsel to the Netherlands Embassy in Washington, D.C.

The Dutch diplomat with his brother Hank, who had arrived in the United States last May, came to Holland Friday as part of a vacation trip through the Midwest.

It was the life dream of Hank N. Witte to leave his father's farm at the Island of Texel, the Netherlands, and come to the United States. Since his graduation from the Agricultural High School his efforts never ceased to make his life dream come true. Through the endeavors and good offices of the Netherlands Information Service in Holland, Hank found his way to the "dream land," as he calls it.

"There are lots of vacancies available in industry in the Netherlands," Witte said, "but those who have long been attached to agriculture prefer to seek a place in other countries to continue their farming armed with experience and skill which they have inherited from their forefathers."

The 27-year-old farmer advises every immigrant to bring along a wife from his fatherland to share his life in the new settlement. "I don't feel lonesome because the people are very friendly and hospitable," he said, "but it will be more pleasant for an immigrant who faces difficulty in language and wants to accommodate himself to a new life to have a wife beside him."

"It took me two years to get an immigrant visa, but I feel now rewarded," he said. The well-built farmer feels that he is lucky to live in a Dutch community between Saginaw and Ithaca. He began his work Monday at the Mitchell Farm. It is a "new experience" for a man who used to work in fields with simple tools and horses to execute different processes of agriculture.

Hank looks forward for a bright future in the 250-acre farm where he now works as he will be using mechanical methods supported by science. He hopes to do a fine job because the Netherlands is famous for its flourishing farms and extensive products due to the skill and wide training of farmers.

"I like American dishes," Witte said. "The methods of cooking are different from those in the Netherlands, but food here is more nourishing." Dutch people depend mostly on potatoes and small slices of meat, whereas Americans eat more meat and vegetables which add to their vigor and vitality.

The Dutch diplomat appreciates the assistance of Willard C. Wichers, director of the Netherlands Information Service in Holland and all the staff for "the precious services they perform for both the United States and the Netherlands."

Guy Finds It Difficult to Leave German Family

By Guy Vander Jagt
BONN, Germany — My year with the Wullenwebers as an "adopted son" and at Bonn University as a Rotary Foundation Fellow ends this month. I will be leaving Germany poor in finances but rich in memories.

There was a Tuesday noon at Bonn Rotary, for example, when I sat next to an elderly gentleman. Ignored by the others, he sat there staring at his napkin. I felt sorry for the "poor old man" so I asked what he did for a living. "Nothing," he replied. "I was turned out to pasture long ago."

"And earlier?"

"I was German Chancellor," he said with a twinkle in his eye. I laughed and said, "well, at least that's better than nothing."

"And what are you doing in Germany?" he asked.

"Oh," I said, carrying on the "leg - pulling" mood, "I'm the American Ambassador to Germany."

"Shake hands, Ambassador."

"That's interesting. I was an Ambassador too. Shake hands, Ambassador," he said hardly able to control his laughter.

After a lusty conversation, he invited me to a cup of coffee if ever I was in Dusseldorf. It had been a delightful chat and I was glad I had talked with the "poor old man" everyone else ignored.

Walking out of the dining-room a Rotarian took me aside. "Do you know who you were talking to?" he asked incredulously.

"Of course, a Dr. Luther. Nice chap too."

"And did you know that in the 1920's Dr. Luther was Chancellor of the German Reich?"

"And . . . was . . . he . . . perhaps . . . a German Ambassador too?" I asked weakly.

"Yes, to America. I wish I knew how you Americans always feel so at ease with important people. We were all hesitant to talk with 'the great old man.'"

"Oh," I said, trying desperately to smile, "we Americans do tend to be a bit casual."

Another day I will never forget is Dec. 24. My quarterly Rotary check was overdue and I had not one pennig for Christmas presents. Desperate and dejected I walked the busy streets of Bonn in a gently falling snow. Four times I passed the Rhein - Ruhr Bank before daring to enter and ask for the president — a Herr VanSeebach.

"Let's see if I get this straight," he said after I had stammered for five minutes. "Your check hasn't arrived and you have no money for gifts. And it's the day before Christmas."

"Yes, that's it. That's what I've been trying to say."

"And I suppose," he asked, "you would like to borrow money here?"

"Yes," I said without hope.

"You know no bank can do business like that," he said matter-of-factly.

I nodded, wondering how I could ever face the family without a single gift.

"How much do you need?" he asked.

"400 marks."

He reached for his wallet and pushed a pile of bills across the desk. "Better take 500 and be sure."

Before I could say a word he rose and ushered me out. Without another word, closing the door, he called, "Merry Christmas!"

"Merry Christmas, Herr VanSeebach. Merry, Merry Christmas." A lump in my throat would let me say no more.

There are people as well as moments to remember — Edo Konig, for example, a 31-year-old Reuter journalist and my best comrade and friend in Germany. We had known each other only a short while when one night, as we were drinking champagne in a little Italian restaurant, I told him about a pretty American girl I knew in Geneva, Switzerland.

"Does she have a friend?" he asked.

When I said she did, he asked "How about driving down to Switzerland tomorrow for a cup of coffee?"

"But it's so far!" I protested.

Fifteen hours down, 15 hours back and 20 minutes for a cup of coffee. That's time enough!"

That trip to Geneva was the beginning of a friendship that carried us 15,000 kilometers over sweeping Autobahns, dirt roads and narrow cobblestone streets in Edo's little Volkswagen. Our trail led from Switzerland's Alps to Holland's canals, from Hamburg's Reeperbahn to Rotterdam's harbor and from Berlin's night clubs to Munich's Hofbrauhaus. Sometimes we slept in swank resort hotels, sometimes on cots in waiting rooms, sometimes not at all. Together we interviewed movie stars, POWs, scientists, cabinet members and industrialists. Edo wanted to give me contact with a real cross-section of German life and a "wonderful year." I must say he did just that!

I will always remember too Mamo Wullenweber's hands, a study in perpetual motion. Fifteen hours a day her stubby fingers are busy picking strawberries, canning fruit, sewing dresses, pulling weeds, peeling potatoes, building

Macatawa Lures Vacationers From Many States

There is no doubt about the popularity of Macatawa as a vacation spot with families of three and four generations spending their summers here. Neighbors on the two walks to Lake Michigan and the lakefront arrange many family events during the summer.

Especially interesting to the young people are the baseball games, the tennis matches and swimming and fishing.

Cottage owners depend a great deal on Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Van Regenmortel who have been "institutions" at Macatawa for many years. They know every cottage and location and assist vacationers in many ways. People come to "Mac" from Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, Wisconsin, Michigan and Kentucky.

Of the "regulars" perhaps the best known to local people are Mr. and Mrs. Simon D. Den Uyl of Grosse Pointe Farms, who spend the summer at the Owl's Nest. The Robert Den Uyl family of Birmingham is spending the month of July in Edgeruna cottage. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Den Uyl and daughter, Marjorie Kay, live year around in a log cabin at the entrance to the park. The Den Uyls are former owners of the Hotel Macatawa which was torn down early this year.

In their year-round home are Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Hubbard, Jr. Their son, Jim, is spending the summer with them this year. Mrs. Rose Campbell arrived early this year and is established in Rosemary cottage. The Ray Herricks of Tecumseh are in their lakefront cottage.

From South Bend, Ind., are Mr. and Mrs. Roy Worden and their family. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Carroll, also of South Bend are vacationing in their cottage, Avalon. Old timers at "Mac" include Mr. and Mrs. Frank Welch of Lafayette, Ind.

Sailing enthusiasts Dr. and Mrs. Carl Boman and family of Grand Rapids carry on their activities from Maryland cottage on the lake walk. Mr. and Mrs. Howard K. Hamm and sons of Kalamazoo have taken Knickerbocker cottage for the summer.

Grand Rapids cottagers include Mr. and Mrs. Harold Krasenberg, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bosma and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Kinkema and daughter, Alison, Mr. and Mrs. J. Vandenberg, Dr. and Mrs. Earl Beyers, The John Van Dornen family, Mr. and Mrs. William Hardy and children, Dr. and Mrs. Henry Walkotten and family, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Bigelow, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hondorp and family, Mrs. William Nye and family and Mr. and Mrs. Simon Boerema and son, Jack.

Participating in many local activities during the summer are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bradford and their children from Chicago. They have a cottage on the Lake Michigan walk. The A. Bondy and G. R. G. family of Holland spends the summer at their new summer home on the lake walk while son, John practices water skiing. He can be seen every morning with his bicycle and lunch on his way to the Lakeshore. He is also participating in the sailing races at Macatawa Bay Yacht Club.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Martindale of Lansing have their family for visits at their lakefront cottage often during the season. Mrs. James Schmidt of St. Louis and her parents, the John R. Fosters of Benton, Ill., are regular resorters at the park.

Mrs. O. J. Conrad of St. Louis, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Cavanaugh of Chicago, W. P. Corr of Lansing in Kemah cottage, Mrs. Evelyn Logue of Kansas City and Mrs. E. B. Wildason of Brook, Ind., are vacationing here.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Baum of Claremont, Calif. are well-known Macatawa resorters. He is the grandson of the author of the popular "Wizard of Oz." The Howard Warners of Farmington and their sons, Allen and Harley, spend as much time as possible in their summer home. Harley is currently in the Army. Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Butterfield and son, Tony, of Jackson are also longtime resorters.

Chicago people have been coming to Macatawa for many years. Included in the group are Mrs. Alice Klein, Mr. and Mrs. William O'Brien and family in Bayside cottage, Mr. and Mrs. George De Kruif and family of Oak Park, Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Townsend and Dr. and Mrs. John Vanden Brink.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Evans and family have been spending summers at Macatawa for many years which is quite understandable since Mrs. Evans is the former Marjorie Brooks, daughter of the Earnest Brooks, and she grew up here.

Miss Mary Dushane and her sister, Mrs. Ann Nuner of South Bend, Ind., find Macatawa the ideal summer resort spot. Mr. and Mrs. Charlotte Ballweg and family of Indianapolis are other Indiana people resorting here. Mrs. C. Lauenstein and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hurd Martin, also from Indianapolis, have cottages at the park.

At Sunset Lodge, Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Jacklin of Lansing are vacationing. Pittsburgh, Pa., is represented at Macatawa by Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Quick. Claiming Jackson, Tenn., as their home are Mr. and Mrs. J. Dixon.

Cottages at the park are in much demand with July one of the peak months. In some of the cottages are the Corrigan's of St. Louis in Stack Arms; Mrs. W. McCauley of Lafayette, Ind., Merri Day cottage; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Broderick and family of Birmingham in Dinghy; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Andrews and family of Lafayette in Ottawa Hills cottage; Mr. and Mrs. Burdette Albers and family of Warrensville Heights, Ohio in the J. K. Miller cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Osborn and children of Dearborn are spending July in the Meengs cottage. Mrs. Osborn is the former Barbara Osborn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Osborn of Holland. Mrs. Percy Osborn spends a great deal of time with her grandchildren at the beach.

Others at cottages for the July season are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Boyd and family of St. Louis; Mr. and Mrs. William Taylor and family of Lafayette in Grove Cottage; Mr. and Mrs. M. Osborn and children of Grand Rapids in Duncrest; Mrs. Catherine Baird and daughter of Lansing in Rudder Grange; Miss Helen Jean Gray and a group of friends from Grand Rapids in Greenleaf cottage and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Harbert and family of Battle Creek in the Meadowcroft cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Young and family of Clayton, Mo., are spending the month at Merriwood cottage. Miss Frances Strang and her sister and brother-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Lee are regular vacationers at Macatawa. Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Stiles of Grand Rapids are in the Mapes cottage and Mr. and Mrs. Eldred Wohlgenuth and family of Indianapolis are in Midlakes Cottage.

Mrs. George S. Everhart, a year-round resident of Macatawa has her son and family here for a visit this week. They are Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Everhart and children, Gregg and the newly-baptized Tad of Seattle, Wash.

Mrs. Rodney Everhart is the former Nancy Ceeley, who spent summers at Macatawa before her marriage.

The roster of families and names is almost limitless with young people marrying and coming back to Macatawa for honeymoons and to spend the summers. The Forrest Yeakeys of Jackson have their daughter, Nancy, and her new husband, Dick Silverstone of Ann Arbor with them for weekends since their wedding on June 23. Brud Martindale and his new bride, now honeymooning in Bermuda, will be spending some time at the Martindale cottage, too.

Grandstanding...

By Randy Vande Water
Probably the only praise a group of Holland fellows will get this summer will come in some overhead comment such as "nice hit, kid," or "that's the way to pitch."

But to these fellows, although not said directly, the words of praise will show them they're improving.

And "improvement", whether observed by teammates or bleachers, is appreciation enough for a group of baseball minded men, who are spending a couple nights a week with the American Legion baseball program.

The leagues this year allow kids from nine years old through 17 to play baseball.

This is the first year the nine to 12-year-olds have been able to play in a league and the kids are really excited it up.

The six service clubs of Holland are sponsoring the league and action is at the 22nd St. and Pine Ave. diamond.

The little kids, who swing slim arms with the determination of Mickey Mantles, are learning baseball early and really take it seriously.

Many a tear has been shed as a would-be slugger returns to the bench following a third strike.

But one of the league manager's is right there with a friendly word of advice that may help the lad hit next time around.

The group in charge of the little tykes includes a coach or two and a Legion representative or manager who takes care of all equipment.

Ken Zuverink and Jack Yeomans are coaching the Optimists and Charley Knothuisen is manager. Hal Thornhill and Bill Stahr are the Jaycees coaches and Bill Venhuizen is manager. Pete Beckman coaches the Lions and Bob

Dutch Blow Lead To South Haven; Van Dyke Homers

A perfect squeeze play in the ninth inning gave the South Haven Merchants a 6-5 win over Holland and pushed the Flying Dutchmen into the league cellar in second round play in the Southwestern Michigan Baseball League.

With runners on first and second and one out in the top of the ninth, relief pitcher Wally Witte dropped a perfect bunt in front of the plate along the first base line to score right fielder George Dettmann with the winning run.

After dropping the bunt at the last possible instant, Witte stayed at the plate, adding to the confusion as the Dutchmen pitcher, catcher, first baseman and third baseman swarmed after the ball.

Dettmann, who had reached first on an error and moved to third on a single, broke with the pitch and slid across amid the Dutchmen.

The tie-breaking run marked the end of an uphill climb for the Merchants, who had to overcome a 5-0 Holland lead.

The Dutchmen didn't get a hit until the fourth inning, but for a while it looked like they wouldn't need but the first one. With one out in the fourth and Tony Wentzel on first with a walk, shortstop Bob Van Dyke caught hold of one of starter Leon Kreisten's pitches and drove it over the right-center-field fence to give the Dutchmen a 2-0 lead.

Holland picked up three more runs in the fifth when starter Lefty Westbroek led off with a single to left. Merle Human sacrificed, and was safe on an error. Max Doolittle walked, loading the bases. Morrie Witteveen forced Doolittle, Westbroek scoring and Human taking third. A wild pitch scored Human and Bob Van Dyke's single to left brought in Witteveen, making it 5-0.

South Haven came back in the sixth with two runs. Arnie Palanca and Bob Hamlin singled, and, after a fielder's choice let in one run, a double by Witte brought in the other.

South Haven came back in the sixth with two runs on two singles and a walk, the hit by Larry Geresy, his third of the night, bringing both runs home.

The Merchants tied it in the seventh. Arnie Palanca and Bob Hamlin singled, and, after a fielder's choice let in one run, a single by Dettmann and a double by Witte brought in the other two.

The Dutchmen threatened in their half of the ninth when, with two out, Dwayne Teusink beat out a bunt and stole second. Tony Wentzel walked, but Bob Van Dyke ended the game by popping out.

Rog Smith, who came on in the seventh, was the losing pitcher, and Witte, of course, was the winner.

HIT AND RUN WEAPON — Holland's National Guard Co. D recently received a new 105mm Recoless rifle which is mounted on a jeep. SFC Ray Naber said the weapon has a range of approximately five miles. In use four to five shells would be fired and then the jeep would race off to another position. The heavy blackblast would pinpoint the location if it wasn't moved. Guards will fire the weapon later this month during training at Camp Grayling Aug. 11 to 25. Five vacancies presently exist in the local company. Anyone interested may stop at the Armory anytime during the day or Mondays when the unit has its weekly drill. The new men would accompany the guards to camp this summer. (Sentinel photo)
