Earl Vasser Succumbs To Injuries

Three Others Injured;
Driver Had Seven-Year
Accident-Free Record

BENTON HARBOR—A Holland truck driver was killed and three persons injured in a car-truck crash on I-94 near Benton Harbor at 2:01 a.m. Monday.

Earl J. Vasser, 42, of 2020 Lake St., Holland, was pronounced dead at the scene of the crash after his loaded semi truck rammed the rear of a car at the Britain Ave. overpass, four miles east of Benton Harbor.

Two passengers in the auto, driven by Durvis Raper, 29, of Fennville, were seriously injured. John Calver, 40, and Oscar Ooten, 23, both of Fennville, were taken to Mercy Hospital in Benton Harbor. Raper was admitted at the Benton Harbor hospital for observation.

Both vehicles were headed west on I-94 when the crash occurred. Berrien County Sheriff's officers said it was possible the car had been stopped or had just pulled onto the highway from the shoulder prior to the crash. Officials have not been able to talk with the occupants of the car.

Officials of Holland Motor Express, owners of the truck, said Vasser had left Holland about midnight and was headed toward Chicago. The truck was loaded with miscellaneous freight.

Officials said the semi trailer suffered some $300 to $400 damage. Trucking company officials said Vasser was in his seventh accident-free year with the firm. They estimated he had driven more than 500,000 miles without a mishap.

Vasser was born in Muskegon, and had made his home in Holland for 17 years. He had served in the U.S. Army during World War II.

He was a member of Unity Lodge 191, F and AM, the Henry Walters Post of the VFW and the Moose Lodge.

Vasser is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Karl G. Sundquist of Holland; one brother, Richard J. Sundquist of Holland, and one aunt, Mrs. Leo (Jean) Meyers of Holland.

City Council Rejects Shop Center Plan

7-2 Rejection Vote
Follows Public Hearing,
Council Deliberation

By a vote of 7 to 2, City Council Wednesday night denied a Planning Commission recommendation to rezone a 15-acre site on the southwest corner of 40th St. and Central Ave. to allow development of a shopping center.

The meeting opened with a public hearing on the rezoning issue in which some 10 persons expressed opinion, most of them opposing the proposed move. A good share were persons interested in protecting downtown interests.

Also presented to council were a number of petitions, one with 87 signatures favoring the rezoning, but all others protesting rezoning. One was signed by 17 downtown merchants strongly protesting the move. Another bore 92 signatures, with others bearing 18 signatures, 30 signatures, 23 signatures, 158 signatures and 47 signatures.

Mayor Pro Tem Henry Steffens, who presided at the lengthy committee-of-the-whole in which Council members expressed their opinions, beliefs, and Councilman John Beltman were the only members favoring the development.

Some confusion arose when Councilman Bertal Slagb moved that the petition be denied, and Councilmen found themselves then voting "yes" to vote "no." There was some question whether the motion should be reworded. City Attorney Gordon Cunningham felt there was nothing wrong with the motion although it was out of the ordinary. Councilman Steffens upheld Slagb's right to make such a motion. The final vote was technically 7 yes and 2 no, with Steffens and Beltman dissenting.

Only resident speaking in favor of the center was James Lamb, 193 East 37th St., who felt the center would be an asset and convenience to the community as well as providing a much needed tax base for Maplewood school district which, like Holland district, has been experiencing millage difficulties. He asked for an expression from a board representative, but Dale Mossburg, a board member, said the board had issued no official opinion.

Protesting the center, mostly on traffic and safety measures, were Robert Strabbing, 59 West 39th St.; Paul Baker, 95 East 39th St.; Paul Vander Leek, 36 West 39th St.; and Henry Wassink of Grand Rapids, who owns property on the northeast corner of Central and 40th.

Downtown merchants and leaders opposing the proposed rezoning were James Taylor, who pointed out the downtown at present has 25 empty stores; Leonard Vogelzang, who said the downtown area pays 10 per cent of the total taxes; Stuart Boyd, who described himself as not a citizen of Holland but a taxpayer, and Vernon D. Ten Cate, local attorney who said he had just remodeled a downtown establishment, showing faith and confidence that the downtown is here to stay.

Stephen C. Bransdorfer, a Grand Rapids attorney representing the developers, presented sketches of the proposed development as well as plot plans which showed landscaping and a 132-foot buffer strip around the perimeter. He said no architectural plans had been drawn as yet, awaiting final disposition on the zoning issue.

The plan called for a self-service department store and a supermarket as core stores, surrounded by four or five other stores such as a pharmacy, laundromat, bank, barbershop and possibly a bowling alley at the far end. The latter would require special action by the appeal board.

Future expansion would have up to 15 establishments and a total outlay of some $750,000 to $1,000,000. Contracts with core stores would run 15 to 20 years. The center would employ 100 to 150 persons, although fewer in the beginning.

During the committee-of-the-whole meeting which lasted almost as long as the hearing, there was considerable discussion on city planning, and the original plan to protect the downtown commercial section.

Councilman Richard Smith Jr., also a member of the Planning Commission, said he had called Planning Consultant Scott Bagby of Grand Rapids who had drawn up Holland's original plan. Although Smith said he did not have Bagby's message in writing, he said Bagby felt only neighborhood stores should be in that area which had been reserved for residential development, adding that the downtown area should be protected but that downtown merchants also must meet the challenge and keep abreast of modern merchandising developments.

The original plan had earmarked a neighborhood shopping area of 200 feet by 200 feet in that area.

City Manager Herb Holt said Planner Robert Boatman had done most of the work on the zoning ordinance which was passed about

Victim, 23, Was Pinned Under Car

Frank Garbrecht Dies;
Driver Randall Piers
Injured in Accident

GRAND HAVEN—A rural West Olive man was killed Saturday when the car in which he was riding rolled over on US-31 near Hayes St. in Grand Haven Township at 1:35 a.m.

State police said Frank Garbrecht, 23, of route 1, West Olive, died when he was pinned under the 1962 model sports car. Troopers identified the driver of the car as Randall Ted Piers, 23, of route 2, Holland.

Piers was taken to Grand Haven Municipal Hospital. Officials said he suffered lacerations of the head and other injuries. His condition was listed as good. Piers was thrown from the vehicle, troopers said.

Officials said Garbrecht died of a crushed chest. Medical examiner was Dr. E. H. Beernink of Grand Haven.

Troopers said the auto was headed south on US-31 when the driver lost control of the vehicle. The car left the east side of the southbound lane of US-31 and traveled 294 feet, crossing Hayes St., and then swerved across the southbound lane for another 169 feet, struck a ditch and rolled eight times.

Troopers said the car came to rest on top of Garbrecht about 700 to 800 feet from the point where it first left the roadway. The fiberglass body of the sleek car was shattered.

Troopers said they had not yet been able to learn what caused the driver to lose control of the vehicle.

The accident was the second fatal crash in Ottawa County this week. A total of 11 persons have died in county accidents this year.

Garbrecht was born in Spring Lake Oct. 16, 1938, and was employed at Bohn Aluminum Co. in Holland. He was married in Grand Haven Oct. 25, 1956, to Colleen Boettcher. He was a baptized member of the Harlem Reformed Church.

The fall conference of the chapter will be held during October. The location will be the School of Naval Architecture at the University of Michigan.

a year ago. It was his belief that the area had earmarked neighborhood areas instead of larger areas so that the planning commission or board of appeals would have some control on commercial development in event of larger proposals.

Because of several delays on proposal, it was indicated that the developers were considering alternate sites between Holland and Zeeland in case Council rejected rezoning.

Wednesday's meeting was broadcast, but the broadcast was cut off a few minutes short of adjournment for a baseball game. The unfortunate break left listeners feeling that the issue had passed unanimously, but Council at that moment was only voting on referring the issue to final reading and passage according to procedures set up by City Charter.

The meeting adjourned at 9:56 p.m.

Northside Proposes New City

Petitions Request
Board of Supervisors
To Set Date for Vote

GRAND HAVEN—Petitions signed by 125 residents seeking to incorporate a 7½-square mile area of Holland Township into a home rule city to be called "Van Meer" were filed today with Ottawa County Clerk Harris Neusma.

The petition calls for the Ottawa County Board of Supervisors to set a date for election at the next general election or at a special election.

The area which comprises 7.55 square miles is bordered roughly by Division Ave. on the west, James St. to the north, Zeeland city limits to the east, and Black River and Lake Macatawa to the south except for the Federal school district which is surrounded by Holland city on three sides.

The petition states 5,000 persons live in the area with an average of more than 500 inhabitants per square mile.

The area includes all of section 19 (Beechwood area) and parts of sections 13, 20, 22, 23, 24, 25, 28, 29 and 30.

It is expected the petition will come up at the October session of the Board of Supervisors. Should action be taken at that time, it would be too late for the November election, and it likely would carry over to the primary or general election next spring.

There was no general identification on leaders of the citizens group promoting the new municipality, but a township official said the plan had been discussed at a township meeting last April which was well attended. At that time no name for the new city had been advanced.

"Van Meer" was selected because of Lake Macatawa and Black River in the area. "Meer" in Dutch means "lake" and since "van" means by or from, the new name literally is "by the lake."

Federal district is perhaps more vitally concerned in the new plan than areas north of the river. All area north of the river lies in West Ottawa school district. Federal district has been sending its upper grades to West Ottawa high school on a tuition basis temporarily.

It was understood another citizens group in Federal district has been studying annexation to Holland city and eventually to Holland school district.

The proposed borders of the new municipality would surround the city of Zeeland on three sides. The James St. border would run north on 104th Ave., run east on Roosevelt a half mile and then north to Riley St. and east another half mile, cutting south and following the city limits which just down to Perry St.

The new municipality would include an area east of the Perry St. addition and would proceed south to what would be Eighth St., east on Eighth to 104th and north again on 104th Ave. to Perry St. and east on Perry to about 108th Ave. and onto Paw Paw Dr. where it crosses Black River.

Excluded from the Federal district is the southwest corner. The boundary in this area would be the C and O Allegan line, cutting off Pilgrim Home Cemetery No. 1, Smallenburg Park and the Hope College athletic grounds.

Windmill Sites Being Surveyed

A. J. de Koning, the Dutch windmill expert who arrived in Holland Saturday night to survey sites and other aspects for placing an authentic Dutch windmill in Holland, visited various places along Black River and Lake Macatawa Monday, accompanied by Park Supt. Jacob De Graaf and Carter Brown and Henry S. Maentz of the mayor's committee on windmills.

De Koning, who arrived in Detroit Friday afternoon, was present at a ceremony Saturday afternoon aboard the motor vessel Prins Willem George Frederick, a Dutch ship docked at Detroit, at which time Willard C. Wichers of Holland presented a scale model of the motorship Prins Willem IV for display at the Dorsin Great Lakes Museum on Belle Isle.

Participating in the presentation were Capt. J. Ch. Ladde, master of the George Frederick; Wichers, director of the Netherlands Information Service; A. J. de Koning, Netherlands architect and windmill restoration expert; Mrs. Ruth Stevens, director of the Office of International Relations; Henry D. Brown and Robert E. Lee of the Detroit Historical Commission, and Walker Cislser, president of Detroit-Edison.

Also present were Brown and Maentz of Holland. On Sunday, the Maentzes were hosts at their home here to Capt. and Mrs. Ladde and Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Lee, also Chief Engineer J. Creunen who joined the local group after visiting relatives in Grand Rapids.

Purpose of the Detroit presentation was to call attention to the increasing use of Great Lakes ports by Dutch ships, particularly those of the Oranje line.

The Prins Willem IV is rich in history, much of which touches the Great Lakes. The ship is the oldest vessel of the Oranje line still in use. The keel was laid Jan. 8, 1940, and was launched the following May 3. Before completion, it was converted by the German Occupation Forces into a blockade runner, and after VE Day the British used her as a mine sweeper.

The vessel returned to The Netherlands in December, 1945, and extensive repairs were needed. After reconditioning, the ship made her trial trip July 25, 1946. Prins Willem IV has twice been honored as the first ship of the season in American ports in 1951 at Milwaukee on April 28, and again in 1957 at Chicago on April 24.

Capt. Ladde's last command before the Prins Willem George Frederick was a master of Prins Willem IV.

Detroiters generally were impressed by Project Windmill, feeling it would be a tremendous attraction for Holland from the standpoint of visitors.

It was felt that Holland, Mich., although it already has an enviable national reputation for a small city should constantly work to maintain and improve this reputation, enhancing it by new things.

Highway officials also have expressed high enthusiasm for the project, feeling that an attraction such as a huge imported windmill would be one of the greatest attractions for getting motorists off interstate highways into the towns.

Rebekahs Hold Final Meeting

Mrs. Albert Marlink, noble grand of the Erutha Rebekah Lodge, conducted the final business meeting of the season on Friday evening. The memorial staff, with Mrs. Jack Shaffer as director, draped the charter in memory of Mrs. Nora Harris, who died on June 20. She had been a member of the lodge since 1924. Mrs. T. W. Range was piano accompanist during the service.

Mrs. William Orr read the summary of the past six months' receipts and disbursements as compiled by the auditing committee. The committee, consisting of Mrs. Alice Rowan, Mrs. Goldie Fox, and Mrs. Orr, met at Mrs. Rowan's home July 5, and with the assistance of lodge officers, audited the books.

Mrs. Ray Nicol presented a report on hobo breakfasts and as a member of the hospital bed committee reported a request for a wheelchair and had been made to her. As no wheelchair was available, a general discussion was held by members on policies and record retention. The topic was tabled for review at the first meeting in the fall. Expressions of appreciation were received from Linda Welton and Peter Fox subsequent to their attendance at the Odd Fellow-Rebekah Camp.

Mrs. Shaffer served as hostess at the refreshment table at the conclusion of the business meeting. Mrs. Marlink received the mystery gift.

us had before leaving home. The Experiment doctor bewildered the entire group with a detailed account of the many ways in which deadly or disturbing tropical ailments can be contracted.

But enthusiasm remains high. Takeoff for Europe was tentatively scheduled for Friday at 7:30 p.m. and arrival in Nigeria is on the evening of July 16. There will be a layover of a day and a half in London. To the best of our knowledge, the first leg of the trip will be by jetliner, and the second leg by prop-jet. But all of this is subject to change with little or no notice.

Before reporting for orientation, I took advantage of my early arrival in the East to visit Dr. Lawrence Fabunmi, a Hope College graduate now working with the United Nations Secretariat in New York. Dr. Fabunmi, who holds his doctorate from Oxford University, is presently on loan to the U.N. from the Nigerian government for two years.

In addition to his wife, the former Constance Veenstra, whom he met at Hope, and their infant son, Dr. Fabunmi introduced me to several other Nigerian people living in the apartment village in Jamaica, Long Island, where the family now resides. I received the names and addresses of several contacts in Nigeria who, Dr. Fabunmi assured me, would aid me in whatever way they could. All of the Nigerian people I have met so far have been delightfully warm and friendly, and eager to assist. They take much interest in the fact that I want to visit their country and meet their people, and they have a remarkable ability for making one feel immediately at home.

And so, it's on to Idlewild Airport and the first leg of our 6,000-mile journey. We will fly by Air India to London, landing at about 9 a.m. London time on July 14. Our flight to Lagos, Nigeria, leaves London on the following day at 7 p.m.

Next report: Arrival in Africa and first meeting with host family.

Maplewood Reformed Church was the scene of a double ring wedding ceremony on June 29 when Miss Elaine Ruth Van Voorst became the bride of Robert G. Schwander.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. John Van Voorst of 153 East 37th St., and the late Mr. Van Voorst and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Schwander of route 1, West Olive.

The Rev. William Swets performed the rites at 8 o'clock as the wedding party assembled before an altar banked with palms and bouquets of mums and gladioli offset with candelabra flanking the kissing candles. The pews were marked with wedding bells and ferns.

Robert Van Voorst, brother of the bride, sang "Because" and "Silently Now We Bow Before Thee" accompanied by Mrs. Earl Tellman who also played appropriate wedding music.

The bride, who carried a white Bible covered with two white orchids surrounded by carnations from which fell streamers with carnations, wore a crystal gown with chapel length train and a net overskirt. The neckline on the lace bodice was outlined with sequins and pearls and the long lace sleeves were pointed at the wrists. Her fingertip veil of illusion was held in place by a crown of seed pearls and sequins.

Miss Jean Maas, maid of honor and Miss Kathy Schwander, sister of the groom, as junior bridesmaid, wore street-length gowns of light blue taffeta featuring scoop necklines and large bows in back. They wore matching picture hats and white gloves and carried baskets with blue and pink daisies.

Larry Johns assisted as best man while Bobby Van Voorst Jr., nephew of the bride, served as groomsman. Guests were seated by Howard Van Voorst and Craig Schwander, brothers of the bride and groom, respectively.

Mrs. Van Voorst chose a navy blue lace dress with white accessories and a pink rose corsage for the occasion while Mrs. Schwander was attired in an orchid lace dress with white accessories and a white rose corsage.

After the ceremony the newlyweds greeted about 100 guests at a reception held in the church parlors. The Misses Gayle Harrington and Carol Timmer presided at the punch bowl and Misses Judy and Kristi Berkompas were in charge of the guest book. Gift room attendants were Miss Margaret Fought, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Russel Vanden Bosch.

Mrs. Howard Van Voorst and Mrs. Robert Van Voorst, sisters-in-law of the bride, poured and Mrs. Virgil Johns cut the wedding cake.

The Rev. and Mrs. Raymond De Does of Grand Rapids were master and mistress of ceremonies and serving as waitresses were the Misses Judy Vande Wege, Barbara Caaue and Phyllis Caaue. A program included accordion solos by Shariene Talsma; reading by Miss Joan Pyle; solo "Bless This House" by Robert Van Voorst and a brief talk by Rev. Swets.

For a wedding trip to northern Michigan the bride changed to a white pique dress with white accessories and the white orchid corsage from her wedding bouquet.

The couple resides at 51 1/2 West 22nd St. The bride, a Holland High School graduate, is dental assistant for Dr. J. L. Tinnolt. The groom, also a Holland High graduate, works for Howard Miller Co. in Zeeland.

Jeremiah Discourages False Patriotism

Jeremiah 27:12-17; 37:8-10

By C. P. Dame

Some one said once that it is a good thing to stand for an unpopular but good cause. The prophet Jeremiah spoke for a most unpopular cause and paid the penalty but kept a good conscience and the approval of God which are priceless possessions.

1. The truth is not always welcome. Jeremiah prophesied about 41 turbulent years. He began his work during the reign of the godly Josiah and through the years of wavering, weak Zedekiah, the third son of Josiah. During the last 22 years of Judah's existence, three of Josiah's sons ruled. All were godless. Jehoahaz ruled only three months and was brought to Egypt as a prisoner. His brother, Jehoiakim, ruled 11 years. When he refused to pay tribute to Nebuchadnezzar, the Babylonian king, he lost the throne and was carried a prisoner to Babylon.

Upon becoming king Zedekiah promised loyalty to Babylonians which promise he kept for eight years. At that time the neighboring nations which were all under the rule of Babylonian sent envoys to Jerusalem to confer with Zedekiah about revolting. Jeremiah told these envoys that God had given their lands to the Babylonian king, who was his servant, and they should submit to him and live. The prophet told the same thing to Zedekiah. In Judah there was a pro-Egyptian party which was anti-Babylonian. Although the Babylonian king had shown ample proof of his power the king rebelled and suffered for it.

II. It is costly to believe lies. There were false prophets in Judah. They were the super-patriots who wanted to fight and be free. These men won followers. They won over a number of priests. And that is why Jeremiah had a special message to the priests who were hoping for the return of the Temple equipment. These priests had influence with the people and could foment anti-Babylonian feeling. Jeremiah told these priests what would happen if the nation rebelled against Babylon.

It is strange that some people prefer to believe a lie rather than the truth. Political and religious lies reach our ears all the time. God gave a special message to the king who had sent a delegation to the prophet asking him to pray for him and the nation. The Babylonian army was besieging the city. The Egyptian army began to march to relieve Jerusalem. The Babylonian army retreated. The Egyptian army returned to Egypt without doing anything and the Babylonian army resumed the siege. The prophet told the king that Jerusalem would be captured and destroyed which happened.

If the nation had fully trusted God it would not have gone to Egypt for help. God had already told the king what to do—to yield to the Babylonian rule—why then pray about it? Some people today act just like Zedekiah—they know what God wants them to do and they don't like God's way and they think they can prevail upon God to change, and they pray and disobey. People who stubbornly disobey God need not pray. Penitence and prayer go hand in hand.

Dr. William Welmers

Ex-Resident Leads Program In Languages

EAST LANSING — The largest group of students ever assembled in this country for a regular university program in African languages is undergoing intensive work this summer at Michigan State University.

Dr. William Welmers, former Holland resident who is academic director of the MSU program, estimates there are 1,000 languages in Sub-Sahara Africa but the present African language staff in this country can teach only about 10 different languages at one time.

Five years ago Dr. Welmers was about the only African language instructor in the U.S. Today there are about a dozen, five of whom are instructing in the MSU program this summer.

He was the first in America to devote full time to the description and teaching of African languages.

Swahili, Hausa, Yoruba and Ibo—which are being taught at MSU — and other African languages are important for teachers, scholars and researchers and anyone else at the level of daily village communications, Dr. Welmers points out.

Among those enrolled in the MSU summer program are five missionaries, an undergraduate student who plans to teach in Nigeria, a professor of geography who will do research in East Africa, and an art historian who is preparing for field work on West African art.

Signs Planned Will Direct Persons North

Changes designed to steer traffic north on US-31 into the South Haven, Saugatuck, Douglas and Holland areas are planned, the State Highway Department reported today in a letter to the Holland Chamber of Commerce.

H. H. Cooper, director of the traffic division, outlined several corrective measures which will be done. He indicated "that many of the problems would be corrected with the completion of I-96 through area but realizing the temporary signing is having an adverse effect on the general area business, a work order has been written and these corrective measures should be completed within the next few days."

At the present interchange of US-31 and I-94, one mile west of Niles a ground mounted sign 700 feet easterly of the present cantilever sign will read "US-31 South Haven Next Right."

This means that traffic destined for US-31 south to Niles and US-31 north to South Haven and points beyond will use the same exit.

Traffic destined for US-31 north will exit at the present US-31 I-94 interchange and will turn left (north) on US-31 to St. Joseph, the Blossomland Bridge and the South Haven and Holland areas through the existing trunkline to as they do now, Cooper said.

Desert sunsets are most brilliant when there are broken, translucent clouds hanging in the west.

Residents of Ottawa County have received nearly 155 tons of surplus food during the first six months of 1962. Value of the food is a little more than $87,000 according to Miss Necia De Groot, Ottawa County Welfare Director.

All families on direct relief, as well as those receiving Old Age Assistance, Aid to Dependent Children, Aid to the Blind and Aid to the Disabled, are eligible to receive this food. There are also a number of low income families who receive it.

Legion Stars Seek District Title Friday

GRAND HAVEN — The Holland American Legion Stars and the Grand Haven Legion Juniors will fight it out Friday and Saturday for the District 5 baseball tournament title at Sluka Field here.

Holland's strong nine has won three games in the double elimination meet and Grand Haven, bolstered by three Muskegon Heights players, has won three and lost one.

Holland again had little trouble in winning Saturday morning in the feature game of the three-game program at Sluka field Friday and Saturday. It was the second weekend of play and Holland is still favored to keep its crown, won in 1961, as it has not been defeated so far.

Holland won over Grand Rapids Saturday morning, 8-4, and this was a crucial game as the Rapids team had not been defeated.

Holland now plays Grand Haven here Friday at 6 p.m. and as Grand Haven's team has already lost a game, (to Holland, in the tourney opener) Grand Haven will be eliminated and Holland will take the trophy. If Grand Haven wins, another game will be played Saturday at 1:30 p.m. The winner of that contest would then be the champion.

It was another masterful mound performance by Bruce Johns, the West Ottawa pitcher, and Ken Smith hurled for the losers. Jim Wanner of Grand Rapids collected four hits and Tom Essenberg, the Holland center fielder, hit a double and a single while catcher Dan Bouma had two hits.

Holland scored a run in the third on Bouma's single and Essenberg's double and two more Holland runs scored in the fourth on Kroodsmas's single, Miyamoto's walk and two miscues.

Bouma's run, after a walk, made it 5-2 in the fifth, and Holland scored two more in sixth on a hit and two errors and two in the eighth on a hit and an error.

Jim De Neff, Tom Vizthum, Rog Kroodsmas and Johns each had one hit for Holland.

The scoring:

Holland	001 212 020-8 8 2
Grand Rapids	000 111 001-4 8 4

Batteries: Johns and Bouma; Smith and Wanner.

Manslaughter Charge Okayed

GRAND HAVEN — Prosecutor James W. Bussard Monday authorized a warrant charging manslaughter for Randall Tied Piers, 23, route 2, Holland, in connection with an auto crash early Saturday morning on US-31 a mile south of here which claimed the life of Frank Carl Garbrecht, 23, West Olive.

State police said Piers, owner of the car, admitted he was the driver at the time of the accident in which the 1962 sports model went out of control on the highway near Hayes St. in Grand Haven township. Both Piers and Garbrecht were thrown from the car. Piers, whose injuries were not serious, was released from Municipal Hospital Sunday.

A preliminary examination was scheduled at 3 p.m. today in Municipal Court for Maynard De Garmo, 25, Grand Haven Township, charged with negligent homicide in a fatal crash last Monday which claimed the life of Mrs. Rose Marie Hagstrom, 26, Grand Haven.

De Garmo was released from County Jail Friday after furnishing $1,000 bond. Naval officials who visited him in Grand Haven granted him an extended leave until July 22.

Fourteenth Street Sunday School Class Has Picnic

The Ladies' Adult Bible Class of the Fourteenth Street Christian Reformed Church held a potluck supper at Kollen Park last Thursday. Mrs. L. Timmer, president of the class, conducted devotions.

Games were played under the direction of the Misses Marguerite Ten Brink, Sophia Van Dam, and Elizabeth Wentzel. Prizes were won by Mrs. E. Koops, Miss Janet Timmer and Miss Dora Schermer.

Mrs. E. Bareman and Mrs. C. W. Dornbos, committee for the food, presided at the tables. Approximately 30 women attended.

PROMOTED — David Van Dommelen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Van Dommelen of route 3, was recently promoted to specialist fourth class while serving in active duty at the Schofield Barracks at Wahiawa, Hawaii, with the 4th Cavalry, Troop A. Van Dommelen is assigned as a cook.

EXHIBIT DISPLAYS CITY — This display, shown at the Community Resources Workshop open house Thursday night, was researched and prepared by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Van Lente, both teachers at E. E. Fell Junior High School. They are shown here glancing over the workplan they compiled and which will be used to teach citizenship courses next fall. The structures and functions of both the Holland city government and the Ottawa County government have been included in the report and exhibit. It will be displayed at the request of city officials in Herriek Public Library for a week.

200 Attend Open House Of Resources Workshop

About 200 persons attended open house of the Holland Community Resources Workshop Thursday night in the east unit of Holland High School. Displays in the commons areas showed the work of the 23-member class which had reviewed resources in Ottawa and Allegan counties on levels of industry, commercial establishments, government, services, recreation, conservation, utilities and the like.

So impressed were Mayor Nelson Bosman and City Manager Herb Holt with the city government display compiled by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Van Lente that they requested this display, together with the all-inclusive display which incorporated the 108-page catalogue, be placed in Herriek Public Library for a week. Librarian Hazel Hayes was making arrangements for the display today.

The resources group completed its work today with a meeting with superintendents of schools and principals of Grand Haven, West Ottawa, Spring Lake, Zeeland, Saugatuck and Holland, to determine how best to implement the work of the workshop in the classroom.

In recent years, teachers have found resources a valuable aid in instruction and the catalogue which incorporates source material of the 1961 class as well as the current class provides information of all types in making community resources in the classroom a rewarding experience. Increasing use of the material leads to mutual understanding between the schools and government, business, industries and social agencies.

Included in Thursday's visitors were members of the Holland High School band which had been rehearsing in the auditorium. Workshop members this year were Allen Bennett, Helen Bittner, Norma Brower, Julian Cook, Gloria Derby, Lloyd Kleinheksel, Lorraine Kooyers, John Noe, Vern Schipper, Gladys Van Anrooy, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Van Lente, Margaret Van Vyven and Gertrude and Leonora Zonnevelt, all of Holland; Bertha Dirks and Ella Pelton of Grand Haven; Mary Hager, Dorothy Hofman, Marilee Vanden Berg and Virginia Van Hoven, all of Zeeland; Lucille Nyenhuis of Hudsonville and Bill Waddell of Fennville. Harold Streeter was workshop director and Donald Gebraad was assistant. Mrs. Gebraad served as secretary.

US-31 Business Route Detour Is Determined

A detour route for US-31 business route for next winter was announced Monday in connection with proposed widening of that section of the route on South Washington Ave. from 32nd St. south to Interstate 96.

The northbound detour will continue on US-31 to M-40, then proceed north on Lincoln Ave. and State St. to 19th St. where it will rejoin the present business route. C. M. Mulder, design supervision engineer of the Michigan Highway Department, in a letter to City Engineer Laverne Serne stated he felt this route would provide adequate access to the city from the south.

There is a possibility the new route might be used during Tulip Time, 1963, but such determination would be made next spring, Mulder said.

GIRLS BUILD PYRAMID — Highlighting the Circus of Skills program Friday in the Girls Sports School in Jefferson School was the building of a pyramid. The girls on the right are forming the pyramid while the three girls at

Circus of Skills Ends Sports School

A Circus of Skills and presentation of awards marked the end of this summer's Girls Sports School, sponsored by the Holland Recreation Department, and held at Jefferson School.

The show or circus centers around rhythmic activities and their varying degree of skills. This also helps develop poise and confidence before a group.

Each girl participates in four or more numbers in the show. Mrs. Con Eckstrom, director, said. Highlighting the show is the squash pyramid with a variety of end pieces.

A total of 24 girls were used to make the pyramid. After all of the girls are mounted a command is given "squash" and all arms are outstretched and legs back as the pyramid collapses.

"We also have clowns to keep the show going, keep our equipment on hand and add a touch of color to the show," Mrs. Eckstrom said. The clowns this year were Cathy Pathuis, Sandy Stekelee, Barb Winchester, Susan Mikula and Kathy Garlick.

A total of 71 girls were enrolled in the four-week school and each was given a fitness test. Each week the girls participated in a different rhythmic, individual and team game and each week points were recorded and totaled at the end of the four-week period.

The girls with the most points receive All Star and first, second and third place awards for all events.

Sheryl Glupker and Diane Kok won the Group A All-Stars while Kristi Ritterby and Sandy Stekelee were the Group B All-Stars and Linda Van Oosterhout and Susan Van Wyk were the Class C All-Stars.

Activity on the balance beam was added this year for the first time and the girls "were quite enthused but hesitant," Mrs. Eckstrom said.

Special events included bowling and an afternoon of swimming at Munson's cottage.

Included in the Circus of Skills were the grand march, rope jumping including basic jumps and cross rope, folk dance, tumbling, balance beam, soft shoe dance, drill team and Dutch dance.

Boosters Club To Aid Sports

In an effort to head off drastic cuts in the Holland High School athletic program for the coming year, the Holland Boosters Club has volunteered a plan to help finance the sports activities.

Curtailment of football in the junior high school and removal of the cross country team were earlier announced by the Board of Education as necessary budget cuts following the failure of a millage proposal several months ago.

The Boosters, headed by Dick DeWitt, have urged the school board to keep the fall sports program intact with the promise of additional financial support. This support is to be gained through gate receipts at home football and basketball games, and principally through the sale of Booster tickets which will be sold prior to the opening of the football season.

"We are not asking people to give money to this program," De Witt said. "We are simply urging the public to do the most natural thing any community would want to do—attend local high school games, and cheer the boys on."

The Booster committee has worked closely with Joe Moran, Holland High Athletic Director in this effort and have the approval of the school board. Moran pointed out that football gate receipts at Holland have always lagged behind those of other communities.

The small sale of adult tickets to football games has not been a financial burden to the schools, but neither has the football program supported other portions of the athletic program as is frequently the case in many high schools and colleges.

The cost of a full fall program, including junior high school football and cross country—neither of which are the source of revenue—is approximately $12,000. Varsity football gate receipts in recent years have been less than $3,000. Inasmuch as football, varsity and reserve, have revenue factors the board of education approved their continuance this year, and slashed the balance of the program. The Booster group has taken the challenge to raise public interest to the point where gate receipts equal the cost of the entire program.

Details of the special Booster tickets and other season ticket sales will be announced soon by a committee headed by Larry Geuder. Intensive selling during the month of August it is hoped will provide funds in advance of the upcoming school year and allow the full program to be carried out.

Geuder commented that there

SOUTHERN TERMINUS OF NATION'S LONGEST FREEWAY—Traffic started using this five-leaf clover interchange for the first time Friday when the nine-mile stretch of Interstate 94 was opened between Sawyer and New Buffalo. Covering approximately 70 acres, the big interchange ramps carry traffic off the expressway to M-60 and US-12 and the joint routes onto I-94 bound for Detroit and interim points. The 214-mile expressway from Detroit to New Buffalo is longest

tion of Sawyer-New Buffalo link leaves only two-mile stretch to complete tie-in with Indiana toll road. Michigan and Indiana are negotiating now on the connector. (Photo by A. Hann, Hartford; courtesy of the Benton Harbor News-Palladium.)

acre farm owned by House of David. Marked with broken white line, the two lanes resemble drag strips used for high speed auto racing and testing. The Sawyer-New Buffalo section was built at a cost of $6.5 million, including right of way. It has interchanges at Sawyer, Union Pier and New Buffalo

FIRE BOAT DEMONSTRATED—A new fire and rescue boat built in Holland by Roamer Yachts, division of Chris-Craft, spouts water high into the air in a demonstration staged earlier this week. The new craft is designed to

Roamer Yacht Company Shows New Fire and Rescue Craft

The unveiling demonstration of a new Roamer Yacht Co. product this week before a group of local firemen and Coast Guard officials may be the start of something new for Holland industry.

Roamer Yachts, Division of Chris Craft Corporation for Fire and Rescue Boats Inc., of Chicago, Ill., displayed its new fire and rescue boat built in Holland.

William M. Sanford, plant manager of the Roamer Division, said this boat may mean increased activity for the Holland plant if cities requiring such sea-going fire engines accept the idea of the vessel.

He pointed out several advantages which the Roamer boat has over the larger fire boats presently in use around the country. It can travel nearly four times as fast over the water and, in addition, is low enough so that lift bridges need not be raised.

Sanford said this means the Roamer fire boat can arrive at the disaster scene in one-tenth of the time it takes the larger boats.

Sanford said he knows of several cities that are in the market for new fire and rescue boats. If they like the Roamer vessel, Holland plant production will have to be increased to meet the demand.

The 27-foot Aluminum Roamer fire and rescue boat is basically the same boat as the pleasure craft only it has been modified to accommodate fire equipment.

It is powered by two 240 horsepower Crusader Fire Fighter engines which operate two turbo power jet units. These are capable of driving the craft at speeds exceeding 30 miles per hour with full fuel tanks and a crew of three.

The bow deck nozzle has a 2,000 gallon per minute capacity, and there are eight additional high pressure and intermediate pressure outlets. The pumping capacity ranges from 5,000 gallons per minute at 40 pounds to 500 gallons at 250 pounds.
