Water, Sewer Requests Keep City Council Busy

City Council met for just over an hour Wednesday night and much of its business concerned water and sewer services, drains and even shipping for Holland Harbor. Other business dealt with bonds to finance certain improvements.

A communication from Carousell Recreation Properties requested that the city give an expression of its interest and intent in a request to provide sewer and water services for the proposed housing development in Laketown township. It pointed out that residential areas between the city limits and Carousell area should be considered in the overall plan. The letter was referred to the Board of Public Works for study and report.

Council approved extension of city water and sanitary sewer facilities to Southwestern developers (McDonald's) at 635 East Eighth St., subject to standard conditions for out-of-city hookups, costs, city taxes and interest rates.

A request from De Nooyer Chevrolet for permission to connect to the existing sanitary sewer lines in East Eighth St. was approved, subject to hookup charges plus interest, and service fees at 200 per cent the normal rate.

Accepted as information was a city manager report advising that the Inter-County Drain Board has reported that all easements for the Maplewood drain are complete and apportionment hearings have been conducted. One parcel remains to be negotiated for the Lela drain, and an apportionment hearing is scheduled July 31.

As proposed, the city of Holland is assigned 87.9 per cent of the cost of the Maplewood drain and 95.6 per cent of the Lela drain. It was reported that Fillmore township has disagreed with the apportionment formula of the Maplewood drain and it is now a subject of litigation with a hearing scheduled Aug. 26. It was stated that a bond sale and subsequent construction must be held in abeyance until the current litigation is resolved.

Council approved a resolution assuring cooperation in rejuvenated plans for improving the existing channel at Lake Michigan. It was in September, 1954, that the Corps of Engineers earmarked funds for widening the existing channel, removing the south reventment and constructing a new one of the south, also known as removing the dogleg.

Work authorized in 1954 was not completed due to objections of local property owners, and the project was assigned an inactive status. The Corps of Engineers has now indicated renewed interest in accomplishing this modification, and in order to proceed suggested the city submit a formal request for reclassification and a positive expression from responsible local interests to provide assurances of area cooperation.

A public hearing was scheduled Aug. 6 in installing a sanitary sewer in Lincoln Ave. from 48th St. south approximately 650 feet at an estimated cost of $23,978.89 with $1,989.44 to be assessed property owners at a cost of $1,200 per benefit.

Council approved extending water service to 92 Sunrise Dr., which lies just outside an established district.

With no objections voiced, construction of a water main in Brooklane Ave. from Eighth St. to Harvard Dr., and in Waverly Rd. from Eighth St. to M-21 and east, was approved.

On recommendation of the Board of Public Works, Council retained the services of Dickinson, Wright, McKean, Cudlip and Moon as bond council on the proposed bond issue to finance an electrostatic precipitator on the No. 4 boiler at the James De Young power plant.

A city auditor report revealed that the Municipal Finance Commission on June 17 approved the $2,735,000 industrial development revenue bond series for H. J. Heinz Co. It was stated that these bonds were sold on a negotiated basis and consequently no public sale was held. Bonds were delivered July 10 in Detroit and the Manufacturer's National Bank has been named as trustee to act in the city's behalf as escrow and paying agent for said issue.

The city assessor presented a special assessment roll for Hiawatha Dr. from Berth Ave. to 24th St. The estimated cost is listed at $19,033.19 with $3,600 to be assessed property owners. Rolls will be reviewed at a public hearing Aug. 6.

The city auditor also reported that the Municipal Finance Commission has approved the city's application for $265,000 special assessment public improvement bonds. Bond sale date is scheduled Aug. 20.

Two Credited With Aiding Man in Fire

Two men visiting an apartment building at 40th West 284 West 40th St., were credited with helping save the life of an elderly man whose apartment was filled with heavy, dense smoke after a television set caught fire Sunday.

Admitted to Holland Hospital for treatment of smoke inhalation was John Clark, 86, of apartment B, room 24. His condition today was listed as "good."

Holland firemen said two men visiting the building, Frank Poore and Sam Staal, rushed to aid Clark who was said hard of hearing and with poor eye sight. They assisted him through smoke-filled hallways to safety. Firemen were called at 9:01 p.m. Sunday and remained at the scene about 90 minutes. An electrical failure was blamed for setting fire to the television set.

Smoke damage to the building was estimated at $2,000 and the loss to the contents of the Clark apartment was set at $1,000.

Gary De Witt Elected Head Of Zeeland Board

ZEELAND — Gary De Witt was elected president of the Zeeland Board of Education at an organizational meeting Monday. He succeeds Bruce De Pree and was vice president last year.

Elected vice president was John Smallegan; secretary, Mrs. Jack Miller, and treasurer, Herbert C. Wybenga.

The resignation of William Bekkering as English instructor in the Middle School was accepted. Mrs. Mary Jo Curtis was hired as a speech teacher and Judy Miersma will take the place of Mrs. Sherie De Young who was given a leave of absence as second grade teacher in the New Groningen school.

Ventilation and Working Space Said Insufficient

Insufficient working space and poor ventilation are two of the major problems in Holland City Hospital's physical therapy unit which would be corrected as part of the $12.9 million hospital building program.

"The physical therapy unit is too small and it's too remote from patient care units," said William LaBarge, president of the hospital board.

The existing area, approximately 920 square feet, is playing an increasingly important role in rehabilitating patients and shortening recovery time. At present it is being used to capacity on a schedule of more than 30 patient visits per day.

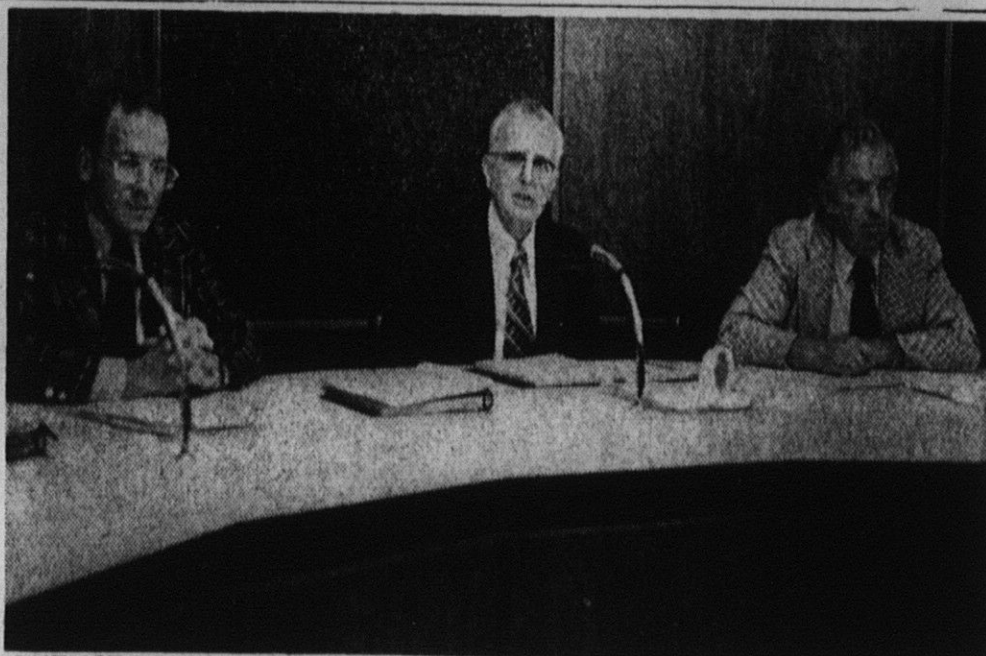

The physical therapy unit is limited to three rooms and a hallway on the third floor of the 1928 building. A shortage of space has made it necessary to conduct exercise and gait training programs in the hallway. As a result, wheelchairs are left in the hallway where they could impede access to a fire exit. Fire doors are sometimes propped open to provide a larger exercise area for recovering patients. These conditions are in direct violation of state fire codes.

Heat treatments and hydrotherapy are conducted in rooms adjacent to this hallway. The rooms are overcrowded with the current patient load and the necessary support equipment.

"The lack of adequate ventilation and air conditioning is a real problem in physical therapy," LaBarge said. "The heat and the stuffiness seem to take so much out of our recovering patients that they have little strength or energy left for the exercise and treatment programs."

In the proposed hospital building program the physical therapy unit would be moved to the ground floor of the 1969 building. Both the heat treatment and hydrotherapy units would be expanded. A separate and larger room would accommodate the exercise programs and other equipment used in rehabilitating patients.

The location of the new physical therapy unit would also provide better access for non-ambulatory patients from the medical/surgical nursing units and direct and convenient access for out-patients. More support space and better ventilation would be included in the new unit.

Bloemendaal Heads Local Chapter

Small Cities Unite To Form District

John Bloemendaal of Holland was named chairman of the 9th district chapter of the Michigan Alliance of Small Communities at an organizational meeting of the chapter Thursday afternoon in City Hall.

The alliance is designed as a vehicle for presenting opinions or judgments on political matters to strengthen home rule and promote equitable treatment of small cities under federal and state funding programs. Less than a year old, the alliance to date lists 116 paid memberships in Michigan representing cities under 50,000 population.

John Markov, a Ludington city commissioner, was named vice chairman and Richard L. Cogswell, Whitehall mayor, will be the district's representative on the Alliance's board of directors.

Dr. Russell M. Phillips, Flushing mayor and chairman of the Michigan Alliance, said the 9th district (corresponding to Congressional districts) is the third to organize this year.

Bloemendaal, local councilman and finance director for the Chamber of Commerce, said small cities often have been lost in the shuffle, and he suggested close association with the Michigan Municipal League.

Among subjects discussed was the sharply opposed Senate Bill 880 and House Bill 5230 which would require all elected and appointed officials to disclose their financial status, a situation common in high places but one calculated to bring mass resignations on the grass roots level. The legislation is promoted by Common Cause.

Ludington was concerned with solid waste legislation, obviously geared to metropolitan and dense population areas. The city is asking that the solid waste problem be examined in its relationship to rural areas and that the act be amended to apply to municipalities over 30,000 population.

Opposition also was expressed on the proposal to bring municipal employees under the unemployment compensation act, a move that would cost the city of Holland over $100,000 a year, based on fees of approximately $100 a year per employee. Holland has roughly 1,000 employees, more than half of them in Holland Hospital.

Cities represented at Thursday's meeting were Holland, Whitehall, Ludington, North Muskegon, Otsego, Saugatuck, Zeeland, Plainwell and Hudsonville.

Legality of Executive Sessions Unclear

School Board Ratifies Election

In a 42-minute special meeting of the Holland Board of Education Thursday afternoon, the board "elected" the same officers it had named at an organizational meeting Monday from which the press was excluded for 34 minutes.

The state, nominated by A. James Prins and seconded by Carroll Norlin, listed Charles Bradford, president; Robert Gosselar, vice president; Katherine S. MacKenzie, secretary, and Deanna De Pree, treasurer. Bradford succeeds James O. Lamb who did not seek re-election and Mrs. De Pree succeeds Bradford as treasurer. Mrs. MacKenzie and Gosselar were re-elected.

The vote followed a half-hour discussion on the legality of Monday's vote, challenged by two local radio stations whose representatives had been asked to leave the board room in the administration building.

Jack Marquis, legal counsel for the board, said the school code of 1955 had indeed been quoted correctly in the Sentinel's story of the exclusion, but he said other sections of the law are not so clear as one could hope.

He said the law provides for executive sessions but states clearly that no official action shall be taken at such sessions. A 1968 legislative act defines certain actions that must be taken at public meetings but does not list elections.

Because of confusion, Marquis recommended that Monday's action be ratified, or that a new election be held. The board chose to present the slate and the roll call vote was unanimous. All members were present. Action also was taken to ratify any action taken by the board or its officers since Monday.

President Bradford felt the old system of electing officers without discussion was not a good procedure, and favored a full and open discussion among board members. He suggested writing the attorney general for an opinion and studying new procedures for elections.

Vice President Gosselar reiterated what he had said Monday that there was no reason for such privacy. Other members, with some chagrin, mentioned nothing had been said Monday which could not have been said in the presence of the press. One added that part of the time was being used to discuss plans for more open meetings.

In general, there appeared to be some embarrassment over explaining a 34-minute executive session to constituents.

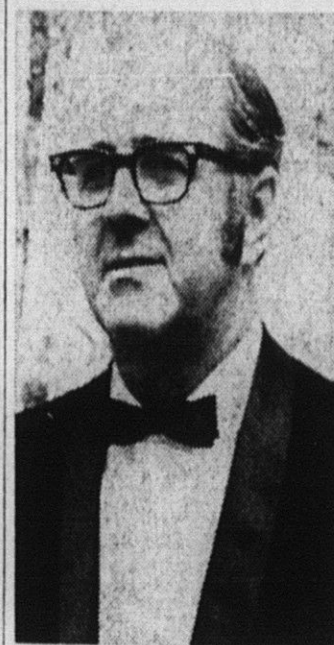

Thursday's meeting originally had been called to ratify a custodial contract. The matter of discussing the election was added to the agenda Thursday morning.

Lee Van Aelst, assistant superintendent in charge of business, outlined two options offered custodians under guidelines of pay raises up to 7 per cent, and recommended the board ratify option B which calls for an eight-cent increase and retirement for the 1975-76 school year and an additional 30 cents the second year. Option A had called for 28 cents the first year and 30 cents the second year. Retirement is mandatory for the second year.

He said wages was the only item in the two-year contract and that custodians had approved option B in a special vote. Board approval was unanimous.

President Is Elected For Board

Peter J. Vanden Bosch was elected president of the Holland Hospital Board Tuesday afternoon, succeeding William E. LaBarge who had served as president for several years. Kenneth Zuverink was re-elected vice president.

Peter J. Vanden Bosch

Vanden Bosch, president of radio station WJBL, AM and FM, is well known as the director of the Metropolitan Choir of Praise.

The board approved the following staff appointments: William C. Thompson, M.D., Bruce A. Masselink, M.D., Clare R. Van Wieren, D.D.S., Daniel E. George, D.D.S.

A study by Jarred Thomas, Hope College student, entitled "The Patient-Physician Relationship in a Bicultural Setting" revealed no significant differences between the attitudes of the two groups toward health care personnel, and they were both definitely positive in their outlook. The study involved 25 Spanish surname and 25 non-Spanish surname persons who were recent patients in Holland Hospital.

The board approved the following purchases of equipment: hypo thermia mattress, $2,900; dictating equipment, $1,803; card embosser, $1,232; cash register, $1,245.

The board decided it would object to a zoning-change at 572 Pine Ave. until better parking is provided.

The board adopted a "open door" policy required under recent federal legislation for hospitals that received Hill-Burton funds for construction in 1958. This involves no change in policy.

Revised building plans totaling $12.9 million along with financing proposals will be referred to City Council for consideration at its Aug. 6 meeting. Once Council has approved plans, the architect can proceed with schematic drawings.

A rear-end collision involving cars driven by Cornelius Brewer, 68, of 433 Brecado Ct., and Walter Leo Chojacki, 53, of 5010 Estate Dr., occurred at 4:10 p.m. Monday. Both cars were headed north on River, the Brewer car following the other car.

Vogelzang Is Appointed To BPW

The appointment of William Vogelzang to the Board of Public Works for a five-year term was announced by Mayor Lou Hallacy at a meeting of City Council Wednesday night.

In other business, Charles Vander Ven, of 307 College Ave., made a return visit to Council, again protesting an interest charge on billing Bruno Lundgren for sewer services, stating the city had refused to accept the 94-year-old Lundgren's check for $140, instead requesting $210.

Vander Ven said Lundgren, now blind, had never received any written notice of charges back in 1950, and polled all Councilmen, one by one, if they would insist on charging interest. Some said all others who chose the alternate system of delay had paid the interest and it would not be fair to make exceptions. Vander Ven concluded his 10-minute presentation by calling Council a Kangaroo Court.

Roscoe Giles, executive vice president of the Holland Chamber of Commerce, presented a request to Council to establish an industrial development district for 90 acres south of 48th St. adjoining the South Side Industrial Park. It was referred to the city manager.

With no objections voiced at a public hearing, Council vacated the west 136 feet of an alley lying between 21st and 22nd Sts. running from Maple to Washington Ave.

A request of the Board of Public Works to discontinue discounts for prompt payment of water bills as of July 1 was approved 7-1. Councilman Al Kleis Jr. dissenting. The request had been tabled from last meeting.

A letter from Hazel Hayes, former director of Herrick Public Library, expressed thanks for placing city retirees under the city's hospitalization group plan.

A communication from the Liquor Control Commission requesting Council action on an application from Brink, Smith and Prince Inc. for a new full-year class C license at 170-174 River Ave. was referred to the city manager.

A petition requesting renaming Lincoln Park to Cesar Chavez Recreational Park was filed.

A petition from business operators on the west side of River Ave. between Seventh and Eighth Sts. requesting that the alley be widened to 12 feet with traffic one-way south and no parking, was referred to the city manager.

Council approved a building permit to install tanks and a pump island on the north side of a service station at 881 Lincoln Ave., subject to required screening along the north property line.

Holland Friends of Art were granted directional signs for the sixth annual Holland outdoor Arts and Crafts show in Centennial Park Aug. 9, the signs to be placed in the morning and removed at the conclusion of the show.

Certifications were confirmed for Councilman Vande Poel for police department purchases of $60 from Superior Sport Store and Recreation Department purchases of $534.60.

Claims against the city from Morris A. Overway and Edward H. and Diana Marsilje were referred to the insurance carrier and city attorney.

A hearing was set Aug. 6 on an application from Prince Corp. for an Industrial Facilities Exemption Certificate for a new facility on the east side of Winderest Dr. just north of 32nd St.

Council approved low bid of Stan Laddie Decorator for painting exterior wood surfaces of City Hall above the first floor for $2,450.

Low bid of Holland Flower-Bulb Specialists Inc. of $11,122.40 for 211,900 tulip bulbs, 200 allium bulbs and 300 hyacinth bulbs for the park department and Windmill Island was approved.

The city auditor presented a list of utility bills remaining unpaid for three months or more as of June 30. Bills not paid by July 31 will be placed on tax bills.

Mayor Lou Hallacy welcomed an Australian Exchange student, Megan Stein of Sydney, who will be attending Holland Christian High School until January.

The Sept. 3 meeting of City Council was changed to Sept. 2 because of the annual meeting of the Michigan Municipal League.

All Councilmen were present except John Bloemendaal. The invocation was given by the Rev. M. Klaaren of Third Reformed Church.

SHORELINE PROJECT — Preserving the road along Lake Michigan in the Douglas area is progressing according to the timetable set by the construction company, the L. W. Lamb Co., for about Aug. 15. The road has been closed to through traffic for more than a year because of the hazardous condition along the lakefront with the erosion undercutting the bank. Huge blocks of limestone weighing as much as 7 tons are being used to fill, with sand and plastic and black dirt filling in. The huge crane at the bottom of the bank can be seen placing one of the huge blocks. The project costing $419,000 is 100 per cent Federally funded, the Allegan County Road Commission said. Dr. Frissel Retires As Chairman

Dr. Harry Frissel, professor of physics at Hope College, is retiring as chairman of the physics department after 12 years. Dr. Frissel will continue teaching and working on his research into signal processing utilizing transform methods, a continuation of research started during a sabbatical leave at the University of Arizona in 1973. Dr. Frissel joined the Hope College faculty in 1948, leaving to return to graduate school at Iowa State in 1951. Upon receiving his Ph.D. degree in 1954, he returned to Hope and became chairman of the physics department in 1963. In 1964 the department moved into the new Physics-Math Building and began its expansion.

Under Dr. Frissel's direction, the physics department has doubled in size from three to six staff members, all with Ph.D. degrees. Since 1963, grants totaling more than $300,000 have been received by the department, allowing for expansion of educational programs.

In 1965 a National Science Foundation grant to the department undertook the teaching of computer programming. Awards from the Research Corporation for the establishment of the VanDeGraaf Accelerator Laboratory brought research in nuclear physics to Hope College. Reorganization of the physics curriculum came under a grant from the Sloan Foundation. In addition, laboratory equipment has been supported through National Science Foundation grants and grants from local industries.

During Dr. Frissel's chairmanship, undergraduate research participation by all physics students was initiated. The areas of joint student-staff research include astrophysics, nuclear structure, environmental physics, process control and transform theory. Courses in digital electronics, modern optics, computer based modeling and process control have been established. Recent physics majors have undertaken advanced training for such varied professions as the law, engineering, medicine, philosophy, business, as well as teaching and research in physics.

59 German Students
In Hope Summer Event

Last week 59 young German High School students arrived in Holland to take part in a new summer program offered by Hope College. Like the long established Summer Session for Japanese students, which is now in its 11th year, the new program includes intensive work in English and is designed to introduce students from abroad to the main issues in contemporary American life.

Preliminary plans for this project were discussed in Hamburg last summer when Hope president Gordon J. Van Wylen, and Hope's director of international education, Paul G. Fried, met with Prof. Rolf Italiaander, who agreed to chair a German working committee to select and prepare interested young people from Hamburg and Schleswig-Holstein for this new program.

Italiaander is a well-known advocate of German-American friendship and has regarded Holland, Michigan as his second home ever since he first came to Hope College as a visiting professor some 14 years ago.

Together with his committee, Professor Italiaander was able to mobilize broad public interest and considerable scholarship support for this new venture in international understanding. Enthusiasm among interested young people in Germany was so great that the originally proposed maximum of 40 participants had to be increased to 59 for this first summer.

During the spring of 1975 Professor Italiaander conducted a series of orientation meetings in Hamburg and Kiel which gave participants and their parents the opportunity to come to know one another and to prepare for the experience of the summer in America. Two interesting innovations resulted from these meetings.

One is the plan to hold a "German Night" at Hope College during which the German guests will become hosts for their new American friends. The second is the idea of holding an auction of gifts brought from Germany by participants and of using the proceeds to help a young man or a young woman from a Third World country to study in America and at Hope College.

"German Night at Hope College" is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, July 17, and will actually be presented at the Holland High School Auditorium rather than at Hope College. Rehearsals for this Gala Night program, which will include a variety of German folk dances, musical numbers and short sightseeing trips to the homes of the students, began even before the group left Germany.

German interest in this particular aspect of the cultural exchange is so great that the New York office of the German National Television service has sent a team of four or five people to Holland to cover the event for the German Network. The German tv crew will also accompany the students to the Sleeping Bear Dunes on Friday, when they go to Interlochen for a Van Cliburn concert on July 19 and for a visit to the home of Rep. Guy Vander Jagt the following day.

Admission to the July 17 program is free and the public is invited. The program will begin at 7:30 p.m. not at 8, as announced earlier.

MACATAWA HOLIDAY — The Macatawa Bay yacht basin is an active place especially during the weekends and on holidays. This couple is enjoying a speedboat that can be used for fishing or just cruising.

BPW Power Bills
Reflect Recent Rate Increases

Electric customers of the Holland Board of Public Works were reminded today that a 36 per cent hike in electric rates has gone into effect and will be reflected on the next power bills.

Charles Cooper, president of the BPW, said Holland's use of electricity has increased month to month since the energy scare of last year and could result in higher bills for many users. Cooper said the Board has taken every possible step to hold down rates but the price of coal has increased from $12.05 a ton in 1974 to $29.30 a ton this year. The higher cost of coal increased the BPW expense $2¼ million this year.

Cooper said the only answer to increased costs is for Holland to restrict its use of electric power.

OFF TO GREAT START — "Oklahoma!" an American musical for all ages, opened Friday at De Witt Cultural Center to an enthusiastic audience, and will play intermittently all summer, alternating with two other plays. Left to right, are Shelley Crandall as Laurey, Brian Kent as Curley, A.C. Weary as Wil Parker and Denise Sachs as Ado Annie Carnes. Colorful costumes are the responsibility of Mary Schakel. 'Oklahoma!' Scores Hit In Repertory Theatre

By Cornelia Van Voorst

The Hope Summer Repertory Theatre season got off to a great start Friday night with an enthusiastic capacity crowd cheering the opening of "Oklahoma!" a Rodgers - Hammerstein musical which spawned the great era of American musicals in the '40s.

Director Donald Finn used a thrust stage for the lively musical, a sort of Elizabethan stage with a western flavor, simple and effective, leaving colorful costumes, lively action and topnotch music to round out a most enjoyable evening.

"Oklahoma!" will play nightly in De Witt Cultural Center through Thursday (Sunday excepted). Next Friday, Moliere's "The Miser" will open and the two plays will alternate until Aug. 1 when George Bernard Shaw's "Saint Joan" opens. Thereafter the three plays will alternate until the season closes Sept. 6 with a final performance of "Oklahoma!"

Vim, vigor and vitality marked Finn's production which featured exceptionally fine voices and more than adequate acting ability in the leads, Brian Kent of St. Paul, Minn., as Curly and Shelley Crandall of Pittsburgh, Pa., as Laurey. A.C. Weary returned to repertory theatre this year after scoring a hit last year, playing a lively Wil Parker to Denise Sachs' equally lively Ado Annie. Miss Sachs, a pretty girl with delicate features, appeared a bit fragile for the lusty Ado Annie, but she proved she had all the volume and vigor the exacting role demanded.

Strong support came from Peter J. Saputo as Ali Hakim the Persian peddler, Rex McGraw as the sinister Jud Fry, Dixie Fair as Aunt Eller

(who seemed equal to anything) and William F. Hoffman as Andrew Carnes in a subplot of farmers and cowmen.

McGraw, who recently headed the professional directing program at Ohio University, and Hoffman, a recent graduate in McGraw's program will direct the other two plays in the repertory season. Saputo, head of the acting program at Indiana University, is serving as guest actor - instructor in the summer season. He also is teaching an acting class for members of the theatre's apprentice program.

Choreography, in charge of Rich Rahn, was particularly effective on the thrust stage, with many of the routines faithful to the original Agnes deMille dances. Tremendous applause climaxed the dream ballet in which Rosemary Nadolsky appeared as Laurey, Rich Hoehler as Curly and Cliff Radcliff as Jud.

When "Oklahoma!" opened on Broadway, it is said the audience left the theatre humming more show tunes than at any other show. "Oklahoma!" has such familiar favorites as "Oh, What a Beautiful Morning," "Surrey With the Fringe on Top," "Many a New Day," "People Will Say We're in Love," and such novelties as "Pore Jud," "I Can't Say No," "Kansas City" and "All er Nuthin'."

And on top of that, its good for all ages.

HMS DOLPHIN RESTS QUIETLY AT ITS LAKE MACATAWA MOORING

SHIP'S SKIPEPR — Hollis M. Baker, of Grand Rapids brings around a dinghy for the return trip to the Macatawa Bay Yacht Club from aboard the HMS Dolphin, a three-masted square-rigged barkentine. Baker had the ship custom built in Nova Scotia after a 18th century ship. It is presently moored at the club.

Replica of 18th Century Ship

HMS Dolphin Is Rarity at Macatawa

Story and pictures by Craig Wennersten

It seemed like a strange paradox that the owner and skipper of 53 feet of rare beauty would be rowing about in a small dinghy, while his ship rested quietly on Lake Macatawa.

The owner and skipper is Hollis M. Baker and the ship is the HMS Dolphin, a half-scale replica of a three-masted ship known as a barkentine.

Baker, whose home is in Grand Rapids, retired as president and owner of Baker Furniture, Inc., and resigned as chairman of the board two years ago.

Baker, and his wife Betsy, have two married daughters. Tomi who lives in Tampa, Fla. and Susan, who lives in Oklahoma City.

The Bakers spend their time between three houses. Their home is in Grand Rapids and they also have houses in Palm Beach, Fla., and in France. Their home in France is a 14th masts that hold 11 sails, three of which are square. On the original barksentines the square sails required several crewmen to hoist and lower, however on century chateaux.

The son of a past commodore of the Macatawa Bay Yacht Club, Baker himself was commodore of the club in 1957. His ship is now moored at the club.

After sailing for 35 years, Baker and his wife decided they were growing tired of the "look alike" boats, so they decided they would build a boat that was different.

Two years of planning and another year of building resulted in the HMS Dolphin.

A designer, James Rosborough, from Nova Scotia was found to be a designer who appreciated the Bakers' desire for a traditional vessel that would not end up as a museum piece. He agreed to build a wooden ship by the old methods.

Baker first became interested in the HMS Dolphin when he discovered a log of a British barkentine in a New York marine museum and became intrigued with it. But building this ship would not be all that easy for the Bakers and the designer, as they attempted to miniaturize a full-size ship.

The HMS Dolphin has three the HMS Dolphin the square sails on the foremast are set by opening and drawing them like curtains, thus requiring just one person.

The conventional sails on the gaff-rigged mainmast and the marconi-rigged mizzenmast can be hoisted from the deck.

The name HMS Dolphin comes from the British ship that discovered Tahiti, also named the HMS Dolphin. It is not an exact replica but it does carry the spirit of an 18th century ship.

The ship maintains a female figurehead on the bow, catheads, channels, quarter galleries and stern windows. The catheads are projecting beams, port and starboard, used to hold the ship's two anchors.

The ship's stern is modeled after the USS Constitution's and is set off by bay windows or quarter galleries and four stern windows across the transom.

The HMS Dolphin includes an arsenal of four bronze deck guns and two swivel guns, located on either side of the quarterdeck.

Despite her two century old appearance, the HMS Dolphin contains all the modern equipment found in the most modern yacht. It is equipped with a 7.5 kilowatt generator, central heating, auto-pilot, radio direction finder, SSB, VHF and citizen's band transmitters, depth finder, and a 10-foot dinghy.

Should she run out of wind the HMS Dolphin is equipped with a 160 horsepower diesel engine, giving it a cruising range of 1,000 miles. The steering stations are located in the pilot house and on the quarterdeck.

The HMS Dolphin has 50 feet of deck, 16 feet of beam, and a net tonnage of 32. The ship carries 400 gallons of diesel fuel and 500 gallons of fresh water.

The five-cabin ship contains a guest cabin with two bunks, and a head and a shower, a crew's cabin, which is sound proofed from the rest of the compartments, a compact galley, a main cabin, and an aft cabin.

The aft cabin, the domain of Mr. and Mrs. Baker, has two bunks and a private restroom with a shower. The quarter galleries and stern windows give it an airy feeling.

The main cabin, which leads in to the galley, is decorated with reproductions of 18th century English ship furniture, which the Bakers searched for throughout the world.

Brass lamps shine amidst the blue and white of the salon. The rosewood sofa is an actual reproduction of a ship's officer's berth. Also included is a captain's davenport and a side boy, which are mahogany with brass trim.

The gallery includes a gas stove, a small settee, a refrigerator and a freezer. A guest cabin, with berths for two, is opposite the gallery. The crew's cabin contains its own head and a shower. All the heads on the ship have formica bulkheads.

The HMS Dolphin, which left Nova Scotia in October, 1973, for its initial cruise to Palm Beach, is Baker's 20th boat. Baker, a well known sailor in the Holland area, has sailed everything from sea scows to racing sailboats. He began sailing when he was seven.

Baker has skippered in the annual Mackinac Race for 21 years. He has been racing for 35 years, mostly on the Great Lakes.

Upon entering the Macatawa port, the HMS Dolphin raised the Macatawa Bay Yacht Club flag, as they are members of the club, as well as of the New York Yacht Club, the Chicago Yacht Club, the Great Lakes Cruising Club and the Royal Yacht Club of Greece.

The ship presently is moored at the Macatawa Bay Yacht Club for a couple of weeks with the Bakers possibly making a few excursions in Lake Michigan between now and then. Their next destination is yet unknown.

Under sail or even moored, the HMS Dolphin, a three-masted barkentine, contains in itself a rare form of elegant beauty.

Wounding of Boy Ruled Accidental

ALLEGAN — The wounding of a rural Holland boy, struck by a slug from a .22-caliber weapon while he was playing in the yard of his home, has been ruled accidental by Allegan county detectives.

THE MYSTERY OF CIA

Congress is having a great time investigating the CIA. In the House this has turned into an investigation of its own members and sidetracked the whole affair.

The whole matter has become a bit ludicrous with solemn words from assorted senators, and disclaimers of those words coming in quick succession. There is talk about a CIA plant in the White House, but nobody seems to know just who the contact man was, and even those who do name names are quickly put down as being way off in their information.

Under the circumstances we would hesitate to get the situation clear in our minds, when the investigators seem to be in just as bad a shape. But we would like to make an observation. Since the CIA is a spy organization, and its work must be secret, or hush - hush, it certainly is living up to the reputation we have always associated with good spies. Agent A knows nothing about Agent B, and if they know anything about each other, they aren't talking. We won't pass judgment, but in the typical approach of the Whodunit, the CIA isn't all bad.

When the Going is Hard
I Corinthians 2:1-3;
II Corinthians 4:7-11.
By C. P. Dame

The writer of the lesson text knew from personal experience that the Christian life was not easy. Turn to II Corinthians 11: 21-29 and get first-hand information about Paul's suffering and troubles. It is not easy in these days of recession and sliding morality to live a wholly dedicated Christian life—it takes a strong determination and trust in God.

I. A great determination to make Christ known moves one to act. The text is composed of two passages from the two letters Paul sent to the worldly Corinthian church. Paul wrote the first letter in Ephesus, the second one in Macedonia.

Paul had preached in Athens, the intellectual center of Greece. From there he went to Corinth, the business capital of Greece. In that city Paul got a job making tents at the home of Aquila and Priscilla and a place in which to preach, the Jewish synagogue. After awhile sabbath opposition forced him to leave and find a home. He remained longer in Corinth than in any other city save Ephesus.

In pleasure and sin-enlivened Corinth Paul preached, "Jesus Christ and Him crucified." This latter word speaks of atonement for sin, substitution and blood. Although Paul had the ability to be eloquent and persuasive, he with fear and trembling preached Jesus as the only solution for the sins of Corinth.

II. It takes a strong faith to overcome weakness and worldliness. The second epistle is the most personal of all of Paul's epistles. Corinthian Christians had hurt him. Christians can hurt each other. In words charged with indignation and love Paul wrote to his converts telling them that he was carrying the precious treasure, the gospel, in a frail body.

Preaching involved being troubled and being persecuted and dying. The words "but not" speak of conquering circumstances and all opposition.

The fact that he was suffering for his Lord kept him standing and when he did fall he got right up again and was ready to take and do more. The life of Jesus Christ was revealed in the lives of his workers. When Christians bleed they bless.

In this age of ease and yardstick religion we need the spirit and determination of Paul in order to meet the persistent powerful attacks of the devil and the unbelieving world. Fellow believers—what is the great determination that you reveal?

GERMAN NIGHT DIRECTORS — Dr. Paul Fried, (left) director of International Education at Hope College, and Prof. Rolf Italiaander, German coordinator of the German exchange program currently in progress at Hope College, discuss last minute details for German Night, a program of music and dance to be presented by 59 German students tonight. The free program will be held in the Holland High School Performing Arts Center at 7:30 p.m. and will be followed by an auction of German souvenirs.

Persistence Assures German Night Here

By Ann Hungerford

Rolf Italiaander was warned by politicians that the project would not be successful.

Dr. Gordon Van Wylen, Hope College president, urged Italiaander to give up his idea when the noted author suffered a broken leg, a situation which limited his strength and maneuverability.

But the enthusiastic promoter of German-American relations persisted.

So a portion of his tireless work will be on display at 7:30 p.m. at Holland High School when 59 German high school students will perform a variety of German folk dances, musical numbers and short sightseeing trips to the homes of the students.

Italiaander's insistence in seeing the cultural exchange completed stems from his strong belief that the so-called free world is in great danger today.

"Americans are naive concerning world politics," Italiaander said adding that even "residents in this area must be politically awakened."

"The quiet life, the boats on the river won't last forever if Americans don't see the world situation," he said explaining his fear of encroaching Communism.

"When we examine American newspapers we don't find much about Germany or Europe."

As one of his personal contributions in combatting Communism is continually promoting better U. S. German alliances believing "it is particularly important that our young people recognize the need for this two way bridge across the Atlantic."

To promote additional good will German citizens have contributed quality souvenirs from Hamburg which will be auctioned off following the 1½ hour free program tonight in the Holland High School Performing Arts Center.

Items for auction will include ships in bottles, bull eyes, hand-made puppets, old engravings from northern Germany, art calendars, puzzles for children, books autographed by German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt and posters.

The free program is being produced by Italiaander with the firm belief that "art helps to educate people."

All proceeds from the auction will be turned over to Hope College to provide scholarship assistance to Third World students wishing to study at Hope College.

The students are being filmed by a German film crew which will be taping events for five days including the groups meetings with Gov. William Milliken and Rep. Guy Vander Jagt.

The crew will also accompany the students on their visit to Sleeping Bear Dunes and at the Van Cliburn concert at Interlochen on Saturday.

"It's the first time a crew has taken five days to film German students in the United States," Italiaander noted with pride.

Italiaander's next project: a German cultural Center at Hope College.

The program, which has included 140 girls and boys since 1972, is directed by Rick Englert and uses minibikes to attract the young people to discover in themselves a feeling of freedom and self-confidence by learning how to care for the minibikes.

The minibikes are used as a follow-up to camping experiences in the summer.

Participants in the minibike and camping programs are referrals from the courts, police and schools and the program is designed to serve the non-school oriented and troubled youth, Englert said.

The minibike program operates when school starts and much of the program emphasizes camping, individual, group and family counseling and building of personal friendships. Programs are structured to the social, mental, spiritual and physical aspects of life.

Former Holland Man Is Presidential Archivist

By Ann Hungerford
"I thought I might get some interesting work," Bill McNitt reflected on his start as an archivist while on a visit in Holland recently.

Now 6½ years later his work of sorting an estimated 1½ million items can clearly be described as "interesting."

And they aren't just any 1½ million items. They are the papers of President Ford.

"That's to be differentiated from Presidential papers," McNitt quickly points out.

Ford's vice presidential and presidential papers are not likely to be released for a while. McNitt, the only individual working on the project, is sorting papers primarily from Ford's Congressional career.

Employed as an assistant archivist in the Michigan Historical Collections, located in Bentley Historical Library on the north campus of the University of Michigan, McNitt considers

"After someone new is appointed, I can often recall seeing the name in some of Ford's early Congressional papers. It's interesting to then check and see what part they played in Ford's career."

Although Ford has indicated the University of Michigan would get his vice presidential papers (a 10 month accumulation suspected to almost equal his Congressional papers) no formal commitment has been made yet.

"I strongly suspect I will stay in this field of work permanently. I would like to follow up on what I am doing now," 27-year-old McNitt said, hinting that he hoped to work on the Presidential papers which may not be released until long after Ford leaves office.

"I'm in what seems to be a unique situation . . . an archivist working on the papers of the President when the President is in office. I don't think it's ever happened before."

Performing tasks that could consume three years of time, McNitt is currently transferring all papers into acid free folders, cataloging and initially attempting to break down the files into broad categories.

Papers are contained in specially constructed archives boxes, each of which contains one cubic foot of material. Thus far the collection includes 600 boxes with another 200 of printed materials such as bound volumes of committee hearings of which Ford was a member.

Also included in the collection are some of Mrs. Ford's papers, photographs, recordings of speeches, 38 large scrapbooks maintained by Ford's staff and memorabilia including (the only specific items McNitt would reveal) two pairs of wooden shoes.

The materials are all kept under lock and key with only three persons having access: the director, the curator and McNitt.

One of the most interesting highlights for McNitt thus far was a trip to the White House to retrieve and transport some papers.

Pressed for his political assessment of Ford, McNitt hedged as does his father, a South High School classmate of the President.

"I've only met him once but I like Ford as a person."

Moliere's 'The Miser' Opens at Hope July 18

Moliere's "The Miser" opens at the Hope Summer Repertory Theatre on Friday, July 18 in the air-conditioned DeWitt Cultural Center in Holland. Curtain times is 8:30 p.m.

Moliere is considered by many as one of the greatest comedy writers, and The Miser is one of the best examples of his skills.

Filling the lead role of the Miser Harpagon is Peter U. Saputo, an actor with over twenty years of experience who is currently an acting instructor at Indiana University.

Playing Cleante, Harpagon's son, is A. C. Weary, who is back for his second season with the Hope Summer Repertory Theatre. Mariane, the girl who is being courted concurrently by both Harpagon and his son Cleante, is played by Denise Sachs of Pittsburgh.

"The Miser" is often called a comedy of character. The overriding dominance of avarice in Harpagon's character makes for a zesty, comic entertainment throughout the play.

Director Rex McGraw, head of a graduate professional directing program at Ohio University, anticipates that "The Miser" will be enjoyed by all.

For reservations, ticket information, and season coupons call the theatre office 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. "Oklahoma!" opened the 1975 Hope Summer Repertory on July 11. George Bernard Shaw's drama "Saint Joan" opens Aug. 1. The repertory season runs through Sept. 6.

Ottawa County 4-H News

By Willis S. Boss

The children who attended the 4-H camp held at Camp Pottawatomie the week of July 7 to 10 had a special treat. On Wednesday noon, the Ottawa County Commissioners and their wives, and the heads of the various Ottawa County departments came out to camp for a chicken barbecue. Larry Stebbins, County Extension Director headed up this event and Carl Hoyt, Multi-County Agent in Agriculture and Poultry Marketing, prepared the chicken.

Mrs. Robert King, the 4-H camp cook, and her assistants prepared the food to go along with the chicken for approximately 135 campers and guests. Camp is now in its third session, with two sessions still coming up. They are July 21 to 24 and July 28 to 31. There are a few openings for the last two sessions.

Any children between the ages of 9 and 14 interested in attending should contact the 4-H Office, County Building, Room 101, Grand Haven, Mi. 49417. Children do not have to be 4-H members to attend. The campers are under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Thorval Hansen. It is an opportunity for children to have fun in the outdoors participating in various sports, swimming in a heated pool, working on crafts, singing around a campfire and many other experiences.

A new addition to the livestock sale which will be held at the Hudsonville Fair on August 22 will be the sale of pens of three market hogs. There are eight pens of hogs being cared for by 4-H members who have signed them up to sell at the Livestock Auction. In an effort to get them better acquainted with the hog project, a clinic was held Tuesday evening at the Marne Fair in the swine barn.

Roger Peacock, the Vo-Ag instructor at the Coopersville High School, conducted this clinic and showed 4-H members how to clean, train and work with their pen of hogs as well as instruct them in housing and feeding. Larry Stebbins, County Extension Director, organized this clinic.
