Holland Youth Is Victim in Crash At Graafschap

Nagelkerk Misjudges
Jog in Road on Way
From Goshorn Lake

Failing to negotiate a jog in the road while riding his motorcycle, Marinus John (Bud) Nagelkerk, 21, 118 West 17th St., was killed almost instantly at 10:55 p.m. Friday in an accident which occurred at the intersection of the Castle park-Graafschap road in the village of Graafschap, two miles southwest of Holland in Allegan county.

After climbing a terraced lawn on the south side of the Castle park road, Nagelkerk was thrown from his motorcycle in the front yard of the Albert Slenk residence on the southwest corner of the intersection.

Nagelkerk, it was reported, had gone to Goshorn lake with members of the Graafschap baseball team which went swimming after playing the Northshore team. The team members were following Nagelkerk in a car about one-half mile behind him. They said they suddenly saw the light of his motorcycle disappear.

Justice of Peace Guy Teed, acting coroner of Allegan, was called to investigate. He returned a verdict of accidental death.

The coroner expressed belief that Nagelkerk misjudged the highway in riding east on the 'Castle park road where the highway makes a slight jog to the north at the intersection.

Nagelkerk suffered a severely crushed chest and other injuries. His body was found about 12 feet from the motorcycle which after throwing him off crashed into a nearby tree. Teed said the motorcycle traveled about eight rods after leaving the highway. Upon hearing the crash, Mr. Slenk went to Nagelkerk's assistance. The Ver Lee ambulance was summoned by telephone from the Slenk residence.

Nagelkerk was born in Holland Nov. 27, 1920. He attended Washington school.

For the past year, he had been employed at the Holland Furnace Co. He was a member of Sixteenth Street Christian Reformed church.

He is survived by the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Nagelkerk, and one sister, Mrs. Henry Veldheer, of Holland.

Two Alarms Answered By Firemen of Holland

Holland firemen responded to two alarms about 9:30 p.m. Monday which were received within a short time of each other.

The first one came from Bill's Tire Shop, 50 West Seventh St., when a neighbor saw smoke issuing from the building. Investigation revealed a smudge fire which was quickly extinguished.

Bill Valkema, proprietor, said he had started a rubbish fire in a water heater and the fire apparently spread to a nearby piece of paper which set fire to two "junk" tires, burning two small holes in the tires. No one was in the building at the time.

While firemen were at this fire, the second alarm came from Waukazoo. Fire Chief Andrew Klompars reported a dump heap at the rear of the Art Witteveen home, just north of Waukazoo inn, caught fire.

Wants 'Mocking Bird' Limitation

Joldersma States It Should Be Used Mainly
For Defense Alarms

Alfred C. Joldersma, local civilian defense commander, has expressed disapproval of the blowing of the "mocking bird" whistle for non-defense purposes other than for time and fire signals.

It was blown Friday at 9 a.m. along with factory whistles to herald the opening of the retail merchants' campaign to boost the sale of war savings stamps in Holland.

"We have a definite arrangement to blow the whistle for auxiliary police and firemen in case of an emergency. After the whistle had been sounded Friday, they began calling police headquarters and myself for instructions, thinking it was an emergency."

"The situation should be left in control of those who are in charge of civilian defense. As defense commander, I will not tolerate any interference of any kind by allowing any unnecessary blowing of the whistle," Mr. Joldersma said.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Mass, 334 River Ave., sustained damage of undetermined amount in a fire which broke out about 4:10 p.m. Wednesday.

Belief was expressed that the blaze started from a short circuit in the electrical wiring of an attached garage. Local firemen reported the fire spread into the attic.

It had gained considerable headway when firemen arrived. Mr. Mass said two men passing by discovered the fire.

The damage caused by the fire was largely confined to the rear part of the home. Mr. Mass reported. There also was some smoke damage.

After the fire had been brought under control, a fire truck, operated by Fred Zigmeyer, was being backed up on 14th St. and struck a police motorcycle ridden by Harris Nieuwma. There was no damage to the motorcycle and the officer was not injured.

Snake Wears Off Nose Trying to Get Mouse

Allegan, July 23—A novel way of capturing snakes has been discovered by officials of the wild life experiment station west of Allegan, according to Arnold O. Haugen, superintendent.

Investigating their trap lines the other day they found a mouse inside the trap—and outside was a blue racer, who had battered his head against the wire trap trying to catch the mouse until he had worn the skin off his nose and was too weary to wiggle. Officials took advantage of his lethargy to tag him.

"He didn't kill the mouse, so we had to let him go for lack of evidence," Haugen said, "but his next offense will convict him."

Two Children Place Debris on P.M. Tracks

The Ottawa county sheriff's department has reported that an investigation into the placing of debris on the Pere Marquette railroad tracks, north of Holland, has placed the blame on a nine-year-old girl and a seven-year-old boy.

At one time they were reported to have placed gravel on the tracks, a railroad tie and some old tires. A train used such force in coming to a halt Friday that an air line was broken, thus delaying the train 45 minutes. The two children said they got the idea of placing debris on the track from an adult whom they had seen do it on a previous occasion.

Pre-Induction 'Battle' Waged

Police Win Over Trio, Release Them So They
Can Report to Army

Tuesday was the last day in which three youths were to be civilians. Wednesday they left with a group of young men for Kalamazoo to undergo physical examinations and if they pass these examinations, will be inducted into the U.S. army.

The only thing to do to celebrate the occasion was to stage a party so they picked up a girl. The party was going "full blast" as the quartet headed west on Eighth St., west of Maple Ave., about 5:30 p.m. Tuesday.

However, a complaint was received at police headquarters of their rowdiness and Police Chief Jacob Van Hoff, Police Officer Ralph Woldring and Deputy Sheriff Ed Brouwer investigated.

The girl and one youth didn't offer any resistance but the other two apparently were too enthusiastic over prospects of fighting the Japs for they offered the officers a tussle.

The melee continued for a time and attracted almost 50 persons. Finally the officers got the handcuffs on one of the two and the battle ended in favor of the officers.

In order that they wouldn't miss reporting for induction this morning, police released the two men about 10 p.m. after they apologized to the officers.

"We didn't mind it at all, if only you spend as much energy in fighting the Japs," police told them.

Local Air Unit Is Working Toward Squadron Rating

Drills Are Held Each Monday and Friday at Park Township Field

In the hope of becoming a squadron within itself, the Holland flight 638-3-D of the civil air patrol is active these days at Park township airport.

Charles R. Sligh Jr., flight commander, said it is his hope that this may be accomplished in the near future. To do this, it will be necessary for the flight to have at least three airplanes and nine pilots.

Planes, flight time and flight instructions are all furnished at the expense of the individual and, from intentions expressed by members, it appears that the local flight may soon reach the squadron status.

Paul Vandenberg is renewing his private pilot's license and eight other members plan on taking flight instructions just as soon as it is available. Three other planes may soon be purchased by flight members and G. Glurink and J. Busscher are renewing their solo licenses.

The unit holds drills each Monday and Friday nights at the Park township airport. Fifteen members, under Flight Commander Sligh, have in the past three months completed 48 hours of training which has to date included Red Cross first aid, military drill, military courtesy and discipline and aircraft maintenance.

Most of the members of the Holland flight are now in regulation uniform and under the tutelage of Peter Prins who has conducted the course in military courtesy and discipline and military drill.

Eleven members of the Holland flight motored recently to Muskegon to meet with Muskegon squadron 638-3 of the civil air patrol which is commanded by N. G. White. The Holland unit is flight D of the Muskegon squadron.

Commander White commended Commander Sligh for the conduct of the Holland flight, particularly in drill maneuvers.

The first woman member of the Holland flight is Miss Peggy Hadden. Her family is doing a great deal in the war effort. Her father, Mayo Hadden, was an ace in the U. S. air corps during World war I, her brother is now an officer in the navy air corps and her mother is associated with the local office of civilian defense.

Postwar Task to Face Poultrymen

Grand Rapids, July 23 (UP)—The war-time expansion of the dried egg industry and its possible post-war effect on domestic practices was studied today by poultry raisers attending the annual convention of the International Baby Chick association and allied organizations.

Joseph M. Kinghorne, representing the poultry and dairy division of the agricultural marketing administration, told the meeting on Tuesday that the war-time need for the United States to supply Allies with foodstuffs had expanded the dried egg industry beyond all previous records.

He said egg drying plants which now are working 22 hours a day may reduce their operations after the war but urged that American housewives be educated to the use of more compact product for cooking or for table use.

Kinghorne pointed out that dried eggs especially were used in the lend-lease program to conserve on shipping space and facilitate handling.

The convention continues through Friday.

"The lend-lease program," said Kinghorne, "indicated from the beginning that there was going to be a widespread need for eggs and egg products. Eggs in all forms were needed by the shipload for Great Britain. Further, we needed shell eggs in this country more than ever for food for defense purposes."

After Pearl harbor, shipping space was at such a premium that dried eggs as a saver of space were in special demand, Kinghorne said.

Up to July 1, Kinghorne reported more than 123 million pounds of whole dried eggs had been bought by the AMA primarily for lend-lease shipment. The total now contracted for is in excess of 212 million pounds.

All the eggs produced in Ohio, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin in 1941 plus 17 per cent of those produced in Indiana that year would be required to fill this contract alone, he said.

Though the dried egg industry has been expanded recently it is on scientific foundations, the product has been found good in every use to which the British housewife has put it and the dried egg industry has a peaceful future in this country, the speaker said.

At the present time, 28 states have dried egg plants, Kinghorne said. Texas holds first place with an annual capacity of more than 58 million pounds.

Liebespeck, who had previously had an accident with the car from which the wheels and tires were stolen and had traded it in at the Roan garage. The garage was going to junk the car. Wyhowski was taken into custody here Saturday and his cousin was taken to the jail Tuesday afternoon, after which the confessions were obtained.

ROMANTIC FLAPDOODLE

An 84-year-old Michigan man
has made an appeal to President Roosevelt, through his congressman, to be allowed to enlist as a regular private in the armed forces of the United States. His first choice is an opportunity to kill Japs, but if the government isn't quite in position to place enough of our oriental enemies in strategic positions for the aging patriot to knock down with his trustworthy rifle he is willing to take pot shots at Germans. He does not mention Italians, but perhaps he would even condescend to blow away at those enemies of America—provided things could be arranged in such a way
that he could pick them off two at a shot.

The congressman of this veteran Wolverine has taken his con-stituent's request seriously enough to give it ample publicity. He regrets that "age limits prevent many good men from seeing active service" and he advises the petitioner to get into some war work on the home front. He also promises that he will transmit
the request to the president.
Doubtless when the twenty-fourth secretary of the president gets the communication he will have one of the bright publicity boys
in Washington whittle a sharp
little story out of it to shame younger patriots into stepping up their war effort.

It does not seem to occur to most people that men of this type are hardly more than an unmitigated nuisance. And women too, both old and young, who try to horn into a public service for which they are obviously unsuited.
The real patriots, both men and women, are the ones who quietly look around for things to do that can be expected to help the war effort. The other type is made up of men and women who simply get into the way of the war machine, impeding its progress.

This old man, for instance,
would be a costly recruit for Uncle Sam. In the very nature of things his bones and muscles and arteries are such that they could not possibly respond to the strains that even the mildest war service would demand. One of the best ways to lose the war would be to enroll large numbers of such misfits in the armed forces. In the same way many women who are obviously misfits for the things they aspire to do always get into the way of the war machine;
the records of the Civil war and first World war days are eloquent with examples of their misplaced patriotism. But such people seldom see themselves for the nuisances they really are.

The general public is likely to see them romantically. But for the most part it is no more than
romantic flapdoodle.

In the 122 years that have expired since the declaration of independence our nation has fought five wars, besides a great amount of war with the Indians. We have triumphed in all our wars, England in the same period has fought six wars and lost two, both to us.
France has engaged in six and lost
two. Prussia has lost two out of five. Austria has lost three out of five. Russia has lost two and gained
one. Our country has only once declared war and that was with England in 1812. In this country the initiative always rests with congress and on its authorization
the president may and must proclaim.—Ex.

Dutch Group, In Training in Illinois for
New Crack at Axis, Will Visit Holland

Here are part of the Dutch naval force members who will visit Holland Thursday. Patrolman Stanley Wroblewski (next to right in top photo) halted four of them in St. Louis recently when he became suspicious after seeing them, in foreign uniforms, being photographed at the post office. The fliers, left to right, are Jaap J. Liew-wan, Bjord Heerings, Sgt. Henk Postema and Peter Engela. Corp.
John Stuurwold of Kalamazoo, assigned counselor to the Netherlands contingent, is at right. Col. Wolcott P. Hayes, post commander of U.S. army air forces at Scott Field, Ill., discusses (bottom photo) the training program for the Hollanders with Lieut. Comdr. A. van Kar-nebeek and First Lieut. S. van der Molen.

Two officers and four or five enlisted Netherlands-East Indies
youths who are in training at Scott Field, Ill., will be guests of this city Thursday when they will be offered opportunity to hold a reunion with the Dutch folk of this city in celebration of the contribution of all persons of Dutch ancestry in the United Nations' war effort.

Mayor Henry Geerlings received word Monday by telegram from Major J. R. Johnston of the public relations section of the air corps technical school at Scott Field, Ill., that a group of probably 10 will arrive in Holland
Thursday at 11 a.m.

The trip from Scott Field to Holland will be made by airplane
which will land at the Park township airport. The group will be accompanied to Holland by the officer in charge of their training, Capt. David Sherman of Marshall, Mich., and Major Johnston, a former newspaper man located at Jackson.

The return trip will be made the following day. Mayor Geer-lings said the city's visitors will be met at the airport by a reception committee and taken to Castle park to attend the weekly luncheon of the Holland Rotary club.

A tour of the city will be made later in the afternoon, the tour
being arranged by Mayor Geer-lings and E. P. Stephan, secretary manager of the Holland Chamber of Commerce. Their visit to Holland has been approved by the war department, Major Johnston advised those in charge of planning their entertainment.

Five minutes before the little Dutch submarines left a Java port in a hopeless foray against the invading Japs, four Netherlands East Indies youths were transferred to a radio communications school of the Royal Netherlands naval air force in Soerabaja.

The subs and their crews never came back. But those four youths today with 12 other veterans of the heroic struggle of The Netherlands against Japs and Germans are at this radio university of the U. S. army air force, diligently completing the course they started in Java, readying themselves for another crack at the Axis.

The Scott field contingent is part of a group of about 90 men, evacuated first from Java and then from Australia, to continue training in specialized branches of The Netherlands naval air force.

Rolling, untanned, and full of hair-raising stories, the 16
Dutch students are still "itching"
for action although they've faced death from the sky, on land, on the water and under the water.

Six of them were in The Netherlands when war broke out with Germany. All sailors, they became members of the crew of a Dutch cruiser which was set upon by Nazi planes almost continuously in the waters near Belgium.

The screaming Stukas failed to score a direct hit and the ship went to England for repairs. Later, the same cruiser took Crown Princess Juliana and her children to Canada.

Homeland occupied by the in-vader, the Dutch ship roamed the seas lying in wait for Nazi raiders. She visited Bermuda, Trin-dad, Freetown, British West Africa, Capetown, innumerable small islands, and then ended up at Java. There four of the original crew were transferred to subs and were saved from death
by circumstances related before.

Others of the group of 16

Dutchmen—who still proudly refer to themselves as "sailors"— were born in Java, served with the little but powerful East Indies fleet against the Japs.

When the Nipponese started the invasion of Java, the island with most of its air force and navy already out of action as a result of preliminary battles, was almost helpless against the swarms of enemy planes.

The Dutch students recount
how 25 bombers in formation swept over the base at Soerabaja without opposition, leveling everything. Behavior of Americans at this point was warmly recalled by the visitors.

"Instead of running to the air raid shelters with everyone else,"
said one student, "the Americans stood in the streets with Tommy guns or pistols blasting away at the planes."

Their school demolished, the radio communications pupils were evacuated to Australia just before the Jap occupation of the island became complete. The sergeant in charge of the Scott field group was on the last plane out of Java. They came to the United States in an American ship.

Most of them speak English,
learned in high school. Slang
"stumps" them a little, but they've picked up a few words.

Castle Park Sets Aug. 1 For Junior Riders' Events

Horsemanship Classes Will Draw Many to First All-Day Show

The third annual Castle Park Junior horse show, colorful attraction at the resort for several summers, is scheduled for Saturday, Aug. 1, in the ring on Maplebrook farm at the entrance to Castle park.

The first show was held in 1939 and the second in 1941. The event was omitted in 1940.

For the first time this year the affair will be an all day show with morning and afternoon classes. Riders will perform beginning at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. Judges for the event will be announced later.

Seven different age divisions this year are expected to draw many entries to make the show the largest ever staged. Horsemanship classes and games have been planned for each age group. Climax of the exhibitions will be an innovation, a bareback riding class.

Included in the list of Holland persons who have already entered the show are Lucille Van Dommelen, Mary Ver Meulen, Randall and Ted Bosch and Jane Bramberg.

Entries must be in by July 29 in order to appear on the program, but post entries will be accepted after that date. Blanks and entry fees must be turned in to Margaret McLean at Castle Park.

Exhibitors riding in a numbered class must ride in both the A and B divisions of that class. No exhibitor is eligible to ride in either division unless he is entered in the other division also. This rule is made to enable the judge to see how the exhibitors ride when not especially concentrating on their horsemanship, as well as in the conventional equitation class.

There will be ribbons for both the A and B divisions of their classes. The ribbons in the B division will go to the riders winning the contest, regardless of their horsemanship. The riders' horsemanship in the B division, however, will be applied to their performances in the A division to determine the A division winners. Exhibitors may ride different horses in the A and B divisions of their classes.

The general committee in charge of arrangements for the show is composed of Bob Steketee, Sally Frost, Austin Brown, Jessica Vennell, Gilbert Carter and Margaret McLean. Advisers are Carter P. Brown, Mrs. W. C. Carter and Miss Eleanor Moffet.

Various classes and age groups follow:

Morning:

Class 1, Trophy and 6 ribbons: For children 6 years old and under. To be shown on a leadline at a walk and slow jog.

Class 2B, 4 ribbons: For children 7 years old. A simple game to be announced later.

Class 2A, Trophy and 6 ribbons: For children 7 years old. A horse-manship class to be shown at walk and trot.

Class 3B, 4 ribbons: For children 8 years old. Riders are to trot to the opposite end of the ring, eat a cracker, speak a few lines, and trot back.

Class 3A, Trophy and 6 ribbons: For children 8 years old. A horse-manship class to be shown at walk and trot.

Class 4B, 4 ribbons: For children 9 years old. Riders to trot weaving between widely separated poles.

Class 4A, Trophy and 6 ribbons: For children 9 years old. A horse-manship class to be shown at walk, trot and canter. Riders may be asked to change mounts and answer simple questions on equitation.

Afternoon:

Class 5B, 4 ribbons: For children 10 years old. A water carrying race.

Class 5A, Trophy and 4 ribbons: For children 10 years old. A horse-manship class to be shown at walk, trot and canter. Riders may be asked to change mounts and answer simple questions on equitation.

Class 6B-7B, 4 ribbons: For children 11 through 17. Musical chairs.

Class 6A, Trophy and 4 ribbons: For children 11 and 12 years old. A horse-manship class to be shown at walk, trot and canter. Riders may be asked to change mounts and answer simple questions on equitation.

Class 7A, Trophy and 4 ribbons: For children 13 through 17 years old. A horse-manship class to be shown at walk, trot and canter. Riders may be asked to change mounts and answer simple questions on equitation.

Class 8, 4 ribbons: Bareback riding class. Open to children of all ages. To be judged on seat and hands and controls of mount at a walk, jog, posting trot and canter.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

THIS is the week to splurge on fried and broiled chicken for poultry producers have sent to market quantities of young cockerels weeded out from the production of chicks for egg laying.

Throughout the country the food stores are featuring fryers and broilers and certainly there could not be a better choice for a summer meal. Do not forget, too, that there are a variety of ways to serve young chickens in addition to the time honored ones just mentioned. You might try the Italian style with onions, green peppers, tomatoes and a bit of garlic, or the French way with mushrooms and just a whisper of garlic.

When deciding on vegetables and fruits for your Sunday dinner your only difficulty will be selecting among a tempting variety. The most attractively priced are Eastern apples, avocados, cantaloupes, cherries, honeydews, peaches, beets, beans, cabbage, celery, corn, cucumbers, greens, onions, squash and tomatoes.

Dorr Flier Likes Work in Hawaii

Fred Theodore Figueroa is finding flying for the United States navy more to his liking than the peaceful farm life he spent at Dorra, according to a dispatch from Honolulu, Hawaii.

"Flying is in my blood," said Fred, who has a rating of aviation machinist's mate third class in the naval air corps. "I love it more than anything."

Fred has flight orders and his job is to man the plane. "I am like the engineer in the engine room of a ship. I keep my weather eye on the performance of the plane's engine."

Fred is of the opinion that flying is as safe as riding in a bus. "It's all in a day's work," he commented.

The navy has taught Fred not only a fine trade, but other things as well. "I've learned self-discipline, to perform my duty properly and to get along with all my shipmates under the most difficult circumstances."

Fred likes being stationed in Hawaii. "The scenery is incomparable," he said. "The climate is perfect and there are now many USO centers for the pleasure of the service men."

Fred enlisted in the navy in May, 1941. "My father was a water tender in the last war. He is dead now. I remember that he was always anxious for me to join the navy. I am proud to follow in his steps."

Fred's mother, Mrs. Joseph B. Harkiss, lives on the farm at Dorra, rural route 1.

Arrangements are being made for delegates to occupy rooms in Zwemer hall. Accommodations also will be provided in the same building for pastors who will bring their families. Plans are under way whereby the entire group will take at least one meal a day in common fellowship. These probably will be in the form of picnics and outings.

The following courses are being offered: Three simultaneous courses at 9 a. m., "Roll of the Church" with Calvin Schuckler of Titonka, Ia., "The City Church" with Dr. John A. Afternoons will be spent in reading, fellowship or recreation. Arrangements are being made for two or three evening programs featuring an address by some outstanding preacher.

The conference is being arranged by a joint committee of the seminary and college composed of Dr. Jacob Vander Meulen, Dr. Mulder, Dr. Simon Blocker, Dr. Mennenga, Dr. Kuiper, Prof. William Gouloze, Dr. Wynand Wichers, Rev. Henry Bast and Prof. Paul Brouwer.

So far at least 100 persons have indicated intentions of attending the conference.

National Session Of Exchangeites Canceled by War

Fris Says No Action Has Been Taken as to Convention in State

With cancellation of the 1942 national convention of the Exchange clubs, State President Jacob Fris of Holland stated today that no decision has been made regarding the annual state Exchange club convention.

The national convention had been set for Aug. 30 to Sept. 2 at Cleveland, O., but the national board of control voted to postpone it in response to a directive of Director Joseph E. Eastman of the office of defense transportation. Increasing limitations upon civilian travel, pending nationwide gasoline rationing, as well as the possibility of restricted civilian train travel, were given as material reasons for the action by the Exchange national board of control.

Mr. Fris said it originally was planned to hold the state convention in conjunction with the national convention since Ted Hall of Detroit, national vice-president, was scheduled to be advanced to national president. Mr. Fris said it is possible that a one-day state convention for the purpose of transacting business only may be held in some city in the central part of Michigan, possibly Sept. 20.

Three members of the Holland Exchange club are now serving in the nation's armed forces. They are Dr. H. P. Harms, with the U. S. naval hospital corps at San Diego, Cal.; Peter Boter, staff sergeant at Fort Custer; and Lieut. Col. Henry A. Geerds who is now in Australia.

$544 Received at War-Aid Auction

Start of Major Stamp Sale Period Signaled By Factory Whistles

Herded by the blowing of factory whistles at 9 a. m. Friday, local retail stores launched a concentrated drive to boost the sale of war savings stamps in their stores as Holland joined in the nationwide observance of "American Heroes day."

The event was given an initial sendoff last Thursday in Centennial park where a public auction was held at which merchandise to which savings stamps had been attached was sold to the highest bidder.

NO, WAR IS NOT OVER

Startled Holland residents flooded police headquarters and The Sentinel with telephone calls after hearing the whistles blow Friday to mark the opening of the retail merchants' campaign to sell war savings stamps in observance of "American Heroes day."

Police estimated they received 80 calls within a short time after the whistles quit blowing. Some thought they had been blown because "Hitler had been shot" or that "the war was over." Several auxiliary police thought it was a practice air raid and called headquarters for instructions.

The sale totaled $544.40, of which $390.75 was in defense stamps. After expenses have been paid from the remaining $153.65, the balance will be donated to the U. S. O.

Melvin Van Tatenhove, former president of the Holland Junior Chamber of Commerce, which sponsored Thursday night's program for local merchants, has thanked them for their cooperation and also thanked local citizens for turning out to support the auction.

Thursday night's "stamp party" at Centennial park was noisily announced by a motor convoy with a police motorcycle escort which toured the city with horns and sirens blowing. The group then fell in line to march in the parade at 7:30 p. m.

Other parade participants were a color guard, American Legion band, members of the stamp committee, block chairmen, local merchants and their employees, carrying flags and placards.

At Centennial park, Melvin Van Tatenhove, former president of the Jaycee organization, served as master of ceremonies. The American Legion band under direction of Eugene Heeter played a brief concert which included a drum solo by Ransom Everett entitled "Califunk Calisthenics" with band accompaniment.

During the concert, an Army truck convoy passed through Holland, traveling south on River Ave. Upwards of 1,500 persons attended.

Gordon Groenewoud won the prize for the youngest father present, Dr. and Mrs. E. J. Bleckink for the oldest couple present, and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Van Lente for the youngest parents having sons in the armed forces.

M. Oudemool and P. Noter won prizes in the horseshoe pitching contest. Having the largest family present, using combined weights, was the L. Essenberg family with five members in the family totaling 746 pounds.

Henry Pelgrim, 87, won the prize for being the oldest man present. Mr. and Mrs. G. Van Anrooy who have two boys and a girl in the armed service of our country were awarded the prize for having the most representatives in the nation's service. John tended Thursday night's "stamp party."

Cornelius W. Dornbos, Ottawa county chairman of retail merchants talked briefly in which he explained the purpose of the retail merchants' campaign to boost the sale of war savings stamps in Holland. He said the government has set aside two or three days out of each month to make the citizens "stamp minded."

"Retailers are being asked to sell stamps like they do merchandise. In selling these stamps to you, we also are selling you liberty."

"It is requiring millions of dollars to finance the war program. Michigan merchants have been assigned a year's quota of $84,000,000 in stamps and Ottawa county's quota for July is $41,000. Friday is American Heroes day. We only have to look back to the heroes of 1776 who fought for our liberty and freedom to know that we are fighting today for that heritage which they handed down to us."

"Our boys in the armed forces today are the 'cream of the nation.' Holland and the nation must get behind them and buy more stamps to keep them fighting for your and my freedom and liberty."

An enthusiastic auction sale was conducted by Leo M. Loew, local auctioneer. The first item to be offered for sale was a watermelon with 50 cents worth of stamps. Mr. Dornbos purchased the watermelon with his high bid of $2.50. Other items were new merchandise donated by the merchants to which were attached war savings stamps. They also brought good prices.

A stamp booth was installed at the park for those who desired to buy stamps but did not wish to participate in the auction sale. The two girls in charge of the booth were Elaine Vos, 97 West 19th St., and Minnie Marcuse, 80 West 19th St.

Poultry Industry Is Setting Record In War Food Plan

Egg Production Above Goal, Delegates Told At Convention in G.R.

Grand Rapids, July 23—The poultry industry has done more than any other branch of agriculture to produce Food for Freedom, Roy F. Hendrickson of Washington, administrator for the agricultural marketing administration, told the International Baby Chick association and allied organizations in convention Wednesday in Civic auditorium.

His address was read by Dr. Dewey R. Termohlen, chief of the poultry section of the department of agriculture as Hendrickson was detained in Washington by official business.

"Since this program went into effect, production has added up to the amazing total of 29,100,000,000 eggs—an all-time record for the period from January to June. I'll admit that figure staggers even one who is as used to Washington figures as I am," he said.

Declaring the hens are "shelling them out fast," Hendrickson asserted production of eggs is up 16 per cent over that of 1941, exceeding by 3 per cent the goal set by the department of agriculture. Every section of the country is contributing to the increase, he said.

The speaker, whose subject was "Poultry's Part in Victory," reminded his audience that the poultry industry is an important division of the civilian army serving on the food front.

Hendrickson promised that the Agricultural marketing administration will continue to do all it can to maintain egg prices at levels that will average 85 per cent of parity or above, and predicted that egg production goals for 1943 probably will be above those for this year. "The hatcheryman who keeps up and even increases his production with existing equipment is contributing directly to the defeat of the Axis," he said. "So is the poultry farmer who builds up his laying flocks and increases egg output. So is the egg-drying plant that works out more effective techniques for processing egg powder. It is a co-operative job from start to finish."

Proceeding to a discussion of broilers and fryers as a by-product of egg production, Hendrickson declared it is "patriotic to eat chicken this summer."

"Our Allies are asking for more and more of the food that can be shipped," he pointed out. "At the same time we have abundant supplies of perishables that can't be shipped. If we eat chicken, more of the other meat—trimmed, cured, dehydrated and frozen pork and beef—can take to the high seas."

No attempt will be made to place a floor under broiler prices, Hendrickson said, since broiler production has already expanded to the danger point. Emphasis of the poultry program, he said, will continue to be on egg production.

Discussing the future of the poultry industry, the Washington expert predicted that shortages of labor and farm machinery and bottle-necks in both mail and truck transportation will tax the ingenuity of the American poultryman to the utmost.

"The unselfishness, the ingenuity, the prudence and the tenacity this year or two will be the foundation upon which its future will rest," he concluded.

Other speakers Wednesday were Leo V. Card, commissioner of the Michigan department of agriculture, who discussed state egg-grading legislation and its effect on poultry income; and the G. S. Vickers of Columbus, O., field manager of the Ohio Poultry improvement association whose subject was multiple testing.

Latest methods of disease control to reduce chick mortality; transportation problems; multiple testing and chick sexing were discussed in group conferences Wednesday afternoon. Women guests enjoyed a style show in the black and silver room of the auditorium, where the Michigan poultry industry was host at a program of music, dancing and other entertainment in the evening.

Registration of delegates totaled 2,600 Wednesday night and more were expected today.

J. Turner Mills of McNabb, Ill., was elected president of the chick association. The National Turkey federation elected Charles W. Wampler of Harrisonburg, Va., president.

Teusink ended the inning by flying out to the catcher.

The Knitters six runs in the eighth inning were scored by Crandle, Wiseman, Wiersbeck, R. Willard, D. Stevens, D. Waggoner.

In the eighth inning, Van Wieren sent a two-bagger into right field, then scored on Glanz's two-bagger hit into center field. H. De Neff and C. Serier were walked, to fill the bases. ## Lifeguard's Hours at Kollen Park Changed

Police Chief Jacob Van Hoff reported Monday that the working hours of Cornelius J. Dornbos, lifeguard at Kollen park, have been changed from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. to noon and 9 p.m.

The question of Dornbos' hours was raised at common council's regular meeting last Wednesday night, the contention being that swimmers still were in the water after Dornbos went off duty and locked up the lifesaving equipment.

Dornbos is equipped with two buoys and a rowboat at the park. The question of whether he could swim also was raised at the last meeting of the police and fire board. Dornbos told Chief Van Hoff he feels he can meet any situation of saving a life as he is keeping in training by frequent swims in Lake Michigan at the state park.

State police, who investigated, arrested Bolden upon his release from the hospital.

He waived examination and was bound over to the present term of circuit court to appear July 24. Unable to furnish $500 bond he was committed to the county jail.
