Crash Demolishes Car, Gravel Truck Near Vriesland

Holland Man Escapes Serious Hurts; Other Driver in Hospital

A car and a gravel truck were demolished and the two drivers sent to the hospital in a crash at 7:30 a.m. Friday two miles east of Vriesland at the Vriesland-Town-line intersection.

Carroll Meeuwse, 36, of 39 East 16th St., driver of the truck, escaped serious injuries and was discharged from Holland hospital after x-rays revealed no fractures.

Rudolph (Bud) De Vree, 20, route 3, Hudsonville, driver of the car, received a fractured right clavicle and a mild concussion. His physician said he would remain in Holland hospital for a few days.

The car traveled 180 feet from the point of impact and the truck went about 50 feet, landing upside down in a ditch. The front axle was torn from the car body and the gas tank was hurled 10 feet away. There was no fire.

Meeuwse escaped serious injuries only two days ago when another gravel truck backed into him while he was tinkering with the engine, trapping him between the two vehicles.

Sheriff's officers are continuing their investigation.

In another accident in that area Thursday morning, a station wagon driven by Harold J. Buter, 23, of 118 East 21st St., Holland, was considerably damaged when it landed in a ditch on M-21 five miles east of Hudsonville. Buter received head injuries and was treated by a Hudsonville physician. He told officers he was about to pass a car, then applied brakes and skidded into the ditch. The station wagon, damaged in the front, is owned by E. P. McLean of Castle park.

In Grand Haven, Shirley Harris, 14, was treated in Municipal hospital after being hurled against a windshield when the car in which she was riding crashed into the rear of one which had stopped for a traffic signal. Driver of the first car was Everett Bruner, 20, Grand Haven. The accident occurred on Washington St. Driver of the car which had stopped was Fred Hietje, Jr., 25, route 1, Grand Haven.

House Moving Job Underway

The house at 258 River Ave. is being moved to the corner of 33rd St. and Van Raalte Ave. today. According to movers, the job should be completed today. The building will be pulled out River Ave. to 33rd St. and west to Van Raalte Ave.

Henry Boerman of 329 West 40th St., purchased the house from the Reliable Cycle shop and plans to dig a foundation on the new site.

"It should be ready by sometime next week," Boerman said. Reliable Cycle shop will add the front part of the lot to display outdoor play equipment and other items. The rear of the vacant lot will be used for parking with a driveway from River Ave.

The bicycle shop purchased the house and lot from Oscar Wilms one year ago. At that time they found catalogues and papers in the house dated 1880.

Boy Scout Office Officially Closed

It's moving day all this week at the local Boy Scout office.

Permanent records and other paper work are being forwarded to the Grand Valley council office at Grand Rapids. All correspondence to the local office is being forwarded to the Grand Rapids headquarters.

Judson Leonard, newly appointed field executive for the Holland area, will keep a field kit that contains information about active scouts and scouters at his Holland home. However, he will not have an office.

Through this week, the scout office on the third floor of the city hall is open on a part-time basis. The move will be completed Saturday, Leonard said.

Some of the damage caused when lightning hit the steeple of Central Avenue church early today is shown in this photographic study. But the main damage is not apparent from the outside. The lightning bolt splintered main supports and rafters inside as well as blowing out the fuse box and some light bulbs. Damage is estimated at $2,000. (Penna-Sas photo)

Central Avenue Steeple Hit During Thunderstorm

A severe thunderstorm accompanied by two inches of rain set the stage today for another warm humid day with temperatures again in the 90's.

Leading victim of the storm was the historic steeple of Central Avenue Christian Reformed church which was hit by lightning during the heavy storm between 2 and 2:30 a.m.

The bolt of lightning tore off some of the lattice work in the open section and tore across tearing off siding and ripping holes in several places. Some of the siding hit the parsonage roof and others hit Centennial park across the street.

The charge blew out fuses and light bulbs in the rear of the church auditorium. There was no fire.

Damage to the tower is much greater than is apparent from the outside. One of the main supports, 2 by 12 timbers spliced to make a 12 by 12 support, was splintered, as well as main joists supporting the belfry. Carpenters are consulting the architect on plans for rebuilding. It was estimated it might cost $2,000 to rebuild the tower.

The church has plans for remodeling the building, but plans did not include any change to the steeple. The tower was hit once before by lightning about 22 years ago.

The severe thunderstorm broke after a hot day in which the mercury hit 91 in spite of brisk winds. Predictions called for continued warm, humid weather and showers and thundershowers. Late Michigan remained warm at 78.

At Grand Haven, swimmers were warned Wednesday afternoon and evening to stay out of the water because of a strong undertow.

The rain-washed air was a boon for hay fever sufferers too. The pollen count, taken daily by Holland hospital laboratory technicians, registered zero.

It was so hot in Washington, D.C., Wednesday that even the weather bureau excused 250 employees in mid-morning after the mercury hit the mid-90 mark.

Admitted to Holland hospital Wednesday were Gerrit Van Dyke, 10 North Centennial, Zeeland; John B. De Haan, route 2, Holland; Gerrit Branderhorst, route 1, Hamilton.

Scouters, Families Enjoy Rigors of Camp Life

About 100 persons left civilization for the more rugged life of camping during the weekend at Camp Ottawa, the Boy Scout camp of the former Ottawa-Allegan council which is now part of the Grand Valley council.

Scouters' week-end, traditional event signaling the close of scout camp season, found adults forsaking inner spring mattresses for cots and tents close to nature.

Entertainment included plenty of singing, a big Saturday night camp fire with stunts and reminiscences, a quartet contest, Sunday morning church with sermon in the main hall by a Congregational minister of Newaygo, swimming and outdoor cooking demonstrations.

Although the staff quartet did not compete in the contest, it easily ranked tops with two surprise numbers, one a ditty about "My brother Bill—He puts out fires" and a touching sentimental ballad about a "pore old beer-bottle." In the quartet were Jud Leonard, new field executive; Fred Bocks, camp director; Roger Gunn, program director, and Don Vuuren.

Other contest entries were by the four Northuis brothers, Ken, Don, Rog and Paul; Mrs. Earl

Second Well Brought in On Mary Geran Farm

Allegan, July 28 (Special)—New hope for the recently prospected state forest oil field was held Tuesday when the second well on the Mary Geran farm produced 237 barrels of oil in 18 hours after acidizing. Bernard Ackerman, oil geologist reported.

The second exploration appeared to be a heavier producer than the wildcat drilled in some weeks ago. It is located a quarter mile from the discovery and is at about the same depth, 1,275 feet. Depending on production the next few days, operators believed it meant a fairly extensive pool is there.

Meanwhile, Hopkins came back into the oil picture with a 1,557 foot well on the John and Ed Wheatley farm southeast of the prolific Hopkins townlet field. It was producing three to four barrels an hour, one of the best of recent shows in the area.

The Fords have two children, Catherine, 4, and David, 1.

Bargain Seekers Swarm Downtown

Bargain seekers swarmed Holland today for the opening of three big days of summer clearance sales.

Most of the shoppers were women, and seas were particularly brisk in women's apparel shops and department stores.

Earl F. Price, chairman of the special committee arranging the city-wide sales, said the program so far is a great success. Many merchants reported heavy sales.

One merchant said people were waiting outside the door at 9 a.m. Another opened early to accommodate early crowds and made 24 sales before 8:30 a.m.

Many stores received huge amounts of extra stock for the event and figured they would have plenty to keep the sales attractive the full three days.

"I haven't seen so many women shoppers downtown since the advertising of sheet sales during the war," one customer remarked.

For the most part, it was a bargain-seeking crowd rather than a shopping crowd. Only a few merchants said crowds were not buying.

The swirl of the crowds was much like Saturday night, except most of the people were women. And most of them were weighed down with parcels.

Distinctive wrappings gave an inkling which shops were ringing the cash registers the most.

Grand Haven Plans To Launch Drive For Its Hospital

Campaign Will Cover Tri-Cities, Directed By Professional Firm

Grand Haven, July 28 (Special)—Grand Haven set Saturday to launch a campaign to raise $200,000 in the local area for an addition to Municipal hospital.

The campaign will be directed by Ward B. Jenks and Associates of Ann Arbor, professional fund raising organization which recommends such a move after interviewing a cross-section of the overall 20,000 population in the tri-cities and suburban areas.

Those interviewed were classified under industry, business and professional men, junior executives (department heads), employees (union and non-union including office personnel and store clerks), area farmers, area business and professional men, physicians, summer residents, semi-retired, and a special group such as clergymen, heads of organizations and the public office holders.

The new addition will be a complete third story added to the present building. The new arrangement will have the boiler room and laundry separate from the building and will have the elevator go to the third floor. It will increase bed capacity by 21. Medical and pediatric rooms will be on the first floor, surgery on the second and obstetrics on the third floor.

Recommendation for the move was made at a meeting of the Municipal hospital board Friday night. City Council met in closed session immediately afterward and authorized, the mayor and clerk to sign the agreement with the Ann Arbor concern.

Pledges will cover a three-year period.

The survey revealed a basic potential in fund raising of $215,000 and a high potential of $338,000. Cost for carrying on such a campaign will be $9,800, plus $3,000 for printing, postage, office personnel and other administrative expenses.

One of the first steps will be appointment of an executive committee to guide policy and pass on all factors. Jenks said he would be in Grand Haven every week to meet with the committee. He and his associates will not do the actual soliciting. A full-time resident director will be assigned.

Members of the hospital board are Gerald Peters, Dr. John H. Kitchell, Fred C. Ehrmann, Ralph G. Wilson, Ernest Fett, Evelyn Johnson (hospital superintendent) and Mrs. S. L. De Witt. Wilson reported there were 1,794 in-patients in the hospital for the year ending Sept. 30, 1948. Of these 764 were within the corporate limits of the city and about 200 from rural Grand Haven.

The survey revealed consistent criticism of the extra dollar a day for patients who are not residents of the city, a situation which has created a psychological condition which has had an adverse effect on public relations of the hospital.

Dutchmen Down Grand Rapids In Last Inning

Wlodarczyk And Appledorn Lead Hitting Attack

Frank Wlodarczyk's ninth inning hit Thursday night gave Holland's Flying Dutchmen a 12-11 win over the Grand Rapids Carvers.

The Dutchmen's last inning rally marked the second time in less than a week they have pulled the pegs from under opponents in the ninth and gone on to win.

And last night's victory was especially sweet since it erased an early season 7-0 pasting at the hands of the Carvers. The Dutchmen's season record now stands at 15 wins and seven losses.

Lou Humbert started on the mound for the locals and got in trouble in the first inning. The first two men to face him drew bases on balls. Then a single by Grand Rapids Right Fielder Fancett after an error had been committed, sent two run over the plate.

Humbert pitched his way through the second, but in the third frame the Carvers touched him for two more tallies.

The Dutchmen bounced back in the bottom half of the inning, however, to mark two runs; Ron Fortney and Jack Van Dorpe scoring after both had reached base on a fielder's choice.

But in the fifth, Grand Rapids got to Humbert again; extending its lead by banging home four more markers. At that point Humbert was relieved by Lefty Van Wieren who finished the game and got credit for the win. The Dutchmen picked up one more run in the sixth on a pair of singles by Van Wieren and Whitely Witteveen and Harry De Neff's walk.

The seventh inning saw the Carvers add another three to their total, but that uprising was the last time a Grand Rapids hitter saw base. Van Wieren settled down to pitch flawless ball for the remainder of the game.

And Holland came back in its half of the inning to really begin scoring for the evening. Ron Appledorn waited until the bases were loaded before he blasted a tremendous home run, riding the ball over the center field stands. Apparently, that was all the encouragement the Dutchmen needed. For they greeted Grand Rapids in the eighth with three more runs. But going into the final frame the Carvers were still holding a two-run edge.

Fortney opened the attack side, Fortney opened the attack by drawing a base on balls. Van Dorpe also worked his way to first, making way for Wlodarczyk, who rang a double to deep right field, scoring both mates.

Wlodarczyk and Appledorn were the hitting giants for the Dutchmen. The former collected four for six, while Appledorn had a perfect day at plate, getting three for three.

Coast Guard Answers Two Distress Calls

Holland Coast Guardsmen have answered two distress calls in as many days, according to Gustav A. Nynas, commander of the local station.

The cruiser "Gypsy" was pulled off a sand bar at Waukazoo point Tuesday night after it had wandered off its course. It is owned by Robert Bylerge of Grand Rapids, who lists Holland as his home port.

The local Coast Guard towed a "runabout" back to Holland from Saugatuck Monday night after the boat's rudder snapped and it was drifting off the Saugatuck harbor entrance. The boat was owned by Robert Sunquist of route 4, according to the Coast Guard.

Three comely Lowell girls were in Holland Monday to present passes to Mayor Harry Harrington for the annual Lowell Showboat that will sail the nights of July 25 through 30. The list of novelty acts this year includes Buster West and Lucille Page, comedy dance team; Vic Hyde, one-man swing band, and others. And 1,200 new seats have been added this year and a new steel and concrete stage at a cost of

27th Annual Horse Show Scheduled at Castle Park

Plans for Castle Park's 27th annual amateur horse show got off to a good start with a dinner for committee members at The Castle Tuesday night. Senior committee members are Mr. and Mrs. Austin Brown; Carter P. Brown, chairman; P. T. Cheff, Mrs. W. Robert Fitzgerald, J. Brown Mantle, Mrs. Roy Nobel, Mrs. A. D. Plamondon, Jr., and Charles Kirchen, secretary. Junior committee members are Miss Connie Boersma, Randy Bosch, Jr., Miss Cynthia Laing, Henry Maentz, Jr., Miss Donna Tanis, and Miss Lucille Van Domelen.

The committee, after considering last year's program of classes, decided to follow the same list which includes horsemanship and junior classes in the morning, starting at 9:30, with the afternoon show starting at 2 p.m. with three and five gaited, Western, Tennessee walking horse and hunter and jumper classes. Entry fees and all admission charges are to be the same as they have been for the last 15 years.

Second round play in the Calvinist Church league got underway last week with five games scheduled. First round final standings are unavailable since rain halted several other contests.

New Ottawa Council Organized to Unite All Charity Drives

A big step in combining all fund gathering activities into a single campaign was accomplished Tuesday night when the Ottawa County Council of Community Chests was organized.

Representatives of the three chests in the county, Grand Haven, Zeeland and Holland, took this step at a meeting in the Warm Friend Tavern. Each city will have three directors on the county board.

Holland will be represented by C. C. Andreesen, Henry S. Maentz and O. W. Lowry. Grand Haven directors are E. V. Erickson, Mrs. Lawrence Roeloff and Seymour Van Weelden. Zeeland directors are S. C. Karsten, Albert Vanden Brink and George Meengs.

Directors-at-large are W. A. Butler of Holland and Paul Johnson, Jr., of Grand Haven. Additional directors may be added by action of the board when deemed advisable.

O. W. Lowry was named president, Paul Johnson of Grand Haven, vice-president, and George Meengs of Zeeland, secretary-treasurer. Johnson was named chairman of the committee on out-county organization and W. A. Butler will head the committee on agency negotiation. The first committee will contact organizations in areas which do not have a chest, and the second committee will negotiate with all organizations now seeking funds throughout the county which are not now included in any individual Community Chest drives.

The council says this plan has the backing of all industries and most individuals in Holland, Grand Haven and Zeeland, and the full endorsement of all Community Chests. Recently every factory in Grand Haven and nearly all commercial industrial firms in Holland signed an agreement whereby they would permit factory solicitation in only one joint campaign per year.

It is the object of the council to enlist full co-operation of all worthy agencies as well as all directors to an overall once-a-year drive for funds, and thus eliminate cost, time and drain on manpower and public patience of an ever increasing series of individual drives.

It was emphasized that the new council is strictly a county organization sponsored by existing Community Chests and has no connection with any state-wide or national group.

Aims of the new council, according to the constitution, are to coordinate to the extent that seems advisable the fund gathering budgeting and other existing community chests in the county; to foster additional chest organizations or groups; to receive and pass on budget requests; to solicit participation of all agencies now conducting separate campaigns with a view to eliminating present multiplicity of drives; to allocate to each chest its fair share of the total county budget, and to receive funds raised by individual chests or other units to turn over proportionate share.

It is specifically not the purpose of the new organization to interfere in any way with the autonomy or freedom of action of any local chest or other fund raising organizations. Nor will it interfere or make recommendations for conduct of the internal affairs of any agency, or concern itself with budgets or funds raised by chests for purely local agencies or local branches or state or national agencies.

Agencies which become participating members of the new council by signing a one-year contract agree that there will be no separate solicitation, except in some instances as a limited member.

Holland Enjoys Thriving Market, Survey Reveals

National Survey Says City Is Prosperous Compared With Others

New York, July 28 (Special) — Holland, Mich., stands out as a prosperous market, with earnings and purchasing power much greater, in proportion to its size, than most cities across the country, according to the new survey of buying power issued by Sales Management. The copyrighted study covers every county in the United States and all cities above 10,000 in population.

The ability of the average Holland family to buy luxuries as well as necessities is indicated by its effective buying income — its earnings after deduction of federal income taxes. With the total of such income, for the 4,900 families in the city, amounting to $24,123,000 for 1948, the average income per family was $4,923.

This figure, an improvement over the previous year's $4,688, is ahead of the national family earnings of $4,531. It was also better than the average income of families in the east north central states, $4,896.

On a per capita basis, the average "spendable" income in Holland was $1,419, better than that of most people in the United States, who averaged $1,289.

Better earnings resulted in a higher level of business activity. Retail sales in Holland stores reached a volume of $24,899,000, a gain over the $21,861,000 of 1947. The fact that retail sales were greater in volume than local income indicates that the city is the hub of a large trading area.

How well this stacks up against other cities is shown by the fact that Holland did .0190 per cent of the retail business of the country with only .0116 per cent of the country's population.

Rating the city on the basis of its business activity and other factors, the survey assigns to it a "quality of market" index of 124, meaning that it stands 24 per cent over the average city in purchasing power.

Kaiser-Frazer Edges Zeeland

Ron Fortney singled in the last half of the ninth inning to send Lou Borgman home from second base for Kaiser-Frazer's winning run against Van's Electric of Zeeland. The Autos won the game 4-3.

The extra-inning Wooden Shoe league tilt was played at River-view park Friday evening.

Clyde Kehrwecker, who hurled the final inning for Van's, was tagged with the loss. He relieved starter Truk Kroll. Daffy Victor went the route for the locals and allowed five hits.

Zeeland drew first blood in the top of the first with one run on De Jonge's hit, a walk and a stolen base. The Autos came back in the same inning to tie the game on hits by Appledorn and Piersma, and an error.

The teams each added another run in the second inning to make the count 2-2. Zeeland tallied on a hit by Raterink, two walks and a fielder's choice. Kaiser-Frazer scored on Piersma's hit and an error.

Zeeland went ahead in the top of the fifth with one run on a hit by Sheridan and an error. However, the Holland team came back to knot the count in the last of the seventh and send the game into two extra frames. Fortney's hit, an error and a stolen base did the trick.

Techniques of Work Stabilization Explained Here

"Security begins at home!" So says David M. Moltthrop, representative of the National Association of Manufacturers, who addressed several manufacturers, retailers and insurance men at a round table discussion Monday night, staged by the Chamber of Commerce industrial and education committees.

A probe into local conditions revealed some firms in Holland are practicing employment stabilization for outdoor picnicking. The season of nine weeks opened July 2. The camp has 22 acres and can accommodate 175 campers and leaders. It opened last year for the first time.

"Cities must get away from rumor mongering, particularly as it regards the employment situation," Moltthrop said. He cited a case where an employer laid off 75 workers with 70 receiving other jobs immediately. So instead of 75 persons laid off and out of work as the rumors went, only five actually were out of work.

He said salesmen must do a better job of selling and research on their products since better work results in steadier employment. He outlined techniques to reduce fluctuations in work such as changing habits of customers, diversifying products and stimulating off-season buying. Production techniques and centralized employment control also were discussed.

The industrial committee is planning community employment stabilization, the committee to consist of representatives of sales, research, production, finance, production planning, and industry in general.

REPRISAL AS A POLICY

It seems likely that the non-Communist nations will sooner or later be driven to the adoption of a definite policy of reprisal instead of a policy of agreement with the Soviets. Reprisal as a policy announced in advance is quite different from resorting to reprisal after agreement has failed.
It is a pity that in a world where treaties are supposed to mean what they say, this should be necessary.

It would work something like this: When Western officials entered into treaty negotiations with the Soviets they would definitely write into the treaty the threat that if the Soviets did not live up to the agreement, the other contracting party would immediately impose a reprisal.

Take the so-called Berlin blockade. The treaty entered into set forth in the most solemn and specific terms that the Allies would be permitted to cross the Soviet zone of Germany with their traffic. So specific were the terms of the agreement that some people actually had been talking of discontinuing the air-lift. Fortunately that was not done, but other concessions were made to Russia.

The Soviet government would never have made the least concession if it had not been offered concession on the part of the other side.

Those specific agreements seem to have meant little to the Russians. They blandly re-imposed the roadblocks on all but one of the highways, and for a time the traffic on the single remaining road was severely restricted. The Soviets have lifted these restrictions and will continue to do so only to the extent that they must.
The world has had conclusive proof that what the Soviets say in their agreements does not mean anything.

That fact clears the way for a policy of reprisal. Instead of talking about reprisal after the event, let the Allies say specifically in their agreements with the Russians, "If you don't live up to the terms of this agreement we will immediately and automatically reimpose such restrictions against you as we are lifting by reason of the treaty." That language, surely, the Communists could understand. It appears to be the only language they can respect.

Psalm 143:7, 46:1; 143:8
By Henry Geerlings
Our subject for today is trust and six Psalms are recommended for collateral reading. All these Psalms, both directly and indirectly, command and encourage us to trust in the Lord. The Psalms themselves were born of trust in God. Men had put their trust in Him. They had lived for Him and served Him. And now in these Psalms they are bearing witness to the blessings which had come into their lives, because they put their trust in Him. Their hearts were full of overflowing, and they could not but speak of the things they had experienced.

Trust is the characteristic Old Testament word for the New Testament word faith. And since trust or faith is of such fundamental importance in our spiritual life it is to our interest to have a clear understanding of the meaning of faith, what it is and what it will do for us.

Faith is one of the most abundant things in the world, and one of the simplest. It is found everywhere. Were it not universally diffused the world would fall to pieces. Humanity is held together by man's faith. Destroy all a man's faith, and life for him has lost its glory and motive. We are not all alike in the degree to which we exercise faith in the different kingdoms of life, but no one is entirely without it.

We all believe that the sun will come up in the morning. We believe that it will come up not far from the same time at which it came up today. We feel certain it will not wait till nine o'clock or till half past eleven. The sun has established habits, and we entertain no fear of those habits being broken. We have faith in the sun, and believe it will continue to do what it has done since we first saw it.

In January we believe in the spring. We have faith in its coming. Even when there is no indication of its approach, and when all the world is encased in ice, we have no difficulty in believing in the spring. Many springs have come and gone and that will continue.

It is not enough, however, to believe in inorganic nature. We must also believe in human nature. And we do. We begin by trusting our parents, and we are able later on to trust the human race. We cannot trust all individuals, but we can trust humanity. We cannot have faith in every man, but we can have faith in man. It is only because men have faith in one another that the world gets on.

When we board a train we have faith in the man in the locomotive.
We believe that he understands his business and will bring us safely to our destination. When we sit down in a hotel or restaurant to take a meal we have faith in the cook. When we take our money to the bank and leave it there, receiving a scrap of paper in return, we are giving an exhibition of our faith. If we had no faith in men we should be obliged to dig a hole and put our money in the ground.

The late war gave us amazing exhibitions of power of faith; faith in men, and faith in the moral order of the universe. There are three forms of faith, faith in oneself, faith in our fellowmen, and faith in God. All these three forms rose to their highest in the great conflict. Soldiers achieved wonderful victories, because they had no doubt of themselves.

While men believed in themselves they also believed in others.
That is important at all times, especially in war. Wars are not won by individuals but by groups. A man must have faith not only in himself but in all the men who fight with him. We believed in our soldiers. We built our hopes on the fidelity and loyalty of the average man. We knew that the men are frail but our confidence in their ability to meet the supreme test never wavered. And we were not disappointed. Our fighting men fought all the more bravely because they were backed up by our glowing belief in them.

But there were periods in the war when our faith in men was not enough. It is difficult to maintain a calm belief in human leaders in time of storm. We believed that the world is so constructed that justice in the long run must prevail. Just as we believed in the regular rising of the physical sun, so during the dark days we believed that the Sun of Righteousness would surely rise with healing in His beams. We who were behind the battle lines were sustained by a holy faith.

There were times when the eye looking on from afar could see no possibility of deliverance. In those times we walked boldly by faith.
Our faith in the Almighty was so strong that we believed that somehow God would give us the victory. It was our belief in the righteousness of the cause for which we fought which rendered our soldiers invincible. It was their trust and our trust in a righteous cause and a righteous
God that we finally prevailed.

A young men's social betterment club is to be organized in Zeeland. Several leading business men have purchased a lot on Main St. and are planning the erection of a building to contain a reading and recreation room, a gymnasium, baths and other departments for young men. The organizers are desirous of securing Fred Cogshall, membership secretary of the Grand Rapids result of a vigorous fight against the saloons, blind pigs, and gam-

The students intend to make it a

All lessons will be perfectly prepared, no absences or tardiness and class demeanor will be faultless. Why? Because the general public is expected to visit the school and register their appreciation or criticism in a book placed in the principal's office.

Flying Dutchmen And Mike Skaalen Bow to Kalamazoo

Pitchers Battle Sees Keith Steffee Win; Former MSC Flinger

A strong Kalamazoo Sutherland baseball club handed the Holland Flying Dutchmen their eighth loss in 23 starts Monday night at Riverview Park when they bested the locals 4-2 in a well played contest. It was the first meeting between the two clubs this season.

The contest was a pitchers' duel most of the way between Holland's Mike Skaalen and Kazoo's Keith Steffee. Steffee was the ace of the Michigan State college mound corps several years ago. Skaalen's defeat was his second in nine tries this season. Holland managed to garner only six safeties, while the invaders touched Skaalen for nine.

Kalamazoo got off to an early start, scoring alone tally in the first inning on a walk, a sacrifice and a timely single by Centerfielder Dave Ross. Holland threatened in the second and third innings, but some superb clutch pitching by Steffee kept the locals from scoring.

The locals managed to take their only lead of the ball game in the fourth when they pushed across two markers on one hit. Harry De Neff opened the inning with a walk. He scored a moment later when the third baseman made a wild throw on Skaalen's sacrifice batted Skaalen over to third. Don Van Lente came through with a timely single scoring Skaalen with the final Dutchmen run. The Kazoo club knotted the count in the fifth when big Fred Carr, third baseman, lofted a fly ball on top of the centerfield stands for a home run. They added single tallies in the seventh and eighth innings, with Skaalen turning in a good pitching performance in the eighth. With one tally across, and the bases loaded, Skaalen proceeded to fan Carr to end the uprising.

Steffee kept the locals in check for the remaining innings, although Lou Borgman managed to beat out an infield hit with two out in the ninth.

Maartens and Juzwiak were the big guns for the invaders each getting two safeties. No local batter managed to get more than one hit off Steffee.

Bethel Withers Before Central
Trailing by three runs until the third inning, Central Ave. opened up a hitting attack that downed Bethel, 8-4, Monday night in City Church league play.
Bethel jumped on Bob Vork, Central pitcher, for three markers in the second. Howie Dyke's double, George Wolters' single, a fielder's choice to brother Rich and an error that put Bob Fortney on, all contributed to Bethel's cause.
But Central, apparently, couldn't be kept down long. In the third frame it evened the count at three-all.
Vork walked and stole second. George and Clarence Knoll and P. Vanden Brink singled in succession, all but the latter scoring.
In the fourth, Central added two more to its total, George Knoll driving Jerry Heerspink over the plate with his single. A moment later Marv Beelen scored on an error from third.
Both teams tallied in the seventh frame, but by that time the game was already decided. Central marked three more runs on a single by Jack Vannette, doubles by Don DeVries and Beelen and Heerspink's walk.
For Bethel, meanwhile, Chuck Ellender walked, made second on a pass ball and scored on a single by Dyke.
Dyke and George Wolters led the loser's attack at the plate, with two for three each.
Vannette and George Knoll were top stickmen for Central, the former collected two for three, while the latter had two for four.

Isaac Van Dyke, Zeeland justice of the peace, enters a case on the official docket, just one step in keeping track of court cases. Most of the cases he handles are traffic violations. The average case in addition to the fine has costs of $1.40 which covers about seven different entries. If the offender is charged with something more serious like reckless driving, he probably pays costs of $3.10 or $3.90. Those cases involve complaints and warrants.

Justice of the Peace Finds Job Interesting

Zeeland, July 28 — Isaac Van Dyke, former Zeeland mayor who will be 77 come Aug. 15, finds the duties of justice of the peace a nice job to occupy his time during his retirement.

Elected to the position without his knowledge two years ago, Van Dyke since that time has processed about 1,050 cases. And the cases keep coming. He presided at 54 arraignments in June, but the number already was at 50 for the first half of July.

The only justice left in Zeeland since the death of Jarrett Clark, Van Dyke handles all cases for Zeeland city and Zeeland township, plus a number of cases of the sheriff's department, conservation department and state park officials.

All who know Isaac Van Dyke believe he is a conscientious judge. He explains his court policies as follows: "I weigh all the evidence and the conditions, consult the law book and then try to make a decision that won't keep me awake at night."

The duties as JP really aren't too different from some of the other things Van Dyke has done. His varied career includes being mayor of Zeeland, alderman, member of the Board of Supervisors, active church worker and an active worker in the Republican party.

He operated the Isaac Van Dyke Implement Co. from 1901 to 1945 when he retired. He started work at the spring of 1898 for Henry De Kruif, implement dealer who was the father of Paul De Kruif, noted scientific writer.

Van Dyke remembers spanking Paul on one occasion. Paul, at that time 12 years, old, had mixed several cans of different colored paint Van Dyke had in a store room. De Kruif remembers the incident too—at least he did the last time Van Dyke talked with him.

On another occasion, Paul tampered with a steam valve, saturating his heavy wool stocking with live steam and severely burned his leg. It still bears scars, he said some time ago. Van Dyke said Paul never monkeyed with the valve after that ordeal.

In 1901, Van Dyke and his associates purchased the De Kruif shop. In 1916 they built another building, now occupied by the Peter VerPlank casket company.

Van Dyke was a member of city council for about eight years. He served as mayor from 1917 to 1920, earning $50 a year for his efforts and spending considerably more than that on the functions of his job.

For instance, when a group of Zeeland's servicemen were returning from Europe during World War I, he sent a welcome telegram to New York in care of Michigan's governor who was to be on hand to greet the returnees. The ship was delayed and the governor departed for home, but he left the telegram on a bulletin board on the dock. When the ship docked, the Zeelanders noticed the telegram and wired a waggish reply—collect! The original wire cost the mayor about $2.40 and the collect message about $4.

Van Dyke was mayor at the time of the big snow and crucial coal shortage in the winter of 1917-18. He remembers breaking into the home of a couple spending the winter away in order to raid their coal supply, rationing it out by the sack. He informed the couple what he had done and they were glad to have been of service.

He has a daughter, Dorothy Jean, a registered nurse working for the Grand Rapids health department, and a son, Russell of Rochester, N. Y., an experimental chemist with Eastman Kodak Co. Another son Lavern Derk, art director in Flint, was lost in the New Guinea campaign after 73 months of service in World War II.

There are two grandchildren,

Mrs. Carl Klomparsen of Holland and Russell Austin Van Dyke, sophomore at Hope college. The first Mrs. Van Dyke died some years ago and the justice was married for a second time in Detroit Jan. 24, 1947. It was while he was living in Detroit for three months at that time that he was elected justice of the peace in Zeeland.

He handles all arraignments at his home at 141 Maple St. except those which require a jury. Then he goes to the city hall.

Barbershop Singers Have Annual Picnic

Holland barbershop singers held their second annual hamburger fry Monday night at the C. C. Wood home in Waukzoo. More than 50 members and guests ate hamburgers and harmonized from early evening until late.

Three quartets were on hand to blend their voices—the Homestead-Aires and the Harmonians sang during the evening. A visiting quartet from Muskegon, the Chord Masters, took part in the musical evening. This quartet boasts a tenor that has sung with two state championship quartets, Len Horton.

The SPEBSQSA singers engaged in "woodshedding," an activity in which pickup quartets sing together for the first time, and a "round robin" in which singers supplant one another without disturbing the melody.

The Windmill chorus and the quartets paid an impromptu visit to Waukzoo Inn to sing for 125 guests. This novel stunt won the applause of the summer visitors.

Flying Dutchmen Defeat Zeeland For Fifth Time

Lefty Van Wieren, Lou Humbert Hurl Locals to Victory

Ho-hum. The Flying Dutchmen defeated the Zeeland Chix again Tuesday night. It marked the fifth straight time this season that the Dutchmen have downed the Chix.

The score was 6-4 in the game played at Zeeland. Lefty Van Wieren, although relieved by Lou Humbert in the fifth inning with the score standing at 5-3, was credited with the win.

Bill Ver Hey went the route for the Chix and allowed the Holland team 11 hits. Ver Hey's backing, however, was shaky. His teammates committed five costly errors.

Holland didn't waste much time getting started. Ron Fortney led off with a booming triple and scored a moment later on Jack Van Dorpe's single. Ron Apple-dorn was safe on a fielder's choice as the Chix nabbed Van Dorpe going to second. Apple-dorn stole second and came across the plate on Frankie Wlodarczyk's single.

The Dutchmen made it 3-0 in the second with one more run. Mouse Van Wieren singled, stole second and scored on Lefty Van Wieren's single.

A triple by Apple-dorn, single by Wlodarczyk and a walk in the top of the third stretched the locals lead to 5-0.

Zeeland dented the plate for the first two times in the bottom of the third. Ver Hey singled, went to second on De Jonge's single and went to third after Jason Schrotenboer walked. Howie Ensign batted in two runs with a single.

Van Wieren bowed off the mound for the Dutchmen when he walked in a Zeeland run in the fifth inning to make the count 5-3. Zeeland scored its final run in the seventh when Jason Schrotenboer walked, went to second on a wild pitch, to third on an infield out and scored on Don Wynyard's single.

Holland counted its final tally in the ninth. Fortney singled and scored on Apple-dorn's single.

Van Dorpe, with two out of four, led Holland's hitting. However, Fortney, Apple-dorn and Wlodarczyk each had two out of five.

Brenner's two hits in two official times at bat were tons for Zeeland with De Jonge's two out of five, second best.

Superior Beats Ford

Ford Independents fell before the attack of Superior Machine Tuesday night, 8-5, at Riverview park.

The local team matched opponents run for run until the third inning. Then the Machine men proved themselves superior by going on to record two markers in the fourth and fifth and three in the sixth.

That margin was too much for the R. E. Barber-sponsored club to overcome, although it came back in its half of the sixth to score three runs.

Hillebrands led locals at bat with a triple in three official trips to the plate.

And though touched for the defeat, pitcher Van Nul hurled seven-hit ball.

Waterway Hurls One-Hit Contest

Meyer's North Shore Cubs pieced together a one-hit pitching job by B. Waterway with a nine-hit attack Thursday night to sink Virginia Park 11-0 in a Wooden Shoe league game at Virginia Park.

Waterway had eight strikeouts to his credit, three walks and he struck one batter. Van Huis of the Park had the only hit for his team off Waterway, a single to right field in the second inning.

The Cubs scored four runs in a big third inning on just one hit, three walks and a batter hit by a pitch. They scored two in the fourth on two hits and three in the fifth on two hits and two walks. The final two runs came in the seventh on two hits and one walk.

B. Waterway led the Cub attack with three out of five, followed by George Kolean with two out of three. F. Witteveen had two for four and M. Witteveen had one for five. A. Reimink had one for four.

RAILROAD TIES STOLEN
Allegan, July 21 (Special)—

Sheriff Louis Johnson is investigating the theft last week of a load of railroad ties from the New York Central yards north of Wayland. Heavy and about seven feet long, the ties might have been taken for fence posts or building purposes, the sheriff believes.

Borgman Leading Flying Dutchmen With Husky .377 Batting Average

Lou Borgman, although sidelined with an injured foot for the last two games, leads the Flying Dutchmen in the batting department with a husky .377.

The team average is .285, not counting last Thursday's game against the Grand Rapids Carvers. The locals have 212 hits out of 744 tries.

In winning 14 out of 21 games through last Monday, the Dutchmen have scored 148 runs to 115 for their opponents. The biggest margin of the season was that 24-3 shellacking administered by the Battle Creek Truck Tractors.

Loran Wenzel is behind Borgman in the batting column. However, Wenzel has appeared in only a handful of games, then as a pinch-hitter. He has started at his old post behind the plate only twice. Wenzel has hit safely six out of 16 times for .375.

Frank Wlodarczyk is next with 26 hits out of 78 official times at bat for a .359 average. Skalen with a .355 average and Jack Van Dorpe with a healthy .324, are the only other locals above the .300 mark.

The Dutchmen play host to the Sutherland Papers of Kalamazoo tonight at Riverview park. Mike Skalen has been named to start on the mound for the Dutchmen against the always strong Kazoo nine Skalen will be seeking his ninth straight win of the season.

Holland Guards Set For Camp Grayling

Holland's National Guard Co. D will be a top contender for individual and company honors at Camp Grayling summer maneuvers beginning Aug. 6.

This year's two-week mobilization of Michigan guardsmen will be the largest in state history, with 131 units and more than 9,000 men expected to attend.

According to Capt. Russell R. Kempker, commander of local Co. D, the unit will be at 97 per cent of its authorized strength, ranking it third in the state.

In addition, one of its members, Sgt. 1st Cl. Henry I. Shaw, is among the favorites to win the Stewart medal, annually awarded the man who excels in wearing of the uniform, care of equipment, military courtesy and first aid leadership.

Last year, Sergeant Shaw placed fourth out of 6,500 guardsmen in medal elimination as well as winning the regimental award.

Holland's outfit is the only one in the state to win the medal twice. Local men who previously took the top honor were Gerald Bonnette, now a Commander in the Navy, and Franklin Fazakerly, an Army Lieutenant Colonel.

According to Capt. Kempker, highlight of the encampment will be the Division review Saturday, Aug. 13, and Memorial Day Services that Sunday. Local citizens are invited to attend the ceremonies that will include an address by Gov. Williams.

Last year more than 100 Hollanders watched the parades and services that marked the program, Captain Kempker said.

Camp activities this year will be divided into two sections, each a week long. The first will consist of small arms fire, while the second week will be spent in tactical maneuvers, highlighted by a two-day bivouac.

Capt. Kempker announced that three new recruits have been added to the company roll. They are Robert Tasma, Robert B. Veltman and Carl Schultz.

All three are eligible to attend camp, as well as any others who join the company before Aug. 6.

Moose Dropped By Merchant Attack

Holland Merchants handed Moose its second defeat in as many days Thursday night, 6-5, at the Pine Ave. field. Moose's City Softball team followed a non-league drubbing Wednesday in the hands of Bastian-Blessing of Grand Haven.

In last night's game the Lodge-men jumped on Merchant pitcher Vern Sikkema in the first inning for three runs. Stu Baker walked took second on the error that put Don Hulst on, and advanced to third on a sacrifice.

Jason De Vries then drove both runners home with his clean single into center field. Fred Handwerg put De Vries on second with another single and Ed DeWeerd's double sent the Moose shortstop home.

Merchants also scored in the first on two singles by Herb Colton and Heine Visser. The winners pulled one run closer to Moose's lead in the second, when Pete Heeringa's double scored Herk Grissen from second.

In the fourth, Moose added two more runs to its total, making the score 5-2.

But the Merchants exploded a four-run, three-hit attack that sunk Moose in the seventh. The uprising was initiated by Warren Huyser's home run with two mates on base.

Sikkema got credit for the win, while Mart Ter Haar was charged with the defeat.

News of Interest to Western Michigan Farm Operators

Progress Day Scheduled at MSC This Week

Farm Families from All Counties in State To Receive Awards

Wednesday is scheduled as a big day at Michigan State college when the Farmers' home administration Progress Day brings a large group of farm families to the East Lansing campus.

Dr. John A. Hannah, president of MSC, will welcome the guests to the field day. Arranged by Roswell G. Carr, FHA state director, the event will climax approximately 35 local Progress Day meetings. FHA county supervisors have been holding throughout Michigan during the past seven months.

Special feature of the day will be the presentation of certificates of award to about 280 Progress Day winners representing all 83 counties in the state. The winners are farm families that have shown significant advancement in farm, family, and community living since they started cooperating with the FHA. Dillard B. Lasseter, FHA national administrator, will present the awards.

Plans call for an all-day program with brief talks in the morning at the Jensen field house. A basket lunch is planned for noon with a program of home talent.

Special feature of the afternoon will be a tour of the college, with a visit to the college farm of the Michigan Agricultural Experiment station. Special home-making tours are planned for women guests.

College staff members will be on hand to explain experimental work in progress and to confer with visitors.

Canning Booklets Useless with Age

"Booklets on home canning published only a few years ago may be antiquated today," says Mary E. Bullis, Allegan county home extension agent.

Old directions should not be relied on from year to year as new methods are being developed by research. The U. S. Department of Agriculture not only seeks the new in farming but also the new in homemaking.

"Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetables," bulletin AIS-64 is the newest bulletin available on the subject. It may be obtained free at the extension office in the court house, Allegan, or by writing Miss Bullis.

Livestock Need Care During Hot Weather

Hot weather is just as hard on animals as on people. Michigan State college veterinarians are advising some precautions to prevent livestock losses during the hot summer months.

Shade should be provided for cattle who are outside so they have ample opportunity to get out of the sun.

Shipping is particularly hard on livestock. Good ventilation in trucks is especially important in hot weather.

If you have an open-top truck, shade the animals with canvas. Or if the truck has a grain body, remove the slats. Don't put too many animals in a small space.

Many livestock producers find it's wise to ship at night when the weather is cooler. Cleaning and disinfecting the truck should be done carefully since summer heat helps promote disease germs.

New Agricultural Events Scheduled for State Fair

Man to Plead Temporary Insanity at Assault Trial

Grand Haven, July 28 (Special) — Adam Lenard Lee, 32, who allegedly hit two girl hitchhikers over the heads with a pop bottle last June 26, will claim temporary insanity when he is arraigned, according to a notice filed in Ottawa Circuit Court.

Lee, charged with assault with a dangerous weapon with intent to do great bodily harm less than the crime of murder, stood mute when arraigned in Circuit Court July 9.

He is specifically charged with assaulting Eleanor Dunn, 16, Grand Rapids. She and a companion, Norma A. Fiet, also of Grand Rapids, were picked up by Lee while hitchhiking in Grand Haven.

Lee is confined in Ottawa jail, unable to furnish $2,500 which Judge Raymond L. Smith reduced from the original $10,000 bond.

Densely Timbered Pasture Worthless

A densely timbered pasture is worth practically nothing at all.

A farming magazine reports that a study made by the Iowa Agricultural experiment station shows that pasture gets poorer as the number or size of trees increases. By measuring annual timber growth and annual forage production, the following conclusions were reached:

If one-sixth of the trees in a densely timbered pasture are cut, the value of the pasture will increase 200 per cent. The grazing value of the land will increase almost five times if one-third of the trees are cut and 11 and a half times if half the trees are cut.

If two-thirds of the trees are removed the pasture will be worth 27 and a half times more. The pasture can be improved up to 62 times its value if the stand of trees is cut to zero.

These startling figures emphasize opinions of forage experts that timbered pasture makes poor pasture.

There is some question in these days of high lumber costs, however, if a woodlot should be pastured at all, even if forage plants are present. Damage done by cattle browsing branches will outweigh the pasture value.

Safe Farm Habits Safety Week Goal

Adoption of safer ways of working and living are being advocated as the main goal of Farm Safety Week this week.

L. R. Arnold, Ottawa county agricultural agent, is joining with local agencies to urge Ottawa county farmers to check on their safety habits.

The annual cost of accidents affecting farm people—including fire, motor vehicle and property damage—is approximately one million dollars, or about $35 per farm resident.

Farms are apt to contain a number of potential hazards—the little things that should be repaired but have not been.

Broken steps are dangerous, the agent says. Keep ladders, railings and floors in a safe condition at all times. Falls cause more than a third of all fatal farm accidents.

Cattle may be kind and gentle most of the time but it doesn't pay to take chances. Approach all farm animals cautiously with a friendly word or pat. You may be kicked or gored unless you do!

Keep hands, feet, and fingers away from machinery.

Holland Resorts Schedule Recreational Programs

Holland area resorts provide a variety of entertainment for visitors each week. Recreational programs for adults and children include such activities as game tournaments, cruises, athletics, dancing and concerts.

Weekly activities are scheduled for Castle Park guests. Dances on the dunes are held each Tuesday and Saturday night from 8 to 9 p.m. for children, followed by adult dancing.

Recorded symphonic music is played on the dance dune each Thursday night and on every other Friday night, supper for guests is served on the dune.

Local or visiting pastors conduct a vesper service on the sand dune each Sunday at 8 p.m.

Play classes for the children at Castle are conducted every morning by the hotel staff. In addition, there is tennis, horseback riding, swimming and ball games. The organized Castle Park All-Stars softball team plays scheduled games with other teams in the area. The Castle open tennis tournament also is in full swing this week.

An important event at the Castle, the minstrel show, will be given this year on August 2.

A Hawaiian cruise on the lake Wednesday night featured the week's entertainment at Macatawa hotel with guests wearing leis and singing popular tunes. During the rain today, guests had a round robin ping-pong tournament and youngsters played musical chairs.

Each Friday night is amateur night with the staff putting on special skits. A costume ball is scheduled for this Saturday night. Each Wednesday is movie night at Macatawa.

On July 29, a musical program will be featured, when Mrs. Julie Shushys, prominent New York pianist, will present a concert. The program will include vocal numbers.

Youngsters from two to seven have their own schedule of story telling, beach games and water safety. They visit local places of interest when the weather is bad. Tuesday evening is the "big night" for visitors at Lake Shore resort. The weekly barbecue is held that evening, serving as a get-together for the guests. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Vander Ploeg lend a Dutch atmosphere at the outdoor affair by wearing Dutch costumes.

In addition to the regular barbecue resorters play shuffleboard and tether tennis and evening tournaments are scheduled in the games. The lake in front of the resort offers opportunities for the many water ski enthusiasts and sail-fish rides.

At The Mooring, popular feature is the evening camp fire where groups gather for group singing. Badminton, sailing and swimming are favorite pastimes.

Waukazoo Inn features a nightly round of activities throughout the season. Monday night is game night, Tuesday and Thursday evenings are set aside for movies and Friday night, for bridge.

Wednesday evenings feature programs by professional entertainers of all kinds, including athletes, concert masters and variety showmen. Dances are held at the Inn each Saturday night.

Guests take part in game tournaments of all kinds—horseshoes, tennis, table tennis and croquet. Rockettes, new game which combines the skill of horseshoes and dart throwing, has become one of the favorites, according to the management.

Example of children's activities was the big Indian pow-wow two weeks ago. A large number of children guests participated in the costume panorama. Special game tournaments are sponsored for the children and on rainy afternoons, children's movies are shown.

CHECK WIRING

Electrical wiring on the farm should be checked frequently and thoroughly. It's wise to have the power supply to the pumping system come on separate lines. In case a fire should strike, the pump should continue to work even though other utilities may be put out of commission.

Buffalo nickels were minted in the U. S. beginning in 1913.

Explains Curling Of Tomato Leaves

To answer numerous questions of growers, Jack Rose, Michigan State college horticulturist today gave some reasons why tomato leaves are curling.

By far the most frequent cause is poor physical condition of the soil. Many garden soils lack organic matter. The tight, poorly aerated soil greatly limits the development of root systems. With inadequate root growth and poor aeration around those roots, tomato foliage will begin to curl in mid-summer heat.

Plants affected this way can be helped by mulching with a layer of straw, sawdust, or other materials which help soil to hold moisture and keep the soil cooler. A thorough watering, soaking the soil to a depth of four to five inches once a week, also helps.

Plant lice or aphids will also cause foliage curl. These insects can be controlled with nicotine sulfate sprays.

Tomato foliage may also curl due to the effects of a virus disease called mosaic.

Hot Weather Desserts Call for Egg Whites

Many of our warm weather desserts call for egg whites—angel cakes, meringues, chiffon desserts. The trick is to whip them so that their volume is good and their texture tender.

Mary E. Bullis, home extension agent, says egg whites whip best when they are at room temperature. Take them from your refrigerator at least half an hour before you plan to use them—if you are interested in good volume and texture. Adding a few grains of salt before beating seems to improve their quality.

When you combine the beaten egg whites with other mixtures, fold them in carefully. Don't beat or stir them in. Use a light under-over motion. Avoid overmixing or you will lose some of the air you've beaten into the whites.

Tile System on Farm May Need Repairing

Wet spots in level or near-level fields may mean there's trouble in the farm tile system. In such places the tile may be clogged or broken.

Agricultural engineers at Michigan State college advise careful planning to avoid unnecessary trouble with tile. Plan a system for the entire area—not just the wet spots. Use mains big enough to carry the load. Then you can add lateral tile as you need it.

Good tile that meets testing standards is the best investment.

Three or four rabbit pelts are required to make one felt hat.

Big Crowds Attend Grass Day Events; Plan for Next Year

Another successful season of Grass Days—drawing in excess of 21,000 Michigan farmers—has passed and plans are underway for the 1950 demonstrations.

According to Richard Bell, Michigan State college extension farm crops specialist and chairman of the Grass Day committee, locations have already been selected in the lower peninsula. The counties of Cass, Ingham, Wayne, Genesee, Kent, Missaukee, and Otsego have been chosen, Bell reports.

Crowds at this year's demonstrations were fully as large as during the first year's program. Although some bad weather was encountered, crowds ranged from 500 to 3,200. Methods of growing more and better legumes drew farmers from wide areas. Utilization of the forage crops received more attention at the ten events held this year.

Middleville in Barry county held the record for high attendance with a crowd of 3,200 present. At Hartland in Livingston county, 3,000 turned out in spite of more than an inch of rain during the day.

At one of the Upper Peninsula events, Ewen in Ontonagon county, the attendance neared 2,000.
