Lars Granberg To Head College At Orange City

The board of trustees of Northwestern College, a Reformed Church liberal arts college in Orange City, Ia., today announced the appointment of Dr. Lars I. Granberg of Hope College as president of Northwestern College.

The unanimous vote of the board was cast at a special session on campus in Orange City Wednesday afternoon. Dr. Granberg, acting vice president of academic affairs at Hope College, was present. He succeeds Dr. Preston J. Stegenga who has accepted an academic post in Africa. Dr. Stegenga is a son of Dr. Miner Stegenga of Holland.

Dr. Granberg joined the Hope College faculty in 1947 and was made chairman of the department of psychology in 1952. From 1954 to 1960 he served as dean of students and associate professor of pastoral counseling and psychology at Fuller Theological Seminary in Pasadena, Calif. In 1960 he rejoined the Hope faculty as professor of psychology and staff psychotherapist in charge of student counseling services. He was named acting vice president for academic affairs about a year ago.

Born in Egersund, Norway, he came to the United States at an early age. He attended Chicago public schools and received a B. S. degree in anthropology from Wheaton College in Wheaton, Ill. After 4½ years in the armed forces in World War II, he obtained M. A. and Ph.D. degrees in psychology from the University of Chicago.

Dr. Lars I. Granberg

The Granberg family will move to Orange City late in August. For the last four years, Mrs. Granberg, the former Carol Van Oss of Grand Rapids, has taught first graders at the Cornelia Glerum School in West Ottawa district.

The Granbergs have three daughters. Barbara will be a senior at Hope College. Karen will enter St. Olaf's in Northfield, Minn., as a freshman in the fall. Linda will be an eighth grader in Orange City.

Dr. Granberg, 47, will be installed as Northwestern's fourth president around Nov. 1. The four-year liberal arts college of the Reformed Church in America has an anticipated enrollment of 650 students this fall.

Councilmen Reject Cool Comfort

It was cool Wednesday evening, and City Council voted down 7-1 plans for air conditioning Council Chambers at a cost of $3,974.

"The amount is ridiculous," Councilman Bertal Slagb said. "Municipal Court has three air conditioners in windows at a cost of about $1,000. Why should it cost four times as much to fix this room?"

City Manager Herb Holt had recommended low bid of Hekman Heating and Air Conditioning for the work for which Architects Kammeraad and Troop had drawn specifications.

Councilman Morris Peerbolt, whose company had also entered a bid, asked to be excused from voting. His request was granted.

Councilman Henry Steffens, the only member voting in favor of the installation, said he initially had been opposed to the suggestion in the belief that Council could "grin and bear it" in the heat as well as the rest of the citizens, but on reflection he felt air conditioning might be a good idea.

City Manager Holt said the system in the court room has not been altogether successful. The room appears comfortable on entrance, but it quickly loses it when a number of people are in the room for a time. The equipment is somewhat noisy and people in the visitors section cannot easily hear all court proceedings despite addition of a public address system.

Holt explained that the system designed for council chambers was one of true air conditioning, not just refrigeration as in the court room. It would cool, filter, cut humidity and distribute the air to provide maximum comfort. He added that council had earmarked $5,000 for such work in a previous budget but installation had not been made.

A remark that units such as used in the court room would cool off the audience but not the Council in its alcove brought a chuckle.

Council chambers are used far more often than two Council meetings each month indicate. Holt said the room is used for meetings of the Planning Commission, Traffic and Safety Commission, Board of Appeals, labor negotiations and many other uses. "This probably is the most important room in the city in view of the many decisions made here affecting the welfare of the community," he said.

Deputies Cite Driver

Lambert Boersen, 74, of 3390 24th Ave. was cited by Ottawa County sheriff's deputies for failing to yield the right of way after his car collided with a car operated by Peter Dykema, 42, of Grand Rapids at M-21 and Byron Rd. at 9 p.m. Wednesday. Susan Dykema, 12, a passenger in the Dykema car, received minor injuries.

Council Assigns BPW Anti-Trust Settlement

City Council decided Wednesday night that funds resulting from the settlement of anti-trust litigation against various electrical manufacturers and suppliers will revert to the electrical construction fund of the Board of Public Works.

According to City Attorney Gordon Cunningham, there were two choices. The fund which currently amounts to approximately $280,000 could be placed in the bond and interest redemption fund which is accrued to pay off revenue bonds which financed the last addition to the James De Young light plant, or the money could go into the construction fund for a proposed new addition.

Cunningham's communication stated that putting the money into the bond redemption fund would not relieve the city from placing into that fund each month 1/6 of the total amount of interest maturing on the next interest date and 1/12 of the principal maturing on the next redemption date.

A discussion among Council members on the two choices indicated that either amounted to much the same thing in the long run, as it would affect electrical profits which are shared 50-50 with the general fund.

The city attorney's opinion stated that settlement funds, the result of lengthy litigation following a federal price-fixing conviction, are deemed to be a reduction in cost and therefore constitute excess bond proceeds. Under terms of the local ordinance which set up the revenue bond issue, any unexpended balance of proceeds to the extent of $600,000 may be used for the improvement, enlargement and/or extension of the electrical system if such use is approved by the Municipal Finance Commission, and any remaining balance must be paid into the redemption fund.

The vote to transfer the money into the construction fund was unanimous.

The Board of Public Works also was the subject of considerable discussion on another matter. The board urged Council's cooperation in setting up an election to let citizens decide on an additional $800,000 bond issue to complete the city's sewer expansion program. Councilman Henry Steffens said he felt it was not a breach of confidence to say that this was the primary subject of discussion at the pre-Council meeting that evening, and Council is as perplexed as anybody else on how to proceed in the matter.

Since bids are considerably above engineers' estimates, Steffens suggested that the city manager, superintendent of the Board of Public Works and the city engineer meet with representatives of the Black and Veatch engineering firm to discuss alternatives.

This motion carried unanimously, plus an additional rider to authorize the committee to consult other engineering firms if developments indicate.

Answering a question two weeks ago on the city's obligation on paying Black and Veatch for sewer plans, City Attorney Cunningham said the contract calls for paying 80 per cent on completion and the remaining 20 per cent if construction is done within two years. He said if the construction is not done in two years, the fee is 10 per cent. He ruled that in any case, the city's obligation was 90 per cent. He could not rule at present on whether the remaining 10 per cent must be paid if another firm supervised the work in the two-year period. He said there was no question but that the city would own the plans.

"The support we receive from these ladies is one of our greatest assets," he said.

An opening prayer was given by the Rev. Charles Steenstra, president of the Holland Ministerial Association, and the benediction was given by the Rev. Robert Nykamp of Western Theological Seminary who heads the hospital chaplaincy program.

City Council Studies New Truck Route

City Council has taken under study a recommendation of the Traffic and Safety Commission changing the truck route in Holland.

The recommendation was made Wednesday night, listing several changes in the present route, but opposition was expressed on the part which would make 32nd St. a truck route from Lincoln Ave. to Washington Ave.

The recommendation would add the following streets to the truck route: 16th St. from Fairbanks Ave. to US-31 bypass; Lincoln Ave. from Seventh to 16th Sts.; 32nd St. from Lincoln to Washington Ave.; 11th St. from Van Raalte Ave. to Kollen Park Dr.; Kollen Park Dr. from 11th St. to Cleveland Ave.; Cleveland Ave. from Kollen Park Dr. to 16th St. (Kollen Park Dr. is not the drive through the park but rather the angling street bearing southwest from the foot of 11th St. and is referred to on certain maps at Lake St.)

The recommendation would remove the following streets from the truck route: Van Raalte Ave. from 11th to 13th Sts.; 13th St. from Van Raalte Ave. to Harrison Ave.; Harrison Ave. from 13th to 16th Sts.; 16th St. from Harrison to Cleveland Aves.

Letters from Bethany Christian Reformed Church and Resthaven objected to making 32nd St. a truck route. A petition objecting to the route was signed by 60 residents on 32nd St.

Roy Hickman, chairman of the Traffic and Safety Commission, briefly reviewed the history of truck routes, dating back to April, 1964, when truckers held the first of a series of meetings with safety commission members, city officials, etc., emphasizing the need for a more workable and safer route for trucking firms.

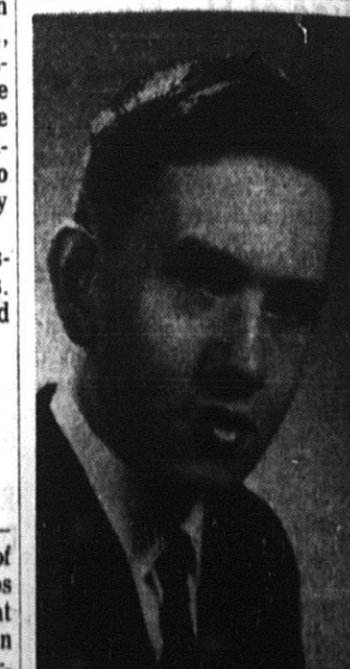

John Van Dyke Jr., speaking for the truckers, said, "We have no quarrel with residents on 32nd St. but we need a logical route for our local deliveries, one we can travel with reasonable safety and in the least time possible." He named a long list of churches on present truck routes on State St. and Michigan Ave. as well as Holland Hospital and schools on or near current routes.

Others in the audience of 50 opposing trucks on 32nd St. were Ted Hoeksma speaking for the Christian School board; Ben Lemmen, speaking for Resthaven, and Mart Oldemulders, speaking for the children who cross 32nd St. at Central Ave. It was pointed out that 32nd St. had been a truck route, but the section from Lincoln to Washington was removed from the route a few years ago when the street was improved. Opposition had been expressed at the time of a public hearing on special assessments for new paving. The street was made wider and designed for heavy vehicles, but property assessments were no greater than normal paving improvements.

HOLLAND'S WATER WONDERLAND — Blue water and white sand surrounded by lush green vegetation can't be beat for a summer vacation area which is shown here in an aerial view that clearly shows Lake Michigan in the foreground and Lake Macatawa joined in the channel. This is the peak of the tourist season and a close look will show the hundreds of cars at Holland State Park in the center foreground with the camping sites, the parking areas and the fine sandy beach. The hundreds of tiny dots are people enjoying the sand and water. At the right center is the strip which is Macatawa with the Macatawa Inn and the cottages in the hills. Also

YOURS TRULY, THE TAPE

Recently the Wall Street Journal carried a story about the woes of publishers who have put their circulation data on tape. The problems of getting the computerized equipment to be have given some circulation managers a bad time. It seems that the machined equipment doesn't just change its data with one letter. It actually compounds its errors and calls for a further exchange of letters. Some publications have decided to drop the whole thing and go back to the old method, which at least had a bit of personality.

We thought the publishers had troubles until we read about the problems of the Democratic National Committee. It decided to modernize with computerized equipment. The results have been "something less than spectacular." Thousands of letters were returned as undeliverable. This isn't bad. It happens under any system, since people do move. But, and this is worse, constituents sent in envelopes with their names "garbled beyond recognition." And this is bad. Politicians aren't sure that the machinery is doing them any good, and they have reason to believe it may be doing them a bad turn.

We are quite well aware that somewhere along the line the human hand has had a part in the errors. But there is something impersonal about punched tape and punched cards. And it's one thing to say you had a new girl on the job, and still another, and best not to say so, that the machine got things fouled up. Somehow the voter gates to be one cog in the big game of politics. He reacts a bit like the Berkeley student who insists he is just an IBM card.

Maybe he'll have to go back to the human checker who takes his pen and makes a little correction here and there. It might make it all stand out as the fallible human hand doing its best, even when that best is correcting the errors of the machine age.

With the world getting bigger and more complicated, we are getting some notion of what it means to have the machine manipulate us instead of we the machine. We must remain unique.

Sincerity Before God
Exodus 20:7; Matthew 5:33-37;
Mark 7:5-8; Titus 1:16
By C. P. Dame

Two commandments of the Decalogue deal with speech—the third and the ninth. The tongue is a blessing and can be a curse. The third commandment calls upon us to use the name of God with reverence. I. God demands and deserves reverence from his creatures. God's name is misused variously. Perjury is a grievous sin. When a person swears that he will tell nothing but the truth and calls upon God to witness to the veracity of what he is going to say he assumes a heavy obligation.

Perjury is serious because it leads to the miscarriage of justice. Profanity is a common sin. Today all manner of people use profanity. Many modern novels are loaded with swear words. A thief may get some gain, a sensualist finds some satisfaction, a dishonest man may win some profit, but what does a swearing person get?

A cursing man is a coward for he relies upon the forbearance of God. The profane man is a slave. He reveals something about himself—he has a bankrupt vocabulary, a godless heart and mind, and a disregard for the feelings of others.

If God demands that we be truthful, The Lord's words, "Thou shalt not forswear thyself" are from the Sermon on the Mount. In the days of Jesus people took and gave oaths readily. The Jews made a distinction between oaths, some they considered binding, others not. The man who swore by God's name considered that oath binding but if he swore by heaven or by the earth he did not feel obligated to keep it. Jesus objected to this. The Lord also said that a man's character should make an oath unnecessary. Because we live in an evil world it is necessary to ask for oaths—Jesus took an oath and so did Paul.

III. God demands sincerity. The religious leaders put much emphasis upon form but they did not do Jesus made two charges against them—they were hypocrites because they obeyed God in outward things but disobeyed Him in the inward things. The second charge was that they put the rules and rituals of men before the commandments of God. They showed this by talking so much about the tradition of the elders. Heart worship counts—lip worship means little.

IV. God demands proof. Paul preached the gospel in Crete and won converts there. He left Titus there to minister to the congregation. New churches are sometimes plagued with troublemakers.

A few troublemakers in Crete stressed marginal matters. Paul said that they professed to know God but their conduct did not show it. Profession calls for performance.

Some church members hurt the cause of Christ by their careless speech and behavior. The church is blessed by members whose conduct is winsome and whose behavior attractive.

Ottawa County Farm News

Ottawa County Extension
Agriculture Agent

How about a do-it-yourself "instant lawn" this year? You can do it, you know. But first you have to start with sod, not seed.

An outline for a step by step process for establishing a sodded lawn is:

1. Buy good sod. Look for sod that is free from weeds and weeds grasses and contains those species of grasses recommended for the location you want to sod. Merion bluegrass sod, for example, should not be used in shady areas or on very sandy soils.

On the other hand, red fescues are desirable under shaded conditions or on droughty sandy soil. However, sod which contains a high per cent of red fescues is often difficult to handle because of its poor sod forming characteristics.

Mixtures of desirable species of grasses have been found to be more disease resistant than single species.

2. Prepare the soil. If the soil surrounds a new building or excavation site, it is important to allow it to settle before establishing the area. Many sodded lawns have had to be repaired because of settling over sewer lines, for example.

If the soil is very sandy, it may be well to add loam and/or peat and work them into a depth of about 5 to 6 inches. If the soil is very high in clay, sand and peat should be mixed in.

Soil which is to be sodded should be tilled in much the same way as you would prepare a garden. This means a breaking up of large clods, removing sticks, stones and other debris and smoothing the soil.

3. Fertilize the soil. Fertilizer and lime should be applied according to soil needs. Soil tests can be obtained by taking soil samples to the county office on the corner of James and US-31 in Holland or in the County Building at Grand Haven.

At the time you wish to establish a lawn, lime should be applied if the pH (acidity) is below 5.5 to 6.0.

A complete fertilizer containing nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash — such as 12-12-12 fertilizer can be applied at the rate of 15 to 25 pounds per 1,000 square feet as a general recommendation if soil tests are not available. If the soil is sub-soil, you should continue to use this complete fertilizer for one or two years before using higher analysis nitrogen fertilizers.

4. Lay the sod. Sod should not be laid on dry soil. Sprinkling the soil before sodding allows the new, small roots to become established.

In laying the strips of sod, stagger the ends in order to prevent lines across the lawn. Make sure that the edges of the sod are in good contact with each other, but not overlapping. Then roll lightly to be sure the roots are in contact with the soil, as new roots sent out by the grass plants will dry out rapidly if air pockets are left.

5. Water that lawn! A very important step is to be certain that you water regularly so the roots can "knit" readily into the soil below. A thorough job of watering is needed just after the sod has been rolled, then watering may have to be done in one to two days to keep the sod moist until the roots have grown into the soil. Once they are well-established watering can be reduced to once a week or less.

Sod can be laid nearly any time during the year if the soil is not covered with snow. But special problems may exist with late fall sodding, since the grass may dry out and die as the roots do not have an opportunity to establish before the ground freezes. During other seasons, sod can be laid any time the soil is dry enough to allow soil preparation.

Plan to attend the State Farm Management tour Wednesday. You may choose any one of four farms to visit or tour all the following operations: George and Gerald Kober, 7816 Peach Ridge N.W., Sparta; Wesley Hessler, 11 Mile Rd., near Young Ave., Rockford; Irvin Rodgers, 10681 76th St., Alto; Kitson Farms, Inc., 9547 Belding Rd., Rockford. Guides will be on duty at all the stops from 9:15 a.m. until 4:30 p.m.

Dates to mark on your calendar: The Muck Crop Field Day — Tuesday, July 26 starting at the Michigan State University Muck Farm located northeast of East Lansing. Tours will visit experimental plots on fertilizers, plant varieties, pesticides, irrigation, weed, disease, and insect control.

Incorrect Ballots Sent to Electors

Twelve absentee ballots for the Aug. 2 primary election mailed out by the city clerk's office were incorrect, City Clerk D. W. Schipper said Monday.

The incorrect ballots furnished by Ottawa County give the slates of candidates for the 55th state legislative district. The city is in the 55th district.

The ballots were mailed before the error was noticed, Schipper said.

Schipper said correct ballots with the slate of candidates for the 55th district will be provided by the county. The persons who received incorrect ballots will be sent correct ballots, he said.

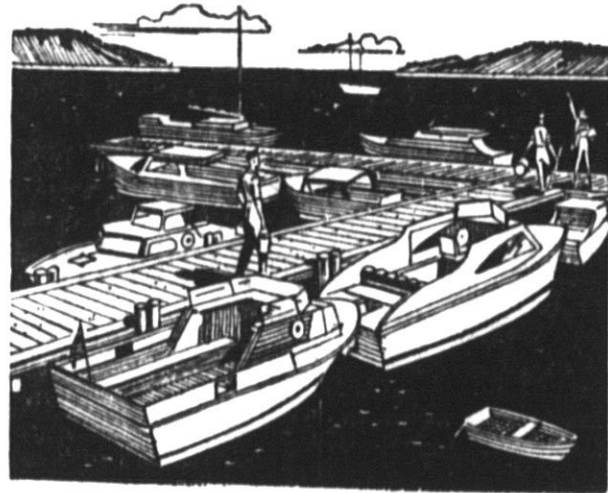

Zeeland Youth Hurt in Mishap

WAYLAND — A 17-year-old Zeeland youth was reported in fair condition Monday at St. Mary's hospital, Grand Rapids, with injuries received in a crash on U.S.-131, six miles north of Wayland, Sunday at 12:20 a.m.

David De Jonge, Gordon St., Zeeland, received multiple fractures of the left arm and leg when he was struck by a car operated by David Smith, 18, of Kalamazoo.

Wayland State Police said De Jonge's car was parked off the roadway while he was inspecting a loose fan belt when the Smith auto veered off the highway and pinned De Jonge between the two cars.

The impact threw De Jonge some distance from the crash. St. Mary's officials said that De Jonge was in surgery for over eight hours.

Ottawa County 4-H News

By Willis S. Boss
Extension 4-H Youth Agent

The following members have been selected by the awards committee to represent Ottawa County at a Citizenship Short Course to be held from Aug. 7 to 13 at Washington, D.C.: Mary Zandstra from Byron Center with 7 years of 4-H Club work; Lucy Grossenbacher with 8 years of 4-H Club work and from Coopersville; Jean Rasch with 7 years of 4-H Club work from route No. 2, Grand Rapids; Mary Courtade of Conklin with 8 years of 4-H Club work; Elaine Sichterman of Coopersville completing 7 years of club work; Jack Ferwerda, Jr. of Zeeland with 6 years of 4-H Club Work; Fred Rosel of Conklin with 6 years of 4-H Club work; and Wayne Scharphorn of Coopersville completing 7 years of 4-H Club work.

These delegates are being sponsored by businesses in Ottawa County who are contributing $60 of their $100 expenses. We know that the delegates will have an outstanding experience as they spend a week at the National 4-H Center in Washington, D.C.

The 4-H camp session of July 5-8 was somewhat troubled with an outbreak of illness. Gene Elkins, camp director, and Warren Bosworth, summer agent, took all the necessary precautions and called in the County Health Department to locate the cause of the trouble. The situation was somewhat relieved when Dr. R. Ten Have, County Health Director, gave a clean bill of health after examination of food samples, blood tests, and other inspections. He stated definitely that there were no unsanitary conditions that had caused this illness, but that it was a fast developing virus similar to a summer flu which spread rapidly and lasted from 6 to 24 hours. Though it was quite bothersome, we are pleased with the final facts. Other than the illness, the camping program is going along smoothly.

July 18 to 21 will be our final camping session this summer. We want to thank the camp director, Gene Elkins, and his wife and daughter; also Jerry Kleynenberg, the nurse; and Mrs. Bernard Groth, the head cook; and all the camp counselors for conducting an outstanding educational living experience for 550 different boys and girls in Ottawa County.

The Berlin Fair at Marna opened on Monday and will run through the entire week. Judging of 4-H exhibits are being done today and Wednesday. The fair is open to the public to view the exhibits the rest of the week. All 4-H exhibits will not be released until 4 p.m. on Saturday except livestock which will be released at 12 noon on Saturday. Many 4-H Clubs will be exhibiting their projects at the fair. Also the winners of the winter achievement days will have a special group exhibit in the 4-H building. We invite the general public to come to the fair and view the exhibits.

Two dairy tours were conducted during the past week. One in the north part of the county when we visited the Glen Stroven and Henry Modderman farm and the other tour was held in the south part of the county when we visited the Gil Wedeven and Gerald Poest farms.

Our sincere thanks and appreciation to these farmers for allowing us to use their dairy cattle for 4-H judging. Both tours were well attended. The older members were given outstanding dairy judging tips and the younger members were given some fitting and showing information to prepare them for the Marne Fair. Semi-finalists for the judging team will be notified during the next week.

Goldie Heasley Cain Dies In Florida Saturday

CLEARWATER, Fla.—Goldie Heasley Cain, daughter of the late Dr. W. G. Heasley of Zeeland, died Saturday after a lingering illness.

Surviving are the husband Tom Cain; two brothers, Roy M. Heasley of Holland and Lloyd E. Heasley of Oxford, Maine.

Given Grant At Coventry Cathedral

G. Nathan Jonker, formerly of Holland, has been chosen one of 10 students who will participate in Valparaiso (Indiana) University's first "Overseas Experimental Study Program" at Coventry Cathedral in England.

He will leave the first week in September for Coventry, where he will take a regular academic course while exploring in depth the relationship between contemporary and medieval drama and the Universal Church.

Jonker, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Jonker of Mt. Clemens, (Mrs. Jonker is the former Yvonne Bosman of Holland) has been in summer stock repertory theatre in Pennsylvania and active in the drama department at Valparaiso. He is the grandson of Mrs. Olyve Bosman and Mrs. Peter Jonker Jr., of Holland.

Individual selections for the program were based upon comprehensive evaluations by advisors and deans, upon academic records and dramatic talent. Canon Simon Phipps of Coventry Cathedral has worked closely with the administration at Valparaiso to bring the program to a successful climax.

American students will live with English families for the entire year.

A break for Susan Bray, who compares her Dutch family to her own in many ways, except she has only one real brother, Wally, 16.

GETS AWARD — Clarence Reenders holds the statuette of a prairie chicken he received recently for being named the outstanding soil conservationist of the year in Michigan. The chairman of the West Ottawa Soil Conservation District was given the honor at the Michigan United Conservation Club's convention held in Marquette.

C. Reenders Honored At Convention

MARQUETTE — Clarence Reenders, chairman of the West Ottawa Soil Conservation District, was honored at the Michigan United Conservation Club's convention at Marquette recently. He received a statuette of a prairie chicken when cited for having worked "doggedly over the past 35 years to help stabilize soils throughout Ottawa County." The presentation was made by Dan Reed, executive secretary of the Michigan Farm Bureau of Lansing.

The award sponsored by the National Wildlife Federation and the Sears Roebuck Foundation, was for the outstanding soil conservationist of the year in Michigan.

Reenders has been a director since 1938 when the district was formed and chairman of the board since 1942. Under his leadership more than 1,850 property owners have become co-operators in the district program. He is the first district cooperator and has the first conservation plan that was written in the newly formed district.

Reenders believes that the greatest contribution to the soil and water conservation movement today is to interest young people and enlist their efforts in conserving natural resources. Recently a board of junior directors was formed by the district to interest young people in the need for conservation and to help carry out the district's information program. The board of junior directors is composed of a representative of the Boy Scouts and one member from each chapter of the Future Farmers of America in the county.

Reenders has been a director since 1938 when the district was formed and chairman of the board since 1942. Under his leadership more than 1,850 property owners have become co-operators in the district program. Tourist Council Decides to Film Movie on Skiing

Michigan's winter vacation and tourist attractions will dominate a new movie promoting the state as a place to visit, the Michigan Tourist Council decided Friday during a meeting at Point West.

The 15-minute sound and color motion picture will emphasize skiing in the state and will be shot during the 1966-67 winter season.

The film it will replace, one about winter sports produced in 1962, was shown to an estimated eight million persons in the United States and foreign countries.

UFO Sightings Topped by Tables

ZEELAND — More UFO's? No, this time it was only a picnic table belonging to Leon Van Harn, 268 Taft St., Zeeland.

Van Harn reported that Saturday afternoon at about 2:45 a large "whirlwind" whisked through his back yard, digging up part of his garden and lifting up a 40 pound table and umbrella.

Van Harn's wife and a few neighbors told Van Harn that the table went about 50 feet into the air, travelled west over the neighbors back yard and then moved back east coming down in a creek in Van Harn's yard.

Van Harn said that the umbrella connected to the table broke off but the table was not damaged.

Tourist Council Ends Two-Day Meeting Here

The Michigan Tourist Council meeting at Point West ends its two-day session Friday with meetings scheduled on the 1966-67 budget and promotion.

During Thursday's meetings, Bill Mc Graw, council director, said the council plans to spend $142,500 for promotion of fall and winter events.

Wesley B. Tebeau of Muskegon, chairman of the Michigan Tourist Council, said Thursday that the $1 billion mark is becoming a reality because of the heat wave and cooperation of the weatherman. The resort industry grossed about $960 million last year.

He said the industry is well ahead of last year's pace despite the estimated $3.5 million loss in winter resorts last season because of the lack of cold weather.

Tebeau's report showed camp grounds in Michigan have been filled to capacity and camp permits are up 21 per cent and camp turnaways up 33 per cent. Bridge traffic is up 10.9 per cent.

vice president of Leonard Refineries, was presented a plaque at the Council's dinner meeting Thursday for the firm's outstanding promotion of tourism in Michigan last year.

The budget for the coming year is $927,431 and will be used for advertising, publicity and field promotion. Of the amount, $176,000 will be divided equally for the four regional tourist associations which are West Michigan Tourist Association with headquarters in Grand Rapids, the East Michigan Tourist Association with headquarters in Bay City, the Southeast Michigan Tourist Association in Detroit and the Upper Michigan Tourist Association with headquarters in Iron Mountain.

The spring-summer advertising program was scheduled to be reviewed and discussion was planned on a motion picture produced by the council to promote the seasonal activities in Michigan. The current film under consideration is a 15-minute one on winter.

The council's August meeting will be held in St. Clair.

Community Ambassador Tells Of Travel Details, Arrival

By Sharon Howard

Greetings to you from your Community Ambassador in Cham, Switzerland.

On Saturday, July 2, I departed from New York City, with 164 other Americans to begin a summer's visit with a European family. Some of the people were going to Germany and the rest of us to Switzerland. Our flight to Brussels, Belgium, aboard a World Airways jet took six hours and 45 minutes. As we landed at the Brussels airport, I saw Europe for the first time. The bright green and yellow fields, the rows of brick houses and the red and pink roses and geraniums were very beautiful.

We left Brussels early in the morning of July 4 and traveled by train to Basel, Switzerland. Our group of ten girls (from throughout the United States) and our group leader (a fellow who is studying at Yale) celebrated the Fourth of July on the train by singing "The Star Spangled Banner" and other American songs. When we arrived in Basel, we went by bus to Roberg for a four-day orientation session.

Our orientation was held in a youth hostel overlooking the village of Roberg. This hostel was an old castle which was once in ruins and then was restored by a group of people to be used as a hostel. We had a beautiful view of the lower land from the hostel. During the orientation we listened to speakers from Switzerland and we had discussions about Swiss life and our purpose for being in Switzerland.

At last July 8 arrived — the day we were to meet our Swiss families. We were all very excited and a little nervous as we rode the train to Zug. (Seven of our group are living in Zug and three of us are in Cham, a village very near Zug.) When we arrived in Zug, our families were waiting for us. My Swiss mother, my two sisters (Maya who is 18 and Ursi who is 14½) welcomed me very warmly into their family. My Swiss father was waiting for us when we arrived home in Cham. He too welcomed me to the family. (He is an architect in the paper factory in Cham).

Each day my Swiss mother and I have "school." She helps me learn German and I help her with English. She and Maya both speak English. My Swiss father and Ursi speak very little English, so communication with them is difficult. Each day we understand each other a little better.

Switzerland is indeed a very beautiful country. I hope that my pictures will show you much better than I can express in words the beauty of the flowers, gardens, mountains, lakes, houses and other scenes. Yesterday we visited Lake Vierwaldstatter near Lucerne. The mountains along the lake were very green and they were capped with snow. It was just like a beautiful picture from a book.

In my next letter I will tell you more about my home and Swiss life.

Zoning Change Recommended By Commission

The Planning Commission at a special meeting Friday afternoon voted to recommend to the City Council that the zoning of a 16-acre site at 33rd St. and Ottawa Ave. be changed to A-3 residential housing.

The A-3 classification is for group dwellings or garden apartments. This calls for smaller apartment buildings with fewer persons in a given area than the B-1 apartment zoning.

If the council follows the commission's recommendation it would mean that a proposed 100-acre apartment building by Alco Inc. of Lansing could not be built on the land. It does not exclude smaller apartment buildings for the site, however.

The City Council referred the proposed zoning change to the commission for a recommendation following considerable debate at a council meeting June 29.

The commission also voted to recommend zoning a parcel of land on 32nd St. west of Columbia Ave. to A-2 residential. Jerry Horne and Bob Vork have sought to get a B-1 classification for the property.

Russel Bouws was elected chairman of the commission and Clarence Klaasen was named vice-chairman for the coming year.

David E. Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Anderson of route 1, petty officer RD3, on board the USS Haverfield, was part of the capture of a Communist Chinese trawler approximately 80 miles south of Saigon in the vicinity of Bangong, South Viet Nam.

Immediately after, the trawler experienced secondary explosion and started afire. Combined damage control parties from the Haverfield and the USS Tortuga (LSD-26) were sent to quell the fire and unload the cargo.

INDIVIDUALIZED STUDY — Raymond Masselink (left) and Don Payne, students in an individualized study session of the West Ottawa remedial reading and arithmetic program at Beechwood School, show their butterfly collection to Wayne Westenbrook, director and counselor. The reading program ended Friday but another project, the Pre-Kindergarten Program, will continue until July 29. Both programs are completely subsidized by the federal government.

West Ottawa Sponsors Two Youth Projects

The West Ottawa School district has initiated two projects this summer, the Pre-Kindergarten Program at Sheldon Woods School and the remedial reading and arithmetic program at Beechwood School, for the purpose of academically and socially advancing children in its area.

The reading and arithmetic course which enrolled 49 students from June 20 to July 15 not only aided students with these particular skills but also gave the students assistance in art and physical education classes each day.

A few of the students who had improved their reading and arithmetic attended an individualized study session, assistant superintendent Peter Roon said. Roon is in charge of all federal programs for the district. Wayne Westenbrook and Norman Bredweg direct and counsel both programs.

Instructional materials including overhead projectors, tape recorders, books, art supplies and films were purchased from the $20,000 federal grant, which covers all cost of the programs. Reading consultant Joy Muehlenbeck, and teacher Karen Crocoll, use the initial teaching alphabet which removed as many phonetic inconsistencies as possible for the student and facilitates reading. The teachers supplement their instruction with a 15 minute tv program each day transmitted by Purdue University via Midwest Airborne Television Instruction.

Following the reading class students attend an arithmetic class conducted by Mrs. Lois Matchinski and Mrs. Violet Hansen who also took the class to the West Ottawa swimming pool each Wednesday. The class also took field trips to John Ball Park in Grand Rapids, Windmill Island, the Grand Haven Police post and the Red Barn Theatre, where a member of the cast explained the production of a show.

Thirty-one children who will be eligible for kindergarten, this year are enrolled in the pre-kindergarten program with Mrs. Fran Baron serving as head teacher. The instructional aids are designed to help the student develop motor skills and perceptual ability.

A small lunch is served each day. "We try to serve a variety of foods, something the child might not have tried before,"

Schuitema, who was candidate from the fifth district, has been a Legionnaire for 21 years and was recently elected post commander of the Willard G. Leenhouts Post No. 6, of the American Legion.

Besides being president and vice-president of the Zeeland Community Dairy, Schuitema is a member of Second Reformed Church and of several fraternal and civic organizations.

In 1964 he joined the Gilbert D. Karsten Post No. 33 of Zeeland after serving with the U.S. Navy in World War II and served as post commander, vice-commander and post service officer before he transferred to the Willard G. Leenhouts Post No. 6. In this post he served on the American Legion Memorial Park Board for four years and four weeks ago was elected post commander.

On the district level he was finance officer, vice-commander, commander, public relations man and a member of various committees. On the department level he served as department committeeman, as a member of the service and rehabilitation committee and chairman of the American Legion Hospital committee for three years. The Holland American Legion Band under the direction of Henry Vander Linde was at the convention Saturday evening.

In other convention action Sunday the Michigan Legionnaires passed a resolution expressing their support of the U.S. government policy in Viet Nam. A second resolution asked that eligibility in the Legion be opened to Viet Nam veterans.

These two resolutions, along with 50 others passed by the delegates, will be forwarded to the national convention which will be held in Washington at the end of August. If enough states pass similar resolutions, their adoption at the national convention is automatic.
