Sub Visit Brings Nearly $17,000 In Bonds, Stamps

Crowds Estimated at
More Than 5,000 See
Exhibit at Park Here

A total of $16,977.50 was collected to noon Friday in bond and stamp sales in connection with the visit of the two-man suicide Japanese submarine here Thursday. Acting Postmaster Harry Kramer who took charge of the distribution of stamps said stamp sales amounted to $1,540. Bonds sold at the scene and at the two banks amounted to $15,437.50. This figure represents the cash collected, not the redemption value of the bonds.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce was instrumental in selling bonds amounting to $4,150 and indications were that the figure would be higher by tonight. One local person purchased bonds amounting to $8,200 with the request that it be credited to the submarine sales.

Peoples State Bank bond sales amounted to $11,437.50 up to noon today. Of this amount, $9,623.35 was credited to the submarine sales. Holland State bank collected $3,950 for bonds.

Frank M. Lieverse, local bond chairman, estimated that between 5,000 and 6,000 persons were on hand to view the sub.

The submarine left Holland at 9 a.m. Friday for Benton Harbor where it was to be exhibited throughout the day. Since it arrived in Holland late Thursday it remained set up for inspection until 10:45 p.m. instead of 10 p.m. as was originally scheduled. A local reception committee met the submarine with its three-man crew and a group of Wave recruits shortly after 5:30 p.m. The sub arrived at Centennial park at 5:40 p.m. and the catwalks were set up in ten or fifteen minutes. Boy Scouts under the direction of Herbert Ten Have assisted in various capacities at the park putting up ropes and keeping the crowds back.

The bond salesmen of the Junior Chamber of Commerce included Ray Klingenberg, Charles Laitsch, Bob Gordon, Harry Beekman, James Zwier, John Van Dyke, Homer Doane and Charles Cooper, president.

Lieut. and Mrs. Clark Jelliffe, Wave Recruiter Myrna Brown and Wave Yeoman Barbara Goldman, all of the Detroit recruiting office, were on hand at the submarine for interviews with prospective enlistees.

Music by the American Legion band under the direction of John Perkosi, assistant director, started at 7:30 p.m. and continued throughout the evening interspersed by short talks over the amplifying system which was part of the truck's equipment.

The submarine is 81 feet long, six feet in diameter and now weighs 17½ tons. The normal weight is 32 to 35 tons and the difference in weight is that the navy department removed the torpedoes, the demolition charge, the heavy storage batteries and the motor, substituting in their stead, in exact replica, a lighter material.

The submarine normally carries two torpedoes 18 feet long, 18 inches in diameter, each of which weighs 1750 pounds, and a 300-pound nitroglycerine charge to blow itself up. There are 104 batteries in four banks furnishing power for navigation. The cruising range was 150 miles, surface speed 14 knots, submerged six to eight knots.

After firing the torpedoes the sub would seek a third target, dive under it or come alongside it and the officer would touch off a demolition charge, destroying the crew, the sub and the target.

In searching the boy, officers found a pocketbook which was reported stolen from a Mr. Turner of Muskegon. When questioned, the boy said, "Honest to goodness, sheriff, Ah didn't know that was in mah pocket. How did it get there?" The watch was recovered.

The corn ear worm, an old enemy of sweet corn growers, is also present this year. These pests may be controlled by snapping off ear tips just after the milk has wilted. Another measure is the injection of a drop or two of mineral oil into the ear tips. A special oil can is necessary.

Control of the corn borer is difficult because it attacks other plants as well as corn. Almost 200 plants are subject to attack. The borer will not destroy the corn field but will reduce yields and cause many broken stalks.

Sweet corn growers having difficulty with borers in the ears may get fair control by dusting the corn with a pyrethrum dust, repeating the process every few days. If pyrethrum dust is not available, dust fixed nicotine dust is recommended at the rate of 15-20 pounds per acre. Dusting should start as soon as eggs are found and be repeated every five days until no more eggs appear.

Because of large acreages grain growers cannot follow this procedure. Proper care of the fodder and turning under stubble early in May will do much to control the borer. However, due to widespread prevalence of the borer, it is futile for any one farmer to carry on a prevention program. In order to get worthwhile control all growers should carry on the same program.

Arnold Predicts Grass, Legumes Shortage in 1944

Row Crops Increased At Expense of Hay and Pasture, Agent States

Grand Haven, July 29 (Special)—County Farm Agent L. R. Arnold said today that one of the farmer's toughest problems in 1944 and for several years following will be to get sufficient seed for grasses and legumes. Under lease this country is shipping to the allies millions of pounds of seeds for vegetables, grasses and alfalfa.

The war, according to Arnold, has caused an increased acreage of row crops such as corn, potatoes, beans and other items, at the expense of hay and pasture. Clarence Reenders, a director of the West Ottawa Soil Conservation district, said that if the yields of the needed food and feed crops are to be maintained, it is essential that crop rotation be followed, pointing out that the high yields of the war crops that have been obtained have resulted largely because these crops have been rotated with grasses and legumes. He also said that seed is needed for supplemental pastures which will help overcome the shortage of protein livestock feeds, and for green manure and cover crops which are valuable as a source of nitrogen and protect the soil from erosion and leaching.

Arnold said that the seed shortage problem can be overcome if farmers will start planning now to secure their seed supply off their own farms wherever possible.

D. W. Wadsworth and son, Walter, drove to Chicago Wednesday in connection with the marketing of the former's blueberry crop, which he handles through the National Blueberry association with headquarters there for this region.

In previous years, Mr. Wadsworth has been successful in propagating the plants from cuttings, but he says that they have not done well this year, the tendency having been to just start rooting and then dying. Mr. Wadsworth states that the other growers of the plants are having the same trouble. Mr. Spelman of South Haven seems to have had the best success of any one this season. The cuttings are started in nursery boxes holding about five or six hundred cuttings. A peat substance is used instead of soil. The first year Mr. Wadsworth purchased the peat from a Wisconsin firm, but later an experiment with peat from his own swamp showed equally good results.

After being started in the boxes the plants are transplanted into rows in the nursery and the year plants are set at the proper distance for bearing. The harvesting will start this week. When the swamp on his place and that on the adjoining place of his son, Ray, are completely under cultivation there should be about 12 acres. Ray, however, is in service, which slows up their expansion.

Mrs. Edna Bradley of Allegan has been visiting in the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Oxford.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE Board of Supervisors

Of Ottawa County, State of Michigan

Adjourned June Session, 1943

The Board of Supervisors met pursuant to adjournment on Wednesday, July 7, 1943 at 1:30 p. m., and was called to order by the Chairman, Mr. Ter Avest.

Present at roll call: Messrs. Zylstra, Vollink, Hassold, Heckel, Lowing, Reenders, Smallegang, Stegenka, Nieuwma, Ter Avest, Garbrecht, Szopinski, Bottema, Slaughter, Martin, Mohr, Wilds, Ryecenga, Rosbach, Osterhouse, Geerlings, Van Ark, Van Tongeren, Ten Cate, Frankena, and Lanning.

Absent—None.

Dr. Ten Have addressed the board and stated that there is a long waiting list at the Muskegon County Sanatorium due undoubtedly to the increase in population in Muskegon County and that it is possible that the contract for Ottawa County for the ensuing two years will be limited to 10 beds instead of 14 beds and that the rate would be $3.50 instead of $3.00 plus surgery. Because of the conditions at Muskegon it has been necessary to contact Sunshine, Fairmont and Howell, and Howell is the only one available at this time. The Superintendent at Howell has stated that beds would be available in about a week or ten days.

Communication from the Conservation Committee

To the Hon. Board of Supervisors of Ottawa County:

It is recommended by the Committee of Conservation, that the 40 acres of land, proposed to be used for a Memorial forest, be purchased by funds appropriated by the County Board of Supervisors, as requested by Miss Lida Rogers of the Holland High School be rejected.

The committee's decision was formed after a consideration of the following facts:

1. The County has now in its ownership, but leased to the West Ottawa Soil Conservation District, approximately 1800 acres of idle land which under the terms of the lease, is made available to school and other public agencies for school forests, memorials and public use.

2. The County has an agency, namely the West Ottawa Soil Conservation District, existing, which is doing an excellent job of demonstrating the use of the type of land requested.

3. It was felt by the Committee that the price asked for the land was too high.

4. It was felt that if the Board of Supervisors purchased this parcel of land for a Memorial forest, it would create a desire on the part of schools and other public agencies, for land for similar purposes.

After considering the above facts, the Committee on Conservation do hereby resolve that the request be rejected; but recommend that the land be leased to the County by the West Ottawa Soil Conservation District, for a Memorial forest if it is desired by Miss Rogers.

Signed, FRANK GARBRECHT, CLARENCE REENDERS, ALBERT H. STEGENKA, Board of Supervisors.

Dr. Banninga Is Given Medal for Service in India

Presentation Made in Boston for Missionary Who Lives in Holland

Dr. John J. Banninga, well known Congregational missionary in India for over 40 years who has been making his home at 669 Michigan Ave. here, has just been presented with the silver Kaiser-i-Hind medal for distinguished services to the people of India. This honor was conferred at the offices of the British consulate in Boston on behalf of the Viceroy of India.

Dr. Banninga who retired from missionary service only a week or two ago was born in Muskegon and is a graduate of Hope college and Western Theological seminary. He enlisted for service under the American Board of Foreign Missions of the Congregational church in 1901. He has two sisters and a brother residing in Muskegon.

Mrs. Banninga who is in Holland at present is the former Mary Damson. She was born in Grand Rapids but lived in Holland before her marriage. She has three sisters and one brother here, Mrs. C. E. Ripley, Mrs. John Dyke, Mrs. Burke W. Taylor and Herman Damson.

When the Banningas arrived in Holland last July they spent considerable time with Mrs. Taylor and then went to California for the winter. They returned here about three months ago and established their home on Michigan Ave. Dr. Banninga will leave Holland the middle of September to do some work in this country under the Congregational board. Whether Mrs. Banninga will accompany him or remain in Holland has not been determined.

The Kaiser-i-Hind medal for Dr. Banninga was forwarded to the British embassy in Washington and he was invited by Lord Halifax to come to Washington in August to receive it. Since Dr. Banninga could not make the trip at that time the medal was sent to the British consulate in Boston on a day when it was known he would be in that city conferring with the American board headquarters.

All silver in color, hung on a rich blue ribbon, the Kaiser-i-Hind medal is topped with a crown while around the lower oval body runs a wreath in the center of which are the entwined letters G. R. I. (George Rex Imperator). On the reverse side is a conventional flower design across which are the words "Kaiser-i-Hind" and around the ends runs the inscription "For Public Service in India."

Primarily in Christian education work, Dr. Banninga served 28 years as president of Union Theological Training school in Patalmal, the only seminary in India with Congregational, Episcopal and Presbyterian representatives in staff and students.

Prominent in the ecumenical movement in India, Dr. Banninga was a delegate to the great International Missionary conference in Madras in 1938 and has been a leader in the organization of the United Church of South India.

Functioning of WLB Is Explained to Rotarians

The operation of the war labor board and some of the complications it encounters in making an earnest effort to decide justly in all controversies were explained by Stephen F. Dunn, industrial member of the regional WLB, to members of the Rotary club at their noon meeting in Warm Friend tavern Thursday. Mr. Dunn has just returned from attending a three-day meeting of the board in Detroit the first part of the week and included several "off the record" remarks in his talk.

He also explained the Smith-Connally anti-strike law and discussed the Little Steel formula. As near as it can be determined the American public is in favor of free enterprise, he said.

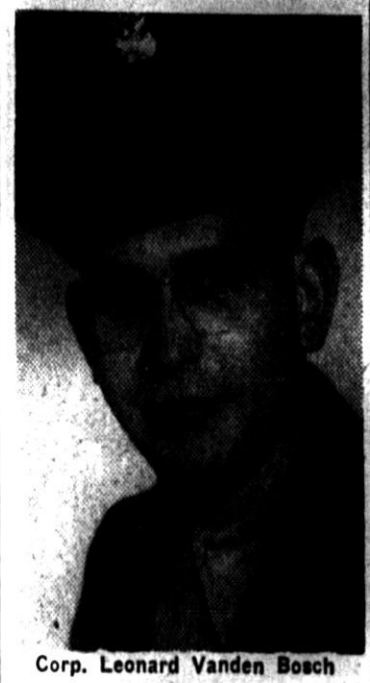

Guests at the meeting included Joe Kramer, M. E. Stickels and Ray Fehring of Holland, C. S. Bierwagon and W. F. McIntyre of Detroit, John Vande Velde of Emporia, Kans., Harry Harper of North Branch, A. H. Brown of Belding and Ed Bonds of South Bend, Ind.

Crop Condition in Ottawa Improved

Grand Haven, July 29—County Agricultural Agent L. R. Arnold, reviewing developments in current crops, today said farmers are much more optimistic now than they were two months ago. The late spring and excessive moisture delayed corn planting as never before, but during the past month better conditions have prevailed with the result that better harvests are expected, he said.

Wheat was injured by the winter and spring weather, he stated. Some fields were plowed up and others will give light yields, although some are coming through with fair yields. The oats crop is more promising than was expected although the total yield will be below normal, not only for the county and state but for the country as a whole, he said.

According to Arnold, corn, the most important grain crop, is making a fine recovery. Many fields have come along so fast during the past three weeks that a crop can now be expected, although from hundreds of fields the best one can expect is fodder and silage. A considerable acreage was put in during the last week in June and in order to harvest that corn, weather will have to remain favorable until Nov. 1.

Peach growers in this section are fortunate and a fair crop is assured. There also will be apples, but a short crop mostly of spies, Baldwins and McIntoshes.

Sugar beet acreage was cut to a small figure due to weather and other factors. Conditions for planting and good growth have been poor. The same is true of pickles.

Amateur gardeners have made a valiant effort to meet the government's request for production of food and results have not been too good. Despite all handicaps the people as a whole are struggling to produce everything possible. In some cases potatoes rotted in the ground but total yield of early potatoes should be larger than normal. Field beans look good and many that were planted late may bring about a good bean harvest.

The strawberry crop was short but prices were good. A good raspberry crop is now being harvested.

On the whole, the 1943 harvest will not approach that of 1942 but farmers are more optimistic than before, Arnold said.

ANALOGY TO OUR CIVIL WAR

It is sometimes useful to take our eyes off the immediate scene and to let them rest for a moment on something faroff; doing this restores perspective, and perspective makes for confidence.

Looking at a Washington at war is not an encouraging sight.
Not a few feel that Washington has become a vast political madhouse. While American boys are sweating by the millions in the far corners of the earth and dying by the thousands, Washington is the center of bickering, and confusion, and political selfishness, and bungling, and shortsightedness, and personal ambitions. An observer keeping his eyes focused on what is going on in Washington these war days can hardly help yielding to despair.

Those who are about to yield to such a feeling could profitably remember that the fundamental strength of the whole American people is much greater than the confusion in Washington would indicate. The collective common sense of the millions—in such places as Holland, Michigan, and Emporia, Kansas, and all other communities in the land—is likely to neutralize in the long run the poison that is being generated in Washington. America as a whole can survive even Washington bungling.

For an analogy to our own Civil War. We have of course romanticized and sentimentalized that war; we think that in those days everybody was a selfless patriot. History gives a different picture. Read such a book as "Washington Revelle" and have your eyes opened. Bungling and waste and debauchery and dishonesty and self-seeking and bickering. There is hardly a trick in the whole mess in Washington today that cannot be matched by a similar trick in government in the Washington of Lincoln's day.
Lincoln himself was not the god-like leader who always knew exactly what needed to be done. He was a very great man and his heart was in the right place from the start; but he fumbled and bungled a great deal during the first two years of the war.
And Lincoln's cabinet members were knifing one another to get political position.

Reading the details of the story of those days one wonders how the nation survived. The reason was that the people in the back country were patriotic and fundamentally honest. America was as strong as the American people, and Washington was merely a kind of fever spot in the body of the nation. If we remember that the same thing is true today, confidence in the future of America is likely to be restored. We are winning this war in spite of Washington more than because of Washington. In the same way we will win our American liberties back in spite of Washington, after the fighting is ended. We are the American people and we have the strength of American common sense.

THE CHURCH INVITES YOU

Robert J. Burdette says, "You say that you are too tired to go to church. That's sheer nonsense. There isn't a place in the continent so restful as the church.
You are going to lie around the house all day; lol in a big rock-ing chair; go to sleep over a book. That isn't resting; that's loafing. Answer honestly. Have you ever seen a loafer who did not look tired all the time?"
"You have no need to loaf all day on Sunday. An hour in the church, an hour in the quiet, the sermon, the reading; the uplift that comes from the new channels into which your thoughts are led—these will rest you more, physically, morally, intellectually, than all the day spent in trying to rest."

Why not accept the invitation and go to church next Sunday?

God Delivers His People
Exodus 5: 22, 23; 6: 1-7; 12: 51
By Henry Geerlings

Throughout the history of the world more people have been in bondage than have been free. Still God's ideal for all is freedom. He has endowed us with reasoning powers and the inherent right of self-determination. If that be true it must follow that God wants us to be free. His promise of deliverance contains a heartening word for all races and peoples. Some day God's goal will be realized.

The period of bondage for the Hebrews was long and hard. However, it was easier to bear because they knew God would keep His word. That marvelous deliverance still stands as a monument to His faithfulness. The history of it colors both the Old Testament and the New. That story has already been told to 80 generations, and it is still fresh and heartening. It will endure to remind us that God keeps His promises.

This piece of history, ancient though it is, is a part of that address in action which was wont to characterize God's method of making Himself and His will known to His people. It was on a level that they could understand.
It may be the ABC to us, but then that is where we all begin.
There are some among us who imagine they can dispense with these ancient documents, but the effort to do so would be like tearing away the foundations beneath our feet.

Moses was neither the first nor the last to understand the manner of God's revelation and the method of His action. Manifestly he expected the unfolding of this campaign of which he was the human head to proceed without interruption or embarrassment. But he was mistaken if he thought that God would lift the people bodily out of their condition of slavery and set them down in the Promised Land without the infliction of a cruel mark upon their bodies. God would set them free, but they would have to fight for that freedom, too. Moses was learning important lessons in the school God was conducting for the enlightenment of His people. Naturally, as the head and the human leader of the people, he was to have spiritual advantages in accordance with the responsible position he held. However, he was a learner also in this school, and as it turned out it was the school of hard knocks.

It was unusual for God to lead His people through the school of Moses. He had chosen and the people whom they were to deliver. The repetition of the name Jehovah served to keep Him in their thought. Who of us does not know how easy it is to forget God in the sweep of history? Again and again He said, "I am Jehovah." It was He who gave the nation its birth, and it was He who nurtured its fragile life, and it was He who made it a great people.

Nothing of a strong hand could make them free or build in their hearts the sure hope of becoming a blessing to the whole human race. They were very feeble in comparison to the nation whose slaves they had become and who held the whip over them. Only the strong hand of God could effect their deliverance.
Much had happened in the life of Moses to lead him to sublime faith in God. Even the dark days through which he had lived must have served to strengthen that faith. He did not seem either to fear or dread the burdens that would be squarely placed upon him if he could be assured of the Divine Presence. This was not some strange, false voice attempting to lure him and his people into the valley of death. Moses could detect the difference.

It is important to observe that the revelation God made of Himself was a gradual one. It was line on line and precept on precept. The nature of that revelation was, to a considerable extent contingent upon the ability of man to understand and appreciate it. It could therefore be said that the character, the nature, and the will of God were gradually disclosed. That revelation reached its climax in the advent of our Lord Jesus.

Moses never had a more heartening message to deliver than this one. The hearts of the people were hospitable toward it. They hated serfdom as all others have hated it, and they loved freedom as all others had loved it.

We may also observe how Moses kept himself in the background. He was the servant of the Deliverer. He was the bearer of a marvelous message, but he was not the author of that message. He was aware of the awful shackles that enslaved his people, but he had no power to strike those shackles from their wrists.
So long as they remembered that simple fact no nation could en-slave them or block the way of their progress.

The climax of the lesson is that God did bring the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt. It carries the conclusion of the whole matter. God did what He said He would do. There had been doubters among the people, and little wonder. There were many and great obstacles in the way. Humanly the migration and the fulfillment of its objective were impossible. The will of the people, owing to their long enslavement, was well-nigh broken. Now they were to see what God could do.

Now that the fish stories

one. H. J. Dykhuus and Dave long string of perch. To keep them in good condition they had strung the fish on a string and

Squirrel With White Tail Is in Allegan Exhibit

Other Rare Animals And Birds Shown at Swan Creek Station

Allegan, July 29 — Visitors at the wildlife experiment station west of Allegan will see a new exhibit there, a white tailed squirrel, which is somewhat of a rarity, wildlife officials say. Right now because of the scarcity of help only a few animals are caged, including about 10 red squirrels, two foxes, and three raccoons.

But a trip to the station is well worth while, if only to learn of the interesting and vital conservation work being carried on there. Within the building is a collection of stuffed animals and fowl, representing every type captured and studied by the station.

In this collection are several rare specimens, one is the only native grey fox skin preserved in the state, taken by Clarence Maskey in 1938. A raven, also killed in 1938, is the second taken in southwestern Michigan since 1880.

Ravens are extremely rare here since they moved their breeding range to the far north to get away from man.

Last winter a snowy owl was taken, also a rare bird in these parts. Predatory birds, relatively uncommon, captured and preserved are a duck hawk, goshawk and golden and bald eagles. Rabbits, squirrels, mice, rats, and wood duck are excellently preserved in the exhibit.

The station headquarters is a flood-plain farm lying in the angle formed by the Kalamazoo river and Swan creek. This 300 acre tract was protected by dikes and enough land cultivated so that relationships of wildlife to farm crops could be studied. However during the recent heavy rains dikes were washed out in a dozen places so this phase of experiment has been temporarily abandoned.

The diversity of habitats found in the station area, such as marshland, second growth oak, and black soil, provide excellent opportunities for studying nearly all of our important game species. Box-trapping is carried on extensively, when animals taken are ear-tagged, weighed, sexed and then liberated.

Although the station has 41 trap-lines, only a few of the better ones are operated now. One of these is five miles long with 20 traps to a mile. Each trap is numbered and a record kept of how many animals were caught in it. For instance, records show that a nest-box put out for woodchucks during one season housed a raccoon, squirrel, mice, several small owls, and a swarm of bees.

An elaborate card index system contains a complete record of every animal tagged, its weight, sex, condition of health, and general characteristics. Since the station began in 1937, a total of 1,800 fox squirrels have been tagged, 1,200 rabbits, 800 raccoons, 700 opossum and 300 woodchuck. In smaller numbers New York weasels, badgers, red squirrels and foxes have been tagged.

Duck hunters have found this area one of the best woodchuck nesting habitats in Michigan. Several hundred fowl are banded here each year and the station has received ducks from Ontario, New Jersey, Tennessee, Florida, North Dakota, and many other states east of the Mississippi.

Dr. Arnold Haugen, biologist in charge, and his assistant, Philip Baumgardner, welcome visitors to the station, which is located about 10 miles west of the city of Allegan and can be reached by following M-89 until signs indicate the route change.

Mannes Super Service Stresses Car Conservation

It may be a long time before anyone gets a new car, says Glenn Mannes, owner and manager of the Mannes Texaco Super Service station, 581 State St., and that is why car conservation is so important. Automobiles are a national asset in the transportation of war workers, and it is the duty of every patriotic citizen to keep his car running as long as possible.

There are many ways of making a car last, he states, adding that today the Mannes Super Service station is specializing in car conservation. This car-service consists of the special Marfak 40-point chassis lubrication every 1,000 miles, crankcase service every 1,000 miles, front wheel bearing lubrication every 6,000 miles and transmission and differential service with a check every 1,000 miles and change every 6,000 miles.

As the success of car preservation service depends entirely upon its regularity, the Mannes service station offers to car owners a free car-saver record book in which is to be kept carefully the date and classification of each lubrication and car check-up. Mr. Mannes advises everyone to know what they have had done to their car and when.

The modern building which houses the service station was erected in 1939. The station proper is now more than four

Roofing Co. Sells Flintkote Shingles

Flintkote Thikbut strip shingles, Cedartex Triplab hexagon strip shingles and Cedartex Triplab hexagon strips are three of the most popular brands of roofing handled by the Holland Ready Roofing Co., North Shore drive, which is owned and operated by John Bagladi and sons.

"Over a period of years, many people have grown to look upon us as 'headquarters for homes,'" said Mr. Bagladi recently. "We are mighty proud of that and we get a real thrill out of helping people solve their home building and modernization problems."

"We stand back of Flintkote products and strongly recommend them," he added. They are made with every advantage that scientific research can provide backed by over forty years of successful manufacturing experience.

"Besides keeping homes dry," said Mr. Bagladi, "shingles should also beautify the home." The three Flintkote types of shingles come in a wide variety of colors which accentuate the most attractive features of any home.

Holland home owners are requested to ask for suggestions and free estimates on their roofing and siding problems.

Zeeland Church Is Scene Of Impressive Ceremony

An impressive ceremony was performed at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Third Christian Reformed church of Zeeland when Miss Eleanor Lampen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lampen, 238 W. Main St., Zeeland, became the bride of Corp. John Witteveen, son of Albert Witteveen, route 4, Holland. The double ring service was read by the Rev. J. Bruinooze.

Preceding the ceremony Harold Witteveen, organist, presented a short recital of appropriate selections. He also accompanied Gerald Vande Vusse who sang "O Promise Me" before the service and "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt at the altar. As the wedding party assembled Mr. Witteveen played the "Bridal Chorus" from the opera "Lohengrin" and for the recessional he played the Mendelssohn wedding march.

Miss Doris Witteveen and Miss Carey Witteveen, sisters of the groom were bridesmaids, and wore gowns of pale blue and pale pink marquisette, respectively, fashioned similarly with three-quarter length sleeves, sweetheart necklines and full skirts. Their flowers were of red roses, baby breath and stock. Little Jane Vos, cousin of the bride as flower girl, wore a printed dress of dimity and carried a basket of rose petals. James Etterbeek, cousin of the bride, assisted the groom as best man. Ushers were the Misses Irene Steketeer and Pearl Lemson.

A reception for 75 guests followed in the church parlors. The Misses Alma Prins, Arlene Johnson, Joyce Deters and Marian Johnson served as waitresses. Master and mistress of ceremonies were Harold Witteveen and Miss Sylvia Stielstra. Miss Dorothy Van Omen was in charge of the gift room. Red, white and blue streamers formed a canopy over the bride and groom who sat at a table which was centered with a large wedding cake. Guests were present from Holland, Grand Rapids and St. Paul, Minn.

The bride was graduated from Holland Christian High school and has been employed as stenographer at the Great Northern Hatchery at Zeeland. The groom received his education at the Lakewood school and also attended Coyne Electrical school in connection with the U.S. army.

Corp. and Mrs. Witteveen left on a short wedding trip. For traveling Mrs. Witteveen chose a white tailored dress and white accessories. They plan to leave next Wednesday for San Marco, Tex., where the groom is stationed and where they will make their home.

Five Old Records Will Admit Child For Special Show

Plans Entertainment Saturday Morning to Stimulate Drive Here

To stimulate the collection of old discarded and broken phonograph records, Henry Carley, has arranged a special show for children at 10 a.m. Saturday. The admission "charge" will be five old records.

The records will be turned over to the Willard Leenhouts post of the American Legion which is promoting a drive to salvage old phonograph records in the city. The old records will provide the needed shellac for new records for men in the armed forces.

The drive is being carried on during July in Holland through "depots" located at Meyer's Music House, De Fouw Electric shop, Spaulding's Shoes, Wade's drug store on West 13th St., Smith's drug store at 16th St. and Central, Van's drug store on 24th St., Seery's drug store on East Eighth St. and the Holland and Center theaters.

George A. Pelgrim is serving as chairman of the phonograph salvage here. He is assisted by Commander John Rozeboom and Orle A. Bishop.

Holland's participation is part of a nationwide drive to collect old and broken phonograph records. Early reports received at national Legion headquarters indicate a determined effort to round up every old phonograph record in the Legion's drive. Forty-three of the 49 continental departments have set up special record drive committees uniting the effective forces of the Legion, the auxiliary, Forty and Eight, Eight and Forty, Sons of the Legion and local groups.

Roger Zwiers Is Second Drowning Victim in Week

Loses Life in River Hunting Golf Balls at Holland Country Club

Marking the second water fatality in less than a week, Roger Dale Zwiers, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry John Zwiers of route 3, drowned shortly after 4:30 p.m. Tuesday in Black river at the Holland Country Club. The other drowning was that of Peter Boer, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Boer, 63 West 18th St., which occurred last Wednesday at Kollen park.

Holland police were notified at 4:50 p.m. and arrived at the club in record time. The body was recovered within five minutes of their arrival and the resuscitator was used until 6:13 p.m.

Earlier in the afternoon Zwiers had met a friend, Ray Mokma, 13, 16 West Main St., Zeeland, at the rearing ponds of the Holland Fish and Game club and the two decided to go to the country club to caddy or to look for balls.

As there were few golfers and the search for balls proved disappointing, the two decided to "swim" in the river and look for balls in the river bed. They first bathed just west of the wooden foot bridge nearest the club house where the water is shallow. Later Zwiers went farther east while Mokma remained.

Mokma said he heard Zwiers call out but first thought he was joking, although he rushed to the scene. Zwiers who had been floating on a plank had apparently become separated from his "floater" and was panicky. Mokma who could not swim tried to do something to help, but saw Zwiers sink.

Mokma ran across the golf course to a home on the old Zeeland road but learning there was no telephone he went next door to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jason Deur where a call was made to the Holland police. Mrs. Deur returned to the scene with the Mokma boy and waded in the water up to her waist. As there are drop-offs in the river she did not go far from the north bank and could not locate the body.

She sent the Mokma boy to the clubhouse for a rope to tie around her waist so that she could venture farther. In the meantime she attracted the attention of golfers and police arrived. Three or four men stripped off their outer clothing and began diving for the body.

The body was recovered at 5:05 p.m. by Austin Chamberlain, 15, of Zeeland, an employee of the country club. Police Officer Harris Nieuwma who was diving from the northern bank had gone down five or six times. Chamberlain who dived from the south side located the body on the first dive. Nieuwma assisted Chamberlain in bringing the body, clad in swimming trunks, to shore. Nieuwma and Officer Gerald Vandenberg applied artificial respiration as Officer Dennis Ende completed setting up the resuscitator.

For a time it looked as though the Zwiers boy would have "a chance" as the water drained easily from his lungs. However, there was no heart response and after more than an hour of resuscitation, Coroner Gilbert Vande Water was called and he pronounced a verdict of "accidental drowning."

Persons at the scene commented on the efficiency of police officers and the speed with which the resuscitator was put into operation. Deputy Sheriff Edward Brouwer estimated that the body was under water about 30 minutes. Dr. O. Vander Velde also arrived at the scene in a short time.

Others at the scene were Mr. Tanis and Capt. Crowley who were golfing. Vernon Tule and George Slikkers who were about to start playing. Chamberlain, who recovered the body, Ray Soderburg and Pro Ad De Groot. The victim's parents who reside on the extension of East Eighth St., and the Rev. Peter Jonker, pastor of Sixteenth Street Christian Reformed church which the family attends, arrived later.

Surviving are the parents; a three-year-old sister, Joyce Lorraine, and the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Cook of East Eighth St. and Mrs. Henry Zwiers of Grand Rapids.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 1:30 p.m. from the home and at 2 p.m. from the Sixteenth Street Christian Reformed church with the Rev. P. Jonker officiating. Burial will be in West Drenthe cemetery.

"...and you'll always have tobacco in your old tobacco box!"

When I was a kid my father used to sing a song that ended up with this refrain:

"Oh, save up your money and put it in your sock
And you'll always have tobacco in your old tobacco box!"

Well, the words stuck with me, but I guess the moral didn't.

No matter how hard I tried . . . no matter how many good resolutions I made . . . I always ended up even. If I made more money, I spent more money. Finally, I resigned myself to it—sold myself the idea that I was the kind of fellow who never could save up any money.

But it's all different now!

About ten months ago, I started buying War Bonds on the Payroll Savings Plan. Figured it was the least I could do for Uncle Sam . . . to be kicking in my 10% every month to help pay for the ways and means of licking the Axis.

That's the only way I thought about it . . . until just recently!

Now, all of a sudden, I've discovered that—for the first time in the history of Yours Truly—I'm saving dough. Every month, rain-or-shine, hell-or-high-water, I'm sticking away a War Bond, a bond that'll bring me back $4.00 for every $3.00 I put in.

Those Bonds are beginning to mount up now. And I'm going to keep them mounting up. For I've discovered what a swell feeling it is to be saving money . . . saving it on a plan that's regular as clockwork and twice as sure.

About the time those Bonds start coming due, my kid'll be ready for college. So you can guess what I'm going to do with the money.

And maybe I'll sing my father's song to myself . . . only changing it a little:

"Oh, save up your War Bonds and put them in your sock
And you'll always have tobacco in your old tobacco box."
